J. B. Randall was in town last Saturday.

The editor made a business trip to Selma Tuesday evening.

Several of our towns folk are going to Mardi Gras Monday.

Miss Florrie Bryan is on a visit to friends and relatives in Birmingham.

Our popular art teacher, Miss Ella McCombs, has removed to the Dormitory.

Messrs. W. W. and E. Perry, of Blocton, were visitors to our town last week.

Dr. E. G. Givhan is attending the good roads convention at Anniston this week.

W. D. McCord, of Birmingham, spent last Sunday with Mr. George Kroell's family.

Mr. James Hayes, of Birmingham, visited Mr. John Bryan's family the first of the week.

C. C. Vandegrift is having his store house repainted, which greatly adds to the looks of it.

"Uncle" John Pynor, the venerable shoemaker, spent Sunday last with his family at Stanton.

C. W. Cary will soon begin the erection of a handsome two story residence on Church street.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

Clifton Newton attended the good roads convention at Anniston on the 15th. He was one of the delegates from our county.

Rev. Sam Steele, of Nashville, has consented to be here on April 2nd in his famous lecture, "Home Life in Dixie during the war."

John Draper, of Oxford, arrived in Montevallo Sunday evening. He is working with Banks Bros., on Reynolds' new building.

George Kroell aspires to be a warrior. If needed to quell the Spaniards, he is ready to organize the "Shelby County Tigers."

Rev. M. P. Reynolds was unable to fill his pulpit Sunday night, and the same was supplied by Rev.—— Thornton, of this vicinity.

The friends of Mrs. S. B. Horn will be glad to hear of her recovery from her recent injuries caused by falling down a flight of stairs.

C. G. Smith, of Brierfield, was in town yesterday. He told us he had the misfortune of losing his fine bird dog that morning by being run over by a train.

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, butter milk, 10 cents per gallon, at MRS D. W. SHIVERS'.

S J. Morgan and wife, of Blocton, visited friends and relatives in our town last week. They went from here to Birmingham, where they will remain until after Mardi Gras.

A lawn tennis court is soon to be added to the amusement of the school Some young (single) man wanted the tutorship of this art, but we fail just here to call his name to mind.

One of our most progressive and wealthy planters, Mr. Samuel A. Curry, is putting a large portion of his plantation in wheat and oats. His example should be followed and results would be marvelous.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Price, of Avondale, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Kroell this week. They will be accompanied home by Miss Mary Kroell, who will visit friends and attend Mardi Gras.

Mr. H. A. McArdle, of Carbon Hill, visited his sister, Miss Margaret, last Friday. Much praise is due Mr. McArdle for the support given his sister, who will be among the few to graduate this session in the Normal course.

The progressive ladies of the Montevallo studioses propose giving quite a unique social in a few weeks. It will be a book social. It would be well to commence burning your trashy literature and hunt up something pure for the occasion.

Postmaster Crowe and his assistant, Cassie Faucher, were kept quite busy Monday distributing and delivering valentines. Nearly all of our citizens, including the school girls, were remembered. Clifton Newton was the recipient of a most beautiful (?) one.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

The Montevallo grist-mill and wool-carder; in connection about 5 acres of land and two small dwellings; large water power. Right in town. Apply to P. O. Box 16, Montevallo, Ala.

GREAT WAS THE CIRCUS.

Saturday Last Was "Small Boy's" Day.

On last Saturday, bright and early, our streets were thronged with people eager to see the first glimpses of the circus. All the parents for miles around had come in to bring the children! The circus had a good many attractions, among which were the performing elephant, the balloon ascension, and the absence of a pea nut vender. We will look for 4paw to come next.

Vandemeer Bros., photographers, who have been in our town for the past six weeks, left this morning for Mobile, where they will remain until after Mardi Gras. From there they will go to Florida, where they expect to remain for some time. These gentlemen are first-class artists, and did some fine work while here. We regretted very much to see them leave, and will miss them, for they made our office their headquarters. They made many friends during their sojourn in our town who will join us in wishing them success wherever their lot may be cast.

For Sale, Cheap—A nice house and lot in Montevallo.

Also, ninety (90) acres of good land near Pratt's Ferry. Will exchange land for town property.

For particulars in regard to above property, apply at this office or the Shelby County Bank. tf

Mousseline de soie, Piques, Organdies, Plain and Dotted Swiss, a New and Beautiful Line of Embroidery and Laces, in sets to match.

MORGAN BROS.,
Montevallo, Ala.

A RARE TREAT.

Miss Francis, the new teacher of elocution at the Industrial school, assisted by the music teachers, entertained our citizens and the pupils of the school on last Saturday evening in the chapel with readings and vocal and instrumental music. Quite a large crowd was out to hear Miss Francis, who has recently come to Montevallo. She charmed and delighted her hearers by her selections, two of which we will briefly mention: Longfellow's "Leap of Ronshaw Bey," followed by "Maiden and Weathercock," the strong dramatic action and rich color of the one, in contrast with the brightness and delicacy of the other, was fine. The school is to be congratulated on securing such a prize as Miss Francis, and it is to be hoped that the State, through its board of trustees, will make sure of her, and thus afford the girls the best instruction in this, one of the most needed and useful of all the arts, as it is one of the most delightful. Those who attended the entertainment were well repaid, and will look forward for an early repetition of the occasion.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

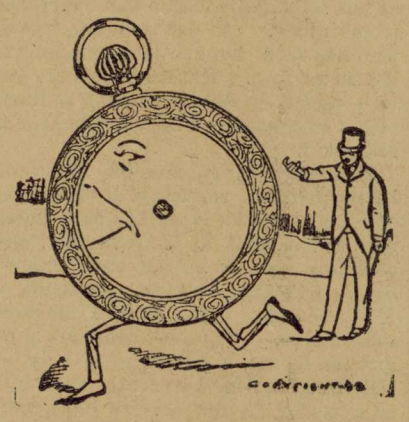
Fine chinaware left from X'mas stock at reduced prices. F F. Crowe & Co.

Fair as a poet's dream, beautiful as the girls of Montevallo, and gorgeous as a dying sunset are the myriad-hued ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

Kroell can supply anything.

"MY WATCHES RUN."



Fine WATCHES

Carefully Repaired
and Adjusted.
All Work
Guaranteed
First-class.

WORK SENT BY MAIL

Promptly attended to.

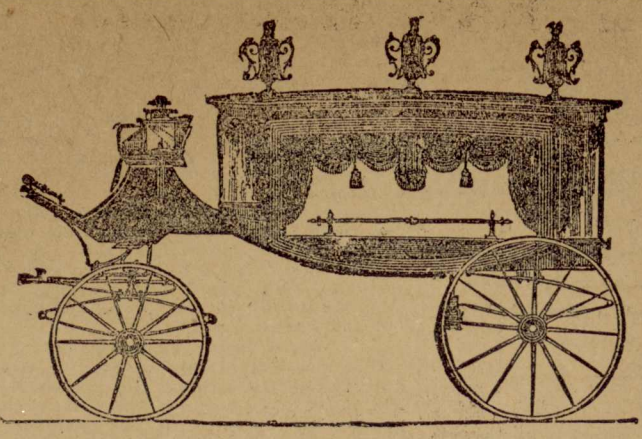
J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo. - - - Ala.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.
ALDRICH, ALA.

EVERYTHING, FROM A PIN

——TO AN——

Elephant

——AT——

R. C. Parker's

BRIERFIELD, : : ALA.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

IF YOU ARE NOT

A SUBSCRIBER

SEND IN YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS, ALONG WITH THE DOLLAR, AND

THE NEWS

WILL BE SENT YOU EVERY WEEK FOR

ONE YEAR,

Subscribe for the News.

Mrs. M. B. Ford, Ruddell's, Ill., suffered for eight years from dyspepsia and chronic constipation and was finally cured by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for all stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

J. A. Perkins, of Antiquity, O., was for thirty years needlessly tortured by physicians for the cure of eczema. He was quickly cured by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the famous healing salve for piles and skin diseases. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mrs. Mary Bird, Harrisburg, Pa. says. "My child is worth millions to me yet I would have lost her by croup had I not invested twentyfive cents in a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." It cures coughs, and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

If you want to buy cheap goods, call on C. C. Vandegrift, as he is closing out

HON. JOHN W. TOMLINSON,

State Chairman of the Democratic National Bimetallic Committee.

SPEAKS ON THE FINANCIAL QUESTION.

"The Flag So Gallantly Run up at Chicago in 1896 Must Not be Pulled Down or Lowered For One Moment," Says Mr. Tomlinson.

Livingston, Ala., Feb. 11.—The democratic silver conference held here today was a great success, every beat in the county being represented; and a large audience listened to a very able speech on the currency question by Hon. John W. Tomlinson, state chairman of the Democratic National Bimetallic committee.

The meeting was held at the court house, and was called to order by C. H. Allen, editor of the Sumter Sun. A silver club was organized and great enthusiasm was manifested throughout the meeting. L. R. McElroy, of Cuba, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we do now organize the 16 to 1 Democratic club of Sumter county, with L. P. Neal as president and C. H. Allen as secretary; with one vice-president for each beat in the county, to be appointed by the president of the club.

After Mr. Tomlinson's address Dr. M. B. Cameron, the only 16 to 1 straightout candidate for probate judge, made a short but effective speech, urging the necessity of standing by the Chicago platform.

On being made chairman, F. P. Neal introduced Mr. Tomlinson in a well worded speech, characterizing him as the uncompromising leader of the democracy of the state. For more than an hour and a half the gentleman entertained his hearers with a speech replete with logic and eloquence. At the conclusion he was loudly applauded and a vote of thanks was tendered him.

Mr. Tomlinson opened his speech by complimenting the democracy of the Black Belt. He said that men who had resisted black domination had the manhood to resist the domination of the enslaving gold standard. That never in the history of the great fight for silver's restoration were the prospects better for ultimate success.

After explaining the position of the different political parties on the question, he declared that the republicans were evasive and insincere, while the democrats by their aggressiveness for the coinage of gold and silver at 16 to 1 showed their sincerity.

Plans of the Parties

The speaker showed conclusively that the republican plan was to have only gold coinage supplemented with non-legal tender national bank currency to be issued or withdrawn at the will of the banker. That the plan further contemplated the non use as primary money of all the silver money now coined, which when carried out, as money measures property, would result in the reduction of all present prices and wages, uninfluenced by local conditions, at least one-half what they are now. Whereas the democratic party also recognizing the inadequacy of the gold supply for money purposes, proposes to supplement the deficiency by restoring the coinage laws of this country as they existed before 1873, which provided for the free and unlimited coinage of silver by this country at the existing legal ratio of 16 to 1; believing that money, the supply of which is regulated by Nature and not by man, is a fairer arbiter between debtor and creditor, and a more impartial medium of payment in the transaction of business of the world.

Reasons for 16 to 1

The reasons for adhering to the existing legal ratio of 16 to 1 are:

1. Because that is the natural ratio. The average production for centuries being, in weight, in that proportion; which is confirmed by the fact that the gold and silver coin of the world—the result of the coinage from the earliest times—Amounts to in round numbers the same, viz: $4,000,000,000 each. In the year 1896, the year of the great contest on the financial question, the world's production of gold and silver at the coinage value of 16 to 1, was exactly the same $215,000,000 each.

2. Because the bonded indebtedness of the United States was contracted payable in coin at the then present weight and fineness, which was gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1; and to change the ratio, by enlarging the silver dollar, would be paying this debt beyond the legal and moral obligations involved.

3. Because the increasing of the ratio, by enlarging the silver dollar, would necessitate the recoining of all of the silver money in this country which, besides the expense thereof, would reduce the amount of silver dollars in exactly the same proportion that the ratio is increased, thereby producing contraction instead of expansion and defeating the very purpose of silver's restoration—more money.

4. Because it would put us farther away than ever from international agreement, as the European ratio is only 15½ to 1.

5. Because 16 to 1 is not only a principle but a programme on which the democratic, the populist and the silver republican parties are united, to abandon which would be to go from the strait road of fixed purpose to the open field of uncertainty and confusion that would likely result in the adoption of a larger ratio and, as we have shown, defeat the very purpose of the law—more money.

Gold Supply Inadequate

The speaker further contended: The coinage of gold alone is not keeping, and cannot keep pace with increasing population and business so as to afford an adequate supply of the circulating medium for the transactions of business. Republicans admit this by proposing to supplement with national bank currency. That as gold had become more valuable, the more it was sought after and consumed in the arts, little being left for money. That since 1873 the population of the United States had nearly doubled; that the coinage of gold had not kept pace. That as the volume of money measures the price of property, products and labor, if the supply of gold was as great as the increase in population and business, the coined silver remained as redemption money, prices would remain the same; that if not as great, and the silver coined no longer used as redemption money, then prices would decline.

Volume Money Regulates Prices

Quantitative theory is correct and is the key to the temple of all knowledge on the currency question. That it was axiomatic in monetary science, on which all writers on political economy agree from the days of Aristotle down, that the amount of money fixes the value of the money. That on the number of dollars out depends the value of the dollar. That cut in half the amount of dollars and you double the value of the remaining dollars, or double the number of dollars you cut in half the value of the dollar. That when you say the value of the dollar is doubled, you mean that it will buy twice as much of the products of human toil and of wages. That if the value of the dollar is worth one-half, that it will take only one-half the amount of the products of human toil and wages to get it.

Money Dearer, Prices Lower

That because of the dollar becoming dearer since the striking down of silver in 1873, prices have declined. That the French premier in a speech in the chamber of deputies recently explained that "with the same quantity of gold it is now possible to obtain a double quantity of products." That the general average of prices for a number of years, and not the price of one particular thing for one particular year, is valuable in establishing a general rule. That the index numbers of prices furnished by the Royal Statistical Society of London show general average of decline of more than 33 1-3 per cent. since 1873. That Prof. L. L. Price, of Oriel College, Oxford, says that in the light of converging lines of evidence it seems impossible to doubt the existence of a * * * connection between the recent fall of prices and the money changes of the last twenty years.

Bottom of Prices Not Reached

Mr. Tomlinson further showed from authors of unquestioned authority that the bottom of prices was not yet reached. That great economic changes are slow in taking effect.

He showed the condition of the agricultural laboring classes of England where children were put out at the tender years of 3½ to work under strange task-masters. But, he said, England had been on a gold basis since 1816, while this country had only been on a gold standard basis for less than a quarter of a century, and during part of that time with a limited coinage of silver.

He showed that the plan of the contractionists was not only to stop the coinage of silver but to do away with all of the silver now coined, which was one-half of the metallic money of the world; which, when accomplished, as money measures values, reduce the present values at least one-half where uninfluenced by local and other conditions; that the effect of this policy is being felt in the continuing fall in prices now, except in the manufactured products of the protected few.

Women and Children Must Work

That statistics show that 50 per cent. of the laboring people of this country now are unable to support the family without the wife and children working also, as got to be the case in England a good many years ago.

That domesticity is on the decrease, that there are fewer homes where "the love of country is born in the love of home."

To Debauch the Very Poor and to Use Them

He further showed that it is folly now to go in debt. That in the accomplishment of their purpose to do away with all silver money now in use, the extremely rich, as was the case on the decline of the Roman empire, are endeavoring to debauch the very poor, who must look, not to the future, but to their immediate necessities to satisfy the cries of hungry children. In this way it is attempted to debauch the very poor and to use them against the great middle classes who are to be defeated in this way.

Cato, the Wise, who made a visit to Carthage and beholding the insolence of the Carthagenians, on returning to Rome made a speech in which he said Romans must conquer the Carthagenians or the Carthagenians would conquer Rome; and after that in every speech he made he wound up with the same exhortation. We must conquer the gold standard or the gold standard will conquer us. The last contest was much closer than many supposed. Went in unorganized, came out an organized body; that very day the result was known the bugle note of renewed attack was sounded again along down the line, and led on by the gallant Bryan democracy had won in every contest since where it had stood firmly and aggressively by its principle.

Time is demonstrating the wisdom of the Chicago platform, not only on the money plank, but on all of the planks.

That Mexico is prospering under the double standard system of money; it is furnishing an object lesson to the world of the wisdom of true bimetallism. That while 400,000,000 people are under the gold standard, there are 900,000,000 who know nothing but silver—with whom mostly this country trades.

Fable of Wolf and Lamb

Mr. Tomlinson further contended that while the logic of events was proving the truth of the cause of democracy, yet to win democracy must fight, and continue to fight, and fight all along the line. That the gold standard people, like the wolf in the fable of the Wolf and the Lamb, would, if they could, have their dinner, the increments of an increasing dollar, in spite of all of our arguments; they are organized, aggressive, deceptive and misleading; and, unless watched, will in this state, under the plea of so-called "harmony" and under the plea "that in judicial fights the money question has no place," control our next democratic state convention, securing the state and county democratic executive committees so as to control the policy of the party in the great fight of 1900.

Help Those Who Help the Cause

That the policy of the silver advocates should be to help those who help the cause, and fight politically those who fight and sneer at the cause of silver; that any other course is illogical and unwise; that those who are earnestly in favor of silver will not put in the hands of others the club with which to fight silver; actions speak louder than words; those that are not for us are against us; those who profess to be for silver and work for the advocates of the gold standard in accomplishing their ends, are not fooling the people. When men say they are bimetallists, ask them if they are in favor of free coinage, second of unlimited coinage, third of independent coinage by this government, fourth at the existing legal rate of 16 to 1? If they answer, yes, then they are true bimetallists; otherwise, not.

Candidates for Solicitor

The speaker said, in proceeding with his speech, that he had heard that certain candidates for solicitor had been threatened that if they did not bring up their counties against silver in favor of certain candidates in the next state convention, that they would be beaten for solicitor in the next legislature. That, if this was true, these candidates should not be influenced thereby; that they should remember that the next legislature will be controlled by the advocates of silver's restoration, and that if candidates for solicitor think that they will help their cause before that legislature by bringing up counties against silver, in the next state convention, they read the times incorrectly.

Aggressiveness Against Aggressiveness

If the banks of this state feel it to their interest to continue to fight the farmers, continue to fight for the gold standard in the interest of non-resident bond holders and against the producing and laboring classes of the state so that values and wages keep going down and down, then, the next legislature should reduce the rate of interest. If the railroads and telegraph companies desire to continue to do the same thing, then, the next legislature should, as it has a right to do, put down railroad and telegraphic rates. If water and gas companies are disposed to do likewise, then, let water and gas charges come down accordingly.

Mr. Tomlinson further explained, however, that while the silver forces should be aggressive in standing up for their cause, yet, there should be no abuse; there should be no needless opposition aroused, and he told a story illustrating how men could be won over by the use of tact and good judgment. But, he said, there must be

No Compromise of Party Principles

There must be no compromise of the principles of the party; no smothering them even for the time being. That the majority of those who did not support the national ticket last fall are quietly coming back into the party without making demands, but that the few who are making demands are making them in vain. That two years ago these very people advocated fighting for principle; this year, they are advocating just the opposite.

That for democracy to win, it must continue to stand by its principle and be aggressive in obtaining substantial relief for the people; and in such a manner as to convince the people that the party is in earnest; to do which the party must build not upon the shifting sands of uncertain expediency, but upon the eternal rocks of everlasting principle; and the flag which was so gallantly run up at Chicago in 1896, must not be pulled down or lowered even for one brief moment.

HOME FOR OLD HORSES.

Institution at Acton, England, Where Aged Equines Are Cared For.

Lucky is the horse, who, in his declining days, becomes a pensioner at the Home of Rest for Horses at Acton, England. This invaluable institution is a hospital, as well as an almshouse for decayed members of the equine race, and in consideration of the nominal sum of half a crown a week the cabman, coster or humble greengrocer who produces a subscriber's letter may send his overworked steed to this haven of refuge, where it will receive all the attention necessary to fit it for service once more.

Donkeys are admitted free, but, strange to say, only three or four of these patient quadrupeds have been inmates during the past seven years, and in this connection Mr. Davis, the manager of the home, declares, to a London Mail reporter, that in London the donkey is being supplanted by Russian ponies, which are brought over in large numbers, and, being sold for a few pounds each, are in great demand with the coster class, who appreciate the fire and dash of the four-footed aliens.

A loose box is provided for each inmate at Acton, and as they become aware of the arrival of visitors thirty or forty horses thrust their heads through the doors of their abodes and regard us with polite curiosity. We are first introduced to an old horse belonging to a lady who, in return for his faithful services, sent him here for the remainder of his life. Then we come to Dolly, a cab horse, who presents a pair of stout heels to the intruding bipeds. Dolly is down for a rest, and, though her owner avers that she behaves admirably when at work, her conduct here has been far from lady-like—in fact, at an early stage of her visit she kicked off two of her shoes with such violence that one of her attendants had a narrow escape from injury. A fishmonger's pony, who has seen twenty-seven summers, is also resting. He has been here before, and is no doubt envious of those of his companions who are permanent residents.

The army is represented by an old black charger, rejoicing in the name of "Bones," who is said to have taken part in the fight at Tel-el-Kebir, and certainly walked beside the Queen's carriage in the Jubilee procession of 1887, bearing on his back a stalwart guardsman. "Bones" owes his good fortune to the kindness of a lady artist who, having frequently used him as a model in his service days, purchased him at the end of his martial career, and provided him with his present home.

German Experiments With Eggs.

In the Consular Report an interesting account is given of experiments made in Berlin to test various methods of preserving eggs. All were treated on July 1 and opened at the end of the following February. Salt water, salicylic acid, rubbing with salt, covering with bran, etc., did not prevent the eggs from spoiling. But eggs varnished with vaseline were all good at the end of February, and so were those preserved in lime water, and those preserved in a solution of water glass. The lime water sometimes gives the egg a bad taste, the solution of water glass causes the egg shell to break easily on immersion in boiling water and putting the vaseline on eggs takes too much time.—Baltimore Sun.

STRONG ADDRESS TO FARMERS

Commissioner Culver on Subject of What Planters Should Do.

Commissioner of Agriculture Culver, who is also president of the Alabama Agricultural Society, has issued an address to the farmers of the state.

The address appeared a day or two ago, incorporated in a pamphlet containing the constitution and by-laws of the society. Here is the address, and it is interesting:

It is an established fact that thorough organization is the corner-stone to success in every enterprise.

The first organization for the promotion of agriculture that we have an account of was a small colony settled on the Tiber, extending five miles back to the Albion hills, and only four miles up and down the river. Out of this colony came Rome, with her widespread dominion. Romulus only allowed one acre to each individual for cultivation, until Italy had been conquered, then the acreage was increased to four per capita. Cato, the first and most celebrated agricultural writer, tells how thoroughly agriculture was organized at the end of the second Punic war. He also enumerates the results of said organization. First thorough preparation and cultivation, rotation and rest. Also practiced a diversified agriculture. Rome's glory and power came from her agriculture, and as long as she fostered and protected that interest so long she maintained her position for power and conquest. The second effort was made in Italy, in the year 1900, in the establishing of an agricultural society, which soon failed.

Scotland did the same in 1723, and allowed, without good reason, the society to die out; but in 1783 organized the "Highland Agricultural Society." Only six men composed the organization. In 1787 said society was incorporated by royal charter, and a few years ago had over eight thousand members, paying as annual dues six dollars, or for life membership, sixty dollars. Their constitution enumerates the object of the association, and we will do well to observe them. They are:

First—Sub-organizations throughout Scotland with shows or fairs.

Second—Improved stock breeding.

Third—A proper system of agricultural education.

Fourth—The veterinary art and science.

Fifth—Analysis of soils and fertilizers.

Sixth—An annual publication of experiments and reports.

England has now her "Royal Agricultural Society," and so has every prosperous, progressive European country the same.

Well has it become known that an advanced and diversified agriculture is a potent factor in the prosperity of a nation, and well is it understood that only through organization can this be accomplished. Many of our own states have state organizations, societies and departments of agriculture, and there is no intelligent, progressive man in this state, or elsewhere, but recognizes the utility and necessity for such organizations. By organization, if we doubt for a moment its potency, either for good or evil, we have but to look at what has been accomplished by railroad combinations, manufacturers, merchants; indeed, today, every calling or profession in this country is backed by an organization thorough and complete. Not a single enterprise or business, public or private, that is not organized. Armies are handled and made effective only through organization. Religious denominations are maintained through their perfect system of organization. Denominations and sects of religionists disappear when organization is neglected. All nature, by God himself, stands organized, and to that extent within our power imitate Him. We are effectual in our efforts to accomplish a given enterprise. But, to be more practicable, we must be more specific with this question and display the results, or at least the more salient ones, to grow out of organization to us in Alabama as farmers and land owners. First, organination is a means of education. In our coming together we learn each other's defects, each other's wants, each other's capacity, in a word, become acquainted with each other, and by far the best of all we become acquainted with ourselves. We soon learn that God did not make us and then throw away the moulds, and that in us and with us all wisdom and knowledge of agriculture. Therefore, the most difficult part of man's education, "know thyself," is easily obtained when we are thrown together with men of whom we soon discover that they have forgotten more than we have ever learned, and while the most ignorant are the greatest learners, yet from them are many of our most practical and useful lessons obtained. Thus by the interchange of theory and practice; held and in operation on our individual farms, all are made common stock for improvement and progress. Again, we will learn that farming is not all art, but that science has much to do with successful farming.

The nature of our soils, the plant food extracted by a given crop, the necessary fertilizer, both as to kind and quantity, the value of rest, shade, air, sunshine, rain and dews are all illustrated by science. Those inclined to theory are held back by practical men that know of the art; thus all theory or book farming is passed through the mill of common sense, and we are often rid of the expense and worry of an experiment sure to fail.

When organized we can and ought to discuss the many subjects of vital interest to the farmers of Alabama, which can be done in our county and state societies. One of the first subjects that ought to come before us is the planting and raising of more food supplies of every kind for both man and beast first, and above all to influence each individual farmer to make his farm self-sustaining, and practice intensive farming, building up the productive capacity of his land by rotation and proper fertilization, thereby leaving to his posterity valuable real estates.

It is now a fact that we can and have raised a ten and a half million bale crop of cotton, and with increased population and the increased area of cotton lands of the west that is being opened to cotton we can in the near future produce a twelve or fifteen million crop, and I am fully satisfied in my humble judgment that five cents cotton is here to remain with us for a time. Then what ought we to do? No man can raise cotton at five cents and purchase his supplies and his mules; then why not face about and raise everything we need at home and then what cotton we can? If we plant for and raise twelve million this year and but little food crops, we may be able to realize about three to four cents for our cotton, and then where are your supplies to come from if you should fail to raise them?

This is a matter that each individual must ponder and settle for himself.

We hope that every county in the state that has not already a county society or club will at once organize, and it is my purpose to aid and assist in these organizations as rapidly as I can.

We hope that the counties will be organized in time to send delegates to the meeting of the State Society next August.

I. F. CULVER,
President Alabama State Agricultural Society.

Cost of Quarantine.

The state's funds for possible quarantine for the year 1898 have been about exhausted. This situation has been known for some time, but on Friday a statement was made showing exactly how the quarantine fund stands. The sum of $5,000 for each year, 1897 and 1898, was appropriated, and the cost of last summer's quarantine amounted to $9,625—this is what it cost to guard the state. The balance left is only $375.

McClellan for Chief Justice.

Oneonta News-Dispatch.

Judge T. N. McClellan of the supreme court of Alabama, ought to be, and will be, overwhelmingly elected chief justice of that court. He is senior justice now, and according to a well established democratic precedent will be promoted to the chief justiceship. Besides, in our judgment he is the ablest jurist on the supreme bench, in fact, one of the ablest in this country. Furthermore, he is in thorough accord with the principles of the party declared in its last national convention in Chicago. He does not merely reluctantly acquiesce in what the convention did and refuse to state whether he stands on the platform adopted by the convention or not, as his opponent does; but he thoroughly approves of the course of that convention and believes in the platform of principles adopted by it, and does not hesitate to say so. He is also in thorough accord and sympathy with the state democratic administration; he favored and worked for the nomination of Governor Johnston in his race for the governorship.

In this district, Judge Tally's judicial district, some have very quietly talked it that Judge Tally and Judge Tally's friends would fight Judge McClellan. We know it to be a fact that such is not the case, Judge Tally himself disclaiming any such purpose. It has been said that some of Judge Coleman's friends have sought to use the decision of the supreme court rendered by Justice McClellan in the Tally case against Judge McClellan in his race for the chief justiceship; but this paper thinks that there is very little of that being done; that if any of it is, it is without the approval of Judge Coleman, who, at the time of said decision, was also associate justice of the supreme court and fully concurred in said opinion and is as much responsible for it as Judge McClellan or Judge Coleman in regard to the decision; and it would be against the best interest of the people to oppose a judge for the honest discharge of his oftentimes unpleasant duties.

Spain Is Not Mad.

Senor Sagasta, the premier, and other members of the Spanish cabinet, state publicly that the DeLome incident will not affect the relations between Spain and the United States, and that a new envoy, competent to conduct the commercial negotions, will be selected.

Flowers Answered Both Purposes.

A certain young widow of Indianapolis who had just changed her weeds for brighter hues gave a dinner party not long ago. The rooms were decorated with a great profusion of flowers. Roses in masses were on the mantels and the dinner table fairly blossomed—in fact, the abundance of flowers was unusual. One of the guests could restrain her curiosity no longer, and when the dessert was brought in said: "Well, Mrs. Blank, you're rather spreading on the flowers to-night." "Yes," replied the fair widow brightly, "but to-morrow I am going to take them out to Crown Hill and put them on poor Tom's grave."

During the progress of the Thellusson will case, which benefited several generations of lawyers, one of the counsel employed suggested that something should stand over "till the day of judgment." Said Richard Bethell, who also appeared in the case—he was subsequently Lord Chancellor Westbury—"Will not that be a very busy day?"—Household Words.

The Professional Term for It.

"That spindly young man of yours, Laura," said the base-ball magnate to his lovely child, "has been flirting outrageously with the Van Snickersee girl."

"That's all right, papa," replied the charming young woman, "I have given him an unconditional release."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A man can't control his heart affairs any easier than he can control an appetite for smoking.

A Red Handed Murderer.

Tetterine kills the germs of Tetter, Eczema, Salt-Rheum, Ringworm and other skin diseases. Most of these are caused by the existence of infinitesimal anamalculae. Tetterine murders them at once and stops the agonizing itch, then it soothes and heals the skin. At drug stores, or by mail for 50 cents in stamps. J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

Conservative Investors

Can largely increase their income by placing their accounts in my hands. Twenty years of Wall Street experience, in addition to reliable INSIDE INFORMATION, enables me to advise you most successfully. Write for particulars, which are interesting to those having money to invest. CHARLES HUGHES, Investment Broker, 63 Wall Street, New York City.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except in prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Salzer's Grasses and Clovers

Are warranted. They produce! We are the largest growers in America. Lowest prices. Seed Potatoes only $1.50 per barrel. Big farm seed catalogue with clover and grain samples (worth $10.00 to get a start) sent you by the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., upon receipt of 10c. postage.
A. C. 9

Prince Aloys Leichtenstein, leader of the Christian Socialist party in Australia, is dying from blood poisoning, and his wife has gone blind.

Use "C C C" Certain Chill Cure.

Best in the world. CERTAIN CURE CO., Evansville, Ind.

Miss Florence Higgins has been elected to the chair of oratory in the Northern Indiana College of Law.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Statistics collected by Prof. McCook, of Trinity college, showed that of 1,300 tramps questioned, 65 per cent were of American parentage. There were 272 Irishmen among them. Only seventy were married.

Chew Star Tobacco—The Best.
Smoke Sledge Cigarettes.

Charles H. J. Taylor, formerly United States minister to Liberia, has started a new movement, by which he hopes to join the negroes of the country in one party—the Afro-American party.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free DR. R.H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reducing inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me many a doctor's bill.—S. F. HARDY, Hopkins Place, Baltimore, Md., Dec. 2, 1894.

Pain in the Side

Could Not Do Hard Work Until Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured.

"I had a severe pain in my left side and could not do any hard work. My husband got me a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began taking it and soon I was able to do my work. I was also troubled with scrofula sore throat, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured this." MRS. EMMA PEPPER, North Hudson, N. Y.

Remember Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier

Hood's Pills cure sick headache. 25c.

FENCING For Poultry, half cost of Netting. Also farm, yard, cemetery fences. Freight paid. Catalogue free. K. L. SHELLABERGER, 48 F. St., Atlanta, Ga.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

Am. N. U. No. 7 1898

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

DREYFUS' PRISON LIFE.

Tries to Amuse Himself with Gardening and Algebra.

I learn on very good authority that Capt. Dreyfus, the French officer suffering life imprisonment for selling military secrets to the Germans, is now practically unrecognizable. His hair has turned quite white, and he is a complete wreck. Even if the inquiry which is being carried on were to prove the prelude to the rehabilitation of this unhappy man, life would be more or less a blank to him. He exists, and that is all. The only wonder is that he still lingers on. Countless persons endowed with strong constitutions would already have succumbed to the system to which he is subjected. Such is the opinion of those who have watched him on the spot, as a letter which has arrived from French Guiana abundantly testifies. Since he has been settled at the Ile du Diable Dreyfus has only been rarely visited by the Governor of the colony and other officials. Eleven warders are told off to guard him night and day, a couple at a time, who are relieved every two hours. They are strictly enjoined never to speak to the prisoner unless there is some imperative reason for their doing so, and then as briefly as possible. Thus Dreyfus spends days and weeks together, precluded from converse with a fellow-creature. Until the month of July he dwelt in a hut situated in the lower part of the island, but he was then removed to a plateau higher up. The structure which he now occupies is about 30 feet in length by 10 feet in breadth. It is divided into two rooms of almost equal size. One, with but two windows looking out on a sort of courtyard, is reserved for Dreyfus, egress from it being through a door in the partition that separates it from the other chamber, where the warders are posted. In front of this hut is a bit of ground some 40 yards square in area, inclosed by a very thick palisade six feet in height, so that the prisoner cannot catch a glimpse of the surrounding country, but has only a dead wall to gaze upon. The wretched man tried to convert the ground into a little garden, but the soil is so poor and pebbly that he had to give up the idea. When he arrived at the Ile du Diable he used to beguile the time in working out algebraical problems on a slate, but after a while he abandoned the practice, and he now passes hours together in reading and writing letters. As for the provisions with which he is supplied by the authorities, they are reduced to the simplest expression, fresh meat alternating with bacon, while bread, vegetables, salt and pepper, the last even regarded as a favor, complete the miserable list. Owing, however, to the money which he is permitted to receive from France—$100 a month, as is believed—Dreyfus is able to supplement this meagre diet and to provide himself with wine, cognac, preserves and also with cigars, which he smokes continuously. Such is the life, or rather existence, led by this unhappy man, and from which his relatives and friends are endeavoring to free him, while clearing his character as well.—London Telegraph's Paris correspondent.

Washing the Face.

The method of washing the face daily is of great importance, as even if one only washes it twice a day the operation has to be gone through 700 times in the course of a year, and this would naturally affect it for good or evil. Highly scented or highly colored soaps should be avoided, and one which gives a soft lather and does not cause any feeling of irritation is the best. The soap should be well rubbed into the face with a clean piece of flannel, and then bathed off in a basinful of absolutely clean water, so that every particle of soap may be removed. After thoroughly bathing the face should be dried with a Turkish towel, and then, if the skin be coarse and thick, it may be rubbed with a rough towel, but if the skin is at all sensitive a very soft towel should be used, and the face finally well rubbed over with a piece of chamois leather, or, better still, with the finger tips, when clean, tend to remove lines and to prevent the formation of wrinkles. If lines have already formed the skin should be rubbed in a direction contrary to their length, as, for example, if there are vertical lines between the eyebrows, they should be rubbed from side to side; if there are straight lines across the forehead they should be rubbed down from the hair to the root of the nose and back again.—Philadelphia Times.

His Precious Penny.

H. A. Sylvester, an aged man of Rockport, Me., still owns a penny given him when he was only two years old. The penny has traveled with him on shipboard round the world; has been shipwrecked, seen mining riots in the wilds of Idaho, and has been coveted by the pickpockets in the wilds of San Francisco. Sylvester hung on to it when it was the only cent he had to his name, and would not exchange it for a golden eagle.

Narrowest Streets in the World.

Chinese streets are supposed to be the narrowest in the world. Some of them are only eight feet wide.

A Beautiful Girl's Affliction.

From the Republican, Versailles, Ind.

The Tuckers of Versailles, Ind., like all fond parents, are completely wrapped up in their children. Their daughter Lucy, in particular, has given them much concern. She is fifteen, and from a strong, healthy girl, three years ago, had become weak and kept falling off in flesh, until she became a mere skeleton. She seemed to have no life at all. Her blood became impure and finally she became the victim of nervous prostration. Doctors did not help her. Most of the time she was confined to bed, was very nervous and irritable, and seemed on the verge of St. Vitus' dance.

"One morning," said Mrs. Tucker, "the doctor told us to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which he brought with him. He said he was treating a similar case with these pills and they were curing the patient. We began giving the pills and the next day could see a change for the better.

Discussed Their Daughter's Case for Hours.

The doctor came and was surprised to see such an improvement. He told us to keep giving her the medicine. We gave her one pill after each meal until eight boxes had been used when she was well. She has not been sick since, and we have no fear of the old trouble returning. We think the cure almost miraculous."

FRANK TUCKER,
MRS. FRANK TUCKER.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 28th day of April, 1897.

HUGH JOHNSON, Justice of the Peace.

These pills are wonderfully effective in the treatment of all diseases arising from impure blood, or shattered nerve force. They are adapted to young or old, and may be had at any drug store.

WHAT "BOB TAYLOR," . . . . . GOV. OF TENN., SAYS:

Marble City Drug Mfg. Co., Knoxville, Tenn.

Gentlemen:—In reply to your letter of recent date, will say that you are correctly informed; I did receive great benefits from "Dr. Frank's Cough Cure." It stopped the most severe cough I have had for years, and cured my cold. I consider it the best remedy for coughs and colds I have ever used.

Yours truly, ROBERT L. TAYLOR.

For sale by all druggists at 25c., or sent direct.

Write Quick FOR FREE SCHOLARSHIP.

ACTUAL BUSINESS TAUGHT

Railroad Fare Paid. POSITIONS GUARANTEED. Open all year to Both Sexes.

Georgia-Alabama Business College,
MACON, GEORGIA.

AN

Odd-and-End Sale

OF

Odds and Ends

—AT—

Odds'-and-Ends' Prices.

MAIL ORDERS WITH CASH PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

J. BLACH & SONS,

One Price Cash Clothiers,

1912-1914 First Ave.

Birmingham, Ala.

311 N. College St., Nashville, Tenn.

"Rust,"

the dread of the cotton grower, can be prevented. Trials at Experiment Stations and the experience of leading growers prove positively that is the only remedy.

Kainit

We will be glad to send, free of charge, interesting and useful pamphlets which treat of the matter in detail.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

CYCLERS!

... Buy the ...

"BIRMINGHAM," $40 00

A wheel made and guaranteed by a firm of your own state. When in the city give them a call.

The Loosley Cycle Company,

Second Ave., (opp. P. O.) BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Mail Repair Orders Delivered in 24 Hours.

SYRUP of FIGS

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50 cent bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

FARM SEEDS

Salzer's Seeds are Warranted to Produce.

E. Walter, LaRaysville, Pa., astonished the world by growing 200 bushels Salzer's corn; J. Breider, Mishicott, Wis., 173 bush. barley, and P. Sinnot, Randalia, Iowa, by growing 196 bush. Salzer's oats per acre. If you doubt, write them. We wish to gain 150,000 new customers, hence will send on trial

10 DOLLARS WORTH FOR 10c.

11 pkgs of rare farm seeds, Hog Pea, Sand Vetch, 40c. Wheat, Sheep Rape, Jerusalem Corn, etc., including our mammoth Seed Catalogue, telling all about the $400 gold prizes for best name for our new marvelous corn and oats, "Prodigies," also sample of same, all mailed you upon receipt of but 10c. postage, positively worth $10, to get a start. 100,000 bbls.

Seed Potatoes at $1.50 a bbl. 25 pkgs. earliest vegetable seeds, $1.00.

Please send this adv. along. Catalog alone, 5c. No. A C 9

Gantt's Patent Cotton Planters and Guano Distributers. It's economy to use them. Every farmer can afford to have one or more. Send for samples and prices.
J. T. GANTT, Macon, Ga.

Best On Earth.

OPIUM, MORPHINE, WHISKEY, COCAINE, Tobacco and Snuff-Dipping Habits permanently cured by HARMLESS HOME TREATMENT. My book, containing full information, mailed free. DR. J. C. HOFFMAN, Room 4 Isabella Building, Chicago, Ill.

LADIES to do plain sewing at home; $1.50 per day; four months' work guaranteed; send stamped, addressed envelope for particulars. WILDAY & HUTTON, Philadelphia, Pa.

RODS for tracing or locating Gold or Silver Ore, lost or buried treasures. M. D. Fowler, Box 337, Southington, Conn.

SOMETHING NEW.

Candy Liver Medicine.

KEEPING abreast with the inventions of this age, we, by modern machinery, compress our powdered Dr. M. A. Simmons' Liver Medicine into tablets and sugar coat them.

Consumers can either swallow the tablets whole or chew them up and swallow with water. The candy sugar coating excludes the air, protects the purified medicine from microbic influences, prevents the possibility of deterioration from atmospheric changes, insuring perfect purity and full strength when taken, and makes it pleasant to take as candy. Tablets contain only the powdered Liver Medicine, same as sold in packages by Dr. M. A. Simmons and we his successors, since 1840.

Price 25 Cents per Package.

C. F. Simmons Medicine Co.,
PROPRIETORS,
ST. LOUIS, MO.

DR. O. T. DOZIER

(The Renowned Southern Specialist.)

Birmingham, Ala.

Successfully treats, at office or BY MAIL AT YOUR OWN HOME, all forms of Chronic, Nervous, Blood, Skin and Private Diseases of Men and Women.

CURES . . .
GUARANTEED.

All Chronic Diseases of Lungs, Liver, Heart, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs are in my line of practice. Diseases peculiar to women, and all venereal diseases of either sex, positively cured by mild and safe remedies. Impediments to marriage, as Stricture, Varicocele, Impotency, Emissions and all evil results of self-abuse or excessive indulgence, quickly and permanently cured. I guarantee satisfaction in every case I treat. My valuable "Book for Men Only," and Symptom Blank for men or women will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope to all who apply. Consultation free, whether in person or by letter.

A FEW EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ENDORSEMENTS.

(Masonic Guide.)

Dr. Dozier can be relied upon to treat diseases in the most successful manner.

(People's Weekly Tribune.)

As a specialist Dr. Dozier is unexcelled by any living physician. * * He is a high-toned, cultured, Christian gentleman, strictly honest in all his dealings and financially responsible for all his contracts.

(Sumter Sun.)

Dr Dozier is the leading specialist in Alabama, and is thoroughly reliable.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

His (Dr. Dozier's) professional standing is unimpeachable and his character as a gentleman and citizen is above reproach.

Address
DR. O. T. DOZIER,
Lock Box 112, Birmingham, Ala.

MEN WANTED TO TRAVEL for old established house. Permanent position. $40 per month and all expenses. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 240 Locust St., Philadelphia.

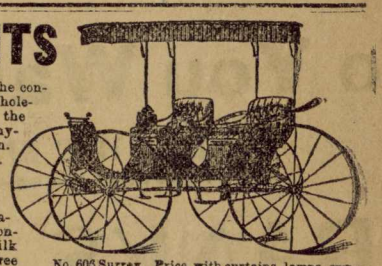
RHEUMATISM

CURED WITHOUT MEDICINE.

Best endorsed remedy on earth. Simple, effective, cheap. Send for particulars and proofs. W. R. JOHNSTON & CO., Columbia Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS

but have sold direct to the consumer for 25 years at wholesale prices, saving him the dealer's profits. Ship anywhere for examination. Everything warranted. 118 styles of Vehicles, 55 styles of Harness. Top Buggies, $36 to $70. Surreys, $50 to $125. Carriages, Phaetons, Traps, Wagonettes, Spring-Road and Milk Wagons. Send for large, free Catalogue of all our styles.



No. 77. Surrey Harness. Price, $16.00. As good as sells for $25.

No. 606 Surrey. Price, with curtains, lamps, sunshade, apron and fenders, $60. As good as sells for $90.

ELKHART CARRIAGE AND HARNESS MFG. CO. W. B. PRATT, Sec'y, ELKHART, IND.

HEALTHY MOTHERS Make HAPPY HOMES.

HOW can a woman be cheerful and happy when she is weak, nervous, and suffering the excruciating tortures of Female Diseases? It should not be expected of her. When she is suffering from Deranged Menstruation, Whites, Falling of the Womb, etc., show your sympathy for her in a practical way by providing her with

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea.

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

This splendid tonic will soon relieve her suffering and CURE the disease, thus producing the desired result through natural channels. Only $1.00 per bottle.

If there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. Price 25c per package.

MY WIFE WAS ALMOST A COMPLETE WRECK

With female troubles. She has taken six bottles of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA and it has cured her. She is now on the last bottle and is feeling as well as she ever did and weighs more than ever before in her life.

SOLD AT DRUG STORES. B. R. LEGGETT, Broxton, Ga.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprietors, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Don't Eat Biscuits

When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

J. B. RANDALL, Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep .....

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.

Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College AND COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

A $2,000 Word!

This paper announces, in connection with The Atlanta Weekly Constitutution, a new offer in which everyone may have a chance to supply the missing word in this sentence:

"AT FIRST IT WAS CONSIDERED BY THE '.....' AS A GOOD OMEN."

The sentence is taken from a well-known publication. The word is a familiar one, and it may readily suggest itself.

Contest Began Jan. 1--Ends March 1, '98

TO ENTER THIS CONTEST YOU MUST SUBSCRIBE FOR

THE Atlanta Weekly Constitution

IN CONNECTION WITH

THE NEWS,

AT THE EXTREMELY LOW PRICE OF $1.50

In connection with this Clubbing Rate, we will, if you send your guess with the subscription price, forward all for you and thus

GIVE YOU A CHANCE AT THE MISSING WORD FUND

At the end of period covered by this contest The Constitution will pay out to the successful party or parties the full prize amount that has accrued in the contest. The plan is simple and these contests have become so popular and have been conducted with such absolute fairness to all that they have been widely copied after, but none have become equal to The Constitution's great original series.

IN ONE YEAR THE CONSTITUTION HAS PAID OUT

NEARLY $5,000 IN CASH

in these missing word contests. It sets aside 10 per cent of the subscription fund received from subscribers guessing at the missing word, and this fund is given to the successful guesser or guessers in the contest. The fund is distributed with absolute fairness, and the fact that The Weekly Constitution has MORE THAN 150,000 subscribers and that it puts aside 10 per cent for a "guessers'" subscriptions for this distribution fund shows that the amount to be divided at each interval is large enough to be worth striving for. It is not a catch-penny or a deceitful proposition, but the plan is open and simple and IS ADMITTED to the mails by the Post Office Department as a meritorious contest.

☞ The book from which the sentence is taken is deposited in a safety vault, under seal, and will be opened at the close of the contest before a competent committee, which makes the award after an examination of the subscription books.

In one of these contests there was only one successful guesser, who received more than $1,000; and in addition to this in one year $5,000 has been distributed among successful guessers.

Remember that, whether the missing word is supplied or not, it costs nothing to guess, and even though not successful, the guesser gets

THE GREATEST OF ALL WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS FOR ONE YEAR

Keep that in view and send your guess with your clubbing subscription for your home paper and The Weekly Constitution.

Should you already be a subscriber to your home paper, remit $1 to this paper for The Weekly Constitution for one year, and it will be forwarded to The Constitution with your guess.

The Constitution guarantees that the amount of the award will not be less than $500 in cash, and it may be as much as $2,000.

THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION IS THE GREATEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER IN THE WORLD. It is a TWELVE PAGE, SEVEN-COLUMNS-TO-THE-PAGE NEWSPAPER, containing EIGHTY FOUR COLUMNS every week. It has no equal as a Weekly Newspaper in America; its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every bailiwick of the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE it prints more matter than is ordinarily found in any magazine in the country.

AS AN EDUCATOR it is a schoolhouse in itself; a year's reading of The Constitution is a liberal education.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES commend it especially to every farm home in America.

ITS FARM AND FARMERS' DEPARTMENTS, Its Woman's Department and Its Children's Department are all under able direction, and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed. The Constitution is Democratic in Politics, and it is a hearty advocate of the principles enunciated in the National Platform of the Party.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST

Ten Per Cent of the Guessers' Subscriptions goes to the Fund to be divided. In other words if this Subscription Fund amounts to $20,000 for this period then the fund to go to the successful guesser would be $2,000.

THE CONSTITUTION PUTS 10 PER CENT of the amount it receives for subscriptions from parties entering the Missing Word Contest into a fund for distribution among those who name correctly the missing word. If only one contestant gets the right word, he or she will be given the entire fund. If more than one supplies the missing word, the same will be proportionately divided among the successful guessers.

THE CONDITION PRECEDENT FOR SENDING A GUESS at the Missing Word, is that each and every guess must be accompanied by a year's subscription to The Weekly Constitution. If sent through the paper publishing this advertisement in acceptance of our clubbing offer, the guess at the missing word will be forwarded. The guess must be sent with the subscription. Should one person send more than one answer, he or she will be entitled to a share of the fund for each correct answer. There will be no capital prize--everyone will get a first prize. Persons may guess as many times as they send subscriptions.

IN MAKING YOUR ANSWER you need not write the sentence out in full--just say the Missing Word for the above particular period (designating it) is "....."

.....ADDRESS ALL CLUBBING ORDERS TO.....

THE NEWS,

Montevallo, Alabama.

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.

Blocton, Ala.

—Manufacturers of all kinds of—

BROOMS

—AND—

BRUSHES.

Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty.

Write for Prices.

Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,

P. O. Box 353. - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S

LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses

The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.

Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

---

JONES

HE

PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $80.

Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address

JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

This would be a comparatively happy world if everybody knew the virtues of SMITH'S BILE BEANS as a family medicine, and acted upon that knowledge. One half the misery of the world comes from ailments which arise from a bad stomach or a bad liver. Chiefest among these are dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache and Neuralgia.

BILE BEANS will cure all of these, besides all miasmatic diseases. Dose: One Bean.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, '98. NO. 8

WAR!

SEEMS

To be Inevitable!

By Cable to the Age-Herald.

Havana, Feb. 20.—The Bache, the United States survey steamer, with a plethora of diving appliances and submarine electric lights, is here, and the secret that is hidden under the foul bay will soon be made clear.

No American in Havana doubts now that the Maine was torn to pieces by a submarine mine, though the forms and conditions prevent the officers from so stating publicly.

Spanish divers will be beside the United States government divers in the inspection of the hull of the Maine, through the courtesy of Capt. Sigsbee. The next question is whether there will be the return courtesy of permitting the American divers to examine the floor of the bay between the wreck and the shore for traces of an electric wire or cable that may have fired the mine. It is generally supposed that a request for such a privilege will have the immediate effect of putting the government on its dignity, and that it will be regarded as an insult to Spain.

It is probable that if the mine was fired by a wire from the shore the wire has been pulled in before now, though there is no certainty that traces are not left. Captain Sigsbee believes the investigation by his board will be completed in three days, and the results laid before the court of inquiry.

The divers worked along to-day hunting for the dead. The Bache's men are preparing for the deeper diving.

Havana is delirious with joy to-day. The carnival has begun. The official pall of mourning has been lifted, But there is something excessive, unnatural in the gaiety as if a secret motive, something they dared not confess, was the cause of their strange elation. Eyes speak what lips dare not utter. Gestures, the sweep of a knife finding the vitals of a victim, picture what words are forbidden to describe. Triumph breathes in every act of the gaudily attired revellers in the prado. Confetti is thrown with an exultation that seems as plain as words to say:

"WE SUNK THE YANKEE SHIP."

The fear of the Spanish officials is that as the festival more nearly approaches an orgy the masks will be cast aside and that there will be an exhibition of the hatred against America.

Circulars exulting in the sinking of the Maine were distributed among the revellers this morning. The civility usually shown Americans in the streets is greatly diminished. The disguise is so thin now that it would take but a step to insult and attack.

So far it has stopped with verbal abuses and hisses, but a serious anti-American outbreak is quite within the possibilities of the near future.

This feeling is made more intense by the tidings that another American warship is to be sent here.

FULLY CONVINCED OF TREACHERY.

Key West, Fla., Feb. 20.—News was received here this morning to the effect that Captain Sigsbee and his officers were now convinced of treachery and foul play in the Maine wreck, and that Captain Sigsbee had made an important report to the Washington officials to that effect. No details are given save the bare fact that something has been discovered convincing Sigsbee of foul play.

It is rumored by passengers going through to port Tampa by the Olivette last night that the big explosion occurred in Havana as the steamer was leaving the bay; also a rumor that a government diver discovered another bomb near the Maine in Havana bay.

The excitement does not abate here over the Maine calamity. Since the news has come from Cuba that the forward magazine had not exploded the people are more outspoken in harsh language toward the Spaniards. The Maine officers here are the most reserved and will not be interviewed.

SEND MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Should the investigation begun to-day at Havana, under the direction of tha court of inquiry, show that the disaster to the Maine was caused by an explosion from the outside, the president will at once send a message to congress with a recommendation that immediate action be taken.

The message will be sent whether the Spanish officials disclaim responsibility or not. The president considers that the honor of the country has been dangerously assaulted, even if the firing of a torpedo or a submarine mine was the work of unofficial Spaniards. He will plainly express his views, but will ask congress to share with him the responsibility for the next step, which in all human probabilities will be war.

This information was from an authoritative source, a high official in close touch with the president. Since the disaster to the Maine last Tuesday evening, the president has freely disussed the situation in all details with his officials. The president hopes for the sake of peace that the disaster was caused by an accident. However, he has been unable to make up his mind that such was the case. He is calmly and patiently awaiting the result of the official inquiry.

All theories have been weighed and conclusion reached that in case the blow came from the outside, decisive action must be taken. Influential people with whom the president has talked have presented to him the theory that the explosion was due to the action of private citizens of Havana, or to parties who wish to precipitate a war. In each case the president has expressed himself to the effect that this country cannot afford to overlook such a blow to its dignity and its honor.

PREPARING FOR WAR IN EARNEST.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 21.—There is no doubt but that the government, in as quiet a way as possible, is making active preparations for war, both in a military and naval way, so that commencement of hostilities will not find us unprepared. Advices have been sent to officers in command of coast fortifications everywhere to see that their guns and ammunition are in good order, and it is known here to-day that an additional force of men was actually sent to Sandy Hook last night from different forts around New York. While no one knows their exact location, it is well known that the harbor of New York is filled with submarine mines and torpedoes, and there is no doubt but that the Vizcaya is in such a position that she could be easily dispatched in the event of her assuming a threatening attitude. She is directly under the guns of Forts Hamilton and Wadsworth, and would have little show against them.

ADMINISTRATION SPARRING FOR TIME, ALTHOUGH WAR IS ANTICIPATED.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The administration is playing for time, but at the same time most active precautions are being made all along the line for an emergency. The longer an open and decisive step can be postponed the better. No fault will be found with any reasonable slowness with which the court of inquiry on the disaster of the Maine will act. Days count now. The more days occupied in the inquiry, the better prepared this country will be to meet war should it come. Three weeks are needed.

FORT M'PHERSON TROOPS ORDERED READY.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 22.—It develops here to-night that orders have been received at Fort McPherson to hold two companies of United States infantry for immediate movement to Key West. Two companies have been detailed and private soldiers are under orders not to leave the reservation, even when off duty. It has leaked out by some of the men telling their friends good-bye, and saying that orders to move are daily and hourly expected. Inquiry develops the fact that this order had been expected ever since the riot in Havana, but it was not received until several days after the Maine was blown up. It is understood to have reached here yesterday, but was kept quiet, and is not yet generally known. The soldiers who have been detailed for this duty understand that Key West is not their real objective point, but that they are only a small part of a force to be mobilized at Key West and be ready for a quick trip to Havana, which may be made in six hours. It is understood that the officers at Fort McPherson, like the private soldiers, look upon this as a serious move, indicating a purpose on the part of the war department to be prepared for emergency at Havana. It is learned on good authority that the immense fortification built at Key West for the government by the Venable Construction company, is nearing completion, and that the government has been advised that the guns may be mounted immediately. These are immense guns, fifteen feet long and weighing about twenty-six tons each. At the Tybee Island fortification the government is mounting the first of the four eight-inch guns which compose the battery.

Subscribe for the News.

MORGAN BROS. .. .. ..

ARE

LEADERS IN LOW PRICES.

Have you seen our SPRING SUITS? We carry the LARGEST STOCK and sell at the VERY LOWEST PRICE!

Our GROCERIES are the best money can buy. If you want something good at a fair price, come to our store.

We Lead, Others Follow.

Yours for Business,

Morgan Bros.

RUTH AND NAOMI.

"Entreat me not to leave thee?
Entreat me not," she said,
And on Naomi's bosom
Weeping she bowed her head;

"For wheresoe'er thou goest
There will I follow thee,
And wheresoe'er thou dwellest,
There shall my lodging be;

"Henceforth, beloved mother,
Thy people shall be mine;
All other gods forsaking,
I'll serve no God but thine;

"I'll die where'er thou diest,
And there will buried be.
Bear witness, God! no power
But death parts thee and me."

Not half so dear a token
Of love, of faith sublime,
Has history ever hoarded
Its treasure-crypts of time;

Fame on her scrolls has graven
Great deeds, and words that prove
The majesty, the beauty,
The might of woman's love;

But where a deed so splendid,
Where words that nobler are?
'Mid fame's great orbs of glory
She shines the morning star!

When spake this Moab woman,
Her mouth's ambrosial breath,
Stirred chords that slumbered voiceless
Till waked by love and faith;

Her touch divine endowed them
With deathless life and youth;
Breathe but the word "Naome,"
And they will murmur "Ruth."

Chas. W. Hubner, in Atlanta Constitution.

Intelligent Cotton Mill Labor.

One of the main reasons given by the New England cotton manufacturers for not transferring their operations to the South is that labor in this section does not come up to the high standard of intelligence and skill which characterizes the labor of New England operatives.

Strikingly at variance with this reason for not availing themselves of the immense advantages which the South offers, is the following letter written by one of the Fall River operatives and addressed to the Manufacturers' Record. Says the operative:

Dear sir i Am i am not Aguinted with the south Any way what so ever if i was I culd answer your letter but as it is i dont see How i can At this time not nowing Anithing About the places i Have worked in the mill since i was 8 years old now i am just abour turn 40 i am in want of a supt Position i Have worked in every room in the mill prity much can Do My work i have second Handed & Overseere And bin supt ten for 8 years and i am lookin for Just such a position you writing Me in regard too the south that is a place that i shuld like to look Over sum time there may bee something there that May be ofeum survis too Me dont no shure if your people nows Of anithing in My line i shuld be very Glad to Have them to bar me in Mind if there shuld be anithing i shall Bar you in mind Hopiug i shall be Able to ansure you leters sum day later On if i shuld go south i wanted under stud that i Am Just as good a Manufacture too day as i Hever was up with the times and everything pertaining a cotton mill Hoping i shall Here from you soon Very truly yours.

Hoping that you Will do what ever you cad for me thrug your papers And what ever wire pulling you May Have With aney one i can refer you to any supt Or tres in fall river Nety Machine Masons Mac Whitins Machine or Drapers at Ope dale or William Walsh at Drapers any of these you or aney one els can Write to them About sober Man never was drunk in my life sir these men Now me all of them.

Of course this letter is not published as a specimen of the attainments of the average operator in the New England cotton mills. Most of the operatives employed in these mills are undoubtedly much further advanced than the one in question; but coming as it does just at this time, the foregoing letter is not without its amusing interest.

Miss Allie Hughes, Norfolk, Va., was frightfully burned on the face and neck. Pain was instantly relieved by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which healed the injury without leaving a scar. It is the famous pile remedy. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Subscribers to the NEWS can get it and the Weekly Atlanta Constitution for one year for $1.50, as advertised on page 8 of this issue. Read that offer, then send or bring your subscription to the office of the NEWS.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

BURGESS LITTLE, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, Feb. 24, '98.

SMALLPOX.

A Case Breaks Out in the Industrial School.

A case of smallpox developed in the Dormitory Sunday evening. The origin is traced to a washerwoman at Aldrich. President Reynolds, after consultation with the county health officer, had a citizens' meeting Sunday night and decided to depopulate the dormitory of all who had not been exposed, so that the patient could be cared for without removal, and those who had been exposed, detained without danger of communicating the disease, and the building thoroughly disinfected. The parents of the sick girl have been advised, and a policy of thorough frankness adopted. No information will be suppressed. Dr. D. L. Wilkinson, the college physician, says it is a very mild case, and there is no cause for alarm, and that he has no doubt of stamping out the disease at once. A large majority of the pupils board in private families, and these have not been exposed in the least, and are absolutely safe from infection. They are attending school as usual, the school building being some distance from the dormitory. Dr. Wilkinson says no apprehension need be felt as to their safety. Excitement has about subsided, and the situation is being accepted philosophically and all precautions are being taken. It is confidently believed that the pupils will all return within three weeks.

The following letter was sent by President Reynolds to Gov. Jos. F. Johnston and the Board of Trustees of the Industrial School:

Gentlemen: I suppose by this time you are in possession of the report that we have smallpox in the school. I therefore consider it my duty to give you a statement of all the facts that have occurred, and the steps that I have taken in the matter, in order that you may know the precise condition of affairs here.

I went to New York a short time ago to attend a meeting in the Madison Sqnare Garden, conducted under the auspices of the Armstrong Association, which is composed of a number of the leading men of our country, viz.: Ex-President Cleveland, Gen. Howard, William E. Dodge and others, in the interest of negro education, for the purpose of bringing such influence as they might possess to bear upon Speaker Reed to secure the passage of the bill, which only needs his sanction to become a law.

I returned home last Saturday morning. Saturday night I found that one of the girls in the Dormitory had a suspicious case of sickness—symptoms being those preceding smallpox eruptions, but not until Sunday night was it enough developed to ascertain that she really had the disease. At that time the Dormitory had in it about 85 girls, being closely filled. This case being on the second floor and so many liable to infection, I felt it my duty under the circumstances to at once depopulate the house.

By midnight Sunday night I had a list of every girl in it arranged in order for one of the four trains that she could go upon the next day. Monday morning early I collected them in the reception room and stated this fact, and furnished them with the enclosed circular letter, and supplied them with money to pay their passage home, and sent them home at once.

My reasons for this were twofold: First, that all danger of infection so far as possible would be at an end, as it was then impossible to move the sick girl. Second, over 250 girls in private boarding houses could not have been kept in school had I allowed the girls from the Dormitory to take their seats in the chapel and classroom. Then, the responsibility and risk of having quite a number sick in the Dormitory, and no trained nurses to handle them, might have resulted in its becoming a hospital, and irretrievable damage thereby done to our future prospects.

As it is there is but one girl in the Dormitory and the lady who has been waiting upon her, except the family of Mr. Farrington, who live on the lower floor. Every other room in the building has been locked except the closets, which are on the same floor with the patient.

I have also sent a circular letter to every patron of the school stating the exact condition, as I am determined to deal frankly and honestly with the people, and, whenever they order their daughters home, I shall cheerfully send them. However, I don't think that there is a particle of danger to those remaining here, and have so notified them. The school has been going along yesterday and today just as usual, with about 250 girls present. I am holding them well in hand and will permit no demoralization whatever.

Of course I am laboring under a great strain, but I think that I shall come out all right. Even if the school had to be disbanded, it would not be such a calamity as might at first appear, because we certainly can close with flying colors, only to take a fresh start in the Fall with renewed energy and courage.

Just here I will state that I have lately visited Pratt Institute, at Brooklyn; Drexel Institute, Philadelpnia; Teacher's College, New York; Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C.; the Georgia Normal and Industrial School, and quite a number of other schools, and have gained a great deal of information and will try and profit by the experience gained by observation. At the same time considering our people and their condition, I am frank to confess that I do not think that any could surpass what we have done and are doing here for Alabama's girls.

Of course these experiences, such as we are passing through now, are visitations beyond the control of man largely, and can only be met in the best manner possible, and this I shall endeavor to do.

Allow me in conclusion to thank you for the confidence you have displayed in my judgment heretofore, and to assure you that I shall at all times do everything in my power to sustain the institution I am sure you view with pride.

The teachers are all well and conducting themselves nicely. Miss Bush, who has been sick the greater part of this season, will go home as soon as the excitement is over. Of course quite a number of girls will be ordered home, and my future course will simply have to be governed by circumstances.

Very sincerely yours,
H. C. REYNOLDS,
President.

LATER.—Since writing the foregoing letter, I have secured a nice house at the edge of town, and will immediately move the patient and the matron who has been attending her, where they will be cared for by a trained nurse for whom we have sent to Birmingham.

I shall at once proceed to fumigate the Dormitory and put it in good shope. I consider all danger over and trust the school will move along all right. H. C. R.

The following is a copy of a letter President Reynolds wrote to patrons of the school in regard to smallpox at the Dormitory:

Dear Sir. Under existing circumstances, and realizing the responsibility resting upon me for the welfare of your daughter, I have decided, owing to prevalence of smallpox in the neighborhood and the danger of infection, to act promptly, and to that end have given her a furlough or temporary leave of absence until I can determine whether it will be safe for them here.

I am in the whole matter trying to do by you as I would like to be done by. Taking that view of the matter, I trust you will excuse me in venturing this advice to you. Have your entire family vaccinated in at least two places on one arm with good vaccine matter immediately. You can get it from your county, or have the State officials send it to you.

I hope you will not become excited over my taking these precautions, and allow me to say I have not attempted to keep this secret one minute, but on first appearance of danger I have acted promptly.

I will keep you advised as to the situation and return of your daughter, if safe, etc.

The school was never more prosperous. Your daughter has done admirably, and it is a source of great regret for me to take this step, but I realize the fact that you might reflect on me were I to neglect any precaution for your daughter's safety, I could never forgive myself.

With kindest regards and thanking you for your confidence and promptness in our transactions, I am,

Ever your friend,
H. C. REYNOLDS.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

To

Yours to please,

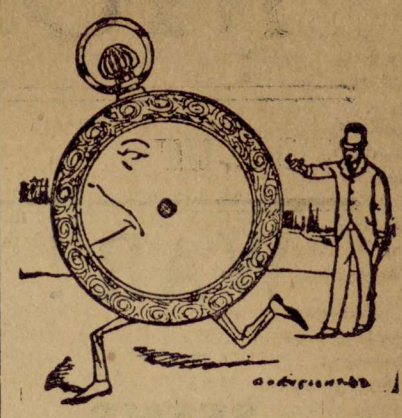
C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

"MY WATCHES RUN."



Fine WATCHES

Carefully Repaired
and Adjusted.
All Work
Guaranteed
First-class.

WORK SENT BY MAIL

Promptly attended to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo. - - - Ala.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

The Montevallo grist mill and wool-carder; in connection about 5 acres of land and two small dwellings; large water power. Right in town. Apply to P. O. Box 16, Montevallo, Ala.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Fine chinaware left from X'mas stock at reduced prices. F. F. Crowe & Co.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

R. B. EVANS,
Proprietor of the only first class
COLORED
BARBER SHOP
IN THE CITY.
Shop east end of town.
MONTEVALLO, - - ALA.

Mousseline de soie, Pigues, Organdies, Plain and Dotted Swiss, a New and Beautiful Line of Embroidery and Laces, in sets to match.

MORGAN BROS.,
Montevallo, Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

GEO. B. MORRIS, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. Crowe.

C. C. Vandegrift has had his store house repainted.

The Montevallo brick yard will soon start to making brick.

Several of our citizens went to Mardi Gras this week.

Dr. Bishop, of Talladega, visited his sister, Miss Sarah, this week.

See change in the ads. of Morgan Bros. and H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Miss Ollie Bryan, of Talladega, visited her parents here this week.

Miss Bessie Lum, of Montgomery, is visiting her stster, Miss Carrie, this week.

C. C. Vandegrift will soon remove into the building formerly occupied by the News.

Dr. Givhan and Clifton Newton report great things from the good roads convention.

Miss Genia Wilkinson, of Prattville, is visiting her brother, Er. D. L. Wilkinson, of our town.

Mr. Harper Lum, of Montgomery, is visiting his sister, Miss Carrie, of the Industrial School.

Maj. Alex. A. Wall, of the "St. George," left this morning on a business trip to Oakman, Ala.

Dr. Givhan, who has been quite sick for several days, is improving, and will be out again soon.

Little Clifton Wells, while imitating a trapeze performer Tuesday, accidentally fell and broke his arm.

Our Maplesville correspondent reached us too late for publication this week, but will appear next week.

All of the ex-Bibb county people will be glad to learn that Supt. J. G. Mocre, of Blocton, will be one of our next State senators.

Miss Bush, one of the music faculty, left for her home at Macon, Miss., yesterday, on account of a recent illness. We regret her departure.

All who are indebted to me must call and see me, or I will put their account in the hands of a collector.

Clifton Newton.

Mr. Will Perry, the popular salesman for C. L. Meroney & Co., accompanied by his sister, Miss Mary Lee, visited Mardi Gras at Birmingham this week.

Miss Mattie Mundy, of Eutaw, a former pupil of our school, is visiting Mrs. E. S. Lyman this week. Miss Mundy's many friends welcome her back to Montevallo.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any wheri else in town.

Our old friend, John Carlisle, of Talladega, stopped over in Montevallo a couple of days this week on his return from Birmingham, where he attended Mardi Gras.

The News is glad to learn that Hon. John McQueen will probably go to the lower house of the legislature this next term. All Montevallo wish him success in the race for the seat.

We are glad to know that over 200 girls arose in the chapel this morning and expressed themselves as having confidence in the president and faculty as regards their welfare in the present scare about smallpox.

The twenty-five young ladies at Mr. Ed Lyman's, who have braved the storm so uncomplainingly, are entitled to a banner, and the young men of this town, whose hearts and souls are with Capt. Reynolds in preserving the school, mean to present them with some such a token.

Married, near Six Mile, on the 17th inst., by Rev. J. T. Wells, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Trott, Prof. W. A. Gibbon, of the Brierfield Normal College, and Miss Annie Trott. The News congratulates Prof. Gibbon in his selection of a fair companion for life, and wishes for him and his lovely bride a long, useful and happy life,

Col. J. C. McFee, the pioneer traveling man of the "grip," was in town last week, a guest at the St. George. The colonel has been on the road continuously since 1853. His store of experience is copious. He is very popular among his fellow craft—also among his trade. He is also chairman of the hotel committee of the T. P. A., Post B, with headquarters at Birmingham. Come again, colonel, we are always pleased to see you.

Died, at the home of Mr. Frank McGaha, near Dogwood, on Friday night last, after a lingering illness of consumption, Mr. George Shortridge Lewis, aged about 61 years. Mr. Lewis was a brother of the late Burwell B. and Paul H. Lewis, and was a graduate of the State University. He was a good and true Confederate soldier, having belonged to the Sixth Texas Regiment, and was wounded in the foot, which made him a cripple for life.

SMALLPOX.

Before the discovery of vaccination by Sir Edward Jenner, in 1776, smallpox annually destroyed in Europe 4,000 or 5,000 people. Since that time the death rate per million has steadily decreased, until now, where formerly upward of 2,000 people to the million perished, only about a hundred or thereabouts now die.

The State Board of Health in this State says: "In a community or town well and thoroughly vaccinated, there would be no possibility of a serious extension of smallpox." Statistics show that the per centage of death in the unvaccinated is 35 per cent; those having one vaccine scar, 7.73 per cent; two scars, 4.70 per cent; 3 scars, 1.95 per cent; 4 scars, 55 per cent.

"In the open air," says Dr. Loomis, "the distance of contagion is about 2 1-2 feet." In order to take smallpox, a smallpox germ must be introduced into an unprotected person, and these germs must be in sufficient numbers to overcome the natural resistance of the system. The more vaccination scars a person can show, the harder it is for these germs to overcome the resistance. This is why repeated vaccination is necessary. Some claim that smallpox can not be conveyed to an unprotected person unless some of the pus is brought in contact with a mucous or cutaneous surface. This is a mistake. The germs are conveyed by the breath, by exhalations from the skin, etc. Clothing and the atmosphere are the principal means of conveyance. Woolen clothing conveys the germs more readily than linen. The principal stage of the dfsease, when most communicable, is the stage of suppuration (beginning about the sixth day) and the stage of dessication, which begins about the twelfth day. So generally there is little danger in a smallpox patient before the sixth dav.

Smallpox usually begins with a chill, headache, backache and nausea. The eruption first begins on the face, and generally on the third day from the initial fever.

During the present epidemic, the mortality has been almost less than that of measles. White people have nearly everywhere escaped. But few towns in Alabama at present of any size are free from the disease, and so few deaths have occurred from it, that few people have paid any attention to it, even when the disease was only a few yards away.

D. L. Wilkinson.

COMMITTEE CALL

MEETING OF DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF SHELBY COUNTY.

The following call is for a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Shelby County, on Tuesday, March 8, at Columbiana:

A meeting of the Democratic executive commitee of Sheby County Alabama, is hereby call to be held in Columbiana on Tuesbay, the 8th day March, 1868. A full attendance is urgently requested, as business of importance will be transacted.

W. B. Browne,
Chairman.

The following is a list of the committee by beat:

Beat 1—W. H. Bell, J. D. S. Shirley, P. B. Harrell.
2—N. N. Mosteller, J. N. Carden, I. P. Vinson.
3—W. D. Huggins, S. H. Gist, S. T. Bristow.
4—E. S. Lyman, W. B. Reynolds, R. L. Rice.
2—John Harmon, James Doss, J. M. Waddell.
6—E. Ruffin, J. L. Tucker, Robert Marshal.
7—C. P. McLane, J. B. Adams, H. A. McClinton.
8—W. A. Wilder, J. W. Shaw, Thos. Lester.
9—J. H. Welden, J. F. Pope, J. J. W. Taylor.
10—T. J. Martin, C. H. Florey, W. N. Moss.
11—J. W. Moore, F M. Walton, O. S. Lybrand.
12—N. H. Ross, Earl Cross, Sam Dunnaway.
13—J. C. Farley, A. J. Deshazo' C. T. Lee.
14—W. H. Collins, J. M. Babb, S. M. Goodwin.
12—R. M. Hollis, Chas Bradshaw, J. H. Gill.
16—E. P. Chandler, C. F Elliott, J. J. Burks.
17—J. W. McWhorter, R. M. Acton, Taylor Farrell.

A RARE TREAT.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Methodist Sunday School, Dr. D. L Wilkinson, superintendent; C. C. Vandegrift, secretary.

February 20th: Officers and teachers present, 16; scholars present, 144; total, 160: on roll, 210; visitors, 4; collection, $2.00.

Baptist Sunday School, Will Lyman, superintendent; J H. McMath, secretary.

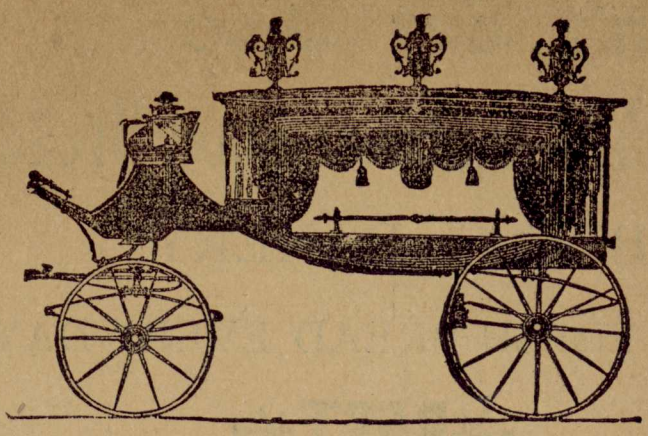
February 20: Scholars present, 133; scholars absent, 50; officers and teachers present, 15; officers and teachers absent, 5; visitors, 1; total, 149. Collection, $3.25.

For Sale, Cheap—A nice house and lot in Montevallo.

Also, ninety (90) acres of good land near Pratt's Ferry. Will exchange land for town property.

For particulars in regard to above property, apply at this office or the helby County Bank.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

EVERYTHING, FROM A PIN

—TO AN—

Elephant

—AT—

R. C. Parker's

BRIERFIELD, : : ALA.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabay

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, utter milk, 10 cents per gallon, at Mrs. D. W. Shivars'.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, • ALA,

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala,

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

For Sale, Very Cheap.

I will sell, at a very low price, a two-horse wagon, in good fix; just overhauled and repaired.

J. D. MORELAND

Don't Eat Biscuits

When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

P. B. RANDALL, Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep .....

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.

Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College AND COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

A $2,000 Word!

This paper announces, in connection with The Atlanta Weekly Constitutution, a new offer in which everyone may have a chance to supply the missing word in this sentence:

"AT FIRST IT WAS CONSIDERED BY THE '_____' AS A GOOD OMEN."

The sentence is taken from a well-known publication. The word is a familiar one, and it may readily suggest itself.

Contest Began Jan. 1--Ends March 1, '98

TO ENTER THIS CONTEST YOU MUST SUBSCRIBE FOR

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

IN CONNECTION WITH

THE NEWS.

AT THE EXTREMELY LOW PRICE OF $1.50

In connection with this Clubbing Rate, we will, if you send your guess with the subscription price, forward all for you and thus

GIVE YOU A CHANCE AT THE MISSING WORD FUND

At the end of period covered by this contest The Constitution will pay out to the successful party or parties the full prize amount that has accrued in the contest. The plan is simple and these contests have become so popular and have been conducted with such absolute fairness to all that they have been widely copied after, but none have become equal to The Constitution's great original series.

IN ONE YEAR THE CONSTITUTION HAS PAID OUT

NEARLY $6,000 IN CASH

In these missing word contests. It sets aside 10 per cent of the subscription fund received from subscribers guessing at the missing word, and this fund is given to the successful guesser or guessers in the contest. The fund is distributed with absolute fairness, and the fact that The Weekly Constitution has MORE THAN 150,000 subscribers and that it puts aside 10 per cent from all guessers' subscriptions for this distribution fund shows that the amount to be divided at each interval is large enough to be worth striving for. It is not a catch-penny or a deceitful proposition, but the plan is open and simple and IS ADMITTED to the mails by the Post Office Department as a meritorious contest.

☞ The book from which the sentence is taken is deposited in a safety vault, under seal, and will be opened at the close of the contest before a competent committee, which makes the award after an examination of the subscription books.

In one of these contests there was only one successful guesser, who received more than $1,000; and in addition to this in one year $5,000 has been distributed among successful guessers.

Remember that, whether the missing word is supplied or not, it costs nothing to guess, and even though not successful, the guesser gets

THE GREATEST OF ALL WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS FOR ONE YEAR

Keep that in view and send your guess with your clubbing subscription for your home paper and The Weekly Constitution.

Should you already be a subscriber to your home paper, remit $1 to this paper for The Weekly Constitution for one year, and it will be forwarded to The Constitution with your guess.

The Constitution guarantees that the amount of the award will not be less than $500 in cash, and it may be as much as $2,000.

THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION IS THE GREATEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER IN THE WORLD. It is a TWELVE-PAGE, SEVEN-COLUMNS-TO-THE-PAGE NEWSPAPER, containing EIGHTY-FOUR COLUMNS every week. It has no equal as a Weekly Newspaper in America; its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every bailiwick of the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE it prints more matter than is ordinarily found in any magazine in the country.

AS AN EDUCATOR it is a schoolhouse in itself; a year's reading of The Constitution is a liberal education.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES commend it especially to every farm home in America.

ITS FARM AND FARMERS' DEPARTMENTS, Its Woman's Department and Its Children's Department are all under able direction, and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed. The Constitution is Democratic in Politics, and it is a hearty advocate of the principles enunciated in the National Platform of the Party.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST

Ten Per Cent of the Guessers' Subscriptions goes to the Fund to be divided. In other words if this Subscription Fund amounts to $20,000 for this period then the fund to go to the successful guesser would be $2,000.

THE CONSTITUTION PUTS 10 PER CENT of the amount it receives for subscriptions from parties entering the Missing Word Contest into a fund for distribution among those who name correctly the missing word. If only one contestant gets the right word, he or she will be given the entire fund. If more than one supplies the missing word, the same will be proportionately divided among the successful guessers.

THE CONDITION PRECEDENT FOR SENDING A GUESS at the Missing Word, is that each and every guess must be accompanied by a year's subscription to The Weekly Constitution. If sent through the paper publishing this advertisement in acceptance of our clubbing offer, the guess at the missing word will be forwarded. The guess must be sent with the subscription. Should one person send more than one answer, he or she will be entitled to a share of the fund for each correct answer. There will be no capital prize—everyone will get a first prize. Persons may guess as many times as they send subscriptions.

IN MAKING YOUR ANSWER you need not write the sentence out in full--just say the Missing Word for the above particular period (designating it) is "....."

ADDRESS ALL CLUBBING ORDERS TO

THE NEWS,

Montevallo, Alabama.

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.

Blocton, Ala.

—Manufacturers of all kinds of—

BROOMS

—AND—

BRUSHES.

Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty.

Write for Prices.

Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,

P. O. Box 353. - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses

The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.

Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

---

JONES

HE

PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.

Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address

JONES OF BINGHAMTON,

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

This would be a comparatively happy world if everybody knew the virtues of SMITH'S BILE BEANS as a family medicine, and acted upon that knowledge. One half the misery of the world comes from ailments which arise from a bad stomach or a bad liver. Chiefest among these are dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache and Neuralgia.

BILE BEANS will cure all of these, besides all miasmatic diseases. Dose: One Bean.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 3, '98. NO. 9

AN OLD LETTER.

L. M. MONTGOMERY.

I found it to-day in the dusty leaves
Of a volume long unread,
Folded away in some long-past day
In the years that so swiftly fled.
A faded letter, old and dim,
Blurred with the touch of age,
And a strange sweet scent was still faintly blent
With each worn and yellowed page.

A letter writ in a childish hand
To the sister far away
Who had learned to roam from the hillside home
And the friends of her girlhood's day.
Dear little writer—the small brown hand
That penned the halting lines
Has long been at rest on a clay-clod breast,
Beneath her native pines.
Ah! As I read it my eyes were filled
With a dew of tender tears,
For it brought once more the dreams of yore
And the sweetness of vanished years;
And the little sister with violet eyes
And braids of silken hair,
And clinging hand, seemed once more to stand
As of old beside my chair.

Love and kisses fond and sweet,
Tidings of old-time friends,
Home—heart greetings blent with each message sent,
Scraps and odds and ends.
"The front door rose-tree is out in bloom,
And the cat has kittens four;
Tom cut his hand, and the baby can stand
Alone by himself on the floor.

Haying is over—it was such fun—
And the old white hen's dead.
Aren't you sorry?—I am—and cousin Sam
Is going out West, 'tis said
I'm head of my class, and Kitty Jones
Comes each afternoon to play,
But I, too, am lonely, and I wish that you
Hadn'r ever gone away.

Won'f you come back soon, for I miss you so,
And it seems so long to wait,
I send you a rose from the bush that grows
Out there by the garden gate.
I think of you every hour that comes
And every night I pray,
Before I sleep, that God will keep
Dear sister so far away."

I folded it up with reverent touch,
That letter, so old and quaint,
With each yellowed sheet and each message sweet,
And the writing dim and faint,
I put it away with my treasured things,
And my eyes were dim with tears,
For a spell it bore of the days of yore
And the hopes of olden years.

THE IMPORTANCE OF GOOD ROADS.

The roads of a country are its commercial arteries, and the importance of keeping these arteries in good condition cannot be too strongly emphasized. In the south we have not given the subject of good roads the attention which it properly deserves, and the consequence is that our material development has been somewhat hindered on this account. But the future is still before us, and it lies within our power to atone in some measure for our past shortcomings by giving the subject of good roads more careful attention in the future. If we expect to secure for this section the industrial prestige to which its marvelous wealth entitles it, we cannot make a better start in this direction than by putting our roads in good condition.

Of course the farmer will be the first to experience the benefit of this improvement, but its sphere of influence will not be restricted to the farmer. Indirectly it will make itself apparent in the changed status of our people generally, and every interest of this section will derive fresh energy and life from its invigorating touch. Several days ago Prof. W. C. Latta, of Purdue university, LaFayette, Ind., discussed the subject of good roads at some length in a public address. So thoroughly did this distinguished educator enter into the merits of the subject that some review of the salient points of his address may not be amiss in this connection. Without going too much into detail, these points which seem to thoroughly condense the argument may be briefly summarized as follows: First, good roads economize time and force in the labor of transporting products from the farm to the market; second, they enable the farmer to take advantage of market fluctuations in buying and selling; third, they permit transportation of farm products and purchased commodities during times of comparative leisure; fourth, they reduce the wear and tear on horses, harness and vehicles, and fifth, they enhance the market value of real estate. Each of these reasons separately considered is sufficient in itself to warrant our people in putting forth their utmost exertions to improve the condition of our roads and to keep them in a good condition. There is no telling what our farmers have lost, and indirectly, what our people generally have lost, on account of bad roads; and without allowing ourselves longer to remain indifferent to the claims of this important subject, it behooves us from this time forward to make our roads the objects of our special solicitude. When we begin to do this, prosperity, such as we have never before known in Dixie, will begin to reign throughout her borders.

One reason why the south has not taken more interest in the subject of good roads until the present time is due in part to the destitution in which the late war left her, and in part to the lack of sufficient agitation. For more than twenty years the south was compelled to struggle under the heavy burden of debt which the late war entailed upon her, and she lacked the means necessary for improving the condition of her roads; but things are now different. With the light of better days breaking upon her she is now possessed of ample means with which to devote herself to the task of improving the condition of her roads; and, moreover, she realizes, as she has never realized before, the importance of giving this subject her attention. She realizes that railway systems, no matter how much they may be multiplied and extended, cannot supply the deficiencies of country roads, and that if the resources of this section are ever fully developed, it must be accomplished through the agency of good roads. With this conviction firmly stamped upon her mind the south intends within the next few years to apply herself with fixed determination to the task of building up good roads, and over these good roads she intends to march with stately strides into the proud inheritance which lies before her.—Atlanta Constitution.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c.
If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Advertising.

Age-Herald.

Extravagant advertising is waste, but judicious advertising is both an art and a source of profits. Customers are not easily deceived. They know that if a dealer has a good article he will persistently tell the people he has it, whereas a man who has a poor article is never persistent in advertising it. It is the man that keeps hammering away that makes an impression, and reaches results. Spasmodic advertising does not impress people that you have a good thing and know it. A space in a paper filled day after day is, in the experience of successful advertisers and business men, the best of all known means for reaching prospective buyers.

No businsss in this land was ever built up by programmes, city directories, maps and the like. Such things may be an aid, but they never are the foundation of a business. They do not really reach many people, and those that do read them generally treat them contemptiously. Says a recent successful bicycle advertiser: "One inch in a goad local paper, displayed in the same place each issue will do more to keep yourself and your bicycle before the public than many advertisemeuts of the hand bill nature."

Don't annoy others by your coughing, and risk your life by neglecting a cold. One Minute Cough Cure cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

MORGAN BROS. ARE LEADERS IN LOW PRICES.

CLOTHING.

Have you seen our SPRING SUITS? We carry the LARGEST STOCK and sell at the VERY LOWEST PRICE!

SUITS from $2.50 to $10.00.

Men's pants from 50 cents to $5.00.

GROCERIES.

Our GROCERIES are the best money can buy. If you want something good at a fair price, come to our store.

A GOOD RESOLUTION.

Judging from our rapidly increasing business, a large number of people have resolved to have better shoes this year. We handle all the leading brands, such as Douglass, Brown and Ditman. Our prices on shoes are from 25 cents to $5.00.

We Look for Quality Before we Think of Prices.

If our prices look small, it is not because qualities have been slighted. Ladies' Shirt Waists, Latest Styles, from 50 Cents to $1.00. Best Oil Calico 5 Cents.

We Lead, Others Follow.

Yours for Business,

Morgan Bros.

Can't Down a Good Paper

Macon County Citizen.

Every time one subscriber slabs off from The Citizen, it gains ten. The 'possums of the forests have persimmon trees, the fowls of the barnyard have roosts, while the editor owns not a place whereon he can lay his head, but, bless your old skin-flint soul, this paper, like "The Brook," of which Tennyson, the poet, sang, will "go on and on forever." In the meantime we are resting well on the right side and losing just one moment of sleep out of every ten thousand over your departure from the paths of rectitude.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

Poor Dr Mary Walker.

Atlanta Constitution.

Dr. Mary Walker must feel lonely in the isolation to which her peculiar views on the subject of dress consign her. Although she habitually arrays herself in masculine attire, she is denied the privilege of membership in those councils which are sacred to the sterner sex; and on the other hand, although endowed with many of the brightest and most refined traits of womanhood, she finds herself excluded with equal cordiality from the sisterhoods of her own sex. Yet she continues to don her favorite garb with apparent resignation.

On Tuesday of last week the annual congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution met in Washington, D. C., and it seems that Dr. Walker, who had been blackballed several months before, on presenting her application for membership in the patriotic sisterhood, managed in some way to figure in the deliberations of the congress. This enraged several of the members, who considered it offensive that one so conspicuous for repudiating the established garb of her sex should be given the privileges of the hall, and accordingly, at the close of the session, when Dr. Walker had retired, the following statement was given out:

Some months ago the request for admission to the society of the D. A. R. was presented by Dr. Mary Walker to the national board of management accompanied by proof of lineal descent from revolutionary ancestry and by the necessary fees and dues. The board decided that this society, being one composed of women, could not consider the candidate as eligible or acceptable, she having repudiated the recognized apparel of women. Both papers and money were returned.

Why Dr. Walker under these circumstances should have seen fit to obtrude herself upon the deliberations of the congress does not appear from the information which has come to hand, unless she expected by personal effort to induce the congress to reverse its action. If this was her purpose in attending the proceedings, she failed in it most signally.

When you part with your trousers, doctor, and make up your mind to assume once more the modest garb of your sex, you may stand some chance of getting into the order which now rejects you; but not until then. The women of this country have too much pride in the time-honored and beautiful garb which they have always worn to entertain for one moment the idea of admitting into their sisterhoods one who is bent upon exchanging it for vulgar pantaloons.

Genius Nipped in the Bud.

A Georgia farmer who has a son who gives promise of literary excellence brought the boy to the city with the view of apprenticing him to some literary chap, as he expressed it, "to learn the business." But he first sought an editor of his acquaintance and asked his opinion.

"How long would it be," he asked, "before the lad would be makin' money by his writin's?"

"He'd have to make a name first," said the editor.

"But he's got that already," explained the farmer—"Jeremiah Jedediah Jones! What's the matter with that?"

"I mean—he'd have to make a name as an author before he could command any cash."

"And how long would that take?"

"About ten years."

"Jerry," said the old man, "come along an' less go back to plowin'. Five cent cotton beats that all hollow! You've been a-talkin' about a wider field; come 'long home an' I'll give you ten acres!"—Atlanta Constitution.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

BURGESS LITTLE. - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in adyance.

Thursday, March 3, '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Monteval'o has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Glirs; four churches afiord ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little mouey hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subj cts of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

The excitement of smallpox was thought to be subsided, but on last Friday a new case developed, that of Dr. E. G. Givhan. He attended the Aldrich washerwoman who introduced the disease at the Dormitory, and then attended the good roads convention at Anniston, and returned home sick. He was carefully watched until Friday the 25th inst., when eruptions appeared and he was sent to the pest house. Evevrything passed of smothly until this morning when the news spread that Miss Lucy Saunders, a boarder at Mr. E. S. Lyman, was the latest victim.

The girls attended school as usual, but President Reynolds, appreciating the situation, thought best to dismiss school for at least three weeks, and so notified all the students that they could go home. They all prepared to leave at once. We are glad to say that Miss Fuller is doing nicely and will soon be well. Dr Givhan is reported much better.

All of the young ladies have been vaccinated no new cases are expected. President Reynolds hopes to resume school by the first of April.

We received a letter from Bro. Abernathy, but it came too late to get in this week. He writes that he found many friends of the school who expressed their sympathy for Capt. Reynolds and the faculty, and who also gladly endorsed the policy pursued by him as president of the school.

The people of Montevallo should turn their attention to street improvement, and let the initial step be the getting of street lamps, so that the citizens themselves can see to walk the streets at night; also those who are not citizens, when they are walking. Let us prefer light rather than darkness.

We should not be discouraged in our appeals for the L. & N. R. R. to come by Montevallo. We are in earnest, and when the people of this town decide to have anything, it is a shadow of "the coming event."

A delightful tea party was given in honor of Misses Mattie Mundy, of Eutaw, and Bessie Lum, of Montgomery, at the hotel "St. George" on Monday evening last. The following couples were present: L. N. Bowden with Miss Addie Lee; W P. McConaughy with Miss Bessie Lum; Burgess Little with Miss Mattie Mundy; S. S. Allen with Miss Ethel McMath, and A. J. Lee with Miss Laura Dale. After tea the party repaired to the hotel parlors, where they enjoyed various games, charades, etc., until 10 o'clock. when they bade adieu to their hosts, and all were omnibussed away.

MAPLESVILLE.

A fight occurred in town Saturday night between Operator Wynkoop and Mr. Hundley, a track foreman, in which Wynkoop won the victory. Hundley had a skinned face and a black eye Sunday morning. Wynkoop was not hurt. The fight occurred over a dispute about a watch.

The many friends of J. W. Graham are sorry to hear that he has been quite sick for the past few weeks, and hope for his speedy recovery.

The M. & O. R. R. is progressing rapidly. We will soon have another railroad through Maplesville, and hope our little town will build up to some extent.

T. U. Crumpton has resigned the agency for the Southern Railway Co.

A new store house is being erected in town. Glad to see our little town build up.

Dr. A. S. Woolley's store was all sunshine with the presence of his lovely and accomplished daughter, Miss Gertrude, last week.

Our young friend Crump seems greatly disappointed over something. Guess it is because he cannot look into the depths of those lovely brown eyes he loves so well.

Will T. Denton is very popular with the girls up north.

Waller has retired from society.

Wonder if Miss Gertrude's eyes wander across the east side of the Southern railway, hoping to find something for them to rest upon?

UNCLE TIGE.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Marke

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep . . . . . .

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.
Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

To

Yours to please,

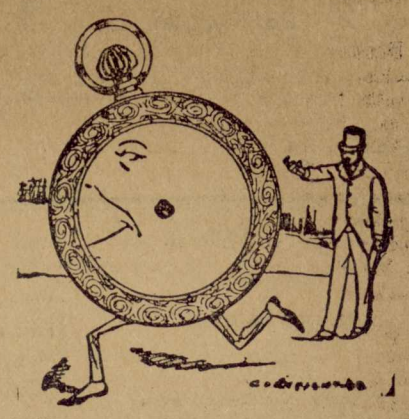
C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

"MY WATCHES RUN."



Fine WATCHES

Carefully Repaired
and Adjusted.
All Work
Guaranteed
First-class.

WORK SENT BY MAIL

Promptly attended to.

J. W. MARTIN,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

The Montevallo grist mill and wool-carder; in connection about 5 acres of land and two small dwellings; large water power. Right in town. Apply to P. O. Box 16, Montevallo, Ala.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

C. C. Vandegritt keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

R. B. EVANS,

Proprietor of the only first class

COLORED

BARBER SHOP

IN THE CITY.

Shop east end of town.

MONTEVALLO, - - ALA.

Mousseline de soie, Piques, Organdies, Plain and Dotted Swiss, a New and Beautiful Line of Embroidery and Laces, in sets to match.

MORGAN BROS., Montevallo, Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

GEO. B. MORRIS, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. Crowe.

On account of our printer being sick we are a little short of news this week.

C. C. Vandegrift has had his store house repainted.

Clifton Newton made a business trip to Blocton this week.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

Mrs. Parker, of Columbiana, was a visitor to our town Monday.

Misses Nettie Ellis, Wilna Carlton and Nellie Wallwork are spending a few days with home folk at Blocton this week.

Mr. Summersgill, of Phœnix City, paid his daughter, Miss May, a visit this week.

D. W. Shivers has taken charge of Bowden & Morgan's livery stable.

W. S. Cary, Esq., is in Columbiana this week on legal business.

J. J. Little, Esq., of Blocton, spent last Sunday in Montevallo, being a guest of his son, the editor of the News.

Miss Matlee Phelan, of Waterbury, Conn., spent Saturday in Montevallo, visiting relatives. She will be in our town for a month during the summer, and her many friends will look forward to her coming with great delight.

The young ladies of the dressmaking department have earned over $200 this session. They will finish a very fine dress this week for a Mrs. Tompkins, of Montgomery.

The date of the meeting of the county convention has been changed from Tuesday, March 8th, to Monday, March 7th.

Mr. Howard Thomas, who has been with the engineering corps of the Blocton branch of the Mobile & Ohio railroad, spent Tuesday in our town.

Capt. Reynolds is receiving letter in every mail from patrons of the school, saying their daughters are ready to return to school when he thinks it is safe for them to do so.

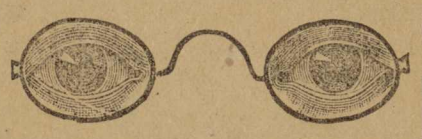
Messrs. E. P. Phillips and Columbus Gentry, of Blocton, were in town a short while Tuesday, en route home from Montgomery, where they had been to enter some land.

Dr. E. A. Wilson, dentist, of Birmingham, will be in Montevallo from March 9th to 12th, to practice his profession.

During these hours of vaccination we all are having to come to the "scratch."

We realize this week that a soft road is hard to travel.

David Ward, the lucky gold miner, who brought back the news of a rich find of gold on the American side of Alaska, and who says that the rush next spring will be far down the Yukon on the American side, spent three years prospecting in Alaska, and in that time only received seven letters from home. Since his return he has had more than that many thousands of letters from would-be argonauts in three months. He is now in Philadelphia, Pa., and tries to answer every inquiry concerning the Far North, its perils, rigors of climate and wonder fu riches. His practical experience makes his advice highly valuable, and anyone interested in Alaska should avail themselves of his knowledge by writing to him.



H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

A SUBSCRIBER

SEND IN YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS, ALONG WITH THE DOLLAR, AND

THE NEWS

WILL BE SENT YOU EVERY WEEK FOR

ONE YEAR,

JOB PRINTING.

LETTER-HEADS,
NOTE-HEADS,
BILL-HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
CIRCULARS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS, Etc.,

Done in first-class style on short notice, at the

NEWS : OFFICE.

Notice to the Public.

I PAY

The Highest Market Price

For——

Hides, Beeswax, Tallow and Furs of all description, all kinds of Country Produce

Bring your produce to me. I also carry a nice line of

FAMILY GROCERIES

W. L. AMBROSE,
East Blocton

Subscribe for the News.

Subscribers to the News can get it and the Weekly Atlanta Constitution for one year for $1.50, as advertised on page 8 of this issue. Read that offer, then send or bring your subscription to the office of the News.

COMMITTEE CALL

MEETING OF DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF SHELBY COUNTY.

The following call is for a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Shelby County, on Monday, March 7, at Columbiana:

A meeting of the Democratic executive commitee of Sheby County Alabama, is hereby call to be held in Columbiana on Monday, the 7th day March, 1898. A full attendance is urgently requested, as business of importance will be transacted.

W. B. Browne,
Chairman.

The following is a list of the committee by beat:

Beat 1—W. H. Bell, J. D. S. Shirley, P. B. Harrell.
2—N. N. Mosteller, J. N. Carden, I. P. Vinson.
3—W. D. Huggins, S. H. Gist, S. T. Bristow.
4—E. S. Lyman, W. B. Reynolds, R. L. Rice.
5—John Harmon, James Doss, J. M. Waddell.
6—E. Ruffin, J. L. Tucker, Robert Marshal.
7—C. P. McLane, J. B. Adams, H. A. McClinton.
8—W. A. Wilder, J. W. Shaw, Thos. Lester.
9—J. H. Weldon, J. F. Pope, J. J. W. Taylor.
10—T. J. Martin, C. H. Florey, W. N. Moss.
11—J. W. Moore, F. M. Walton, O. S. Lybrand.
12—N. H. Ross, Earl Cross, Sam Dunnaway.
13—J. C. Farley, A. J. Deshazo, C. T. Lee.
14—W. H. Collins, J. M. Babb, S. M. Goodwin.
15—R. M. Hollis, Chas. Bradshaw, J. H. Gill.
16—E. P. Chandler, C. F Elliott, J. J. Burks.
17—J. W. McWhorter, R. M. Acton, Taylor Farrell.

A RARE TREAT.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Methodist Sunday School, Dr. D. L Wilkinson, superintendent; C. C. Vandegrift, secretary.

February 20th: Officers and eachers present, 16; scholars present, 144; total, 160: on roll, 210; visitors, 4; collection, $2.00.

Baptist Sunday School, Will Lyman, superintendent; J H. McMath, secretary.

February 20: Scholars present, 133; scholars absent, 50; officers and teachers present, 15; officers and teachers absent, 5; visitors, 1; total, 149. Collection, $3.25.

For Sale, Cheap—A nice house and lot in Montevallo.

Also, ninety (90) acres of good land near Pratt's Ferry. Will exchange land for town property.

For particulars in regard to above property, apply at this office or the helby County Bank.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

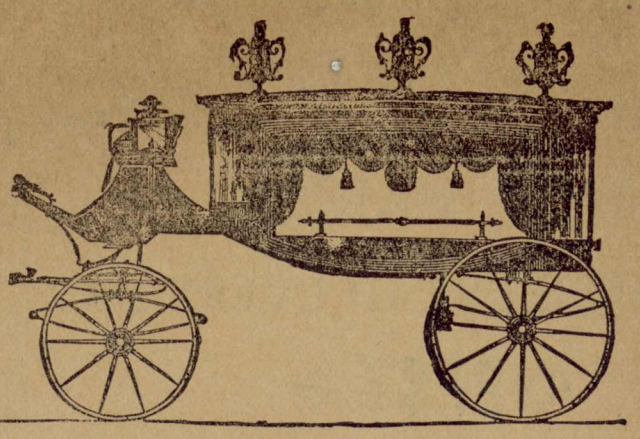
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

EVERYTHING, FROM A PIN

——TO AN——

Elephant

——AT——

R. C. Parker's

BRIERFIELD, : : ALA.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, butter milk 10 cents per gallon, at Mrs D. W. Shivers'.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA,

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala.

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

For Sale, Very Cheap.

I will sell, at a very low price, a two-horse wagon, in good fix; just overhauled and repaired.

J. D. MORELAND.

Don't Eat Biscuits

When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

J. B. RANDALL, Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep . . . . . .

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.

Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College AND COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

A $2,000 Word!

This paper announces, in connection with The Atlanta Weekly Constitutution, a new offer in which everyone may have a chance to supply the missing word in this sentence:

"AT FIRST IT WAS CONSIDERED BY THE '_____' AS A GOOD OMEN."

The sentence is taken from a well-known publication. The word is a familiar one, and it may readily suggest itself.

Contest Began Jan. 1--Ends March 1, '98

TO ENTER THIS CONTEST YOU MUST SUBSCRIBE FOR

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

IN CONNECTION WITH

THE NEWS.

AT THE EXTREMELY LOW PRICE OF $1.50

In connection with this Clubbing Rate, we will, if you send your guess with the subscription price, forward all for you and thus

GIVE YOU A CHANCE AT THE MISSING WORD FUND

At the end of period covered by this contest The Constitution will pay out to the successful party or parties the full prize amount that has accrued in the contest. The plan is simple and these contests have become so popular and have been conducted with such absolute fairness to all that they have been widely copied after, but none have become equal to The Constitution's great original series.

IN ONE YEAR THE CONSTITUTION HAS PAID OUT

NEARLY $6,000 IN CASH

in these missing word contests. It sets aside 10 per cent of the subscription fund received from subscribers guessing at the missing word, and this fund is given to the successful guesser or guessers in the contest. The fund is distributed with absolute fairness, and the fact that The Weekly Constitution has MORE THAN 150,000 subscribers and that it puts aside 10 per cent from all guessers' subscriptions for this distribution fund shows that the amount to be divided at each interval is large enough to be worth striving for. It is not a catch-penny or a deceitful proposition, but the plan is open and simple and IS ADMITTED to the mails by the Post Office Department as a meritorious contest.

☞ The book from which the sentence is taken is deposited in a safety vault, under seal, and will be opened at the close of the contest before a competent committee, which makes the award after an examination of the subscription books.

In one of these contests there was only one successful guesser, who received more than $1,000; and in addition to this in one year $5,000 has been distributed among successful guessers.

Remember that, whether the missing word is supplied or not, it costs nothing to guess, and even though not successful, the guesser gets

THE GREATEST OF ALL WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS FOR ONE YEAR

Keep that in view and send your guess with your clubbing subscription for your home paper and The Weekly Constitution.

Should you already be a subscriber to your home paper, remit $1 to this paper for The Weekly Constitution for one year, and it will be forwarded to The Constitution with your guess.

The Constitution guarantees that the amount of the award will not be less than $500 in cash, and it may be as much as $2,000.

THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION IS THE GREATEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER IN THE WORLD. It is a TWELVE-PAGE, SEVEN-COLUMNS-TO-THE-PAGE NEWSPAPER, containing EIGHTY-FOUR COLUMNS every week. It has no equal as a Weekly Newspaper in America; its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every bailiwick of the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE it prints more matter than is ordinarily found in any magazine in the country.

AS AN EDUCATOR it is a schoolhouse in itself: a year's reading of The Constitution is a liberal education.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES commend it especially to every farm home in America.

ITS FARM AND FARMERS' DEPARTMENT, Its Woman's Department and Its Children's Department are all under able direction, and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed. The Constitution is Democratic in Politics, and it is a hearty advocate of the principles enunciated in the National Platform of the Party.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST

Ten Per Cent of the Guessers' Subscriptions goes to the Fund to be divided. In other words if this Subscription Fund amounts to $20,000 for this period then the fund to go to the successful guesser would be $2,000.

THE CONSTITUTION PUTS 10 PER CENT of the amount it receives for subscriptions from parties entering the Missing Word Contest into a fund for distribution among those who name correctly the missing word. If only one contestant gets the right word, he or she will be given the entire fund. If more than one supplies the missing word, the same will be proportionately divided among the successful guessers.

THE CONDITION PRECEDENT FOR SENDING A GUESS at the Missing Word, is that each and every guess must be accompanied by a year's subscription to The Weekly Constitution. If sent through the paper publishing this advertisement in acceptance of our clubbing offer, the guess at the missing word will be forwarded. The guess must be sent with the subscription. Should one person send more than one answer, he or she will be entitled to a share of the fund for each correct answer. There will be no capital prize—everyone will get a first prize. Persons may guess as many times as they send subscriptions.

IN MAKING YOUR ANSWER you need not write the sentence out in full—just say the Missing Word for the above particular period (designating it) is "....."

ADDRESS ALL CLUBBING ORDERS TO

THE NEWS,

Montevallo, Alabama.

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.

Blocton, Ala.

—Manufacturers of all kinds of—

BROOMS

—AND—

BRUSHES.

Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty.

Write for Prices.

Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,

P. O. Box 353, - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses

The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents. Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

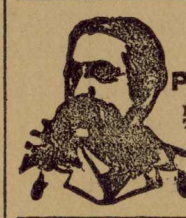
---



JONES OF BINGHAMTON PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales. Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.

Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address

JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

This would be a comparatively happy world if everybody knew the virtues of SMITH'S BILE BEANS as a family medicine, and acted upon that knowledge. One half the misery of the world comes from ailments which arise from a bad stomach or a bad liver. Chiefest among these are dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache and Neuralgia.

BILE BEANS will cure all of these, besides all miasmatic diseases. Dose: One Bean.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 10, '98. NO 10

THAT RESTLESS FEELING.

Mighty restless feelin' in the country round-about;
Lookin' ever' minute fer the war ter thunder out;
Ever'thing uncertain from the mountains ter the sea—
But that's a blame sight better'n the war itself 'ud be!

Shippin' shot an' powder on the trains a-passin' through;
Throwin' up the breastworks (an we're needin' ot 'em, too!)
Ever'thing suspensive an' on tip-toe fur an' free;
But that's a blame sight better'n the war itself 'ud be!

Stocks a'risin'—fallin', with the news the wires bring—
Telephones a-goin', with a everlastin' ring!
Ever'body anxious, from the mountains ter the sea;
But anxiousness is better'n the war itself 'd be!

Folks says that ef she's comin' let her hurry up an' come;
Let the rifles ring their message—beat the stuffin' out the drum!
But I still hol' ter the doctrine, in this country o' the free, Suspense is ten times safer'n the war itself 'ud be!

—Atlanta Constitution.

A JUDICIAL STUDY OF SPAIN

An English Survey of the Government, the Army, the Navy—Misrule, Incompetence and Corruption Everywhere.

From the Current Number of Blackwood's Magazine.

We may hear the question put whether Sagasta can save Spain. The task would be an easy one indeed if this typical Southern parliamentary politician could achieve it. From the day that he appeared in public life as a raging "progressive," only to prove when he did attain office that he could govern by all the brutal methods of Narvaez, till now, Don Braxedes Mateo Sagasta has never made or married anything. To float into office, to settle nothing, to let "the solution" come of itself—these have been his methods in all times.

Now he is old—he was born at Torrecilla de Comeros in 1828—and in bad health. Much of his time is passed in bed. It would be strange if the "dregs of life" of this Southern parliament man were to supply Spain with what "the first sprightly running could not give." The question is whether Spain will be lost though Sagasta fail to the utmost. There is no reason why she should.

In this century she has lost all her colonies on the mainland of America. Between 1820, the date of Riego'a rising, and the conclusion of the last Carlist war in 1876, she went through more than half a century of civil war and military agitation. Yet to day the population is probably twice what it was ninety years ago, and the material wealth of the nation very much greater. The loss of Cuba, and even another period of domestic disorder, would probably be more fatal than were the revolt of possessions which once stretched from New Mexico and Texas to the Tierra del Fuego, the insurrection of 1820 and all its long train of consequences, the French intervention, the endless conflicts of Liberales with Serviles and Apostolicos, of Christinos with Carlistas, the pronunciamientos, and all the series of confused conflicts which have made up the outward political history of Spain in this century.

On one condition it might even be the contrary of a disaster. If the loss of the Pearl of the Antiles aroused Spaniards at last to a sense of the need there is for them to alter their views of the relations which should exist between themselves and their government, the uses of adversity will be sweet.

The Spanish Navy contained a number of vessels, some built abroad and others constructed by an English firm, which has been induced, at an enormous cost to the country, to establish a yard at Bilbao. On paper it looked well, but its real condition was revealed by the loss of the Reina Regente.

This vessel, a fine new cruiser which was reported to have made nineteen kdots an hour on its way out to Spain from Glasgow, was lost when coming back from Tetuan, where she had gone to land the Moorish Ambassadors. It is universally believed that she upset because she was not sufficiently ballasted.

Her captain had warned the authorities that unless she was filled up with coal she would be unstable. Yet the dock-yard at Cadiz was so poor in this indispensable part of the stores of a modern fleet that the Reina Begente was sent out with just as much coal as would take her to the African coast and back again.

On her way home she ran into a gale, and now she lies at the bottom of the sea with all her crew.

Her story is, as Carlisle would have said, significant of much. Behind whatever show of strength a Spanish Government may make on paper there is the want of something else, be it stores, or training for its men, or even men themselves, which is needed for efficiency.

By the nature of things the army is a more real force than the navy. The command of some army is a necessary condition for the existence of any government in Spain. Therefore it is to a cetain extent a real force. It may even be allowed that not a little has been done to improve the quality of the Spanish Army.

Still, when the call for more soldiers came from Cuba there were not trained men enough to send without leaving the mother country destitute of troops. It was necessary to call out masses of conscripts and send them. The disciplined men were kept at home "para lo que occurierie" (in case anything should happen). It was the quintos, the unpracticed conscripts, who were sent. Indeed, so little had the Spanish Government availed itself of those eighteen years of peace to put its armaments in order that its soldiers were still armed with the Remington.

Here again we have another example of that want of foresight in preparation which condemns the Spaniards "to improvise all" at the eleventh hour.

Given now a country which endures its Government as a necessary evil, in which there is no governing class, no strong dynasty, and where there are no common principles of action, impose upon it a constitutional machinery which the vast majority of the people do not understand, and what is likely to ensue? Nothing can ensue except the rule of the brigand masquerading as soldier, and the "attorney species"—the intriguers and talkers.

There are limits to the evil they can do. As the despot is limited by assassination, so the mere parliamentary intriguers can be limited by fear of the murderous wrath which will burst out when human nature is driven too far. Therefore, in the scuffling of kites and crows which make up Spanish parliamentary history, the parties take care, more or less well, to make it possible for the people to live, to multiply and to attend to their private affairs.

With no governing class, no intelligent and powerful monarchy and no principles of policy, there can be no government in the higher sense of the word. The utter exhaustion of the country after the miserable welter o 1868-1876, the docility of Alfonto XII, the great tact and high personal character of the Queen Regent, a daughter of the Archduke Albert, with all the ruling faculty of her house, have given Spain twenty years of peaceful anarchy.

But they have not given, and could not give, good government and thrift in the management of the public fortune, timely preparations against dangers, the removal of those administrative vices which have paralyzed the Spanish Army and been the immediate cause of the loss of colonies.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. F. F. Crowe & Co.

MORGAN BROS. ARE LEADERS IN LOW PRICES.

CLOTHING.

Have you seen our SPRING SUITS? We carry the LARGEST STOCK and sell at the VERY LOWEST PRICE!

SUITS from $2.50 to $10.00.

Men's pants from 50 cents to $5.00.

GROCERIES.

Our GROCERIES are the best money can buy. If you want something good at a fair price, come to our store.

A GOOD RESOLUTION.

Judging from our rapidly increasing business, a large number of people have resolved to have better shoes this year. We handle all the leading brands, such as Douglass, Brown and Ditman.

We are the exclusive agents for the Bay State shoes. They can't be beat. If you want to keep up, wear the Bay State shoe.

Our prices on shoes are from 25 cents to $5.00.

We Look for Quality Before we Think of Prices.

If our prices look small, it is not because qualities have been slighted. Ladies' Shirt Waists, Latest Styles, from 50 Cents to $1.00. Best Oil Calico 5 Cents.

We Lead, Others Follow.

Yours for Business,

Morgan Bros.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Dr. Givhan is visiting in Georgia.

***

The land bill will be likely to pass.

***

School will re-open on the 21st of March.

***

The Dormitory has been thoroughly fumigated.

***

The clover on the college campus is doing excellent.

***

Miss Lucy Saunders is doing nicely, and will be well soon.

***

Some of the girls are still here waiting for school to begin again.

***

All danger is now over—Dr. Givhan is well, Miss Fuller is safe, and Miss Lucy Saunders has a very mild attack.

***

President Reynolds thinks the railroads will make concessions, so it won't cost the girls anything to return.

CLOSED POLLS—OPEN SCHOOLS.

Yesterday morning the Mercury attempted to show that popular suffrage limited by an educational qualification would not only leave the selection of officers and the enactment of laws in more competent hands at present, but would also prove an incentive to those disqualified by ignorance to improve their mental condttion and prepare themselves to enjoy the full rights and privileges of citizenship. In an open letter to the constitutional convention of Louisiana, now assembled at New Orleans, Booker T. Washington, one of the greatest leaders and teachers of the negro race, advises closing the ballot-box and opening the school house. His argument is as follows:

"The negro agrees with you that it is necessary to the salvation of the South that restriction be put upon the ballot. I beg of you further, that in the degree that you close the ballot box against the ignorant that you open the school house. More than one-half of the people of your State are negroes. No State can long prosper when a large percentage of its citizenship is in ignorance and poverty, and has no interest in government. Let the very best educational opportunities be provided for both races; and added to this the enactment of an election law that shall be incapable of unjust discrimination, at the same time providing that in proportion as the ignorant secure education, property and character, they will be given all the rights of citizenship."

Booker Washington is an observant man; he knows that hundreds of negroes vote in every county in Alabama, without even a semblance of an idea of the issue involved; he also knows that such ignorance is a menace to good government, and merely lifts his voice in the interest of his people and his State. The contention that an educational qualification will stimulate all classes to a higher conception of the duties of citizenship is true beyond cavil. It is as true of one race as of the other. The boys will understand from their first entrance in school that a certain standard of education must be attained to carry with it the rights of citizenship, and pride will induce them to reach the coveted goal. When the desired end has been attained, their ambition for higher degrees will have been aroused and what might have been an ignorant man, will grow to useful citizenship. Limited suffrage is desirable from a political standpoint, and will eliminate a most dangerous element from the voting classes in Alabama, but it is ten times more desirable from an educational standpoint.—Huntsville Mercury.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,
PUBLISHERS.
BURGESS LITTLE, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, Mar. 10, '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energ have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Glirs; four churches afiord ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheeriully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little mouey hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. picy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subj cts of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

How about lighting the streets?

Montevallo ought to be inc r-porated.

Montevallo is certain to boom this summer.

The republicans held a convention at Calera Tuesday.

Things are not as bad as some seem to think. Montevallo is not dead by any means.

There is a good deal of war talk just at present. Severat of our young men would like to try war for awhile at least.

The following resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Shelby County, held in Columbiana on Monday, March 7th, 1898.

RESOLVED, 1st:—That a convention of the Democratic party is hereby called to meet at the court house in Columbiana on Wednesday, April 13th, 1898, for the purpose of nominating candidates for probate judge, circuit clerk, representative, superintendent of education and two commissioners, and two delegates to the State judicial and chancery convention and to transact such other business as may properly come before it.

RESOLVED, 2d:—That beat meetings or primaries as each beat may determine, be held on Saturday, April 9th, 1898, for the purpose of selecting delegates to said county convention, and that all conservative voters, irrespective of past political associations as differences who can unite with us in the economical and constitutional government, and will support the nominees and principles in said beat meeting or primaries.

RESOLVED, 3d:—That delegates to the Congressional convention will be selected by a convention to be hereafter called by the chairman of the Democratic executive committee of said county.

W. B. BROWNE, Chairman,
J. T. LEEPER, Secretary.

J. G. Moore, of Blocton, will represent Bibb and Perry in the next legislature.

The smallpox scare has vanished, and everybody is now wondering why they were so scared.

The government seems to be raising more Cain about the killing of Baker, the South Carolina negro postmaster, than about the 250 men who were killed on the Maine. Every Southern man regrets to have such things as the killing of Baker occur.

BLOCTON.

All of the mines are running full time.

Quite a number of people are sick with colds.

Rev. T. B. Dison visited Montgomery this week.

The Blocton News-Herald has suspended publication.

Mr. Burgess Little, editor of the Montevallo News, was in town Sunday.

Mr. Henry Jackson spent two days this week on his place near British.

Mr. Clifton Newton, of the Montevallo News, was a visitor to our town last week.

Messrs. Curry and Caldwell are thinking of starting a paper soon. Blocton needs a good paper.

Mrs. G. D. Mitchell, of McCulley Town, has been quite sick for the past two weeks, but is better now.

It seems that Mr. J. G. Moore will have no opposition for the senate. Mr. Moore is one of Bibb's most popular men, and will no doubt receive the nomination.

Capt. W. O. Hill, who has been agent of the Southern railroad at this place for a number of years, has resigned, and will go into the laundry business. His friends are glad to know that he will not leave Blocton.

Don't annoy others by your coughing, and risk your life by neglecting a cold. One Minute Cough Cure cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

JUST ARRIVED!

More Goods Than You Ever Saw.

—They Are for the—

Montevallo Racket Store

They will tell you something of interest next week. Too busy this week marking down goods

Montevallo Racket Store,

R. B. CRABBE.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

To

Yours to please,

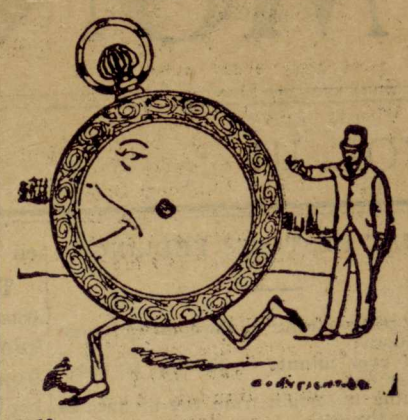
C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

"MY WATCHES RUN."



Fine WATCHES

Carefully Repaired
and Adjusted.
All Work
Guaranteed
First-class.

WORK SENT BY MAIL

Promptly attended to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo. - - - Ala.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

The Montevallo grist mill and wool-carder; in connection about 8 acres of land and two small dwellings; large water power. Right in town. Apply to P. O. Box 16, Montevallo, Ala.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

R. B. EVANS,

Proprietor of the only first class
COLORED
BARBER SHOP
IN THE CITY.

Shop east end of town.
MONTEVALLO, - - ALA.

Mousseline de soie, Piques, Organdies, Plain and Dotted Swiss, a New and Beautiful Line of Embroidery and Laces, in sets to match.

MORGAN BROS.,
Montevallo, Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

GEO. B. MORRIS, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. CROWE.

We are glad to see Bro. Abernathy back again.

The editor visited his parents at Blocton Saturday.

President Reynolds visited Montgomery this week.

Have you seen Meroney's spring suits? They are daisies.

Miss Louise Alston left for home in Clayton, Ala., Monday.

Mr. Jack Hayes, of Avondale, visited friends in the city last week.

Mr. George Kroell made a business trip to Birmingham Monday.

Several of our citizens went to Calera Tuesday to hear Bryan speak.

WANTED—In case of war, a substitute. Rev. Dr. Jesse Underwood.

Mrs. Babb left last Friday for Birmingham, to be gone a few days.

Dr. Crowe and Mr. John Fancher attended a meeting at Calera Monday.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

Miss Sophia Fitts left for home in Franklin, Tenn., last Saturday night.

Dr. Wilson, of Birmingham, is in town this week, ready to work on teeth.

Newton & Nolen's market has suspended business until the girls return.

Hon. Mims Walker, of Faunsdale, Ala., spent Tuesday with his daughter, Mrs. W. B. Reynolds.

Mr. J. M. Martin returned from Talladega last week. Mr. Martin is not afraid of smallpox.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

Miss Mary Kroell, who has been visiting for several weeks in Birmingham, returned home last Friday.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

The blow nearly killed father because he bought his goods before learning the prices at the new Racket Store.

Subscribe for the News.

Messrs. Pritchard, McMath and Moore, who have been in Birmingham for several days, have returned home.

Mrs. S. A. Latham left Wednesday morning for Ensley, where she will spend some time with her son, Dr. Latham.

President Reynolds has a great many letters from girls who say they will be here on the 21st inst. to resume their studies.

There will be hot times in the old town if you fail to tell your wife about all the pretty things at the Racket Store.

Morgan Bros. have just received a nice line of sporting goods, fishing tackle, baseball goods, etc. Call and see them.

Miss Ada Dill will open a dressmaking establishment on Monday, the 14th inst., over B. F. Crabbe's new Racket Store.

Mesdames S. J. Morgan and E. D Reynolds, of Blocton, spent Tuesday in Montevallo with their sister, Mrs. W. B. Reynolds.

J. J. Little, Esq., of Blocton, was in town Tuesday, and was among the number who went to Calera to hear Hon. W. J. Bryan.

"Uncle" John Pynor, the veteran shoemaker, left Tuesday afternoon for his home at Stauton, where he will remain for at least fifteen or twenty days.

Mr. R. B. Crabbe, of Dadeville, has opened one of the nicest stocks of goods ever brought to Montevallo. Mr. Crabbe has leased Mr. Vandegrift's store house for two years.

Subscribers to the NEWS can get it and the Weekly Atlanta Constitution for one year for $1.50, as advertised on page 8 of this issue. Read that offer, then send or bring your subscription to the office of the NEWS.

Dr. Sanders, the State Health Officer, came to Montevallo Saturday last at the request of President Reynolds, to examine into the smallpox situation and to ascertain as to a suspicious case that the physicians had been unable to diagnose. Dr. Sanders made a thorough and careful examination, and pronounced that the school could open without any difficulty whatever on the 21st inst., and that the case in question could not be considered smallpox, and if varioloid it was the mildest type he had ever seen. He unhesitatingly gave it as his opinion that there was no danger whatever in reassembling the school on the 21st inst.

Delightful Entertainments.

During the week the young people have been doing themselvs proud in the social realm. Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Shivers entertained quite a number of young people and it is useless to say that all present enjoyed themselves, as Mr. and Mrs. Shivers are favorites among all the young people.

On Wednesday evening Miss Maud Reynolds, assisted by her cousin, Miss Gena Brown of Mobile, and Miss Joana McCoy Frances of Chicago, entertained friends at her father's residence. Different games were indulged in, but the principal feature of the evening was a sham auction and was quite a source of amusement. Mr. Sam Allen acted auctioneer to perfection.

The following couples partook of the bounteous repast which was arranged for them just at the head of the stairs :

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Pat McConaughy and Miss Nan Pickett, A. J. Lee and Viola Reynolds, Edgar Cary and Miss Thomas, Nat Nabors and Miss Lucille Wilkinson, Burgess Little and Miss Ida Reynolds, T. K. Reynolds and Mrs. Hudson, Dr. E. A Wilson and Miss Lena Young, L. N. Bowden and Miss Maud Reynolds, S. S. Allen and Miss Stella Ramsey, Robert Fleming and Miss Eunice Latham, Harry Reynolds and Miss Gena Brown, S. P. West and Miss Ethel McMath, Miss Frances and Miss Dora Fonde.

At a seasonable hour all left, feeling under many obligations to their hostess for such an enjoyable occasion.

A moonlight ride to Aldrich is planned for tonight with Mr. and Mrs. W. B Reynolds as chaperons, assisted by Mrs. Florence Hudson.

INFORMATION WANTED.

My husband, J. J. Peacock, disappeared from Montevallo on the 19th of February. I have written everywhere I thought it likely he might go. Nobody has seen or heard of him. He is a low, thick set man, with dark eyes, dark skin, and hair now sprinkled with gray. He is a brickmason by trade. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will do a deed of kindness by writing to his wife,

MRS. LIZZIE PEACOCK,
Montevallo, Ala.
or Maylene, Ala.

After years of untold suffering from piles, B W Pursell, of Knitnersville, Pa., was cured by using a single box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Skin diseases, such as eczema, rash, pimples and obstinate sores are readily cured by this famous remedy. F. F. Crowe & Co.

For Sale, Cheap—A nice house and lot in Montevallo.

Also, ninety (90) acres of good land near Pratt's Ferry. Will exchange land for town property.

For particulars in regard to above property, apply at this office or the Shelby County Bank.

JOB PRINTING.

LETTER-HEADS,
NOTE-HEADS,
BILL-HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
CIRCULARS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS, Etc.,

Done in first-class style on short notice, at the

NEWS : OFFICE.

H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

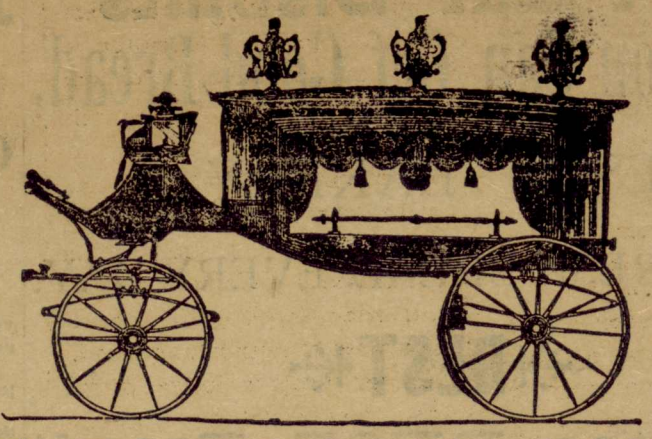
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c.
If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

EVERYTHING, FROM A PIN

—TO AN—

Elephant

—AT—

R. C. Parker's

BRIERFIELD, : : ALA.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, butter milk, 10 cents per gallon, at

MRS D. W. SHIVERS'.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala.

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

For Sale, Very Cheap.

I will sell, at a very low price, a two-horse wagon, in good fix; just overhauled and repaired.

J. D. MORELAND.

Don't Eat Biscuits
When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant
Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r, Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Marke

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep .....

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.

Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College

AND

COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

A $2,000 Word!

This paper announces, in connection with The Atlanta Weekly Constitutution, a new offer in which everyone may have a chance to supply the missing word in this sentence:

"AT FIRST IT WAS CONSIDERED BY THE '.....' AS A GOOD OMEN."

The sentence is taken from a well-known publication. The word is a familiar one, and it may readily suggest itself.

Contest Began Jan. 1--Ends March 1, '98

TO ENTER THIS CONTEST YOU MUST SUBSCRIBE FOR .....

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

IN CONNECTION WITH

THE NEWS,

AT THE EXTREMELY LOW PRICE OF $1.50

In connection with this Clubbing Rate, we will, if you send your guess with the subscription price, forward all for you and thus

GIVE YOU A CHANCE AT THE MISSING WORD FUND

At the end of period covered by this contest The Constitution will pay out to the successful party or parties the full prize amount that has accrued in the contest. The plan is simple and these contests have become so popular and have been conducted with such absolute fairness to all that they have been widely copied after, but none have become equal to The Constitution's great original series.

IN ONE YEAR THE CONSTITUTION HAS PAID OUT

NEARLY $6,000 IN CASH

in these missing word contests. It sets aside 10 per cent of the subscription fund received from subscribers guessing at the missing word, and this fund is given to the successful guesser or guessers in the contest. The fund is distributed with absolute fairness, and the fact that The Weekly Constitution has MORE THAN 150,000 subscribers and that it puts aside 10 per cent from all guessers' subscriptions for this distribution fund shows that the amount to be divided at each interval is large enough to be worth striving for. It is not a catch-penny or a deceitful proposition, but the plan is open and simple and IS ADMITTED to the mails by the Post Office Department as a meritorious contest.

☞ The book from which the sentence is taken is deposited in a safety vault, under seal, and will be opened at the close of the contest before a competent committee, which makes the award after an examination of the subscription books.

In one of these contests there was only one successful guesser, who received more than $1,000; and in addition to this in one year $5,000 has been distributed among successful guessers.

Remember that, whether the missing word is supplied or not, it costs nothing to guess, and even though not successful, the guesser gets

THE GREATEST OF ALL WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS FOR ONE YEAR

Keep that in view and send your guess with your clubbing subscription for your home paper and The Weekly Constitution.

Should you already be a subscriber to your home paper, remit $1 to this paper for The Weekly Constitution for one year, and it will be forwarded to The Constitution with your guess.

The Constitution guarantees that the amount of the award will not be less than $500 in cash, and it may be as much as $2,000.

THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION IS THE GREATEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER IN THE WORLD. It is a TWELVE-PAGE, SEVEN-COLUMNS-TO-THE-PAGE NEWSPAPER, containing EIGHTY-FOUR COLUMNS every week. It has no equal as a Weekly Newspaper in America; its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every bailiwick of the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE it prints more matter than is ordinarily found in any magazine in the country.

AS AN EDUCATOR it is a schoolhouse in itself; a year's reading of The Constitution is a liberal education.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES commend it especially to every farm home in America.

ITS FARM AND FARMERS' DEPARTMEN, Its Woman's Department and Its Children's Department are all under able direction, and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed. The Constitution is Democratic in Politics, and it is a hearty advocate of the principles enunciated in the National Platform of the Party.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST

Ten Per Cent of the Guessers' Subscriptions goes to the Fund to be divided. In other words if this Subscription Fund amounts to $20,000 for this period then the fund to go to the successful guesser would be $2,000.

THE CONSTITUTION PUTS 10 PER CENT of the amount it receives for subscriptions from parties entering the Missing Word Contest into a fund for distribution among those who name correctly the missing word. If only one contestant gets the right word, he or she will be given the entire fund. If more than one supplies the missing word, the same will be proportionately divided among the successful guessers.

THE CONDITION PRECEDENT FOR SENDING A GUESS at the Missing Word, is that each and every guess must be accompanied by a year's subscription to The Weekly Constitution. If sent through the paper publishing this advertisement in acceptance of our clubbing offer, the guess at the missing word will be forwarded. The guess must be sent with the subscription. Should one person send more than one answer, he or she will be entitled to a share of the fund for each correct answer. There will be no capital prize—everyone will get a first prize. Persons may guess as many times as they send subscriptions.

IN MAKING YOUR ANSWER you need not write the sentence out in full—just say the Missing Word for the above particular period (designating it) is "....."

.....ADDRESS ALL CLUBBING ORDERS TO.....

THE NEWS,

Montevallo, Alabama.

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.

Blocton, Ala.

—Manufacturers of all kinds of—

BROOMS

—AND—

BRUSHES.

Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty

Write for Prices.

Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,

P. O. Box 353. - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S

LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses
The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents. Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

---

JONES

HE

PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.

Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address

JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

This would be a comparatively happy world if everybody knew the virtues of SMITH'S BILE BEANS as a family medicine, and acted upon that knowledge. One half the misery of the world comes from ailments which arise from a bad stomach or a bad liver. Chiefest among these are dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache and Neuralgia.

BILE BEANS will cure all of these, besides all miasmatic diseases. Dose: One Bean.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III — MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 17, '98. — NO 11

THE SPIRIT OF NIGHT.

I met in a starless midnight a Spirit upon the way;
The blood of a brother was upon his hands—for God gave him power to slay.
He wandered wild o'er the world of men—chainless he went and came,
Yet lurked from light, with a brow of blight, in a scarlet robe of Shame.

He halted grim where a hovel's dim, drear light, like a lamp that gleams
In marble cities of Silence, where the dead are with the dreams,
Beat at the midnight blackness as a bird's wings beat the strife
Of the storm. And he stood where Hunger hugged the dying fires of life.

And the flame died out in darkness, and the life from starved lips fled
With the last cry they uttered to the Spirit's God, for bread.
With the last cry to heaven, that knows what its children feel,
But the voice of prayer was stifled 'neath the Spirit's iron heel.

And then, to the hills of Pleasure—to the violet, velvet vales,
Where Love was the breath of living and sang in the spicy gales;
And the cheeks of Love grew pallid, and his lips were white with fear,
And he gave him gyves and scarlet stripes, and a crown of thorns to wear.

And lo! where the organ-thunders shook the temple, towering high,
Whose cross of gold, cloud-cleaving, was lost in the misty sky,
The Spirit stood in Silence—scorned of the saintly train,
But a soul in his clasp grew crimson, and lay at the altar—slain.

But I pray to the God of the Spirit: "At thy great Last Day to be,
Let not this scourging Spirit stand 'twixt my own and me!
If now thou canst not chain him from wrecking the souls of men,
Let him not, like a flame of fire, blast Love in thy presence then!

"Tempted, we fall and perish. Yet thy world, O God, is sweet,
With the beautiful flowers of love, and the print of children's feet
Shall these go down in the tempest? Shall the Spirit of ancient sway
Take the babe from the breast of the mother—drown the prayers that thy children pray?

"At thy great Last Day remember: Thy world is the dream of thee;
Let not the Spirit of darkness stand 'twixt my own and me!
Or then—if, still all-prevailing, at his feet in the dark they moan, Let me go with my loved ones walking, from thy face to the Night—with my own!"

—Atlanta Constitution.

THE WISE ADVISERS.

Recently in South Carolina the Rev. Richard Carroll, whom the Columbia States call the Booker T. Washington of its state, addressed 3,000 Sunday school workers at Sumter. He is a missionary of the American Baptist Publication Society. In the course of his speech he said:

The race is in too big a hurry. The preachers want the title of D.D. before they know divinity. Almost every graduate in the English course must be addressed as "professor." We want a biography before we have lived. Some want to take Latin and Greek who do not know a personal pronoun in English. Some want postoffices who do not know how many stamped envelopes to give for 11 cents. Go to the farm; stick to the farm; work on shares; rent or buy land. You should never come to town unless you have something to sell or exchange. Build better and larger houses. We shall never be the equal of other races unless we cease to live in one-room cabins and shanties. The home is the foundation of society, morality and religion. We do not want to govern the country until we learn to govern the home. The education of the negro race has been on the leap-frog style. The scholars want to make haste. Latin, Greek, French and German are taught at the expense of English. The masses should have industrial, mechanical and literary training. As we are a laboring people we must live by the sweat of our brow. Let us give the masses industrial education. What does a negro or white man want with classical education unless there are opportunities where he ean use it to advantage? Work, work, work; take up the hatchet and saw; follow the plow; push the plane. I see no good for you in politics, but I see plenty of harm. The colored population get excited every four years and many leave the farm to sit around and wait for office. Some have not worked since McKinley was made president, and their families are approaching starvation. Politics has ruined us and put us back many years. Live on friendly terms with the Southern white people. Help to run down and bring to speedy justice every man who commits criminal assault. Protect and defend all women with your life, and we will have a manhood among our race that we shall be proud of. In this way we can stop lynching. Watch the Germans and Jews and see how they toil and make money. They are not politicians, but workers and merchants. Hot-heads and fools will bring upon us shame, trouble and poverty. I dedicate all I have, mind, body, heart and soul to you and my God.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

It is to be hoped that the great interest which is being manifested by the press and people in improving the public school system in Alabama will result in securing free public schools to be taught for not less than eight months in the year.

This is what is needed for the children of Alabama, and what they must have if the masses are ever prepared by education to make the best possible citizens and to intelligently understand the great and important state questions with which they will be confronted when they reach the age when they are given the right of franchise.

but her great need now as a state is free public schools in every district in Alabama to keep open eight months during the year.

To secure such a public school system as is needed in Alabama, more public school money must be had, and this is the one thing for which the great majority of people are willing to be taxed.

The people are in earnest in their desire and efforts to improve the public schools in this state, and they should see to it that their efforts are expended this year in such practical manner as will secure the best possible results. They should see to it that men are elected to the general assembly who are willing fo co-operate in

MORGAN BROS. .. .. ..

ARE

LEADERS IN LOW PRICES.

CLOTHING.

Have you seen our SPRING SUITS? We carry the LARGEST STOCK and sell at the VERY LOWEST PRICE!

SUITS from $2.50 to $10.00.

Men's pants from 50 cents to $5.00.

GROCERIES.

Our GROCERIES are the best money can buy. If you want something good at a fair price, come to our store.

A GOOD RESOLUTION.

Judging from our rapidly increasing business, a large number of people have resolved to have better shoes this year. We handle all the leading brands, such as Douglass, Brown and Ditman.

We are the exclusive agents for the Bay State shoes. They can't be beat. If you want to keep up, wear the Bay State shoe.

Our prices on shoes are from 25 cents to $5.00.

We Look for Quality Before we Think of Prices.

If our prices look small, it is not because qualities have been slighted. Ladies' Shirt Waists, Latest Styles, from 50 Cents to $1.00. Best Oil Calico 5 Cents.

We Lead, Others Follow.

Yours for Business,

Morgan Bros.

It is said that the sun never sets on the British possessions. Probably it is afraid of hatching out a disturbance.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. F. F. Crowe & Co.

It is a strange fact that it takes both papa and mama to take the children to the circus.

Whooping cough is the most distressing malady; but its duration can be cut short by the use of One Minute Cough Cure, which is also the best known remedy for croup and all lung and bronchial troubles. F. F. owe & Co.

All the cities realize the importance of public schools, and in nearly every city in this country with a population of over three thousand, a free public school is to be found. This is as it should be; but it is more important that the free public school should exist in the rural districts than in the cities. In the cities, where the people are brought close together, it is much easier to maintain a good school without an appropriation than in the country districts.

Alabama needs to take care of her normal schools, her industrial schools, her agricultural school, her polytechnic college and her state university, the movement to secure better public schools and to raise Alabama from the low place which she now occupies in the columns of illiteracy.

The people of the state should not longer depend upon the teachers to handle the public school question alone, but the people who are interested in this great question should come to the rescue of the teachers, and the whole State of Alabama should be aroused on this question as never before, and should make, through mass meetings, state convention, or otherwise, such declarations as will impress the members of the next general assembly with the interest which the people feel in this question.

SCHOOL NOTES.

School will open Monday.

***

Miss Fuller will be out this week. The nurse has returned to Birmingham.

***

Arrangements have been made with the railroads for a one cent fare for the returning girls.

***

The government marine corps with all of their appliances have been fumigating the Dormitory this week. Dr. Magruder has charge of the work.

***

There will be a new department for the Spring Term. President Reynolds has bought a complete line of millinery, which will be used by the girls.

***

President Reynolds sent cards to all the girls, asking them if they were coming back. He has received stacks of letters, telling him they will be here by the 21st.

Children and adults tortured by burns, scalds, injuries, eczema or skin diseases may secure instant relief by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is the great Pile remedy, F. F. Crowe & Co.

Dr. S. A. Steel to be in Montevallo April 2.

It is with no small pleasure that I announce the coming of the greatest Southern preacher and platform speaker. His theme is "Home Life in Dixie During the War." I am sure that Montevallo has never enjoyed such a treat as is in store for her people on the above date. It is my purpose to seek your instruction through this lecture, and at the same time to improve the opportunity to add to the church finances. School boys and girls will be admitted for 25 cents. All others 50 cents. We are anxious to give Dr. Steele a full house. You come to hear him—he will do the rest.

I give some newspaper clippings below. After hearing Dr. Steele you will endorse each statement:

"Home Life in Dixie During the War" is unique, instructive, entertaining and thrilling. Full of ludicrous anecdotes and picturesque scenes. You laugh and cry and shout and cheer, and want the lecturer to go on an hour longer."—S. R. Belk, pastor Methodist Church, Rome, Ga.

"Old men compared his NewYork speech with that of Geo. T. Pierce in 1844, and declare that no other orator during the interval has equaled either."

"Rev. S. A. Steel is the Demosthenes of Southern Methodism."

"As a brilliant and finished orator for special occasions, Dr. Steel is at least the equal, and perhaps the superior, of any other Methodist preacher in America."

Faithfully Yours,
P. L. ABERNATHY.

INFORMATION WANTED.

My husband, J. J. Peacock, disappeared from Montevallo on the 19th of February. I have written everywhere I thought it likely he might go. Nobody has seen or heard of him. He is a low, thick set man, with dark eyes, dark skin, and hair now sprinkled with gray. He is a brickmason by trade. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will do a deed of kindness by writing to his wife,

MRS. LIZZIE PEACOCK,
Montevallo, Ala.
or Maylene, Ala.

☞ State papers please copy.

After years of untold suffering from piles, B W Pursell, of Knitnersville, Pa., was cured by using a single box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Skin diseases, such as eczema, rash, pimples and obstinate sores are readily cured by this famous remedy. F. F. Crowe & Co.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

BURGESS LITTLE, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, Mar. 17, '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Glirs; four churches afiord ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little mouey hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subjects of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use.

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE.

I announce myself a candidate for the office of Probate Judge of Shelby county, subject to the action oi the Democratic Convention.

D. R. MCMILLAN.

The condition of our navy and harbor defence show the truth of the old adage, "In time of peace, prepare for war."

With the $50,000,000 already appropriated, and the four or five hundred millions that are bound to follow, the increased pensions will put heavier taxation on the American people. The fire eaters should think of this.

While so many are hunting war, it would be well for some to look out for a few peaceful industries to help pay the increase of taxes sure to follow.

War may have a fascination for those who have never smelt burnt gunpowder; but those who participated in the late unpleasantness know that it is no picnic.

M. F. Gardner, of Centreville, one of Bibb county's most prominent business men, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded on last Friday evening late by his oldest son, Fred. Family trouble led to the difficulty. Mr. Gardner has many friends in Shelby county, who will regret to hear of this unfortunate occurrence.

In this issue of the NEWS will be found the announcement of Judge D. R. McMillan for re-election to the office of probate judge, subject to the action of the Democratic convention. Judge McMillan is the present incumbent, and has filled his office very satisfactorily to the people of Shelby county. If nominated, we will do all in our power to elect him.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

Call by the Committee and Basis of Representation.

The following resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Shelby county, held in Columbiana on Monday, March 7th, 1898:

Resolved 1st, That a convention of the Democratic party is hereby called to meet at the courthouse in Columbiana, on Wednesday, April 13, 1898, for the purpose of nominating candidates for probate judge, circuit clerk, representative, superintendent of education and two commissioners, and to select delegates to the State, judicial and chancery conventions, and to transact such other business as may properly come before it.

Resolved 2nd, That beat meetings or primaries as each beat may determine, be held on Saturday, April 9th, 1898, for the purpose of selecting delegates to said county convention, and that all conservative voters irrespective of past political associations or differences, who can unite with us in the effort for pure, economical and constitutional government, and who will support the nominees and principles of the Democratic party are invited to participate in said beat meetings or primaries.

Resolved 3d That delegates to the Congressional convention be selected by a convention to be hereafter called by the chairman of the Democratic executive committee of said county.

Resolved, That each beat shall be entitled to one delegate to said county convention for every 15 votes or fraction over 10 voted in said beat for the Democratic candidate for governor in 1896.

In conformity herewith the various beats will be entitled to the following representation in the county convention:

Beat 1 box 1	—Columbiana	9
1	2—Shelby	7
2	—Spring Creek	1
3	—Calera	10
4 box 1	—Montevallo	11
4	2—Gurnee	1
5	—Tylers	1
6	—Helena	4
7	—Elliottsville	4
8	—Yellow Leaf	2
9	—Wilsonville	8
10	—Harpersville	10
11	—Weldon	3
12	—Highland	2
13	—Bold Springs	1
14	—Vandiver	1
15	—Sterrett	1
16	—Vincent	5
17	—Pelham	3
18	—Dunnavant	1
Total		85

W. B. BROWNE, Chairman.
J. T. LEEPER, Secretary.

AN ENJOYABLE OCCASION.

On Tuesday evening after prayer services at the M. E. Church, a number of young people were delightfully entertained by Mrs. C. W. Cary. Charades and other innocent games were indulged in, the last being a poem on "Vaccination" by the entire party, each one writing a few lines on the subject. We give them below with author's name attached.

The following couples were present: S. S. Allen and Miss Ethel McMath; W. P. McConaughy and Miss Nan Pickett; Dr. Givhan and Miss Viola Reynolds; Mr. Breslin and Miss Ida Reynolds; O. W. Tinney and Miss Stella Ramsey; Ben Hoskins and Miss Eva Thomas; L. N. Bowden and Miss Diamond Sibley; Burgess Little and Miss Lucile Wilkinson; A. J. Lee and Miss Lena Young, and Messrs. Joe Hoskins and P. L. Abernathy.

The following is a sample from the would be poets and poetesses:

Although it is rather late,
I will advise you to vaccinate.
Stella Ramsey.

The doctor came too late
For me to vaccinate.
O. W. Tinney.

As a precaution I would urge you to vaccinate,
For great will be your sorrow when you find its too late.
A. J. Lee.

On the 21st of February great was the alarm,
And now as a result we all have a sore arm.
Lena Young.

I am sure I'd not equivocate, when I say to vaccinate
Is enough to make one hate
Every one whose grasp abates
Only when he hurts your arm.
P. L. Abernathy.

I was just vaccinated to keep from going home,
But I'd rather have the smallpox than this very painful arm.
Viola Reynolds.

The most painful form of scarifination
Is found in the art of vaccination.
Joe Hoskins.

Of all the ills that tongue can pen,
The saddest are, vaccinated I've been.
Ethel McMath.

If you wish to be "up to date,"
Roll up your sleeve and vaccinate.
S. S. Allen.

In the year 1898
Be sure you don't get up too late
To see the arms you vaccinate.
Ida Reynolds.

1898 is not too late to yaccinate.
Bowdon.

Vaccinations when they take,
Put a young lady in irritable state.
Givhan.

We feel in our pockets to find a match,
We feel in our sleeves and find a vaccination scratch.
Eva Thomas.

We hurt in every joint after using a vaccination point.
It is a pity in '98 that we have to vaccinate.
Burgess Little.

Being vaccinated is not fun,
Especially when you want to jump and run.
Diamond Sibley.

You ask me to write about vaccination, but you'll have to excuse me,
For if my horrible arm you could see,
You wouldn't blame me for not writing, a bit,
But let me (with my arms crossed) in silence sit.
Lucile Wilkinson.

What wakes me up ten times a night,
What causes me my friends to slight?
My vaccination.

What is it makes me groan with pain,
And makes me rise the day I heard the name?
My vaccination.
Breslin.

Oh! vaccination, turn me loose
I have no arm, but a good excuse.
Mary Kroell.

Mousseline de soie, Piques, Organdies, Plain and Dotted Swiss, a New and Beautiful Line of Embroidery and Laces, in sets to match.

MORGAN BROS.,
Montevallo, Ala.

MY VIEWS

Wouldn't Attract Any More Attention

Here Than Your Ad.

William Jennings Bryan.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go
To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. Alex. Moore, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. Robins, C. C.
G. R. Monroe, K of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L. Meroney, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Mr. Ed Wilson, of Brierfield, was in town Tuesday.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

Sheriff E F. Vest, of Columbiana, was in town this week.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mrs. J. M. McConaughy is very sick from vaccination.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

M. W. Carlisle, of Talladega, visited friends here this week.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

The first picnic of the season—the week called road working.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. Crowe.

A good milch cow for sale cheap. Apply to Drs. Givhan & Wilkinson.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

Mrs. Alex. A. Wall has been quite sick the past week, caused from vaccination.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

Editor F. W. Gist, of the Columbiana Chronicle, was a visitor to our town last week.

F. S Rice, representing the Jesse French Piano Co., Birmingham, was in town last week.

Hon. W. J. Bryan passed through Montevallo Tuesday afternoon en route to Selma.

To-night a delightful social will be given at the "St. George" by Mr. and Mrs. Wall.

Misses Mary and Kate Kroell have been sick for several days, the result of vaccination.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

Misses Ada and Bettie Dill have opened a dressmaking parlor over the new Racket Store.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

Mr. Will Nolen has notified the Government that his services are at their command in case of war.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

Newton & Nolen have opened their market again, and will keep the best of beef; also, fresh fish and oysters.

Hon. J. G. Moore of Blocton, who will be the next Senator from Perry and Bibb counties, passed through Montevallo Tuesday.

The many friends of Miss Margaret McArdle are glad to learn that she will be among the number of girls who will return next Monday.

We are glad to welcome Dr. E. G. Givhan back to Montevallo. He returned Monday. He has been to Atlanta since getting well.

The roads are being worked this week. We notice several negroes on the road who swore off working. But we don't suppose they call that work.

Miss Mary Kroell was invited to spend a month at Washington, D. C., as a guest of Hon. W. F. Aldrich and wife, but had to decline for the present on account of vaccination.

Mr. James Savage, of Anniston, a brother of our townsman, Mr. D. C. Savage, has moved to Montevallo, and will make this his home. Mr. Savage is a prominent candidate for Secretary of State.

School will re-open Monday. The girls will begin to return this week. The Dormitory has been thoroughly fumigated, and President Reynolds has everything in readiness for the reception of the girls.

The News extends a hearty welcome in behalf of the people of Montevallo, to Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Crabbe, and hopes their stay among us will be both happy and prosperous. Mr. Crabbe and wife are boarding at C. C. Vandegrift's.

Miss Callen, of Selma, is making several nice dresses for the ladies of Montevallo. She thoroughly understands the art of dressmaking, and will remain in Montevallo for some time. She can be seen at the residence of C. C. Vandegrift.

It's a Fact.

The first shipment of real high grade silverware ever received in Montevallo has just been opened at J. W. Martin's, and he cordially invites the public to see these goods. Can't be beat in the large cities Every piece guaranteed to be the highest grade of plated ware on the market. His prices are moderate, considering the quality, etc.

Last night the young people of Montevallo and Aldrich were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Shivers. As has been expressed by many of those who have been entertained by them, they rank among the none-such as delightful entertainers. The following couples filed into their spacious dining room and partook of cream and cake:

E. G. Givhan and Miss Lena Young; A. J. Lee and Miss Viola Reynolds; Burgess Little and Miss Lucile Wilkinson; Mr. Thetford and Miss Ethel McMath; Joe Hoskins and Miss Diamond Sibley; Ben Hoskins and Miss Stella Ramsey; Pat McConaughy and Miss Nan Pickett; O. W. Tinney and Miss Ida Reynolds; Nat Nabors and Miss Eva Thomas; L. N. Bowdon and Miss McCoy Francis; S. S. Allen and Miss Wilma Saunders; Fred Reynolds and Miss Dora Fonde, and Mr. W. B. Reynolds.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

The Montevallo grist-mill and wool-carder; in connection about 5 acres of land and two small dwellings; large water power. Right in town. Apply to P. O. Box 16, Montevallo, Ala.

Also, ninety (90) acres of good land near Pratt's Ferry. Will exchange land for town property.

For particulars in regard to above property, apply at this office or the Shelby County Bank.

MAPLESVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. John Foshee were in town Saturday.

The "depot" on the M. & O. R. R. is being rapidly built.

Our prayermeetings and Sunday-school are improving to some extent.

Another new store is being erected. Maplesville will be quite a "city" yet.

Miss Tavie Savage, of Montevallo, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Foshee, of our town.

Mr. Lawrence is having a new gin house built, and is also having his new store house painted, which adds greatly to its looks.

George Holmes, a negro, was shot through the heart with a 38 calibre Winchester last Friday evening at 1 o'clock by another negro, name unknown. The murderer has not been captured. The cause of the killing is not known.

Uncle Tige.

A SUBSCRIBER

SEND IN YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS, ALONG WITH THE DOLLAR, AND

THE NEWS

WILL BE SENT YOU EVERY WEEK FOR

ONE YEAR.

JOB PRINTING.

LETTER-HEADS,
NOTE-HEADS,
BILL-HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
CIRCULARS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS, Etc.,

Done in first-class style on short notice, at the

NEWS : OFFICE.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

R. B. EVANS,
Proprietor of the only first class
COLORED
BARBER SHOP
IN THE CITY.
Shop east end of town.
MONTEVALLO, - - ALA.

H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

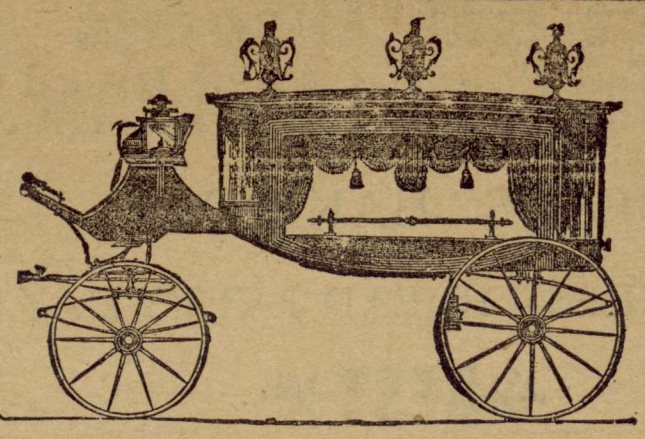
FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

EVERYTHING, FROM A PIN

—TO AN—

Elephant

—AT—

R. C. Parker's

BRIERFIELD, : : ALA.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

THE BRICK HOTEL,
ST GEORGE,
ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,
Montevallo, - - - Ala.
New and Centrally Located.
Special attention given the commercial man.
Rates $2 00 per day.
Large sample room free

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, butter milk, 10 cents per gallon, at

Mrs. D. W. Shivers'.

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber,
Montevallo, - - Ala.
Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

For Sale, Very Cheap.

I will sell, at a very low price, a two-horse wagon, in good fix; just overhauled and repaired.

J. D. MORELAND.

Don't Eat Biscuits When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

J. D. RANDALL, Pres. C. W. CAVE, Mgr. W. E. BECKERDITE, Sec. & Treas.
Dallas, Ala. Hendersonville, Ala. Dupont, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DUPONT, ALA., from the MONTEVALLO SEAM. Also shippers of the celebrated BLUE GEM from the MONTEVALLO SEAM in the "OLD MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Rogers has had forty years or more experience in the Montevallo coal mines, and knows how to mine, load and ship coal so as to get it to the customers equal to the expectations of the mine.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 90-95 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM,

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market!

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep . . . . . .

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.

Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College

AND

COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

In Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary studies, cheaper than other schools of the grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of the best business men of Brierfield and Shelby county.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It offers the following advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President, or W. A. Gibbons, Vice President.

A $2,000 Word!

This paper announces, in connection with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, a new offer in which everyone may have a chance to enjoy the reward of a good word.

"AT FIRST IT WAS CONSIDERED BY THE . . . AS A GOOD OMEN."

The sentence is taken from a well-known publication. The word is a familiar one, and it may readily suggest itself.

Contest Began Jan. 1—Ends March 1, '98

TO ENTER THIS CONTEST YOU MUST SUBSCRIBE FOR

IN CONNECTION WITH

THE NEWS

AT THE EXCEEDINGLY LOW PRICE OF $1.60

In connection with one Hundred Dollars Prize, as well, if you send your guess with the subscription price, forward it to us now and thus

GIVE YOU A CHANCE AT THE $2,000 WORD PRIZE

In the order of the number of subscriptions received. Should you desire to subscribe to your home paper, send $1 to this paper for the Weekly Constitution for one year, and it will be sent to you by return mail. Address

IN ONE YEAR THE CONSTITUTION HAS PAID OUT

NEARLY $6,000 IN CASH

The Constitution guarantees that the amount of the award will not be less than $2,000, but it may be as much as $2,000. THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION is published every day in the week, and is the best paper in the South for the home. It is a 16-page paper and is issued every Tuesday and Friday. It is the best paper in America to get news from the world, and is especially strong in its agricultural department. Its market reports are full and complete, and its Sunday School lessons are a feature.

AS A MAGAZINE it has no superior. Its literature is the best to be found in any publication. Its miscellaneous reading is unsurpassed. Its serial stories are of the highest order. Its short stories are bright and entertaining.

AS A FAMILY PAPER it is unsurpassed. Its Home Department and its Children's Department are the delight of the household. Its Fashion Department is the best to be found in any publication.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST:

No. The Cost of the Constitution and this paper will be $1.60 for one year, and must be so much as $2,000. Should more than one word be guessed, the first word received will be awarded the prize.

Subscription Postage Paid.

THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES THAT SENDING A LARGE CLUB OF SUBSCRIBERS WILL NOT INCREASE THE CHANCES OF ANY ONE CONTESTANT OVER ANOTHER. EACH SUBSCRIBER WILL BE ENTITLED TO ONE GUESS ONLY.

IN MAKING YOUR GUESS ANYONE MAY USE AS MANY WORDS AS THEY DESIRE.

THE NEWS,
Montevallo, Alabama.

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.
Blocton, Ala.
—Manufacturers of all kinds of—
BROOMS
AND
BRUSHES.
Heath and Whisk Brooms a Specialty
Write for Prices.
Lanier Broom Mfg. Co.,
P. O. Box 332. - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pills Cleanse
The Tonic Pellets Invigorates

Write "Ramon's Book" with all blank which is Ramon's Treatment. Free prescriptions for all diseases. Address RAMON'S MEDICAL MFG. CO., St. P. & Minneapolis, Minn.

ROYAL
ABSOLUTELY PURE
BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE CENTLEMEN.

Best in the World.

The Standard of Excellence the world over. Will equal in style and fit custom shoes costing from $4 to $5.

Take no Substitutes. Ask your dealer for W. L. Douglas $3 Shoes. If he cannot supply you, write to factory, Brockton, Mass.

JONES
PRESIDENT

This would be a comfortable Bank, but it is not the Bank of a Country. EDITOR BILL BANKS of a Family Paper. Subscribe for it and get the news from animals when live from the world. Only 50 cents a year. Address, BILL BANKS, Montevallo, Ala.

Many a person is starting with a full head of hair, and before middle age has a bald head. What is the matter? Dandruff. Destroy the germ with Hall's Hair Renewer, and prevent baldness.

Nervous Debility, Lost Manhood, Impotency, Night Emissions, Lost Power, Sexual Decay, Wasting Diseases, Lack of Confidence, Pimples, Blotches, Impure Blood, Kidney and Urinary Troubles, Excesses and Indiscretions. Dr. Kay's Renovator is the only remedy in the world that will cure you. Sold by druggists.

Nervous Debility Quickly Cured.

Consumption Cured by the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, Dr. Kay's Lung Balsam. Sold by druggists. Nervous Debility, Lost Manhood, Impotency, Night Emissions, Lost Power, Sexual Decay, Wasting Diseases, Lack of Confidence, Pimples, Blotches, Impure Blood, Kidney and Urinary Troubles, Excesses and Indiscretions. Dr. Kay's Renovator is the only remedy in the world that will cure you. Sold by druggists.

Nervous Debility Quickly Cured.

Consumption Cured by the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, Dr. Kay's Lung Balsam. Sold by druggists.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 24, '98. NO 12

SPECULATING ON IT.

I've allers been hearin' the Lord
Is a lover of peace, but I know
Whenever thar's battles ter fight,
Thar's lots er loud prayin' below!
An' ever' red sojer struts roun' in his pride,
A-sayin' he's shore that the Lord's on his side!

I know, 'fore the signal 'ud come
That 'twas time ter jump inter the fuss,
They'd tell us, the preachers at home
Sent word they wuz prayin fer us,
An' inter the enemy fearless we'd ride,
Believin' the Lord had took up with our side!

Now, I dunno just how it may be,
But I thought, 'fore I got my release,
That this here religion, called "free,"
Orter be a religion o' peace!
An' I think, when it's war, it is laid on the shelf,
An' the good Lord lets each side take keer o' itself!

—Atlanta Constitution.

List of Beat Health Officers Recently Appointed by the County Board of Health.

CALERA, ALA., March 12, 1898.

To the Doctors, Midwives and Heads of Families in Shelby County, Ala.:

Having been appointed and given bond as County Health Officer for this county as required by law, I ask the kind co operation of all good citizens in my work of getting full reports of all deaths and births occurring in this county at the end of each month. The law requires this of doctors and midwives if they are in attendance; if not the heads of families shall make the report, and in case of infectious or contagious diseases, reports must be made within twenty-four hours after the character of the disease is known by the doctor, midwife or head of family.

Reports of births, deaths and contagious or infectious diseases can be made to the County Health Officer, or to either of the following Assistant Health Officers, to-wit:

Beat No. 1—Columbiana, Dr. H. I. Williams, Columbiana.

Beat No 2—Spring Creek, Dr. H. C. McAdams, Shelby.

Beat No. 3—Calera, County Health Officer, Calera.

Beat No. 4—Montevallo, Dr. E. G. Givhan, Montevallo.

Beats 5 & 6—Tyler's and Helena, Dr. W. S. Hayes, Helena.

Beat No. 7—Longview, Dr. G. H. Smith, Pelham.

Beats 8 & 11—Yellow Leaf and Weldon, Dr. B. M. Smothers, Weldon.

Beat No. 9—Wilsonville, Dr. J. B. Boyer, Wilsonville.

Beat No. 10—Harpersville, Dr. T. G. Nelson, Harpersville.

Beats 12 & 13—Highland and Bold Springs, Dr. J. M. B. Johnson, Highland.

Beat No. 15—Sterrett, Dr. J. J. DuBose, Sterrett.

Beat No. 16—Kelly's Creek, Dr. E. P. Chandler, Vincent.

Beat No. 17—Pelham, Dr. E. F. Denson, Pelham,

Beats 14 & 18—Vandiver and Dunnavant, Dr. J. P. Abercrombie, Vandiver.

Yours very truly,
J. H. GUNN, M. D.,
Health Officer for Shelby county, Ala.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

At a meeting of the Board of Health of Shelby county, held Monday of last week, the following rules and regulations were adopted:

Be it resolved, by the Board of Health of Shelby county, That the following rules and regulations be adopted for management of all contagious and infectious diseases, occurring in this county:

1st, That physicians should be required to report within twenty-four hours, after diagnosis is made, all contagious or infectious diseases occurring in their practice; and if there is no physician in attendance, then it shall devolve on the head of the family in which the contagious disease occurred to report to the county health officer, or to one of his assistants.

Rule 2nd, That county health officer, or any of his assistants, receiving such report, shall proceed:

1st, To remove the infected person to a place where proper care can be given, and where the public shall be free from danger. But if the person infected is in such a condition as would make a removal dangerous, the county health officer or his assistants shall proceed to remove all well persons from the vicinity of the infected person, and if it is a case of varioloid or smallpox, all persons who have been in the vicinity shall be vaccinated without delay, and any health officer or assistants where vaccination is refused is authorized to employ help and compel submission.

3rd, That as soon as practicable after the removal or recovery of the person afflicted by the contagious disease, the county health officer or one of his assistants shall see that the house occupied by the infected person is properly fumigated or disinfected, and that all articles of clothing and bed clothing are boiled for at least five minutes, and those articles of clothing or bed clothing that cannot be boiled be burned.

4th, That every physician or head of a family shall see that a yellow flag be kept over the door where a case of infectious disease exists.

Shelby County Medical Society in convention assembled, unanimously passed the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That the Shelby County Medical Society do deplore the recent action of the county court of commissioners, and think that they made a mistake in not adopting the resolutions offered by county health officer. We do not believe they have acted in a manner best calculated to promote the welfare of the citizens of this county.

2. Resolved, That these resolutions together with Dr. Gunn's, be published in the county papers.

J. R. MORGAN, M. D.,
Sec. Med. Society.

CITIZENS' MEETING TO-NIGHT AT 7:30!

At Office of Montevallo News.

Business of Importance!

Let Every Good Citizen be On Hand.

Don't forget the hour---7:30.

CONSPIRACY!.. .. ..

We have entered into a conspiracy with CASH to break down high prices; therefore, we are not afraid to cut prices. Our motto,

"QUICK SALES and SMALL PROFITS!"

The following Are Only a Few of Our Prices:

Corsets, 22 cents and up.
Crochet Hooks, 1 and 2c
Tooth Brushes, 5 cents and up.
Erasers, each, 1c
Dress Ginghams. 6c
Crochet Silk, 5c, (old price 30c.)
Alarm Clocks, 75c
Boxed Paper, 8 cents and up.
Hair Brushes, 5 cents and up.
Darning Cotton, per dozen, 10c
Crochet Cotton, 4c
Gent's and Boys' Hats all prices.
3 papers of pins for 5c
High Cut Plow Shoes, full stock, $1.24
Hosiery your own price.
Harps, 3 cents and up. [body.
Gent's Underwear cheaper than any-
Whitewash Brushes, 12c

Shirts all prices.
Clothes Brushes, 11 cents and up.
Horse " 10 " " "
Machine Oil, 4c
Ink, (David's) 2 bottles for 5 cents.
Shoe Polish, 5 and 7c
Calicoes, per yard, 4 to 5c
Pearl Buttons, 5 and 6c
Oil Cloth, per yard, 13½c, 15 and 16½c
Watch and Charm, guaranteed, 98c
Fish Hooks, 100 for 5c
Gent's Collars, 9 to 11c
Gent's Link Cuffs, 15 and 20c
Kid Curlers, 4 cents and up.
Slates 2 cents and up.
Spool Thread, six cord, 3c
Purses, 4c and up.
Ladies' Vests, 5c and up.

Talcum Powders, 8c, old price, 25c.
Swan Down, 5c, regular price 10 cents
Picture Frames, 10 cents and up.
Safety Pins, 3c per dozen and up.
1 good Hand Saw, 36c
Parasols and Umbrellas, 25c and up.
Window Shades, 23 and 28c
Sheeting, (yard wide), 4½ and 5c
Tinware and Granite Ware 25 per cent below anyone.
Needles, per paper, 2c
Suspenders, 5c per pair and up.
Towels, 8c per pair and up.
Blacking, 2 10c boxes for 5 cents.
Blacking Brushes, 10c and up.
Elastic Web, 3c per yard and up.
Window Curtains, 44c per pair and up.

Watch next week's paper in this space for other new and bright goods at remarkably low prices for CASH. I have on the road a nice lot of SHADES, MATTING, ZEPHYR, PICTUBE FRAMES, FANS, PARASOLS, LAWNS, Etc. Call and inspect my stock. I lead in prices and earnestly ask your support.

Yours for Business,

New York Racket Store,

B. F. Crabbe, Prop.,

Vandegrift Old Stand. MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, butter milk, 10 cents per gallon, at

MRS. D. W. SHIVERS'.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

SCHOOL NOTES.

There is not now a case of smallpox in Montevallo. How shall we keep it out? There never has been but one safe and certain remedy, and that is vaccination.

***

The confidence displayed by the people of the State in this school is truly wonderful and inspiring to its managemrnt. Montevallo has put on new life, and everything looks brighter since the girls began to roll in on last Monday. About 225 are here now, and probably fifty more to come. By a united effort Montevallo is destined to be the most delightful and prosperous village in the State of Alabama. In two years we predict that a thousand girls will be in Montevallo taking advantage of this great and wonderful school. Mark our prediction.

***

No citizen of Montevallo nor any other communiry can not afford not to vaccinate. We have the grandest school in the state of Alabama, if not the South. We have young ladies from the best families in the state. They have each and every one been vaccinated. Shall we as true men and women sit idly by and not take the same precaution? No, we can not afford it. Vaccinate and keep down the pest that is threatening the entire State, We are perhaps freer of smallpox than any other town of like size. The way to keep free of it is to thoroughly vaccinate every man, woman and child, black and white, in its borders. It is a duty we must perform. Let us then be up and doing.

***

By far the most attractive feature ever introduced in the school here is the millinery department. On Tuesday last Miss Mollie Tall, of Baltimore, arrived to take charge and teach this fascinating branch of womens' work. Yesterday a large and complete stock of millinery goods arrived, and will be opened up today. An opening day is set for about Monday week. The public will be invited to attend. No profit is charged on the goods, as it is simply gotten up for the purpose of teaching the young ladies. Miss Tall, the milliner, comes from the celebrated house of Armstrong, Cator & Co, and they pronounce her one of the finest they have ever sent out. An opportunity is thus given not only to encourage the girls, but to purchase spring hats at less prices than ever seen before.

***

The gathering together of so many pupils at the Girls' Industrial School is the greatest triumph that could have possibly been achieved. We owe much to the liberality of the Southern and L & N. R. R., whose officers granted without a word a return rate of one cent per mile to the pupils. These two great thoroughfares of travel should not be forgotten. They have been our friends—and true friends. They appreciate what is being done in Montevallo. The eyes of the entire State are turned upon us. Shall we prove ourselves true to the grand trust that has been placed in our midst? The Girls' Industrial School promises great things for Montevallo if we show that we are able and willing to foster and properly protect its pupils. We can not do it if we allow a solitary person in this community to go unvaccinated. If you have not been vaccinated, you are a stumbling block in Montevallo's future growth and prosperity. Vaccinate NOW.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, Mar. 24, '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Glirs; four churches afiord ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little money hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subjects of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use.

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE.

I announce myself a candidate for the office of Probate Judge of Shelby county, subject to the action oi the Democratic Convention.

D. R. MCMILLAN.

It is estimated that over two millions of silver dollars that never saw a United States mint, are in circulation in this country. These dollars are pure silver and are full weight. The profit in coining them is in buying silver bullion at 53 cents and selling it at 100 cents. This is caused directly from the single gold standard this country has adopted, and some one is the loser. Figure it out,

Mr. Burgess Little has resigned his position as editor of the NEWS on account of his banking business, being unable to give his time to the editorial work of the paper.

With this issue I resume charge of the editorial work of the NEWS, and ask the hearty support of my friends. The policy of the paper has always been to build up Montevallo and the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. I intend to pursue a neutral course. My motto is: "Anything that will benefit Montevallo."

CLIFTON NEWTON.

John A. T. Hull introduced a bill that practically quadruples the standing army. The new strength is to be 12,000 cavalry, 16,000 artillery and 75,000 infantry.

The new fleet at Hampton Roads can either act on the offensive or defensive in case of war, and will be of incalculable service as the northern coast would have been without a battleship.

The entire world has been surprised at the rapidity in which the American people have turned a defenseless coast into harbors protected with the very latest and most powerful guns and almost impregnable forts.

Isaac H. Vincent, ex treasurer of the State of Alabama, and a part of whose history everybody is acquainted with, died at Palo-Pinto, Texas, and his remains were interred in the cemetery at LaFayette, Ala., on the 15th inst.

The order calling into existence the new flying squadron is considered as the most significant event of the day. The vessels that will form this squadron are the match of any five in the world, considering speed, protection and armament.

Rev. S. A. Steel, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., one of the most eloquent platform speakers in America, will deliver his famous lecture, "Home Life in Dixie During the War," at Montevallo April 2, at 7:30 p. m., in the chapel of the Girl's Industrial School. Admission 50 cents; school girls 25 cents. Go, you'll never regret it.

Senator Proctor, in his report before the senate, says: "Words cannot draw a picture of the horrors and suffering of the Cubans, huddled in the cities. Though considered reconcentrador, they were known to be insurgents at heart, and are kept inside the walls or under military surveilance, and from lack of employment and food are starving daily.

A few more scenes like that at Latimer, Pa., last summer, when a sheriff and a posse of deputised villains shot down a half hundred striking miners, and then be turned loose to re-enact the scene, will cause labor to keep their troubles out of law courts and settle their differences by right of might. The sheriff and his posse were only tools of mine barons, who stood behind them guaranteeing protection and paying for murder. It would be an improvement if American journalism would let France, with her zolas alone, and Russia's siberia freeze and criticize our own sins.

Subscribe for the News.

Bartolome Maso, president of the Cuban republic, to save further privation and bloodshed, has offered to buy the Island from Spain.

Secretary Long says there has been no concession made to Spain, and that nothing can occur which will change the attitude of firmness taken by this country.

The Holland, a submarine torpedo boat, in a series of tests on the 17th inst., proved to be a complete success, diving and reappearing at the will of the inventor.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

The Montevallo grist-mill and wool-carder; in connection about 5 acres of land and two small dwellings; large water power. Right in town. Apply to P. O. Box 16, Montevallo, Ala.

Also, ninety (90) acres of good land near Pratt's Ferry. Will exchange land for town property.

For particulars in regard to above property, apply at this office or the Shelby County Bank.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. F. F. Crowe & Co.

State of Alabama, Shelby County.

OSCAR WHITFIELD, et als Complainant, vs. ALABAMA IRON & STEEL Co. et als, Defendant. } In Chancery, Sixth District, North-Eastern Chancery Division.

In this cause, it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of W. S. Cary, agent for complainants, that the defendants, Carrie S. Plumb, who resides in Emporia, State of Kansas; George I. Seney, resides in the city of New York, State of New York; M S. Pomeroy resides in the city of Washington, District of Columbia; Justus A. Morrill resides in the State of Vermont; Samuel Thomas resides in the State of Pennsylvania; C. S. Brice resides in the State of Ohio, and that the Central Trust Company has its place of business in the City of New York, State of New York, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendants are over the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the MONTEVALLO NEWS, a newspaper published in the city of Montevallo, Ala., once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring them, the said Carrie S. Plumb, George I. Seney, M. S. Pomeroy, Justus A. Morrill, Samuel Thomae, C. S. Brice, the Central Trust Company, a body corporate, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 16th day of April, A. D., 1898. or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

Done at office, in Columbiana, this 25th day of February, A. D., 1898.

J. R WHITE, Register.

Mch24-4t.

State of Alabama, Shelby County.

Probate Court, Regular Term, March 14, 1898.

Estate of David, Leta, Manly, Zelma, Loa, George and Mandy Earrington, minors.

This day came Wm. C. Farrington, as Guardian of said estates, and filed his application in due form and under oath, praying for an order of sale of certain lands described therein and belonging to said estate, for the purpose of maintenance and education of said minors, upon the ground that their income is not sufficient for their maintenance and education without a sale of said property.

It is ordered that the 11th day of April, 1898, be appointed a day for hearing such application, at which time all parties in interest can appear and contest the same, if they think proper.

D. R. MCMILLAN, Judge of Probate.

Mar24-3t

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

R. B. EVANS,

Proprietor of the only first class

COLORED

BARBER SHOP

IN THE CITY.

Shop east end of town.

MONTEVALLO, - - ALA.

Morgan Bros.

☞Have all kinds of SUITS. If they can't suit you, you can't be suited.

SPRING SUITS.

☞Call and see our Spring Suits at prices that will surprise you. We don't talk. We sell goods, and a lot of them,

MORGAN BROS.,

Leaders in Low Prices.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

☞To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. Alex. Moore, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. Robins, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L. Meroney, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Hot times in the old town last week.

Dr. F. F. Crowe visited Columbiana yesterday.

Mr. Walter Cary is in Columbiana on legal business.

Judge Campbell, of Calera, was in the city Sunday.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

Circuit court convened at Columbiana Monday morning.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

Hon. T. S. Plowman, of Talladega, was in town last week.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Quite a number of our citizens are attending court this week.

The News extends a hearty welcome to all the school girls.

Newton & Nolen want to buy several head of fat beef cattle.

Montevallo looks lively again since the return of most of the girls,

J. M. Reynolds, Esq, is attending court at Columbiana this week.

Mr. Milner, of Birmingham, is in the city with a drove of mules.

Mrs. F. F. Crowe is visiting her parents at River Bend this week.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. Crowe.

Messrs. Tom and George Dunn, of Blocton, were in town Monday.

A good milch cow for sale cheap. Apply to Drs. Givhan & Wilkinson.

Attorney E. S. Lyman is in Columbiana this week attending court.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

President Reynolds is having all of the young ladies in the school vaccinated. He wired the governor this morning for more vaccine poi

A complete line of slippers—chocolate, tan, and others too numerous to mention—at the Racket Store.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

Mrs. J. B West died Wednesday morning. The News extends sympathy to the bereaved husband and relatives.

It is necessary that every man, woman and child, white and black, in Montevallo and vicinity should be vaccinated.

Newton Lawley brought a large otter to town yesterday. He says it was about half mile from any water when he killed it.

Don't fail to attend the citizens' meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the News office. Business of importance. Everybody invited.

The pretty young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jemison, of Maylene, died Tuesday. The News extends sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Mr. Frank J. Kroell, manager of Kroell's livery stable, authorizes us to return thanks to the school girls for their liberal patronage on their return. Mr. Kroell has been in the livery business for eighteen years, and thoroughly understands it. He gives the school girls special rates.

(Telegram.)
Madrid, Spain, March 21.
Montevallo News:

After seeing in your last issue that Mr. W. L. Nolen had offered his services to the U. S Government, we have deemed it useless to think of going to war, and will pay any indemnity your government asks for.

SAGASTA,
Prime Minister.

Re-opening of the A. P. I.

Monday morning, 21st inst., the Girls' Industrial School re-opened with 225 pupils. Three weeks ago school disbanded on account of smallpox, President Reynolds thinking it best to send the giris home for 21 days after the last case developed. The opening Monday morning speak volumes for the good the school has done, and is still doing. Girls are coming in every day, and within a week there will be nearly one hundred more girls here. A millinery department has been added to the school, and a fine assortment of millinery goods has been ordered, and will be here in a few days. Miss Tall, one of the leading milliners of Baltimore, has just arrived, and will preside over this department. These goods will be sold at first cost, and are simply brought here for the use of the girls, Next week we will announce the opening day in the millinery department.

It's a Fact.

The first shipment of real high grade silverware ever received in Montevallo has just been opened at J. W. Martin's, and he cordially invites the public to see these goods. Can't be beat in the large cities Every piece guaranteed to be the highest grade of plated ware on the market. His prices are moderate, considering the quality, etc.

INFORMATION WANTED.

My husband, J. J. Peacock, disappeared from Montevallo on the 19th of February. I have written everywhere I thought it likely he might go. Nobody has seen or heard of him. He is a low, thick set man, with dark eyes, dark skin, and hair now sprinkled with gray. He is a brickmason by trade. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will do a deed of kindness by writing to his wife,

Mrs. Lizzie Peacock,
Montevallo, Ala.
or Maylene, Ala.

☞ State papers please copy.

Rev. P. L. Abernathy delivered one of the finest sermons Sunday we ever listened to. He spoke the truth and told things in such a way that the most delicate would not be offended.

MAPLESVILLE.

David Garner seems unusually happy since the return of a Gurnee girl.

T. U. Crumpton paid Birmingham and other points a flying visit this week

T. E. Cooper looked very happy about something Sunday. Wonder why?

Some of our girls have the toothache quite often since Dr. DuBose's return.

Evil doors are beginning to look with awe upon the court room already.

Long live the school, all the girls, Capt. Reynolds, and also the Montevallo News.

Ed Sturdivant has opened up a restaurant here, much to the delight of transient railroaders.

The city hall and justice court are almost ready for occupancy. The squire will soon be O. K.

Miss Lillie Savage, of Montevallo, spent a portion of last week with her sister, Mrs. J. Foshee, near here.

Wonder what caused so many smiles on the usually stolid face of our assistant railway agent on last Sunday?

Our town has been graced by a visit from one of Montevallo's fairest daughters, to the delight of all the boys.

N. C. Graham was absent from our town Sunday evening. Wonder who he was smiling on, and where he went?

Walter Elam paid Selma a visit Monday. He had a cinder removed from his eye. Dr. Kirkpatrick was the oculist.

It seems as if spring is here, and winter will soon be a thing of the past, unless there turns up an unexpected blast.

Our prayermeetings are largely attended now. Last Sunday night the house was full. Bro. Fox conducted services.

Our boys have all watched the passenger trains very closely during the return to Montevallo of so many pretty school girls.

N. C. G. smokes incessantly now. He says it drives away the blues. Wonder what the blues are, and what causes them?

Dr. A. S. Woolley has quite a number of boarders now. The boys all know a good table when they see one, also a pretty girl.

The smallpox scare here is about over. There was only one case, though lagrippe and sore eyes have prevailed for quite a while.

Dr. J. A. DuBose is at home for the summer. The doctor made a good record during the session of 1897-8 at the Atlanta Dental College.

Maplesville has on hand a building boom. Two stores and a ginnery are about complete, and our new railway is now nearing completion,

Uncle Tige.

Children and adults tortured by burns, scalds, injuries, eczema or skin diseases may secure instant relief by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is the great Pile remedy, F. F. Crowe & Co.

H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,
Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!
AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to
H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

Tho Leading Druggists.

ALWAYS ON TIME!

Kroell's -:- Buss

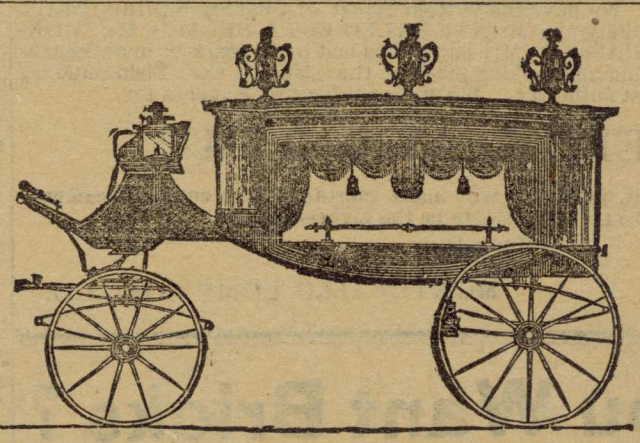
MEETS EVERY TRAIN!

Fast Horses and Fine Rigs.

Special Rates to School Girls.

When you want to go anywhere and get there quick, come to see me.

FRANK J. KROELL,
Manager Kroell's Livery Stable.



L. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

EVERYTHING, FROM A PIN

——TO AN——

Elephant

——AT——

R. G. Parker's

BRIERFIELD, : : ALA.

Don't Eat Biscuits
When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU
EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep .....

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.

Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College
AND
COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman
NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President. POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.

Blocton, Ala.

—Manufacturers of all kinds of—

BROOMS

—AND—

BRUSHES.

Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty.

Write for Prices.

Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,

P. O. Box 353, - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S
LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses

The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.

Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

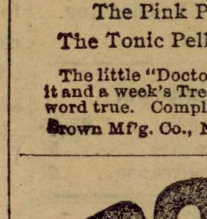
---



JONES

HE PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.

Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address

JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

This would be a comparatively happy world if everybody knew the virtues of SMITH'S BILE BEANS as a family medicine, and acted upon that knowledge. One half the misery of the world comes from ailments which arise from a bad stomach or a bad liver. Chiefest among these are dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache and Neuralgia.

BILE BEANS will cure all of these, besides all miasmatic diseases. Dose: One Bean.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 31, '98. NO 13

Who We Are,

—AND—

Where We Live!

Under this head we will from time to time endeavor to show some of the advantages Montevallo and the surrounding country possess, and the inducements offered to seekers after health and wealth,

Montevallo is the most central point in the State, and, as the name implies, is a valley surrounded by mountains, some of which are more than one thousand feet high, and are filled with coal, iron and lime. These mountains are also timbered with long leaf yellow pine, oak and hickory in the greatest abundance. The average elevation places us in that attitude that gives to us the year round those health-giving breezes so much desired by the brain worker. Springs of sparkling water and as pure as nature can make, flow from the mountains, the sun-lit skies and mountain breezes, so richly ladened with the odor from the pine forests; mountain and valley flowers give to us a climate unsurpassed and where it can be truly said God in His handiwork has blessed Montevallo. The natural drainage entirely precludes the idea of all forms of malarial diseases, and the rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes of our happy maidens, the strong limbed and resolute features of the men is positive proof of the health in this natural sanitarium.

The valley produces all forms of agriculture, and with proper attention rich returns are sure for the soil workers.

Peaches, apples, pears, grapes and strawberries thrive and bring forth abundant harvests. It is the natural home of all varieties of the vegetable kingdom, and grain of all classes thrive and the natural results are astonishing.

Our coal, iron and lime make us the equal of any section as a manufacturing centre.

Our railroad facilities equal many of the larger cities, and it is to be hoped that in the near future this will be increased by a branch of another great trunk line.

No tongue or pen can portray the many advantages possessed by this quiet and, for years, unassuming queen of coming cities, for we have the finest coal in the world, the finest lime in this country, the best of iron ore, the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, a splendid school for boys and young men, fifteen first-class business houses, a first-class bank, a handsome and well equipped new brick hotel, a good newspaper, a No 1 saw mill, a good grist mill, a woollen mill, a fertile valley, as fine timber as the world can produce, twelve hundred happy, industrious inhabitants, and a climate that is unequalled for its purity and health-giving qualities.

Our little city has taken on a natural growth that is healthy and vigorous, where all "boom" ideas are illuminated. Land can be bought at reasonable prices. Emigration of the better class is welcomed, and the hand of friendship is extended to all such.

Whooping cough is the most distressing malady; but its duration can be cut short by the use of One Minute Cough Cure, which is also the best known remedy for croup and all lung and bronchial troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, butter milk, 10 cents per gallon, at

MRS. D. W. SHIVERS'.

THE GRANDEST TREAT OF THE SEASON....

Dr. Steel's Lecture April 2, in Chapel of A. P. I.

Subject: HOME LIFE IN DIXIE DURING THE WAR

Let Everybody be Sure to Go.

Admission, 50 Cents. School Girls, 25 Cents.

ON THE ROAD!

Be Here This Week, Sure!

Ladies' Collars, Ladies' Cuffs,

DSESS SHIELDS, KRAID, CAPS,

Chambrey, Checked Ginghams,

Bleaching, Percals,

PICTURES, PHOTO FRAMES, PERCALE SHIRT WAISTS, HOOKS AND EYES, LAWNS,

Table Damask and Dress Goods!

At Prices far Below the Old Time Competitors....

Try a Pair of Orr Shoe Co.'s Red Seal Slippers.

Best Hand Made Chocolate Oxford,	$1 98.	Old price,	$2 50.
Rochester " "	1 50.	" "	2 00.
" Tip "	1 50.	" "	2 00.
Dongola Chocolate "	1 25.	" "	1 50.
" Patent "	98.	" "	1 25.	ALL SIZES.

The following Are Only a Few of Our Prices:

Corsets, 22 cents and up.
Crochet Hooks, 1 and 2c
Tooth Brushes, 5 cents and up.
Erasers, each, 1c
Dress Ginghams. 6c
Crochet Silk, 5c, (old price 30c.)
Alarm Clocks, 75c
Boxed Paper, 8 cents and up.
Hair Brushes, 5 cents and up.
Darning Cotton, per dozen, 10c
Crochet Cotton, 4c
Gent's and Boys' Hats all prices.
3 papers of pins for 5c
High Cut Plow Shoes, full stock, $1.24
Hosiery your own price.
Harps, 3 cents and up. [body.
Gent's Underwear cheaper than any-
Whitewash Brushes, 12c

Shirts all prices.
Clothes Brushes, 11 cents and up.
Horse " 10 " " "
Machine Oil, 4c
Ink, (David's) 2 bottles for 5 cents.
Shoe Polish, 5 and 7c
Calicoes, per yard, 4 to 5c
Pearl Buttons, 5 and 6c
Oil Cloth, per yard, 13½c, 15 and 16½c
Watch and Charm, guaranteed, 98c
Fish Hooks, 100 for 5c
Gent's Collars, 9 to 11c
Gent's Link Cuffs, 15 and 20c
Kid Curlers, 4 cents and up.
Slates 2 cents and up.
Spool Thread, six cord, 3c
Purses, 4c and up.
Ladies' Vests, 5c and up.

Talcum Powders, 8c, old price, 25c.
Swan Down, 5c, regular price 10 cents
Picture Frames, 10 cents and up.
Safety Pins, 3c per dozen and up.
1 good Hand Saw, 36c
Parasols and Umbrellas, 25c and up.
Window Shades, 23 and 28c
Sheeting, (yard wide), 4½ and 5c
Tinware and Granite Ware 25 per cent below anyone.
Needles, per paper, 2c
Suspenders, 5c per pair and up.
Towels, 8c per pair and up.
Blacking, 2 10c boxes for 5 cents.
Blacking Brushes, 10c and up.
Elastic Web, 3c per yard and up.
Window Curtains, 44c per pair and up.

Yours for Business,

New York Racket Store,

B. F. Crabbe, Prop.,

Vandegrift Old Stand. MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Citizens' Meeting!

March 24th the Time.

The News Office the Place

7:30 P. M. the Hour.

At 7:30 o'clock last Thursday night quite a number of the leading citizens of our town assembled at the News office for the purpose of discussing the smallpox question and the importance of vaccination.

The editor of the News stated the object of the meeting, after which C. L. Meroney was elected chairman and A. J. Lee secretary.

Dr. D. L. Wilkinson offered a suggestion to post the town into six districts, and appoint a man for each district, whose duty it shall be to go from house to house and see that each family has been vaccinated within the past twelve months. Those who have been vaccinated and did not take, to be re-vaccinated, and those refusing to be vaccinated at all, must be reported to the health committee.

The above suggestion was then put into the form of a motion, which was carried, and resulted as follows:

1st district, S. A. Latham. All inhabitants, white and black, to the right of the Ashville road and to the left of Kroell's store.

2d district, Burgess Little. All inhabitants, white and black, to the right of Kroell's store, from Kroell's store to the railroad, up Main street to Rogan's store, and thence to the depot, and the inhabitants beyond the depot to the Wells estate.

3rd district, W. B. Reynolds. All inhabitants, white and black, from the Magnolia hotel to the depot, down by the spring, and on the opposite side of the creek on the right of the road to the depot.

4th district, C. L. Meroney. All inhabitants, white and black, from the spring to Reynolds' new store, and to the left of the Tuscaloosa road.

5th district, G. W. Morgan. All inhabitants, white and black, to the right of the Tuscaloosa road, to Vandegrift's store, thence to and including Mrs. Nabors' house.

6th district, F. F. Crowe. All inhabitants, white and black, to the left of the Ashville road, and those to the right of the road, running by Mrs. Nabors' residence and back to Kroell's store.

It will be the duty of these citizens to vaccinate all parties in their separate districts not having been successfully vaccinated within the past twelve months. The citizens and health committee will uphold them in this attempt.

A motion was offered by Dr. Wilkinson to appoint a committee of ten or twelve men to act as a board of health.

Motion carried, and the following-named gentlemen were appointed: H. C. Reynolds, Geo. Kroell, C. C. Vandegrift, H. S. Latham, C. W. Cary, W. S. Cary, E. G. Givhan, M. D., E. S. Lyman, J. L. McConaughy, J. W. Acker, M. D., Pat Kroell and D. L. Wilkinson, M. D.

A motion was offered by Capt. Reynolds that the chairman write to the people at Aldrich, telling them of the citizens' meeting here, and to ask Hon. W. F. Aldrich to use his influence in having all the people at Aldrich vaccinated.

The motion was carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Don't annoy others by your coughing, and risk your life by neglecting a cold. One Minute Cough Cure cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Methodist Sunday School, Dr. D. L Wilkinson, superintendent; C. C. Vandegrift, secretary.

March 27: Officers and teachers present, 13; scholars present, 102; total, 115; on roll, 210; visitors, 4; collection, $1.04.

Baptist Sunday School, Will Lyman, superintendent; J H. McMath, secretary.

March 27: Scholars present, 124; scholars absent, 40; officers and teachers present, 18; officers and teachers absent, 2; total, 142. Collection, 71 cents.

What pleasure is there in life with a headache, constipation and biliousness? Thousands experience them who could become perfectly healthy by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. F. F. Crowe & Co.

INFORMATION WANTED.

My husband, J. J. Peacock, disappeared from Montevallo on the 19th of February. I have written everywhere I thought it likely he might go. Nobody has seen or heard of him. He is a low, thick set man, with dark eyes, dark skin, and hair now sprinkled with gray. He is a brickmason by trade. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will do a deed of kindness by writing to his wife,

MRS. LIZZIE PEACOCK,
Montevallo, Ala.
or Maylene, Ala.

☞ State papers please copy.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, Mar. 31, '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Glirs; four churches afiord ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little mouey hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subj cts of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE.

I announce myself a candidate for the office of Probate Judge of Shelby county, subject to the action oi the Democratic Convention.

D. R. MCMILLAN.

At Bessemer, on Sunday night last about 11 o'clock, the building occupied by the Bessemer Printing and Publishing company, the office of the Bessemer Weekly, of which Wm. H. H. Judson is the publisher, was destroyed by fire. Mr. Judson's loss was about four thousand dollars. He has ordered a new outfit, and his paper will appear as usual.

Southern cotton mills are selling their products to China and Japan.

The prosperity promised by Hanna and Dingley seems a long time coming.

It is estimated that there will be 3,000 miles of railroad built in the South this year.

The spring politician is here, and soon their reform schemes will be buzzed in every ear.

We rise to ask Mr. Dingley where is the prosperity promised with the introduction and passage of his tariff bill.

How the farmers can look for good prices this fall on cotton when the speculators are selling cotton now to be delivered in November for 5 cents, is beyond our range of comprehension.

Good roads are as important a factor to the upbuilding of a country as capital, and yet there is hardly a State in the Union that needs them worse than our own beautiful Alabama.

Another case of the careless handling of firearms comes from Talladega, when Walter Johnson, a lad 16 years old, shot and almost instantly killed his young sister, Lillian, last Saturday.

When the manipulators in the prices are agreeing to deliver cotton in November for 5 cents, will the cotton planter tell us where his money is coming from after his fertilizer bills and hired hands are paid?

Mr. Elias W. Fort, who lived about a mile from Marion Junction, and who was one of the most prominent and influential planters in Dallas county, dropped dead Monday morning after eating a hearty breakfast.

The Decatur Herald struck the keynote when it said: "If people would use the same diligence in spreading the good things they hear and know about people that they do in heralding every hint or rumor of bad, the world would be better off, and the tattler would have a surer chance of heaven."

SCHOOL NOTES.

Several new pupils have come in this week.

***

Miss Ellen Abernethy is back in school again.

***

Miss Mamie Patterson returned to the A. P. I. Monday.

***

On Tuesday morning the enrollment had run up to 236 girls. This is a remarkable showing.

***

Misses Anna May and Effie Burton write that they will soon be back in school. Miss Em Randolph will be here this week.

***

We were shown some beautiful dresses in Mrs. Nelson's department this week. The material alone in one of these dresses cost $46.00.

***

Mr. Sellers, of the firm of Sellers & Orum, cotton merchants, Montgomery, was a visitor to the school Tuesday. He wishes to purchase a lot and build a house for his sister-in-law, who will move here.

***

President Reynolds is in receipt of a most cordial and complimentary letter from Col. H. C. Tompkins, of Montgomery, who is an enthusiastic admirer and well wisher of the school. He predicts great things for Montevallo.

***

A newspaper in Montevallo is a necessity. No town ever thrived without one. Don't sit idly by and criticise the paper unless you lend a helping hand. If you have news don't suppress it, but let the editor know about it.

***

As soon as the Spanish question is settled, Capt. Reynolds contemplates another trip to Washington to look after the land bill for the school. He will never let up until this land is secured. The passage of this bill means much for every inhabitant of Montevallo. Let us all hope for his success.

***

The millinery department seems to be the most attractive feature ever added to the school. Miss Tall is certainly mistress of her profession. Misses Della Latham and Wilma Saunders have been employed as assistants. On next Monday, April 4th, there will be a grand opening in both the millinery and dressmaking departments. The ladies are all invited to be present. Orders have already been coming in for hats, and it is getting quite interesting for the girls who share in the profits of the department.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

Call by the Committee and Basis of Representation.

The following resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Shelby county, held in Columbiana on Monday, March 7th, 1898:

Resolved 1st, That a convention of the Democratic party is hereby called to meet at the courthouse in Columbiana, on Wednesday, April 13, 1898, for the purpose of nominating candidates for probate judge, circuit clerk, representative, superintendent of education and two commissioners, and to select delegates to the State, judicial and chancery conventions, and to transact such other business as may properly come before it.

Resolved 2nd, That beat meetings or primaries as each beat may determine, be held on Saturday, April 9th, 1898, for the purpose of selecting delegates to said county convention, and that all conservative voters irrespective of past political associations or differences, who can unite with us in the effort for pure, economical and constitutional government, and who will support the nominees and principles of the Democratic party are invited to participate in said beat meetings or primaries.

Resolved 3d That delegates to the Congressional convention be selected by a convention to be hereafter called by the chairman of the Democratic executive committee of said county.

Resolved, That each beat shall be entitled to one delegate to said county convention for every 15 votes or fraction over 10 voted in said beat for the Democratic candidate for governor in 1896.

In conformity herewith the various beats will be entitled to the following representation in the county convention:

Beat 1 box 1	—Columbiana	9
1	2—Shelby	7
2	—Spring Creek	1
3	—Calera	10
4 box 1	—Montevallo	11
4	2—Gurnee	1
5	—Tylers	1
6	—Helena	4
7	—Elliottsville	4
8	—Yellow Leaf	2
9	—Wilsonville	8
10	—Harpersville	10
11	—Weldon	3
12	—Highland	2
13	—Bold Springs	1
14	—Vandiver	1
15	—Sterrett	1
16	—Vincent	5
17	—Pelham	3
18	—Dunnavant	1
Total		85

W. B. BROWNE, Chairman.

J. T. LEEPER, Secretary.

Subscribe for the News.

Morgan Bros.

☞Have all kinds of SUITS. If they can't suit you, you can't be suited.

SPRING SUITS.

☞Call and see our Spring Suits at prices that will surprise you. We don't talk. We sell goods, and a lot of them,

MORGAN BROS.,
Leaders in Low Prices.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

☞To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. Alex. Moore, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. Robins, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L. Meroney, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....	$1.00
Six months, cash in advance	.50
Three months, cash in advance..	.25

LOCAL.

Crabbe handles Orr shoes.

You have been vaccinated, so have we.

Don't fail to attend Dr. Steel's lecture Saturday night.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Burgess Little spent Sunday with his parents at Blocton.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

Capt. Frank Fitch, of Brierfield, was in town yesterday.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Quite a number of drummers have been in our town this week.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. Crowe.

A good milch cow for sale cheap. Apply to Drs. Givhan & Wilkinson.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

They say if you want to be up to date, roll up your sleeve and vaccinate.

Miss Issie Phillips, who is teaching at Blocton, spent Saturday in Montevallo.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

We call special attention to the two new legal ads to be be found in another column.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

Charley Acker, now a student in the Birmingham Medical College, is at home for a few days.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

A complete line of slippers—chocolate, tan, and others too numerous to mention—at the Racket Store.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

Messrs. Jack Hayes and George Haden, of Avondale, spent Sunday in Montevallo. They came on their tandem.

Misses Mary and Sarah Phelan, who have been visiting Mrs. Sarah Nabors, leave today for their home in Birmingham.

Rev. P. L. Abernethy filled his pulpit at the M. E Church Sunday morning, and delivered an able and instructive sermon.

We expect soon to receive a large lot of new printing material, and will then be prepared to fill all orders on short notice.

When you know of any news, just come around and tell us about it. We are not supposed to manufacture news like a city paper.

The K. of P.'s certainly must have enjoyed themselves Monday night from the way they were laughing. Guess the goat must have thrown someone against the Wall.

After being in session one week, the grand jury adjourned Saturday. They found 18 true bills. This is a fine showing, and goes to prove that crime is on the decrease in Shelby county.

The insurance companies are making a map of Montevallo, and will make special rates on property in our town. They have had to pay out only $800 in the past 15 years on fire losses in Montevallo.

Mr. J. A Sellers, a prominent cotton warehouseman of Montgomery, was in town Tuesday and Wednesday looking for a residence lot. We hope he can find what he wants, as we would be glad to have him live among us.

F. W. Rogan is building an ice house just back of his store. Banks Bros. have the contract. This will fill a long-felt want in Montevallo, and our citizens can be supplied with ice all summer at a much cheaper rate than they have heretofore been paying.

Mrs. Nelson, of the dressmaking department of the Girls' Industrial School, informed a News reporter Monday that she had an order for a fine dress for a lady living at Los Angeles, Cal., and another from Georgia. This shows the reputation our school has abroad.

Capt. McKibbon has a new addition to his already well-equipped saw mill. This time it is a new steam whistle, and when 12 o'clock comes. it can be heard a long ways. The citizens of Chilton county threaten to sue Capt. McKibbon for disturbing their peace with his loud whistle.

Henry Allen, colored, recently exposed himself to the smallpox, and then made his brags that he would not be vaccinated. The health committee, composed of one dozen good citizens, got around Henry late Sunday evening, and before they all separated, Henry was vaccinated all right enough. Better roll up your sleeve and receive your dose, if you don't, well—

What came near being a serious accident, happened at the residence of Mrs. Henry Wilson Tuesday night. Miss Annie Kennedy, one of the teachers in the Industrial school, who boards with Mrs. Wilson, accidentally overturned a lamp, burning her dress very badly; also a rocking chair and the carpet. They succeeded in putting the fire out, however, before any other damage was done.

Miss Julia Bates, of Bates' Farm, near Marion, spent a few hours in Montevallo last Sunday. She was en route home from Blocton, where she had been visiting her aunt, Miss Phillips. Miss Bates attended services at the Methodist church, and, at the request of Bro. Abernethy, she sang very sweetly "The Holy City." She has a melodious voice, and the large congregation was well pleased with her singing.

Miss Annie Stuart, of Montgomery, was married last week to Mr. Prioleau Ellis, of Atlanta, Ga. The Montgomery Advertiser, in speaking of the bride's wedding dress, said: "The bride, a distinguished brunette of womanly graces, was lovely in a tailor-made traveling suit of navy blue, tastefully braided."

Miss Stuart's wedding dress was made right here in Montevallo, in the dressmaking department of the Girls' Industrial School.

Last Sunday evening about six o'clock, we took a stroll down to the depot, and while there an extra freight came in. On one of the flat cars we noticed a very large object, with a covering over it. Upon inquiry, we were told that it was a large cannon, on its way to Atlanta, headquarters for the Southern War Department. From there it will be shipped direct to Havana. This cannon has a calibre sufficient for throwing 500 pounds of gun cotton.

It's a Fact.

The first shipment of real high grade silverware ever received in Montevallo has just been opened at J. W. Martin's, and he cordially invites the public to see these goods. Can't be beat in the large cities Every piece guaranteed to be the highest grade of plated ware on the market. His prices are moderate, considering the quality, etc.

Mr. Editor:

I note with much pleasure the expected coming of Rev. S. A. Steel, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn. It was my good fortune to hear Dr. Steel in Blocton on February 25, 1896, on the same subject which he will present here. It is indeed most interesting to all, both young and old, whether they were reared prior to, during or after the war—they will appreciate his glowing description of "Home Life in Dixie During the War." Burgess Little.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

Dr. H. W. Harrison visited friends in Maylene Sunday.

Dock Elliott, of Ganadarque, visited relatives near this place Sunday.

A. P. Davidson and W. E. Harrison attended services at Ebenezer on the 27th inst.

Osce Burke and wife, of Ganadarque, visited friends and relatives near Dogwood Sunday.

Quite a crowd from this place attended quarterly meeting at Maylene on the 19th and 20th inst.

Messrs. Will Milam, Lige Stamps and Walter Harrison, of Belle Ellen, visited relatives and friends in town Sunday.

Misses Sallie Ryan, Leila Stripling and Pearl Harrison visited friends at Spring Creek Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. R. C. Jones, who has been attending the medical college at Bessemer, Ala, passed a very creditable examination, and has returned home to practice his profession.

The Montevallo Lump Coal Mining Company, near this place, are sinking their slope two more lifts. The prospects of this company are good, as they have four feet of hard coal in their mine.

Success to the News.

X Y. & Z.

State of Alabama, Shelby County.

Probate Court, Regular Term,
March 14, 1898.

Estate of David, Leta, Manly, Zelma, Loa, George and Mandy Farrington, minors.

This day came Wm. C. Farrington, as Guardian of said estates, and filed his application in due form and under oath, praying for an order of sale of certain lands described therein and belonging to said estate, for the purpose of maintenance and education of said minors, upon the ground that their income is not sufficient for their maintenance and education without a sale of said property.

It is ordered that the 11th day of April, 1898, be appointed a day for hearing such application, at which time all parties in interest can appear and contest the same, if they think proper.

D. R. McMillan,
Mar24-3t Judge of Probate.

State of Alabama, Shelby County.

Oscar Whitfield, et als Complainant, vs. Alabama Iron & Steel Co. et als, Defendant.	In Chancery, Sixth District, North-Eastern Chancery Division.

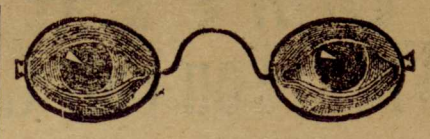
In this cause, it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of W. S. Cary, agent for complainants, that the defendants, Carrie S. Plumb, who resides in Emporia, State of Kansas; George I. Seney, resides in the city of New York, State of New York; M S. Pomeroy resides in the city of Washington, District of Columbia; Justin A. Morrill resides in the State of Vermont; Samuel Thomas resides in the State of Pennsylvania; C. S. Brice resides in the State of Ohio, and that the Central Trust Company has its place of business in the City of New York, State of New York, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendants are over the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Montevallo News, a newspaper published in the city of Montevallo, Ala., once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring them, the said Carrie S. Plumb, George I. Seney, M. S. Pomeroy, Justin A. Morrill, Samuel Thomae, C. S. Brice, the Central Trust Company, a body corporate, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 28th day of April, A. D., 1898. or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

Done at office, in Columbiana, this 26th day of March, A. D., 1898.

J. R White,
Mch24-4t. Register.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. F. F. Crowe & Co.



H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

R. B. EVANS,

Proprietor of the only first class COLORED

BARBER SHOP

IN THE CITY.

Shop east end of town.

MONTEVALLO, - - ALA.

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

Tho Leading Druggists.

ALWAYS ON TIME!

Kroell's -:- Buss

MEETS EVERY TRAIN!

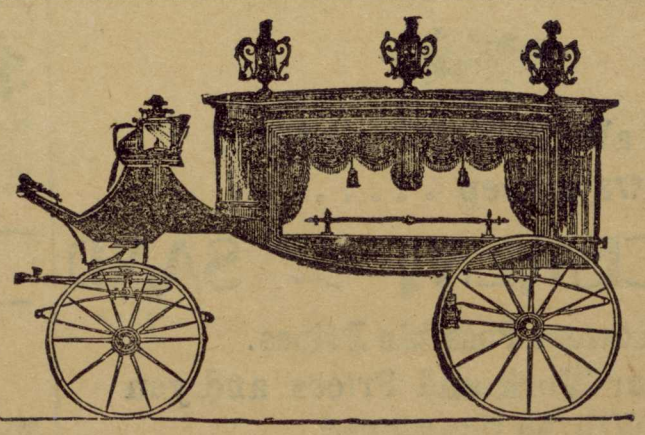
Fast Horses and Fine Rigs.

Special Rates to School Girls.

When you want to go anywhere and get there quick, come to see me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

Manager Kroell's Livery Stable.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

Don't Eat Biscuits
When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant
Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market

We do all kinds of Brick Work
and always keep .....

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.
Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College
AND
COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.
SPLENDID BUILDING.
GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.
FIVE INSTRUCTORS.
VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman
NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President. POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala.

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free.

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.

Blocton, Ala.

—Manufacturers of all kinds of—

BROOMS

—AND—

BRUSHES.

Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty.

Write for Prices,

Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,

P. O. Box 353. - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S
LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses
The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.

Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

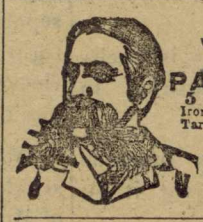
---



JONES
HE PAYS the FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

This would be a comparatively happy world if everybody knew the virtues of SMITH'S BILE BEANS as a family medicine, and acted upon that knowledge. One half the misery of the world comes from ailments which arise from a bad stomach or a bad liver. Chiefest among these are dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache and Neuralgia.

BILE BEANS will cure all of these, besides all miasmatic diseases. Dose: One Bean.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Probate Judge

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III — MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 7, '98. — NO 13

If you see it in the News it so.
Do you want War.
How do like my Easter derss.

NATIONAL HONOR.

(Carl Schurz in Harper's Weekly.)

The honor of a person, in the general sense of the term, is his moral dignity. To offend or wound a person's honor means to deny or impeach his moral dignity so as to lower it in the estimation of others, and perhaps also in his own self-respect. To forfeit one's honor means to do something, or to permit something to be done, which is incompatible with one's moral dignity. This implies to nations as well as to individuals. What true honor consists in, what constitutes an offence to one's honor, and how the offended honor can or should be vindicated or restored, are questions which in different places and at different times have received different answers, according to the different conventional conceptions of honor or the different states of civilization there and then prevailing.

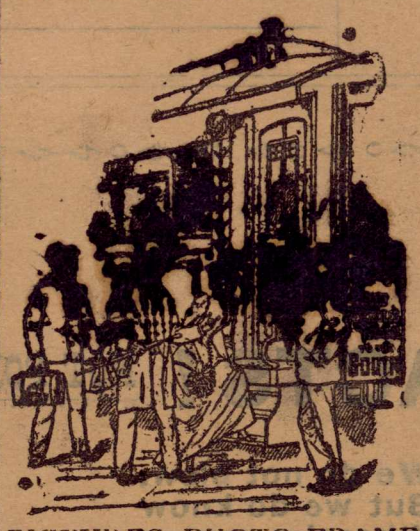
Whatever divergences of opinions on these points may still exist in this country, no American capable of sober reflection can seriously hold the belief that considerations of national honor would require, or even that its moral dignity would permit, this great republic to swagger about among the nations of the world with a chip on its shoulder, shaking its fist under everybody's nose, and telling the world on every possible occasion that we can "whip" any power that might choose to resent this, and that we would be rather glad of an opportunity for doing so. A private individual taking such an attitude would certainly not be called a gentleman. He would be considered a vulgar bully. If a person of great physical strength, he would be feared by some, esteemed by nobody, and heartily detested as a public nuisance by the whole decent part of the community. A nation playing such a role would deserve and meet with the same judgment in the family of civilized nations, and at the same time it would cultivate within itself those forces of evil which are always developed by a perversion of the sense of honor, and the consequent loss of true moral dignity and of genuine self-respect.

Neither would any American having the honor of his country sincerely at heart find it compatible with the true moral dignity of this great republic that the American people should always be nervously on the lookout for something to offend or affront it, and eager to construe as a grievous injury or a deadly insult anything in the slightest degree capable of an unpleasant interpretation, in order to avenge it. He would remember the common experience of private life that the hon[or] of the "hero" of many so-called "af[fa]irs of honor," the ever-ready duelist [is] to be not the genuine article, and that few things are more derogatory to the character of a gentleman than a propensity to pick unnecessary quarrels—that is, quarrels which might honorably be avoided. There is one duty which strong men and strong nations that are imbued with a true sense of honor, will never forget. It is that the strong should scrupulously abstain from abusing their strength when dealing with the weak. Strong men and strong nations conscious of their moral dignity will be slow to take offence. This will, of course, not permit themselves to be injured, or insulted, or trifled with, or balked by anybody at will, or to any length; but they will be especially solicitous to exhaust all peacefull means of enforcement of their just demands, or for the amicable composition of differences, before their superiority of brute strength is brought into play. They can afford, and they should use the greater forbearance, as it cannot be charged either to weakness or timidity.

A true sense of national honor will move the American people to keep this well in mind at the present moment. It is not intended to inquire here what our grievance against Spain may be. Let us assume it to be very grave. What will then be the situation? This republic is very strong. Spain is, in comparison, very weak. We have a population of 75,000,000. Spain has 18,000,000. We are immensely rich in ready means and still undeveloped resources. Spain is poor, with a heavy debt and impaired credit. Although Spain might annoy us much with her fleet at the beginning of hostilities, in case of war, there is no doubt of our ability to defeat her thoroughly in a contest, the final result of which depends upon material staying power and the tenacity of the popular spirit. Nobody questions this. Our manifest superiority is so great that there would be little glory in our triumph. Neither are we in the situation of a people whose reputation as to courage, bravery or patriotism is still to be established. All this is so well known and so universally acknowledged that no forbearance on our part can ever by any possibility be misinterpreted as a lack of power or of pluck—or that, in fact, it can appear as anything else than the considerate self-control of conscious strength. "But," we are told, "the 'dons' are insolent. Unless we give them a sound beating, they will say that the Americans are afraid of them." Well, what of it if they were foolish enough to say or even to think so? Would anybody else believe it? Would it in any manner diminish the power of this republic or lower its moral dig[nity, its n]ity, its n[ational] tion of o[ur] No; if th[e] superior what it [is] with that is the fin[est] when dea[th] avoids wa[r] until all peace hav[e] and think treme exig[ency] one, it wil[l] the moral finitely be eloquent eary deme[nd] enough to we like.

For a just appreciation of the requirements of national honor in the premises, it may be useful to look also at the Spanish side of the question. Spain, as the weaker party, will be[ar] much more open to the imputation of timidity if she yie lds on any dubiou point. Her proverbial pride may render it therefore especially painful to her to abandon any position she once has held. The impulse to vindicate what she conceives to be her national honor by fighting at any cost to the last extremity for what she had once claimed as her right, or against what she had once denounced as a wrong or an indignity, may therefore be es[pe]cially strong. Neither would her national honor, in any sense, suffer by the abandonment of Cuba as soon as she has to admit that her rule over the inhabitants of that island can no longer be maintained. There has been a rumor that the proud Spaniard, when the loss of Cuba becomes certain, will then, for national honor's sake, provoke a war with the United States, so as to preserve at least the appearance of succumbing only to the superior strength of one of the great powers of the world. No misconception of national honor could be more grotesque than the fancy that the moral dignity of a nation can better be saved by punishing one's self with an absolutely useless demonstration of willingness to shed more blood and to squander more wealth and to create more misery, than by a wise and decorous acceptance of the inevitable. It is a monstrous notion, which can have sprung only from some very much overheated brain; but it fairly illustrates the strange confusion of ideas in which national honor figures as something that stands above the dictates of common sense, as well as of common morality.

We have had much of this wild sort of talk in this country, and we may have more. But there is good reason for hoping that it will not run away with the self-respect of the American people. We may well be proud of the self-contained dignity with which so far President McKinley and his ministers have conducted our foreign affairs amid the excitement of the day; proud of the wellnigh unanimous applause which the calm attitude of those in power has elicited from the citizenship of the country; and proud of the fact that a bill to put the republic in a state of defence could pass both houses of congress without hot appeals to warlike passions. This gives us a taste of that sense of national honor which draws its inspiration not from hysterical spasms, but from sober wisdom; not from the brutal wantonness of superior strength, but from the noble resolve to be all the more just and generous, because strong.



ON THE ROAD!

Be Here This Week, Sure!

Ladies' Collars, Ladies' Cuffs,

DRESS SHIELDS, BRAID, CAPS,

Chambrey, Checked Ginghams,

Bleaching, Percals,

PICTURES, PHOTO FRAMES, PERCALE SHIRT WAISTS, HOOKS AND EYES, LAWNS,

Table Damask and Dress Goods!

At Prices far Below the Old Time Competitors. . . .

Try a Pair of Orr Shoe Co.'s Red Seal Slippers.

Best Hand Made Chocolate	Oxford,	$1 98.	Old price,	$2 50.
Rochester	" "	1 50.	" "	2 00.
" Tip	"	1 50.	" "	2 00.
Dongola Chocolate	"	1 25.	" "	1 50.
" Patent	"	98.	" "	1 25.	ALL SIZES.

The following Are Only a Few of Our Prices:

Corsets, 23 cents and up.
Crochet Hooks, 1 and 5c
Tooth Brushes, 5 cents and up.
Erasers, each, 1c
Dress Ginghams, 6c
Crochet Silk, 5c, (old price 30c.)
Alarm Clocks, 75c
Boxed Paper, 8 cents and up.
Hair Brushes, 5 cents and up.
Darning Cotton, per dozen, 10c
Crochet Cotton, 4c
Gent's and Boys' Hats all prices.
3 papers of pins for 5c
High Cut Plow Shoes, full stock, $1.24
Hosiery your own price.
Harps, 3 cents and up. [body.
Gent's Underwear cheaper than any-
Whitewash Brushes, 12c

Shirts all prices.
Clothes Brushes, 11 cents and up.
Horse " 10 " " "
Machine Oil, 4c
Ink, (David's) 2 bottles for 5 cents.
Shoe Polish, 5 and 7c
Calicoes, per yard, 4 to 5c
Pearl Buttons, 5 and 6c
Oil Cloth, per yard, 13½c, 15 and 16½c
Watch and Charm, guaranteed, 98c
Fish Hooks, 100 for 5c
Gent's Collars, 9 to 11c
Gent's Link Cuffs, 15 and 20c
Kid Curlers, 4 cents and up.
Slates 2 cents and up.
Spool Thread, six cord, 3c
Purses, 4c and up.
Ladies' Vests, 5c and up.

Talcum Powders, 8c, old price, 25c.
Swan Down, 5c, regular price 10 cents
Picture Frames, 10 cents and up.
Safety Pins, 3c per dozen and up.
1 good Hand Saw, 36c
Parasols and Umbrellas, 25c and up.
Window Shades, 23 and 28c
Sheeting, (yard wide), 4½ and 5c
Tinware and Granite Ware 25 per cent below anyone.
Needles, per paper, 2c
Suspenders, 5c per pair and up.
Towels, 8c per pair and up.
Blacking, 2 10c boxes for 5 cents.
Blacking Brushes, 10c and up.
Elastic Web, 3c per yard and up.
Window Curtains, 44c per pair and up.

Yours for Business,

New Yor[k] Store,

B. F[ranklin] Prop.,

Vandegrift Old Stand. [MONTEVA]LLO, ALA.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Methodist Sunday School, Dr. D. L Wilkinson, superintendent; C. C. Vandegrift, secretary.

April 3: Officers and teachers present, 15; scholars present, 92; total, 107; on roll, 210; visitors, 2; collection, $1.81.

Baptist Sunday School, Will Lyman, superintendent; J H. McMath, secretary.

April 3: Scholars present, 71; scholars absent, 102; officers and teachers present, 18; officers and teachers absent, 2; total, 93. Collection, 69 cents.

Don't annoy others by your coughing, and risk your life by neglecting a cold. One Minute Cough Cure cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

What pleasure is there in life with a headache, constipation and biliousness? Thousands experience them who could become perfectly healthy by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. F. F. Crowe & Co.

INFORMATION WANTED.

My husband, J. J. Peacock, disappeared from Montevallo on the 19th of February. I have written everywhere I thought it likely he might go. Nobody has seen or heard of him. He is a low, thick-set man, with dark eyes, dark skin, and hair now sprinkled with gray. He is a brickmason by trade. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will do a deed of kindness by writing to his wife,

MRS. LIZZIE PEACOCK,
Montevallo, Ala.
or Maylene, Ala.

☞ State papers please copy.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,
PUBLISHERS.
CLIFTON NEWTON, EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, April 7., '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Glirs; four churches afiord ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little mouey hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subj cts of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are remiuded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE.

I announce myself a candidate for the office of Probate Judge of Shelby county, subject to the action oi the Democratic Convention.

D. R. MCMILLAN.

Grover Cleveland, the man who, when he took the oath of office as President of this great republic, was, comparatively speaking a poor man who left that position a millionaire refuses to be one of the managers of the New York Journals main monument fund, because it would advertise the Journal.

Subscribe for the News.

When the farmers of the South find they can live without raising cotton, times will be better in this part of Gods vinrrd.

The colored man rerched the jumping off place when the 25th United States infantry (col.) arrived at Dry Tortugas.

A country that expects its ffag and citizens to be respected by other Nations must be ready to defend either and at all times.

It may be there but we have not observed Mark Hanna's name on the "Honor Roll" as donator to the Maine Monument Fund.

When we are helping with our good money the starvitg victims she has made, Spain is spending her money to buy war implements to kill more good Americans.

The booming of Fitzhugh Lee for president by an Eastern State and a Western State, will soon have the Sectional Strife raiser and the bloody shirt waver hunting anew job.

Why the contract was let to Mark Hanna and other mine Barons north, to furnish coal for the navy at almost double Alabama bids, should be explained to the satisfaction of the american public.

The Presidents new plea is, I am afrid that the americans will be assassinated if war is declared and "I wold not have the blood of Fitzhugh Lee on my hands for every Spaniard and Cuban on that entire island."

Some one should mail Mr. McKinley a copy of The Star spangled banner, Long may she wave o'er the land of the tree and home of the brave. It might put a little stiffening in his failing back bone.

We dont pretend to advise farmers but it does look to us that with thier cribs full of corn and smoke house full of meat and the cotton they raise as a surplus, the planter would be in better condition to meet the manipulation of Wall street and Liverpool.

The Decatur Herald struck the keynote when it said: "If people would use the same diligence in spreading the good things they hear and know about people that they do in heralding every hint or rumor of bad, the world would be better off, and the tattler would have a surer chance of heaven."

When 268 of good Americans citizens are killed by a Nation that for sixty years has been plainly showing that they want war with this country and the head of the American republic is trying to settle for their lives with dollars its time to take the proud bird from our banner and hang our heads in shame.

McKinley by his vacilating policy shows to the world one of two things; that he is either the biggest coward breathes the free air of this or any other continent, or that he holds his place as head of this Nation by fraud, manipulated by the stock gamblers of this country and England, and now they are pulling the strings and howling peace at any price. But the price some one will pay will be millions, and the price Uncle Sam will pay, will be a flag that any little nation can spit on with impunity as long as a coward fills the presidential chair.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Several new pupils have come in this week.

***

The college received a lot of goods yesterday.

***

President Reynolds was disapointed in not getting all the hats for the opening.

***

Miss Francis class in Physical culture class, it fs making great progress.

***

On Tuesday morning the enrollment had run up to 240 girls. This is a remarkable showing.

***

The opening Monday was a grand success although it rained all day there were a great many visitoas, the display was grand. Several ladies bought hats.

***

A newspaper in Montevallo is a necessity. No town ever thrived without one. Don't sit idly by and criticise the paper unless you lend a helping hand. If you have news don't suppress it, but let the editor know about it.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

Call by the Committee and Basis of Representation.

The following resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Shelby county, held in Columbiana on Monday, March 7th, 1898:

Resolved 1st, That a convention of the Democratic party is hereby called to meet at the courthouse in Columbiana, on Wednesday, April 13, 1898, for the purpose of nominating candidates for probate judge, circuit clerk, representative, superintendent of education and two commissioners, and to select delegates to the State, judicial and chancery conventions, and to transact such other business as may properly come before it.

Resolved 2nd, That beat meetings or primaries as each beat may determine, be held on Saturday, April 9th, 1898, for the purpose of selecting delegates to said county convention, and that all conservative voters irrespective of past political associations or differences, who can unite with us in the effort for pure, economical and constitutional government, and who will support the nominees and principles of the Democratic party are invited to participate in said beat meetings or primaries.

Resolved 3d That delegates to the Congressional convention be selected by a convention to be hereafter called by the chairman of the Democratic executive committee of said county.

Resolved, That each beat shall be entitled to one delegate to said county convention for every 15 votes or fraction over 10 voted in said beat for the Democratic candidate for governor in 1896.

Subscribe for the News.

Morgan Bros.

☞Have all kinds of SUITS. If they can't suit you, you can't be suited.

SPRING SUITS.

☞Call and see our Spring Suits at prices that will surprise you. We don't talk. We sell goods, and a lot of them,

MORGAN BROS.,
Leaders in Low Prices.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

☞To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. Alex. Moore, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. Robins, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L Meroney, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Out my arm.

Base Balls 10 cts to 140, Crabbe,s we want some strawberries.

Matting 12½ to 25 cts. at Crabbe,s.

Montevallo will have a dairy in a short time.

Now is the time to sprinkle lime around your house.

Mr. Michell the News printer is in Blocton sick with fever.

Girls who like good candy can get at F. F. Crowe & Co.

We come out this week in a fancy Easter costume.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

The early gardener got left this time, but the early worm got froze

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

Uncle John Pynor, Montevallo's noted shoe maker has returned and is ready for work at his old stand.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

The Birmingham train was several hour late Tuesday on accout of a wash-out near Imogene.

Candy, Candy, all kinds of Candy at prices you can afford at Crabbe,s.

Mr. Will Nolen, is very sick he will have to go to Birmingham to have an operation performed he has a tumor growing in his head.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. Crowe.

Say I need some money can't you pay me, or will you lead me what you owe, I would like to pay my debts.

A good milch cow for sale cheap. Apply to Drs. Givhan & Wilkinson.

Mr. J. D. Moreland will remove his shop to Hargrove, we are sorry that Mr Moreland has decided to leave us the News wishes him success in his new home.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

A complete line of slippers—chocolate, tan, and others too numerous to mention—at the Racket Store.

Orr,s Red Seal slippers Crabbes,

Newton & Nolen have suppended business on account of Mr. Nolen, sickness.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

Several of Montevallo young people went fishing last saturday they report lot of fun and a big catch of colds the bate gaue out early.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

Miss Ada Dill, is having great success with her dress making parlor she is getting all the work she can do, she has ordered a stock of millinery they will be here in a few days.

Fine linen table Damask 50 cts. Indian Head 8 cts. anything in dry good and notion line at prices that can,t be beat B. F. Crabbe.

Mr. Gee Kreoll, will build a large two story brick store on the lot adjoining his store, the building will be 50 front by 100 deep two story high, the lower floor will be used by Mr. Kreoll for his store the upper floor will be used for a public hall.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

We have just recieved a shipment of blank paper cut to order, from that wide-awake, up-to date firm of job printers Billue & Brannon at Talladega that gave complete satisfaction.

Dr. Steel's lecture was quite a success although the audiance was not as large as was expected the chapel was nearly full, Dr. Steel entertained the audiance for nearly two hours some things he said was worth the price of the lectnre. The audience was well pleased from the start to finish.

Crabbe, says it pays to advertise.

It's a Fact.

The first shipment of real high grade silverware ever received in Montevallo has just been opened at J. W. Martin's, and he cordially invites the public to see these goods Can't be beat in the large cities Every piece guaranteed to be the highest grade of plated ware on the market. His prices are moderate, considering the quality, etc.

ATTENTION DEMOCRATS.

The democrats of Beat 4 are requested to meet at Montevallo, Saturday next April 9th for the purpose of selecting delegates to the County Convention to be held at Columbiana Wednesday April 13th and for some other business as may properly come before such meeting.

By order of Executive committee.

Whooping cough is the most distressing malady; but its duration can be cut short by the use of One Minute Cough Cure, which is also the best known remedy for croup and all lung and bronchial troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, butter milk, 10 cents per gallon, at

Mrs D. W. Shivers'.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

DR. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

Children and adults tortured by burns, scalds, injuries, eczema or skin diseases may secure instant relief by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is the great Pile remedy, F. F. Crowe & Co.

STATE CONVENTION.

Christian Endeavor.

The Christian Endeavor state convention will meet in Selma on April 3. Every society in Alabama is requested to send one or more delegates. Free entertainment will be provided for all who send their names to Mrs. F. E. Apperson Selma, Ala., before the convention meets. A reduced railroad rate of one and one third fare for the reund rip has been granted on the certificate plan, provided 50 delegates are in attendance with certificates. Delegates should purchase full fare tickets to Selma and take from the agents a certificate as proviced by the railroad company. If a through ticket cannot be purchased, a certificate should be taken each ticket When this certificate is properly signed in Selma and persented to the ticket agent there, a reduction will be made on the return.

A splendid programme has been arranged by the officers of the State Union and the convention will be a highly interesting one. The principal speaker will be Dr. Rondthaler, of Chicago, who Will be remembered by those who attende tne Birmingham convention in 1895. He is one of the finest Chrestian Endeavors worker in this country. Rev. Ira Landrith, of Nashville, will also be present and take part in the programme, especially putting forth the claims of the International convention at Nashville in July. Other fine coneention workers and speakers from different parts of the state have accepted places on the brogramme.

In addition to delegates from societies, pastors, and others recommended by pastors, who are interested in this movement, are invited to attend the convention and will be shown the same courtesies as regular delegates.

Rev. J F. Smith, the Rector, will conduct Easter Service, ineluding Holy Communion, at the Episcopal church next Sunday, instead of waiting for his regular appointment as heretofore announced. All communicants are requested to take notice of this change of appointment. Good music ss a feature of this occasion and the exercises will be most interesting.

For Rent.—The building formerly occupied by Newton & Nolen. For terms apply at the News office.

A SUBSCRIBER

SEND IN YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS, ALONG WITH THE DOLLAR, AND

THE NEWS

WILL BE SENT YOU EVERY WEEK FOR

ONE YEAR.

State of Alabama, Shelby County.

Probate Court, Regular Term, March 14, 1898.

Estate of David, Leta, Manly, Zelma, Loa, George and Mandy Earrington, minors.

This day came Wm. C. Farrington, as Guardian of said estates, and filed his applicatcn in due form and under oath, praying for an erder of sale of certain lands described therein and belonging to said estate, for the purpose of maintenance and education of said minors, upon the ground that their income is not sufficient for their maintenance and education without a sale of said property.

It is ordered that the 11th day of April, 1898, be appointed a day for hearing such application, at which time all parties in interest can appear and contest the same, if they think proper.

D. R. McMillan,
Mar24-3t Judge of Probate.

State of Alabama, Shelby County.

Oscar Whitfield, et als Complainant, vs. Alabama Iron & Steel Co. et als, Defendant.	In Chancery, Sixth District, North-Eastern Chancery Division.

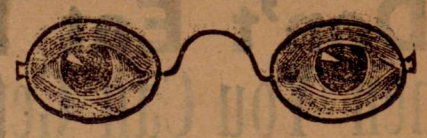
In this cause, it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of W. S. Cary, agent for complainants, that the defendants, Carrie S. Plumb, who resides in Emporia, State of Kansas; George I. Seney, resides in the city of New York, State of New York; M S. Pomeroy resid s in the city of Washington, District of Columbia; Justin A. Morrill resides in the State of Vermont; Samuel Thomas resides in the State of Pennsylvania; C. S. Brice resides in the State of Ohio, and that the Central Trust Company has its place of business in the City of New York, State of New York, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendants are over the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Montevallo News, a newspaper published in the city of Montevallo, Ala., once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring them, the said Carrie S. Plumb, George I. Seney, M. S. Pomeroy, Justin A. Morrill, Samuel Thomae, C. S. Brice, the Central Trust Company, a body corporate, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 28th day of April, A. D., 1898. or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

Done at office, in Columbiana, this 26th day of March, A. D., 1898.

J. R White,
Mch24-4t. Register.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. F. F. Crowe & Co.



H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

R. B. EVANS,

Proprietor of the only first class COLORED

BARBER SHOP

IN THE CITY.

Shop east end of town.

MONTEVALLO, - - ALA.

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

Tho Leading Druggists.

ALWAYS ON TIME!

Kroell's -:- Buss

MEETS EVERY TRAIN!

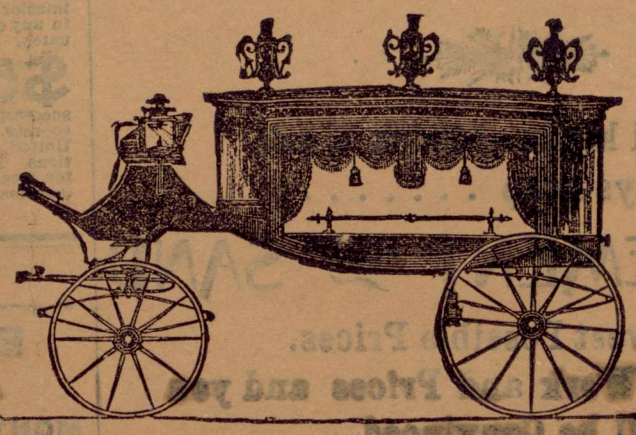
Fast Horses and Fine Rigs.

Special Rates to School Girls.

When you want to go anywhere and get there quick, come to see me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

Manager Kroell's Livery Stable.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

Don't Eat Biscuits
When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU
EAT?
If So, You Need Good Meat

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant
Meals at all hours

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his Reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market

We do all kinds of Brick Work
and always keep .....

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.

Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College
AND
COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.
SPLENDID BUILDING.
GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.
FIVE INSTRUCTORS.
VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine.

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman
NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President. POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber,
Montevallo, - - Ala.
Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

THE BRICK HOTEL,
ST GEORGE,
ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,
Montevallo, - - - Ala.
New and Centrally Located.
☞ Special attention given the commercial man.
Rates $2 00 per day.
Large sample room free

LANIER
BROOM
MFG. CO.
Blocton, Ala.
—Manufacturers of all kinds of—
BROOMS
—AND—
BRUSHES.
Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty
Write for Prices.
Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,
P. O. Box 353. - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S
LIVER PILLS
and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses
The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.
Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

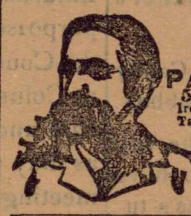
See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

---



JONES
HE
PAYS the FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales,
Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

This would be a comparatively happy world if everybody knew the virtues of SMITH'S BILE BEANS as a family medicine, and acted upon that knowledge. One half the misery of the world comes from ailments which arise from a bad stomach or a bad liver. Chief of among these are dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache and Neuralgia.

BILE BEANS will cure all of these, besides all miasmatic diseases. Dose: One Bean.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Probate Judge

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 14, '98. NO 14.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

We have a thousand guns; what have we made them for?
If not in times like these to speak the speech of war?
Let's fight, or quit our brag, and take our banter back,
Paint white our ships again and paint the White House black.
—Lee Fairchild, in Washington Times.

Who We Are,

—AND—

Where We Live!

Under this head we will from time to time endeavor to show some of the advantages Montevallo and the surrounding country possess, and the inducements offered to seekers after health and wealth.

In presenting the claims of Montevallo and vicinity to a criticising public, we do so with the confidence that no other section can produce more favorable inducements to the home seeker, and few can equal it in its fertile resources and health giving climate.

The valley with its natural drainage, with its balmy breezes, together with its loamy soil and diversified crops, where gobbers and potatoes of the finest grow under ground, and its grain, fruits and the "fleecy staple" above ground produce health, happiness and plenty.

Miles of the finest grazing lands, with streams of living water, cold and sparkling, offer inducements to the ambitious cattle raiser, and the nearby markets are ever ready with prices that not only make this business pleasant, but exceedingly profitable.

Where, in all this sunny southland, has God displayed His handiwork so well and so lavishly distributed His blessings than here—here where the flowers of every kind vie with the tropics in their fragrance and colorings; here where birds of gay and brilliant plumage warble their songs from early morn to dewy eve; here where nature, ladened with healthgiving, balmy breezes, make the summers pleasant and intoxicate the soul of the most poetical, and all rejoice in the fact that they are in the land of the living; here where a peace loving people dwell in unity with the one idea ever foremost, the best good for one of the best sections on this sun bathed footstool; here where God is worshipped as the giver of all good, and who has bestowed the richest blessings on a thankful people; here where wealth lies buried in the sunkissed mountains and dew-ladened valleys, ready for the busy toiler; here where the sparkling eyes and laughing faces of happy maidens, make glad the heart of the veriest misanthrope, and where strong men vie with each other in friendly conflict for this world's goods; here where vice, in its various forms, is far below the average, and intoxicating liquors are never sold and rarely make its appearance; here where the healthy climate, pure water and ever fresh air have given us the State educational institution for young ladies, whose health was the most important.

Again we ask where, on this footstool, has God been more lavish with His gifts?

Where can the health seeker find a better home, and where can those desiring profitable investments find a better section or more varied inducements than here where a friendly people extend the welcome hand to the earnest worker and harmonious citizen; and to all such the latch-string of hospitality hangs on the outside.

Whooping cough is the most distressing malady; but its duration can be cut short by the use of One Minute Cough Cure, which is also the best known remedy for croup and all lung and bronchial troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A Few of the Things

WE

WILL NEED

WHEN

WE GO TO WAR

With Spain.

MORGAN BROS. .. .. ..

KEEP IN FRONT.

Their Low Prices Sell Their Goods.

A Ten Thousand Dollar Stock to Select From!

Largest Assortment of Spring Dress Goods

IN TOWN.

Follow the Crowd and You Will Go to

MORGAN BROS.,

The Up-to-Date Merchants.

Keep One Eye on Montevallo,

The Other on Morgan Bros.

Support Hon. E. S. LYMAN

For Our Next Representative.

A History That Is Written in Blood.

The slaughter of the Cuban innocents is but a repetition of Spain's cruelties from the earliest histories. From the inquisition which began 1481 under Queen Isabella up to the present time, is one long trail of blood. In the eighteen years of Torque-Mada's sway in the inquisition alone, 114,000 victims succumbed to its cruelties, no less than 11,000 being burned at the stake.

Under the rule of Charles V the Spanish barbarities in the Netherlands is a blot of blood in history. On Feb. 16, 1568, Philip, through the holy office, issued an edict condemning to death all the inhabitants of the Netherlands. Millions of people were condemned to death at one stroke of the pen.

Now look at the atrocities on our own continent in Peru, Mexico and Florida, and the memorable remark of Philip II on reading the report of Mendez, who had killed, by stabbing, the French Huguenots in Florida, "He has done well."

Now last, but by no means least, look at the suffering in Cuba, where innocent children, mothers and sisters are daily starving from Spanish cruelties; where 264 good Americans were killed without the least provocation.

Veritably the Spanish nation has written its history in blood, and the plea that all her barbarities were committed in the dark middle ages, won't stand.

A thrill or terror is experienced when a brassy cough of croup sounds through the house at night. But the terror soon changes to relief after One Minute Cough Cure has been administered. Safe and harmless for children. F. F. Crowe & Co.

On the 7th and 8th days of November, 1873, the Spaniards in Cuba killed, on an accusation of piracy, fifty-three of the crew and passengers of the American vessel, Virginius, and were only stopped from killing the entire hundred and sixty-five by the arrival of the British ship. Niobe, commanded by Sir Lampton Lorraine, who trained his guns on the town and demanded a cessation of the massacre. When the United States heard of this there was much excitement, but Spain's waiting policy finally settled the affair for $80,000.

Will the United States again settle for murdered Americans with money? Will Spain's money pay for the lives of our murdered sailors?

What pleasure is there in life with a headache, constipation and biliousness? Thousands experience them who could become perfectly healthy by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. F. F. Crowe & Co.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Methodist Sunday School, Dr. D. L Wilkinson, superintendent; C. C. Vandegrift, secretary.

April 10: Officers and teachers present, 15; scholars present, 102; total, 117; on roll, 156; visitors, 2; collection, $2.10.

Baptist Sunday School, Will Lyman, superintendent; J H. McMath, secretary.

April 10: Scholars present, 101; scholars absent, 69; officers and teachers present, 18; officers and teachers absent, 2; visitors present, 5; total, 124. Collection, 69 cents.

There are three little things which do more work than any other three little things created—they are the ant, the bee and DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the last being the famous little pills for stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

After years of untold suffering from piles, B W Pursell, of Knitnersville, Pa., was cured by using a single box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Skin diseases, such as eczema, rash, pimples and obstinate sores are readily cured by this famous remedy. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Don't annoy others by your coughing, and risk your life by neglecting a cold. One Minute Cough Cure cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, April 14, '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Girls; four churches afford ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffice as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for three months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little money hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subjects of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. S. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—B. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

This country is not quite ready to be sold out yet. A hint for Wall Street.

To be cursed by the majority of his party, in and out of office, for cowardice, is rather hard on the president, and doesn't show a "gilt edge cinque" on a second term.

J. Asa Rountree, secretary of the Alabama Press Association, has made satisfactory arrangements for an excursion to Washington incident to the annual meeting of the association at Tuscaloosa. The excursion will probably leave on the night of May 12th, or the morning of the 13th, over the Southern railway.

According to previous announcement, the Democratic County Convention met in the court house at Columbiana, on Wednesday, the 13th inst., at 1 o'clock p. m. There were 82 delegates present. The convention was called to order by Chairman W. B. Brown.

Col. Smith was elected chairman pro tem, and J. R. White secretary pro tem.

On motion of N. A. Graham, of Calera, the temporary offices were made permanent.

Judge D. R. McMillan was nominated for probate judge by acclamation, there being no opposition.

The names of W. R. S. Milner, W. A. Thompson and J. E. Ruffin were submitted to the convention for circuit clerk. They were voted for by beats, and after the votes were counted W. R. S. Milner was declared nominated.

The names of Dr. C. C. Oliver C. H. Florey and C. W. O'Hara were submitted for superintendent of education and Dr. C. C. Oliver received the nomination. R. J. Griffin was nominated for commissioner from the second district and B. F. Elliott from the 4th.

The names of S. A. Latham and E. S. Lyman were then submitted for representative, and Mr. E. S. Lyman received the nomination.

The convention passed off harmoniously, and all went away well satisfied with the ticket nominated and determined to do everything in their power for its election.

The delegates were instructed for Judge Brewer for circuit judge.

OPENING DAY

OF THE

Millinery and Dressmaking Departments

Girls' :-: Industrial -:- School,

Monday, April 4th, was, despite the inclemency of the weather, a gala day at the Girls' Industrial or Polytechnic Institute of Alabama, at Montevallo. It was opening day of the millinery and dressmaking departments, and many visitors were there to view the handiwork of the young ladies of the school. It was indeed quite a revelation to us.

We were first taken in charge by Miss Leo Sanders, Mrs. G. Nelson's charming and talented assistant, and conducted through labyrinths of beautiful dresses. We took up a great deal of Miss Sanders' time asking questions, and cannot resist mentioning a few of the elegant suits described to us, prettier than which, it has never been our good fortune to behold.

One of the richest dresses was a handsome black silk from Mrs. Dr. Eager, of Montgomery, and was of very costly material and finished in excellent style. This beautiful dress is to be set off by a hat of fancy black straw, trimmed with jetted wings; a beautiful crown of liberty silk with band of jet and rosettes of mousseline and tall loops of taffata ribbon. It is very pretty, and was made by Misses Hettie Barnett and M. Thornton.

Mrs. Dr. Harris, of Montgomery, is another patron of these bright girls, and for her they have made a handsome dress of black silk, trimmed in three shades of mousseline and handmade lace over fifty years old (an heirloom). It is a dream of loveliness, and was made by Misses Lucy Leeper and Mamie Guy.

Mrs. Dr. Chapman's grey silk set off with cut steel buckles and sash of liberty silk, was made by Misses Rhoda Latham and Mary Jones, and is very pretty and stylish.

But the prettiest dress in the house was one of black mousseline embroidered in turquoise made over blue taffeta silk with jewelled buckles and trimming and dainty sash of liberty silk to match. This elegant suit was made for Mrs. Barnes, of Myrtle, Ala., by Misses Bessie Allen and Madge Watts.

There were dozens of other handsome dresses in silk, plaid tweed and wool suitings, but want of space precludes further mention of same. These dresses range in price from $25.00 to $100.00, and we venture to say that prettier, more stylish, nor better made dresses have been turned out by any dressmaking emporium this season than have by the accomplished young ladies of the Girls' Industrial School, the "Pride of Alabama." Mrs. Nelson and her corps of assistants are entitled to much praise and credit for the skillful instruction they have imparted to the 200 girls in their department.

One other thing we must mention was a dainty opera cloak for Miss Kate Campbell, of pink eiderdown trimmed at throat with white swansdown. Nothing prettier was ever seen.

After we had tired down everybody in the dressmaking department with interrogations, we were turned over to Miss Wilma Saunders, one of the pretty milliners, who proceeded to show us what we didn't know about hats. Thought perhaps we had wandered into a flower garden by mistake, for from rows upon top of rows of tastefully arranged hats, flowers of every variety and hue seemed to nod us a merry welcome. Here we found hats galore—hats of fancy satin straw, rough straw, leghorns, tired roll, sailors, etc., of the latest style, skillfully displayed. Miss Tall, the head milliner, who, by the way, hails from Baltimore, the city of milliners, and her assistants certainly are "chock full" of artistic talent in their line.

We cannot resist the temptation of trying to describe a few, but fear that words are inadequate to express it properly.

A beautiful hat was shown us that had been made for Miss Louise Alston. It was of fancy straw in shaded green, and trimmed in shaded green liberty shirred silk, and standing aigrette of palm with flowers of burnt orange and rosettes of mousseline. A dainty gem.

Another of white fancy straw handsomely appliquated with black and nile green and serrase flowers and foliage made for Miss Mary McLean, of Hope Hull, Ala.

Miss Ethel Bartlett was also the proud possessor of a lovely hat of fancy black straw trimmed in burnt orange and black mousseline appliquated, double black satin ribbon and small flowers of burnt orange and pink rosebuds with foliage.

Something very pretty was a fine leghorn in sheperdess style with white tips and white satin ribbon ties trimmed in white lilacs with cut steel buckles underneath.

Much taste and exquisite workmanship was displayed in the hat made for Mrs. Ed Lyman. It is a handsome black straw trimmed in burnt orange and violets tipped by three handsome black plumes. It is very handsome.

The hat for Mrs. J. D. Smith, of Siddonsville, is hard to beat. Black straw, black mousseline, jewelled crown, trimmed in white and old blue, handsome rhinestone buckle and mousseline ribbon.

We could dwell all day on the wonderful display of beauty, but cannot find words to further describe in a fitting manner what we saw.

The dressmaking and millinery departments of the Girls' Industrial School are certainly a success.

Morgan Bros.

☞Have all kinds of SUITS. If they can't suit you, you can't be suited.

SPRING SUITS.

☞Call and see our Spring Suits at prices that will surprise you. We don't talk. We sell goods, and a lot of them,

MORGAN BROS.,
Leaders in Low Prices.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

☞To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Sheriff E. F. Vest was in town the first of the week.

The cyclist club indulge in some fancy riding every evening.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

☞When you want to ride get your rigs from Kroell's stable.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. CROWE.

Mr. R T. Newton and wife visited Maylene and Dogwood this week.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

We are glad to state that our compositor, G. D. Mitchell, is able to be at his post of duty again.

☞School girls. Kroell's stable will ride you cheap on Saturdays. Take a ride Saturday.

Mr. S. B. Gibson and family have quit housekeeping, and are now boarding at the Dormitory.

We are glad to learn that W. L. Nolen, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, is convalescing.

Emmett Welsh, of Birmingham, a well-known "knight of the grip," was in town the first of the week.

Quite a number of our citizens went to Columbiana yesterday to attend the Democratic County Convention.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

A defective flue came near causing a destructive fire at the residence of Mr. Theo Allen, on College street, yesterday about 1 p. m.

Dr. D L. Wilkinson attended the State S. S. convention at Birmingham two days this week, and reports a very interesting meeting.

The case of R. L. Rice, charged with murder, was tried in the circuit court last week and the jury failed to agree, causing a mistrial.

We regret to learn that Rev. P. L. Abernethy is confined to his bed from an attack of rheumatism. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

FOR RENT.—The building formerly occupied by Newton & Nolen. For terms apply at the News office.

Mr Walton Carlisle, of Talladega, spent several days in our town during the past week on business for Billue & Brannon, the well known job printers of Talladega.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mr. J. N. Campbell, of Blocton, was in town Monday on business. Mr. Campbell was a citizen of Montevallo about thirty years ago, and lived in the house now occupied by Dr. D. L. Wilkinson.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mr. J. G. Bryan and family will occupy the lower rooms in the News building. Mr. Bryan had to move, in order that Mr. Kroell might tear down the house he was living in, to make room for his new two story brick building.

Mr. C. C. Vandegrift has shown us three samples oi very fine coal recently fonnd on his land near Imogene. Some of the coal is very hard, and has been pronnunced first-class. Mr. Vandegrift is thinking of opening a new mine on his property in the near future.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

We publish this week an account of the opening day of the millinery and dressmaking departments of the Girls' Industrial School on Monday, the 4th inst. We intended publishing it last week, but owing to the sickness of our compositor, we were unable to get it in type.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

Deputy U. S. Collector Miller, Deputy U. S. Marshals Mitchell and and Vaughn, and Mr. Hooker, all of Birmingham, arrived in town yesterday morning with Messrs. Tom Taylor and Peter Mock, whom they arrested near Gurnee for illicit distilling. The officers destroyed the still house and all equipments, the worm, 500 gallons of beer, and 7 or 8 gallons of whiskey. The still had been removed, and they failed to find it. The prisoners were carried to Birmingham yesterday evening at 5:11 on the Southern. Wildcatters had better look out, for the officers are on their trail.

☞Kroell's stable gives special rates to school girls on Saturdays.

ELECTRICAL SPANKING.

NOVEL DEVICE TO BE EMPLOYED IN A GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Warden C. P. Hoyt, of Denver, has designed a spanking chair for use in the Industrial School for Girls. It consists of a seatless chair on which the girls are placed. It is high enough from the ground to allow four paddles to be operated by electric wires. Straps hold the victim's wrists to the arms of the chair.

At the Girls' Industrial School of Kansas, situated at Beloit, they have what is called a spanking chair. Bad girls are strapped in a chair, and an attendant presses the button and the chair does the rest. The Kansas authorities will be asked to explain the system, and if it is satisfactory to the local authorities, a spanking chair will be purchased for the Colorado institution —Pittsburg Dispatch.

We learn that Capt. Reynolds is in correspondence with the inventor.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

REPORT FROM DRESSMAKING DEPARTMENT

FROM FEBRUARY 4TH TO APRIL 1, 1898.

Number of garments cut and made, 219.

The following girls made and collected the amounts opposite their names aside from their regular studies:

Miss Melissa Thornton,	$1.50
" Mary E. Jones,	3.50
" Jessie Hamilton,	2.50
" Lillian Seale,	3.00
" Pattie Nelson,	2.20
" Pearl Smilie,	35
" Rhoda Latham,	5.75
" Ella Garner,	2.00
" Mamie Guy,	6.50
" Mamie Beck,	90
" Mattie Rhodes,	2.00
" Lillie Savage,	1.00
" Lucie Leeper,	1.50
" Nan Pickett.	1.50
" Annie Echols,	2.00
" Hettie Barnett,	2.00
" Lena Nichols,	4.00
" Maxie Snow,	1.95
" Lillie Thomas,	35
" Margaret Hamilton,	35
" Ethel Saunders,	3.00
" Wilma Saunders,	2.00
" Anastasia Pittman,	2.00
" Lena Young,	1.75
" Ellie Ellis,	75
" Price Cockran,	25
" Kate Graham,	25
" Bessie Allen,	7.70
" Kate Kroell,	1.50
" Ida Reynolds,	1.00
" Gertrude Nicholson,	1.00
" Mittie Gray,	4.45
" Madge Watts,	2.50
" Beuna Vista Robinson,	3.00
	$76 00
Amount received for work during suspension,	42 00
Total amount earned,	$118 00

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

Mr. Lafayette Lucas and family, of Maylene, attended church here Sunday.

Sheriff E. F. Vest, of Columbiana, passed through town Tuesday en route to Gurnee.

Messrs. Henry and W. E. Harrison went up to Pelham Sunday to see their friends, etc.

Quite a crowd attended the singing given by Mr. and Mrs. James Lucas on the 3rd inst.

Messrs. Newton Eddings, Sr., and Henry Johnson, of Ebenezer, passed through this place Tuesday.

Dr. H. W. Harrison has several sick patients on his list, and we hope for them a speedy recovery.

Rev. J. D. Martin, of Bessemer, delivered quite an interesting sermon at the Baptist church last Sunday.

Messrs. Sam Stamps and Walter Harrison, of Belle Eilen, spent Sunday in town with friends and relatives.

Messrs. Henry Davidson, J. D. Stripling and others went out to Cahaba river Monday on a fishing expedition.

X. Y. & Z.

Milk for Sale.

Sweet milk, 10 cents per quart, butter milk, 10 cents per gallon, at MRS D. W. SHIVERS'.

McKinley's message to congress —nothing.

JOB PRINTING.

LETTER-HEADS,
NOTE-HEADS,
BILL-HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
CIRCULARS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS, Etc.,
Done in first-class style on short notice, at the

NEWS : OFFICE.

State of Alabama, Shelby County

OSCAR WHITFIELD, et als, Complainant, vs. ALABAMA IRON & STEEL CO. et als, Defendant. } In Chancery, Sixth District, North-Eastern Chancery Division.

In this cause, it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of W. S. Cary, agent for complainants, that the defendants, Carrie S. Plumb, who resides in Emporia, State of Kansas; George I. Seney, resides in the city of New York, State of New York; M S. Pomeroy resides in the city of Washington, District of Columbia; Justin A. Morrill resides in the State of Vermont; Samuel Thomas resides in the State of Pennsylvania; C. S. Brice resides in the State of Ohio, and that the Central Trust Company has its place of business in the City of New York, State of New York, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendants are over the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the MONTEVALLO NEWS, a newspaper published in the city of Montevallo, Ala., once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring them, the said Carrie S. Plumb, George I. Seney, M. S. Pomeroy, Justin A. Morrill, Samuel Thomae, C. S. Brice, the Central Trust Company, a body corporate, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 28th day of April, A. D., 1898. or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

Done at office, in Columbiana, this 26th day of March, A. D., 1898.

J. R WHITE,
Register.

Mch24-4t.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. F. F. Crowe & Co.

H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

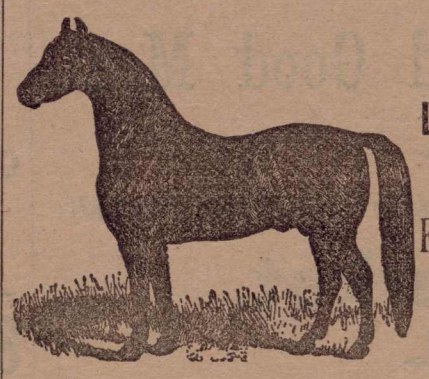
Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,
Manager.

☞Office at Store.

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

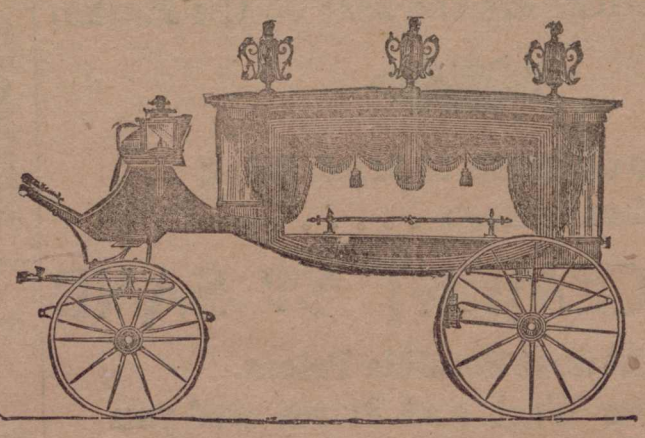
To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

Tho Leading Druggists.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

Don't Eat Biscuits
When You Can Get Good Bread

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant
Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep .....

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.
Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College

AND

COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.
SPLENDID BUILDING.
GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.
FIVE INSTRUCTORS.
VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman
NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President. POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free.

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.

Blocton, Ala.

—Manufacturers of all kinds of—

BROOMS

—AND—

BRUSHES.

Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty.

Write for Prices,

Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,

P. O. Box 353, - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S
LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses
The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.

Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

---

JONES
HE
PAYS the FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales,
Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

This would be a comparatively happy world if everybody knew the virtues of SMITH'S BILE BEANS as a family medicine, and acted upon that knowledge. One half the misery of the world comes from ailments which arise from a bad stomach or a bad liver. Chiefest among these are dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache and Neuralgia.

BILE BEANS will cure all of these, besides all miasmatic diseases. Dose: One Bean.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Probate Judge

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 21, '98. NO 15.

The Meaning of Alabama.

Mobile Register.

There has always been a dispute regarding the meaning of the name of this state. The name itself is derived from the Alabamos trite of Indians, a branch of the Muscogee or Creek tribe, either by blood relationship or by conquest or subsequent adoption by the Creeks, and there is a popular legend that the name was taken from an expression used by the chief of the tribe upon the entry of the tribe upon the lands now called by this name. Finding the land good, and the climate inviting, the chief is said to have exclaimed, "Here we rest." From this the tribe came to be called the Alabamos.

This story has been objected to on the ground that it is not reasonable that a tribe should change its name because of such an incident in its history. It must have had a name at the time of its migration, and a name rendered dear to the tribe by its wanderings, if by no other experience. Besides, the students of the language fail to agree that this word has the precise meaning tradition gives it. Gatschet, for example, translates it to mean "wood clearers," deriving the name from two Choctaw words.

Anything that aids to our meagre store of information on this subject is acceptable, and now we have offered us something additional. It is reported by Dabney White, in a letter to the Houston Post. He tells of the remnant of the tribe of the Alabamos now living in Polk county, Texas, which people preserve their language, traditions and many of their ancient practices. It appears from Dabney's letter that a woman missionary, named Sylvestine, has lived for many years with the tribe, and has collected a vocabulary of the Alabamos language. She speaks the tongue well, and is said to be well acquainted with their history and traditions. Dabney says he aided the missionary in the preparation of the vocabulary and nowhere in the language could be found a word or combination of words sounding like Alabama that could be twisted into the meaning "Here we rest." In the absence of other evidence, it is thought more reliance can be put upon the tradition now held by the tribe on the subject than upon that which has been handed down through medium of the whites. The Indians say they derive their name from a peculiarity of the tribe—the celebration of the mulberry festival, a custom not observed by any other tribe. In their language the combination of the words "ale beheamo" literally means "people that gather mulberries." From this combination the word "Alabama" is derived. To substantiate their belief, it is generally known that every Indian tribe gets its name from some idiosyncracy of its members. Thousands of mulberry trees are in their home village in Texas, and they are cherished with more devotion than we cherish the survivors of the ancient "cedars of Lebanon."

This evidence is not conclusive of the question raised, but it is of more than usual interest, as bearing directly upon it, and, perhaps, making easier its final solution.

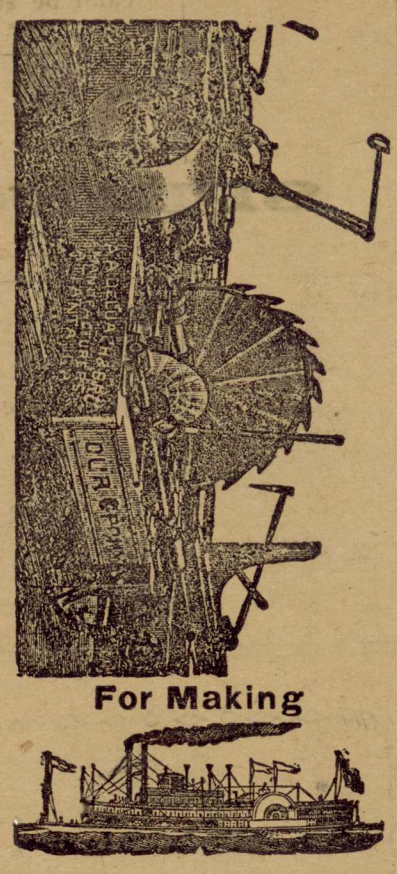
IKE SNOT'S AXIOMS.

Der feller dat is disappointed unless he is disappointed won't have de blues.

So long as a feller's kin air poor, he ignores the relationship, but ef dey air wealthy, he bores them with the appellation uv "Cousin."

Some fellers dat pick dair teeth wid a broom straw at home will raise more sand at a hotel than a frequenter uv Delmonico's ef de hostess don't pass de toothpicks.

De miser is a wart on de camera uv civilization.



For Making

Uncle Sam's Latest Order

A Few of the Things

WE

WILL NEED

WHEN

WE GO TO WAR

With Spain.

MORGAN BROS. .. .. ..

KEEP IN FRONT.

Their Low Prices Sell Their Goods.

A Ten Thousand Dollar Stock to Select From!

Largest Assortment of Spring Dress Goods

IN TOWN.

Follow the Crowd and You Will Go to

MORGAN BROS.,

The Up-to-Date Merchants.

Keep One Eye on Montevallo,

The Other on Morgan Bros.

Support Hon. E. S. LYMAN

For Our Next Representative.

MAPLESVILLE.

The Southern is remodeling and fmprovfng its depot at this place, and will put in a telegraph office. The depot will also be repainted. All of which caused our town philosopher to remark that the Southern railroad was like a gossip—good at making something out of nothing.

The M. & O. depot is now complete, and will have a wire and agent put in this week. This depot is a daisy and modern in all respects, and speaks well for the generosity of our new railway.

The M. & O. is now complete to a point just beyond Prattville, and many of our boys are taking advantage of same by visiting their best girls in our sister city. But our girls are retaliating by having beaus from Prattville.

Mr. Lawrence's new ginnery is now nearing completion, and will be modern in all respects. His new store and ginnery are quite an addition to our town.

Our townsman, Mobeck, has returned to Thorsby, our Swedish colony in this county.

Sturdivant's restaurant is quite the fad here now, and his bill of fare catches the railroad boys.

Mr. Crumpton is now getting his store in shape again, and is taking a breathing spell since the railroad rush is over here. He says rest is mighty nice after a tremendous year's work. His clerk also enjoys a little rest and recreation.

War talk is plentiful, but volunteers are scarce.

Our prayermeetings and Sunday school are progressing favorably, and the Sunday school was treated to an able Biblical lecture on Sunday morning by the talented young Dr. Davis.

Several of our Randolph friends were visitors here Sunday and Monday.

Wonder why one of our boys was singing "Better late than never" Monday morning? He did not look disappointed, either. Probably the following poem, stolen from his letter box, will throw some light on the above query:

FATE.

All last week I pouted
Because my girl and I had outed.
At times I was sad,
At times I was mad.

And then again I was neither,
But liable unheralded to change back to either:
And all because the one (hoped for bride)
With me had refused to ride.

At the time love for another was the cause I believed,
But her sis said I was deceived,
For that was not the reason, [son.
And if I so said again I'd be guilty of trea-

So to see her last night I hied,
My heart full of (try to be) hate;
But getting there late and aided by fate
Her scolding was averted.
But still I am content,
And my garbs have not yet rent,
Nor have I to her her picture sent.
4-18-98.

Probably some of our young folk will recognize the parties from the poem. It sounds much like our lovesick swain.

Success to town and county news, all of which are condensed in your valuable paper by its enterprising management.

THE DUDE.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Methodist Sunday School, Dr. D. L Wilkinson, superintendent; C. C. Vandegrift, secretary.

April 17: Officers and teachers present, 13; scholars present, 114; total, 127; on roll, 160; visitors, 0; collection, $1.73.

Baptist Sunday School, Will Lyman, superintendent; J H. McMath, secretary.

April 17: Scholars present, 103; scholars absent, 67; officers and teachers present, 17; officers and teachers absent, 3; visitors present, 3; total, 120. Collection, $1.54.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, April 21, '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Glirs; four churches afiord ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little money hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subjects of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. S. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—B. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

When will we have a president in the chair?

NOTICE!

Just as soon as troops are called to the front, I expect to enlist, and will leave my paper in the hands of my compositor, G. D. Mitchell.

CLIFTON NEWTON.

How long, oh, Lord, how long will it be thus?

Mark says there will be no war. McKinley ditto.

Hanna has shown to the world who is president.

Where will the lightning strike Mc for the second term?

You can count on the Shelby Tigers in the event of war with Spain.

The lower end of Main street needs grading. The News will receive subscriptions for the work.

War seems to be inevitable. The South will gain fresh laurels, and no one will doubt the reunited union.

"A government of the people, by the people and for the people" is busted so far as the U. S. is concerned.

A figure-head in the presidential chair, controlled by a gambling syndicate, is rather tough on a proud people.

We are not in favor of war, but we are in favor of a government that has a nationa pride and upholds it at all cost.

With the stars and stripes trailed in the dust, how can an American hold up his head with the usual Yankee pride abroad?

Every patriotic citizen who desires to join the army, will please leave their names with the editor of the News, as he thinks Montevallo should organize a company at once and be ready to go to the front.

Just as we go to press, the latest war news is that the Spanish minister has been recalled from Washington, and that by next Monday everything will be in fighting order. Troops are now being mobilized along the coast, getting ready for battle.

Hon. Hector D. Lane died at his home in Athens, Ala., on the 19th inst., at 10 o'clock a. m. Mr. Lane suffered a stroke of paralysis some months ago, from which he never recovered. He served two terms as commissioner of agriculture, was president of the Cotton Growers' association, and was an extensive farmer and stock raiser. He was 48 years old at the time of his death.

The young girl who set fire to the buildings of the Industrial Institute and College for girls at Columbus, Miss., because she wanted to go home, was allowed to go home and escape prosecution on the ground that her mind was unbalanced. It would be generosity to attribute imbecility to the full-fledged politicians of the state who are trying to destroy the college through means more legal than arson, but whose efforts to do so are based upon ideas no more sane than those of the unfortunate girl who applied the torch.—Mobile Register.

SCHOOL NOTES.

This is a dull week.

***

Where will you go vacation?

***

School out the first of June.

***

How do you like physical culture?

***

My brother has gone to Hav—ana, Cuba.

***

Girls are studying hard for examination.

***

The commencement exercises will be grand.

***

President Reynolds has gone to Montgomery.

***

The girls are making their commencement dresses.

***

The broom brigade will sail for Cuba in about six weeks.

***

The millinery department is selling hats all over the State.

***

Secretary Gibson will visit the Lone Star State after commencement.

***

Miss Evans' cooking class are the favorites, especially when they have ice cream.

***

There may be others, but the Alabama Polytechnical Institute at Montevallo is good enough for me.

***

Have you heard anything about those beautiful singers singing "Hot times in the old town to evening?"

Intelligent Cotton Mill Labor.

One of the main reasons given by the New England cotton manufacturers for not transferring their operations to the South is that labor in this section does not come up to the high standard of intelligence and skill which characterizes the labor of New England operatives.

Strikingly at variance with this reason for not availing themselves of the immense advantages which the South offers, is the following letter written by one of the Fall River operatives and addressed to the Manufacturers' Record. Says the operative:

Dear sir i Am i am not Aguinted with the south Anv way what so ever if i was I culd answer your letter but as it is i dont see How i can At this time not nowing Anithing About the places i Have worked in the mill since i was 8 years old now i am just abour turn 40 i am in want of a supt Position i Have worked in every room in the mlll prity much can Do My work i have second Handed & Overseere And bin supt ten for 8 years and i am lookin for Just such a position you writing Me in regard too the south that is a place that i shuld like to look Over sum time there may bee something there that May be ofeum survis too Me dont no shure if your people nows Of anithing in My line i shuld be very Glad to Have them to bar me in Mind if there shuld be anithing i shall Bar you in mind Hopiug i shall be Able to ansure you leters sum day later On if i shuld go south i wanted under stud that i Am Just as good a Manufacture too day as i Hever was up with the times and everything pertaining a cotton mill Hoping i shall Here from you soon Very truly yours.

Hoping that you Will do what ever you cad for me thrug your papers And what ever wire pulling you May Have With aney one i can refer you to any supt Or tres in fall river Nety Machine Masons Mac Whitins Machine or Drapers at Ope dale or William Walsh at Drapers any of these you or aney one els can Write to them About sober Man never was drunk in my life sir these men Now me all of them.

Of course this letter is not published as a specimen of the attainments of the average operator in the New England cotton mills. Most of the operatives employed in these mills are undoubtedly much further advanced than the one in question; but coming as it does just at this time, the foregoing letter is not without its amusing interest.

Children and adults tortured by burns, scalds, injuries, eczema or skin diseases may secure instant relief by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is the great Pile remedy, F. F. Crowe & Co.

Subscribe for the News.

Morgan Bros.

☞Have all kinds of SUITS. If they can't suit you, you can't be suited.

SPRING SUITS.

☞Call and see our Spring Suits at prices that will surprise you. We don't talk. We sell goods, and a lot of them,

MORGAN BROS.,
Leaders in Low Prices.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go
To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. Monnor, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mr. Eugene Reynolds, of Blocton, was in town the first of the week.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

For Sale.—A good typewriter for $25 00. Apply at the News office.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. Crowe.

Several of our young men attended the double wedding at Boothton Sunday.

J. W. Martin, Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

Capt. Henry A. Tayloe, of Gallion, Ala., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. D. W. Shivers.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

Our Maplesville correspondent is evidently in love. Read his poem elsewhere

Mr. Henry Lyman, of Birmingham, is visiting his brothers, Messrs. E. S. and Will Lyman.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

Dr. E. G. Givhan left Tuesday for Birmingham, to attend the State Medical Association.

Hon. E. S. Lyman left Tuesday for Montgomery, to attend the State Democratic Convention.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds went to Montgomery yesterday to attend the State Democratic Convention.

Mr. S. S. Allen spent several days in Blocton this week on business for H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Burgess Little visited his parents at Blocton Saturday evening and returned Monday morning.

Mrs. L. H. Lyman left a few days ago for Birmingham, on a visit to the family of her son, H. D. Lyman.

Don't annoy others by your coughing, and risk your life by neglecting a cold. One Minute Cough Cure cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

For Rent.—The building formerly occupied by Newton & Nolen. For terms apply at the News office.

Mr. T J. Williams, of Selma, a former resident of Montevallo, is spending a few days with his old friends.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

The Western Union will open an office up town about the first of May, and Capt. D. W. Shivers will handle the keys.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

Mr. W. Canterberry is going to add another story to his residence. Bids are now out, and several mechanics are figuring on it.

Whooping cough is the most distressing malady; but its duration can be cut short by the use of One Minute Cough Cure, which is also the best known remedy for croup and all lung and bronchial troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

If Burgess will practice every evening, we think he will make a good buglist by the time war is declared with Spain.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

Dr. F. F. Crowe has purchased from Mr. T. J. Williams a lot 91 feet front, and will erect a nice residence on it. The lot is between the residence of D. C. Savage and Jacksonville.

A thrill or terror is experienced when a brassy cough of croup sounds through the house at night. But the terror soon changes to relief after One Minute Cough Cure has been administered. Safe and harmless for children. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Found.—In the News building, in a room adjoining our composing room, about four dozen window blinds, which the owner can have by proving property and paying for this notice.

We are to have a telephone line this summer. We are informed that a long distance telephone line will run from Birmingham to Montgomery, and will come by Montevallo. Good news, if true.

What pleasure is there in life with a headache, constipation and biliousness? Thousands experience them who could become perfectly healthy by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mr. I. D. Hix, of Aldrich, was in town yesterday, and gave us a pleasant call. Mr. Hix informed us that he would in a short time add a nice line of furniture to his undertaking business.

Mr. C. L. Meroney attended the meeting of the Grand Lodge K. of H. at Mobile last week, and reports having had a most excellent time. He is loud in his praise of the Mobile people for their hospitality.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mr. Elisha Fancher, of Ashby. He went to Selma last week to have an operation performed for ulcer of the head. It will be several months before he is entirely well.

Mr. R. E. Dill left last Saturday for Bessemer, where he gees to seek employment. Mr. Dill is a clever, sober, industrious and accommodating gentleman, and we cheerfully recommend him to the good people of Bessemer. We wish him success wherc'er his lot may be cast.

There are three little things which do more work than any other three little things created—they are the ant, the bee and DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the last being the famous little pills for stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mr. Charlton Smith, of Brierfield, informed us a few days ago that Capt. H. C. Reynolds had deeded to him the lot adjoining W. B. Reynoids, on condition that he would build a nice residence on said lot. Mr. Smith will erect a $2,000 residence on his lot in the near future.

Our office was graced Monday afternoon by the presence of two beautiful and lovely young ladies, who were anxious to see how type were set and how the paper was printed. We are always glad to have the young ladies call, and will take pleasure in showing them around whenever they come. If they wish to see the press at work, we would advise them to come on Thursdays.

A DOUBLE WEDDING.

Married, on Sunday, 17th inst., at Boothton, by Rev. Isaac Walker, of Green Pond, Mr. Bamie Booth and Miss Millie Howard; also Mr. Chris Harmon and Miss Leila Booth. The News extends hearty congratulations to the happy young couples, and wishes for them long, happy and prosperous lives.

"Capt. Jack" Mills, an itinerant printer, from "most any old place," gave us a call Friday and remained until Sunday morning. We found Capt. Jack to be a very interesting gentleman. He had letters in his possession showing that he had seen better days. About twelve years ago he settled in Florida and invested his all in a home and an orange grove. The freeze of 93 94 killed all of his trees, and he was again forced to return to his trade. He was a Texas ranger for a long time, and while in that capacity he started his graveyard, having killed four men. He showed us a number of scars on his body, made by bullets, knives and Indian arrows. He suffers a great deal at times yet from the effects of a bullet in his right lung, which he says has been there for twenty-one years. He left Sunday morning for Selma, and said if he did not get work there, he would go on to "just any old place."

After years of untold suffering from piles, B W Pursell, of Knituersville, Pa., was cured by using a single box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Skin diseases, such as eczema, rash, pimples and obstinate sores are readily cured by this famous remedy. F. F. Crowe & Co.

On Suuday evening last, tired of sitting around our office, we took a walk to the cemetery, and are ashamed to say we found this hallowed spot in a very dilapidated condition. Some of the tombstones have fallen down, some of the small enclosures have rotted down, many of the graves are sadly neglected, some of the fence needs repairing to keep hogs out, and the whole place needs a general cleaning up. As next Tuesday, the 26th inst., is memorial day, we would suggest that all having loved ones buried in the Montevallo cemetery meet at that place Saturday morning about 8 or 9 o'clock, bringing hoes, rakes, brooms, hammers, nails, etc., and spend the day in cleaning off and beautifying the graves of those who were dear to us in life. Though dead, they should not be forgotten, and their last resting place ought never to be neglected. Although we haven't any relatives buried here, we will gladly lend a helping hand and assist others. We hope to see a good crowd turn out Saturday. Don't one wait for another, if you do, nobody will come. All who intend going will please leave their names at the News office.

G. W. Shackelford, D. D. S., will be in Montevallo April 25th, and will remain for three days only. Dr. Shackelford is well known here as a first-class dentist, and those desiring good work will do well to give him a call.

A SUBSCRIBER

SEND IN YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS, ALONG WITH THE DOLLAR, AND

THE NEWS

WILL BE SENT YOU EVERY WEEK FOR

ONE YEAR,

JOB PRINTING.

LETTER-HEADS,
NOTE-HEADS,
BILL-HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
CIRCULARS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS, Etc.,
Done in first-class style on short notice, at the

NEWS : OFFICE,

State of Alabama, Shelby County.

Oscar Whitfield, et als, Complainant, vs. Alabama Iron & Steel Co. et als, Defendant. } In Chancery, Sixth District, North-Eastern Chancery Division.

In this cause, it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of W. S. Cary, agent for complainants, that the defendants, Carrie S. Plumb, who resides in Emporia, State of Kansas; George I. Seney, resides in the city of New York, State of New York; M S. Pomeroy resides in the city of Washington, District of Columbia; Justin A. Morrill resides in the State of Vermont; Samuel Thomas resides in the State of Pennsylvania; C. S. Brice resides in the State of Ohio, and that the Central Trust Company has its place of business in the City of New York, State of New York, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendants are over the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Montevallo News, a newspaper published in the city of Montevallo, Ala., once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring them, the said Carrie S. Plumb, George I. Seney, M. S. Pomeroy, Justin A. Morrill, Samuel Thomae, C. S. Brice, the Central Trust Company, a body corporate, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 28th day of April, A. D., 1898, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

Done at office, in Columbiana, this 26th day of March, A. D., 1898.

J. R WHITE,
Register.

Mch24-4t.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. F. F. Crowe & Co.

H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

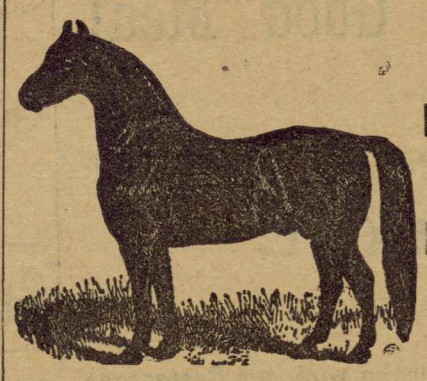
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

Office at Store. Manager.

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

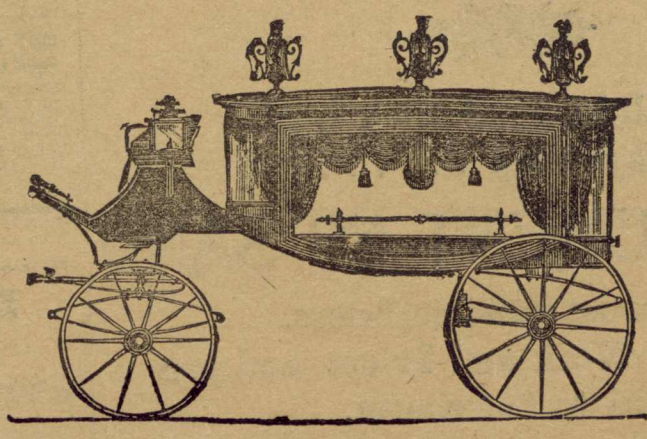
To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

Tho Leading Druggists.



I. D. HIX,

The People's Undertaker.

COFFINS AND CASKETS, all styles, FROM $5 UP.

ALDRICH, ALA.

Don't Eat Biscuits

When You Can Get Good Bread

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

DO YOU EAT?

If So, You Need Good Meat.

You Will Find Everything You Need at the City Market.

We buy Country Produce in Connection with our Restaurant
Meals at all hours.

NEWTON, NOLEN & CO.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Do You Want Bricks?

WELL, WE MAKE THEM.

BANKS BROS.'

Hand-Made Bricks are the Best on the Market

We do all kinds of Brick Work and always keep .....

LIME, CEMENT AND SAND

At Lowest Possible Prices.
Examine our Work and Prices and you Will be Convinced.

BANKS BROS.

OWNERS OF MONTEVALLO BRICK YARD,

Montevallo, Alabama.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College

AND

COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.
SPLENDID BUILDING.
GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.
FIVE INSTRUCTORS.
VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar .

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Get Fixed and Stay Fixed . .

Have a Practical Workman Do Your Work.

D. J. MORELAND

Can Repair Anything from a Bicycle to a Steam Engine. . .

He Does all Kinds of Wood Work.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Don't forget that D. J. Moreland is the man. His shop is back of the bank. Try him. Low prices, good work.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman

NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President. POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free.

LANIER BROOM MFG. CO.

Blocton, Ala.

—Manufacturers of all kinds of—

BROOMS

—AND—

BRUSHES.

Hearth and Whisk Brooms a Specialty.

Write for Prices.

Lanier Broom M'f'g. Co.,

P. O. Box 353. - BLOCTON, ALA.

Do You Know

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses
The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.

Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

---

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The Liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All druggists.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 28, '98. NO 16.

WHO WILL WIN
4 Free Scholarships

TO BE AWARDED BY

Eastman Business College

The Best Practical School in America.

To the Four Persons Who Secure the Largest Number of Votes in the Contest Explained Below.

Get Your Friends to Subscribe for the News and Secure a Free Scholarship.

The next thirteen issues of THE MONTEVALLO NEWS will undoubtedly be of increased interest to every young lady and gentleman in Shelby county who is ambitious to get a good start in business life.

We have just concluded an arrangement whereby we are enabled to offer to each of four young persons a free scholarship in the celebrated Eastman Business College, Poughkeepsie, New York, the N. Y. Business Institute, 125th street, New York City, or the National Correspondence Schools through which they give instruction by mail. These institutions are known in every section of the world. Their graduates are thoroughly equipped for business pursuits, and are numbered by tens of thousands. They are found in every city and in almost every county and village in the United States. The courses of study given are short, inexpensive, practical and useful, and afford a better training for business than can be had in any other school.

The NEWS thus affords a grand opportunity to the struggling young man or woman of to-day who is seeking an education. This paper takes the lead in affording to the young people of this community a chance for culture and progress, and believes that its proposition to give a thorough business education free will reap its reward in the hearty approval of the people of Montevallo. There are always among our readers a number of young people who would like to study BOOK-KEEPING, SHORTHAND, TYPEWRITING, TELEGRAPHY, and such other studies as are embraced in the courses of instruction offered. Eastman Business College has attained a wider reputation for excellence than any other school of business ever established, and this alone makes one of its scholarships well worth striving for. Each certificate is good for either personal or correspondence instruction, and may be used at any time the holder wishes to take advantage of it within the next two years. The scholarships, three of which include the necessary books, are also transferable; and if a young man or woman should win one of them and not be able to use it, the certificate might be sold.

$110—IN FREE SCHOLARSHIPS—$110.

The following statement by Mr. Clement C. Gaines, President of the College, explains what the different scholarships are and what their value is as prizes.

$37—FIRST PRIZE—$37.

A $35 SCHOLARSHIP—BOOKS, $2.

Good for a term of twelve weeks personal instruction (at the College) in the ACADEMIC, BUSINESS, SHORTHAND, TYPEWRITING, TELEGRAPH, and PENMANSHIP departments, and $2 for complete Shorthand books. If the student prefer, Instruction by Mail in Bookkeeping and Shorthand of the same value will be given.

$32—SECOND PRIZE—$32.

A $30 SCHOLARSHIP—BOOKS, $2.

Good for a complete course in Shorthand (with books $2) including Principles with practical work in Correspondence and Reporting, instruction exclusively by mail; or personal instruction of the same value (limited to ten weeks) in any department of the College, with our Simplified Shorthand Instructor $2.

$25—THIRD PRIZE—$25.

A $25 SCHOLARSHIP.

Good for a complete course in Bookkeeping (without books) including both Single and Double entry, principles and practical work, instruction by mail; or personal instruction of the same value (limited to eight weeks) in any department of the College, without books.

$16—FOURTH PRIZE—$16.

A $15 SCHOLARSHIP—LESSON PAPERS, $1

Good for a term of ten weeks, correspondence instruction, in Shorthand, including lesson papers but no books; or personal instruction of the same value (limited to five weeks) in any department of the College, without books.

These prizes are easily obtained and the four young persons who make the most telling efforts and appeal to their friends for help will win them. The NEWS wants to add 1000 subscribers to its list within the next three months. To accomplish this end it offers the scholarships to the four ladies or gentlemen who secure the greatest number of votes in our which is started to-day and will close with the last issue of the NEWS for August, 1898. Every ballot cut from this paper counts one vote. Certificates for votes acquired by new subscriptions and renewals will be issued with ballot annexed, which must be filled out and forwarded to be counted. No votes except those written on the printed ballots cut from the columns of this paper or those allowed for subscription and renewals will be counted. Extra copies of the NEWS may be obtained at 5 cents per copy.

EASTMAN COLLEGE CONTEST

Votes Allowed for Subscriptions.

For every new subscription or renewal for a year, accompanied by $1 in cash, one hundred votes will be given.

For every six months subscription or renewal, paying 50 cents, fifty (50) votes will be given.

For a three months subscription or renewal, paying 25 cents, twenty-five (25) votes will be given.

All subscriptions will be stopped when time paid for expires, unless ordered continued.

Commissions Paid.

As the NEWS allows a commission on all subscriptions and renewals obtained, all persons who enter the contest for one of the prizes will have an opportunity to earn some money by this means. The ballot printed below will entitle the bearer to one vote in the contest. If you wish to vote cut it out and write the name and address of your candidate on it and forward it to Mr. B. F. Crabbe, Montevallo, Ala., who will count the votes in the contest, and place them to the credit of the persons whose names they bear. This coupon will be published every week during the contest, as will also a summary of the vote showing the standing of the various candidates to date. No votes will be received or counted at this office.

The following is the form of the ballot. Cut it out, fill in properly the name of your candidate and forward as above directed.

BALLOT.

Good for One Vote

IN THE CONTEST FOR

FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS

EASTMAN

Business College,

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Write plainly the name and address of the person for whom you wish to vote on the dotted lines below:

Name.....

P O.....

County.....State.....

The Competition

Begins from April 28, and the winners of the four prize scholarships will be announced in the first issue of September, 1898. The names of unsuccessful competitors in the contest will also be announced, and every young man or woman who secures as many as five new subscribers for the NEWS, will receive besides commissions a prize of some sort, the exact character of which will be announced later. Thus no one whose success in this work amounts to anything worthy of recognition will go unrewarded, but there will be prizes practically for everybody. So if you do not win one of the educational prizes, you may win something valuable of another kind.

Information concerning commissions will be furnished personally or by mail from this office. Catalogue and other literature of the College may be had by addressing Clement C. Gaines, President, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

TWO WHITE SQUADRONS....

Uncle Sam has them. One is guided by Fighting Bob E. to bombard Havana and run the Spaniards off the earth, and the other guided by

B. F. CRABBE

THE NEW YORK RACKET MAN!

Who is Bombarding High Prices.

Read the List:

Webster's Un. Dictionary, cloth binding. 85c
" " " sheep $1.25
Complete set Shakspeare, cloth binding, 1.49
I can order you any works by any of the prominent authors, such as Shakspeare, Dickens, Scott, Thackery, etc., at one-half price.
Just received, another big line of pictures, at one-half price.
Laces, 1½c and up.
Blueing, per box, 1 to 2c
Hosiery, per pair, 5c and up.
Machine Oil, 4 and 5c
Lawns, 5c and up.
Shoe Polish, 5c and up.
Calicoes, 4 and 5c
Gents' Collars, 10c
Corsets, 22c and up.
Spool Thread—6 Cord, 3c
Ginghams, 5 and 6c
Hair Brushes, 5c and up.
Shaving Brushes, 5c and up.
Slates, 2c and up.
Ladies' Vests, 5c and up.
Stationery 50 per cent below anybody.
White Stay Binding, per doz., 10c up.
Tea Spoons, per set, 3c and up.
Table " " " 3c "
Whisk Brooms, 9c
Towel Rack, 10c
Egg Beaters, 10c
Alarm Clock, 75c
Safety Pins, per dozen, 3c and up.
Spool Silk, 4c
Kid Curlers, 4, 5 and 7c
Curling Irons, 3 and 5c
Crochet Silk, 5c (former price 30c).
5 yards Velveteen Skirt Binding, 10c
4 " " " " " 8c
Side Combs, 5c and up.
Window Shades, 23c and up.
Tinware 25 per cent lower than anyone
Thimbles, each, 1c
Watch, guaranteed for 1 year, 98c
Crochet Hooks, 1 and 2c.
Bay Rum, 5c
Elastic Web, per yard, 3c and up.
Oil Cloth, per yard, 13½, 15 and 16½c
Harps, each, 3c and up.
Hand Saw, 36c
Baby Shoes, per pair, 24c
Fansy Candies uv al kindes.
Ladies' Percale Shirt Waists, 50c
Cedar Pencils, per dozen, 4c and up.
Laces, 1½c and up.
Ladies' Collars, 10c
Ladies' Cuffs, 15c
Clothes Brushes, 10c and up.
Cuff Buttons, 5c and up.
Ladies' Belts, 10c and up.
I hav on hand at al tymes Picture Frames at less than factory costs.
Full line of J K. Orr Shoe Co's "Red Seal Slippers" from 98 to $1.98
Big line Fans. 3c to $1.24
Hooks and Eyes, per card, 1c
Base Balls, 10c to $1.40
Baby Headgear, 24c
Crash, 5c and up.
Indian Head, 8c

Ladies', Misses' and Gents' Shuze loer than the loest. I allso carrie a ful line uv Umbrellas, Parasols, Suspenders, See Island Sheating, Drills, Shirting, Ladies' Slippers, Hats—vool, felt and straw—Ladies' Belts, Ribbons, Percales, Bleeching, Matting, etc. Call on me if U want goods at 50 per cent. less than U can buy them from the old tyme big proffit merchants.

I Guarantee to Save U 25 to 100 per cent. on ennything in the Dry Goods or Notions Line.

Yours for Business,

New York Racket Store,

Vandegrift Old Stand, MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Keep One Eye on Montevallo,

The Other on Morgan Bros.

Support Hon. E. S. LYMAN
For Our Next Representative.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, April 28, '98.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Girls; four churches afford ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized; the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for three months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little money hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subjects of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. S. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—R. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

Subscribe for the News.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F. JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices,
JOHN R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor,
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer,
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chancellor S. E. Chancery Division,
WM. L. PARKS,
of Pike.

THE PLATFORM.

We the democrats of Alabama, in convention assembled, do reaffirm our unalterable faith in the principles declared in our platform, adopted in 1896, and especially in the platform adopted at Chicago, July of the same year, not so much because those platforms were declarations of our party but for the much higher reason that the principles therein announced are the principles upon which the democratic party and the Federal government are foun ed, and because those principles are eternally true.

"We favor the improvement of our public common schools and demand that appropriations for their support be gradually increased as our people are able to bear the additional burden.

"We declare that the principles of the democratic government imperatively require that no person or class of persons shall be privileged from bearing their just share of all the burdens of government, and we therefore commend the action of the present administration in forcing lawfully, all persons to pay their due proportion of taxes for the suppart of the state government, and we favor the amendment of our laws whenever necessary, so as to attain this wise and just end."

This is the year for the Shelby Democrats.

There was very little interest taken in the Populist primaries held here last Saturday. A. P. Longshore defeated G. B. Dean for probate judge by 126 votes. The balance of the ticket is as follows: Circuit clerk, J. P. Pearson; Representative, W. H. Sturdivant; Superintendent of Education, E. Williams.

Editing this paper is a nice business. If we publish jokes people say we are "rattle-headed." If we don't we are an old fossil. If we publish original matter they say we don't give them enough selections. If we give them selections they say we are too lazy to write. If we remain in the office we ought to get out and hustle for "locals"; if we go out then we are not attending to our business. If we don't go to church we are a heathen. If we do then we are a hypocrite. If we wear old clothes they laugh at us; if we wear good ones they say we have a "pull." Now what are we to do? Just as likely as not someone will say we stole this item from our exchanges, and so we did!

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Methodist Sunday School, Dr. D. L. Wilkinson, superintendent; C. C. Vandegrift, secretary.

April 24: Officers and teachers present, 12; scholars present, 114; total, 126: on roll, 160; visitors, 0; collection, $1.93.

Baptist Sunday School, Will Lyman, superintendent; J. H. McMath, secretary.

April 24: Scholars present, 105; scholars absent, 65; officers and teachers present, 17; officers and teachers absent, 3; visitors present, 3; total, 125. Collection, $1.14.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The many friends of Miss Mattie May Barker are glad to welcome her back to school, after quite a seige of illness.

***

Among our visitors this week were Mr. Burgess Little and Mr. Loveman, who visited all the departments.

***

Miss Maggie Mott was delighted by a visit from her two sisters, who spent several days with her last week.

***

Several of our teachers went up to Birmingeam last Thursday to hear James Whitcomb Riley. We regret deeply that we could not have this great genius visit our school.

***

Miss Louise Aiston has resumed her duties as teacher, after a week's illness.

***

Memorial day was observed Tuesday, April 26th, by the program containing articles on Generals Lee and Johnston. Miss Millie Coats gave an account of Alabama's brave soldier, John Pelham, which was much enjoyed by all present.

***

Our morning exercises have been a boon to timid girls. Those who at first approached the rostrum with "fear and trembling," now render their numbers with the greatest composure.

***

The great topics of conversation now, are commencement, commencement dresses, and—examinations.

***

Mrs. Nelson and Miss McComb, with a party of young ladies, enjoyed a picnic at Falling Rock Saturday.

***

Mrs. Babb has promised us a picnic, and when the warm days come we long to enjoy the treat.

***

Mrs. Babb has promised to deliver a lecture to her Bible history class. It will be given Saturday, but we are even willing to give up our Saturday to enjoy such a treat as it promises to be.

***

Miss Wilde, of Chicago, is expected to visit the school this week. While here she will address the school.

***

Should you chance to pass music hall No. 1 and hear unearthly sounds proceeding therefrom, don't be alarmed; it is only Miss Francis exercising her vocal organs.

***

Our President spent several days in Montgomery last week, and while there was the guest of Ex Gov. Oates.

***

In order that our President may overcome his "natural timidity," he is put on the program every week to give us the current news. Last week he gave us an account of his conversation with Hannis Taylor, who has recently returned from Spain. Mr. Taylor had considerable to say about Spanish manners, customs, and affairs in general.

The farmer, the mechanic and the bicycle rider are liable to unexpected cuts and bruises. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to keep on hand. It heals quickly, and is a well known cure for piles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Dr. G. W. Shackelford,
DENTIST.

I take pleasure in announcing to the people of Montevallo and vicinity that, commencing on Monday, May 2, I will practice at Montevallo for one week only.

Bridge Work, Gold and Logan Crowns, best sets of Teeth, gold and other fillings at reasonable prices.

Teeth inserted without plates. children's teeth regulated. Teeth extracted positively without pain. No bad after effects. All work the best known to the dental profession, and fully warranted.

A little boy asked for a bottle of "get up in the morning as fast as you can." The druggist recognized a household name for "DeWitt's Little Early Risers," and gave him a bottle of those famous little pills for constipation, sick headache, liver and stomach troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Morgan Bros.

☞Have all kinds of SUITS. If they can't suit you, you can't be suited.

SPRING SUITS.

☞Call and see our Spring Suits at prices that will surprise you. We don't talk. We sell goods, and a lot of them,

MORGAN BROS.,
Leaders in Low Prices.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

☛To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L. MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance	$1.00
Six months, cash in advance	.50
Three months, cash in advance	.25

LOCAL.

When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Mr. Sam Allen will remain in Blocton this summer.

Girls who like good candy can get it at F. F. Crowe & Co.

J. M. Reynolds, Esq, visited Birmingham Monday.

Prescriptions carefully compounded by F. F. Crowe & Co.

C. C. DuBose, of Columbiana, was in town yesterday.

All toilet articles and choicest perfumery, F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mr. D. C. Savage is spending this week at Maplesville.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

FOR SALE.—A good horse for only $25 00. Apply at News office.

Coroner Dr. J. M. Babb was in town Monday on legal business.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds made a business visit to Birmingham this week.

A big lot of fresh garden seed just received. F. F. CROWE.

Mr. J. M. Armstrong, of Oxford, spent a few days in our town this week.

J. W. Martin. Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

Private Allen, of Oxford, came down to see his friends before leaving for Cuba.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

Mr. William Fauqua, of Brierfield, expects to open a market here in the near future.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

The New York Racket Store has just received a big shipment of beautiful fans. Call and see them.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

Our town is alive with life insurance agents. Now is the time to take out a policy on your life before leaving for Cuba.

You can get more fresh garden seed for less money at F. F. Crowe's than any where else in town.

FOR RENT.—The building formerly occupied by Newton & Nolen. For terms apply at the News office.

Mr. George Kroell says he will pay all of his clerks and drivers who dsire to go to war their regular wages, so long as they do duty.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

Mr. J. N. Campbell, of Blocton. is in town to-day. Mr. Campbell says two companies are being formed at Blocton, preparatory to going to the front.

In the election of officers at the late Sunday School Convention at Birmingham, our townsman, Dr. D L. Wilkinson, was unanimously elected alternate orator.

The citizens of Montevallo are petitioning the county commissioners for a new road to Aldrich; said road to run the way the path now goes, thus cutting off at least one mile.

The Birmingham News complimented Dr. D. L. Wilkinson very highly on the paper he read before the Sunday School Convention recently held in that city.

TO MY PATRONS.

I wish to state that I have retired from the bakery business, and have rented my oven to Mr. George Tompkins, who will in future conduct the business. I thank my friends for their patronage, and ask a continuance of the same for my successor.

I think I have furnished Montevallo with a first-class baker, and also a first-class butcher, and hope the good people will appreciate this fact and patronize these gentlemen.

Respectfully,
T. A. BEST.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. H. Clay Fancher, one of our oldest citizens, died very suddenly at his residence in this place last Monday night about 12 o'clock. He had been confined to his bed for several days with an attack of grip, and was getting along nicely, and expected to sit up Tuesday. But in the moment of victory the disease attacked his heart and carried him away in the twinkling of an eye. He was 56 years old at the time of his death. He leaves a widow and six children, most of whom are grown. The remains were carried to Carleton Hill cemetery yesterday and there interred with masonic honors. The News extends sympathy to the bereaved family in their hour of trouble.

A CASE OF INFANTICIDE.

On Thursday evening of last week the body of a dead infant was found near Shoal Creek. A dog belonging to Mr. M. C. Banks found the body in the creek and had brought it ashore. Mr. George Lawrence made the discovery, and immediately reported the find, and soon a crowd had gathered to witness the ghastly sight. The body was left in charge of Henry Allen, colored, until Friday, when Esq. James Ozley empanneled a jury and held an inquest over the body. Drs. Givhan and Acker were present at the inquest, and made a very close examination of the child. In their examination they dissected out one of the infant's lungs and demonstrated very conclusively to the jury that the child was not prematurely born, that it had breathed, and that it had met its death by being drowned. After the coroner and jury heard the decision of the doctors, they spent considerable time in gathering testimony as to who was the guilty party. It seems from all the testimony gathered, that the child belonged to a negro woman, who resided near the depot, and had been thrown into the millpond, between town and the depot, by its mother. It also developed in the evidence that there had probably been another case of infanticide in the same family some time ago, and an inquisition was taken in that also. The coroner issued a warrant for murder in one case and for manslaughter in the other, based upon the verdicts respectively.

The following are the sentiments of some of our citizens on the war question:

George Kroell—"I will go with the Shelby Tigers."

C. C. Vandegrift—"We old Confederates will help fight if needed."

B. F. Crabbe—"I am too busy bombarding high prices; besides, I have to look out for the widow."

J. A. F. Pynor—"I am too old to be of much service, but will go if necessary, if I can't do anything else but keep the boys' shoes patched."

F. F. Crowe—"I can't leave the post-office."

Alex. A. Wall—"I can't leave the drummers."

C. L. Meroney—"I haven't lost any Spaniards, but will be there if needed."

Major Strong keeps quiet.

Fred Reynolds—"I am not hunting war."

R. T. Newton—"I am too large to fight, but will go if Uncle Sam can use me."

J. W. Martin—"Let the light heads go first."

F. W. Rogan—"I am not aching to go."

Capt. H. C. Reynolds has not been heard from.

Burgess Little—"Am busy. Can't leave the bank."

S. A. Lasham—"I will go when Spaniards are invading this country."

We did not dream the above but heard it; therefore its kerrect.

Mr. B. F. Crabbe, the hustling proprietor of the New York Racket Store, recently received the following order, and handed the seme to us for publication:

DADEVILLE, ALA., 4-23 98.

B. F. CRABBE, ESQ.,
Montevallo, Ala.:

Dear Sir—Enclosed find M. O. for 2 cents, for which please send us two suits of military uniforms, two toy guns, 1 oz powder (smokeless) and 3 loads No. 6 shot. We want to "fite" Spaniards at once Please send by next freight and greatly oblige, HOWLE & NELSON.

(Jas. T.) (M. P.)

A Story of the Battlefield of Chickamauga.

On a stormy night in November about the year 1825. an emigrant from North Carolina on his way to Tennessee camped at an Indian village in North Georgia near where the famous battle of Chickamauga was fought in 1863, on the ground now constituting the Chickamauga-Chattanooga National Military Park.

In this emigrant's family was a girl just approaching womanhood. During the night this girl was attacked with violent pains. An old squaw saw the girl's suffering, detected the cause, retired to her wigwam and selecting some herbs made a tea which was given the sufferer. Relief from pain followed and the girl's menses appeared for the first time. The grateful mother of the girl begged of the squaw a quantity of the herbs, and among them found some seeds which she planted at her new home in Tennessee. These herbs were raised by this family and their descendants from year to year for several generations, and gained a local reputation as a cure for menstrual derangements of women.

In the year 1880 the Chattanooga Medicine Co., manufacturers of Thedford's Black-Draught, the great remedy for liver, stomach, bowel and kidney diseases, secured control of the herbs that had descended from stock procured from the squaw and commenced the manufacture from them of what is now known as McElree's Wine of Cardui. This pure vegetable wine now has a world-wide reputation and has proved to be almoet a specific in the cure of all diseases peculiar to women. It is sold extentively in every state aud territory of the Union, and in some foreign countries. and is enthusiastically endorsed by leading physicians, prominent druggists and chemists and thousands of the best women of America.

Children like it, it saves their lives. We mean One Minute Cough Cure, the infallible remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Seltzer Phosphate

Has received more high class endorsements and testimonials of merit, than any other headache and nerve remedy.

The Greatest Quick ure for Headache Ever Discovered.

Read what prominent people, whom you know personally, say about our great remedy:

"We take great pleasure in saving that we have been using Williams' "Seltzer Phosphate" for a long time, and find it superior to all other remedies for what it is recommended."—S. E. Greene, Judge Criminal Court of Jefferson county; Frank P. O'Brien, Sheriff of Jefferson county; Robert J. Lowe, City Attorney: C. F, Enslen, Banker; Rev. S. L. Handley, Central Presbyterian Church; Jas. J. Banks, Judge Circuit Court.

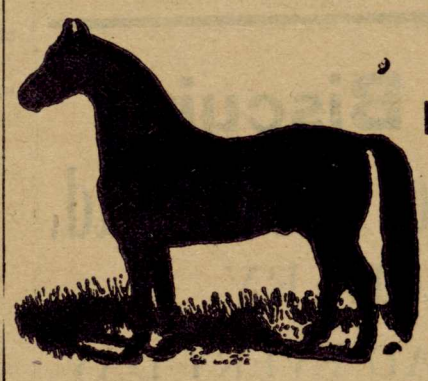
Dr. J. B. Luckie gives the first testimonial he ever offered for a proprietary medicine to Williams' Seltzer Phosphate.

For sale by your local druggist, or sent by mail on receipt of 25 cents with instructions.

We have just moved into our new quarters at 2028 First Ave., where we carry the largest and most complete line of drugs and druggists specialties on the market. Mail orders receive prompt attention.

Williams Drug and Chemical Co.
2028 First Ave., Birmingham, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses And Careful Drivers FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,
Office at Store. Manager.

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

The Leading Druggists.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life, it makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1,00 at the drug store.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

WINE OF CARDUI

H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

The great Family Remedy

No home should be without a bottle of V. V. V., the great specific for all diseases of the blood—a true boon to ailing man and woman. A health and strength restorative of the highest efficacy. V. V. V., a purely vegetable preparation of sterling worth, acts directly on the blood, purifying, renewing and giving new life to every part of the system. Diseases of many years standing quickly succumb to V. V. V.; the ills of the hour are at once rectified, while the system is completely fortified against sickness.

A positive and permanent cure for Scrofula, Tetter, Eczema, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Rheumatism in all its forms and blood poison of any nature. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College

AND

COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE !

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

DUKE CIGARETTES

MADE FROM

High Grade Tobacco

AND

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Don't Eat Biscuits

When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Do You Know

RAMON'S

LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses

The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.

Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman

NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President. POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

EXTRACT

ACID IRON EARTH

NATURE'S OWN REMEDY. TRADE MARK.

Is an aqueous solution of the soluble matter in a miners' earth found in Choctaw county, Ala., near the famous Bladon mineral springs. This earth had great local celebrity as "Rogers' Earth," from the name of the discoverer of the bed or mine, now owned by the Acid Iron Earth Company, of Mobile, Ala.

For Dyspepsia, all derangements of the Digestive Organs and the Liver, Skin Diseases, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Bruises, ACID IRON EARTH is a specific. Rheumatism and other chronic diseases yield to its curative power without fail.

Entirely free from Alcohol or any drug whatever, ACID IRON EARTH fully deserves the words embraced in its trademark, "NATURE'S OWN REMEDY." See free pamphlet, to be had of druggists.

B.B.B. Always Cures.

.....Botanic Blood Balm

The Great Remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Scrofula, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Ulcers, Eczema, Eating and Spreading Sores, Eruptions, and all SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES. Made from the prescription of an eminent physician who used it with marvelous success for 40 years, and its continued use for fifteen years by thousands of grateful people has demonstrated that it is by far the best building up Tonic and Blood Purifier ever offered to the world. It makes new rich blood, and possesses almost miraculous healing properties.

WRITE FOR BOOK OF WONDERFUL CURES, sent free on application.

If not kept by your local druggist, send $1.00 for a large bottle, or $5.00 for six bottles, and medicine will be sent freight paid by

BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

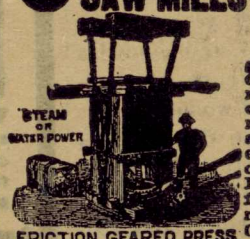
C.A.SNOW & CO.

OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

COLEMAN'S

Cotton Presses, Corn Mills, Coaches, Cars and Saw Mills

With Solid French Burr Stones.



FRICTION GEARED PRESS REQUIRING ONLY ONE BELT

LIST PRICE — $200.

These are the best goods on the market. Guaranteed in every respect. Live Agents offered large inducements. Foundry work and Machinery of every description, including a large line of Engines and Boilers from all the renowned manufactories. Catalogues and Prices on application. Liberal Discounts for Cash.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2.00 per day.

Large sample room free

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

B. W. WRENN, JR.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COMMERCIAL LAW A SPECIALTY. ATLANTA, GEORGIA

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

JONES

HE

PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.

Every size Scale. For free prices and mention this paper and address

JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, MAY 5, '98. NO 17.

DEWEY AND HIS CAPTAINS.

Commodore George Dewey is an old warrior of the navy, who got his christening of fire aboard the old steam sloop Mississippi, under Farragut, in the early days of the civil war. Commodore Dewey is now about 61 years old. He belongs in Vermont, and he was appointed to the naval academy from that state in September, 1854. Four years later, when he was graduated, he was sent aboard the steam frigate Wabash, for a cruise in the Mediterranean. Dewey got his commission as lieutenant on April 19th, 1861, eight days after Fort Sumter was fired upon, and he was immediately assigned to join the Mississippi and do duty with the west gulf squadron. He was on the Mississippi when she took part with Farragut's other vessels in forcing an entrance to the Mississippi river, and again when the fleet ran the gauntlet of fire from the forts below New Orleans in April, 1862, and forced the surrender of that city. The ship he was in belonged to Capt. Bailey's division of the fleet which attacked Fort St. Philip.

The hottest fight that the Mississippi ever engaged in was her last one, and this was perhaps as hot as any of the war. In March, 1863, the fleet tried to run by the Confederate batteries at Port Hudson. Some of the ships got as far as a narrow part of the channel, where they met land batteries almost muzzle to muzzle, and then they were forced to retreat. The Mississippi did not get as far as this. A foggy day had been chosen for the attempt, and this was soon made more obscure by the smoke of battle, and amid this the Mississippi lost her bearings and ran ashore.

Her officers found that she had struck just under the guns of a battery in the middle of the line of fortifications and one of the strongest of the lot. In half an hour twenty-five shots struck the vessel and she was riddled from end to end. There was no chance to save her, and her crew took to their boats and landed on the opposite side of the river, after setting her on fire. Soon lightened by the loss of her crew and by the fire, she drifted off, and, blazing and saluting with bursting shells, she drifted down the river, until finally the fire reached her magazines, and her career was ended in one great explosion.

Dewey was next attached to the steam gunboat Agawam of the North Atlantic squadron, and he took part in the two attacks made on Fort Fisher in December, 1864, and January, 1865. In March, 1865, he got his commission as lieutenant commander, and as such served on the famous old Kearsage and on the Colorado, the flagship of the European squadron, until 1868, when he had the Narragansett, doing special duty. He became a commander in April, 1872, and still on the Narragansett, making surveys of the Pacific until 1876, when he was made a lighthouse inspector, and later secretary of the lighthouse board. He commanded the Juniata in the Asiatic station in 1882-83, and in September, 1884, was made a captain and put in charge of the Dolphin, one of the four vessels which formed the original "White Squadron." The following year he was sent to command the flagship Pensacola on the European squadron, and he stayed there until 1888, when he became the chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting, with the rank of commodore. This place he held until 1893, when he was made a member of the lighthouse board. He got his commission as commodore on February 28, 1896, and at about the same time was made president of the board of inspection and survey. This place he held until he was put in command of the Asiatic station, in January of this year.

Captain Charles V. Gridley was born

(Continued on second page.)

TWO WHITE SQUADRONS....

Uncle Sam has them. One is guided by Fighting Bob E. to bombard Havana and run the Spaniards off the earth, and the other guided by

B. F. CRABBE

THE NEW YORK RACKET MAN!

Who is Bombarding High Prices.

Read the List:

Webster's Un. Dictionary, cloth binding.	85c
" " " sheep	$1.25
Complete set Shakspeare, cloth binding,	1.49

I can order you any works by any of the prominent authors, such as Shakspeare, Dickens, Scott, Thackery, etc., at one-half price.

Just received, another big line of pictures, at one-half price.

Laces, 1½c and up.
Blueing, per box,	1 to 2c
Hosiery, per pair, 5c and up.
Machine Oil,	4 and 5c
Lawns, 5c and up.
Shoe Polish, 5c and up.
Calicoes,	4 and 5c
Gents' Collars,	10c
Corsets, 22c and up.
Spool Thread—6 Cord,	3c
Ginghams,	5 and 6c
Hair Brushes, 5c and up.
Shaving Brushes, 5c and up.
Slates, 2c and up.
Ladies' Vests, 5c and up.
Stationery 50 per cent below anybody.
White Stay Binding, per doz., 10c up.
Tea Spoons, per set, 3c and up.
Table " " " 3c "
Whisk Brooms,	9c
Towel Rack,	10c
Egg Beaters,	10c
Alarm Clock,	75c
Safety Pins, per dozen, 3c and up.
Spool Silk,	4c
Kid Curlers,	4, 5 and 7c
Curling Irons,	3 and 5c
Crochet Silk, 5c .(former price 30c).
5 yards Velveteen Skirt Binding,	10c
4 " " " " "	8c
Side Combs, 5c and up.
Window Shades, 23c and up.
Tinware 25 per cent lower than anyone
Thimbles, each,	1c
Watch, guaranteed for 1 year,	98c
Crochet Hooks, 1 and 2c.
Bay Rum,	5c
Elastic Web, per yard, 3c and up.
Oil Cloth, per yard,	13½, 15 and 16½c
Harps, each, 3c and up.
Hand Saw,	36c
Baby Shoes, per pair,	24c
Fansy Candies uv al kindes.
Ladies' Percale Shirt Waists,	50c
Cedar Pencils, per dozen, 4c and up.
Laces, 1½c and up.
Ladies' Collars,	10c
Ladies' Cuffs,	15c
Clothes Brushes, 10c and up.
Cuff Buttons, 5c and up.
Ladies' Belts, 10c and up.
I hav on hand at al tymes Picture Frames at less than factory costs.
Full line of J. K. Orr Shoe Co's "Red Seal Slippers" from	98 to $1.98
Big line Fans.	3c to $1.24
Hooks and Eyes, per card,	1c
Base Balls,	10c to $1.40
Baby Headgear,	24c
Crash, 5c and up.
Indian Head,	8c

Ladies', Misses' and Gents' Shuze loer than the loest. I allso carrie a ful line uv Umbrellas, Parasols, Suspenders, See Island Sheating, Drills, Shirting, Ladies' Slippers, Hats—wool, felt and straw—Ladies' Belts, Ribbons, Percales, Bleeching, Matting, etc. Call on me if U want goods at 50 per cent. less than U can buy them from the old-tyme big proffit merchants.

I Guarantee to Save U 25 to 100 per cent. on ennything in the Dry Goods or Notions Line.

Yours for Business,

New York Racket Store,

Vandegrift Old Stand, MONTEVALLO, ALA.

Keep One Eye on Montevallo,

The Other on Morgan Bros.

Support Hon. E. S. LYMAN

For Our Next Representative.

WHO WILL WIN

4 Free Scholarships

TO BE AWARDED BY

Eastman Business College

The Best Practical School in America.

To the Four Persons Who Secure the Largest Number of Votes in the Contest Explained Below.

Get Your Friends to Subscribe for the News and Secure a Free Scholarship.

Votes Allowed for Subscriptions.

For every new subscription or renewal for a year, accompanied by $1 in cash, one hundred votes will be given.

For every six months subscription or renewal, paying 50 cents, fifty (50) votes will be given.

For a three months subscription or renewal, paying 25 cents, twenty-five (25) votes will be given.

All subscriptions will be stopped when time paid for expires, unless ordered continued.

Commissions Paid.

As the NEWS allows a commission on all subscriptions and renewals obtained, all persons who enter the contest for one of the prizes will have an opportunity to earn some money by this means. The ballot printed below will entitle the bearer to one vote in the contest. If you wish to vote cut it out and write the name and address of your candidate on it and forward it to Mr. B. F. Crabbe, Montevallo, Ala., who will count the votes in the contest, and place them to the credit of the persons whose names they bear. This coupon will be published every week during the contest, as will also a summary of the vote showing the standing of the various candidates to date. No votes will be received or counted at this office.

The following is the form of the ballot. Cut it out, fill in properly the name of your candidate and forward as above directed.

BALLOT.

Good for One Vote

IN THE CONTEST FOR

FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS

EASTMAN

Business College,

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Write plainly the name and address of the person for whom you wish to vote on the dotted lines below:

Name.....

P. O.....

County.....State.....

The Competition

Begins from April 28, and the winners of the four prize scholarships will be announced in the first issue of September, 1898. The names of unsuccessful competitors in the contest will also be announced, and every young man or woman who secures as many as five new subscribers for the NEWS, will receive besides commissions a prize of some sort, the exact character of which will be announced later. Thus no one whose success in this work amounts to anything worthy of recognition will go unrewarded, but there will be prizes practically for everybody. So if you do not win one of the educational prizes, you may win something valuable of another kind.

Information concerning commissions will be furnished personally or by mail from this office. Catalogue and other literature of the College may be had by addressing Clement C. Gaines, President, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Children like it, it saves their lives. We mean One Minute Cough Cure, the infallible remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

The farmer, the mechanic and the bicycle rider are liable to unexpected cuts and bruises. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to keep on hand. It heals quickly, and is a well known cure for piles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,
PUBLISHERS.
CLIFTON NEWTON, EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, May 5, 1898.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Glirs; four churches afiord ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffice as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little money hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subjects of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. S. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—B. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

Subscribe for the News,

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F, JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices.
JOHN R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor,
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer.
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chancellor S. E. Chancery Division,
WM. L. PARKS,
of Pike.

[Concluded from first page.]

in Indiana, and appointed from Michigan, graduating in 1863, and being assigned to the steam sloop Oneida, where he served for two years. He was at the battle of Mobile bay, and at the close of the war was ordered to the Brooklyn, the flagship of the Brazil squadron, where he served for two years. He commanded the Marion, and is now commanding the Olympia. He was made a captain in March, 1897.

Captain Nehemiah M. Dyer was born in Providencetown, Mass., in 1839, served in the merchant service from the age of 14 to 20, enlisted and served in the Fourth Battalion of Rifles, Massachusetts Volunteers, and was with Banks' division, Army of the Potomac. In April, 1862, he was appointed an acting mate in the navy. He was made a lieutenant in the regular army in 1868, and a few months afterward was promoted. He has commanded several vessels in the last twenty years, and now has charge of the Baltimore.

Captain Joseph B. Coghlan was born in Kentucky and appointed from Illinois. He graduated in 1863. He was promoted two years later, and was assigned to the flagship Brooklyn, where he served for two years. He was executive officer of the Pawnee in 1867, and on the steam frigate Guerriere in 1868. He commands the Raleigh.

Commander Benjamin P. Lamberton, the second ranking officer of his class in the navy, and at present commanding the Boston, was born in Pennsylvania, and graduated from the naval academy in 1865. He was promoted to the rank of commander in 1885, and from 1888 to 1889 was commandant of the Norfolk navy yard. He then commanded the training ship Jamestown for two years, and then went to the bureau of yards and docks.

Commander Asa Walker, of the Concord, has been in the naval service since November 2, 1862. He is a native of New Hampshire. March 12, 1868, he was made an ensign; March 26, 1869, a master; March 21, 1870, a lieutenant; December 12, 1884, a lieutenant commander, and April 11, 1894, a commander. He has served fifteen years at sea, and eighteen years on shore or special duty. He was named to the Concord May 22 last.

Commander Oscar W. Frencholt, of the Monocacy, was born in Texas. He has seen fifteen years at sea and sixteen years on shore or special duty.

Commander Edward P, Wood, of the Petrel, is from Ohio. He took charge of the Petrel Dec. 16, 1896, and on July 13, 1897, was raised to the grade of commander. He has been eighteen years at sea and fifteen years on other duty.

Captain Daniel B. Hodgson, commanding the McCulloh, is a native of New York. In his thirty-six years' service Captain Hodgson has spent twenty-four and fourteen months on Atlantic coast stations, seven and a half years on the lakes, two and a half years on the Pacific, including nine months in Alaska and six years on life saving duty.—Age-Herald.

From Our War Correspondent.

[Special to Montevallo News.]

CAMP CLARK, May 2, 1898.

Sitting under the shade of an historic live oak, on the beautiful bay of Mobile, and looking toward the gulf, where the sight is lost in the dim vista and blue regions beyond, and my thoughts returning homeward, I write this letter.

The day is calm and one typical of this lovely climate. In our rear is the level camp ground of about fifty acres, where the usual peaceful quietude is now broken by marching men in blue uniform with guns and shining bayonets to the tune of martial music.

The scene is not one of love, but all the same it is inspiring. It bespeaks grim war with shot and shell directed by the flower of the nation in a cause as holy as that of the revolution.

But epochs of this character make history, and now I will give you a brief description of the campaign of the Alabama troops up to date. Having joined the Warrior Guards of Tuscaloosa, with eighty strong, we left that point at three o'clock Sunday morning for Birmingham, where we met the Birmingham troops. The scene at the depot beggars description. At least five thousand people, composed of old and young, were gathered there to bid godspeed and say it may be a last farewell. The ladies were all laden with flowers for the soldier boys. Old veterans and their sons were also there. The scene was grand. Nature, too, seemed to be in unison, for the day was a beautiful Sabbath. Shouts which seemed to reach the heavens, went up at intervals, ladies and soldiers talked and laughed; but under it allwas the earnest thought of what seriousness may rest in the future. Men and women wept, laughed and talked. Each soldier was laden with flowers, and almost every one was given a Bible, a beautiful and silent tribute to the great character of our people.

As the train went out, the air was rent with shouts. The scene was beautiful and sad too. Thus we left Birmingham. All along the road at every station the beauty and gallantry of our people were gathered. There were flowers everywhere, and whenever the long train stopped we were greeted with cheers. In old Montgomery the salute of cannon greeted us, and our distinguished governor was also there to encourage the boys.

We arrived in Mobile and went at once into camp. The camp is situated on the bay on the famous Friscati grounds.

It will take too long to write now, the bugle blast calls me in.

Good bye. American honor and Cuba Libre.

R. L. RICE.

Fourth Sergeant Hugh Collins, of the Birmingham Rifles, was shot and killed at Camp Clark, Mobile, Tuesday about 1 p. m. by a negro named Louis Reese. The murderer was captured and jailed. Collins' remains were shipped to Brooklyn, Miss., where his father resides. The murder cast a deep gloom over the camp, and if the negro could have been found by the soldiers before the officers got him, he would have been lynched.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Baptist Sunday School, Will Lyman, superintendent; J H. McMath, secretary.

May 1: Scholars present, 91; scholars absent, 76; officers and teachers present, 17; officers and teachers absent, 4; visitors present, 3; total, 111. Collection, 65 cents.

A little boy asked for a bottle of "get up in the morning as fast as you can." The druggist recognized a household name for "DeWitt's Little Farly Risers," and gave him a bottle of those famous little pills for constipation, sick headache, liver and stomach troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Morgan Bros.

☞Have all kinds of SUITS. If they can't suit you, you can't be suited.

SPRING SUITS.

☞Call and see our Spring Suits at prices that will surprise you. We don't talk. We sell goods, and a lot of them,

MORGAN BROS.,
Leaders in Low Prices.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

☞To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

We Make a Specialty of Tailor-made Clothing.

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....	$1.00
Six months, cash in advance	.50
Three months, cash in advance..	.25

LOCAL.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Dr. Hargrove, of Dogwood, was in town yesterday.

Sheriff E. F. Vest, of Columbiana, was in town yesterday.

Reynolds' new brick building is nearing completion.

Mr. C. L. Meroney left Monday for Montgomery on business.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

When is the lower end of Main street going to be graded?

Col. S. S. Holbrook, of Powderly, is visiting friends in the city.

FOR SALE.—A good horse for only $25 00. Apply at News office.

Mrs. B. F. Crabbe is visiting friends and relatives at Dadeville, Ala.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

J. W. Martin. Montevallo, pays good prices for all old gold and silver.

Messrs. Lee Rice and Henry King enlisted and went to Mobile with the troops.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand and can deliver it on short notice.

We regret to learn tnat Capt. D. W. Shivers is on the sick list. Hope to see him out again soon.

Plain girls will look beautiful if adorned with the ribbons just received by Morgan Bros.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds left Tuesday for Washington, in the interest of the Girls' Industrial School.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Mr. Sam Farrington left Monday for Norfolk, Va., to attend a meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The News has just received its new press and a lot of new type. We now have as fine a job press as any city office.

Take your scissors to Felix Dotson when you want them sharpened. Satisfaction guaranteed, or no money.

On account of missionary exercises at the M. E. Church last Sunday, there is no report from that Sunday school this week.

FOR RENT.—The building formerly occupied by Newton & Nolen. For terms apply at the News office.

W. L. Nolen, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, has so far recovered as to be able to be in town yesterday.

Miss Ethel Strong went up to Birmingham Monday evening to attend the funeral of her relative, little Lorena Harris.

F. F. Crowe & Co. have put up their soda fount, and are now prepared to furnish ice cold drinks during these hot, sultry days.

We are now prepared to do first-class job work as cheap as you can get it done anywhere in the State. We will meet all competition.

F. F. Crowe & Co. have just received a large supply of assorted fancy candies, which is going like "hot cakes." Better call quick before it is all gone.

Mr. George Kroell showed us a cannon the other day—a regular mountain howitzer—which he says will be placed in readiness to defend our town from any invasion.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a very interesting communication by our special war correspondent at Mobile. We hope he will send us a newsy letter every week.

Mr. Lester North, an old Montevallo boy, who went to Mobile with one of the Birmingham companies, failed to pass an examination on account of his eyes.

Lightning Ice Cream Freezers, the best on the market. Will make cream better and quicker than any other freezer. This freezer was made especially for Morgan Bros., the up-to date merchants. Call and get one.

We were in error last week in regard to the paper Dr. Wilkinson read before the S. S. Convention at Birmingham. It should have been the Medical Association. As Dr. Wilkinson attended both, the mistake was very easily made.

An unfortunate difficulty occurred at the depot this morning just before the Southern came in. There was a llttle blood spilt, but none of the combatants were seriously hurt. We suppose they are getting in practice to fight the Spaniards.

We have received our new press and type, and as we have had to lose considerable time in getting it from the depot to the office, we are compelled to appear somewhat short of reading matter, in order to get out on time. Next week we will have eight pages, all home print.

Mrs. J. L. McConaughy is in Selma this week attending the Fourth Annual Convention of Federation of Women's Clubs of Alabama. She read two very interesting papers before the convention, and was appointed on a special committee to inform the Federation how it could put itself in close touch with the Montevallo school.

The other day we overheard some of the school girls singing: "We don't want to buy at your store, we won't trade there any more; you'll be sorry when you see us going to some other store. You can't sell us any stale goods; we have opened wide our eyes. We don't want to trade at your store, 'cause you do not advertise!"

In company with quite a number of our citizens, we went to Calera on last Sunday morning to see the soldier boys pass through on their way to Mobile. There was a large crowd at the depot when the train rolled in, and cheer after cheer went up from both citizens and soldiers. Much enthusiasm was shown the boys. Quite a number of ladies were also present, who spoke cheering words to the soldiers and bade them Godspeed and a safe return. Several amusing incidents happened while the train was at the depot. Some of the soldiers cut buttons from their clothes and exchanged them with the ladies for flowers.

A torpid liver robs you of ambition and ruins your health. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cleanse the liver, cure constipation and all stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

LIFE CRUSHED OUT.

A Little Child Killed by an Electric Car.

[Birmingham Special to Montgomery Advertiser.

Birmingham, May 2.—Lorena Harris, aged 5, daughter of J. D. Harris, was run over by an electric car at Elyton, just below the city, this morning and crushed to death The little girl, in charge of a colored nurse, went to the postoffice at Elyton. The sidewalk is but a few steps from the street car track. As the car was going past the postoffice the child ran directly in front of the car. The car knocked her down, and before the motorman, George Curtis, could bring it to a stop the wheels had dragged the child some little distance, and had crushed life from her body. Mr. and Mrs. Harris are well known in Birmingham and suburbs, and many expressions of sympathy have been given them.

Mrs. Harris was Miss Hattie Brown before marriage. She is a daughter of the late A. R. Brown, and was raised in Montevallo, where she has a host of friends, who deeply sympathize with her in the sad death of her little girl.

TO THE CITIZENS AND PEOPLE OF MONTEVALLO.

Allow us to return our sincere thanks for their hospitality shown us in the hour of distress. And, if in any way we can return their kindness, let them not hesitate in making it known to us.

MRS. H. C. FANCHER & FAMILY.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Edna Nelson has returned to school after a visit to her home at Columbiana.

***

Capt. Reynolds left Tuesday for Washington, where he will remain for several days.

***

The art class will entertain the "Studiosis" Friday afternoon with a strawberry social.

***

Miss Lucy Leeper has as her guest her mother, who will spend some time with her.

***

Picnics to Falling Rock are very popular these fine Saturdays, and there were several this past week.

***

Mr. and Mrs. Roebuck, of Birmingham, spent Saturday and Sunday with their daughter, Miss Jeanette.

***

Miss Carrie Lum spent several days at her home in Montgomery, returning to her school duties last Tuesday.

***

Miss Evrette Bozeman was delighted by a visit from her father, who spent several days with her last week.

***

Mrs. Milner, of Birmingham, has taken charge of the cooking department, and will give lessons in practical cooking.

***

Among our visitors this week was Mrs. Mims Walker, of Faunsdale, who is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Reynolds.

***

Miss Wilde delivered an address to the school, while here, and formed a Young Women's Christian Association, of which Miss Bertie Allen was made president.

***

Last Friday the Normal class, chaperoned by several of the teachers, attended an Institute at Brierfield. The following teachers and girls were in the party: Misses Kennedy, Fitts and Haley; Misses Ida Reynolds, Susie Stubbs, Rena Tait, Kate Meddleton, Jennie Clarke, Melissa Thornton, Pleasye Northington, Etta Davis, Carrie McCalley, Dora Fonde, Ida Horn, Margaret McArdle, Bertie Allen and May Lenoir. Messrs. Abernethy and Edgar Carey were the gentlemen of the party. They spent a most enjoyable day, and are loud in the praise of the hospitable manner in which the people of Brierfield entertained them.

BLOCTON ITEMS.

The mines were idle for several days last week.

Blocton will have a new paper in the near future.

Mrs. C. T. Duncan is very ill and not expected to recover.

Charley Milam went to Coaling last Sunday to see his best girl.

Mr. Henry Jackson spent Monday and Tuesday of this week on his farm near British.

About twenty of our young men have joined the army, and have gone to Cuba to "fite" the Spaniards.

Dennis Mitchell came over from Montevallo Friday night and spent Saturday and Sunday with his family.

Mrs. G. D. Mitchell and her two youngest children have been on the sick list for the past two weeks. They are improving now.

A negro was killed in No. 3 mine last Saturday morning about 11 o'clock by a trip of loaded cars running over him. His body was horribly mangled.

Capt. B. J. Large and family, of Six Mile, visited friends and relatives here last Sunday. Capt. Large is an old railroad man. He used to be a conductor on the old Selma, Rome & Dalton road. He will return to the road in a short while, and will be conductor on the M. & O. from Selma to Birmingham, via Centreville.

PETE.

H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

Seltzer Phosphate

Has received more high class endorsements and testimonials of merit, than any other headache and nerve remedy.

The Greatest Quick Cure for Headache Ever Discovered.

Read what prominent people, whom you know personally, say about our great remedy:

"We take great pleasure in saying that we have been using Williams' "Seltzer Phosphate" for a long time, and find it superior to all other remedies for what it is recommended."—S. E. Greene, Judge Criminal Court of Jefferson county; Frank P. O'Brien, Sheriff of Jefferson county; Robert J. Lowe, City Attorney; C. F. Enslen, Banker; Rev. S. L. Handley, Central Presbyterian Church; Jas. J. Banks, Judge Circuit Court.

Dr. J. B. Luckie gives the first testimonial he ever offered for a proprietary medicine to Williams' Seltzer Phosphate.

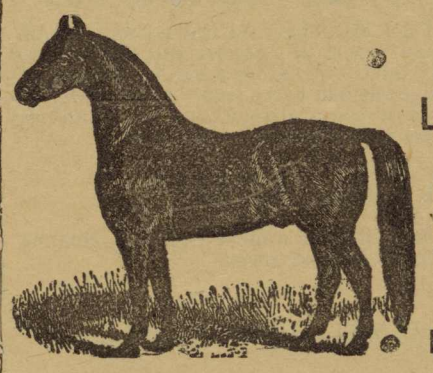
For sale by your local druggist, or sent by mail on receipt of 25 cents with instructions.

We have just moved into our new quarters at 2028 First Ave., where we carry the largest and most complete line of drugs and druggists' specialties on the market. Mail orders receive prompt attention.

Williams Drug and Chemical Co.

2028 First Ave., Birmingham, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

☞Office at Store. Manager.

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

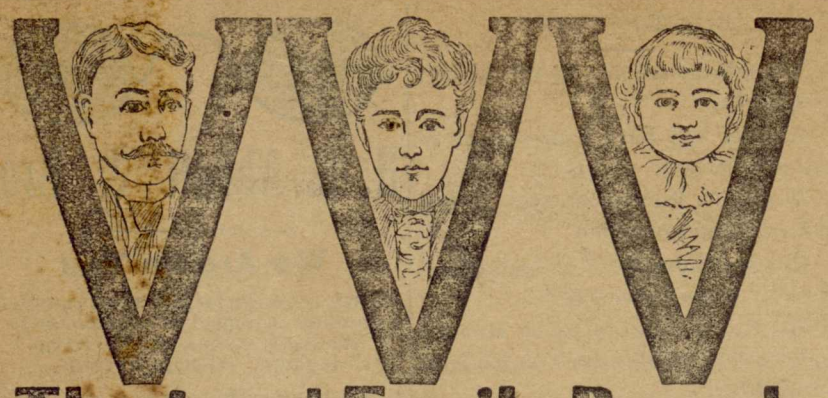
To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

The Leading Druggists.



The Great Family Remedy

No home should be without a bottle of V. V. V., the great specific for all diseases of the blood—a true boon to ailing man and woman. A health and strength restorative of the highest efficacy. V. V. V., a purely vegetable preparation of sterling worth, acts directly on the blood, purifying, renewing and giving new life to every part of the system. Diseases of many years standing quickly succumb to V. V. V.; the ills of the hour are at once rectified, while the system is completely fortified against sickness.

A positive and permanent cure for Scrofula, Tetter, Eczema, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Rheumatism in all its forms and blood poison of any nature. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College

AND

COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE!

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

DUKE CIGARETTES

MADE FROM

High Grade Tobacco

AND

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Don't Eat Biscuits

When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Do You Know

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses
The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents.

Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

BOYS

What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN

Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman

NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President. POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

And other specialties for Gentlemen, Ladies, Boys and Misses are the Best in the World.

See descriptive advertisement which will appear in this paper.

Take no Substitute, but insist on having W. L. DOUGLAS' SHOES, with name and price stamped on bottom. Sold by

EXTRACT

ACID IRON EARTH

NATURE'S OWN REMEDY. TRADE MARK.

Is an aqueous solution of the soluble matter in a mineral earth found in Choctaw county, Ala., near the famous Bladon mineral springs. This earth had great local celebrity as "Rogers' Earth," from the name of the discoverer of the bed or mine, now owned by the Acid Iron Earth Company, of Mobile, Ala.

For Dyspepsia, all derangements of the Digestive Organs and the Liver, Skin Diseases, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Bruises, ACID IRON EARTH is a specific. Rheumatism and other chronic diseases yield to its curative power without fail.

Entirely free from Alcohol or any drug whatever, ACID IRON EARTH fully deserves the words embraced in its trademark, "NATURE'S OWN REMEDY." See free pamphlet, to be had of druggists.

B.B.B. Always Cures.

.....Botanic Blood Balm

The Great Remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Scrofula, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Ulcers, Eczema, Eating and Spreading Sores, Eruptions, and all SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES. Made from the prescription of an eminent physician who used it with marvelous success for 40 years, and its continued use for fifteen years by thousands of grateful people has demonstrated that it is by far the best building up Tonic and Blood Purifier ever offered to the world. It makes new rich blood, and possesses almost miraculous healing properties.

☞ WRITE FOR BOOK OF WONDERFUL CURES, sent free on application.

If not kept by your local druggist, send $1.00 for a large bottle, or $5.00 for six bottles, and medicine will be sent freight paid by

BLOOD BALM CO., Atlanta, Ga.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

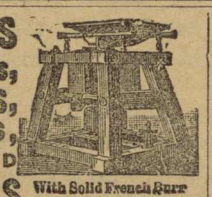
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

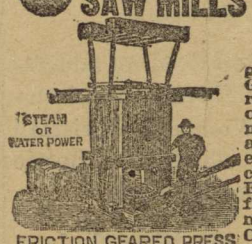
C. A. SNOW & CO.

OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

COLEMAN'S Cotton Presses, Corn Mills, Coaches, Cars and Saw Mills



With Solid French Burr Stones.



FRICTION GEARED PRESS REQUIRING ONLY ONE BELT

LIST PRICE — $200.

These are the best goods on the market. Guaranteed in every respect. Live Agents offered large inducements. Foundry work and Machinery of every description, including a large line of Engines and Boilers from all the renowned manufactories. Catalogues and Prices on application. Liberal Discounts for Cash.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

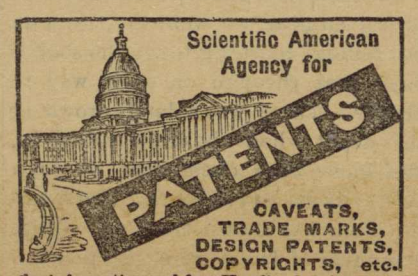
Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2.00 per day.

Large sample room free.



CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

B. W. WRENN, JR.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COMMERCIAL LAW A SPECIALTY.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

JONES

HE

PAYS the FREIGHT

5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.

Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address

JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 2, '98. NO. 2

(Original.)

MASSA HENRY AND TOM.

Massa Henry, dey tell me youse gwinter git married an' settle down in life,
But youse already picked out de gal youse
gwinter make yoah wife;
An' dey say she's powerful good 'ookin' an'
can make de piano ring,
But I wants ter tell you dis, Massa Hen, beauty and looks don't mount to ebery-ting

I'se luved you since you was a baby boy,
an' yoah good old fader before,
An' I'se promised to meet him on dat bright
an' golden shore;
So how's I gwine ter meet him at de end of dis heah life,
If I didn't give you some good advice when youse pickin' you a wife?

Dar's more in dis worl' dan beauty, fer dat is jes' skin deep,
But a good and lubly temper is sweet an'
'twill always keep;
An' happiness don't trabel wid money, as a lot ob folks suppose,
An' de sweetes' gal ain't always found in silk an' satin close.

Now if youse foun' dis kind ob a gal, take dis, ole Tom's advice:
Always meet her half ob de way an' keep her temper nice.
You tote de wood, shovel de snow, an' lub her all you can,
An' when ole age comes an' yoah hair is gray, you'll find a happy man.

A woman's life is strange, boy, but it grows strong on luv,
For dat's de gift God gabe her when He sent her frum abuv;
An' in sickness an' sorrow she'll be a sweet,
luvin' wife,
If you'll do yoah share to make her's a bright and happy life.

Closing Exercises

Girls' Industrial School

LARGE CROWDS PRESENT.

The closing exercises of the Girls' Industrial School occupied the first three days of the week. On Sunday, Rev. A. W. McGaha, of Fort Worth Texas, delivered the commencement sermon in the college chapel. We were not present, but have heard the sermon very highly spoken of. Dr. McGaha preached again Sunday night in the college chapel.

Monday night was the art exhibition. There were 467 pieces in pencil, charcoal, crayon, pastel, water colors, oil, etc. There were also 135 pieces in china painting. This class was just opened in January of this year, and the pieces on exhibition show what remarkable skill the pupils have made in such a short time. Miss McCombs, the art teacher, deserves great praise for the work that has been accomplished during the present session.

THE GRAND CONCERT.

The NEWS man made one of the largest audiences Tuesday evening that ever assembled in the chapel of the Girls' Industrial School, and his musical ear was filled with harmony and he fairly reveled with the old composers in some of their choicest works, while his artistic senses were thrilled and intoxicated by the presence of so much beauty.

The occasion of the assemblage was the annual public recital of the musical classes. To only say that the young ladies were good would be doing them and their instructors an injustice, for the painstaking care of both were so palpable that the dullest person could easily see that the performance of all the participants was excellent.

To mention all the performers personally would take more room than our limited space this week will allow, so we will content ourselves with a few, and hope all will take the will for the deed.

To let the vocal solo by Miss Carrie Lum and the concerto in G minor by Miss Mae Roark go without special mention would show that we could neither appreciate the sweet or the sublime. The Song-Joy, the Piano Quartette, Jubel Overture, was far above the average, and a fair sample of all the evening's entertainment.

Lovely, smiling faces,
Eyes shining and bright,
Pictured sweet, pure souls
At the chapel Tuesday night.

The chapel was again crowded Wednesday morning. Gov. Johnston was booked to deliver an address before the school, but from some cause unknown to us he failed to come. The audience was not disappointed, however, for several of the trustees delivered addresses and short talks were made by several of the young lady pupils.

At night a Shakesperean burlesque was well rendered to a crowded house. The cast was excellent, and each young lady did herself justice in her particular role. Miss Margaret McArdle as Lady Macbeth, and Miss Mary Burnett as Portia, were especially good, and showed much historic talent.

In a few well chosen remarks Dr. Geo. B. Eager, of Montgomery, delivered to thirty-six young ladies certificates of proficiency in the different branches of industry.

Capt. Reynolds closed the exercises in a short address, thanking the people for their presence and good behavior during all of the exercises, and spoke of the great good this school was doing for the girls of Alabama.

Thus closed the second annual session of the Girls' Industrial School of Alabama.

Commencement

Don't Affect Our Prices. . . .

We Are the

Acknowledged Leaders in Low Prices.

We keep everything kept by a

First-Class Store.

MORGAN BROS.

Messrs. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds have completed their two new handsome brick stores, and show their enterprise in the upbuilding of the town. The Carlisle Bros were the painters.

Children like it, it saves their lives. We mean One Minute Cough Cure, the infallible remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

The Industrial School closed last night, and to-day the girls are bidding each other farewell, and are leaving on every train for their respective homes.

A little boy asked for a bottle of "get up in the morning as fast as you can." The druggist recognized a household name for "DeWitt's Little Early Risers," and gave him a bottle of those famous little pills for constipation, sick headache, liver and stomach troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Business will be very quiet in our town from now until fall.

The farmer, the mechanic and the bicycle rider are liable to unexpected cuts and bruises. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to keep on hand. It heals quickly, and is a well known cure for piles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

WHO WILL WIN

Votes Allowed for Subscriptions

For every new subscription or renewal for a year, accompanied by $1 in cash, one hundred votes will be given.

For every six months subscription or renewal, paying 50 cents, fifty (50) votes will be given.

For a three months subscription or renewal, paying 25 cents, twenty-five (25) votes will be given.

All subscriptions will be stopped when time paid for expires, unless ordered continued.

Commissions Paid

As the NEWS allows a commission on all subscriptions and renewals obtained, all persons who enter the contest for one of the prizes will have an opportunity to earn some money by this means. The ballot printed below will entitle the bearer to one vote in the contest. If you wish to vote cut it out and write the name and address of your candidate on it and forward it to Mr. . F. Crabbe, Montevallo, Ala., who will count the votes in the contest, and place them to the credit of the persons who e names they bear. This contest will be published every week during the contest, as will also a summary of the vote showing the standing of the various candidates to date. No votes will be received or counted at this office.

The following is the form of the ballot. Cut it out, fill in properly the name of your candidate and forward as above directed.

.....

BALLOT

Good for One Vote

IN THE CONTEST FOR

FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS

EASTMAN

Business College,

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Write plainly the name and address of the person for whom you wish to vote on the dotted lines below:

Name.....

P. O.....

County .....State.....

.....

The Competition

Begins from April 28, and the winners of the four prize scholarships will be announced in the first issue of September, 1898. The names of unsuccessful competitors in the contest will also be announced, and every young man or woman who secures as many as five new subscribers for the NEWS, will receive besides commissions a prize of some sort, the exact character of which will be announced later. Thus no one whose success in this work amounts to anything worthy of recognition will go unrewarded, but there will be prizes practically for everybody. So if you do not win one of the educational prizes, you may win something valuable of another kind.

Information concerning commissions will be furnished personally or by mail from this office. Catalogue and other literature of the College may be had by addressing Clement C. Gaines, President, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday June 2, 1898

THE CAUSE OF OUR SUSPENSION.

On Saturday, May 7th, about 12 o'clock M., while we were removing our hand press down stairs to be shipped off, the steps gave way, precipitating ourself and compositor to the ground, a distance of about twenty feet. In the fall we had a gash about six inches long bruised in our left hip to the bone. We were unconscious from the time we fell until about daylight Sunday morning. We were confined to the bed for ten days, and have been hobbling around on crutches for the past two weeks.

Our compositor, G. D. Mitchell, was hurt internally on the right side, and was unable to do anything for two weeks. He returned to his post of duty last week, and we hope to be able to come out on time hereafter, provided we don't happen to another accident.

We had Jack Ozley, Ed Ozley and John Moore, colored, employed to help us to get the press down stairs. In the accident Ed Ozley had one of his knee caps badly hurt, John Moore had one of his big toes mashed off, and Jack Ozley was unhurt.

We are very thankful we got off as light as we did, for it is a great wonder some of us were not killed.

We hereby extend our heartfelt thanks to the good people of Montevallo for their aid and assistance. Especially do we return thanks to Mrs. Bryan and daughter, Miss Florrie, Mrs. Horn and daughter, Miss Ida, and the young ladies boarding with Mrs. Horn for their kindness in ministering to our wants a few moments after the accident. They did everything in their power to alleviate our suffering. We will never forget these noble ladies for their kindness on that occasion.

We also return thanks to Mesdames Kroell and Vandegrift for delicacies sent us during the time we were confined to the bed.

The God of wars is surely with Uncle Sam is his fight with Spain.

Capt. Gage is determined to command negro troops, and is now out recruiting.

The colonial possessions will create more offices for presidential appointments.

Admiral Cervera is kept busy now guessing when he will again see Spain.

American powder backed up dy American grit is making the Spaniards awfully sore about now.

Fitz Hugh Lee will ere long call upon General Blanco, and he won't be too busy to receive him this time.

If, as his friends say, Schley duplicates Commodore Dewey's victory, Spain will be wondering where she is at.

The Spaniards didn't hit a d—n thing but the ocean, and would have missed that if it hadn't been so big, said fighting Bob Evans.

From the present indications, bellicose France and Germany are beginning to look for the holes in their hats through which they have been talking.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. S. MILNER

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—B. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F. JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices.
JOHN R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor,
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer.
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chancellor S. E. Chancery Division,
WM. L. PARKS,
of Pike.

Seltzer Phosphate

Has received more high class endorsements and testimonials of merit, than any other headache and nerve remedy.

The Greatest Quick Cure for Headache Ever Discovered.

Read what prominent people, whom you know personally, say about our great remedy:

"We take great pleasure in saying that we have been using Williams' "Seltzer Phosphate" for a long time, and find it superior to all other remedies for what it is recommended."—S. E. Greene, Judge Criminal Court of Jefferson county; Frank P. O'Brien, Sheriff of Jefferson county; Robert J. Lowe, City Attorney; C. F. Enslen, Banker; Rev. S. L. Handley, Central Presbyterian Church; Jas J. Banks, Judge Circuit Court.

Dr. J. B. Luckie gives the first testimonial he ever offered for a proprietary medicine to Williams' Seltzer Phosphate.

For sale by your local druggist, or sent by mail on receipt of 25 cents with instructions.

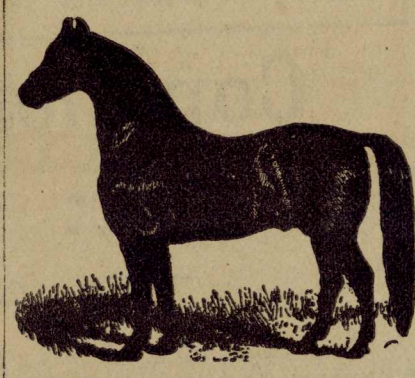
We have just moved into our new quarters at 2028 First Ave., where we carry the largest and most complete line of drugs and druggists specialties on the market. Mail orders receive prompt attention

Williams Drug and Chemical Co.
2028 First Ave., Birmingham, Ala.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year. Strictly in Advance

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

☞Office at Store. Manager.

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

The Leading Druggists.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for girls; four churches afford ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffice as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for three months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little money hustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subjects of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

Massey's

Business College

Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address

C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,

June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

Subscribe for the News.

Thousands of sufferers from grippe have been restored to health by One Minute Cough Cure. It quickly cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, pneumonia, grippe, asthma and all throat and lung diseases. F. F. Crowe & Co.

WINE OF CARDUI

FOR ALL WOMEN

NINE-TENTHS of all the pain and sickness from which women suffer is caused by weakness or derangement in the organs of menstruation. Nearly always when a woman is not well these organs are affected. But when they are strong and healthy a woman is very seldom sick.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Is nature's provision for the regulation of the menstrual function. It cures all "female troubles." It is equally effective for the girl in her teens, the young wife with domestic and maternal cares, and the woman approaching the period known as the "Change of Life." They all need it. They are all benefitted by it.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOS. J. COOPER, Tupelo, Miss., says: 'My sister suffered from very irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui entirely cured her and also helped my mother through the Change of Life."

WINE OF CARDUI

Do You Know

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses

The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents. Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville. Tenn

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

B. W. WRENN, JR.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COMMERCIAL LAW A SPECIALTY. ATLANTA, GEORGIA

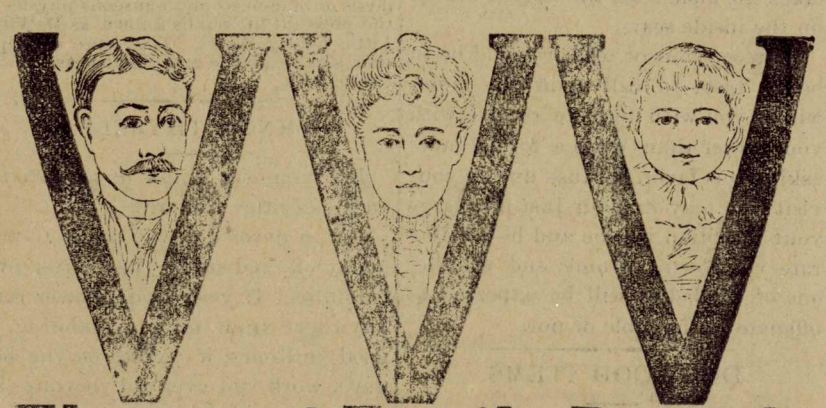
FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.



The Great Family Remedy

No home should be without a bottle of V. V. V., the great specific for all diseases of the blood—a true boon to ailing man and woman. A health and strength restorative of the highest efficacy. V. V. V., a purely vegetable preparation of sterling worth, acts directly on the blood, purifying, renewing and giving new life to every part of the system. Diseases of many years standing quickly succumb to V. V. V.; the ills of the hour are at once rectified, while the system is completely fortified against sickness.

A positive and permanent cure for Scrofula, Tetter, Eczema, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Rheumatism in all its forms and blood poison of any nature. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail or express on receipt of $1. A book of valuable information mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President, POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

UP-TO-DATE REMARKS.

A FEW STYLES LADIES SOMETIMES FORGET.

[From the Butterick Publishing Co., Ruth Ashmore, of the Ladies' Home Journal, and others of edual authority.]

In walking on the street, it is correct to lift up one side of the skirt only.

When entering a place of amusement, a lady follows the usher, and her escort follows her.

When a gentleman caller brings a box of bonbons, it is only necessary to thank him, and it is quite unnecessary to open the box while he remains.

If invited to a six o'clock dinner, arrange to arrive at the home of your hostess at five minutes before six. Five minutes before the hour is proper when you are asked to a luncheon, dinner or any sit down meal.

When a gentleman has acted as your escort from evening service at church, thank him as the door is opened, but do not invite him at that hour to come in. The same rule applies to an escort from a friend's house or an evening's entertainment.

At any public hall, or church, or place of amusement, a gentleman takes the aisle seat, the lady is seated on the inside seat.

At receptions or teas it would be in better taste to call upon the ladies whom you wish to have receive with you rather than write a formal note asking this favor, because during your visft you may explain just how large your reception will be and how elaborate your own costume, and whether one of the ladies will be expected to officiate at the table or not.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

W. D. Lacey, of Maylene, was in town Sunday.

Echoes! Echoes! Hear the echoes! Where will the campaign open?

Mr. Osce Burke and wife, of Ganadarque, visited friends here Sunday.

Walter Harrison, of Belle Ellen, was among his many friends here Sunday.

Misses Mattie and Kate Lacey, of Maylene, visited friends here Sunday.

Mr. William Whorten and family, of Belle Ellen, are visiting friends and relatives near this place.

Mr. Theo. Elliott and family, of Ganadarque, visited friends and relatives near this place Sunday.

It seems that attorneys are not essential in every case, and most especially in the case of the State vs. C. W. Cary.

Wonder if Dogwood will again (this year) be honored by the first political picnic by the Populists of Shelby county?

The Montevallo Lump Coal Mining Company at this place is still shipping some very fine coal, which is claimed to be the Montevallo grate coal.

Quite a crowd from this place attended services at Ebenezer Sunday. Dinner was spread on the ground, and the large crowd while away a few pleasant hours in the beautiful grove, and drank water from that ever flowing spring that is always ready to quench one's thirst.

X. Y. & Z.

Thirty-five years make a generation. That is how long Adolph Fisher, of Zanesville, O., suffered from piles. He was cured by using three boxes of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. F. F. Crowe & Co.

HOW TO ENLIST.

Cut out the ballot printed on first page, write on it the name of your candidate and send it in. This will count one vote. Subscribe for the News, or renew your subscription for one year, and name the young person you desire to have credited. This will entitle him or her to 100 votes. On the 1st of September the scholarships will be awarded to the four boys or girls who receive she highest number of votes. This is simple and easy--all you have to do is to send in your votes in order to put your favorite to the front. We hope you will help us to place the News in many more households during the next few months.

Those who are contemplating entering the race should do it at once in order that their friends may know of their purpose to compete.

The contest is open to any lady or gentleman in Shelby county. Information concerning the contest can be had on application at this office.

It is a great leap from the old fashioned doses of blue-mass and nauseous physics to the pleasant little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure constipation, sick headache and biliousness. F. F. Crowe & Co.

KNOW THYSELF.

Did you ever think about what a curious critter you are?

If you never did, you ought to take a day off and study the matter over carefully. If your brain power rates anywhere from fair to middling, or good ordinary, it would be the best day's work you ever did in your life.

You probably think you are the oniest pebble on the beach; but maybe you are not.

You criticize the preacher's sermon. Can you preach a better one?

You blame the organist for the way she plays. Can you beat her?

You say the songs are not sung right. Why don't you learn the people how to sing?

You say the merchant doesn't run his business in sort of sort of style. Can you give him any pointers?

You kick like a bay steer at the way the school teacher does. Have you a better method of teaching the young idea how to sprout?

According to you the doctor is a numbskull. Can you kill or cure a man any quicker than he can?

You think the lawyer doesn't know a thing. Can you beat him in a game of "heads, I win; tails, you lose?"

You think the editor prints the sorriest paper on earth. Could you get up half column of tensible reading matter?

You make remarks about the dressmaker's work. Could you make a gown that would even fit a wash pot?

You blame the farmer for his methods. Did you ever get rich farming?

You blame everybody, yet if you will study yourself carefully, you may find out that you are the blamedest fool in the whole lot.—Ex.

A torpid liver robs you of ambition and ruins your health. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cleanse the liver, cure constipation and all stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

DEFEATED.....

We have defeated High Prices and will continue to sell the Best Goods for the Least Money.

We Carry a Large Line of General Merchandise!

Which we propose to sell cheaper than anyone else. Give us a call and be convinced.

The Old Reliable,

H. C. & W. B. REYNOLDS.

Montevallo, - - Ala.

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race--nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

RIPANS ONE GIVES RELIEF

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection" The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some druggists—FOR FIVE CENTS. The low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (60 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.

Montevallo - - - Ala

New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Barbarous Punishments.

From the earliest time soldiers—that is, those who join the ranks—have been treated as machines, made to do certain work, and, failing in the slightest degree, subjected to the most barbaric punishment.

One of the favorite methods of correction was known as "picketing." The victim was suspended by the wrist to an iron ring let into a wall or a high post, and one of his heels was permitted to rest upon a sharpened stick, just blunt enough to break the skin. Thus the whole weight of the body was thrown either upon the heel or upon the wrist. The agony in either case was extreme.

In a moment of demoniac cruelty some officer invented a device called "the wooden horse." Rough, sharp boards were nailed together so that they would form a rude imitation of a horse, the back forming a sharp ridge. On this a culprit was made to sit, sometimes for hours at a time, and to increase the pain muskets and even heavy weights were fastened to the legs.

During the peninsular war there was a punishment much used called the "strappado." It was Spanish in its origin and brutal in its torture. The soldier was hoisted up by means of a rope fastened to his arms behind his back, and then suddenly dropped with a jerk, by which process his shoulder joints were sometimes dislocated.

A form of punishment known as "bottling" or "cold burning" was dreaded by the men more than any other. It consisted in tying the offender's hand, palm uppermost, so that it was held quite motionless, and then allowing water to fall upon it, drop by drop, from a height of five feet. The pain caused in this way is said to have been so intolerable that the strongest men fainted away under its infliction.—Green Bag.

The Quest of Fortune.

"The longer I live the more firmly I am convinced," said Mr. Gozzleton, "that a man who wants a fortune has got to do something besides wish for it. Fortunes, large and small, are shy, very shy. In one form and another they are passing by all the time, but they won't stop for the mere asking, however polite and graceful and earnest the invitation may be. We might sit out on the veranda from now till doomsday and rise and bow and scrape at every one of 'em that came a'ong and ask 'em all in, but never one of 'em would stop. They might want to come in, but nothing short of actual collaring would bring 'em in. The fact is that if we want a fortune we've got to work for it.

"Men have made fortunes, to be sure, without working. Oil may spout up out the ground one owns and cover him with riches. Another man may find iron ore in his land, and so on. But such cases are so few in number that they don't count, the chances of our getting rich in that way are really not worth considering. If we would be rich we must work for it. And work early and late; all the time. Plug at it, and keep plugging at it. There is practically no other way.

"The man who idles away his time, or fails to make the best possible use of it, stays poor; the man that works for all he knows how and keeps forever at it is bound to get ahead."—New York Sun.

Profit in Whiskers.

A peculiar but profitable industry among the natives of Alaska is the preparation and sale of walrus whiskers for toothpicks.

Nature has armed the animal with whiskers that extend three or four inches from its snout, and the apparent use of which is to enable it to detect an iceberg before actual contact has taken place.

These whiskers are quite stiff, and this quality increases with age. After a walrus has been killed the natives, with the aid of rude pincers, proceed to pull out each separate hair.

After a thorough drying these hairs are arranged in neat packages and exported to China, where Chinamen of the upper class use them in their toilet.

Hunting in Pennsylvania.

There is still good hunting in Pennsylvania. During the past fiscal year Monroe County alone paid $311.50 for bounties on wild animals killed. The list included 147 mink, 140 foxes and 26 wildcats. Levi Knech of Townhurst, Lackawanna County, has found these animals particularly numerous in Coolbaugh township. In one day County paid bounties on five wildcats and five foxes shot in one locality.

Under the Scalp act of 1885 about $150,000 was expended in that year in the state for different kinds of birds and mammals. After the law had been in operation about two years it was found that the damage done through the killing of beneficial birds of prey and numerous other kinds of feathered animals which were substituted for hawks and owls was far greater than the good accomplished by the killing of these birds. In 1887 that part of the act which related to hawks and owls was repealed.

Throughout the state foxes, red and gray; wildcats, mink and weasels, or ermine, are much more numerous than is commonly supposed. Bounties were paid for 42,292 foxes, 30,448 mink, 13,684 weasels and 3,081 wildcats. The foregoing figures represent only a portion of the bounties of the state. The counties of Alleghany, Philadelphia and Delaware paid practically no bounties for birds or mamals under the act of 1885; all other counties paid liberally for this unwise measure.—New York Press.

Revival of Medieval Art.

A delightful revival of medieval art is crochet work in gold and silver thread. Besides beauty and brilliancy it possesses great durability. A collar or an edging, a small triangular piece for the coif, will last the owner a lifetime. It gives the finest effect when applied to black or dark colored velvet. No matter how fashion may go it never loses its popularity altogether. —New York Mail and Express.

New South Wales has 900,000 acres of wheat.

How Relief Came.

From Cole County Democrat, Jefferson City, Mo.

When la grippe visited this section, about seven years ago, Herman H. Eveler, of 811 W. Main St., Jefferson, Mo., was one of the victims, and has since been troubled with the after-effects of the disease. He is a well-known contractor and builder, a business requiring much mental and physical work. A year ago his health began to fail alarmingly, and that he lives to-day is almost a miracle. He says:

"I was troubled with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and a general debility. My back also pained me severely.

"I tried one doctor after another and numerous remedies suggested by my friends, but without apparent benefit, and began to give up hope. Then I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People extolled in a St. Louis paper, and after investigation, decided to give them a trial.

A Contractor's Difficulty.

"After using the first box I felt wonderfully relieved and was satisfied that the pills were putting me on the road to recovery. I bought two more boxes and continued taking them.

"After taking four boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People I am restored to good health and feel like a new man. I am now capable of transacting my business with increased ambition.

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a wonderful medicine and anyone that is afflicted with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration and general debility, will find that these pills are the specific. HERMAN H. EVELER."

Subscribed and sworn to before me, a Notary Public, this 24th day of May, 1897.

ADAM POUTSZONG, Notary Public.

Mr. Eveler will gladly answer any inquiry regarding this if stamp is enclosed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure people troubled with the after-effects of the grippe because they act directly on the impure blood. They are also a specific for chronic erysipelas, catarrh, rheumatism and all diseases due to impure or impoverished blood.

All of the beggars in Italy must be duly licensed.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

Natal's wool production decreased in 1897 20 per cent.

Among people where the practice of economy is a necessity, the buying of soap is an important yearly item. The grocer who has an eye to larger profits, may not suggest Ivory Soap. He will recommend nothing else if he is conscientious. Ivory Soap is a pure soap, all through. That makes it the most economical and best. A perfect soap for the toilet and laundry.

IT FLOATS.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

Write Quick FOR FREE SCHOLARSHIP.
ACTUAL BUSINESS TAUGHT
Railroad Fare Paid. POSITIONS GUARANTEED. Open all year to Both Sexes.
Georgia-Alabama Business College,
MACON, GEORGIA.

COLEMAN'S TOBACCO OIL LINIMENT
Is the Best Liniment in the World
For Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Toothache Corns, Stiff Joints, Sores, Poisonous Bites and Stings, all Lameness of Horses, and all ailments requiring an external remedy. Certificate good for a year's subscription to Southern Farmer given with every bottle for 25 cents, by Druggists and Country Merchants, or by mail postpaid upon receipt of price. Stamps taken.
H. G. COLEMAN MEDICINE CO., DURHAM, N. C.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-22

COMPLETE MILL OUTFITS. Cotton, Saw, Grist, Oil and Fertilizer
Gin, Press, Cane Mill and Shingle Outfits.
Building, Bridge, Factory, Furnace and Railroad Castings.
Railroad, Mill, Machinists' and Factory Supplies. Belting, Packing, Injectors, Pipe Fittings, Saws, Files, Oilers, Etc.
Cast every day; work 180 hands.
LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO., AUGUSTA, GA.

Good All the Year Round.
ST. ANDREWS COLD TEA
For the Liver.

OPIUM Habit. NEW HOME CURE. Painless. No Detention from work. Guaranteed. Write DR. PURDY, Houston, Texas.

EXPOSURE to WET and COLD

HAS proven disastrous to many women. Wet feet and damp clothing chill the entire system and the delicate female organs are at once effected. Painful, Profuse, Suppressed or Obstructed Menses, Whites, Falling of the Womb, or some other health-destroying disease is almost certain to follow such exposure unless proper precautions are taken. When any of these diseases appear women should begin the use of

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea.
TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

It will regulate the menses, cure all forms of female disease, and give health and strength. It is used in the privacy of the home. No consultations. No humiliating examinations. If there is any tendency to constipation or indigestion take mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator.

MY DAUGHTER SUFFERED INTENSELY
From female irregularities, and had tried physicians and other remedies, but could get no relief, and we had despaired of her recovery. We were induced to try Gerstle's Female Panacea, and I believe it saved her life.
A. J. MACE, Jamestown, Tenn.
For Sale at Drug Stores, $1.00 per Bottle.
L. GERSTLE & CO., Props., Chattanooga, Tenn.

ALWAYS !

GOING

TO THE SHOP.

That's the way with a Watch that has been patched up by a Cobbler.

Take your Watch to a man that will guarantee his work and refund money when he cannot give satisfaction. I do not want man's money for nothing. I try to give value received. With ostly tools and a well selected stock of materials, I am able to do ything in the line of WATCH REPAIRING, and guarantee very job first-class. I am here to stay, and when your Watch es not stand, you know where to find me. I do not get your oney and be somewhere else when your Watch fails on you, ut I am always here to make my work good. I want the patnage of every watch owner in this part of the country, and will ppreciate the same, and will do all I can to serve you well. I rry a small stock of Watches, Clocks and Jewelry!

Which I sell as cheap as can be had anywhere. Send me your work by mail or express. My prices are very reasonable. Remember I guarantee all my work, and will refund money when I cannot make your watch give satisfaction. Come to see me or send me your work.

Yours for Business,

J. W. MARTIN,

Montevallo, Ala.

Brierfield -:- Normal -:- College

AND

COMMERCIAL INSTITUTE !

Is Not a University, Nor is it the Best School in the State.

It is simply a new institution designed to meet the demands of aspiring young people by giving them thorough training, in all the ordinary courses, cheaper than other schools of like grade.

It is thoroughly and permanently organized with a Board of Control composed of men of affairs, and a splendid corps of trained teachers.

It earnestly solicits the patronage of those desiring thorough work, and desires to be judged strictly by its results.

It affords many superior advantages, some of which are as follows:

HEALTHY LOCATION.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

GOOD SOCIAL ADVANTAGES.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS.

VERY REASONABLE TERMS

For further information, address

J. M. COLLIER, President,

or W. A. GIBBON, Vice President.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remi ted.

Make Your Notes Payab'e at this Bank

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Subscribe

For

THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Now is the time to clean up your premises.

Hon. J. G. Moore, of Blocton, was in town yesterday.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Mr. Walter Fowlkes, of Birmingham, was in town yesterday.

Country produce is a scarce commodity in our town at present.

FOR SALE.—A good horse for only $25 00. Apply at News office.

Mr. Eugene Reynolds, of Blocton, was a visitor to our town yesterday.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

Felix Dotson, the barber, has a new chair, and also an attractive new sign.

Mr. Frank Vest, of Birmingham, is among his old Montevallo friends this week.

Messrs. Wiley Gray and Sylvester Owen, of Six Mile, were in town yesterday.

Mrs. R. J. Ash, of Branchville, Ala., visited her brother, C. C. Vandegrift, last week.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

When you are very warm and thirsty, go to Crowe's and get a glass of ice cold soda water.

Mr. S. J. Morgan, of Blocton, attended the closing exercises of the school this week.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Miss Imogene Vandegrift has draped her home very beautifully in bunting—red, white and blue.

Mr. John Newton, of Springville, Ala., attended the closing exercises of the school this week

Editor N. A. Graham, of the Shelby Sentinel, was in town yesterday and gave us a pleasant call.

Our town is alive with visitors this week attending the closing exercises of the Girls' Industrial School.

FOR RENT —The huilding formerly occupied by Newton & Nolen. For terms apply at the NEWS office.

Mrs. Pat Kroell has been very ill for several days, but we are glad to state that she is now convalescent.

Messrs. Sylvester Vandegrift and R. R. Robinson, of Birmingham, visited their uncle, C C. Vandegrift, last week.

Mr. Charley Davis, an old Montevallo boy, but now railroading in Kentucky, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Theo. Allen.

Miss Leila Parker, one of Columbiana's most beautiful and popular young ladies, is visiting the Misses Kroell.

J. J. Little, Esq., of Blocton, is attending the closing exercises of the school. He is stopping at the St. George.

Dr. J. D. Trammell will rebuild at once on his vacant lot between the residences of Dr. Crowe and Mr. C. C. Vandegrift.

Messrs. French Nabors, Eugene Fancher and Edgar Cary left a few weeks ago for Mobile, and are now doing soldier duty.

Lum Banks is an unusually tall man anyway, but now he feels head and shoulders above anybody in Montevallo. It's a pretty little girl.

Capt. McKibbon has built a free bath house at his saw mill for the use of his friends and customers. You can take either a hot or cold bath.

We think Mr. McConaughy's residence looks very pretty since it has been repainted, but would rather see it red, white and blue instead of green.

Misses Lillie and Theodocia Pratt, of River Bend, are attending the closing exercises of the school, and are stopping with their sister, Mrs. F. F. Crowe.

Lightning Ice Cream Freezers, the best on the market. Will make cream better and quicker than any other freezer. This freezer was made especially for Morgan Bros., the up-to date merchants. Call and get one.

Mr. R. L. Rice came up from Mobile last week and spent several days with friends and relatives. He returned to Mobile Saturday evening, accompanied by Mr. Will Knauff, who goes to join the vast army of volunteers already there.

Mr. Eli Shortridge, of Woodstock, attended the closing exercises of the school this week. Eli is an old Montevallo boy, and his many friends were glad to see him. He is now conductor on a through freight from Chattanooga to Meridian.

A couple eloped from Maylene the other day, and got as far as Calera. Soon after their arrival there the young lady's father appeared on the scene. Had it not been for Kroell's fast horses the county would be richer by $1.50, but as it is she is still Green.

The Carlisle Bros., of Talladega, have just completed for Mr. James L. McConaughy one of the prettiest jobs of painting we have ever seen. The house being two story, with a long veranda, was shaped beautifully for two colors, which colors show taste and artistic skill. The upper story is of the fashionable shade of red; the lower story is of two beautiful shades of green, and the windows of both stories are painted black, with dark, rich green blinds.

A fatal accident happened near Birmingham Junction yesterday afternoon, in which Martha Jones, colored, lost her life. It seems that the woman was walking down the railroad track going toward Brierfield, when a freight train going north came along and struck her, knocking her down. The train was stopped and she was picked up and brought to Montevallo, where she died in a short while after being put off at the depot. The engineer said the woman got off the track in plenty time to escape injury, but just before the engine got to her, she stepped upon the track again just in front of it and it was impossible for him to stop before she was struck. We learn that the woman lived at Dolomite.

H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks !

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD.

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away. To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Subscribe for the News.

Don't Eat Biscuits

When You Can Get Good Bread.

BEST'S BAKERY

BAKES FRESH BREAD EVERY DAY.

BEST

Bakes the BEST Bread!

ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

Will Bake Anything to Order!

Cakes, Buns and Rolls Always on Hand!

Don't Forget Best's Bakery!

Patronize Home Industry.

Her Secret Signal.

Nervous housewives whose husbands frequently bring home company to dinner without preliminary warning often worry in their secret hearts to supply the unexpected guests. A matron living in one of the prettiest suburban residences in West Philadelphia, whose husband persists in bringing home guests at the most inopportune times, has hit upon a happy expedient to meet possible emergencies.

In passing any dish at the table of which there may be a limited supply the hostess makes a point to mention the enigmatical letters, F. H. B. in such a manner as not to attract the attention of the guests around the board. Immediately the members of the family are aware of the circumstances, and discreetly partake very lightly, if at all, of the viands in question. The secret of the three letters was solved a few days ago, and the hostess afterwards laughingly confessed her little scheme. F. H. B., in this instance stands for family hold back.—Boston Traveler.

A Matter of Business.

Greene—"It is funny you permit Wigginton to drink coffee when you know it makes him bilious, and you are all the time doctoring him for biliousness. Why don't you make him leave off coffee?"

Dr. Gray—"And lose me a patient? I guess not."—Boston Transcript.

Public Clocks.

Few great cities of America are adequately provided with public clocks of such a size and so prominent location as to indicate the time over wide metropolitan districts. But it is high time to check kidney and bladder complaint manifested to the sufferer by inactivity of the organs affected. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters remedies this as it does dyspepsia, rheumatism, constipation, biliousness and nervousness.

A magnetic survey is to be made of Prussia, on whose coast regions magnetic measurements have been carried out by the imperial naval authorities. The stations will be 24 miles apart, and the cost $12,500.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

As a successful writer of fiction the man who gets out the weather report easily distances all competitors.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

The cells composing the epidermis are 1-1900 of an inch in diameter.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco stands unrivalled for purity and flavor. Made from the purest, ripest and sweetest Tobacco. It will please you. Try it

There is talk of establishing a school of mines in Johannesburg.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Missouri has more chickens than any other state in the union.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

For Whooping Cough, Piso's Cure is a successful remedy.—M. P. DIETER, 67 Throop Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 14, 1894.

Undulating land is better for the growth of crops than a level soil.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

A new German church has been completed in Jerusalem at a cost of $200,000.

What You Get

When You Buy Medicine is a Matter of Great Importance.

Do you get that which has the power to eradicate from your blood all poisonous taints and thus remove the cause of disease? Do you buy HOOD'S Sarsaparilla and only Hood's? If you do, you may take it with the utmost confidence that it will do you good. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, indigestion.

A JAGUAR'S TRICK.

The Clever Way in Which He Fooled the Caymans and Crossed a River.

Robert Wilson Fenn contributes to the St. Nicholas an interesting story about "The Jaguar and the Caymans." Mr. Fenn was camping on the banks of the Upper Magdalena River, in Columbia, South America, and this is what he saw.

We had finished our evening meal, and I was enjoying my customary smoke under the toldilla, or netting, and chatting with my Indian companions, when, suddenly, the most awful series of catcalls that I had ever heard disturbed our peace and the night air. A prolonged yowl, like the united voices all the cats on all the roofs of a large town, made the cold chills creep up and down my spine and gooseflesh to run all over me.

"What is it?" I asked one of the men. "El tigre, senor!" (The tiger, sir!) he replied; "ra a pasar el rio" (he is going to cross the river.) "Let him cross if he wants to," said I; "but what does he want to upset my supper and spoil my after-dinner smoke with his hideous noise?" Come and see, senor," he replied, and taking up his gun, motioned me to follow him. Softly we crep along the margin of the creek toward the river, and making our way through the spines of the overhanging bamboos, came out upon the narrow beach near the mouth of the creek.

Sure enough, by crawling cautiously along in the shadow of the bluff, we saw our musical friend squatted on his haunches, with head thrown back and mouth open, emitting the most blood-curdling serenades one could expect to hear, and looking for all the world like a gigantic tabby cat. But what connection such a noise could have with his passage of the river I failed to see.

"Anastasio," I said in a whisper, "doesn't the foolish fellow know that he will draw all the alligators together, and when he gets into the water he will swim off in sections? "Leave him alone," chuckled the Indian; "he knows how to get across." So, crouching down in the bushes on the bank of the river, we waited for his next move. I think we must nave been there about twenty minutes or half an hour, and I was becoming almost worn out with the attacks of the mosquitos, when the concert suddenly ceased. At the same moment the moon came out clear and bright from behind a cloud, and Anastasio, nudging my arm, pointed to the surface of the water in front of the jaguar. At first I thought there were a number of sticks in the water, but as the current was swift and they were motionless in their places, I was for a moment puzzled. "Caymanos" (alligators), whispered the Indian, and I saw that his eyes were better than mine. There were the ugly snouts of half a dozen of the big fellows, some well out of water, and some just showing their nostrils and the bumps over their eyes, but all ready for their expected prey.

But they were to be disappointed this time; for the jaguar, immediately upon the conclusion of his serenade started off up-stream as hard as he could run along the bank of the river, and when he had gone about 500 yards dropped softly into the water and swam safely across, while his baffled enemies were unable to make fast enough time upstream against the swift current to get him.

Dr. Gattling's Gun.

Humanitarian reasons induced Dr. Gatling to invent his famous gun, whose capacity of 1,200 shots a minute has revolutionized war. An unthinking person said to him about nine years ago: "Why did you invent anything so fearfully destructive of life, doctor? Don't you feel like a murderer?" The inventor replied: "When I saw the Ohio and Indiana boys coming back from the war on stretchers, wounded and emaciated, I decided that something ought to be devised to take the places of some of them—something that would do the work of 50 men, so that the other 49 could remain at home and toil. On that general plan I set to work, and while my gun may be hard on the enemy it is a saving on our side, and puts an end to long campaigns."

Dr. Gatling is a Tar Heel. The North Carolinans in the Confederate army were made fun of by the Virginians on the march. "Hello, Tar Heel," always brought forth the observation, "Yas, Tar Heel; always stick in a fight." The doctor took the degree M. D. about 1849, but never practiced his profession. The first specimen of his gun was finished in Indiana in 1862. While in the West he also invented other laborsaving apparatuses—a wheat drill, a reaper and a hemp-break, and would have been known as an inventor of the screw propeller had not Ericsson got in a few days ahead of him. Gatling should be a very rich man. The United States, England and Russia have adopted his mitrailleuse for use in their armies, and it has been tested critically and curcially by every other nation on earth with the exception of the Greeks and Belgians. He is just 80 years old. —New York Press.

Spain's Treatment of Columbus.

Some of the Spanish papers in the controversies of the past few weeks have accused Americans of ingratitude toward the land which sent Christopher Columbus on his voyag of discovery. While Spain, or rather Queen Isabella, is entitled to the credit of that great navigator's achievement, the former has no special reason for pride in recalling her treatment of him.

Columbus, himself, was not a Spaniard, and it was only after years of weary waiting that he secured the authority and aid to make his first voyage. After the first excitement of his discovery wore off Columbus experienced all the fickleness, ingratitude and treachery of the Spanish character. From one of his voyages he was sent home in irons. After Queen Isabella's death, the king, Ferdinand, who never was friendly to the one man who had made his reign famous, treated him with shameful neglect, and Columbus, who had added a new world to the possessions of Spain, died in poverty and disgrace. It was characteristic of adopted people and of the ingrate king that a pompous funeral was accorded to the remains of the man who, while living, had been turned out like an abused and abandoned horse, to die in penury and neglect. The dust of Christopher Columbus now reposes in the cathedral of Havana. Should Spain be driven from Cuba it is to be hoped that in abandoning the last of her American possessions she will leave on the soil of the new world discovered by him the remains of the great explorer of whose achievements and glory she proved herself unworthy.—Mexico Two Republics.

Little Pigs in Clover.

Michael Barry of Hallstead, Penn., has made himself famous on account of his wonderful invention. A few days since seventeen pigs, the largest litter ever known in this section, arrived on Barry's farm. The mother had made no arrangements for such a large family, and something had to be done to provide nourishment for the younk rooters, so the inventive genius of Barry came into play.

He made a large tin receptacle, and around the bottom of this mainature reservoir he attached short pieces of rubber hose to small holes made for the purpose. On the ends are fastened the pail is filled with milk, and the young pigs waddle up and draw nourishment. The litter is doing well.—New York Press.

Family Grave for Sale.

Charles Surface's attempt to sell his ancestors' portraits has been improved on by an advertiser in a religious journal, who announces: "Lady, leaving England permanently, must sell family grave; hold five." This is probably the first time that a second-hand tomb and its contents have been publicly offered as a bargain.

Purely a Local Disease.

Eczema is a local disease and needs local treatment. The irritated, diseased skin must be soothed and smoothed and healed. No use to dose yourself and ruin your stomach just because of an itching eruption. Tetterine is the only simple, safe and certain cure for Tetter, Eczema, Ringworm and other skin troubles. At druggists or by mail for 50 cents in stamps. J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

Brooklyn is to have the world's biggest sugar refinery.

Sent free, Klondike Map

From Gold Commission's official survey. Address Gardner & Co., Colorado Springs, Colo.

ST. VITUS' DANCE, SPASMS and all nervous diseases permanently cured by the use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for FREE $1.00 trial bottle and treatise to Dr. R. H. Kline, Ltd., 931 Arch Street, Phila., Pa.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

A. M. Priest, Druggist, Shelbyville, Ind., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure gives the best of satisfaction, Can get plenty of testimonials, as it cures every one who takes it." Druggists sell it, 75c.

Mississippi has only 1.38 per cent, of the railroad mileage in the country.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

The Feminine Way.

Little Clarence (a youthful Solomon)—Pa, nobody can never tell what a woman will do next, can they?

Mr. Calinipers—No, my son; and if you could tell, it would not be advisable for you to do so, for if you did she would be sure to do something else.

AN OPERATION AVOIDED.

Mrs. Rosa Gaum Writes to Mrs. Pinkham About it. She Says:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I take pleasure in writing you a few lines to inform you of the good your Vegetable Compound has done me. I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me; it has, indeed, helped me wonderfully. For years I was troubled with an ovarian tumor, each year growing worse, until at last I was compelled to consult with a physician. He said nothing could be done for me but to go under an operation.

In speaking with a friend of mine about it, she recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, saying she knew it would cure me. I then sent for your medicine, and after taking three bottles of it, the tumor disappeared. Oh! you do not know how much good your medicine has done me. I shall recommend it to all suffering women.—Mrs. ROSA GAUM, 720 Wall St., Los Angeles, Cal.

The great and unvarying success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in relieving every derangement of the female organs, demonstrates it to be the modern safeguard of woman's happiness and bodily strength. More than a million women have been benefited by it.

Every woman who needs advice about her health is invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham. at Lynn, Mass.

Sour Stomach

"After I was induced to try CASCARETS, I will never be without them in the house. My liver was in a very bad shape. and my head ached and I had stomach trouble. Now, since taking Cascarets, I feel fine. My wife has also used them with beneficial results for sour stomach."
JOS. KREHLING, 1921 Congress St., St. Louis, Mo.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable, Potent. Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe, 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 318

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

WRITE L. FULTON, Att'y, Denton, Tex., if you have money due you in Texas or South.

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 9, '98. NO. 22

I WONDER IF SHE'D CARE?

From the Cleveland Leader.

I wonder if she'd care if I
Should go away to fight?
I wonder if she'd shed a tear
If I should go to-night
To her and say the time had come
For me to do my share
In putting down my country's foes—
I wonder if she'd care?

I wonder if she'd care if I
Fell, bleeding, on the plain,
Or if it were my lot to win
Renown upon the main?
Oh, if responsive to the call
For men to do and dare,
I donned a soldier's uniform,
I wonder if she'd care?

If it should tell her I must go
To mingle in the fray,
I wonder—oh, I wonder—if
She'd beg that I would stay?
If I became a soldier boy,
I wonder if she'd care?
I long to test her love for me,
But, oh, I do not dare.

A WOMAN'S HEROISM.

Kate Hutcheson Morrisette, Chairman Committee of Education in Alabama Federation of Clubs. Writes Forcefully on an Interesting Subject.

Montgomery Advertiser.

More than 1,800 years ago a woman anointed her Saviour's feet. He said: "Wherever this gospel is preached, this shall be told for a memorial of her." Before that day monuments had been built to great men; did this word give divine sanction to memorializing womanly devotion and heroism? To exalted and Christ-like characters the consciousness of duty done is a reward that surpasses all the world's praise, and is only surpassed by the blessed words of the gentle Master, "Well done, enter into the joy of thy Lord."

But in the evolution of character which is education's aim, we employ every persuasion to form habits of obedience to duty. In every country on the globe monuments to heroes challenge ihe emulation of youth; memorials to heroic womanhood constrain by the power of love the hearts of tender girlhood. Every educational institution employs the stimulant of a distinctive mark of merit for those who lead in scholarship and good conduct. Every community rewards the brave and upright unless the distase of politics palsies the hand of power.

So—I do not apologize for asking "a little space to stand in for today" while I tell you of an incident that proclaims the power of purpose, the inspiration of principle and the sustaining strength of love.

Up here at Montevallo, in the great school that Alabama has laid as her tribute to womanhood, a beautiful young girl was stricken with malignant smallpox. All fled terror-stricken at this terrible approach of death, or death in life. Even those who loved her had to go away, in sorrow and in tears. One only and alone remained, the matron, Miss Pattie Purnell. Night and day in the deserted house she battled with death for the stricken girl. The soldier who follows waving banners and beating drums amid the pomp of war, is his heroism greater than was hers, with her conscience for banner and drum, and her great captain, Christ, the crucified?

"All pass by on the other side, except our devoted and faithful physician, Dr. Wilkinson," said a letter Miss Parnell wrote, fumigated (for her mind was as active and perfectly balanced as her heart), and delivered to a minister whom she called as he was passing, to post what she felt might be her last message before she "crossed the bar."

In a few days the patient and nurse were removed to an isolated cottage, and a professional nurse from Birmingham was secured as assistant. The self-instituted nurse staid on, nursing still, and also cooking and ministering to every need, as she had faithfully done from the first stroke of the pestilence.

When the climax was passed and serious danger over, Miss Purnell, supported by Martha's thrift and Mary's devotion, consented to resume entire charge, and dispense with the trained nurse at $20 per week. For five long weeks she remained shut off with her precious charge, and though the anxiety and responsibility marked her face with their ineffaceable lines, and silvered her hair, the only pity she has ever been heard to claim is for the sweet girl so terribly stricken that to her dying day she will never be the same.

Can we calculate with mathematical exactness what the school owes a matron with "occupation gone" on the heels of fleeing faculty and pupils, who remained as smallpox nurse, cook and waitress?

The Birmingham professional nurse charged $20 a week for each of two weeks, and this is a basis for one item. How many dollars and cents would pay for the cooking and other ministrations is not perhaps easily calculated.

It is beyond the prerogative of even our good governor adequately to reward her. She is one to whom doing right is "the natural way of living." Her life is hid with Christ in God and God alone will crown it.

Be our duty to her what it may, can we afford to neglect the educative force that lies in a recognition of heroism and duty?

Shall we, if the Industrial School be financially unable, step in with the scant justice of smallpox nurses' wages, and restitution for loss of clothing? The principles of mathematics and economics are world-wide and binding, but with Euclid's problems coexist Plato's philosophy and Christ's precepts.

This institute should not attempt to keep her in a place it cannot afford to maintain. But Alabama women will unite their voices to the voice of Montevallo to beg that the treatment of Miss Purnell shall show that there never is left forgotten one who risks all, even life itself, in the discharge of duty.

Montevallo builds a tribute to itself when it memorializes her. Alabama educates her youth when she proves there is a distinction made between one who flees from duty and one who does right for right's sake.

Hot Weather

Don't Affect Our Prices....

We Are the

Acknowledged Leaders in Low Prices.

We keep everything kept by a

First-Class Store.

MORGAN BROS.

WHO WILL WIN

Votes Allowed for Subscriptions

For every new subscription or renewal for a year, accompanied by $1 in cash, one hundred votes will be given.

For every six months subscription or renewal, paying 50 cents, fifty (50) votes will be given.

For a three months subscription or renewal, paying 25 cents, twenty-five (25) votes will be given.

All subscriptions will be stopped when time paid for expires, unless ordered continued.

Commissions Paid

As the NEWS allows a commission on all subscriptions and renewals obtained, all persons who enter the contest for one of the prizes will have an opportunity to earn some money by this means. The ballot printed below will entitle the bearer to one vote in the contest. If you wish to vote cut it out and write the name and address of your candidate on it and forward it to Mr. . F. Crabbe, Montevallo, Ala., who will count the votes in the contest, and place them to the credit of the persons whose names they bear. This coupon will be published every week during the contest, as will also a summary of the vote showing the standing of the various candidates to date. No votes will be received or counted at this office.

The following is the form of the ballot. Cut it out, fill in properly the name of your candidate and forward as above directed.

BALLOT

Good for One Vote

IN THE CONTEST FOR

FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS

EASTMAN

Business College,

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Write plainly the name and address of the person for whom you wish to vote on the dotted lines below:

Name.....

P O.....

County .....State.....

The Competition

Begins from April 28, and the winners of the four prize scholarships will be announced in the first issue of September, 1898. The names of unsuccessful competitors in the contest will also be announced, and every young man or woman who secures as many as five new subscribers for the NEWS, will receive besides commissions a prize of some sort, the exact character of which will be announced later. Thus no one whose success in this work amounts to anything worthy of recognition will go unrewarded, but there will be prizes practically for everybody. So if you do not win one of the educational prizes, you may win something valuable of another kind.

Information concerning commissions will be furnished personally or by mail from this office. Catalogue and other literature of the College may be had by addressing Clement C. Gaines, President, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

AT MONTEVALLO

The Girls' Industrial School.

Montgomery Advertiser.

At Montevallo has been wrought within two years a modern miracle.

The conviction that the measure of a State's greatness is the elevation of its women grew and deepened in Alabama and took tangible form a few years ago in a bill offered in the legislature by Hon. S. D. Bloch, for an appropriation to establish an Industrial School for Girls.

The new idea hurt the law-makers at first, and a meagre appropriation only was made. By waiting for another year enough was on hand to make a small beginning. It was entrusted to Capt. H. C. Reynolds, of Montevallo, where the school was located, and with the courage of a Napoleon he begun this work. He has almost made "bricks without straw," in the wonderful work he has accomplished with so little money in so short a time.

The commencement exercises just closed a year remarkable in many ways. The demoralization caused by panic and pestilence at the beginning of the session perhaps resulted in cutting off patronage, and yet, before Christmas, 350 girls from fifty counties were there, and a new life was opening for many of them.

Under what seems, to the thoughful, the guidance of the All-wise one, a superb faculty was gathered for this new school, teachers who were professionals in their departments, and whose sincere and thorough work has been the wonder and admiration of all who are in touch with the school. Most of them have worked with an unselfish devotion to the cause that cannot be too highly valued by parents and trustees, by legislators, and all who love Alabama and glory in the institution that is fitting her daughters to shine in all departments of woman's world.

The school is a veritable little world of its own. The telegraph wires, manipulated by the skillful hands of a class of girls expert in that line, connects it with the great world without, and the latest news is flashed into the room where the accomplished teacher, Mrs. Hudson, is training young women for actual service.

Across the way the whirr of fifty sewing machines and the piles of beautiful dresses that rival the latest of New York creations, attest the superb work and training of Mrs. Gussie Nelson, the head of the department of dressmaking, and Miss Saunders, her able assistant.

Then, under the direction of Miss Tall, one of Baltimore's finest milliners, hundreds of artistic hats and bonnets were made and sold, realizing nearly $1,500 in sales. Here girls are taught, not only to make and trim, but to purchase materials to pack and ship all the business involved in such work.

Stenography and typewriting are taught, and several young ladies secured certificates of proficiency under an examination by experts.

After a complete round of the industrial departments, visitors were invited into a spacious dining room, where a beautifully appointed dinner table appealed to the eye and appetite. Graceful waiters in the school uniform, with white aprons and dainty caps, handled the well prepared viands that the girls of the cooking school sent in as their credentials.

The schools of Music, Art, Literature, Mathematics, Pedagogy, Latin and History are of high standard, and measure up to those of distinctly literary schools. Much could be said of Miss Kennedy, Miss Haley, Miss Lee, Miss Crumpton, Mrs. Cochran, Professor Simmons, Miss Stallworth, Miss Fitts, Mrs. Babb, the lady principal, and others who have helped the president and the trustees to make this great school what it is. All that is needed now is that the people should recognize the possibilities that are ahead for our girls of unlimited means, and make public sentiment that will encourage our law-makers to give adequate appropriation to this important work. Buildings are needed, water works are absolutely necessary, new departments should be opened, grounds improved, and better salaries paid the teachers.

It is designed primarily as a school for girls of limited means, and not to interfere with schools that have no State aid.

TO ESTABLISH SCHOLARSHIPS.

The effort is being made by the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs to establish a number of scholarships for girls who are unable to meet even the small expense involved in attending the Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo. Mrs. J. L. McConaughy, of Montevallo, a prominent club woman, has this school very near her heart, and is at the head of the movement to secure from the thirty-five clubs funds to establish these scholarships and to build up a library for the hundreds of girls who can thus be brought into touch with great literature. The Studiosis of Montevallo, under Mrs. McConaughy, a noble little club of a dozen members is giving generously to these causes, and in their unselfish devotion they are models for the eight hundred federated women of Alabama. One dollar a year from each would educate eight girls, and new influences would be started in this State that will widen and deepen, and only "far off in eternal years" can the good be measured that will be wrought by the splendid and united force of Alabama's organized womanhood. The Shakspeare Club of Mobile, under its noble president, Mrs. Harry Inge, has already undertaken to support one girl from Mobile county. The No Name Club of Montgomery has voted a generous sum to help send a Montgomery county girl, and other clubs will take up the good work.

At their recent meeting the trustees passed resolutions gratefully recognizing the sympathetic interest shown by the Alabama Federation in the Girls' Industrial School

A GOOD RESULT.

All who read the article, "A Woman's Heroism," in these columns, by Kate Hutcheson Morrissette, will be glad to know that the trustees recognized in a substantial way the noble services of Miss Purnell, the matron, who was the heroine referred to.

HOW TO ENLIST.

Cut out the ballot printed on first page, write on it the name of your candidate and send it in. This will count one vote. Subscribe for the News, or renew your subscription for one year, and name the young person you desire to have credited. This will entitle him or her to 100 votes. On the 1st of September the scholarship will be awarded to the four boys or girls who receive she highest number of votes. This is simple and easy—all you have to do is to send in your votes in order to put your favorite to the front. We hope you will help us to place the News in many more households during the next few months.

Those who are contemplating entering the race should do it at once in order that their friends may know of their purpose to compete.

The contest is open to any lady or gentlemau in Shelby county. Information concerning the contest can be had on application at this office.

It is a great leap from the old fashioned doses of blue-mass and nauseous physics to the pleasant little pills known as DeWitt's Little Eearly Risers. They cure constipation, sick headache and biliousness. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said: "The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

TEN FOR FIVE CENTS
R·I·P·A·N·S
ONE GIVES RELIEF

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

THE BRICK HOTEL,
ST GEORGE,
ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,
Montevallo, - - - Ala.
New and Centrally Located.
☞ Special attention given the commercial man.
Rates $2 00 per day.
Large sample room free.

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber,
Montevallo, - - Ala.
Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Mr. George Kroell visited Birmingham Monday.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Our town has put on its usual dull summer look.

FOR SALE.—A good horse for only $25 00. Apply at News office.

Banks Bros. have started up their new brick yard.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

Let's have Montevallo incorporated and Major Strong for mayor.

Mr. John Garner will build a brick residence in our town during the summer.

Mrs. J W. Martin, who has been on the sick list for several days, is improving.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds went up to Birmingham Saturday evening on business.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

A good rain is very badly needed. The long drouth has about ruined all of the gardens.

John Carlisle returned to his home at Talladega last Saturday on the sick list. We hope he will soon be himself again.

When you are very warm and thirsty, go to Crowe's and get a glass of ice cold soda water.

Mrs. C. W. Cary will leave to-day for Connecticut, where she will spend the heated term.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Mr. Martin, one of Clanton's bright young attorneys, was in town yesterday, and gave our office a call.

FOR RENT—The building formerly occupied by Newton & Nolen. For terms apply at the NEWS office.

Mrs. R. T. Newton has been very ill for the past few days, but we are glad to say that she is now much better.

Mrs. Maggie Garner will build a handsome residence on the vacant lot in front of F. W. Rogan's residence.

The lecture by Rev. P. L Abernethy on his trip to Baltimore, was enjoyed by the large congregation Sunday night.

We understand that Dr. Givhan will, in the near future, build a nice residence on his lot near the M. E. Church.

Ernest West is building a three room cottage on a lot recently bought from A. M. Cross, on the other side of the railroad.

Miss Lena Young, of Weams, Ala., and Miss Vivian Walton, of Brookside, Ala, are visiting Mrs. D. W. Shivers this week.

Miss Draper, of Oxford, Ala., visited her brother, John Draper, of our town, last week, and also attended the closing exercises of the school.

We are reliably informed that J. M. Reynolds, Esq, will establish an ice factory in our town at an early day. Let the wheels of progress roll onward.

Mrs. Payne, of Longview, has bought the West property just across the foot bridge, and has moved to Montevallo. She is erecting a store house on her lot.

Mrs. James L. McConaughy entertained delightfully her club, the "Studiosis," on Tuesday of last week, complimentary to her guest, Mrs. Geo. B. Eager, of Montgomery.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds was re-elected by the Board of Trustees of the Girls' Industrial School as president for the term of 1898-99. All the rest of the faculty were also reappointed.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Gist, of Columbiana, were in town Tuesday. While here Mr. Gist gave us a pleasant call. Frank is "one of the boys," and it looks natural to see him in a print shop. Call around again.

Lightning Ice Cream Freezers, the best on the market. Will make cream better and quicker than any other freezer. This freezer was made especially for Morgan Bros., the up-to date merchants. Call and get one.

Dr. D. L. Wilkinson, when he picked from the street a little negro almost blind and saved his eyesight, not only displayed his skill as a physician, but a kind and generous heart. Bread cast upon the waters will, after many days, return.

Miss Nannie Shivers left Saturday for Mobile to visit relatives, and to attend the wedding of her cousin, Miss Willie Maupin, of Mobile, to Dr. Furguson, of Great Falls, Montana.

"Uncle" John Pynor, the veteran shoemaker, packed his "kit" Tuesday and left for his home at Stanton, Ala., where he will remain until next fall. We wish "Uncle" John a pleasant time this summer and hope he will come back next fall and be prepared to save soles.

Among the many pupils of the Industrial School during the session just closed, was Miss Annie Whitten, of Munford, Ala., who, by her many charms, made many friends. Her bright eyes and pleasant smile will be missed by more than one, and all wish for her return at the re-opening of the school.

Mr. Frank Vest and wife, of Birmingham, spent several days in town last week with relatives. While here, Mr. Vest painted a beautiful and attractive sign on the large glass window of W. D McCluney & Co.'s new drug store, and also painted a pretty arched sign over the front door of the St. George hotel.

Several of Major Strong's friends speak of him for mayor, should the town be incorporated, and they think that the major is the man for the place. He is a man whom all like, and is endowed with that sense of equity and justice that is so much needed by the chief of any municipality. Let's incorporate and then elect Major Strong for our first mayor.

BUCKTOWN PHILOSOPHY.

De cheapes' an' bes' way ter ketch fish is ter let de odder man set on de creek.

Its mighty easy ter git in er law suit, but it costs money ter git out

A woman's smile can either carry a man to heaven or send his soul to hel .

Nex to a pocket full ob money, a man is mos' pleased when his arm is roun' his bes' girl.

De laziest man in de worl' will move peart when he steps on de biznes' en' ob a tack.

Its a smart man dat understans a woman well 'nuff ter know when her NO means no.

All men likes fame, but some hab to be hung befo' dey git it.

When yer starts ter go an' make peace wid yer girl, allus sen' about fo' pouns ob candy fifteen minits ahed.

De society ob watermilion eaters ob Bucktown met de odder night ter pray fer rain, but a leadin' member put a damper on de conwenshun by sayin': "Dar ain't a dog gone bit o' use prayin fer rain as long as de win's in de norf.

De bigges' rascal in dis worl' will rob his friends as long as dey's got de money to set 'em up.

Dar's no way o' tellin how much luv dar is in de kiss ob two society women.

It is easier ter break in de penitenchury dan it is ter break out.

Dar would be lots more room in de worl' if de fool killer would 'tend to his bizness.

Dar's a heap ob men dat will crow mighty big erbout how much money dey's got 'til de tax collector comes erlong.

Dar's two things in dis worl' dat is sure—death and taxes. An' I'se yer ter meet de man dat is prepared fo' bof'.

Nigger in de co'n fiel',
Nigger wid er gun;
When he fin's er Spaniard,
Spaniard got ter run.

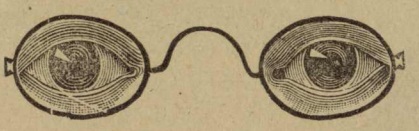
Nigger at er hoe down
Gittin' mighty Schley,
When he gits ter fightin'
Spaniards gwine ter die.

Nigger in de sunshine
Sweatin' mighty fast,
But he'll hol' Mr. Spaniard,
An' hol' him to de las'.

We would like to know how much five cent cotton will be raised in this section if this drouth continues much longer.

With the prospects of little cotton being raised in this and adjoining counties, we would like to know where the farmer's profit is coming from when he has to sell what he does make for five cents a pound.

Admiral Dewey still holds the fort at Manilla, and is compelling the insurgents to treat their prisoners according to the rules of civilized warfare.



H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

Hobson Had Nerve !

But not enough to compare with the fellow who claims he can sell as cheap as Crabbe.

Below are a few of his Hard-to-Beat Prices:

Webster's Un. Dictionary, cloth binding. 85c
" " " sheep $1.25
Complete set Shakspeare, cloth binding, 1.49
I can order you any works by any of the prominent authors, such as Shakspeare, Dickens, Scott, Thackery, etc., at one-half price.
Just received, another big line of pictures, at one-half price.
Laces, 1½c and up.
Blueing, per box, 1 to 2c
Hosiery, per pair, 5c and up.
Machine Oil, 4 and 5c
Lawns, 5c and up.
Shoe Polish, 5c and up.
Calicoes, 4 and 5c
Gents' Collars, 10c
Corsets, 22c and up.
Spool Thread—6 Cord, 3c
Ginghams, 5 and 6c
Hair Brushes, 5c and up.
Shaving Brushes, 5c and up.
Slates, 2c and up.
Ladies' Vests, 5c and up.
Stationery 50 per cent below anybody.
White Stay Binding, per doz., 10c up.
Tea Spoons, per set, 3c and up.
Table " " " 3c "
Whisk Brooms, 9c
Towel Rack, 10c
Egg Beaters, 10c
Alarm Clock, 75c
Safety Pins, per dozen, 3c and up.
Spool Silk, 4c
Kid Curlers, 4, 5 and 7c
Curling Irons, 3 and 5c
Crochet Silk, 5c (former price 30c).
5 yards Velveteen Skirt Binding, 10c
4 " " " " 8c
Side Combs, 5c and up.
Window Shades, 23c and up.
Tinware 25 per cent lower than anyone
Thimbles, each, 1c
Watch, guaranteed for 1 year, 98c
Crochet Hooks, 1 and 2c.
Bay Rum, 5c
Elastic Web, per yard, 3c and up.
Oil Cloth, per yard, 13½, 15 and 16½c
Harps, each, 3c and up.
Hand Saw, 36c
Baby Shoes, per pair, 24c
Fansy Candies uv al kindes.
Ladies' Percale Shirt Waists, 50c
Cedar Pencils, per dozen, 4c and up.
Laces, 1½c and up.
Ladies' Collars, 10c
Ladies' Cuffs, 15c
Clothes Brushes, 10c and up.
Cuff Buttons, 5c and up.
Ladies' Belts, 10c and up.
I hav on hand at al tymes Picture Frames at less than factory costs.
Full line of J. K. Orr Shoe Co's "Red Seal Slippers" from 98 to $1.98
Big line Fans. 3c to $1.24
Hooks and Eyes, per card, 1c
Base Balls, 10c to $1.40
Baby Headgear, 24c
Crash, 5c and up.
Indian Head, 8c

Yours for Business,

New York Racket Store,

Vandegrift Old Stand, MONTEVALLO, ALA.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabay

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remi ted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

"TAG."

There's a lively little game,
And you play it, every one;
"Tag" you give it for a name,
And it's full of racy fun.
Here and there the players go
Till one chances to be hit.
Then, of course, you let him know
That he happens to be "it."

Now the swallows play it, too,
While the twilight shadows creep.
When they "tag" with wings of blue,
Don't you hear their screaming "cheep?"
But the wind he beats them all,
For he "tags" the topmost leaf,
And his unseen fingers fall
On the blossom and the sheaf.

Though you like this game of "tag,"
And you play with all your heart,
When you're "it," you often lag.
Not so fine the "tagging" part;
For I sometimes hear you shout
When your turn you have to share,
Racing all the rest about,
That the playing isn't fair.

Oh, the smiling face for me
And the nimble hands and feet
That will take, and willingly,
All the bitter with the sweet!
So hurrah for "tag," I say,
And for everybody hit!
When another game you play,
Just consider that I'm "it."

PRESERVED BY WATER.

Six oak tree trunks, believed to be each 1,000 years old, were recently dredged from the bottom of the river Maine, near Karlburg. They were black, like ebony, and attracted great interest among scientists as illustrating the long life of wood under water. Wood of this sort is very rare, and the commercial value alone of the find is considerable, material of this sort being peculiarly valuable for inlaying purposes.

FAMILY COURTESY.

Probably one-half of the rudeness of youth of this day, that later in life will develop into brutality, is due to the failure of parents to enforce in the family circle the rules of courtesy. The son or daughter who is discourteous to members of the family, because of familiarity with them, is very likely to prove rude and over-bearing to others, and very certain to be a tyrant in the household over which he or she may be called on to preside.

INSTINCT OF A GOOSE.

The following incident is soberly related, and presumably true: An old goose that had been for a fortnight hatching in a farmer's kitchen, was perceived on a sudden to be taken violently ill. She soon after left the nest and repaired to an out-house where there was a young goose of the first year, which she brought with her to the kitchen. The young one immediately scrambled into the old one's nest, sat, hatched, and afterwards brought up the brood. The old goose as soon as the young one had taken her place, sat down by the side of the nest, and shortly after died. As the young goose had never been in the habit of entering the kitchen before, I know of no way of accounting for this fact, than by supposing that the old one had some way of communicating her thoughts and anxieties, which the other was perfectly able to understand.

CONUNDRUMS FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS.

When is a ship like snow?—When she's adrift.

When is a ship not a ship?—When she's astern.

When is a ship like a floor?—When she's boarded.

When is a ship like a tailor?—When sheering off.

When is a ship like a bird?—When flying before the wind.

When is a ship like a painter?—When she shows her colors.

What is smaller than a mite's mouth?—What it puts into it.

Why is a ship never alone?—Because there is always a companion.

Why is a lark like the Bank of England?—Because it issues notes.

Why is the nose in the middle of the face?—Because it's the scenter.

When is a woman like a newspaper article?—When she appears in print.

Why is a cabbage run to seed like a lover?—Because it has lost its heart.

When is a donkey like a lawyer?—When he is drawing out a conveyance.

What lock is that which no burglar can pick?—A lock from a bald head.

Why is a gypsy's tent like a beacon on the seas?—Because it's a light house.

Why is Sunday the strongest day?—Because the others are all weak days.

Why is a bad horse like a bad play?—Because it can't run and won't draw.

Why is it impossible to drown a teetotaler?—Because he keeps his nose above water.

AN ELEPHANT'S CUNNING.

This is a good story of an elephant's intelligence. The animal in question was a mere baby when he was sent by an Indian prince to England as a present for Queen Victoria.

He was shipped as a deck passenger by one of the Indian mail steamers from Bombay, and as he had but attained the height of a well-grown calf, and was always most docile and tractable, he was permitted to have the run of the decks for an hour or two every morning when the state of the weather permitted. By the sailors he was dubbed the "Bos'un's mate," owing to the penchant he had for carefully picking up every loose coil of rope that he could find and then throwing it over the side, being, as Jack said, "as bad as a naval lieutenant for keeping the decks tidy."

Among other acquaintances that he formed was that of the ship's baker, whose address he soon discovered to be the place of origin of all the sweet dainties with which he was petted. Here he took to making a regular morning call for something sweet for tiffin, and was generally regaled with a stale tart or piece of cake; but, upon calling one morning and extending his trunk, as usual, he found that his visit was unwelcome, as something had occurred to irritate the baker, and, instead of the cake, he received a blow on his trunk with the rolling pin.

The blow was not severe, but the Bo'sun turned tail and went trumpeting up the deck, where he took a post that would enable him to watch for his assailant. Before long he saw the baker leave his "shop," and mischief being his object rather than malice, he promptly marched down, and, with several vigorous sweeps of his trunk he swept all the shelves in the bakery clear, until loaves, tarts, cakes, patty pans and cake tins lay in confusion on the deck. This achieved, he bolted like any school boy, and was locked up in disgrace; but, upon the circumstances being known, the popular verdict was in his favor, and he was allowed his liberty as before.

Bo'sun marched down instanter to the baker, and never failed from that day to exact tribute, which was regularly paid, and from that time he and his opponent became fast friends.

ANIMALS THAT SING.

It is a well-known fact that many animals are attracted by music, and many anecdotes are told of mice and other animals, which have come from their holes to listen to the sound of a sweet-toned instrument. The snake charmers of India have for centuries made use of this fact, in enticing deadly snakes by means of weird music played on stringed instruments.

But, besides being attracted by musical sounds, many animals other than birds, at times utter sounds very different from their ordinary cries, which are very sweet, and may fairly be called singing.

Most people have heard of singing mice. They are not very frequently heard of in this country, but in some foreign countries, notably Germany and France, they are rather common. They are common mice that are supposed to have a disease of the throat, which makes them utter a noise like the note of a canary. They are not a distinct species.

A man while hunting in the woods near Dover, N. H., heard what sounded like the singing of a bird among the branches, a short distance from him. The note was so peculiar that he turned his steps toward the sound to find out what species of bird was making it. To his utter amazement he found that it came from a red squirrel, sitting upright on a bough, singing away as if in love with its own melody. At sight of him the little creature stopped, but as he remained perfectly still, it presently piped again.

In speaking of the quality of the melody, he compared it to the single note of the canary unusually prolonged, with no variation except in rising and falling, and increase or decrease of volume. He said it had nothing in it of the scolding character associated with the chattering of the Northern red squirrel. There was no visible movement of the throat in the production of the sound. From time to time it would stop singing and, after a lapse of two or three minutes, start up again, always beginning with a low note, increasing in volume until shortly before the next pause. It may have been a call.

There have been several well-authenticated instances of singing fish. Naturalists, however, have generally accepted Cuvier's view, that "the existence of fishes is a silent, emotionless and joyous one, but recent observations tend to show that many fishes emit vocal sounds."

There used to be a tame seal in an aquarium in the south of England that would play tricks at the instance of its keeper. Among other accomplishments it would sing when told to do so. Those who heard it, describe the sounds as peculiarly musical and sweet, though very weird and mournful.

Living near Tarrytown, N. Y., is a gentleman who owns several dogs. It was his habit to go to the back of the house every morning and toot on a horn, such as is used on a coach. The dogs would all gather around him, keeping perfectly silent until he had finished, when they would endeavor to imitate him. After he had been doing this for some time he noticed that one of the dogs in his attempts uttered several sounds that were really true musical notes. So he purchased a cornet and played on it before this one dog. After some time, he says, the dog could reproduce accurately any note he played on the instrument.

Every one has heard the legend of the swan, which sings a song a few days before it dies. Instances might thus be multiplied, showing that other animals besides man and the song birds are at times possessed of an ability to make musical sounds.

An Agreeable Cough Mixture.

Children can often be induced to take "mother's" cough mixture when they pull wry faces over a physician's prescription. Most housewives have some old and tried cough mixture recipe by which they set great store, but should there be some among my readers who do not possess such a recipe, I would suggest their adoption of the following mixture, which will be found very soothing to the throat and chest: Get three large, fresh lemons and boil them in already boiling water for about seven minutes; then, when tender, slice them very thin, put the slices in a bowl together with a pound of best moist sugar, and set the bowl on the stove for some hours, so that the contents may almost be said to have distilled. Then take the bowl from the fire and let the contents cool for half an hour. Lastly, stir in a tablespoonful of oil of sweet almonds, and give a teaspoonful of the mixture at a time when the throat is irritated.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Mudie's Circulating Library has 3,000,000 books constantly in circulation, and employs 173 people.

FROM BUCCANEER TO PIRATE.

The Brethren of the Coast Warred Against Every Nation.

Mr. Frank R. Stockton continues in St. Nicholas his series of narrative sketches of "The Buccaneers of Our Coast." Mr. Stockton says:

The buicaneers had grown to be reckless freebooters. And when they became soldiers and marched in little armies, the patience of the civilized world began to weaken. Panama, for instance, was an important Spanish city; England was at peace with Spain; therefore, when a military force composed mainly of Englishmen, and led by a British subject, captured and sacked Panama, if England should not interfere with her buccaneers she would have a quarrel to settle with Spain.

So a new governor was sent to Jamaica with strict orders to put down the buccaneers and break up their organization, and then it was he set a theif to catch thieves, and empowered the ex-pirate, Morgan, to execute his former comrades.

But methods of conciliation, as well as threats of punishment, were used to induce the buccaneers to give up their illegal calling, and liberal offers were made to them to settle in Jamaica and become law-abiding citizens.

But these offers did not tempt the Brothers of the Coast; from active pirates to retired pirates was too great a change, and though some of them returned to their original avocations of cattle butchering and beef drying, some, it is said, chose rather to live among the wild Indians and share their independent lives, than to bind themselves to any form of honest industry.

The French also had been active in suppressing the operations of their buccaneers, and soon the Brethren of the Coast, considered as an organization for preying upon the commerce and settlers of Spain, might be said to have ceased to exist. But it must not be supposed that because buccaneering had died out that piracy was dead.

Driven from Jamaica, from San Domingo, and even from Tortuga, they retained a resting place only at New Providence, an island in the Bahamas, and this they did not maintain very long. Then they spread themselves all over the weary world. They were no longer buccaneers, they were no longer "Brothers" of any sort, they no longer set out merely against Spaniards, but their attacks were made upon people of every nation. They confined themselves to attacks upon peacable merchant vessels, often robbing them and then scuttling them, delighted with the spectacle of a ship, with all its crew, sinking hopelessly into the sea.

The scene of piratical operations in America was not very much changed. The successors of the Brothers of the Coast, no longer united by any bonds of fellowship, but each pirate captain acting independently in his own wicked way, were coming up from the West Indies to afflict the more northern sea coast.

Her Secret Signal.

Nervous housewives whose husbands frequently bring home company to dinner without preliminary warning often worry in their secret hearts to supply the unexpected guests. A matron living in one of the prettiest suburban residences in West Philadelphia, whose husband persists in bringing home guests at the most inopportune times, has hit upon a happy expedient to meet possible emergencies.

In passing any dish at the table of which there may be a limited supply the hostess makes a point to mention the enigmatical letters, F. H. B. in such a manner as not to attract the attention of the guests around the board. Immediately the members of the family are aware of the circumstances, and discreetly partake very lightly, if at all, of the viands in question. The secret of the three letters was solved a few days ago, and the hostess afterwards laughingly confessed her little scheme. F. H. B., in this instance stands for family hold back.—Boston Traveler.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday. June 9, 1898.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. S. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—B. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F, JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices,
JOHN R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor,
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer.
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chancellor S. E. Chancery Division,
WM. L. PARKS,
of Pike.

Uncle Sam is showing to the world what "Yankee pluck" can do.

Five cent cotton will make more than one man "sorry he spoke" this year.

Lieutenant Hobson's salary is not large enough to support himself and mother and raise a large mortgage also. So let us raise it for him and make him a present of it on his first furlough.

INCORPORATE.

We have talked with several of the leading citizens on the subject of incorporation, and we find that all are thoroughly imbued with the idea. Now is the time for this improvement that is so much needed by our beautiful little city.

With our State Industrial School and the addition of many citizens, Montevallo can not keep in the same old channel as heretofore. We need a head and a watchman to this town, and one who will work to the interests of all, and one who will use no partiality, but distribute justice with an even but firm hand.

With the town incorporated, the streets would soon be clear of so many little boys loafing on the streets; the firing of pistols at all hours of the night would cease, and the watchful care that we need would be ours if we get the right man.

The NEWS is in favor of incorporating, and at once.

The home of Mrs. Hobson, mother of Richmond P. Hobson, the Santiago hero, is advertised in the Alabama Beacon for sale under a mortgage. Z. M. P. Inge, of Mobile, has associated with himself John L. Rapier, of the Mobile Register, and R. V. Taylor, auditor of the Mobile & Ohio railroad, and proposes to raise this mortgage by popular subscription by Alabama friends and admirers. The First National Bank of Mobile has been selected as a repository of the fund. All the subscriptions sent to either of the above gentlemen or the bank, will be thankfully received, and will be used to give back the boy heroe's home.

Let's all send a sum to this cause.

Lieutenant Hobson, when he conceived the idea to drive the cork where Admiral Cervera was bottled, and then displayed the skill to wire it down, he showed the nerve that all true Americans are endowed with, whether their birthplace be North or South.

Don't you think Lieut. Hobson would prize a medal from Alabama friends, presented by an Alabama delegation? Let's try it and see.

Put wreathes on the brows of living heroes when they can know and appreciate the act.

When the man and the hour meet, the man should waste no minutes of that hour.

To be an American is an honor when she owns such men as Dewey and Hobson as sons.

A torpid liver robs you of ambition and ruins your health. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cleanse the liver, cure constipation and all stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

When we come to think that Dewey and Hobson have been life-long Democrats, we smile with pleasure.

We wonder how many of those hundreds of daring spirits were Southern men that volunteered to go with Lieut. Hobson?

Subscribe for the News.

Seltzer Phosphate

Has received more high class endorsements and testimonials of merit, than any other headache and nerve remedy.

The Greatest Quick Cure for Headache Ever Discovered.

Read what prominent people, whom you know personally, say about our great remedy:

"We take great pleasure in saying that we have been using Williams' "Seltzer Phosphate" for a long time, and find it superior to all other remedies for what it is recommended."—S. E. Greene, Judge Criminal Court of Jefferson county; Frank P. O'Brien, Sheriff of Jefferson county; Robert J. Lowe, City Attorney; C. F. Enslen, Banker; Rev. S. L. Handley, Central Presbyterian Church; Jas J. Banks, Judge Circuit Court.

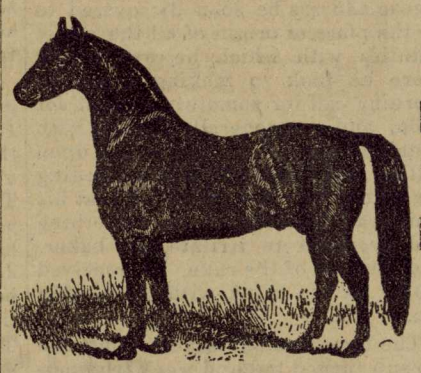
Dr. J. B. Luckie gives the first testimonial he ever offered for a proprietary medicine to Williams' Seltzer Phosphate.

For sale by your local druggist, or sent by mail on receipt of 25 cents with instructions.

We have just moved into our new quarters at 2028 First Ave, where we carry the largest and most complete line of drugs and druggists specialties on the market. Mail orders receive prompt attention

Williams Drug and Chemical Co.
2028 First Ave., Birmingham, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELI,

☞Office at Store. Manager-

You Made a Mistake!

By Not Having

F. F. CROWE & CO.

To Fill Your Prescription.

Fresh Drugs Always on Hand!

Everything You Want, from a Postal Card Up.

F. F. CROWE & CO.,

The Leading Druggists.

Montevallo is one of the most prosperous little cities in Alabama. Its business enterprise and tireless energy have become too well known to need extended mention. It is the trading centre of a large area of thickly populated territory, and is the junction of the Southern railroad, which gives unexcelled facilities for transportation. Four regular passenger trains stop at the depot daily, running in every direction.

Montevallo has a population of 1,200 and is steadily growing. It has the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Girls; four churches afford ample opportunity for those who wish to worship; branches of the most important secret societies are fully organized: the people never go to sleep, but keep up the hum of business every day in the year. Montevallo is well fitted to make a home for all enterprising men and women seeking a location. All such are welcomed, and letters of inquiry are cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE NEWS is published every Thursday, and is entered at the Montevallo postoffiee as second class matter.

The subscription price is only $1.00 per year, 50 cents for six months, and 25 cents for ihree months. All subscriptions payable in advance.

To discontinue the paper notify the editor by card or letter. All arrearages must of course be paid. The paper is never sent to anyone unless they order it themselves, or some friend orders and pays for it. It is never forced on to any one.

Commissions are paid on new subscriptions to any one who desires to work for us. No commission paid on renewals. Postmasters and others who desire to make a little money bustling subscriptions are invited to send for our terms to agents.

Any subscriber who gets us five new subscribers for one year will have his own subscription extended one year. The names need not all be sent in at once, but may be sent in one at a time. Show The News to your neighbors and take their subscriptions.

News items are always gladly received, subject to the editor's pencil. Spicy news communications are requested from any neighborhood. Local news items are desired always.

School teachers, ministers and physicians are especially requested to notify us of all reports, announcements, incidents, etc., that are of local interest.

Regular correspondents are desired in every town and community within fifteen miles of Montevallo. Write for terms and instructions to correspondents.

Short articles on subjects of interest can frequently be used. Articles dealing with politics, religion or personalities are not available for our use.

Anonymous communications will not be noticed. Sign your name. It will not be puplished unless you desire it. Write on one side of the paper only, and be careful in giving the names and dates to have the letters and figures plain and distinct.

Advertisers are reminded that The News is one of the best advertising mediums in Alabama, and its circulation reaches a splendid field of well-to-do buyers. Our rates are very low and are alike to all.

Our press room is open at all times to the pubilc. We have no figures to conceal.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address

C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

Subscribe for the News.

Thousands of sufferers from grippe have been restored to health by One Minute Cough Cure. It quickly cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, pneumonia, grippe, asthma and all throat and lung diseases. F. F. Crowe & Co.

WINE OF CARDUI

FOR ALL WOMEN

NINE-TENTHS of all the pain and sickness from which women suffer is caused by weakness or derangement in the organs of menstruation. Nearly always when a woman is not well these organs are affected. But when they are strong and healthy a woman is very seldom sick.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Is nature's provision for the regulation of the menstrual function. It cures all "female troubles." It is equally effective for the girl in her teens, the young wife with domestic and maternal cares, and the woman approaching the period known as the "Change of Life." They all need it. They are all benefitted by it.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOS. J. COOPER, Tupelo, Miss., says: "My sister suffered from very irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui entirely cured her and also helped my mother through the Change of Life."

WINE OF CARDUI

Do You Know

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS

and Tonic Pellets Cure

All forms of disease caused by a Sluggish Liver and Biliousness?

The Pink Pill Cleanses
The Tonic Pellet Invigorates

The little "Doctor's Book" tells all about it and a week's Treatment free proves every word true. Complete Treatment 25 cents. Brown Mf'g. Co., N. Y. & Greeneville, Tenn.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

B. W. WRENN, JR.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COMMERCIAL LAW SPECIALTY ATLANTA, GEORGIA

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go
To
Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

The Great Family Remedy

No home should be without a bottle of V. V. V., the great specific for all diseases of the blood—a true boon to ailing man and woman. A health and strength restorative of the highest efficacy. V. V. V., a purely vegetable preparation of sterling worth, acts directly on the blood, purifying, renewing and giving new life to every part of the system. Diseases of many years standing quickly succumb to V. V. V.; the ills of the hour are at once rectified, while the system is completely fortified against sickness.

A positive and permanent cure for Scrofula, Tetter, Eczema, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Rheumatism in all its forms and blood poison of any nature. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President, POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

WE TWO.

Sit here with me,
My little girl,
And while the red
And gold flames curl
With pretty sparks
Far up the flue,
I'll stroke your locks
And talk to you.

The mother's eyes
Were just like yours—
Blue as the waves
On Naples' shores;
Her hair was brown,
Like yours, too, dear,
And rippled o'er
As pink as ear.

She used to sit
Beside me here,
When nights were harsh
And woods were sere—
Ah! she was fair,
Dear, very fair,
With firelight upon her hair!

The black midnight
Would find us still
Before the blaze
And here until
The crumbling sticks
Had spread in two,
We'd sit, my child,
And talk of you.

Now, little girl,
'Tis you and I—
Your mother went
When fall passed by;
And here we sit
And list the purr
Of burning logs,
And talk of her.

Up on the hill
Your mother sweet,
Rests quietly—
Her head and feet
Deep under the snow
From stormy skies;
But you, my pet,
Have her blue eyes!

—W. Leroy Fogg, in Boston Transcript.

The Child Spy.

His name was Stenne; little Stenne they called him. He was a gamin of Paris, pale and thin, who might have been 10 years old, perhaps 15; one can never tell the age of these children. His mother was dead; his father, an old soldier, patrolled a square in the neighborhood of the Temple. Babies nurses, old women, all those helpless persons who ran the risk of being trampled on in the crowded streets, knew Pere Stenne, and loved him, too. They knew that that fierce mustache, the terror of dogs and pickpockets, concealed lips that could smile, and that to provoke that smile one had only to say:

"How is your little boy today?"

And how he loved that little boy! How proud he was when in the evening the little fellow came to join him and the two made the rounds together, greeting everyone they met.

With the siege, everything was changed. Pere Stenne's square was closed to the public. He was compelled to keep a constant lookout without his pipe or his son. When he spoke of the Prussians his mustache was a sight to see. Little Stenne did not find the new life so disagreeable, however. A siege! That meant fun for gamins. No school, no duties; vacation all the time, and the streets as lively as on gala days. The boys stayed out of doors, running about until night. He followed the detachments of troops to the fortifications, choosing those which had good music; he was very particular on that point. At other times he watched them at their drill.

The most interesting of all, though, were the games of chance the Breton troops made popular at this time. When little Stenne was not at the ramparts or at the shops you would be sure to find him watching a crowd play galoche at the Place du Chateau d'Eau. He never played it; it took too much money. He contented himself with watching the others, and with such expression! One in particular, a great fellow with a blue coat, who staked only 100-sou pieces, excited his admiration. When this boy ran one could her the coins rattle in his pocket.

One day, as little Stenne was stooping down to pick up a piece which had rolled under his feet, the fellow said in a low voice:

"That makes you squint, hey? Well, if you want me to, I will tell you where to get plenty of them."

The offer was accepted, and leading Stenne aside he asked the boy to go with him to sell French newspapers to the Prussians, adding that they could make 30 francs a trip. Stenne indignantly refused, and for three days he remained away from the place. Three dreadful days; he could neither eat nor sleep. At night he seemed to see the pile of galoches at the foot of his bed, and the 100-sou pieces gleaming in the faint light. The temptation proved too strong. The fourth day he returned to the gaming place, saw the big fellow, and agreed to go with him.

They set out one snowy morning with sacks on their shoulders, and the papers hidden under their jackets. When they reached the Flanders gate it was scarcely daylight. The large boy took little Stenne's hand, and, approaching the guard, who had a red nose and a kindly manner, he said, in a whining tone: "Please let us pass, kind sir. Our mother is sick and our father is dead. We are going to see if we can find some potatoes in the field outside."

He even shed tears. Stenne, much ashamed, hung his head. The sentinel looked at them a moment, then, glancing at the dreary while road, he said: "Pass on quickly," and there they were on the way to Aubersvilliers. How the big fellow laughed!

Confusedly, as in a dream, little Stenne saw the factories transformed into barracks, the tall chimneys, piercing the fog, partially broken off. From time to time they came upon sentinels, officers who were scouring the horizon with field glasses, and little tents, wet with snow, standing before dying fires. The large boy knew the way, and went across the fields, being careful to avoid the military outposts. Notwithstanding his precautions, they suddenly came upon a squad of riflemen. The troops were partially hidden in a ditch which bordered the Soissons railroad. This time they were not allowed to pass so readily, though the large boy told his story in the most pathetic manner. While he was weeping, an old, white-haired sergeant came out of one of the little tents and said:

"Don't cry, little fellow; we will let you go to hunt for your potatoes. But come in first and warm yourselves a bit; the little one looks frozen.

Alas! it was not the cold that made little Stenne shiver so. It was fear and shame. Inside the tent they found soldiers huddled together around a little fire, baking biscuits on the points of their bayonets. They made room for the children, and gave them a drop of their warm coffee; while they were drinking it an officer appeared at the door, called the sergeant, and, after a few words with him in a low tone, went quickly away.

"Boys," said the sergeant on re-entering, "there will be fun tonight. We have found out the Prussian countersign. I believe at last we are to capture that cursed Bourget."

Then followed an explosion of bravos and shouts. The soldiers danced and flourished their bayonets. Taking advantage of the tumult the boys slipped away. On leaving the trench they saw before them a plain, bordered one side by a long, white wall, defaced by bullets. It was towards this that they directed their footsteps, stopping often, as if picking up potatoes.

"Let us go back when we get to the wall," said Stenne.

The other boy only shrugged his shoulders and went steadily forward. All at once they heard a click and saw a gun pointed at them.

"Crouch down," whispered the large bay, throwing himself on the ground.

Once down he whistled; another whistle answered. Then they rose and went up to the fortification. Over the wall they saw two yellow mustaches under dirty military caps. The large boy jumped down beside the Prussian.

"This is my brother," he said, pointing to his companion. Stenne was so little that, on seeing him, the Prussian began to laugh, and he was obliged to take him by the arm to help him over the rampart.

Behind the wall were earthworks fallen trees and great black ditches. In each ditch were the same yellow mustaches, which laughed as the little fellow went past. In one corner was a house protected by trunks of trees. The lower story was filled with soldiers playing cards, while soup was cooking over a roaring fire. How good it smelled, and what a contrast to the camp of the French riflemen. In the upper story were the officers. They had a piano to play on.

When the little Parisians entered they were greeted with shouts of joy. The delivered their papers to the enemy. The large boy amused them by his odd language and his low wit. They laughed boisterously, repeating his expressions, fairly rolling in the Parisian mire that was thus brought to them.

Little Stenne would have liked to talk, too, to show that he was not stupid, but something seemed to choke him. In front of him, standing apart from the others, was an old Prussian who seemed to be trying to read his thoughts, as the old soldier's eyes never left his face. There were tenderness and reproach in the gaze, as if the man had a boy about Stenne's age, and as if he would have said:

"I would rather die than seen my son in such business!"

The poor boy felt as if a hand clutched his heart so that it could no longer beat. In the distance he heard his companion ridiculing the national guard, mimicking their drill and going through other drollery. At last the boy lowered his voice, the officers clustered around him and their faces became serious. The wretch was about to forewarn them of the attack to be made that night. Stenne suddenly realized what was going on and called out:

"Not that! Not that!"

The large boy replied with a loud laugh and went on. Before he had finished all the officers were on their feet. One of them showed the door to the boys and exclaimed:

"Leave at once!"

Then they began talking rapidly among themselves in German, while the large boy walked out as proudly as a duke, jingling his money in his pockets. Stenne followed with bent head and as he passed the old Prussian whose glances had hurt him so, he heard a sad voice say: "A bad business, this; a bad business!"

Once outside the boys began to run to get back as soon as possible. Their sacks were filled with potatoes which the Prussians had given them; they passed the French posts without being molested. There everything was being got in readiness for the night attack. Troops arrived silently and massed themselves behind the bank. How happy the old sergeant seemed as he placed his men! When the boys passed he recognized them and smiled kindly at them.

Oh, how that smile hurt little Stenne. He wanted to cry out:

"Don't go down there; you have been betrayed."

The other boy had said to him: "If you tell we shall be shot," so he was afraid. On reaching the city they went into a deserted house to divide their money. This was honestly done, and when little Stenne heard his gold pieces rattling in his blouse and thought of the game and galoche in store for him his crime did not seem very serious.

But when he was alone, poor child! When the large boy had left him outside his door, then his pockets began to feel heavy, and the hand which held his heart tightened its grasp. Paris no longer seemed the same place. People passing looked hard at him, as if they knew where he had been. He heard the word "Spy" in the noises of the street, in the beating of the drums along the canal. He entered the house, and was glad that his father had not yet returned. He went at once to his room and hid the crowns, which were so heavy, under his pillow.

His father had never seemed so kind and so cheerful as on this particular evening.

Encouraging news from the provinces had been received; things looked brighter. While eating his supper, the old soldier looked at his gun hanging on the wall, and said to Stenne, with his honest laugh: "Hey, my boy, how you would fight the Prussians if you were only big enough!"

About 8 o'clock they were startled by the sound of a cannon. "That is at Aubervillers; they are fighting at Bourget," said the good man, who knew the names of all the forts. Little Stenne grew pale, and, pretending to be tired, went to bed, but not to sleep. The cannonade continued. The boy pictured to himself the French soldiers going at night to surprise the Prussians and falling into an ambuscade. He thought of the sergeant who had smiled upon him, and saw him stretched out dead in the snow, and many, many others with him. The price of all this blood was hidden there under his pillow, and it was he, the son of a soldier, who * * * He stifled his sobs. He heard his father walking about in the next room, and, at last, ope na window. Down below in the square the call to arms was sounded, and a regiment was forming to march to the scene of the firing. It was a battle, then; the miserable boy could no longer restrain his sobs.

"What is the matter?" asked Pere Stenne, going into the room. The child slid out of bed and threw himself at his father's feet. At the motion the crowns rolled out on the floor.

"What is this? Have you been stealing?" said the old man in a trembling voice.

Then, in a breath, little Stenne told him that he had been to the Prussian camp, and that they had given him the money. As he talked his heart grew lighter, and he felt comforted. His father listened with an expression of terror. When the boy had finished the old man hid his face in his hands and wept aloud.

"Father! Father!" exclaimed the child.

The old man pushed the boy aside and picked up the gold.

"Is this all?" he asked.

Little Stenne nodded his head. His father then took down his gun, and, putting the money in his pocket, said:

"I am going to return it to the givers."

Without another word, without even a look behind, he went out and joined the troops who were marching past. He was never seen again!—Alphonse Daudet.

Washington Compared to Hannibal.

With a beaten and defeated army operating against overwhelming odds, he had inflicted upon the enemy two severe defeats. No greater feat can be performed in war than this. That which puts Hannibal at the head of all great commanders was that he won his astonishing victories under the same general conditions. There was one great military genius in Europe when Washington was fighting this short campaign in New Jersey—Frederick of Prussia. Looking over the accounts of the Trenton and Princeton battles he is reported to have said that it was the greatest campaign of the century. The small numbers engaged did not blind the victor of Rossbach and Leuthen. He did not mean that the campaign was great from the number of men involved or the territory conquered, but great in its conception, and as an illustration of the highest skill in the art of war under the most adverse conditions.—Senator Lodge, in Scribner.

A Duelling Absurdity.

The latest absurdity is a duelling challenge sent by a Berlin student to Dr. Coing, president of the Senate Courts of Justice and head of the Board of Law Examiners. Dr. Coing disciplined the student, and the latter sent his brother, an army officer, to Dr. Coing with a demand for satisfaction with pistols. Dr. Coing refused to meet the student, but the matter will have to be submitted to a council of honor.—New York Tribune.

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 16, '98. NO. 23

Written for THE NEWS.

IS LIFE WORTH THE LIVING?

Is life worth the living,
With all its trials and snares,
Its hopes and disappointments,
Its sorrows, griefs and cares?
Does its joys counterbalance
The pain that it gives us here:
Does its gladness overshadow,
And wipe out every tear?

Is life worth the living,
With its mockeries of the past;
Presenting to us visions
That were too sweet to last?
Can coming joys ever lighten
New hopes—old scars efface,
Blot out youthful transgressions,
Leaving to memory not a trace?

M DASH.

"ONLY A WOMAN."

A letter received at the White House and addressed to "President McKinley, Washington, D. C.," reads: "I write to ask if I would be of any use to you in the Cuban trouble. I am only a woman, but I can nurse the sick and wounded. If you need a woman to nurse, or if in any way I can be of service to you for my country's sake, please let me know."—New York Herald.

"Only a woman," I offer my life
To the cause of country and home;
What can I do in the carnage and strife,
Where death-dealing bullets doth roam?
Every pulse of my being responds
To the land of the brave and free!
And "only a woman" will go to her death
'Neath the flag of our liberty.

Ah, answer her not with a look of contempt,
Nor say in your valor, oh, man!
'Tis "only a woman," she'll be in the way,
Her courage will flinch in the van.
Have we the time to list to her tears,
When the thunder of war is around?
"Only a woman" will cower in fear,
Where death and destruction abound.

Turn not away in derision and scorn,
For deep in that womanly breast
Beats a heart as true as the sun of morn
From its rise till it sinks in the West.
And when on the face of a soldier appears
The palid expression of death,
"Only a woman" will bandage the wounds,
And soothe and caress the last breath.

'Tis "only a woman"—the angel of earth—
Whose sweet voice can still every pain,
And heaven will beam with a glorious light
When she stands 'mong the dying and slain.
Take her, O soldier, with heart like the lion,
Nor scoff at her service, and claim
'Tis "only a woman"—but look to the skies
And whisper your dear mother's name.

For she was but "only a woman," you know,
Yet her heart was as true and as brave
As the heart of a soldier who faces grim death
'Neath the flag which above us doth wave.
Ah, answer her not with a word of contempt,
Nor turn in derision and scorn,
For "only a woman" will be at her post
When the bugle-call comes in the morn.

Frank L. Monteverde.

WHEELER DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Savannah News.

Gen. Wheeler at Tampa has gone right among the boys and makes his home in a tent, where he can advise them, look after their comfort and get acquainted with them. That is the way for an American general to treat American soldiers, and they appreciate it.

The farmer, the mechanic and the bicycle rider are liable to unexpected cuts and bruises. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to keep on hand. It heals quickly, and is a well known cure for piles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

The pen is not in it with the sword when the press censor is around.—Birmingham News.

THE UNIFORM BALE.

Its Projectors Claim That it Will Save Money for the Farmers.

Col. E. S. Peters, of Calvert, Texas, president of the Cotton Growers' Protective Association of that State, stopped over in our city yesterday, on his way home from Atlanta, where he had been attending a meeting of the ginners, compressmen and planters, in the interest of a standard uniform square bale of cotton of the size adopted and recommended by the Maritime Associations and Cotton Exchanges of Galveston and New Orleans, the Ginners' Association and the Interior Cotton Buyers' Association and the Interior Compress Association of Texas. An Advertiser reporter finding him in the city looked him up and interviewed him on the general situation of Texas, and incidentally on the advantages to be derived from getting the cotton planters closely allied, looking to a general improvement for their betterment. It seems that under the auspices of this association in Texas there has been arranged a great diversity of the crops. The farmers have been drawn closer together for their mutual benefit, and a great reform in the baling of cotton has resulted, and the barrier heretofore existing between the planters and the mercantile interests have been broken down, and they are now working in unison and harmony to secure a diversity of crops and the improvement of American cotton baling to the standard size, 24x54 inches. There are too many advantages to be derived from the adoption of this size bale to be covered in a short interview. He said among other things that the adoption of this uniform bale will not only save the farmers a vast amount of money, but it will so improve the present system of baling cotton, that if at any future time a better system should be introduced, the farmer would be in a position to fix the terms upon which they would use it. At the meeting in Atlanta, Mr. A. F. Churchill, of Brunswick, Ga., a large steamship agent, said that if he could be given cotton pressed in this uniform box, 24x54 inches, of an average density of 40 pounds per cubic foot, which it has been demonstrated could be obtained, he would be willing to make contracts for the delivery of cotton from Brunswick to all European points at a reduction in freight rates of 50 per cent. He stated that the present rate from Brunswick to Liverpool and Bremen was 65 cents, and that for cotton baled by this standard he would be willing to make contracts at 33½ cents per hundred pounds, thereby creating a saving to the farmers of the South of $1.67½ per bale.—Montgomery Advertiser, May 15, 1898.

Hot Weather

Don't Affect Our Prices....

We Are the

Acknowledged Leaders in Low Prices.

We keep everything kept by a

First-Class Store.

MORGAN BROS.

Weary William—Did you tell de ol' girl back at de house dat ye was a escaped reconcentrado from Cuba? Wandering Tank—Yes; but it didn't do no good. She jest said dat she s'posed I was so used ter goin' wit'out anyt'ing ter eat dat I didn't mind it much.—Puck.

A little boy asked for a bottle of "get up in the morning as fast as you can." The druggist recognized a household name for "DeWitt's Little Farly Risers," and gave him a bottle of those famous little pills for constipation, sick headache, liver and stomach troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Reassuring.—Patient—Look here, doctor, do you think you will ever be able to tell what is the matter with me? Doctor—Oh, yes. I will find that out at the autopsy.—Judge.

BLOCTON ITEMS.

G. D. Mitchell, of Montevallo, spent last Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Blocton with his family.

A light rain fell here last Sunday afternoon, but not enough to do much good, only laying the dust.

Ura, the little three-year-old son of Mr. Henry Milam, has been quite sick for two weeks with pneumonia, but is now much better.

Rev. A. J. Lumpkin preached interesting sermons in McCulley Town last Sunday morning and night. Good congregations attended both services.

Mrs. J. T. Mickleboro and daughter, Miss Ida, sister and niece of Dennis Mitchell, are visiting his family this week. Miss Mickleboro has been teaching in South Carolina the past session, and is en route to her home at Marion, Ala.

The mines are running every day, and have been for the past two weeks. The prospects are good for regular work during the month of June. The yearly contract expires the first of July, and there is some talk of a strike then, as the miners are going to demand a raise. It is to be hoped the matter will be settled without a strike.

Messrs. James and Zeb Prather and Walter Carleton left last week for Mobile, where they enlisted for the war. They passed their examinations and were accepted. These young gentlemen number their friends by the score, who hope they will do themselves credit in defense of their country, and a safe return home, each bringing a Spanish scalp as an evidence of their bravery.

On last Thursday at 9:50 a. m., in the office of the Probate Judge at Tuscaloosa, Mr Charley N. Milam, of Blocton, and Miss Maggie Malone, of Cooling, were united in marriage, Judge Williams officiating with his usual beautiful and impressive ceremony. Immediately afterward the happy couple left for York Station, where relatives of the bride gave them a welcome for the beginning of their honeymoon. The bride and groom have a host of friends, who wish them a long and happy life; and when their heads are whitened by cares of this world, may they review their past and see where love has ruled and helped them over the rough places into the peaceful valley of content.

Last Saturday was children's day at the Baptist church in Campbell Town. At an early hour the people began to gather, and by nine o'clock the large house was so crowded that standing room was at a premium. The children all did well, and too much praise cannot be given Mesdames Bearden and Stamps for their untiring efforts in training the children for this occasion. About 12 o'clock dinner was announced on the ground, and it was a dinner, too. There was no table, but nice, clean tablecloths were spread upon the ground in the cool shade, and the delicious viands were spread, and everybody invited to come up and partake. From the way the good cooked victuals disappeared, it was very plain to see that the dinner was appreciated. There was also plenty of free lemonade on the ground, and Messrs. Hamp Crawford and Mel Hayes deserve the thanks of the entire crowd for their kind attention to the ladies and children. In the afternoon a game of ball was played between Campbelltown nine and River Bend nine, resulting in a score of 17 to 2 in favor of River Bend. The day was most pleasantly spent, and everybody went away with their hearts full of gratitude to the good people of Campbelltown for their hospitality.

PETE.

Not So Many Doctors.

The Medical Students' Register (England), gives statistics showing that wild rush by young men into the medical profession is to be moderated. In the year 1897 the medical students registered in England, Scotland and Ireland were 1,542. There was a decrease as compared with 1895 by 97. We must go back twenty-one years, to 1876, for so low a registration number as that recorded last year. The numbers have been several times over 2,000 as in 1879, 1880, 1881, 1889, and in 1891, when they reached the appalling number of 2,405. "We cannot affect to regret the signs of arrest in this rush into the profession," commends the London Lancet. "Medicine is not improved by crowds competing for a livelihood."

Can Our Coast be Effectually Blockaded?

If confidence can be felt in the opinion of military and naval officers in high places at the seat of government, such is the vast extent of our sea coast to blockade it effectually, even if our navy and sea coast defenses could offer no adequate resistance, seems to be impossible. When a blockade of the bowels exists, relieve constipation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which conquers dyspepsia, malaria, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

At its present rate of combustion it is thought the sun will last from 7,000,000 to 15,000,000 years before burning itself out.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

The houses of parliament are partly lighted by forty thousand electric lamps, which number is being constantly increased. Fifty experienced electricians are employed to keep the system in order.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Money talks, but the silver dollar means only about half what it says.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco gives the consumers the very best Tobacco they can get. 2 ounces for 10 cents. It is fast winning its way to public favor. Try it.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

ST. VITUS' DANCE, SPASMS and all nervous diseases permanently cured by the use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for FREE $1.00 trial bottle and treatise to Dr. R. H. Kline, Ltd., 931 Arch Street, Phila., Pa.

Piso's Cure cured me of a Throat and Lung trouble of three years' standing.—E. CADY, Huntington, Ind., Nov. 12, 1894.

Frankfort pawnbrokers found it necessary to enlarge their premises for bicycle storage.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

It is as hard to impose on some men a second time as it is easy to do it the first time.

The New York Ledger is now successfully sold by bright boys and girls, who thus earn many valuable premiums. Two cents profit on each copy sold. No money required in advance. Send name and address for complete outfit, including Premium List, to Robert Bonner's Sons, Ledger Building, 160 William St., N. Y. City.

J. S. Parker, Fredonia, N. Y., says: "Shall not call on you for the $100 reward, for I believe Hall's Catarrh Cure will cure any case of catarrh. Was very bad." Write him for particulars. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

The wings that riches have are nearly always used in going instead of coming.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

The remarks of a college professor are usually somewhat tautological.

Scrofula Swellings

Health Was Very Poor But Hood's Sarsaparilla Has Cured Her.

"My daughter had scrofula swellings on her neck and her health was very poor. She did not obtain lasting benefit from medicines until she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Three bottles of this medicine entirely cured her and she has never been troubled with scrofula since I have great faith in Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. L. D. Effner, Ruth, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. 25 cents.

WRITE L. FULTON, Att'y, Denton, Tex., if you have money due you in Texas or South

BREAD OF NATIONS.

How the Staff of Life Is Made Among the Various Peoples.

It is a curious and interesting study to compare the various materials which serve the different nations of the world as the basis of their bread. In this country, where good bread, made from spring and fall wheat flour, is within reach of all, rarely a thought is given to the fact that, after all, the inhabitants of only a small portion of the earth's surface enjoy such a food. In the remoter part of Sweden the poor make and bake their rye bread twice a year, and store the loaves away, so that eventually they are as hard as bricks. Further north still bread is made from barley and oats. In Lapland oats, with the inner bark of the pine, are used. The two together, well ground and mixed, are made into large flat cakes, cooked in a pan over a fire. In dreary Kamchatka pine or birch bark by itself, well macerated, pounded and baked, frequently constitutes the whole of the native bread food. The Icelander scrapes the "Iceland moss" off the rocks and grinds it into fine flour, which serves both for bread and puddings. In some parts of Siberia, China and other eastern countries a fairly palatable bread is made from buckwheat. In parts of Italy chestnuts are cooked, ground into meal and used for making bread. Durra, a variety of the millet, is much used in the countries of India, Egypt, Arabia and Asia Minor for making bread. Rice bread is the staple food of the Chinese, Japanese and a large portion of the inhabitants of India. In Persia the bread is made from rice flour and milk; it is called "lawash." The Persian oven is built in the ground, about the size of a barrel. The sides are smooth mason work. The fire is built at the bottom and kept burning until the walls or sides of the oven are thoroughly heated. Enough dough to form a sheet about one foot wide and about two feet long is thrown on the bench and rolled until about as thin as sole leather, then it is taken up and tossed and rolled from one arm to the other and flung on the board and slapped on the side of the oven. It takes only a few moments to bake, and when baked it is spread out to cool. This bread is cheap (one cent a sheet); it is sweet and nourishing. A specimen of the "hunger bread" from Armenia is made of cloverseed, flax or linseed meal, mixed with edible grass. In the Molucca islands the starchy pith of the sago palm furnishes a white, floury meal. This is made up into flat, oblong loaves, which are baked in curious little ovens, each being divided into oblong cells to receive the loaves. Bread is also made of roots in some parts of Africa and South America. It is made from manico tubers. These roots are a deadly poison if eaten in the raw state, but make a good food if properly prepared. To prepare it for bread the roots are soaked for several days in water, thus washing out the poison; the fibers are picked out, dried and ground into flour. This is mixed with milk, if obtainable; if not, water is used. The dough is formed into little round loaves and baked in hot ashes or dried in the sun.

An Eagle Saved from Drowning.

James Johnson and Michael Burns, fishermen, rowed two miles out into the lake Sunday afternoon to rescue a supposed drowning man, and returned with a large bald eagle, which had fallen into the water exhausted, and whose flounderings resembled those of a tired swimmer. The bird still had strength enough to give battle to the fishermen, and its beak and talons were active until a fish net thrown over its head quieted its struggles. It is thought the bird escaped from some menagerie, and that its long-unused wings failed it when the flight across the lake was attempted.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Official statistics indicate that last year's crop of wheat, corn and oats in this country sold for $1,077,000,000.

The average length of a whale's jaw bone is seven feet.

Long Distance Transmission Plant.

Ten thousand horse power will be transmitted 110 miles to San Francisco if the plans of a company, of which Prince Poniatowsky is said to be the head, are completed, says Engineering News. It is proposed to utilize the water now running to waste on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada Mountains in Alpine, Amador and Calveras Counties, constructing a system of canals and a power plant. The transmission line at one place will cross San Francisco Bay with a span about 325 feet above the water. The total cost of the plant is estimated at about $1,000,000.

A Wise Man.

Flossie Flickers (of the Jollity Girls' Company)—Did you ever run for office?

Mr. Truegood—Yes.

Flossie Flickers—What office?

Mr. Truegood—The postoffice, when I found I had been carrying one of my wife's letters around for a week.—

Life Isn't Worth Living

to one who suffers the maddening agony of Eczema, Tetter and such irritating, itching skin diseases. Every roughness of the skin from a simple chap to Tetter and Ringworm even of long standing is completely, quickly and surely cured by Tetterine. Is comfort worth 50 cents to you? That's the price of Tetterine at drug stores, or by mail for price in stamps from J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

The most successful farmers seem to be acting as editors of agricultural papers.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

As early as 47 B. C. the great Alexandrian library contained over 40,000 valuable books.

Try Allen's Foot-Ease,

A powder to be shaken into the shoes. At this season your feet feel swollen, nervous and hot, and get tired easily. If you have smarting feet or tight shoes, try Allen's Foot-Ease. It cools the feet and makes walking easy. Cures swollen and sweating feet, blisters and callous spots. Relieves corns and bunions of all pain and gives rest and comfort. 10,000 testimonials. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores for 25c. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

When the ghost fails to walk the end man's bones cease to rattle.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Kind words never die; if they did probably they would be more appreciated.

"I DO MY OWN WORK."

So Says Mrs. Mary Rochiette of Linden, New Jersey, in this Letter to Mrs. Pinkham.

"I was bothered with a flow which would be quite annoying at times, and at others would almost stop.

"I used prescriptions given me by my physician, but the same state of affairs continued.

"After a time I was taken with a flooding, that I was obliged to keep my bed. Finally, in despair, I gave up my doctor, and began taking your medicine, and have certainly been greatly benefited by its use.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has indeed been a friend to me.

"I am now able to do my own work, thanks to your wonderful medicine. I was as near death I believe as I could be, so weak that my pulse scarcely beat and my heart had almost given out. I could not have stood it one week more, I am sure. I never thought I would be so grateful to any medicine.

"I shall use my influence with any one suffering as I did, to have them use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Every woman that is puzzled about her condition should secure the sympathetic advice of a woman who understands. Write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her your ills.

Lazy Liver

"I have been troubled a great deal with a torpid liver, which produces constipation. I found CASCARETS to be all you claim for them, and secured such relief the first trial, that I purchased another supply and was completely cured. I shall only be too glad to recommend Cascarets whenever the opportunity is presented." J. A. SMITH.
2920 Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 320

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

GROVES

TASTELESS CHILL TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS.
WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.
Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,
ABNEY, CARR & CO.

ST. ANDREWS COLD TEA FOR THE Liver CURES Sluggishness, Jaundice.

GUILFORD College, N. C. Standard High. Expenses Low.
Tuition for term $22 or $26. Board $8 per month. In clubs $1. Send for free catalogue. The President.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-24

HOW JACK MUST DRESS.

Rulers of the Queen's Navee Advise Him About Trifles.

Nothing causes more annoyance to the British bluejacket than the regulations affecting trivial details of dress, which the Admiralty are so fond of issuing.

Whoever is responsible for some of those regulations must be a humorist of no mean capacity, though his efforts are viewed by Jack in any but a humorous light. The reason of this is that as Jack has to purchase all his own uniforms, he has to bear the expense of making the petty alterations which the caprice of the authorities from time to time deems necessary.

Just recently an Admiralty order was issued which directed that in future the tapes on sailors' neckerchiefs and jumpers must be hand-sewn not machine-sewn, as heretofore. Just previous to this it had been decreed that Jack must button his flannel shirt at the back of the neck instead of at the side, and that the sleeves of the jumpers should join the body of that garment at a particular spot. There were further regulations as to the position of medals and badges, but the gem of the batch was a regulation which decreed that in future sailors must lace their trousers from the top downward instead of from the bottom upward to the waist.

For the information of those not familiar with the details of naval toggery it may be explained that Jack does not use suspenders. Instead of them he uses a short lace at the back of the waist. Consequently, the Admiralty instructions in the matter are equivalent to telling Jack that in future he must lace his boots downward instead of in the usual way. What can be the object of this alteration it is difficult to divine, as the jumper covers the lace in such a way that no one can tell whether the bow is tied at the bottom or the top.

For years past the men of the lower deck have been endeavoring to get redressed some of their grievances in relation to rations, pensions, etc., but the spare time of my lords seems to be so fully devoted to the consideration of dress reforms of the kind mentioned that they are unable to deal with more important maters.—London Mail.

A Galatea in Modern Life.

Miss Elida Wilber, of San Francisco, is a modern Galatea. Seven weeks ago while resting in her room she was overcome by monoxide gas poison. She was found unconscious next morning. Since then, though physically alive—breathing, sleeping and taking nourishment—she has been dead mentally. Her power of speech and motion has deserted her and she is apparently unconscious of her surroundings. The most eminent physicians in the State are baffled and they cannot even advance a theory as to the cause of the strange condition of the young woman.

Dr. George W. Fuller, the attending physician, has watched Miss Wilber with untiring care, but very little improvement is discernible. When suffering she makes a faint cry, which ceases immediately the pain is gone. There is nothing to be done for the case but wait.

No paralysis or hysteria has manifested itself, save this strange paralysis of the brain, if such it can be called. With anxiety and sorrow her friends watch constantly for the first signs of improvement. Her food is administered with a tube, and although her temperature has fallen, no other changes have manifested themselves. —Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Making Teeth.

This country is ahead of all others in the art of making artificial teeth. A recent computation makes the number of artificial teeth fabricated here as high as 6,000,000 annually. In one of the most complete factories, where mineral teeth are made, the chief ingredients comprise feldspar, silica and clay; those of subsidiary character are sundry metallic oxides, to produce the tints of discoloration which are necessary to make the imitation a good one.

Has Forty Living Children.

A short ride from Moosup, in what is known as the Sparks District, in the eastern part of Killingly, lives Levi Bradshaw, whose record for populating the earth is such that he deserves to become famous. Bradshaw emigrated from Canada, and has lived in that vicinity about thirteen years. He is now in his seventy-first year. He has been married three times, and he is the father of forty-one children, forty of whom are living. By his first wife he had six children, including a pair of twins. His second wife bore him twenty-four children, half of whom were twins. His present wife has presented him with eleven children.

Bradshaw was not fourteen years old when he was married the first time. The eldest son is now forty-four and has several children and grandchildren. Twenty-nine of the old man's sons and daughters are married, and all have children. The grandfather does not know just how large his family of grandchildren and great-grandchildren has become. He can enumerate up to 160, but is in the dark as to the remainder. He estimates them up to 200 or so.

The Killingly patriarch was married to his last wife in Danielson thirteen years ago. Only one of her eleven children has died. The death occurred at birth a few months ago. The rest are healthy and robust, like the father. Mr. Bradshaw is believed to be the banner father of New England, and the banner grandfather of the United States.—New London (Conn.) Day.

Old Marriage Customs.

The wedding ring finger of the Romans was the thumb.

The wedding ring, worn on the left hand, is symbolic of obedience.

Every finger of the hand has, at some time or other, been used for the wedding ring.

When Mary Stuart was married to Lord Darnley, four rings were used in the wedding ceremony.

At a certain part of the marriage ceremony in Java, the bride washes the feet of the bridegroom.

Spanish peasants believe that the water in which a wedding ring has been dipped will cure weak eyes.

The Roman bride, when being dressed for the wedding, invariably had her hair parted with the point of a spear.

Women in Business.

From the Free Press, Detroit, Mich.

A prominent business man recently expressed the opinion that there is one thing that will prevent women from completely filling man's place in the business world—they can't be depended upon because they are sick too often. This is refuted by Mrs. C. W. Mansfield, a business woman of 58 Farrar St., Detroit, Mich., who says:

"A complication of female ailments kept me awake nights and wore me out. I could get no relief from medicine and hope was slipping away from me. A young lady in my employ gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I took them and was able to rest at night for the first time in months. I bought more and took them and they cured me as they also cured several other people to my knowledge. I think that if you should ask any of the druggists of Detroit, who are the best buyers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills they would say the young women. These pills certainly build up the nervous system and many a young woman owes her life to them.

"As a business woman I am pleased to recommend them as they did more for me than any physician and I can give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People credit for my general good health to-day."

Suddenly Prostrated.

No discovery of modern times has done so much to enable women to take their proper place in life by safe-guarding their health as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health to the exhausted woman when every effort of the physician proves unavailing.

For the growing girl they are of the greatest benefit, for the mother indispensable, for every woman invaluable.

For paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and other diseases long supposed incurable, these pills have proved their efficacy in thousands of cases.

Not Half a Chance.

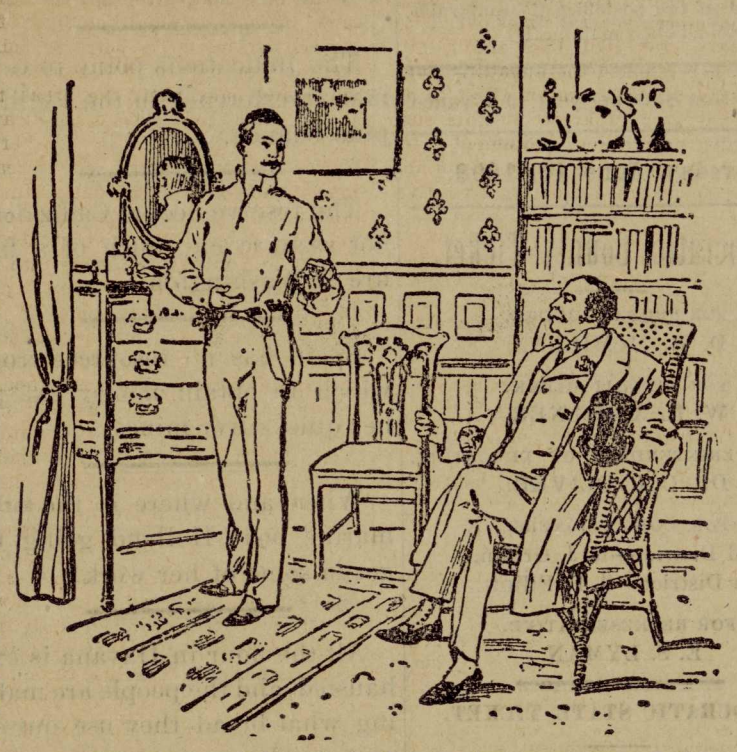
Emperor William refers to Dewey's fight at Manila as "amateurish." But William should not forget that Dewey would undoubtedly have made a much better showing if the material on the other side had not given out just as he was beginning to get his hand in.—Cleveland Leader.

Another Patriot.

"I understand that Bindle is going to apply for a pension."

"Upon what grounds, I would like to know? He never fought for his country."

"No, but he came over on the Paris and his nervous system was completely upset."—Chicago News.



The "Ivory" is a favorite shaving soap because it makes a profuse rich lather, which softens the beard to be removed and leaves the skin unharmed.

It costs about one-fifth as much as the so-called shaving soaps and many who have used it for this purpose for years, will not have any other.

The vegetable oils of which Ivory Soap is made, fit it for many special uses for which other soaps are unsafe or unsatisfactory.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

Climbing Up and Down Stairs

CARRYING heavy burdens, washing, ironing, scrubbing and other laborious duties are productive of an enormous amount of suffering among women who are already weak and prostrated by the ravages of female diseases. The performance of these heavy labors is obligatory to many women, but the suffering is not. This feature of the household burdens may soon be removed if women will only take the trouble to learn how. A few bottles of will regulate all menstrual irregularities, and restore the entire female organism to its proper condition. Take St. Joseph's Liver Regulator in small doses if there is any tendency to constipation or indigestion.

GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK

BED-FAST FOR A YEAR.

Gerstle's Female Panacea has made a most wonderful cure on the wife of one of our tenants. She had been bed-fast for twelve months, but your medicine has cured her and she is loud in her praises of same.

HIXON BROS., Claiborne, Ala.

Get this medicine from your druggist. If he does not keep it, send us $1.00 and we will send you a bottle, all charges paid.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Props., Chattanooga, Tenn.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING

"Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

OPIUM Habit. NEW HOME CURE. Painless. No Detention from work. Guaranteed. Write DR. PURDY. Houston, Texas.

GIN REPAIRS

SAWS, RIBS, BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c.,

FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.

ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES

And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.

LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO.,

AUGUSTA, GA.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, June 16, 1898

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. A. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—C. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F, JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices,
JAMES R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor,
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer.
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chancellor N. E. Chancery Division,
R. B. KELLEY,
of Calhoun.

For Judge 7th Judicial Circuit,
GEORGE E. BREWER,
of Talladega.

Last Tuesday one hundred and twenty-one years ago the "Star Spangled Banner," the flag that has since floated so proudly over the grandest nation on earth, was born, It originally had thirteen stars and thirteen stripes. Since its birth thirty-two new stars have been added—one for each additional State.

War and yellow fever combined. Whew!

Will Cervera forget Hobson and the Merrimac?

Mr. Jos. Leiter, the ex-wheat king, is out of business.

The indications point to German interference in the Phillippine Islands.

The reserve fleet at Cadiz does not seem to cut much of a figure at Washington.

Spain has no resources from which to obtain money except her quicksilver mines.

When and where is the submarine boat Holland going to get in some of her work?

All the flour in Havana is exhausted, ahd the people are making what bread they use out of corn meal.

The chance has come for small but ambitious capitalists to invest their available cash in government bonds.

As soon as the troops are landed, Sampson will force the Santiago harbor. Then we will have a Sampson day.

No town can hope to be free from rowdyism that has no city organization. Let us get together and incorporate.

We take our hat off to the Age-Herald. She is a hummer, and her news service the equal, if not superior, to any in the State.

Should Germany interfere at Manilla England, Japan and the United States would form an alliance that would rule the world.

Germany may interfere at Manilla, but Emperor William will find that Uncle Sam is not asleep and is in this business to stay until tnings are settled.

The first planting of the stars and stripes in Cuba was done at Guantanamo bay last Friday. It will stay there, and before many moons have passed it will float over all Cuba, when a brave and chivalrous people will be free.

Captain Hart, of filibustering fame, has been pardoned by President McKinley.

The Atlanta Constitution says "the present war would be greatly simplified if Admiral Sampson would allow a cargo of Florida cucumbers to run the Havana blockade.

Guantanamo was the scene of a thirteen hour engagement between the Spanish guerrillas and regulars and Col. R. W. Huntington's battalion of marines last Friday, in which the American loss was four killed and one wounded. The Spanish loss is unknown, but from evidence left it is supposed to be quite heavy.

A torpid liver robs you of ambition and ruins your health. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cleanse the liver, cure constipation and all stomach and liver troubles. F. P. Crowe & Co.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo. - - Ala.

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala., Montgomery, Ala. Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address
C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

The Great Family Remedy

No home should be without a bottle of V. V. V., the great specific for all diseases of the blood—a true boon to ailing man and woman. A health and strength restorative of the highest efficacy. V. V. V., a purely vegetable preparation of sterling worth, acts directly on the blood, purifying, renewing and giving new life to every part of the system. Diseases of many years standing quickly succumb to V. V. V.; the ills of the hour are at once rectified, while the system is completely fortified against sickness.

A positive and permanent cure for Scrofula, Tetter, Eczema, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Rheumatism in all its forms and blood poison of any nature. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

☛When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mrs. Will Lyman.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Congressman W. F. Aldrich was in the city last Friday.

Miss Florence Farrington is reported as being quite sick.

Mr. Sandy Horn is on a visit to his mother in Montevallo.

Mr. W. R. Johnson, the butcher, has closed his market.

Mrs. Horn, of our town, will spend the summer in Texas.

We believe the Montevallo mail has grown since commencement.

For Sale.—A good horse for only $25 00. Apply at News office.

G. B. Dean, populist candidate for governor, was in town last week.

Better subscribe te the stock of the Montevallo Building Association.

For Sale.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

Hon. Thos. S. Plowman, of Talladega, was in town last Friday on business.

Mr. T. A. Best is working on the new M. & O. railroad, near Maplesville.

Rev. Sturdevant, Fusion candidate for representative, was in town last week.

Mr. B. F. Crabbe has leased the residence recently occupied by D. C. Savage.

Mr. D. C. Savage has removed his family to their former home at Maplesville.

Any town should have pride enough to keep its cemetery one of its prettiest places.

There are several cases of sickness reported in and near town, but nothing serious.

Messrs. John M. Fancher and W. E. Harrison visited Columbiana Monday on business.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

We understand that a new brick yard is to be started in Montevallo in the near future.

When you are very warm and thirsty, go to Crowe's and get a glass of ice cold soda water.

Mr. Geo. H. Tompkins has closed his bakery for the present on account of the dull season.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Dr. D. L. Wilkinson is the happiest man in town this morning. It is a pretty little girl.

The many friends of Mr. Sam Farrington will be glad to learn that he is on the convalescent list.

An orchestra, composed of our music loving young people, was organized last Monday evening.

Mrs. Nannie Shivers Bogges, of Waco, Texas, is visiting the family of her brother, D. W. Shivers.

A few men with picks and shovels could, within a few hours, wonderfully improve Montevallo's cemetery.

Miss Jennie Rowe, a popular young lady of Dadeville, Ala., is visiting her sister, Mrs. B. F Crabbe, this week.

The friends of Mrs. Pat Kroell will be glad to know that she has about recovered from her recent serious illness.

Master Chris Dill, who has been attending the Academy for the Blind at Talladega, returned home Thursday last.

Messrs. Clyde Reynolds and Alfred Roebuck have returned from Talladega, where they have been attending school.

The extreme warm and dry weather is causing much uneasiness, not only for the crops, but for the health of our citizens.

A chicken snake 41½ inches long was found between the window casing and wall in Mrs. Bryan's dining room Tuesday afternoon. It was killed.

We regret to chronicle the illness of our popular dressmaker, Miss Ada Dill. There are many who will join us is wishing her a speedy recovery.

The long drouth has been broken. Refreshing rains fell here Sunday. Monday and Tuesday afternoons, laying the dust and somewhat cooling the atmosphere.

Died, at her home at Aldrich, on the morning of the 15th inst., Mrs. Caroline Bowlen, aged about 47 years. The remains were interred in the Montevallo cemetery.

A certain young man, with soulful eyes and a lost expression on his countenance, was heard quite recently to remark, "I'll be doggone if I don't wish it was time for school to open again."

Rev. P. L. Abernethy, accompanied by his mother, went up to Bessemer Monday to attend the marriage of Miss Nannie Howell, a niece of Mrs. Abernethy. They are expected to return to-day.

Lightning Ice Cream Freezers, the best on the market. Will make cream better and quicker than any other freezer. This freezer was made especially for Morgan Bros., the up-to date merchants. Call and get one.

Dr. John E. Berkstresser, of Sylacauga, agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, is in the city in the interest of this successful company. He made a "ten strike" when he made the popular bank cashier, Burgess Little, local agent. The increase of this company's business will prove our prophecy.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

The mines are not running regular now.

Mr. Dave Evans, of Belle Ellen, was in town Sunday.

Mr. Frank Cunningham asserts that he hasn't any girl now. Oh! me.

The rain last Sunday was welcomed by all, although some of the young people got wet.

Quite a crowd from Maylene attended the singing at the Baptist church Sunday.

Misses Mamie and Tiny Woods, two of Blocton's fairest damsels, visited relatives and friends in our town last week.

The editor of the News was a welcome visitor to our town Sunday. Come again, Cbff, we are always glad to see you.

At the Dogwood church last Sunday an all day singing attracted quite a large congregation of young and old. The ones we saw reported a good dinner and lots of bright and mischievous eyes.

Messrs. Walton Carlisle, Julian McKibbon and Richard Ozley, and Misses Nona Wells, Myrtle Lawrence, Ollie and Florrie Bryan, of Montevallo, attended the singing at the Baptist church Sunday.

Prof. B. C. Williams and two friends, of Belle Ellen, spent Sunday here. The Professor came to see his best girl, who happened to be one of Montevallo's prettiest. From the close attention the Professor paid the Wells(?) forces one to believe that Belle Ellen must be a dry town.

More anon. Success to the News.

Pat Hayseed.

M. L. Yocum, Cameron, Pa., says; "I was a sufferer for ten years, trying most all kinds of pile remedies, but without success. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me. I used one box. It has effected a permanent cure." As a permanent cure for piles, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal. F. F. Crowe & Co.

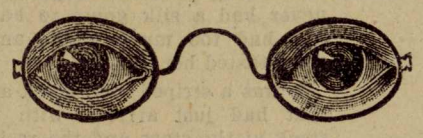
HOW TO ENLIST.

Cut out the ballot printed on first page, write on it the name of your candidate and send it in. This will count one vote. Subscribe for the News, or renew your subscription for one year, and name the young person you desire to have credited. This will entitle him or her to 100 votes. On the 1st of September the scholarships will be awarded to the four boys or girls who receive she highest number of votes. This is simple and easy--all you have to do is to send in your votes in order to put your favorite to the front. We hope you will help us to place the News in many more households during the next few months.

Those who are contemplating entering the race should do it at once in order that their friends may know of their purpose to compete.

The contest is open to any lady or gentleman in Shelby county. Information concerning the contest can be had on application at this office.

It is a great leap from the old fashioned doses of blue-mass and nauseous physics to the pleasant little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cure constipation, sick headache and biliousness. F. F. Crowe & Co.



H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks !

AND RICH CUT GLASS !

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo. - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

☛ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

GREEN BANKS OF A RIVER.

Green banks of a river, an' takin' of my ease—
Fur-off sounds of cattle-bells—honey-huntin' bees,
An' blossoms drappin' roun' you when the wind creeps through the trees
Green banks of a river, an' takin' of my ease.

Green banks of a river—do jest as you please—
Friend to all the singin'-birds, an' brother to the breeze.
No bullets whizzin' roun' me—no forts to shell an' seize—
Green banks of a river, an' takin' of my ease!

Green banks of a river; clover to your knees
In medders cool with shadders—the blossoms an' the bees—
The singin' of the mockin' birds—the "howdy" of the trees—
Green banks of a river, an' takin' of my ease!

—FRANK L. STANTON.

Debbie's Wages.

"Can't have it," said Farmer Colt shaking his head solemnly. "There's no use a-talking, Deborah, you can't have it. Crops are all poor this year; the rain has nigh a'most spi'it the hay; that there cow died the other night; and help is not onl lazy and sassy, but charges more'n I ever heerd tell on before. Silk, indeed! Why, my mother never had a silk gown to her name. She had too much sense, and you'd orter tasted her butter."

It was a striped silk, black and blue, that had just arrived with the fall stock at the store and the recipient of the lecture was blue-eyed Debbie Colt, her father's only daughter, who certainly earned what her father called "her salt," with her two plump little hands. Morning, noon and evening she was busy, taking upon her shoulders all the work that her dead mother had done in her lifetime, and with no help to speak of in the kitchen or dairy. It was a hard life, and when winter came and there was a little amusement to be had, a few parties, a lecture or two, perhaps a sleigh-ride, is it any wonder that Debbie experienced the natural wish for a little finery that is common to all womankind? Can one blame her as the father did for wishing once in her life for a really nice dress?

"It's only a dollar and a half a yard, pa," she began again, "and I can make it myself. I—"

But this time the old man roared:

"Didn't I tel you to shut up?" And Deb. closed her lips and went away tearfully to set the table for supper.

Perhaps the dishes did come down on the table with little bangs. Perhaps the knives were not softly and tenderly laid down. At all events, pretty soon someone who had been standing outside the door burst into a low laugh and cried out:

"Well, I never, Debbie Colt! Anybody can see you're mad by the way you sot the table. What's happened?"

"Oh, come in, Mrs. Fish," said Debbie, too cross to smile. "Come in and sit down. There's nothing much the matter, only the old story. You know how close pa is, and you know how shabby I am, just as well as I can tell you. I shall just have to shut myself up all winter, for to go out in that horrible green merino, with half the color faded out, I won't; no, indeed. The very girls at the factory look better. Sally Parker fixes up as if she were a princess, every Sunday. Pa is rich and needn't be so mean."

"Old folks get near as they get on," said Mrs. Fish, "and men folks worst of all, I do believe; but I don't know but what there's a way for you to get your dress, after all, if you ain't too stuck up to earn it, and if your pa would let you. There ain't so much to do now, and old Marthy Grey would do up the chores for you. She is always glad to hire round for her keep."

"Oh, pa wouldn't mind," said Debbie, pausing in the act of putting down a dish of apple sauce. "What is it, Mrs. Fish?"

"Well," said that lady, rummaging in her pocket—"well, I'll tell you. Oh, here it is! Old Mrs. Doughty, up on tne hill—first-class family, you know, and regular stylish house—she's lost her sight, you know—that is, pretty nigh. She can see to go about, but 'tain't safe to go alone; and she can't read, nor sew, nor nothin'. Well, today her son was speakin' to me, and he said he'd like to get a young lady to wait on his mother. Not a servant, says he, but a companion—one that can read well and would do everything a daughter could. It wouldn't be for long—only a couple of months—for they're going to Europe then; but meanwhile you'd earn your dress for quite a spell. Ih, here it is—his card I was lookin' for. He wrote down what he was willing to give, and all."

Debbie took the card and regarded it thoughtfully.

"It's September now," she said, "and at $40 a month I should have $80 by November. I never have had so much as $10 at a time in my life. I'll do it. Mrs. Fish—that is, if I should suit. I can read aloud nicely, I know; and perhaps I shall suit. Pa's consent I'm sure of."

And so, after an interview with old Mrs. Doughty, the matter was settled.

Debbie was a pleasant girl when she was not tormented by undeserved reproaches, and the life at the house on the hill was new and pleasant to her. The refinement of manners—the elegance of all arrangements—were new revelations to her, and she was adaptive by nature. Unconsciously she soon spoke in lower tones, moved more elegantly and lest those bad habits of speech which were the result of association with uneducated people; and she did her duty well and was kind and faithful.

The old lady needed her every hour of the day, but she did not weary; and, somehow, there was compensation for all fatigue in the pleasant evenings when Mr. Charles Doughty, coming home from the city, made himself as agreeable to the new inmate of the house as though she had been a guest.

"If I only had a brother like that," Debbie often thought; "if this were my home, how happy I should be!"

So the days glided by. Her first month's wages were paid, but Debbie had lost her desire for the striped silk. A heavy black silk, like those worn by Mrs. Doughty, had become her object now. Two month's salary would buy this. So she hoarded the crisp notes carefully. The dress should have a train and a little lace ruff, and it should fit her neatly and not be the shapeless bag that Miss Bones, the village dressmaker, believed to be a polonaise. Once, at least, she would let Charles Doughty see her in this—once, at least, she would prove that she could look like a lady. She hated the green merino now worse than ever, for, hide it beneath white aprons as she might, she could not hide its spottiness.

And yet Mr. Doughty was so polite, so courteous, so kind.

"What a happy woman his wife will be!" thought poor little Debbie.

Once indeed he had even taken her for a walk when she had a sick headache, and he had looked at her so sweetly. No one was so handsome, so grand. And then Debbie found tears in her eyes; she could not guess why. "Oh, to stay here forever!" she sighed.

But alas! the happiest days fly fastest. The two months were drawing to an end. There was talk about the European trip, and one day Mrs. Doughty put the last month's wages into poor Debbie's palm.

"I can't pay you for all you've done for me," she said. "But I know (Debbie had been confidential) that you want a black silk. I've made it a little more—and you can go down today and buy it, and let me feel it when you come home. I'm a good judge of silk by touch, even now."

And Debbie felt wonderfully rich, as, with a hundred dollars in her purse, she was hurried cityward by the flying train. But somehow she was not happy as she had hoped to be. She should have the dress—but her old life of thankless toil would begin again, and her friends were going to leave her. The sea would roll between her and the kind old lady and splendid Mr. Charles.

"I don't feel as if I could buy it," said Debbie to herself, as she walked up Broadway. "What do I care for the rest of the people in the place—for stupid Jack Brown and silly Bill Butters. Not a beau in the place worth having. No one interesting or pleasant. They can't be agreeable or polite; all they can do is to grin and try to kiss you. Oh, I detest them all. And the only man worth anything in the world I shal never see again."

Poor Debbie, her mind was far away, but her feet trod the city streets, and New York is not the place to go into dreamland in. Abstraction written on her face, and her reticule loosely held in her hand, the country girl was an object calculated to attract the attention of the first evil-disposed individual who met her. And very soon two young men in shabby clothes, with low, evil faces, stumbled up against her, reproved each other for "hitting against the lady," and while she, confused and alarmed, endeavored to get out of their way, snatched her reticule and fled.

The next moment, rid of her dreams for the time being, Debbie realized the fact that she was alone and penniless in a great, strange city.

"What shall I do?" she asked herself, as the tears filled her eyes. "The dress is gone, of course, but how am I to get home again? Will they take me on the cars without money,"

Stories of passengers who had been set off in swamps or tumbled over bridges, for lack of tickets, rushed into her memory. She had not a friend in New York. It was such a wicked place. Robbed now, might she not be murdered next? People looked at her curiously. An impudent foreigner leered at her. A dingy man approached and clutched her arm. He only meant to beg, but the girl's nerves were quite unstrung by this time, and she gave a little scram and turned to run. This time some one caugnt her hand.

"Oh, please don't kill me," sobbed Debbie.

But the hand was clasped more tightly.

"What is the matter, Debbie? Don't you know me?" said a voice, and there was Mr. Charles Doughty.

"Oh, thank goodness!" sighed Debbie, and clung to him as though her life were in danger.

"Take my arm, little country girl," he said. "New York is enough to distract one unused to it. And what is it? Are you lost? Have you been frightened?"

"Not exactly," said Debbie, "but I've been robbed, and I began to think I should not get back home. Oh, how good you were to find me! But, I declare, I wonder you are not ashamed of me in this shabby dres, as if my father were a beggar, not the rich man he is—and so excited, and all. I think perhaps you'd better not let me take your arm. I shall disgrace you, Mr. Doughty; I shall indeed. I declare it's blue in some places and yellow in others."

"I'm not looking at your gown, Debbie," said Mr. Charles. "I don't think any one could if it were shabbier than it is."

"It's well for me, for I shan't have another soon," said Debbie, with a sigh for the lost purse. "Is this the way to the depot, Mr. Doughty?"

"No," said the gentleman. "We are going to lunch first. You must be starved. And so the money is gone, poor child?" and he patted the hand upon his arm, and Debbie's color rose.

Her soft little face with the flush upon it—her blue eyes shining through long lashes—the golden hair—kinking itself into little waves upon the temples, as it would, being naturally curly, not crimpled—made a pretty picture. Charles bent his head lower and looked at her.

"Little one," he said, tenderly, "have you been happy with us?"

"Happier than I ever have been before," said she, from her heart.

"And you like my mother?"

"I love her," said Debbie, looking up.

"Do you like me?" whispered Charles Doughty.

Debbie looked down; and for the first time she knew that she might have given him the same answer.

He knew it, too.

"Debbie, darling," he whispered, "if you like me enough to be my wife, we can all go to Europe together. I intended to ask you before I went, at all events, but I could not be sure some village beau was not before me. There is no one—is there, Debbie?"

"There is no one like you in all the world," said Debbie.

And then they went in and had lunch together; with which prosaic termination we leave the rest to the reader's imagination.—New York News.

LAWS OF ABYSSINIA

Are Based on the Theory of "An Eye for an Eye."

The laws of Abyssinia are primitive, and based on those of the Israelites, "An eye for an eye." There are neither law courts nor lawyers; both plaintiff and defendant plead their own cause. Formerly, prior to the appointment by King Theodore of executioners, the guilty person, in case of murder, was slain in exactly the same manner in which he had taken the life of his victim. For instance, if a man killed another with a sword, the avenger of blood had to use a similar weapon. If death had been caused by blows from a club, a club was used to take the life of the murderer. This law most unjustly operated even in cases of manslaughter; and the life of a man who unwittingly and unintentionally had caused the death of another could be demanded by the relatives of the deceased. Among many others, an instance of this kind was once related to me. Two men were cutting grass on the side of a precipice, and when they were about to descend one of them fastened the end of a rope round his companion's body to lower him down the cliff, and attached the other end to the trunk of a tree. Accidentally the man to be lowered slipped before all was ready, and a coil of the rope becoming entagled round his neck he was strangled. His comrade, on subsequently descending by slipping down the rope, was horrified to find him dead at the bottom, and hastened to the village to report the circumstance. The judge passed a sentence of manslaughter and ordered a fine of $150 to be paid to the widow. The widow, however, refused the compensation and demanded the literal carrying out of the law. After some deliberation it was agreed that she should carry her point, and the unfortunate and perfectly innocent man was sentenced to be hung with the same rope which had caused the fatal accident; the rope was, accordingly, fastened round his waist, and a coil of the same passed around his neck, and he was hauled up a few feet from the ground, suspended a few moments and then lowered again. The widow believing him from all appearances to be dead was satisfied; but the relatives of the victim hastened to him and applied restoratives, which were so effective that in course of time he got up and walked away. The widow was furious, and demanded that the sentence should be again enacted, adding: "Next time I will hold on to his feet until he is dead." The judge, however, declared that justice must be tempered with mercy, and her demand was not complied with.

Gold Fish Raising.

In Oldenburg, Germany, is one of the largest gold fish farms. More than a hundred small ponds contain the fish in all stages of growth, the little ones carefully kept from the rapacious big fellows of eight inches, which would be delighted to eat their helpless brethren. In spite of this, the gold fish is a great coward, and a tiny fish with the courage to attack it can frighten it almost to death. That the demand for goldfish is large is shown by the fact that from the fish farms of Oldenburg over 300,000 fish are sent to market every year.

On the Canadian Pacific Railway there are carriages over seventy-seven feet long.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THE GREAT DIVINE'S SUNDAY DISCOURSE.

Subject: "The Gallows For Haman"—From the Life and Death of This Persian Courtier Living Lessons of Warning and Instruction Are Drawn.

TEXT: "So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai."—Esther vii., 16.

Here is an Oriential courtier, about the most offensive man in Hebrew history, Haman by name. He plotted for the destruction of the Israelitish nation, and I wonder not that in some of the Hebrew synagogues to this day when Haman's name is mentioned, the congregation clench their fists and stamp their feet and cry, "Let his name be blotted out!" Haman was Prime Minister in the magnificent court of Persia. Thoroughly appreciative of the honor conferred, he expects everybody that he passes to be obsequious. Coming in one day at the gate of the palace, the servants drop their heads in honor of his office; but a Hebrew, named Mordecai, gazes upon the passing dignitary without bending his head or taking off his hat. He was a good man, and would not have been negligent in the ordinary courtesies of life, but he felt no respect either for Haman or the nation from which he had come. So he could not be hypocritical; and while others made Oriental salaam, getting clear down before this Prime Minister when he passed, Mordecai, the Hebrew, relaxed not a muscle of his neck, and kept his chin clear up. Because of that affront Haman gets a decree from Ahasuerus, the dastardly king, for the massacre of all the Israelites, and that, of course, will include Mordecai

To make a long story short, through Queen Esther this whole plot was revealed to her husband, Ahasuerus. One night Ahasuerus, who was afflicted with insomnia, in his sleepless hours calls for his secretary to read him a few passages of Persian history, and so while away the night. In the book read that night to the king an account was given of a conspiracy, from which Mordecai, the Hebrew, had saved the king's life and for which kindness Mordecai had never received any reward. Haman, who had been fixing up a nice gallows to hang Mordecai on, was walking outside the door of the king's sleeping apartment and was called in. The king told him that he had just had read to him the account of some one who had saved his, the king's life, and he asked what reward ought to be given to such a one. Self-conceited Haman, supposing that he himself was to get the honor, and not imagining for a moment that the deliverer of the king's life was Mordecai, says: "Why, your majesty ought to make a triumph for him, and put a crown on him and set him on a splendid horse, high-stepping and full-blooded, and then have one of your princes lead the horse through the streets, crying, 'Bow the knee, here comes a man who has saved the king's life!'" Then said Ahasuerus in severe tones to Haman: "I know all about your scoundrelism. Now you go out and make a triumph for Mordecai, the Hebrew, whom you hate. Put the best saddle on the finest horse, and you, the prince, hold the stirrup while Mordecai gets on, and then lead his horse through the street. Make haste!"

What a spectacle! A comedy and tragedy at one and the same time. There they go! Mordecai, who had been despised, now starred and robed, in the stirrups. Haman, the chancellor, afoot, holding the prancing, rearing, champing stallion. Mordecai bends his neck at last, but it is to look down at the degraded Prime Minister walking beneath him. Huzza for Mordecai! Alas for Haman! But what a pity to have the gallows, recently built, entirely wasted! It is fifty cubits high, and built with care. And Haman had erected it for Mordecai, by whose stirrups he now walks as groom. Stranger and more startling than any romance, there go up the steps of the scaffolding, side by side, the hangman and Haman the ex-chancellor. "So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai."

Although so many years have passed since cowardly Ahasuerus reigned, and the beautiful Esther answered to his whims, and Persia perished, yet from the life and death of Haman we may draw living lessons of warning and instruction. And first, we come to the practical suggestion that, when the heart is wrong, things very insignificant will destroy our comfort. Who would have thought that a great Prime Minister, admired and applauded by millions of Persians, would have been so nettled and harassed by anything trivial? What more could the great dignitary have wanted than his chariots and attendants, and palaces and banquets? If affluence of circumstances can make a man contented and happy, surely Haman should have been contented and happy. No; Mordecai's refusal of a bow takes the glitter from the gold, and the richness from the purple, and the speed from the chariots. With a heart puffed up with every inflation of vanity and revenge, it was impossible for him to be happy. The silence of Mordecai at the gate was louder than the braying of trumpets in the palace. Thus shall it always be if the heart is not right. Circumstances the most trivial will disturb the spirit.

It is not the great calamities of life that create the most worriment. I have seen men, felled by repeated blows of misfortune, arising from the dust, never desponding. But the most of the disquiet which men suffer is from insignificant causes; as a lion attacked by some beast of prey turns easily around and slays him, yet runs roaring through the forests at the alighting on his brawny neck of a few insects. You meet some great loss in business with comparative composure; but you can think of petty trickeries inflicted upon you, which arouse all your capacity for wrath, and remain in your heart an unbearable annoyance. If you look back upon your life, you will find that the most of the vexations and disturbances of spirit, which you felt, were produced by circumstances that were not worthy of notice. If you want to be happy, you must not care for trifles. Do not be too minute in your inspection of the treatment you receive from others. Who cares whether Mordecai bows when you pass, or stands erect and stiff as a cedar? That woodman would not make much clearing in the forest who should stop to bind up every little bruise and scratch he received in the thicket; nor will that man accomplish much for the world or the church who is too watchful and appreciative of petty annoyances. There are multitudes of people in the world constantly harrowed because they pass their lives not in searching out those things which are attractive and deserving, but in spying out with all their powers of vision to see whether they cannot find a Mordecai.

Again: I learn from the life of the man under our notice that worldly vanity and sin are very anxious to have piety bow before them. Haman was a fair emblem of entire worldliness, and Mordecai the representative of unflinching godliness. Such were the usuages of society in ancient times that, had this Israelite bowed to the Prime Minister, it would have been an acknowledgment of respect for his character and nation. Mordecai would, therefore, have sinned against his religion had he made any obeisance or dropped his chin half an inch before Haman. When, therefore, proud Haman attempted to compel an homage which was not felt, he only did what the world ever since has tried to do, when it would force our holy religion in any way to yield to its dictates. Daniel, if he had been a man of religious compromises, would never have been thrown into the den of lions. He might have made some arrangement with King Darius whereby he could have retained part of his form of religion without making himself so completely obnoxious to the idolaters. Paul might have retained the favor of his rulers and escaped martyrdom if he had only been willing to mix up his Christian faith with a few errors. His unbending Christian character was taken as an insult.

Fagot and rack and halter in all ages have been only the different ways in which the world has demanded obeisance. It was once, away up on the top of the Temple, that Satan commanded the Holy One of Nazareth to kneel before him. But it is not now so much on the top of churches as down in the aisle and the pew and the pulpit that Satan tempts the espousers of the Christian faith to kneel before him. Why was it that the Platonic philosophers of early times, as well as Toland, Spinoza and Bolingbroke of later days, were so madly opposed to Christianity? Certainly not because it favored immoralities, or arrested civilization, or dwarfed the intellect. The genuine reason, whether admitted or not, was because the religion of Christ paid no respect to their intellectual vanities. Blount and Boyle, and the hosts of infidels hatched out by the vile reign of Charles the Second, as reptiles crawl out of a marsh of slime, could not keep their patience, because, as they passed along, there were sitting in the gate of the church such men as Matthew, and Mark, and Luke, and John who would not bend an inch in respect to their philosophies.

Satan told our first parents that they would become as gods if they would only reach up and take a taste of the fruit. They tried it and failed, but their descendants are not yet satisfied with the experiment. We have now many desiring to be as gods, reaching up after yet another apple. Reason, scornful of God's Word, may foam and strut with the proud wrath of a Haman, and attempt to compel the homage of the good, but in the presence of men and angels it shall be confounded. "God shall smite thee, thou whited wall." When science began to make its brilliant discoveries there were great facts brought to light that seemed to overthrow the truth of the Bible. The archæologist with his crowbar, and the geologist with his hammer, and the chemist with his batteries, charged upon the Bible. Moses's account of the creation seemed denied by the very structure of the earth. The astronomer wheeled around his telescope until the heavenly bodies seemed to marshal themselves against the Bible as the stars in their courses fought against Sisera. Observatories and universities rejoiced at what they considered the extinction of Christianity. They gathered new courage at what they considered past victory, and pressed on their conquest into the kingdom of nature until, alas for them! they discovered too much. God's Word had only been lying in ambush that, in some unguarded moment, with a sudden bound, it might tear infidelity to pieces.

It was as when Joshua attacked the city of Ai. He selected thirty thousand men, and concealed most of them; then with a few men he assailed the city, which poured out its numbers and strength upon Joshua's little band. According to previous plan, they fell back in seeming defeat, but, after all the proud inhabitants of the city had been brought out of their homes, and had joined in the pursuit of Joshua, suddenly that brave man halted in his flight, and with his spear pointing toward the city, thirty thousand men bounded from the thickets as panthers spring to their prey, and the pursuers were dashed to pieces, while the hosts of Joshua pressed up to the city, and with their lighted torches tossed it into flame. Thus it was that the discoveries of science seemed to give temporary victory against God and the Bible, and for a while the church acted as if she were on a retreat; but when all the opposers of God and truth had joined in the pursuit, and were sure of the field, Christ gave the signal to His church, and turning, they drove back their foes in shame. There was found to be no antagonism between nature and revelation. The universe and the Bible were found to be the work of the same hand, two strokes of the same pen, their authorship the same God.

Again: Learn the lesson that pride goeth before a fall. Was any man ever so far up as Haman, who tumbled so far down? Yes, on a smaller scale every day the world sees the same thing. Against their very advantages men trip into destruction. When God humbles proud men, it is usually at the moment of their greatest arrogancy. If there be a man in your community greatly puffed up with worldly success, you have but to stand a little while and you will see Him come down. You say, I wonder that God allows that man to go on riding over others' heads and making great assumptions of power. There is no wonder about it. Haman has not yet got to the top. Pride is a commander, well plumed and caparisoned, but it leads forth a dark and frowning host. We have the best of authority for saying that "Pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall." The arrows from the Almighty's quiver are apt to strike a man when on the wing. Goliath shakes his great spear in defiance, but the small stones from the brook Elah made him stagger and fall like an ox under the butcher's bludgeon. He who is down cannot fall. Vessels scudding under bare poles do not feel the force of the storm, but those with all sails set capsize at the sudden descent of the tempest.

Again: this Oriental tale reminds us of the fact that wrongs we prepare for others return upon ourselves. The gallows that Haman built for Mordecai became the Prime Minister's strangulation. Robespierre, who sent so many to the guillotine, had his own head chopped off by the horrid instrument. The evil you practice on others will recoil upon your own pate. Slanders come home. Oppressions come home. Cruelties come home.

You will yet be a lackey walking beside the very charger on which you expected to ride others down. When Charles the First, who had destroyed Strafford, was about to be beheaded, he said, "I basely ratified an unjust sentence, and the similar injustice I am now to undergo is a sensible retribution for the punishment I inflicted on an innocent man." Lord Jeffries, after incarcerating many innocent and good people in London Tower, was himself imprisoned in the same place, where the shades of those whom he had maltreated seemed to haunt him, so that he kept crying to his attendants: "Keep them off, gentlemen, for God's sake, keep them off!" The chickens had come home to roost. The body of Bradshaw, the English judge, who had been ruthless and cruel in his decisions, was taken from his splendid tomb in Westminster Abbey, and at Tyburn hung on a gallows from morning until night in the presence of jeering multitudes. Haman's gallows came a little late, but it came. Opportunities fly in a straight line, and just touch us as they pass from eternity to eternity, but the wrongs we do others fly in a circle, and however the circle may widen out, they are sure to come back to the point from which they started. There are guns that kick!

Furthermore, let the story of Haman teach us how quickly turns the wheel of fortune. One day, excepting the king, Haman was the mightiest man in Persia; but the next day, a lackey. So we go up, and so we come down. You seldom find any man twenty years in the same circumstances. Of those who, in political life twenty years ago were most prominent, how few remain in conspicuity. Political parties make certain men do their hard work, and then, after using them as hacks, turn them out on the commons to die. Every four years there is a complete revolution, and about five thousand men who ought certainly to be the next President are shamefully disappointed; while some, who this day are obscure and poverty stricken, will ride upon the shoulders of the people, and take their turn at admiration and the spoils of office. Oh, how quickly the wheels turn! Ballot-boxes are the steps on which men come down quite as often as they go up. Of those who were long ago successful in the accumulation of property, how few have not met with reverses! while many of those who then were straitened in circumstances now hold the bonds and bank keys of the nation. Of all fickle things in the world, fortune is the most fickle.

Again: this Haman's history shows us that outward possessions and circumstances cannot make a man happy. While yet fully vested in authority and the chief adviser of the Persian monarch, and everything that equipage and pomp and splendor of residence could do were his, he is an object lesson of wretchedness. There are to-day more aching sorrows under crowns of royalty than under the ragged caps of the houseless. Much of the world's affluence and gaiety is only misery in colors. Many a woman seated in the street at her apple-stand is happier than the great bankers. The mountains of worldly honor are covered with perpetual snow. Tamerlane conquered half the world, but could not subdue his own fears. Ahab goes to bed, sick, because Naboth will not sell him his vineyard. Herod is in agony because a little child is born down in Bethlehem. Great Felix trembles because a poor minister will preach righteousness, temperance and judgment to come. From the time of Louis the Twelfth to Louis the Eighteenth was there a straw-bottomed chair in France that did not sit more solidly than the great throne on which the French kings reigned?

Were I called to sketch misery in its worst form, I would not go up the dark alley of the poor, but up the highway over which prancing Bucephali strike the sparks with their hoofs and between statuary and parks of stalking deer. Wretchedness is more bitter when swallowed from gemmed goblets than from earthen pitcher or pewter mug. If there are young people here who are looking for this position and that circumstance, thinking that worldly success will bring peace to the soul, let them shatter the delusion. It is not what we get, it is what we are. Daniel among the lions is happier than King Darius on his throne. And when life is closing, brilliancy of worldly surroundings will be no solace. Death is blind, and sees no difference between a king and his clown, between the Nazarene and the Athenian, between a bookless hut and a national library.

In olden time the man who was to receive the honors of knighthood was required to spend the previous night fully armed, and with shield and lance to walk up and down among the tombs of the dead. Through all the hours of that night his steady step was heard, and, when morning dawned, amid grand parade and the sound of cornets the honors of knighthood were bestowed. Thus it shall be with the good man's soul in the night before heaven. Fully armed with shield and sword and helmet, he shall watch and wait until the darkness fly and the morning break, and amid the sound of celestial harpings the soul shall take the honors of heaven amid the innumerable throng with robes snowy white streaming over seas of sapphire.

Mordecai will only have to wait for his day of triumph. It took all the preceding trials to make a proper background for his after successes. The scaffold built for him makes all the more imposing and picturesque the horse into whose long white mane he twisted his fingers at the mounting. You want at least two misfortunes, hard as flint, to strike fire. Heavy and long continued snows in the winter are signs of good crops next summer. So, many have yielded wonderful harvests of benevolence, and energy because they were a long while snowed under. We must have a good many hard falls before we learn to walk straight. It is in the black anvil of trouble that men hammer out their fortunes. Sorrows take up men on their shoulders and enthrone them. Tonics are nearly always bitter. Men, like fruit trees, are barren unless trimmed with sharp knives. They are like wheat—all the better for the flailing. It required the prison darkness and chill to make John Bunyan dream. It took Delaware ice and cold feet at Valley Forge, and the whizz of bullets, to make a Washington. Paul, when he climbed up on the beach at Melita, shivering in his wet clothes, was more of a Christian than when the ship struck the breakers. Prescott, the historian, saw better without his eyes than he could ever have with them. Mordecai, despised at the gate, is only predecessor of Mordecai, grandly mounted.

CLARK FIRST TO LAND.

Commander of Oregon Puts Initial Fighting Squad Ashore.

A special from Port Antonio, Jamaica, says: The invasion of Cuba by the American forces began Saturday.

Six hundred marines pitched their tents about the smoking ruins of the outer fortifications of Guantanamo, and the stars and stripes for the first time float from a Spanish flagstaff in Cuba.

To Captain Clarke, of the battleship Oregon, belongs the honor of accomplishing the first successful landing of the war. Forty marines from that battleship went ashore and occupied the left entrance to the bay until the troopship Panther arrived with 600 marines. These, under command of Lieutenant Colonel R. W. Huntington, arrived at 3 o'clock Saturday, and within half an hour they had burned the buildings of the Spanish camp and had set fire to the miserable little village which crouches on the beach under the hilltop of Guantanamo.

CALL US COWARDS.

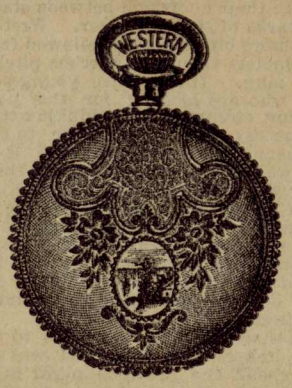
German Press Show Unfriendly Feeling Toward United States.

Advices from Berlin state that there is no material change in the feeling in Germany in regard to the war between Spain and the United States. The government avoids expressing its views on the subject and a few of the German newspapers persist in their attitude of little short of hostility toward the United States.

These newspapers also continue to charge the Americans with cowardice for not attacking the Spaniards, "whom until recently the Americans regarded as unworthy of their steel."

Any Woman

Would be Pleased with a Watch Such as We Illustrate....



It's only one of twenty equally attractive styles which we can show you. We have built up a very large watch trade by selling Reliable Watches at Moderate Prices.

We shall be glad to show you our line, whether you are ready to buy yet or not.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men begging for poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting-rooms and offices in from one-half to two-thirds the time required elsewhere. The best equipment a young man can have who expects to make his own way in the world is a course in

Eastman NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

or the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

Don't throw away time and money by going to temporary schools when it will cost you less to attend the BEST. We always have a number of students in attendance who have left inferior teachers in disgust. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We offer

$5 REWARD for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for all graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Refer to Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for free catalogue—a beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above (mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President, POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK.

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said: "The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

TEN FOR FIVE CENTS
RIPANS
ONE GIVES RELIEF

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

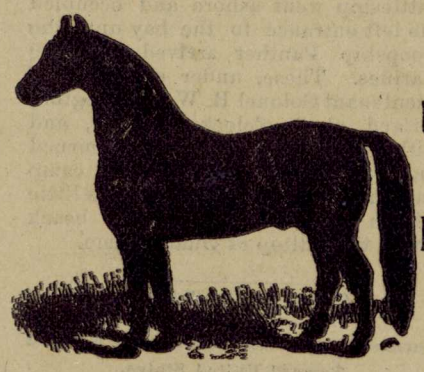
Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Established in 1882.

GEO. KROELL'S



Livery, Sale, Exchange and FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses And Careful Drivers FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

☞Office at Store. Manager.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Probate Judge

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 23, '98. NO. 24

The Story of a Carbuncle as Told by the Nerves of Sensation.

Alabama Christian Advocate.

Reader, did you ever have a carbuncle? Then you have missed a large experience. How's that? You say you have had about the same thing—several large boils? Now see here. If that is all you know about carbuncles, just stop right here. Don't read any farther, for nothing will penetrate such colossal ignorance except a carbuncle. "About the same thing?" Why, man, there is about as much similarity betweon a boil and a carbuncle as there is between a Sunday school picnic and a naval battle. You must be thinking of some little puny, one-horse, sickly little imitation carbuncle when you talk that way. If ever you tackle a real first-class, four-horse, all-wool-and-a-yard-wide, a full-jewelled-double-case-stem-winding carbuncle, you will wish for two or three big boils just to divert you and help you bear your misery.

I have had a carbuncle—in fact, several of them—but the one I wish to tell about is as fine a type as you will often meet with. I am somewhat at a disadvantage in trying to describe it, because I cannot speak as an eye-witness—having never seen it. This is not due to a want of proximity, for we were very near to each other. But I am troubled with a physical defect dating back to the time of my birth, which prevents my seeing anything on my backbone. I have suffered a good many inconveniences from this singular conformation, but it doubtless has its compensations, so that I do not claim for this narrative the accuracy of detail usually accorded to an eye-witness.

Nor can I write from hearsay; for the people who did see it evidently knew less about it than I did. According to their statements, it ranged in size all the way from an egg to a clod of dirt. As to its great leading characteristics, they were always seeking information from me.

Therefore I am shut up to my nerves of sensation, as the only source of information. And why not? The eye-witness depends on the testimony of the optic nerve, the hearsay man depends on the auditory nerve for his information, and it seems to me that my nerves of sensation have just as much right to be heard in court. To those who are blissfully ignorant of carbuncles, the picture may seem overdrawn, but those who have had experience will recognize the fidelity of the description.

Once, upon a day most busy,
When my aching head grew dizzy
Over stacks of mail that waited to be sorted o'er,
Suddenly there came a twitching,
Crawling, burning, awful itching
Of the skin that I had sometimes felt before.
In my deep preoccupation,
"'Tis a flea," I said, "that seeks location
Somewhere near my vertebration
Some lone flea that worn and weary, seeks some strength
From out my store.
This it is and Nothing more."

Ah! distinctly I remember,
It was not the bleak December,
Nor yet the chill and raw November,
But the bonnie month of May,
And each separate, bulky MS.
That upon my desk there lay,
Seemed fairly bursting with impatience to be read without delay,
When once again I felt that twitching,
Crawling, awful itching
Of the skin, that sometimes felt will be forgotten
Nevermore.

"Sure," said I, "by every token,
Though thy name be still unbroken,
No herd of fleas could ever raise such Cain as thou hast sometimes raised before.
But, pardner, I will surely find thee,
And I'll get in straight behind thee,
And I'll surely catch and bind thee
As I have in days of yore."

Hot Weather

Don't Affect Our Prices. . . .

We Are the

Acknowledged Leaders in Low Prices.

We keep everything kept by a

First-Class Store.

MORGAN BROS.

And I searched until I found him
Perched within a tiny pimple
Just upon my backbone's rim,
Such a modest, tiny pimple
That it really did look simple
To suppose that there was any harm in store
But there he had perched upon my backbone sure,
Perched and sat,
And a good deal more.

The reader will observe that here the narrative changes its form from poetry to prose, which is a strong point in evidence that I had the carbuncle; for if it had all been written alike, it would have been strong presumptive evidence that I was merely drawing on my imagination instead of any experience. As soon as I found it I locked my desk and started out to find a doctor. Finding one disengaged, I said: "Doctor, there is an infant carbuncle that has got lost from its ma and has become tangled in the pores of my skin and can't get out. It's ma may be uneasy about it, and I really do not need it in my business. Will you be kind enough to take your lancet and cut a hole large enough for it to get out?"

"Certainly," said the doctor; and taking his lancet he cut a slit that my nerves reported as about two inches long—long enough for a half-grown carbuncle to have escaped if it wanted to. "Now," said the doctor, "it is bleeding pretty freely; wait till the flow of blood stops and I will pour in some carbolic acid which may help him to get out."

That's an idea pervading the medical mind, that carbolic acid is distasteful to carbuncles, but they fatten on it. There is but one thing they like better, and that is iodiform. But do you think the little heathen would come out? Not much. On the contrary, he began to bore out subcutaneous galleries and fix up a permanent abode. Within two days it had grown to grand proportions and set up a claim as governor of the province. The doctor came again and said it would have to be subsoiled. So he drove in his plow-lancet—according to the report of my nerves—about a foot deep and got under the hard pus. How he did rip and tear and tug and strain; and sometimes the plow would hang against such a tough piece that it would jump out. Then he would have to back and take a running start. But he got it plowed out after awhile. Next day he came back and cross-plowed it. By that time the carbuncle had control of almost the entire boarding-house. It issued a decree that I should be clothed in flaxseed poultices and a clawhammer shirt, and I proceeded to clothe myself accordingly.

A clawhammer shirt is made by taking the ordinary night shirt of commerce, a garment designed to fit the proportions of the Cardiff Giant, and split it from the back of the neck to the southern terminus. In appearance it is distinctly unattractive, and is about as comfortable to wear as a bolt of cloth with one end pinned around the neck and the rest of it trailing around promiscuously in the way of the feet.

You don't think you would allow as small a thing as a carbuncle to dictate what you would wear? Oh, yes, you would. You don't think so, but you would. And you'd do more than that. As long as that carbuncle abode with you, you would recognize it as the great central fact of your life, around which every other fact must group itself the best it could. It would determine what you would say and when you would say it; whether you would eat or sleep, or whatever else you did.

A lady friend would drop in to see you, and you would start a smile full of gratified vanity and delight, and would intend to say, "Delighted to see you. Have a seat. It is almost worth while to be sick to receive such a guest."

But about the time that smile was half spread, the carbuncle would touch a little nerve and splinter that smile into a thousand angles of facial deformity. Instead of saying what you started to say, a gentle nudge from the carbuncle and you would say, "Hemp! Oh!! Ah-vo-oo-o-o!!!—!!!" or words to that effect.

The doctor might howl at you all day to eat, but if that carbuncle said, "Don't eat," you wouldn't do it. The doctor might insist that you lie still and be quiet, but at the suggestion of that carbuncle you would go wriggling and squirming over the bed, like a worm in hot ashes.

Your dignity and self-respect might tell you to bear the pain silently and show how brave and strong a man can be, but at the beck of that carbuncle you'd howl like a fog horn or whine like a baby. You'd do about anything that carbuncle said do and do it without argument.

And flaxseed poultices: Well, the whole house became a poultice factory with three energetic and ambitious young men working all niget. The morning found the bed poulticed, from one end to the other, the pillows poulticed, the floor, the very atmosphere poulticed, to say nothing of the carbuncle and my

(Concluded on Local Page.)

BATTLESHIP AND TORPEDO BOAT.

Smooth and lean—they have stripped her clean
Down to her leering guns.
A-weather and lee she smashes the sea
With her weight of ten thousand tons,
From bow to stern her watches turn
The beams of her searching suns.

A-wash, half-drowned, we speed a-round
To beat the veering light,
For she must see ere her fangs are free
That she may begin to bite,
And we laugh where we lie, at the blundering eye
That misses us in the night.

They have freighted her with five hundred men;
She is fierce with rifled guns;
But she cannot mark as she rolls in the dark,
The death that comes and runs.
We flit as a mist wreath on the sea,
And ere her topmen leap
We have struck and fled and the riven dead
Are sucked in the whirling deep.

With the Price of Blood.

A Mexican Woman's Dark Deed.

Sola Vejar, simple child of a guileless race, believed in her very soul that wealth would outweigh in the heart of Antonio Mascavel the beauty of Refugio Garfias, great and renowned though that might be. Therefore, and for this only, did she sigh for riches and hate poverty with which Providence had seen fit to curse her. For Sola was not beautiful, save for the beauty that some find in a firm chin and a powerful mouth, a wide forehead and deep eyes overset with mighty brows—which may have their charm for the student of his kind, but not for a lover, and, least of all, for a Mexican lover.

Antonio Mascavel preferred the type of Refugio—small-featured, red-lipped, soft-eyed, graceful, and lovely as a dark venus. And his opinion was also that of the surrounding country, of the city of Los Angeles, and the mission of San Gabriel. The fame of the daughter of Garfias had spread even among the Americans, and when strangers asked to be shown a beautiful Mexican, they were taken to the home of Garfias, upon the outskirts of Sonora town. So it may be supposed that Refugio had lovers. They came from far and near, and from every rank of California life. There was an American whose fortune was vast and as generously spent as fortunes were in the early fifties; there was an Englishman with a determination to have her at any cost, even at that of a few lives—a tendency of character which accounted for his presence in the States and for his expatriation; there were innumerable Mexicans, ranchers, shop-keepers, desperadoes, and gamblers. All followed tamely and suppliantly in Refugio's train.

But she loved only Mascavel. She admitted it at last to Senor Garfias, when that wiry little creature demanded that she make a choice. The senor was aghast. The possibility of it had not occurred to him.

"Antonio Mascavel!" he said. "But you do not know him."

Refugio nodded her little head. "Yes, she said.

Of this Senor Garfias became gradually aware after he had protested for hours and days, and after finding that despite his prohibitions, despite close supervision, his fair daughter and Mascavel were in constant communication.

Then he hunted up Antonio himself, and he pleaded with him, courteously and respectfully, for Mascavel was a big man and a desperate one. But he, too, answered that he loved and when all was said and done, it had gone no farther than this, that they both loved, and that wisdom might stand aside.

Garfias went with his baffled hopes to Senor Vejar—the brother of Sola. The house of Vejar—a two-roomed adobe which had never been whitewashed—stood several hundred yards further north along the road than that of Garfias. It was the last one before the open country, and had no neighbors.

Senor Vejar was much younger than Garfias. He had the same mighty brow and powerful mouth that made his sister hideous to a race that loves all things gentle and gracious. He was one of those who pined for Refugio, but her father did not know this. So he told him the whole story of his twarted will and plans, and implored advice as he made a cigarette.

"If it were not for the cursed laws of the Gringoes; if things were as they were in my youth, I could force my own daughter to marry the man I pleased," he said.

Vejar shook his head. "You cannot do that," he answered.

"What, then, shall I do?" Garfias was moved to the point of tears. They hung on his long black lashes and dropped on his old blue overalls.

The situation was too complicated to be set straight in a moment. It was not simplified by Vejar's having his own suit and chances to consider. "I cannot advise you at once," he said; "I will think and will help you, if I can, in the morning." He took counsel with his sister when Garfias had ridden away.

"Oh!" snarled Sola, "the love of Antonio! A thousand dollars would bury it so deep that it would never rise again."

"Yet," said her brother, not understanding women, "you would be glad to have it."

The deep eyes shone. She shrugged her shoulders. "Yes, I would be glad to have it. And I could have it for a thousand dollars—perhaps less."

"At that cost you must be content to go without it. What advice shall I give to Don Garfias?"

"How should I know? Let him see to his own troubles, and be glad that your sister is not so beautiful that you have no peace because of her."

It was long after dark when a horse stopped at Vejar's adobe. Vejar had been asleep. He jumped up and went to the door. He had his finger on the trigger of his revolver. A man stood under the broken-down ramada. Before he spoke, the Mexican had seen by the moonlight that he was a Gringo. They talked together in low tones until Sola joined them, rubbing her eyes and moving noiselessly with her bare feet across the dirt floor.

"This man," said her brother, "is an American. He says he has ridden all day to get into Los Angeles before night, but his horse went lame. It is so bad now that he can go no further, and he wishes to stay here until morning."

"Let him stay," said Sola, not too graciously. "He can have my bed. I cannot sleep."

Vejar grunted in much contempt. "Mascavel does not lie awake for you," he said.

Sola made no answer. She accepted the fact. She put the American upon the blanket covered willow boughs that she called her bed. Her brother tied the horse beside his own in the roofless adobe workhouse, and fed it some day. He did nothing for its lame foot. The suffering of a dumb animal is a matter of pure indifference to a Mexican, when it is not cause for laughter.

The American was a mere youth. Sola saw that when the patch of moonlight finally worked around to where she sat upon the floor, leaning against the wall, and went near to see if he were breathing. It seemed that he slept very lightly, for he started up, with his left hand upon his belt and his right hand upon his revolver.

"You were so still I thought you might be dead," said Sola, in her deep, placid voice, full of the Indian sweetness of sound. He took his hand from the weapon and lay back shamefacedly. It was only a woman, a thick-set, lazy, good-hearted Mexican. He had not been able to see her face, and he did not know that the comfortless pallet was her bed. He turned on it and fell asleep again. But Sola sat thinking. Long after her brother was dreaming in the next room she crouched, looking into the darkness, with her great, wide eyes—seeing nothing. And in her brain ran the clink of the coins as the young Gringo had put his hand to his belt. There was a purpose in her unflinching mind. That she debated it therein was due only to her uncertainty as to how many coins had clinked, as to whether there were enough to buy Antonio Mascavel. Five hundred dollars would do it—for a time. After that he might kill her; or he might let her live and go away with Refugio—which would be worse. He was a gambler through and through, and none the less so because of being luckless. A few hundred dollars in actual cash would present to him unlimited possibillities of the wealth that it might win. And there is always the poor chance, in a woman's mind, that the man may learn to love as she loves. He might forget Refugio; or she might marry some one else.

She went slipping across the earthen floor and groped in a corner behind a string of chiles. Her hand came out from the shadow holding a knife that gleamed as she moved back through the strip of moonlight and toward the willow-bough pallet where the incautious youth lay, sleeping heavily now.

Fifteen minutes later she went into the room where her brother lay upon a bed like her own. She roused him with her bare foot. He turned with a sleepy grunt.

"Get up and come here," she said. She was not a capricious creature. It was her way to do little, but that in dogged earnest. So Vejar sprang up and went with her. She stopped beside the bed and pointed down to the body.

"I have killed him," she said.

Vejar made no answer. He did not understand.

"I have killed him," she repeated. "You take him away and bury him."

It flashed upon Vejar that what his sister said was true. He was frightened. He dropped down beside the body and dragged it into the streak of moon light.

"Take care," Sola warned him; "if there is blood on the floor it can be seen. I can burn the blanket that is on the bed; and no one saw him come."

Vejar let the body fall, and stood up facing her. She could see the dreadful light in his eyes, but she did not care.

"You can turn his horse loose and it will never be known," she said indifferently. "He had money. There is eight hundred dollars. I have counted it. Antonio will marry me for that."

Vejar struck her down with a blow on the breast. She sat upon the floor as quietly as if she were basking in the sun, dreaming the eternal Mexican dreams.

"If you hit me again I shall say that you did it. They would believe me."

Vejar stood thinking, with the body and the woman at his feet. He knew that she was right. The Gringoes would believe a woman. It was the custom of the fools. She held his life in her hard, broad hands, and she would give it for the sake of the soft-eyed gambler as calmly, as relentlessly as she had given that of the boy between them.

He carried the body out and buried it before dawn, far from the adobe, and so skillfully that there were no traces of the spot. Then he turned the lame horse loose, and it wandered into the town.

For the sake of the forty gold pieces that were Sola Vejar's dowry that she had come by, he did not ask how—nor care—that conjured up visions of limitless wealth to be won, Antonio Mascavel consented to take her and let the ungilded beauty of Refugio Garfias go.

Many Americans disappeared in those days, and were never accounted for. It was so with the one who had started from the San Fernando district to Los Angeles, foolishly carrying a large amount of gold in his belt—some said more than a thousand dollars. The sheriff and a posse searched and did not find him; that was all.

Antonio lived with Sola for a year, and she was happy—though no fault of his. His luck turned, and he won, with her nest egg, the fortune he had dreamed of. Having done so, he went across the border.

For a long time Sola mourned, sullenly and deeply; then—Vejar having been killed at a round-up by an enraged steer—she took up her abode with Refugio, and became a devoted and patient nurse to her children.

For Refugio had married the rich American, and had long since forgiven the defection of Mascavel and the woman who had caused it.—Gwendolen Overton, in the Argonaut.

LEARNING TO SWIM.

The Chief Characteristic of a Good Swimmer is a Slow Stroke.

"Just as soon as the warm weather sets in, many persons who, at the close of last summer, were able to swim a few strokes, will again somewhat timorously enter the water," writes Frank H. Vizetelly in an article on "The Simple Art of Swimming" in the Woman's Home Companion. "The majority will find this self-imposed task far more difficult than is anticipated. It is necessary to remind those who indulge in short, hurried strokes that one of the golden rules of swimming is move slowly and deliberately. Those who wish to become good swimmers must cultivate self-reliance, and they should always bear in mind that water itself has a sustaining power far greater than that of most liquids. The slow stroke is the very essence of good swimming. It enables the bather to inflate the lungs and thus unconsciously turn them temporarily into life-preservers. To move slowly is to get plenty of breathing time, and to get plenty of breathing time is to get plenty of strength to repeat the movements which propel the body through the water. Te second golden rule which the beginner sould school herself to remember is that the living human body is specifically lighter than water, and that, consequently, it does not necessarily sink therein. Confidence in the sustaining power of water is the only secret to swimming. The best way to convince the novice of the buoyancy of water is to let her wade out until the water comes up to her breast; but before doing this she should take care, when in shallow water, to immerse her whole body, so as to avoid the rush of blood to the head, from which many bathers suffer through neglecting to do this. With the water once on a level with the breast the bather should lie on her back and extend her arms out beyond her head, but not raised out of the water. This position makes breathing easy and counterbalances the weight of the legs. The bather should lie restfully and avoid stiffening the nether limbs. The hips should be rigid, the feet close together, but not out of the water, for if they were they would overbalance the weight of the head and carry it beneath the surface.

Evil Rings of Feathers.

Witch wreaths have been steadily losing prestige since old colonial days, when witches were burned and old ladies of taciturn nature were supposed to take midnight rides upon long, rakish-looking broomsticks. The University of Pennsylvania, however, recently received a veritable witch wreath of the old sort. It was presented to the university by Dr. George B. Kline of Pittsburg.

The curiosity consists of a matted ring of chicken feathers, and is about three inches in diameter. It is common belief among ignorant residents of parts of Pennsylvania and New Jersey that the witch wreath is an instrument of evil. The legend is that the wreaths form in pillows subjected to evil influences, and that a person sleeping on such a pillow will surely die. The superstitious put bibles under their pillows to prevent the evil circle from forming. The wreath presented to the university was found in the pillow of a resident of Pittsburg, who died while using the pillow.

Sulphur Waters.

A well on Sanibel Island, Florida, which had always been fresh water, changed to sulphur water a few weeks after a windmill had been erected over it to utilize the water for irrigation purposes.—New York Journal.

NEWS FOR THE FAIR SEX.

ITEMS OF INTEREST ON NUMEROUS FEMININE TOPICS.

Woman "Codfisher"---Tip-tilted Hats---Use For a Half-worn Skirt---Trials of an Empress---Etc., Etc.

WOMAN "CODFISHER."

Mrs. William Champlin of Montauk, has just made for herself a record as a "codfisher." Her husband, who is engaged in the codfish business off Montauk, has usually been accompanied on his trips by another bayman. Last week he was taken sick, and Mrs. Champlin volunteered to fill his place as "second man" in the boat. Her husband was rather dubious as to her ability to fill the bill, but she was not to be daunted.

She donned the attire of a fisherman and set out with her husband's partner. The day was spent in fishing, and when they returned to the beach the couple had caught together a total of 175 fish.—New York Times.

TIP-TILTED HAT.

To be in style every woman must have at least one hat which tip-tilts over her nose. When becoming, this style of wearing the hat is very becoming; but when unbecoming it is horrid. No woman with a turned-up nose should wear a hat turned down to meet it, for then brim and nose look exactly as if they were trying to get at each other and couldn't quite make it. On the other hand, a conspicuous straw hat loaded down with veiled flowers, feathers, and so on, should not be set down over a large ,drooping nose, for then the brim looks very much as if it were running the said nose a good race. To the average nose the tip-tilted hat is becoming, and that is well, for everybody is wearing it. Nothing is more fascinating than to see a pretty pair of dark or blue eyes peering out from underneath one of these flower-laden brims.—New York Sun.

USE FOR HALF-WORN SKIRT.

A prominent woman possessing a half-worn skirt can now have it made to look fresh and fashionable by using it as a foundation for ruffles, extending from the hem to a circular yoke, which should be made of a fresh piece of silk. Apply the top flounce to the joining. Black and white striped or dotted silk can also be freshened in a like manner. Any odd bodice looks well with the black skirts. Fluffy odd blouses are still in demand. One built of lavender mousseline de soie is gathered into full puffs with triple headings between. They are arranged to encircle the corsage. From the top of each sleeve comes a scarf of lavender taffeta arranged in loops over the shoulder. They are also draped across the front of the corsage and are tied in a knot to form a cascade at the middle of the bodice. The close fitting sleeves of the taffet are veiled with the mousseline de soie.

TRIALS OF AN EMPRESS.

The German Empress has been obliged to protect against too open demonstrations from her subjects in public. Women who have been in the habit of throwing her bouquets of flowers as she drove by have sometimes inflicted uncomfortable wounds, the wires about the flowers scratching her face. There were only two things to be done—either the enthusiasm of the women must be suppressed or their skill in throwing flowers might have been established. There are schools for almost everything else we do, from dancing, speaking, breathing to thinking; from making proper approaches and salutations to beating proper retreats. A child is even taught how to kiss properly, so as not to bump against the face or to be awkward or uncomfortably ardent in its demonstration. But an accurate and sure aim, so that dangerous results might be avoided and proper enthusiasm expressed, was recognized, no doubt, as lying beyond the possibilities of the average woman with missiles of good will in her hands. At any rate, it was thought better to suppress rather than to cultivate her, which, all things considered, seems well.

WORK OF A TRAVELING WOMAN.

Mrs. Jane Macdonald, who is sent South and East by the Chamber of Commerce and "Half Million" Club of San Francisco to boom her State and attract imigrants there, has had a checkered, but in all a successful, life. She first went to California when twelve years old. On the way she rode horseback with her father, who was captain of a wagon train, from Council Bluffs to Carson City. They started on April 1st, and arrived in Carson City on September 15th. Mrs. Macdonald tells how, when left a widow with children to support, she started a millinery shop; failing in that she began to canvass books. In this she succeeded until facilities for travel decreased her receipts. Then she traveled for hotels, then for roailroads, and now the State of California has secured her services. Mrs. Macdonald will accept no place at smaller wages than men demand, for, as she says, she will not cheapen woman's work.—New York Tribune.

THE BABY'S OUTFIT.

Three or four flannel shawls, about thirty inches square and bound with ribbon, will be found very useful while the baby is young. They are easy to wrap around the baby after a bath and when ready for a nap. Little sacks are also needed, and can be knited in white with pink and blue borders, or be made on a short yoke, or can hang straight from the neck, and be trimmed with a broad collar, and tied with a ribbon in front. Two or three wrappers can be simply made, perfectly of Scotch flannel, either on a yoke or with a cluster of tucks across the front. Three or four knitted blankets are necessary, and can be made of light pink, blue or white. White, as a rule, washes best. The long coat can be made of silk, cashmere, or any soft white goods. It should be lined with a thin silk, so as to slip on and off easily, and if a winter coat lined throughout with lamb's wool. It can be trimmed with a wide collar or a round shoulder cape if desired. A little cap should go with the coat, made of the same material, and lined if for winter; but in summer the dainty little muslin caps are the best.

The baby's basket is a delightful article to plan about, and can be made in a variety of ways. The long, low shape is perhaps the most convenient. If it is to be trimmed at home tack cotton batting on to the sides, which have been sprinkled with orris powder and then cover with whatever material is desired. Rose or light blue silk is a pretty foundation, covered with either a fine dotted muslin or point d'esprit lace. The muslin or lace should be sewed on full, but the silk can be put on plain. A flowered silkolene can be used in place of these. This, of course, should be put on full, as it does not have the lace over it. A big satin bow at the side or on the top makes a pretty finish. In the tray are kept the baby's toilet articles, and in the underneath part of the basket the baby's clothes. The tray should contain a pin-cushion on which are the assorted sizes of safety-pins. A little cup shaped bag can be made of rubber cloth covered with whatever material the basket is trimmed with, and sewed into one corner of the tray, for the baby's sponge, which should be small and fine. A piece of good soap in a little dish, a powder box and puff, a bottle of vaseline, a small box of borax, a quarter of a pound roll of absorbent cotton, a roll of old linen, and a pair of small blunt-pointed scissors. These little things are constantly needed, and should always be on hand.—Harper's Bazar.

THREE POPULAR PERFUMES.

There was a time when the fashionable woman selected her perfume with a view to individuality of fragrance. Such is no longer the case. There are three perfumes which nine out of every ten fashionable women are using. The majority of them, selecting one of the three scents, uses it on both dressing table and in the numerous sachets of her wardrobe, while others select any or all three indiscriminately.

According to a well known New York dealer, the most popular of the favorite perfumes is an extract of violet, which can scarcely be distinguished from the fresh flower itself. The next in popularity is crushed rose, which does not smell the least bit like the ordinary extract of that flower, but like the old fashioned rose jar. A tiny drop of the double extract on a woman's handkerchief will give a room the subtle, spicy perfume for which the rose jar was so much desired, while the same perfume used as a sachet makes one's clothes smell as though fresh rose petals had been strewn among them. The third claimant for popularity is wild clover. This, it is said, is the most lasting of the three, and a few drops on one's handkerchief will last as long as the handkerchief itself.

The latest use of sachets is for scented clothes hooks. The ordinary wire extender for bodice or skirt is padded with cotton batting, thickly sprinkled with sachet powder. Over them is drawn a silk or muslin bag, shirred full around the shank of the extender, or tied with ribbons, so that they may be easily removed when there is a necessity for renewing the powder. Another method employed by dressmakers, in place of the dainty bags of sachet formerly stitched about in the bosom and sleeves of a bodice, is the new cotton or wool perfumed padding. It can be bought with any scent, and is much more enduring.

FASHION NOTES.

Piquets, marseilles, lawns and linens will all be much worn this summer for morning gowns, as well as at the watering places.

Aigrettes in the hair seem to be taking the place of aigrettes in the bonnet. Birds are also being worn as coiffure ornaments.

A novel design in wool gloves for street wear is a pin check of gray and white, over which runs a larger check of pink and turquoise.

A fashionable summer gown is of golden brown dimity, with insertion of brown and white runing up each seam and at the top of the lower flounce.

A hat that milliners say will be much worn is of green soft silk, a number of puff ruffles at the side with a spiral and a large white aigrette.

Yellow vies with blue for prominence in millinery. Yellow flowers, yellow tulle, chiffon, and yellow straw are brilliantly conspicuous, besides all the warm tints of burnt orange.

A new ornament for the hair is a large single artificial flower mounted on a wire with a tuft of colored tulle at the base. One damask rose has a rosette finish of red tulle.

Among the novelties in French shirt waists are those made of batiste with hand embroidery in white outlined with narrow beading and bordered with a tiny frill of real Valenciennes.

A pretty morning hat is a black sailor of rough straw with a band of burnt orange satin ribbon, which finishes in a spiral of the same. Three black spangled quills complete the trimming.

Braided black nets, with tiny frills or gauze ribbon between the bayadere patterns, are a very popular material for the transparent gown which is a fashionable necessity this season.

The most approved neckgear for golf, bicycling, yachting, and sports generally, is the white pique stock, with a Scotch zephyr tie, forming a band around the neck, and a coaching puff in front.

There is a great variety in hats, the new Alpine being among the ones that have been favorably received already. It is gray, with wide ribbon and band, finished in the left side with a bunch of long coque feathers.

DELIVERING LETTERS ON STILTS.

Postmen Who Are Compelled to Adopt This Method of Locomotion.

The modern postman has been mounted on a bicycle, has been given a horse to ride, sometimes a horse draws him about, but the queerest of all methods of locomotion of postmen is that which is utilized in France, where men of letters—and papers—move about on stilts.

It is not meant that all the French postmen make their rounds in this fashion. Only those who serve the country and the postoffice officials through the great stretch of land that lies between Bordeaux and Bayonne are so distinguished. All this land is covered by a growth of gorse and broom which makes walking a very difficult matter. The postmen, however, have found that there is a way to render it much easier for themselves and that is by taking stilts.

To walk about in this fashion is not as easy as walking on one's feet in the ordinary way. The stilts are fastened to the feet of the postmen, and are not unlike those with which the small boy makes annual detours. To stand still any length of time on them is of course impossible without support, and so a pole is carried, in much the same way that the yeoman once lugged about his quarter staff. On this pole the postman leans when he wishes to rest, and in this way manages to get along very comfortably.

There is another proposition to face when winter comes, as of necessity the stilts sink deeply into the snow, and this makes walking a very difficult matter. This the genius of the postman has proved sufficient to overcome. He accomplishes his undertaking with the aid of a thin wooden skate, with which he skims along the surface of the snow and ice without sinking at all. It is by no means an easy matter to balance one's self tied to the knees. What then must be the effort of skating on stilts?

This French postman makes remarkable speed as he shuffles and glides about from one place to another. Oftentimes the route which one man has to travel on foot in this fashion includes more territory than Greater New York possesses. The skates, therefore, instead of being a hindrance and a danger, really make this work easier, and the postman in the Landes, as this queer tract of country is called, rejoices at the coming of winter, for he realizes that his task will become a considerable percentage lighter.

Clad in his capote, or sheepskin cloak, he scurries about over the country until he has been everywhere that his duty calls him. Sometimes postmen of a neighboring territory meet him and challenge his fleetness, the result being a tourney.

Many of the postmen who follow this method of transportation are said to make as good time as most people would with a horse and buggy.

Five-Foot Soldiers.

The minimum height in the Mikado's army is a fraction of an inch over five feet, that in the Italian army five feet one inch. As the height of individuals in Japan does not often exceed five feet four inches for males, it follows that there is a wonderful uniformity observable in the physique of the troops, and this fact operates beneficially in long marches, very few falling out of the ranks. What one can do all can do. The Emperor is himself much above the average stature, and the Empress is just as tall as the Princess of Wales. Both are of spare build.

To Make Diamonds.

Moissan and others who have endeavored to produce diamonds artificially have discovered that it is necessary to employ very high pressures with the heated carbon in order to induce the latter to crystallize. An Italian, Quivine Majorana, announces to the Roman Academy of Sciences a new method of conducting this squeeze. The carbon, having been heated in an electric arc, is suddenly subjected to a compression from gases, generated by explosives, equivalent to 5000 atmospheres.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday. June 23, 1898

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. A. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—C. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F, JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices.
JAMES R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor.
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer.
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chaneellor N. E. Chancery Division,
R. B. KELLEY,
of Calhoun.

For Judge 7th Judicial Circuit,
GEORGE E. BREWER,
of Talladega.

Incorporate Montevallo.

Montevallo needs water works. Why not induce some one to build them, or incorporate and issue bonds to build them?

We would advise some of our citizens who are anxious to see Montevallo grow to offer their property at a little lower figure.

NON-PAYMENT OF VOLUNTEERS.

Mobile Register.

There is one piece of mismanagement that cannot be shouldered off upon the regimental and company commanders of the volunteer troops, nor yet can it be explained by saying that the war has made such an enormous demand for material that delay in furnishing the same could not be avoided. We mean the non-payment of the volunteer troops. Here nearly two months have gone by and not a cent have these poor fellows received.

The boys have volunteered to bear the flag of their country and are as ready as any others to sustain the hardships of war, but this means, of course, the necessary hardships. When it comes to waiting for pay that could and should be forthcoming, there is naturally a great deal of impatience felt and exhibited.

Consider the terms of the contract entered into with the government. The call was made for volunteers, and the usual pay of soldiers was offered. The government let it be known that the pay for privates and non-commissioned officers would begin from the time of their enlistment.

The volunteers left their homes, many of them having no means of support but their daily earnings in factories, in stores and in the field. They were told not to bring much clothing with them, as the government would shortly uniform them. Few were able to bring any money. They arrived here and have spent nearly two months in waiting for mustering into service. Meantime their clothes, already well worn on the day of their arrival, have turned into rags, and their little pocket money has gone to purchase food found necessary at the time when defective commissary arrangements or ignorance of their commanders left them without food they could eat.

Added to this, the government has failed to pay off the men, leaving many absolutely penniless. Is it astonishing to learn that under this circumstance volunteers have been known to stop citizens on the street and beg for money, saying they are poverty-stricken and hungry?

Of course all volunteers are not so, yet a large number of them are, and it is a shame that even one of these brave boys should be placed in this predicament when the United States treasury is loaded down with money.

We have read somewhere that the fault is with the paymasters; that the government appointed a score or so of sons of somebodies to perform paymaster duty, but some of these young gentlemen had not reported, and therefore no payment could take place. This, if true, is another shame. The idea of the great United States being unable to pay its volunteer soldiery because some popinjay has failed to report for duty! It is ridiculous. How would a man of business get such a payment effected? He would order money sent to some local bank and request the bank to pay off. The thing could be done by telegraph and finished inside of half a day's time.

And why isn't it done? The saying goes that there is no head to the war department, that everything there is at sixes and sevens, and that no one, unless it is a chief clerk, knows what is to be done or who is to do it. Meantime the president is calling for more volunteers. He had best at the same time jump Secretary Alger out of the war department and give notice that the things now complained of will be suffered no longer. We venture to say by this process the recruiting would not take two days' time. As things now go, it may take two months.

FACTS! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

☛To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

NEW STORE!

WHEN YOU NEED

....FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

The reason Rogan sells ice so cheap is because he loses the melt.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Mr. John Kroell is visiting friends at Union Springs this week.

The wedding bells will ring again in Montevallo before many moons.

Dr. Hargrove, of Maylene, and Judge Campbell, of Calera, were in town today.

Mrs. S. O. Pitts, of Vicksburg, Miss., is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. L. Wilkinson.

Miss Lucy Meredith, of Birmingham is visiting the family of Rev. M. P. Reynolds.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Mrs. F. W. Rogan will leave Friday for Livingston, where she will spend the summer.

Mrs. W. B. Reynolds is visiting her parents, Hon. Mims Walker and wife, at Faunsdale.

Capt. R. H. Pratt, superintendent of education of Bibb county, was in town Tuesday

A beautiful awning of red, white and blue has been put up in front of the new drug store of W. B. McCluney & Co.

Mr. Henry Lyman, of Birmingham, is in the city on a visit to his brother, Hon. E. S. Lyman.

Mr. R. E. Dill returned home last Friday after an absence of several weeks at Brighton, Ala.

Mr. Sam Morgan, of Blocton, spent Sunday last in our town, visiting his brother, Geo. W. Morgan.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. S. J. Acker, who has been on the sick list for several days, is improving.

Rev. M. P. Reynolds returned from Birmingham Tuesday where he had been visiting for several days.

Mrs. Sydney J. McMath and children, of Troy, Ala., are visiting the family of Mrs. M. A. McMath this week.

The heaviest rain of the season fell here last Sunday afternoon, and the farmers are now assured of a good harvest.

Protracted meetings will begin at the Baptist church next Sunday and at the Methodist church the first Sunday in July.

Mrs. Abernethy returned Monday from Bessemer, where she went to attend the marriage of her niece, Miss Nannie Howell.

Presiding Elder Simpson was the guest of Rev. P. L. Abernethy Tuesday. Bro. Simpson's family will spend the summer here.

We call the attention of our readers to the new double-column advertisement of Mrs. A. B. Payne, to be found on our editorial page.

We regret to learn that Kathleen, the eight-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Shivers, is quite sick with fever. We hope she will soon be well.

Married, on the evening of the 16th inst., at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. A. Best, Rev. P. L. Abernethy officiating, Mr. J. H. Draper and Miss Sue P. Shuford. The bride and groom have many friends in our town, who wish for them a long and happy life.

'Squire James Ozley sent to our office a few days ago the first cotton bloom of the season. We will soon print a picture of the 'Squire rebuilding his fence that was washed away by that little cloudburst we had last Sunday afternoon, provided he does not break the camera.

CONCERT AT ALDRICH.

The concert last Friday night at Aidrich was a grand success. Prof. Carpenter and his students are to be complimented. The programme was very good, although it was rather long. The building was so badly crowded and the weather was so warm that it was very unpleasant in the house. The audience was not as quiet as it could have been, and it was difficult for those in the rear of the hall to hear. Although we enjoyed ourself very much, we were unable to hear much of what was said. The broom drill was especially good. Mr Hoskins' negro song, "Can't Shake Your Hannah," was very much enjoyed by the audience. Little Miss Grace Hutchings recited well, especially for a child.

(Continued from First Page.)

whole anatomy liberally spread about with poultices, in case the carbuncle should conclude to move and might feel the need of a lunch as soon as it located.

And still that carbuncle waxed fiercer. Still it would stand up on its hind legs and paw the air. Still it would bore into my back with a red-hot two-inch auger and then attempt to jerk it out by main force, and only succeeded in jerking me all over the bed.

The doctor said I must come to the infirmary. I came. The doctors here said it must be scraped out, so after giving me morphine in the arm, cocaine in the back and chloroform in the nose, they said of something less than an acre, backed up a steam shovel and began to dig. After they dug down to hard pus, where the shovel wouldn't work, they used picks to loosen it up, and then scraped it out to the depth of about four feet.

If anybody is disposed to question the truth of this narrative, the hole is still there to show for itself. It is used at present as a cellar to store chemicals. I do not know how long it will be so used, nor when the present lease expires; but if anybody wants to rent it, or do anything about it, now's their time.

This story may seem unfinished, but so is the carbuncle.

P. S.—I have used the personal pronoun "I," rather than the editorial "we," because the thing was so intensely personal that I could not generalize even so far as to embrace the editorial "we."

REFLECTIONS ON CARBUNCLES.

This carbuncle experience has thrown some light at least negatively on the history of Job. Whatever it was that he had, it was evidently not carbuncles.

Overwhelming evidence of this is found in the fact that Job took a piece of broken pottery to scrape himself. No man ever yet intentionally scraped a carbuncle. Besides no human organism could stand a plaster of carbuncles from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet and live. Then, too, as sublime a character as Job was, if it had been carbuncles, could not have borne the words of his comforters. There would certainly have been some comforters lying around.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

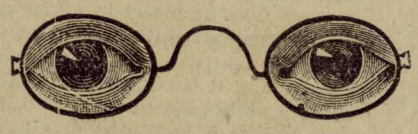
HOW TO ENLIST.

Cut out the ballot printed on first page, write on it the name of your candidate and send it in. This will count one vote. Subscribe for the News, or renew your subscription for one year, and name the young person you desire to have credited. This will entitle him or her to 100 votes. On the 1st of September the scholarships will be awarded to the four boys or girls who receive she highest number of votes. This is simple and easy—all you have to do is to send in your votes in order to put your favorite to the front. We hope you will help us to place the News in many more households during the next few months.

Those who are contemplating entering the race should do it at once in order that their friends may know of their purpose to compete.

The contest is open to any lady or gentleman in Shelby county. Information concerning the contest can be had on application at this office.

Bob Moore, of LaFayette, Ind., says that for constipation he has found DeWitt's Little Early Risers to be perfect. They never gripe. Try them for stomach and liver troubles. F F Crowe & Co.



H. C. Abbott & Bro

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks !

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD.

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.

Montevallo, - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

Sailors and their Grievances.

The grievances of sailors examined by the authorities in ports of entry, where the seamen belong, often turn out to be imaginary or greatly exaggerated. But there are plenty of cruel and conscienceless skippers who abuse their crews. Violence is always objectionable, and pointedly so when it is exerted upon an unfortunate liver, stomach or bowels by dosing with drastic purgatives which weaken the intestines. Use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Dublin amateur doctors are in distress, as the proprietors of the three city theaters threaten to enforce the monopoly of all theatrical performances granted to them by an act of King George III, passed in 1780.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

Bicycles are in general use in Canada. In 1897 the sales were very large.

S. K. Coburn, Mgr. Clarie Scott, writes: "I find Hall's Catarrh Cure a valuable remedy." Druggists sell it, 75c.

Hip Disease

Had Five Running Sores—Could Not Walk Without Crutches.

"I suffered from hip disease and had five running sores on one of my hips. I could not walk without crutches. I was confined to my bed for weeks at a time. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has accomplished a perfect cure. I am now well and have no trouble from impure blood." Annie Robert, 49 Fourth Street, Fall River, Mass. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, indigestion.

Way to Kill Mosquitoes.

Two and one-half hours are required for a mosquito to develop from its first stage, a speck resembling cholera bacteria, to its active and venomous maturity. The insect in all its phases may be instantly killed by contact with minute quantities of permanganate of pottassium. It is claimed that one part of this substance in 1500 of solution distributed in mosquito marshes will render the development of larvae impossible; that a handful of permanganate will oxidize a ten-acre swamp, kill its embryo insects, and keep it free from organic matter for thirty days at a cost of twenty-five cents; that with care a whole State may be kept free of insect pests at a small cost. An efficacious method is to scatter a few crystals widely apart. A single pinch of permanganate has killed all the germs in a thousand-gallon tank.—The Public Health Journal.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

Daughters Should be Carefully Guided in Early Womanhood.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

The following letter from Miss MARIE F. JOHNSON, Centralia, Pa., shows what neglect will do, and tells how Mrs. Pinkham helped her:

"My health became so poor that I had to leave school. I was tired all the time, and had dreadful pains in my side and back. I was also troubled with irregularity of menses. I was very weak, and lost so much flesh that my friends became alarmed. My mother, who is a firm believer in your remedies from experience, thought perhaps they might benefit me, and wrote you for advice. I followed the advice you gave, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as you directed, and am now as well as I ever was. I have gained flesh and have a good color. I am completely cured of irregularity."

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

CARE OF SOLDIERS' FEET.

These Hints Are Intended for Women Who Wish to Help Men Friends.

A good many soldier boys who are fitting themselves for experience in Cuba have been induced by their well-meaning but ignorant friends to purchase a lot of refined sulphur to wear in their boots by way of a preventive against yellow fever.

Good, clean wheat flour would be quite as effective as far as warding off the yellow jack goes, and would do very much less harm in the boots of an infantryman. Any woman knows, or ought to know, that the best part of a warrior's strength lies in his feet. Long, rapid marches have won almost as many battles as steady courage and good markmanship. Therefore, it behooves sweethearts and wives to frown on the sulphur superstition, and before sending their country's defenders to the front take some of the following precautions: Just suggest to your brave, good man to buy his boots close in the heel and broad in the toe. If his feet are in a state of tender irritation, as the feet of city dwellers are apt to become just at the advent of spring, persuade him to let you poultice the particular sensitive spots for a couple of nights in succession.

A little flaxseed meal into which boiling water and a bit of sweet cream is stirred makes the proper poultice. It must be tied on the foot while quite warm and kept there all night. The way it draws inflammation out of tender, reddened joints is a wonder. This is the proper treatment for soft corns and bunions, but not for hard corns, until after they have been skillfully cut. Then if any soreness is left a poultice will quiet the pain in short order.

To harden and purify the skin of a pair of feet that are not accustomed to much walking, institute night and morning foot baths of cold water well impregnated with listerine. If there is any ignorance on this point, show the prospective soldier how to cut the nails always straight across, never down in the corners. The nail should be cut to a level with the top of the toe, and if the corners are left untouched they will not grow in, unless the shoe is worn entirely too short.

At the druggist's order a little box of salve, put up in a tiny porcelain jar with a screw top. Cold cream, worked up with witch hazel, are the proper ingredients, and drop this into the soldier boy's baggage, with instructions for its use on feet that are sore and strained from unusual walking. Show the recipient of this gift how, when he strips off his socks, to rub the unguent quickly into the skin, and solemnly warn him never to march in ragged hosiery.

Do not send a defender of his country off to the wars in colored socks—unbleached balbriggan is the proper clothing, and looking over his socks see to it that every pair is whole and good. That one that shows the tiniest darn must be cast out, for on a march it can easily rub a sore, and a raw heel will as effectually dampen a man's fighting ardor as a raging toothache under the hot summer sun of the Southern States and of Cuba. Shoes that are greased, enameled or treated with any but the thinnest dressing are intolerably warm and tend to make the feet swell. The Indians knew what they were about when they invented the moccasin, and if a pair of slippers is packed in a soldier's kit, he will get more comfort out of these pliable, cool foot bags of soft leather than any gear of civilized make.

A Bicycle Shower Bath.

A decided novelty has recently been brought out by a French bicycle manufacturer, and has been exhibited by him at a cycle show in Paris. It is termed a velo douche, and is an eminently practical device for combining exercise with the morning ablutions.

It consists of a shallow tub, to which is secured a framework carrying a bicycle saddle, a handle bar, pedals, sprocket wheels and chain. The resemblance to a bicycle goes no farther. The small sprocket wheel, which is driven from the large sprocket on the main shaft by the medium of a chain, is secured to a small rotary pump, which is fastened to the rear of the frame. The suction part of the pump ends near the bottom of the tub, and the discharge pipe is curved and ends in the sprinkler arrangement common to all shower baths. A cock half-way up the discharge pipe permits of the water being turned on to the sprinkler or through the hose and nozzle, depending on whether a bath is desired or not.

It is, of course, perfectly possible to obtain the exercise without getting wet, pump furnishing the resistance necessary for the exercise, and the water which is pumped being discharged by means of a rubber tube and nozzle. When the rider has exercised sufficiently he can reach backward and turn the cock so as to let the water pass upwards and out of the sprinkler. The harder he pedals the larger the stream. It is, it is said, possible to direct a stream of water on any part of the body by means of the nozzle connected with the rubber tube. The tub can be divided into two compartments, one containing hot water, and the other cold water, and the cold and hot douche may then be used at will.—Invention.

Some Odd Signs of Respect.

The people of different races have ways of their own of greeting one another. Some of these ways are queer—to us. For instance: When an Esquimau wishes to show admiration and devotion to another man he pulls the man's nose. That being the case, it would seem that a man who placed much value on his proboscis would not strive to become popular. Some tribes of Hindoostan show respect by stretching out the arm and placing the tip of the thumb on the other's nose. In South Africa a man turns his back to his superiors. As a general thing South Sea Islanders sit down when speaking to a person of higher rank than their own—which is just the opposite of our rules of etiquette. A Chinaman's idea of showing respect is to put on his hat where we would take it off. Another thing worth noting is this: That most common method by which our relatives express their affection when meeting—namely, kissing—is looked upon as sure evidence of heathenism by many people—as native Australians, New Zealanders, Papuans and Esquimaux, for instance. They never think of such a thing. Their laws of propriety don't allow it. If a mother over there should kiss her little boy or girl she would be regarded as a "crank" and excluded from good society.—Chicago Record.

A Big Boiled Dinner.

Cooks in large hotels and boarding houses may think they get up meals on a large scale, but when it comes to wholesale cookery the little village of Liss, on the London and Southwestern Railway, discounts them all. At a barbecue held there not long since, an ox was boiled (not roasted, which at one time was quite common) whole, more as an experiment than anything else. This is how they did it: A large hole was dug in the ground and lined with brick. Inside this a tank large enough to hold the ox was built. The carcass was then lowered into this tank, having been first placed in a case formed by heavy cross bars to which chains were attached. Pulleys from a scaffolding above were used to raise and lower the ox. Many vegetables, such as carrots, onions, cabbage and potatoes, were boiled with the meat, thus making many gallons of rich, delicious soup. The boiling required seven hours.—Chicago Record.

The number of soldiers on duty in the Federal army during the Civil War is given as follows: July 1, 1861, 183,588; January 1, 1862, 527,204; January 1, 1863, 698,802; January 1, 1864, 611,250; January 1, 1865, 620,924; May 1, 1865, 797,807.

To control chrysanthemum insects spray with bordeaux mixture, beginning early in the summer before the pest appears.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

Biliousness

"I have used your valuable CASCARETS and find them perfect. Couldn't do without them. I have used them for some time for indigestion and biliousness and am now completely cured. Recommend them, to every one. Once tried, you will never be without them in the family." EDW. A. MARX, Albany, N. Y.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 321

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

Columbia Bevel-Gear Chainless Bicycles

MAKE HILL CLIMBING EASY.

Columbia Chain Wheels, $75
Hartfords, . . 50
Vedettes, $40 & 35

$125.

POPE MFG. CO., Hartford, Conn.

HE PAYS

THE FREIGHT. BEST SCALES, LEAST MONEY. JONES OF BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-25

Life Without a Stomach.

The stomach has always been supposed to be absolutely essential to the proper performance of the digestive functions. The fact that two people have had their stomachs removed, and that one of them is alive and apparently in the enjoyment of excellent health, upsets all preconceived theories as to the absolute necessity of this portion of the human anatomy. A woman has had her stomach removed completely, that organ being hopelessly affected. The œsophagus was united with the canal leading from the stomach, and there seems to be nothing wrong in the internal economy of the owner of this curious digestive apparatus. To be sure, instead of full meals she takes an occasional bite, and is compelled to be very careful that she does not overload or overtax this substitute. The operation was almost in the nature of a caprice. It was evident that something was wrong with the patient's stomach, and, after careful preparation, the operation was begun. Almost immediately it developed that the entire stomach was involved, and that it would be impossible to save any portion of it. It was a foregone conclusion that death was only a matter of a few days. The operating physician conceived the rather original idea of uniting the œsophagus with the canal leading from the stomach. It is a matter for congratulation that thus far there have been no grave symptoms and that the patient takes food with relish, and apparently without discomfort. One is led to wonder to what lengths surgery may go, and how many of our notions and theories about the possibilities and limitations of the physical will hold in the face of these great advances in modern surgery.—Ledger.

Professor Cameron's Hat.

Henry Clay Cameron has been professor of the Greek language and literature at Princeton University for a great many years, and, like many of his vocation, is a man of marked peculiarities. One of his eccentricities is to wear an old plaid shawl over his shoulders, summer and winter, and a hat of unique pattern. It has always been a mystery where Professor Cameron gets his hats. No dealer in the latitude and longitude of Princeton keeps them in stock, and there is a tradition among the students that the professor purchased a quantity many years ago and always has a supply to draw from when he needs one.

As long as any one can remember it has been the practice of each class during the second term of the sophomore year to steal Professor Cameron's hat and cut it up into little square pieces, which are distributed among the students and worn by them in the buttonholes of the lapels of their coats, like badges or bouquets. The professor expects it, and takes it good-naturedly. He makes no particular effort to protect his property, but one day in each year—and it is often the coldest of the winter—he is compelled to go home from recitation bare-headed or wrap his old gray shawl around his old gray head. The next morning, if the professor takes the trouble to glance around the class room, he can identify the fragments of his hat pinned to the coats of his pupils, but the trick is so old and the professor is so accustomed to it that he treats it with indifference. —Chicago Record.

The Timidity of an Elephant.

Riding along a road in India I saw the following instance of a big elephant's timidity, which I venture to send you. The elephant, ridden by a mahout, was followed by a small Maltese terrier, which, intent on its own affairs, trotted before its master, making occasional instinctive investigations by the roadside after the manner of dogs, without particularly noticing other travelers. From the first moment the elephant set eyes on the dog he never lost sight of him, turning from side to side always with an eye on the small animal, and hurrying out of his way whenever he approached. The timidity of the one and the confidence of the other were irresistibly amusing.—The Spectator.

A Fatality Avoided.

From the Democrat, Goshen, Ind.

When neuralgia is accompanied by a dull, heavy pain near the heart, frequently becoming intense, it generally terminates fatally. Mrs. Nancy Flynn, who lives near Goshen, Indiana, survived such an attack and her advice is worth heeding.

"In the fall of '92," she said, "I began to have trouble with my heart. There was a sharp pain in my breast which became rapidly worse. The doctor was puzzled and put me under the influence of opiates. These sharp attacks followed one another at intervals and I became weak and had a haggard look. I was constantly in pain, seldom slept and had no appetite.

"At the end of two years I was confined to my couch most of the time and the doctors agreed that my death was only a matter of a short time.

A Serious Time.

"One day I noticed in a newspaper an item about a woman having been cured of neuralgia of the heart by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I concluded to try them.

"When I had finished one box I noticed an improvement in my condition, and when I had taken twelve boxes I was completely cured. 'Those pills have done for you what we could not do,' said one of my physicians, 'they have saved your life.'

"That was two years ago and my heart has not troubled me since. I believe I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I take pleasure in telling others about them."

Among the many forms of neuralgia are headache, nervousness, paralysis, apoplexy and locomotor ataxia. Some of these were considered incurable until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were formulated. To-day thousands testify to having been cured of such diseases by these pills.

Doctors frequently prescribe them and all druggists sell them.

He—"Bella, will you marry me?"

She—"Why, Alfred, you asked me that question last Sunday, and I said yes!"—Chicago Tribune.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Bruksch Bey has discovered the earliest records of illustrated comic literature in a papyrus of the twenty-second dynasty recently found at Tonnah.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

In Brazil a single pineapple has never attained a greater growth than seven pounds.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco is the "best of the best." 2 ounces and cigarette book for 10 cents. Try it.

B. B. B. Cures Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Syphilitic Rheumatism in its worst form. Try it. $1.00 per large bottle, 3 for $2.50, at druggists, or sent on receipt of price, express paid, by Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. ☞Books of wonderful cures sent free.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Over 130,000 pounds of ivory were disposed of at auction sale in Antwerp recently.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

The United States leads the world as a sugar consumer.

Try Allen's Foot-Ease,

A powder to shake in the shoes. If you have smarting feet or tight shoes, try Allen's Foot-Ease. It cools the feet and makes walking easy. Cures swollen and sweating feet, blisters and callous spots. Relieves corns and bunions of pain and gives rest and comfort. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores for 25c. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

The Southern Saw Works are the leaders in the South. See their advertisement in this issue. Their saws will suit you.

Antwerp is the principal market of Belgium for paints and colors.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Cape Colony's diamond production during 1895 amounted to $22,388,000.

His Colors.

"You may betrue blue," said Rivers, "but you are too green for a soldier. Besides, it would be just your luck to catch the yellow fever."

"Well," hotly retorted Brooks, "is that any reason why I should show the white feather?"

And he turned red with indignation. —Chicago Tribune.

Old Mr. Surplice—"I hope you object to dancing on religious grounds?"

Young Miss Featherstitching—"Oh, no; only on unwaxed floors."—Roxbury Gazette.

That Everlasting Irritating Itch.

That describes Tetter, Eczema and other skin diseases. 50 cents will cure them—stop the itch at once. 50 cents pays for a box of Tetterine at drug stores or postpaid for 50 cents in stamps from J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

The importation of madder root is chiefly from Holland.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The exports of glass from Furth, Bavaria, to the United States are growing largely.

After physicians had given me up, I was saved by Piso's Cure.—RALPH ERIEG, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 22, 1893.

From Manufacturer to Consumer.

For the asking we mail you our Lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing goods in lithographed colors. For samples, send eight cents. ALL CARPETS SEWED FREE, AND FREIGHT PAID TO YOUR STATION.

$3.95

Buys this (exact) Solid Oak Refrigerator. Our 112-page Catalogue of Furniture, Draperies, Crockery, Baby Carriages, Stoves, Lamps, Bedding, Mirrors, Pictures, &c., is mailed to all who ask for it.

$7.45

Buys a Made-to-your-Measure All-wool Cheviot Suit. EXPRESS PAID TO YOUR STATION. Catalogue and Samples Free. Address (exactly as below.)

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Dept. 301. BALTIMORE, MD.

Motherhood

THIS event in the life of a woman is looked forward to with a feeling akin to horror—not because the little one is not welcome, but because the mother dreads the direful consequences to herself. Those long hours of agonizing labor stand out before her like a hideous nightmare. An improper delivery, followed by child-bed fever, may end the scene in a few short days, leaving the little one motherless. But there is another side to the picture. If women who are expecting to become mothers will commence the use of the great female tonic, regularly as directed a few weeks before confinement, and continue its use until the organs are restored to their normal condition, the hours of labor will be shortened, the pain lessened, and recovery complete. If there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator.

GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA,

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

SOLD AT DRUG STORES. L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprs., CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

ISAAC S. BOYD, President, (Pres. Boyd & Baxter Furn. Fact'y.)

W. G. RAOUL, Vice-Pres't, (Pres. Mexican Nat. R. R. Co.)

SOUTHERN SAW WORKS

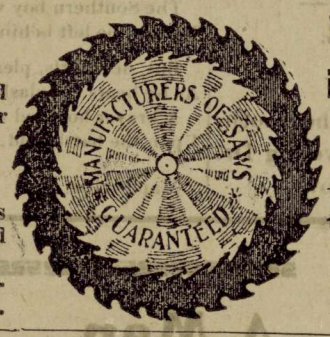
Box A 385. ATLANTA, GA.

We Manufacture

Solid and Inserted Chisel Bit Circular Saws.

We Repair

All kinds and makes of Solid and Inserted Tooth Saws. Make Burnt Saws practically as good as new.



We Carry in Stock

Belting, Files, Emery Wheels and other

Mill Supplies

Bits and Shanks for all makes of Inserted Tooth Saws.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING "Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

GIN REPAIRS

SAWS, RIBS, BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c., FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.

ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES

And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.

LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO., AUGUSTA, GA.

ST. ANDREWS GOLD TEA

FOR THE LIVER

Increases the Appetite.
Clears the Complexion.
Purifies the Blood.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

S. P. Davidson visited Maylene Sunday.

Pat Harrison, of Maylene, attended the concert at Aldrich on the 17th inst.

Mr. T. A. Best, of Montevallo, passed through town Sunday en route to Maylene.

Much to the regret of all, Misses Mamie and Tiny Woods have returned to their home at Blocton.

Mr. William Walker and family, of Belle Ellen, visited friends and relatives near this place last week.

Our town and community was visited by a good rain last Sunday afternoon, which was badly needed.

Quite a crowd from this place attended the closing exercises of the Aldrich High School on the 17th inst.

Miss Katie Allen, who is one of Highland's fairest young damsels, is visiting relatives and friends near this place.

Misses Leila and Nannie Fulton, two of Maylene's sweetest girls, passed through town last Friday en route to Aldrich.

Everybody has a special invitation to come and bring their baskets full of something to eat to the picnic at this place on the 4th day of July, 1898.

The Montevallo Lump Coal Mining Company at this place is progressing nicely now with their work. The quality and size of their coal are also good.

C. D. & F.

The Chief Burgess of Milesburg, Pa., says DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills he ever used in his family during forty years of housekeeping. They cure constipation, sick headache and stomach and liver troubles. Small in size but great in results. F. F. Crowe & Co.

MAPLESVILLE.

The girls have had the toothache quite often since young Dr. Kelley has been in our town.

Mr. D. C. Savage delivered quite an eloquent and interesting address Sunday night in the interest of the Sunday school and prayer-meeting.

Mr. R. S. Cooper, of Coosa, is visiting his parents at this place.

Mr. E. E. Martin left last Thursday for Texas. His friends wish him a pleasant trip.

The "rough riders" of the West passed over the M. & O. railroad Friday evening at 8 o'clock en route for Jacksonville, Fla.

The Columbus immunes passed through Maplesville Sunday morning en route to Tampa, Fla.

Ensley Cooper will leave on the 25th inst. for Montgomery with the fifth regiment U. S. V.

Mr. D. C. Savage and family have moved back to Maplesville, and are welcomed by all.

Mr. O. E. Latham and family, of Selma, are spending the summer in our city.

A wreck occurred on the M. & O. railroad last Thursday at Sandmountain, six miles above Maplesville. Three cars were thrown from the track, tearing one rail up. No one was hurt.

Mr. Lawrence has been very sick for the past week. His friends wish for him a speedy recovery.

It is reported that Graham got a full dose in the neck last Sunday night trying to go home with some of our pretty girls. Graham is very obstinate any way.

Miss Lillie Bowlin reports having a nice time at a fiehing party last Saturday evening; also a very pleasant buggy ride Sunday afternoon.

Success to the News.

UNCLE TIGE.

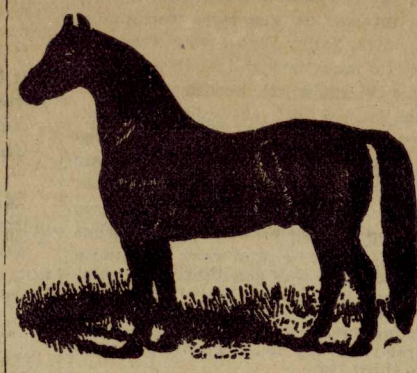
They have taken your sweethearts to the war,
But, dear girls, never mind.
The Southern boy will never forget
The girl he left behind.

But, dear girls, please remember,
As he hears the clash of steel,
A braver boy had never marched
Upon the battlefield.

ENSLEY COOPER.

Maplesville, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

☞Office at Store. Manager.

Subscribe

For

THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabay

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JUNE 30, '98. NO. 25

THE FLAG.

Lo! in a night dry rods have bloomed
In flowers of red and white and blue:
On ev'ry staff the dawn's illumed
The new glorious banner waves anew!

No blossom this, to droop and fade
In sulph'rous smoke of belching guns;
Its roots were set, its tints were laid
In the best blood of Freedom's sons.

Across its hues the eyes of men
Flash each to each with patriot fire,
And heroes press its sacred stem
To lips that smile as they expire.

The sluggish blood, by commerce chilled,
Leaps to its front with sudden pride:
And children gaze, with bosoms thrilled,
At this their heritage and guide!

—Grace Duffie Boylan.

A JAUNT THROUGH THE COUNTRY.

On Saturday last, in company with our good friend, Bro. Thornton, we started on a trip that proved both pleasant and profitable. We left our office at that cool (?) part of the day—fifteen minutes before dinner time. We had dinner at Bro. Thornton's, which consisted of cabbage, ripe chicken fried and peach pie.

About 2 p. m. we started for Cedar Grove, where Bro. Thornton had an appointment to preach. We were entertained by Mr. Wyatt, and it is needless to say that we had a ploasant time. He has a full of hams and chickens, and the way he drew on his stock was very agreeable to us.

We can honestly say that we never saw a finer set of young folk, especially the girls. They were what we call "purty."

Sunday morning we called at Mr. Walker's for a short time. While there, Mr. Walker brought out some fine ripe peaches, and we honestly believe we ate enough for ourself and Bro. Thornton too. Mr. Walker accompanied us to Helena. where Bro. Thornton preached a very interesting and instructive sermon. After preaching we were invited to dine with Bro. Bowers. We did justice to the meal, and were afraid they would think we had been trying to fast through June. We paid especial attention to the honey. Bro. Bowers showed us one of the finest Masonic pins we ever saw.

At 4 p. m. we started home, feeling better than we have in a long time. We found a noble, generous-hearted people where we went, all seem to be making a good living, having lots of fat hogs, and plenty of wheat to make their hominy. We shall always remember these good people and the pleasant time we had, and whenever we have the blues again we will be sure to give our friends in the country a call.

WHY NOT?

Why not the citizens of Montevallo organize a land and improvement company, to build ten or twenty nice six room cottages to rent? We have every reason to believe they would be taken as fast as finished, and would be a paying investment to the stockholders, and add greatly to the growth of our business and school interests. The State of Alabama has placed a trust in our hands that we should appreciate by giving our united efforts to its growth and prosperity. And how could we better prove our worthiness than along this line? There are numbers of families all over the State that would move in our midst to educate their children—their business interests being such that they could not make a permanent home here. Why not arrange to accommodate them by offering a neat cottage at reasonable annual rent? Now, as to the advantage of building two or more houses of the same design is apparent to all business men, and needs no comment. There never was in our history a time when building could be done as cheap, and our citizens more willing to respond to any move for the best interest of our future. Let the music of the hammer and trowel awake us to new life and energy these long, dull summer months.

CITIZEN.

The Chief Burgess of Milesburg, Pa., says DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills he ever used in his family during forty years of housekeeping. They cure constipation, sick headache and stomach and liver troubles. Small in size but great in results. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Subscribe for the News.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Most all of the old pupils will return next session.

***

Mrs. Nelson has gone to New York to study the latest improvements in dressmaking.

***

President Reynolds has already received a large number of applicants for next session.

***

The five music teachers will study music at the Boston Conservatory of Music and other places.

***

Mrs. Florence Hudson, the teacher of telegraphy, will attend the educational association at Washington.

***

Mrs. Babb and the other literary teachers will attend the Chautauqua either at New York or Mont Eagle, Tenn.

Miss Ella McComos has gone to New York to purchase a china kiln for the art class. She will also study the newest methods in art.

***

President Reynolds says there will be an effort made to erect a larger building for class purposes. This is a necessity, and it is hoped that President Reynolds will be successful in his efforts.

***

As the Dormitory is not large enough to accommodate the large number of girls who come here to school, quite a number have to board in private families. More houses are needed for the accommodation of the girls.

Thousands of persons have been cured of piles by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It heals promptly and cures eczema and all skin diseases. It gives immediate relief. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Hot Weather

Don't Affect Our Prices....

We Are the

Acknowledged Leaders in Low Prices.

We keep everything kept by a

First-Class Store.

MORGAN BROS.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

Pat Harrison, of Maylene, was in town Sunday.

Messrs. Lafayette Lucas and W. D. Lacey, of Maylene, visited this place Sunday.

W. E. Harrison went up to Pelham Sunday, but on what business we are unable to state.

Rev. W. H. Sturdivant delivered quite an able and influential sermon at the M. E. Church last Sunday.

Miss Nona Wells, one of Montevallo's most charming young ladies, is visiting friends and relatives at this place.

Miss Katie Allen, who has been visiting friends and relatives at this place, has returned to her home at Highlands.

The citizens of Dogwood and vicinity regret to state that on account of sickness in quite a number of families, it will be impossible to have the political picnic on next Monday, July 4th. There will be speaking, however, and those who come will be taken to some home and cared for.

Died, in this place, on Sunday, June 26, 1898, at 6 o'clock p. m., after an illness of two weeks, Prof. J. H. Harmon. He was a high-toned, Christian gentleman, and had charge of the school at this place for two years. He leaves many friends who extend to the loving, heartbroken wife their sympathy in her sad hour of bereavement.

C. D. & F.

"I think DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the finest preparation on the market for piles." So writes John C. Dunn, of Wheeling, W. Va. Try it and you will think the same. It also cures eczema and all skin diseases. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A Jaunty Costume.

Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Tennessee troops in Washington have been served around with a uniform, consisting of three pairs of socks and one hat. This is the wildest sort of extravagance. Why not paint them with pokeberry juice and let them go at that? Any sort of clothing in the Philippines is an insufferable superfluity.

The editor of the Evans City, Pa., Globe writes: "One Minute Cough Cure is rightly named. It cured my children after all other remedies failed." It cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

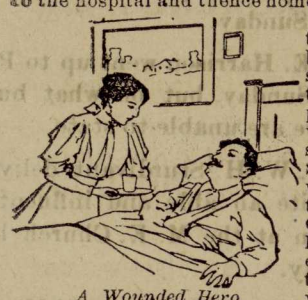
Subscribe for the News.

A Naval Hero's Story.

From the Times-Herald, Chicago, Ill.

Late in 1861, when President Lincoln issued a call for volunteers, L. J. Clark, of Warren, Trumbull Co., Ohio, was among the first to respond. He joined the mortar fleet of Admiral Porter just before the memorable operations on the Mississippi River began. It was at the terrific bombardment of the Vicksburg forts, that the hero of this story fell with a shattered arm from a charge of schrapnel.

After painful months in the hospital, he recovered sufficiently to be sent to his home at Warren, Ohio. Another call for troops fired his patriotic zeal and Clark soon enlisted in Company H, of the 7th Ohio Volunteers. In the army of the Potomac, he was in many engagements. Being wounded in a skirmish near Richmond, he was sent to the hospital and thence home.



A Wounded Hero.

Soon afterward he began the study and then the practice of veterinary surgery. Seeking a wider field than the Ohio village afforded, he went to Chicago where he now has a wide practice, is a member of Hatch Post, G. A. R., and lives at 4935 Ashland Ave.

Several years ago Dr. Clark's old wounds began to trouble him. He grew weak and emaciated, and his friends despaired of his life. He finally recovered sufficiently to be out but was a mere shadow, weighing only 90 pounds. The best medical attendance failed to restore his lost strength and vigor.

"A friend gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," said Dr. Clark, "and they helped me so much that I bought a half dozen boxes and took them. I soon regained my strength, now weigh 190 pounds and, except for injuries that can never be remedied, am as well as ever.

"I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People the best remedy to build up a run down system, and heartily recommend them to everyone in heed of such aid."

The wren often makes a dozen nests, leaving all but one unfinished and unused.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

About 4,000,000 copies of the Bible are sold every year.

CONSTIPATION

"I have gone 14 days at a time without a movement of the bowels, not being able to move them except by using hot water injections. Chronic constipation for seven years placed me in this terrible condition; during that time I did everything I heard of but never found any relief; such was my case until I began using CASCARETS. I now have from one to three passages a day, and if I was rich I would give $100.00 for each movement; it is such a relief." AYLMER L. HUNT, 1689 Russell St., Detroit, Mich.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets TRADE MARK REGISTERED REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 20c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 322

Massey's Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala. Columbus, Ga.
Montgomery, Ala. Jacksonville, Fla.

We pay student's railroad fare, and guarantee situations. Write at once for catalogue No. A

GIN REPAIRS

SAWS, RIBS, BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c., FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.

ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES

And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.

LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO., AUGUSTA, GA.

HOW TO MAKE FROM $10 to $15 Per Week.

No humbug. Full particulars sent upon receipt of 10 cts. in silver and self-addressed stamped envelope. L. W. HUFF, JR., Atlanta, Ga.

CUBA'S WILD ANIMALS.

A STRANGE LOT OF LIVING THINGS PECULIAR TO THE ISLAND.

There Are Spiders, Snakes, Birds of Various Kinds, a Ratlike Animal, the Peculiar Fireflies, the Land Crabs, Alligators and Other Curious Denizens.

The Spaniard is not the only foe the soldier encounters on his Cuban marches. Cuban sandflies and mosquitoes are much like our own, but we have nothing to match the huge spider, whose bite causes fever, nor the belligerent ant known as vivajagua. A scorpion, though not so dangerous as the European variety, proves itself unpleasant to the careless traveller, and the chigoe, or "jigger," deals swift retribution to an offender. Its method of attack is inconvenient, for it burrows under the toe nail, and unless removed at once builds its nest there. In that case inflamation occurs and the only relief is the painful operation of having the little animal cut out.

Snakes are not numerous, but they include some of the freaks of the animal kingdom. The huge maja, longer than two six feet men set end to end, with a body twenty inches in circumference, looks fierce enough and formidable enough to put a whole regiment to flight. It is all a bluff, for the big reptile is harmless.

Among the birds, the soldier may exercise his taste for pets. Those peculiar to the island have beautiful plumage, rich in coloring. There are nearly 200 kinds to be found there, and among them all the vulture and the turkey buzzard are almost the only birds of prey. They are so useful as scavengers to carry away waste material that they are protected from death by law. Geese, turkeys, peacocks and pigeons are the most familiar domestic fowls, and pigs, sheep, goats, mules and horses, the animals used.

The Cuban horses are almost a race by themselves. They are very gentle, they never kick nor bite nor play any unseemly trick on their riders. In some parts of the island horses receive as much consideration as a member of the family. They are not tied or confined, but they wander about the door yard, put their heads into the kitchen windows to exchange the time of day, and even on occasion have the privilege of entering the house. The sight of humans and equines on terms of such easy familiarity makes one wonder if the days of Gulliver and his horse country have come again.

Sometimes the roads are very bad and the mud so sticky that it holds any foreign substance like glue. For this reason farmers braid their horses' tails, turn them up over their backs and tie them to the saddle. No Northern pony would stand this indignity, but the Cuban pack animals seem quite willing to endure it. In mountainous regions mules are used to carry coffee and sugar down the mountain paths, and to save drivers mules in long procession are tied together, one's head to another's tail, and, with only one man at the head of the column to guide the leader, they carry down their burdens safely. The hind legs of Cuban mules must be worked on a different principle from that in vogue among United States mules. Here no insurance agency would insure a man whose business was tying mules to one another's tails.

The only wild animal peculiar to Cuba is the jutia, or hutia. It is rat-shaped, black, and small. It lives in the hollows of trees, like our squirrels, and eats leaves and fruits. Its flesh is insipid, but it is often eaten. Curious modifications of felines and canines inhabit the woods. The animals have sprung from dogs and cats in the domestic state and differ from them only in their size and habits. Some of the intelligence of civilization seems to remain with them, and they cause the farmer much anxiety by their artfully planned attacks upon his poultry and cattle.

The matter of lights is a small item of expense to the poor man in Cuba, for in the phosphorescent fly nature provides him a lamp free. This fly, the cucullo, about the size of our roach, is perfectly black, with a transparent breast. Two eyes in front, and one in the point of its breast give out so much light when its wings are spread that one can see by it to read a letter. Children make pets of cucullos and shut them up in reed cages. If they feed them on sugar the sticky particles adhering to their legs exasperate them so much that they fall upon each other like prize fighters. The children avoid this by giving the flies sugar cane. They wash them carefully morning and night, and in this way keep their pets alive and shining for many days.

Fashionable ladies wear the brilliant flies in their hair, and sometimes the belles use them covered with a gauzy material for living belts. One little girl remarked with much solemnity after examining a cucullo's legs that God made it with hooks to fasten on little girls' dresses. Left to themselves the cucullos fly in regular lines, giving the effect of the long procession of the watch at Havana. For this reason the Cubans call them 'serenos de los bichos"—watchmen of the insects. Fifteen or twenty of them in a calabash pierced with holes make a kind of lantern often used during the night. A few years ago an adventurous traveller brought a number of cucullos to New York and set them free in Broadway, to the lasting astonishment of an Irishman, to whom the dancing lamps were such a mystery that he wavered between the pledge and the oculist.

Another curious phnomenon of Cuban animal life is the procession of land crabs across the island. They travel from north to south every spring when the rains commence, and are as regular an institution as the wet weather in itself. Shell fish are abundant, but they are of inferior quality. The climate is too warm for them, and oysters there at all times are as unsatisfactory as ours in the months when no magic R appears. The rivers and bays and inlets, however, are well stocked with palatable fish. The iguana, cayman, and crocodile are common. A huge variety of crocodile called cayman has a colony of its own on the Isle of Pines. Turtles are found in large numbers in shallows and reefs and on sandy beaches, and they are put to all sorts of uses, from soup to walking sticks. For canes, the shell of the carey variety of turtle is used. First a strong stick is cut of the length desired. Then the turtle shell is boiled until it becomes a thin liquid, and into this the stick is dipped and allowed to cool. The process is repeated several times till the beautifull tortoise shell covering is of proper thickness. Afterward the cane is polished, headed, fitted with a ferrule, and sold for four or five dollars.

Another curiosity is a cane made from the dried skin of the manatee or sea cow. The skin is perfectly transparent, and when rightly prepared is flexible, but strong enough to be used as a rapier for defence. Mounted in gold and silver, these canes are very expensive. They are rarely seen in Havana, and one tourist, who wished to carry away a cane as a souvenir, paid $50 for the privilege.—New York Sun.

After a Chinese Wedding.

On the day following a Chinese wedding, at least in certain provinces, the bride's youngest brother goes to inquire after her and to take a present from her mother of a bottle of hair oil. This is a custom so ancient that no ones knows the origin thereof. No further communications take place between the bride and her family for three months, when her mother sends a sedan chair and an invitation to visit her. If there has been neither a birth nor a death in her husband's or in her mother's house for 100 days she goes and makes a short stay at her old home. This visit over, she cannot see her mother again until after her first child is born, and not then should the child be a girl. Even then if there has been a death in either family the visit cannot be made, and there have been many instances where a mother and daughter living very near each other have not met for years.—Boston Post.

Proposed Alliance With England.

If the United States and England should form an alliance, the combined strength would be so great that there would be little chance for enemies to overcome us. In a like manner, when men and women keep up their bodily strength with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, there is little chance of attacks from disease. The old time remedy enriches the blood, builds up the muscles, steadies the nerves and increases the appetite. Try it.

Chocolate is still used in the interior of South America for a currency, as are cocoanuts and eggs.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Great Britain has 121,000 square miles, being a little larger than Arizona.

Eat in Haste

And suffer at leisure. When your abused stomach can no longer cheerfully and properly perform its duties, a few doses of Hood's Sarsaparilla are like fresh water to a withered plant. This medicine tones the stomach, restores digestive strength, creates an appetite and with a little care in diet, the patient is soon again in perfect health. Try it and you'll believe in it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine.

Hood's Pills cure constipation. 25 cents.

Manila Relic in California.

The San Diego Society of Natural History has an old relic of Manila in the shape of a cannon cast there 100 years ago, and brought to Old San Diego to assist in defending this port against the Mexicans, this country then belonging to Spain. The Mexicans got the place, and in turn, tried to use the cannon against Commodore Stockton. He sunk all the rest of the cannon but saved this one called "El Jupiter," and gave it to the patriotic people of Old San Diego with which to fire fourth of July salutes. Some twenty years ago the old pieces exploded while being fired, but the pieces were put together, and it fell into the hands of the society. It bears the inscription: "Carolus Fertius Hispaniarum et Indianarum rex, Manila anno de 1783."—St. Louis (Mo. Globe-Democrat.

Wasn't Ready to Marry.

Tom—"All the boys make it a business to ask Miss Nora Lot for her hand."

Jack—Yes, and it's a well known fact she sticks her 'nos' into their business."

TUMOR EXPELLED.

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. ELIZABETH WHEELOCK, Magnolia, Iowa, in the following letter describes her recovery from a very critical condition:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been taking your Vegetable Compound, and am now ready to sound its praises. It has done wonders for me in relieving me of a tumor.

"My health has been poor for three years. Change of life was working upon me. I was very much bloated and was a burden to myself. Was troubled with smothering spells, also palpitation of the heart and that bearing-down feeling, and could not be on my feet much.

"I was growing worse all the time, until I took your medicine.

"After taking three boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Lozenges, the tumor passed from me.

"My health has been better ever since, can now walk quite a distance and am troubled no more with palpitation of the heart or bloating. I recommend your medicine to all sufferers from female troubles."

It is hardly reasonable to suppose that any one can doubt the efficiency of Mrs. Pinkham's methods and medicine in the face of the tremendous volume of testimony.

Mrs. Gladstone as a Listener.

An English writer, speaking of the beautiful relations existing between Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone, says: "Mrs. Gladstone cultivated the art of listening to her husband to a perfection that I never saw equalled. When he spoke, her absolute attention was always at his command—in fact, I do not believe any body ever was so absorbed as Mrs. Gladstone looked. I suspect that she had learned how to wear that absolutely listening air while her mind followed its own track! But it was a decided help to him, for it secured, at table and elsewhere, a general silence when he wished to deliver his opinions, without any appearance that he personally was demanding it. Mrs. Gladstone's own little speeches to the women Liberals, too, were always on one topic—what her husband thought or how he was feeling. In short, for the old ideal of wifehood, Mrs. Gladstone was a perfect model."—New York Tribune.

The World's Coal Production.

In view of the question of coal being a contraband of war, the following statistics just issued as a Parliamentary paper will be read with interest. The United Kingdom comes first in production (1896) with 196,361,000 tons, Germany follows with 85,690,000 tons, and France next with 28,750,000 tons, while Belgium comes fourth with 21,252,000 tons. The average value at the pit's mouth in the United Kingdom was $1.51 in 1895, but fell to $1.46 in 1896, while in Germany it rose from $1.69 in 1895 to $1.77 in 1896. Great Britain employs by far the largest number of persons in the coal industry. Coming to the exports it is seen that in the year under review the United Kingdom exported 44,587,000, Germany 6,122,000, Belgium 4,018,000, United States 2,337,000 and New South Wales 2,474,000 tons, while Japan in 1895 exported 1,805,000 tons. Sweden used no less than 87 per cent of British coal, while Spain consumed 50 per cent of British coal and 50 per cent of her native production. The value of the coal in 1896 was estimated as follows: United Kingdom, $285,950,000; United States, $204,835,000; Germany, $148,245,000; Belgium and France, $62,515,000.—London Chronicle.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

From twenty to twenty-five large and small establishments exist in New Jersey for the manufacture of nitro-glycerine, dynamite and other high explosives, and both black and smokeless powder.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

London journals dwell on the fact that California prunes are very popular in that city.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me many a doctor's bill.—S. F. HARDY, Hopkins Place, Baltimore, Md., Dec. 2, 1894.

The force required to open an oyster is more than 1,300 times its own weight.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Wisconsin has 9,000 Indians of various tribes.

Try Allen's Foot-Ease,

A powder to shake in the shoes. If you have smarting feet or tight shoes, try Allen's Foot-Ease. It cools the feet and makes walking easy. Cures swollen and sweating feet, blisters and callous spots. Relieves corns and bunions of pain and gives rest and comfort. Try it to-day. Sold by all druggists and shoe stores for 25c. Trial package FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

E. B. Walthall & Co., Druggists, Horse Cave, Ky., says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure cures every one that takes it." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

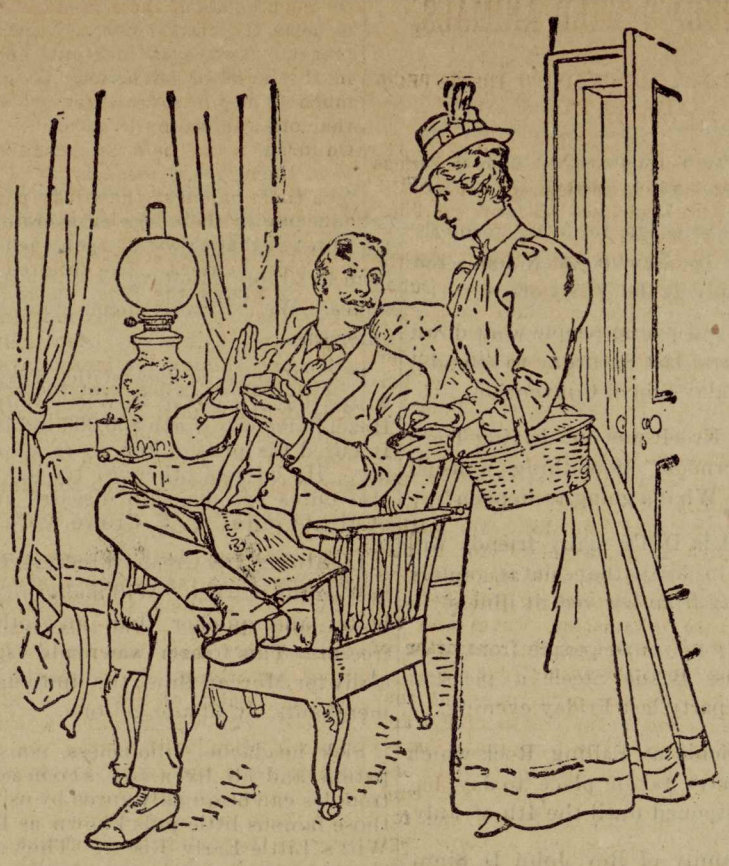
Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco does not make every mouth as sweet as a rose, but comes "mighty nigh"—does give every one a most delightful smoke. Try it.

In India there is a fly which attacks and devours large spiders.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

It is estimated that 1,100 passenger trains arrive at and leave Chicago daily.



There's nothing in Ivory Soap but soap, good, pure vegetable oil soap. There's nothing to make the linens streaky, no alkali to injure the finest textures. The lather forms quickly and copiously, and wash-day is a pleasure instead of a drudgery. Try it in the next wash. The price places it within reach of every one. Look out for imitations.

Copyright, 1896, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

A HEALTHY BRIDE IS A HAPPY ONE.

EVERY woman is under obligations to herself and the man she marries to be in the most healthy condition possible. She should be free of all female diseases and menstral irregularities, because the condition of the wife makes or mars the home. Don't delay because you dread to consult a doctor, for a consultation is unnecessary. Get a few bottles of and treat yourself in the privacy of your home. It will cure you. If there is any costiveness or indigestion, remove it with a few mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. Write us, if your case is complicated, and we will instruct you, free of charge, how to use these famous remedies.

GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA

Trade (G. F. P.) Mark.

MY WIFE HAS SUFFERED FROM WOMB TROUBLES

For more than eleven years, and has tried everything she could get, as well as several doctors, but nothing did her any good. Last spring I commenced giving her Gerstle's Female Panacea which gave immediate relief and benefited her greatly at her monthly periods. W. E. TURNER, St. Stephens, Ala.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprietors, Chattanooga, Tenn.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING "Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

ST. ANDREWS COLD TEA FOR THE LIVER

CURES INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA.

For sale by dealers. For sample package send 2c. stamp to

ANDREWS MFG. CO., Bristol, Tenn.

OPIUM Habit. Only guaranteed painless home cure. No interference with work. No publicity. Sample free. DR. PURDY, Dept. H, Houston, Texas.

Columbia Bevel-Gear Chainless Bicycles

MAKE HILL CLIMBING EASY.

Columbia Chain Wheels, $75
Hartfords, . . 50
Vedettes, $40 & 35

$125.

POPE MFG. CO., Hartford, Conn.

THE STRONGEST PIANO HOUSE IN THE SOUTH.

Cable Piano Co.,

ATLANTA, GA.

H. B. MORENUS, Mgr.

BRANCH CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN CO.

Capital $2,000,000.

The Largest Manufacturers of

PIANOS AND ORGANS

IN THE WORLD.

HIGH GRADE CONOVER PIANOS
(The Artist's Favorite.)
HIGH GRADE SCHUMANN PIANOS, HIGH GRADE KINGSBURY PIANOS, SPLENDID WELLINGTON PIANOS,
WORLD-RENOWNED CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGANS.

Pianos and Organs Sold on Easy Installments. Buy your Instruments of a Reliable House.

Our Reliability Is Unquestioned.

CATALOGUE AND PRICES FURNISHED UPON APPLICATION.

H. B. MORENUS, Mgr.

Cable Piano Co.,

80 WHITEHALL ST.,

ATLANTA, - - - GEORGIA.

GROVES

TASTELESS CHILL TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS.

WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1892.

Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,

ARNEY, CARR & Co.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-26

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

There were three sociables in town last week.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

FOR SALE.—A good horse for only $25 00. Apply at News office.

A select party met at the Methodist parsonage last Thursday evening.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

Try a bottle of V.V.V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

Miss Nona Wells is visiting friends and relatives at Dogwood this week.

If you have any real estate to sell, you will do well to call at this office.

Master Cotton Parker, of Brierfield, is spending this week with "Brer" Abernethy.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

The young people spent a very pleasant evening at Mrs. Davidson's last Thursday.

When you are very warm and thirsty, go to Crowe's and get a glass of ice cold soda water.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Dr. Givhan's friends are very anxious to know where he went last Saturday. How about it, Doc?

Mrs. A. B. Payne is having her dwelling painted. Mr. Findley is the artist doing the work.

The butchers have gotten rich and retired from business. Steak is as scarce here as it is at Havana.

FOR RENT.—The building formerly occupied by Newton & Nolen. For terms apply at the NEWS office.

A party of young people went down to Brierfield last Saturday to attend a Beat Sunday-school Convention.

Frank Kroell was out driving Tuesday afternoon. Something unusual for him. What's going to happen?

Miss Ada Dill's many friends will be glad to know that she is rapidly recovering from her recent illness.

A party of young people from town gave Miss Bessie Steele a pleasant surprise party last Friday evening.

The picnic at Falling Rock which was to have taken place to day, has been postponed until the 4th of July.

The family of Rev. John D. Simpson will spend the summer here with Mrs. Shivers. They arrived yesterday.

We regret to learn that Mrs. M. P. Reynolds is confined to her bed with fever. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

There will be quarterly meeting at Aldrich Saturday. Presiding Elder John D. Simpson will preach at 11 o'clock.

A protracted meeting will begin at the Metnodist next Sunday. Brother Abernethy will be assisted by Presiding Elder Simpson.

Why not make some effort to bring more trade to Montevallo? Let people know we are hustlers, and they will come here to trade.

You will not feel the effects of the heat so much as you do if you will only wear one of those crash suits—the kind Meroney keeps.

McCluney & Co will do a jobbing business, and will put up their goods here. They propose to compete with either Birmingham or Selma.

Don't fail to attend the big picnic at Ebenezer next Monday. Our printer says he is going, for he says he has not had a square meal lately.

Mr. Fred Reynolds spent last week at Clayton, Ala. He says there are a large number of good cooks down that way. He is thinking seriously of getting A(ls)ton.

On account of the death of Prof. Harmon and so much sickness in the neighborhood, the good people of Dogwood have decided not to have their picnic on July 4th.

A trip to Shelby Springs, or Union Springs, or some other kind of springs, was the cause of a certain young man's sickness for a few days last week. He is all right now, though.

Mr. J. B. Griffin, of Maylene, has purchased a new thrashing machine. In conversation with him a few days ago, he gave us a good deal of information about the present wheat crop. He says there will be about 6,000 barrels of flour made in Shelby county this year. This is a fine showing.

Bob Moore, of LaFayette, Ind., says that for constipation he has found DeWitt's Little Early Risers to be perfect. They never gripe. Try them for stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Rev. J. G. Thornton has the brag cabbage patch—whiteheads, you know. He thinks of starting a regular truck farm to supply Montevallo with vegetables. We certainly need such an enterprise.

E. C. Blanks, of Lewisville, Texas, writes that one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was worth $50,000 to him. It cured his piles of ten years standing. He advises others to try it. It also cures eczema, skin diseases and obstinate sores. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Lightning Ice Cream Freezers, the best on the market. Will make cream better and quicker than any other freezer. This freezer was made especially for Morgan Bros., the up-to date merchants. Call and get one.

Sick headache, biliousness, constipation and all liver and stomach troubles can be quickly cured by using those famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They are pleasant to take and never gripe. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Dr. F. F. Crowe attended a grand Masonic barbecue and public installations of officers at River Bend Friday of last week. Rev. A. E. Burns delivered the annual address. The doctor reports a very pleasant time, and says he enjoyed himself immensely, especially about 12 o'clock.

Win your battles against disease by acting promptly. One Minute Cough Cure produces immediate results. When taken early it prevents consumption. And in later stages it furnishes prompt relief. F. F. Crowe & Co.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

In the stillness of midnight April 25th, 1898, the angel of death came and bid H. Clay Fancher lay down his arms, cease his warfare and "come up higher." Brother Fancher had been ill for several days, but was not thought to be so near death; neither did he realize that so soon would his labors end—that he was so near to his father's house, and when the family retired for the night, many were the plans he had for future efforts along the different lines of action; all of which he rehearsed to his wife, when they both fell asleep. Ah! precious plans of God that hide from us the future; and blessed work of God that gave us the faculty of remembering such a life as his!

It was nearing midnight, and the great clocks in a thousand steeples would soon announce the dying of another day; but it required only a moment for the angel to give our brother his summons and carry up to "a house not built with hands eternal in the heavens," and as the day died, and the new one was ushered in, a body ceased to move, lips ceased to speak, eyes became dim in death, and a soul was on its way to meet its God. The news that "Papa is gone," as it was told in the heartrending sobs of his children, fell like a pall on the community, for none knew how near he was to the end of all God had given him to do. None knew in so short a time he would be transplanted and be walking the streets of the New Jerusalem.

An affectionate husband, a kind father, a true and abiding friend, thy hands have ceased to minister to the wants and necessities of others, have ceased to relieve the suffering and oppressed, but those same hands, that for forty years were so engaged, are gently touching the keys of celestial harps on high; and thy great heart, that was so kind, so full of tender sympathy for the troubled, the bereaved, the down-trodden, is filled with joy unspeakable because thou art in thy reward.

The body was laid to rest with masonic honors on the following day, in Cahaba Valley churchyard, where, near the gentle ripple of the river, and under the waving boughs of the cedar, it will await the resurrection morn.

Brother Fancher was born December 15, 1841, and was at the time of his death a little over fifty six years of age. He was a consistent member of the Baptist church for over 3[illegible] years, and gave freely of his time and means for the upbuilding of the church and the furthering of the cause of religion and the elevation of mankind. Broad and liberal in his views, a friend of education, he was a power for good in the community, and his real worth was not fully known till he was gone from among us. Earth is poorer today than before he went away, but heaven is richer because he is there.

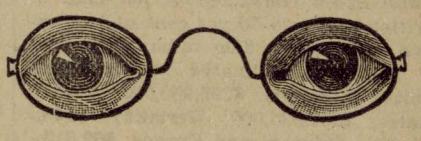
His wife and six children survive him. To these we would say, "Weep not, 'tis the will of God." Emulate his high and noble example in all things, and leave behind you the marks of true manhood and womanhood, and like him, let it be said when you are gone, that the world is better on account of your having lived in it

W. J. MARTIN.

Clanton, Ala.

Wanted!

Thirty (30) volunteers to join a regiment for coast defences—$15.60 per month, board and clothing. Call at the NEWS office.



H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.

Montevallo. - - - Ala.

New and Centrally Located.

Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday. June 30, 1898

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. A. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—C. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F, JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices,
JAMES R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor.
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer.
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chancellor N. E. Chancery Division,
R. B. KELLEY,
of Calhoun.

For Judge 7th Judicial Circuit,
GEORGE E. BREWER,
of Talladega.

Let's incorporate Montevallo, and elect Major Strong mayor.

What about incorporating and electing city fathers to look after our little city?

You cannot do better than to vote for Hon. E. S. Lyman to represent you in the next legislature.

Seven hundred million bushels of American wheat this year means cheap bread for the world.

The miners of the Birmingham district will get 40 cents per ton for mining coal after July 1, 1898.

By the time Germany's William gets his war germ cultivated; Uncle Sam will have a good healthy tocsin ready for his cure.

The Democrats never had a better chance to elect their ticket than now. With a strong ticket and divided opposition, success seems assured.

Bugler Gillow. one of Lieutenant Hobson's proteges, has distinguished himself in action within the last few days. This young hero is also a native of Greensboro, Ala.

Hunger and misery are making themselves felt throughout the Spanish peninsula. There will soon be 35,000 unemployed in Catalonia, and everywhere else there are similar accounts of distress, going from bad to worse day by day.

Mr. T. W. Williams, of Morgan county, Ala., is the owner of probably the largest hog in the world. It weighs 1,500 pounds, is 4 feet 6 inches high, 7 feet in diameter, and is 10 feet and 2 inches in length. The hog is 3 years old, and will be exhibited all over the United States by its owner, who recently refused an offer of $500 for it.

The coal miners of the Birmingham district have agreed to accept an advance of 2½ cents per ton for mining coal during the next fiscal year beginning July 1st. They af first demanded an advance of 5 cents per ton, but after several consultations with the operators of the different mining camps, they agreed on a compromise, thus averting a strike.

The stragetic board has issued orders for Commodore Watson to form a squadron of ten of our best and fastest ships, and to proceed to the Spanish coast with the determination to attack the cities there. The president said the only way to end the war was to take the fleet to Spain and demonstrate to the people the helplessness of its government.

Atlanta, Ga., has been named as location for Spanish prisoners. About 5,000 will be carried to Fort McPherson.

Early next week the president will issue a third call for at least 150,000 more men to enlist to fight for the country's flag.

The soldiers at Mobile were paid off last Thursday, and that night they painted the old town red. Friday morning at roll-call over half of them failed to respond to their names. Guards were kept busy Friday getting the men out of town back into camp.

Four soldiers killed and twenty wounded in a railroad accident at Tupelo, Miss., Sunday.

All of the soldier boys ha been transferred from Mobile Miami, Fla.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - AL

FELIX DOTSON.

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Al

Ladies' and children's hair dressi a specialty. Work solicited.

Massey's

Business College

Birmingham, Ala , Montgomery, Ala. Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. T great schools of the South. Write f elegant catalogue No 12. Address C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y, Columbus, Ga.

June2-6m

FACTS ! NOT POETRY.

We do not blow,
But we do know
Where'er you go
None are so low
In prices, so
For all things go

To

Yours to please,

C. L. MERONEY & CO.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

WIT AND HUMOR.

Up-to-Date Jokes and Witticisms From the Comic Papers.

TO THE AVERAGE EGOTIST:

Lives of great men all remind us
That, if we but had the time,
We could leave them all behind us
In the race for fame sublime

SUESEQUENT.

Bronson—My poor old grandmother is dead, and her parrot died the next day.

Dailey—Very strange! The poor bird died of grief, I suppose?

Bronson—No, I killed it with a poker.

IN THE RANKS.

Mrs. Buswick—Did your husband occupy an important position in the army during the civil war?

Mrs. Miswell—A very important position. He was employed by the Government in a private capacity.

Mrs. Buswick—Indeed.

WAR SAFE GUARD.

Miss Willington—I'm glad this trouble with Spain has come, even if it is going to be rather costly.

Miss Wrightley—Why, you heartless girl! What makes you say that?

Miss Willington—Because hereafter when ma gets to telling about cunning things I used to do before the war it'll not be such a complete give away.

PREPARING FOR THE WORST.

The young naval recruit was bidding farewell to the friends at home, when the old man said to him:

"John, you will likely be in many ticklish places. But if you should happen to be killed at sea, don't let 'em bury you there, but tell 'em to send you home. Give 'em them instructions the moment you know that you're killed. Don't neglect it. We want you where we can put a monument over you and point to you with pride!"

The young man said he'd think over it.

A RUINOUS PRACTICE.

"I thought you and Horrikins formed a law partnership last week; yet you seem to have this office all to yourself now?"

"We did form a partnership, but I kicked him out. A woman came in the other day to consult him and he told her she had no case, before he had put in a single day's work on it."

NOT ANTEDILUVIAN.

The Vet—I'll wager you never once smelled the smoke of battle.

The Recruit—No sir. In my time they only used smokeless powder.

SHE THOUGHT IT OVER.

Mrs. Mishaw—You praise yourself too much, my dear. People would appreciate you more, and would tell you so, if you were to cultivate a little modest reticence.

Mr. Mishaw—There's where you are out. I did that for years, and nobody took any notice of me but you.

A SHATTERED ROMANCE.

Edith—I suppose you are getting lovely letters from your soldier admirer.

May—Dear me, no! He turns out not to have a soul above the salt pork which he complains they are feeding him on.

BAFFLED.

The fortune-teller excused herself for a minute and left the room.

"I'll have to give it up," she said to her confederate.

"What's the matter?"

"Why, how can I be expected to tell the fortune of that big gawking idiot successfully when I can't worm any sort of a tip out of him as to the kind of a fortune-telling he wants to hear?"

Yes; there are many difficulties of which we little wot or entirely wot not, as the case may be.

NEPTUNE'S CLEAN DOMAIN.

Bill—The sea ought to be pretty clean by this time.

Jill—Why so?

"So many ships scouring it."

POSTPONING THE DATE.

First Guest—Say, don't talk so loud, Jones, our hostess is going to sing "Some Day."

Second Guest—Oh, go and tell her to sing next week, won't you?

OVERDID IT.

"Did you find the wideawake salesman you advertised for?"

"Yes, but we couldn't keep him; the only business qualification he had was insomnia."

AN EXPENSIVE FLEET.

Waggles—The various prisons are likely to bankrupt the country.

Jaggles—How's that?

Waggles—Why, I see they feed the prisoners on bread and water.

HE FIXED HIM.

A somewhat reckless youth who had enlisted for the war and had spent his time in camp in writing home for money, finally sent this telegram as "a clincher."

"Father: Leg shot off in sham battle. Send all funds you can."

To this the old man replied:

"Son: Don't know your number, but wooden leg goes to you by express. If doesn't fit, get camp carpenter to plane it. Best love. All well here."

THROWN AWAY.

"You seem fond of that old armchair, Miss Birdie," said young Cholly who was sitting bolt upright on the edge of a chair about eight feet away.

"Yes," replied the young woman, settling herself back in it. "It's comfortable. And it seems to know what its arms are for, wooden as it is."

But even this was lost on the thick-headed youth.

Won By the Old Songs.

Malcolm Stuart of Nashville, Tenn., fell in love with Lottie Nettleton the very moment that their eyes met. But the course of true love was not smoother in their case that it is with others, and the girl's poverty and humble birth were great and glaring faults in the eyes of the proud old Highlander, biding at home. He wrote to his son and commanded him to abandon his love quest until he should meet a lass of his kin and be ready to settle down in the home of his father. Malcolm read the letter and then went to read the story in Lottie's eyes, which was widely different in style and argument; and before another fortnight he cabled to his father:

"Lottie and I were married Tuesday and I am bringing her home to you, sir."

The greeting to the bride in the stately home was courteous, but her young heart chilled and fainted. Then, after a day or so, she was asked to sing, and when once she began to speak through her music her blood grew warm and courageous. It was a daring thing for an alien to do, but the girl was playing for the love of her loved one's kindred. So, while the old man nodded by his fire, she began to sing "Highland Mary."

There was a little stirring in the old armchair as she finished the song, and then, quite naturally, but, oh, so softly, she essayed "Annie Laurie," "The Banks O' Doon," and "Bonnie Charlie." Memories of other days stirred the Highland father's soul as the sweet young voice rang on; and as she began the 'Land O' the Leal" his hand fell on her shoulder.

"Ay, lassie, gude lassie; there's a Scotch bird in your throat, whate'er yer blood is, dearie. Na wonder Malcolm's heart took wings. Gie me a kiss, then, Lottie."

And as the young man, heart-sore and angry with his father for his reception of his bride, entered the room, Lottie was pressing a daughter's kiss on the old man's cheek and singing with him a north country ditty.

"I cud ay stan' again the bonnie look o' her, lad," he exclaimed, to the son. "But the songs o' auld Scotland hae won me!"—Chicago Journal.

Black backgrounds with loose flowers scattered carelessly over them, make one of the pretty styles in lawns and organdies.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Better than "Our country, right or wrong," is this sentiment for the hour: Our country, righting wrong.

No European concert will be complete these days without the "Star-Spangled Banner," and "Dixie-Doodle."

Japan was originally civilized by way of China. To-day Japan sends scholars and men of science to instruct the Chinese.

Gladstone will remain one of the big figures in the century now so near its close that the next big man of his class must make his reputation in the century to come.

We all knew General Merritt was a great fighter, observes the New York Mail and Express, but we were not expecting an engagement before he was half-way to the Pacific coast.

Four foreign wars in a century and a quarter is not a bad record for the nation. There are not many other important states that have been as peaceful as the United States.

Whether or not it is proper to ride a bicycle to church, and, if it is, in what garb the rider shall be arrayed, are questions now greatly agitating the ecclesiastical mind of England.

The Postmaster General has arranged for the forwarding of letters on war ships to the Philippines at domestic rates. Of course, we will expect to see letters for our new Post Office addressed: "Manila, Philippine Islands, U. S. A."

It now transpires that the United States expended more money during the past few years in target practice in the navy than Great Britain, France and Germany combined. The result at Manila proved the investment to have been a good one.

The fact that Cuban railroads have been getting coal from the United States while there are vast deposits of coal in that island only needing the work of the miner is a striking indication of the inefficient character of the administration which has prevailed there, and which has made possible the present deplorable condition of the "Pearl of the Antilles."

American cities have become famous for those architectural monstrosities known as "sky-scrapers." At last Chicago, long the worst offender, has had the wisdom to pass a law limiting the heighth to which buildings may be raised. Such a law has long been in force in Boston. New York is still incorrigible, and the latest monument of ugliness there is thirty stories high!

A number of business firms in Canada are using a private postal card, on which is printed in colors an emblematic device indicating the union of feeling between Great Britain and the United States. Columbia, with the eagle at her feet, and Britannia, with the lion at her feet, are seated together, with the shields of the two countries in front of them. The American and British flags are waving over them, a picture of the globe appearing in the center, and woven in the device are the words, "Anglo-Saxon, Gloria Mundi. One Aim, One Goal."

A most hopeful sign of the times is the growing respect for what are called "the bread and butter sciences." Modern methods of education look more and more toward inspiring our boys and girls with respect for work, and preparing them for honest industry by putting them in possession of all their faculties. The field of skilled labor is constantly widening; the artisans of the twentieth century will claim closer kinship with the artists; brain will guide and re-enforce muscle in field and kitchen, toil will be lightened by invention, and in good time by shorter hours.

American breadstuffs must henceforth take a place as one of the potent ammunitions of war, along with gunpowder and coal. Should European intervention be established against the United States, this could easily be defeated within thirty days simply by withholding our exports of wheat and coarse grains, declares the American Agriculturist. The English government is now said to be disposed to provide the much-discussed government warehouses for reserves of grain. Never in the history of the country has there been such universal recognition of the dependence of Europe upon our cereal crops.

While immigration from Ireland has materially decreased in recent years—the less desirable Latins having assumed first place in the numerical list—there is shown in a late report of Consul Daniel Swiney, at Queenstown, a remarkable and gratifying fact in connection with the Irish seeking betterment of their condition on this side of the Atlantic. In 1897, only 33,000 came from the Emerald Isle to the United States, and about half of these were returning immigrants who had gone home as visitors. The reduced exodus from the other side means that the conditions of life for the masses in Ireland have greatly improved, while the great percentage of returning visitors indicates the favorable results attending intelligent industry and thrift in this country.

The importance of considering air resistance in cycling is shown in a recent review of a book on cycling by Professor Boys. He said that if only the road and machine resistance had to be overcome, a man who could, under ordinary conditions, drive his bicycle at a rate of 30 miles per hous, would be able to make 330 miles per hour, or if he could actually make 20 miles an hour he would go 100. The amount that pace making plays in record-breaking may be seen from the foregoing, while the question of barometer height also has been considered. According to the Professor's calculations a difference of one inch in the height of the barometer might make a difference of a second in a minute, if the corresponding diminuition of oxygen in the rider's lungs did not compensate for the reduced resistance.

Attempts to acount for the languishing of cotton manfacturing in New England while it flourishes in the South have led to various conclusions. The committee of the Massachusetts Legislature which has recently investigated this subject tells us that the main reason for the different status of the industry in the two sections is due to the restrictive labor laws of the New England states. The Textile World in its latest issue attributes the prosperity of the Southern mills mainly to another cause, namely, the more modern machinery used in the South. While the average New England mill has held on to antiquated machinery the mills of the South, most of which are new, are equipped in the latest style. The spinning machinery of the New England mills is comparatively modern, and the carding machinery fairly good, but they are as a rule far behind the South in weaving machinery for the same class of goods.

What is the Oregon? And what has she done? She is a heavy coast-line battle ship. She is intended for giving and taking blows in defence of home and country. She is not intended for swift cruising in distant seas. Yet the latter is exactly what she was called upon to do. She was ordered to hasten "from lands of sun to lands of snows" and back again to lands of sun, through two oceans and three zones, past more than a dozen alien coasts, in distance more than half way round the world, through distress of tropic heat and through peril of antarctic storms; through peril, too, of attack from hostile fleets; and at the end of the arduous voyage to be in full fighting trim, ready for instant action. It was a commission that might well be deemed trying to any vessel that was ever launched. But she fulfilled it to the letter. After all the perils and labors of 13,000 miles, through strange waters, she reaches her station ahead of expected time, with not a tube broken nor a rivet strained, nor the stroke of a hammer nor the turn of a wrench needed to prepare her for the clash of battle. If there is a finer tribute to shipbuilding and seamanship in all the world than in that simple fact, we should like to know where it is.

A WESTERN FAIRYLAND.

The Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha is an Artistic Triumph.

In that great stretch of mountain and prairie known to eastern people only a few short years ago as the Wild West a veritable fairyland has sprung into existence, with scarcely a louder herald than the swish of the saw or the sound of the hammer. The Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha, Neb., which was opened by telegraph by President McKinley, in Washington, on June 1st, has grown into proportions far beyond its original conception, until it stands to-day stamped with an international character, counting its friends in every section of the globe. Day by day it has developed into a living reality, and the magnificent buildings are typical of the art, the science, the enterprise and the progress of the West.

The project, as it first found expression, contemplated a great fair to manifest to the world the resources of the territory west of the Mississippi River. Gradually its scope broadened. Congress recognized its National character; foreign countries appreciated the value of the opportunities offered; State after State fell in line, demanding space for proper representation until, when it was opened, it had assumed the magnitude and importance of a World's Fair.

The site selected is just north of the city of Omaha, on a plateau, and a visit to it is like a trip to fairyland. On every side is the element of originality. It is a copy of nothing ever before attempted in this field. From the beautiful auditorium at the eastern extremity down to the magnificent building abutting the western end of the lagoon and dedicated to the United States Government every detail strikes the eye as being unique and original. In one respect only does it suggest Chicago. It is a white city, every building being finished in the material known as "staff." In every other respect the "dream city" of the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition is like nothing ever before planned and accomplished in America. Every crown, cap, figure and pilaster is cast from models entirely new, rich and tasteful, and all are typical of the culture, the refinement, the progress and the resources of the West.

Besides the usual buildings devoted to the arts, trades, sciences and natural resources of the West, nearly every State west of the Mississippi River has erected its own representative structure.

In the Grand court at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, looking east from the island which occupies the center of the lagoon, one is impressed by the artistic architectural effects before him. When the great Government building, with its massive dome and flanking colonnades, was built at the west end overlooking the court, it was thought lifficult, in view of the fact that a aduct at the east must connect the bluff and main tracts, to finish that end in a like artistic and imposing manner. But the architects happily solved the difficulty in making the viaduct not only a thing of beauty and usefulness, but one of the most artistic conceits on the grounds. The visitor may go by boat the entire length of the basin from the Government building to the Sherman avenue viaduct, passing many of the main buildings. Arriving at the east end he will see a beautiful green sward rising in terraces, adorned with sculpture and shrubbery, before him. Beyond this, and facing him is a great hemicycle stairway, thirty feet in width, adorned on either side with a tower, which is crowned by a kiosk or minaret. Sweeping out on either side and connecting these towers with others of like design are graceful arches. Back of all this and rising in five gently graduated towers, and crowned with statues of heroic design, are the two great viaduct restaurants. The towers and stairs are tinted to an old ivory shade, decorated with dull Pompeiian colors.

Beyond and across the viaduct, the bluff tract has been transformed into a park, where the various state buildings are located and which also is the site of the great Horticultural building and some of the larger structures of the amusement section.

At the eastern end of the lagoon the auditorium, with a seating capacity of twenty-five hundred, rears its front, and abutting the western end of this grand canal the United States Government Building stands, a majestic structure, overlooking the broad basin, surmounted by a handsome dome with a statue of Liberty bearing aloft the flaming torch of progress and enlightenment. The lagoon, which is widened here by excavating a trefoil, is nearly 400 feet in width and forms a water-amphitheatre, which, with the colonnades surrounding it, easily forms one of the prettiest effects to be found in the exposition.

Lining the lagoon on either side and reflected into its waters stand the buildings devoted to arts and mechanics. That of Mines and Mining and the Machinery and Electricity Building are splendid structures. The lagoon itself has many novel features made possible by the rapid improvement in the methods of electric lighting. At the east end are located electric water grottoes, the Blue Grotto of Capri and the Mammoth Cave.

The educational features of the exposition have not been overlooked. They are in the hands of representative Western women, to whom has been assigned the management of philosophic and scientific congresses, the Boys and Girls' Building, as well as all branches of woman's work. They will have charge of the exhibits of the work of public schools, kindergartens, art, reform, industrial and all schools of special instruction.

Not the least important feature of the great exposition is the ethnological exhibit. It is possible that never again will an effort of this character be enabled to secure an Indian exhibit of the proportions contemplated by this. The Indian race is rapidly disappearing, and the opportunity to study clear-cut types of every known tribe will be hailed with delight by every lover of ethnology.

And the Midway. The management has provided a programme of unique and wholesome attractions, and is adding to it daily. Novel and meritorious show features are encouraged, and the visitor will not lack amusement. Foreign villages are in abundance. An exact reproduction of Cripple Creek in miniature is exhibited. This concession alone occupies 15,000 square feet and requires 300 people to produce it. The Afro-American village typifies every phase of their life. A novel example of engineering skill is Sherman's Umbrella, by which passengers are elevated to a height of 300 feet and revolved within a circle of 250 feet. The Moorish village will be here; so will the Irish, Tyrolean and Chinese villages, and many others. Nothing will be left undone to contribute to the satisfaction and pleasure of the visitors.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT BUILDING AT THE TRANS-MISSISSIPPI EXPOSITION, OMAHA.

How an Ant Found Its Way.

The President of the Agassiz Association, Mr. H. H. Ballard, recently caught an ant near its hill, shut it up in a box, carried it 150 feet away and set it free in the middle of a sandy road. What followed he thus describes: "It seemed at first bewildered. Then it climbed to the top of a ridge of sand, erected its body as high as possible, waved its antennæ for several seconds, and then started in a straight line for home."

The twelve Atlantic cables now in use represent a total capital of about $85,000,000.

MRS. NELSON A. MILES.

She Has Taken Interest in Fighting Since She Became a Soldier's Wife.

Mrs. Nelson A. Miles, wife of the commander of the United States army, is one of the most attractive and hospitable women in Washington, and deeply interested in every move that is made by the American army. She has always taken an interest in fighting since she has been a soldier's wife. Years ago when the general was only Colonel Miles, in command of the Presidio in San Francisco, he and Mrs. Miles were called "the handsomest couple in the army." Mrs. Miles has not lost much of the charm that made her the goddess of every young fellow from West Point in her young days in California. She was Mary Sherman before her marriage. Her father was Judge Sherman, a brother of the senator and the general. Her hair is dark and abundant, her eyes are a grayish blue and her manners are winning. She is as kind and attentive to the wife of a second lieutenant as to the wife of a brigadier-general, and that is why she has ever been popular, no matter where stationed. Mrs. Miles accompanied the general on his trip to Europe last year. She accompanied him, too, on some of his expeditions against the Indians, and was often within sound of the shooting.

MRS. NELSON A. MILES.

Our Chief Naval Strategist.

Since Captain Alfred T. Mahan has returned from Europe and has been assigned to a place on the Naval Strategy Board at Washington he has had a splendid opportunity to put to an actual test many of the theories advocated by him in his books and magazine articles relating to sea power. He is the foremost expert in his specialty in all the world and his views are considered the last word on naval matters both in England and here at home.

CAPTAIN ALFRED T. MAHAN.

The Pope's Pen.

The Pope does his private writing with a gold pen, but the pontifical signature is always written with a pen made from the feather of a white dove. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

In an oratorical contest at the Idaho University for the Watkins medal Jennie Hughes, the only colored student in the institution, was the winner.

At sea level, an object 100 feet high is visible a little over thirteen miles. If 500 feet high, it is visible nearly thirty miles.

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

TEN FOR FIVE CENTS
R·I·P·A·N·S
ONE GIVES RELIEF

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (10 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

The Great Family Remedy

No home should be without a bottle of V. V. V., the great specific for all diseases of the blood—a true boon to ailing man and woman. A health and strength restorative of the highest efficacy. V. V. V., a purely vegetable preparation of sterling worth, acts directly on the blood, purifying, renewing and giving new life to every part of the system. Diseases of many years standing quickly succumb to V. V. V.; the ills of the hour are at once rectified, while the system is completely fortified against sickness.

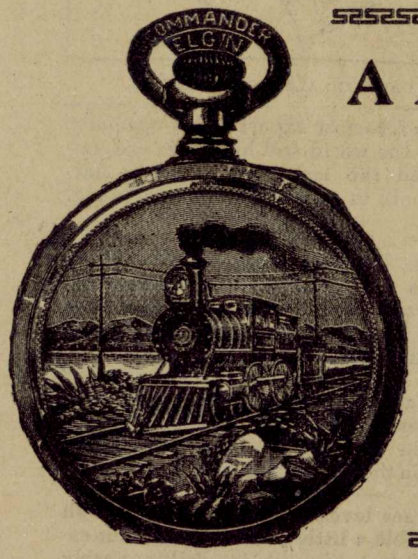
A positive and permanent cure for Scrofula, Tetter, Eczema, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Rheumatism in all its forms and blood poison of any nature. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. A book of value mailed free to anyone on request.

NABERS, MORROW & SINNIGE, Birmingham, Ala.

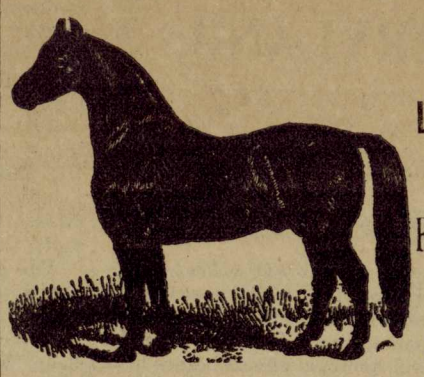


A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELI,

Office at Store. Manager.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 21, '98. NO. 28

HIS LOVE WAS FALSE.

The following outpouring of a soul in travail was composed by a gallant soldier boy at Camp Merritt, a member of Company F, who from the fact that he has not heard from his lady love for the space of three weeks, believes she is fickle and false. Further comment is unnecessary, except to say that the young lady in the case is also a resident of this city:

The Soldier's Farewell.

I am lying in my tent, Sweet Marie,
And my soul with rage is pent up in G,
For I know almighty well you have caught another fel,
And your thoughts no longer dwell, love, with me.

When we kissed a last goodbye, tearfully,
You but worked a girlish guy off on me.
O, you sweet, bewitching jade, what a clever game you played,
For your tears were ready-made, Sweet Marie.

Sweet Marie, list to me, list to me, Sweet Marie,
While I whisper to the winds, you're n. g.
You were loyal, you were true, I was all the world to you,
When my cash for you I blew, Sweet Marie.

When I donned the soldier blue, Sweet Marie,
Like a picnic woodtick you stuck to me,
And the smile you used to wear was as full of gleaming glare
As a sunbeam on a tear, Sweet Marie.

How your cunning head you'd lay lovingly
On my bosom while you'd say things to me;
There you'd rest in loving pose right beneath my very nose,
Swiping buttons from my clothes, Sweet Marie.

To the Phillippines I go, Sweet Marie,
Where the tropic sun will glow over me,
And I'll wander through the dells with the Brown Manilla belles,
Who are dressed in beads and shells, scantily.

There your face I'll soon forget, Sweet Marie;
I'll be frisky, you can bet, as a flea.
I'll be giddy, I'll be gay, I will sing the hours away,
Ta-ra-ra-ra boom de-ay! Hully gee!

—Aberdeen (S. D.) News.

(By Request.)

A LETTER TO GIRLS.

DEAR AUNT JANE:

When I was a girl I used to wish some older lady would write to the girls oftener. If I could say anything that would do them any good I would be very glad, for I certainly have their welfare at heart.

To be a pure, upright, educated, Christian woman, is as noble an ambition as any girl can have. The good women are the beginning of all earthly good, I think, for if there were no good women, you would not find much of good among the men, and the girls of now are soon to be our women. If only all our women would live pure, upright lives, what a blessing it would be.

Dear young girls, you do not realize what a vast influence for good you can have if you will only try. Every word, every act, I might almost say every thought, leaves its impress for good or ill on someone.

In your intercourse with those of the other sex, conduct yourself so as to gain the honor and respect of every man, and through you he will hold all womankind in greater respect. The higher the standard by which he measures womanhood, the purer his life is apt to be. Be gay and happy and enjoy yourselves all that you can, but do not let your gaiety run to rowdyism. It is no credit to a girl to be rough, for while some would laugh and help you on, in their hearts they will think a little less of you for your lack of womanliness. You all wish to be admired and loved, and stand well in the estimation of your friends and neighbors, I know, and you can do it if you choose to take the pains; it is well worth the pains, too. It is through ignorance and thoughtlessness a girl most often loses her sweetest charms.

You have all seen some woman whom you would wish to be like when you have grown older, haven't you? One in whose presence life seems better and sweeter, higher thoughts come, selfishness seems out of place, you long to live a better life and help other to be better.

Maybe you might take a few lessons from her. She isn't apt to talk so very loud. I know she does not use slangy expressions, nor tell everything disagreeable about other people.

A modest girl is always admired whether she is homely or beautiful. She has the respect of all men and women, and without respect love is impossible.

You all wish to be loved, and why not? We have all had our dreams. Mothers, why deny it? It is a God-given instinct of our natures to love and wish to be loved in return. The sweetest gift this life holds for a woman is the love and respect of a good and honorable man.

But do not be in haste to wed, little girl, for you now hold life's sweetest, gayest, freest days, and you had better hold to them till you find a man you are quite sure will be worth having, one who will help you in life's hard places and in filling your life fuller of good, for life holds work and duty for us all as well as love, you know.

"Life is real, life is earnest,
And the grave is not its goal."

Keep your girlhood days of freedom, guard them as precious jewels. Do not fritter them away in foolishness and flirting with this boy and that, gaining idle compliment from him, or perhaps winning his deeper, truer love, only to throw him aside, causing him to think woman's sweetest smiles are falsest, thus lowering all womanhood in his eyes.

A boy's, or, young man's, greatest safeguard lies in the honor and reverence which he bears the women he meets in everyday life. Use your days in learning lessons of patience, tenderness and kindness, storing up strength of mind, of character and of body, for you will have need of all when the days of wifehood and motherhood come. Dear girls, do nothing which will call a blush to your cheek in after years. When your hero comes, as he will, you will wish to be worthy of his fullest confidence and love, that he may read your heart and life, without causing you fear or shame. Allow absolutely no familiarity from any man. Let your motto be: "Touch me not."

Do not hold yourself too cheap. Your love will be worth gaining if it is worth having.

I would cut my head off before I would let any man think I cared for him before he cared for me. You will be more appreciated if you are not too easily won. I heard a young man say not long ago, "A fellow likes competition." Do not count a man's worth by the coat he wears, and his dudish ways. Sometimes a common sack coat covers as warm, generous a heart as can be found under the most stylish Prince Albert.

Girls, don't be guilty of slighting anyone, or slyly poking fun at those who may be less well dressed than you happen to be. Sometimes you meet those who are too bashful or lacking in self-confidence to show their best points. Don't snub them, but help them out. Don't use slang ever, it is not ladylike. Don't use any word or expression of which you do not know the meaning. As to the girl who thinks her face is plain, you stand just as good chance of winning the love of a sensible man as your fairer sister. Be sensible, be true, be sincere, be neat, and wear your clothes as if they belonged to you. "Cleanliness is next to godliness;" you are young and strong, able to wash and iron.

Be pure, be true, be brave and tender; be kind and patient. You have all of life before you, and every pure thought, every kindly deed, every tender little act, every cheering word bravely spoken to hearts often weary will help you and those around you onward and upward, to our eternal home, where I hope we will at last win peace and love.—Constance Hope, in Atlanta Constitution.

NOW THAT

Santiago de Cuba Surrendered!

WE WANT TO

C-U-B-A

Regular Customer at Our Store!

The cheapest place in town to buy

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, ETC.

Give us a call.

MORGAN BROS.

PUBLIC SPEAKING!

There will be public speaking by the Democratic candidates for county offices and others at the following times and places, at 10 o'clock a. m., unless a different hour is named. All invited to attend, the ladies especially. It is suggested that basket dinners be provided where the commuuities can conveniently do so.

Dunnavant, Thursday,	July	21
K. Springs, Friday,	"	22
Vinceht, Saturday,	"	23
Wilsonville, Monday,	"	25
Harpersville, Tuesday,	"	26
Bethlehem, Wednesday,	"	27
Shelby, Thursday,	"	28
Columbiana, Friday,	"	29

W. B. BROWNE,
Chm'n. Dem. Ex. Com.

The Chief Burgess of Milesburg, Pa., says DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills he ever used in his family during forty years of housekeeping. They cure constipation, sick headache and stomach and liver troubles. Small in size but great in results. F. F. Crowe & Co.

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

Method of Utilizing Convicts.

It is generally recognized that the welfare of convicts (mental, moral and physical) depends largely upon suitable employment being provided for them, and that it is cruel to keep them in idleness. It is also obvious that it is unjust for the community to be obliged to support an army of law-breakers; but in what manner convicts can be employed without bringing their labor into competition with free labor, has not yet become clear.

It is important that something be done, and many good roads advocates believe that convicts should be employed in some way in helping to construct public roads. General Stone and others, prominent in the cause, have, after much examination and consideration, concluded that the most feasible thing to do is to use them while in confinement to prepare road metal. In this way the stone can be made ready at very small cost, without competing with free labor, as it would be work that would otherwise not be done at all, and then a large amount of otherwise unemployed free labor would be called into active use for road construction. In the series of practical articles by D. F. Magee, appearing in the Lancaster Examiner, he treats of these points, and makes the following suggestions of a simple method of utilizing convict labor for this purpose. He says:

"Let the Prison Board lease or buy an acre of ground, in which there is a breast of stone easily quarried, and of first-class quality for road-making, somewhere convenient to the city to start with. Let them provide a close fence, say twelve or fifteen feet high, of corrugated iron, made in panels, so that it can be firmly bolted to iron posts of a like height, and can be erected and taken down conveniently when it is desired to move it and to haul it to some other point, and this fence about the quarry equip with sharp keen spears on top and a metal base extending into the ground some distance.

"Within this enclosure, erect of metal, in sections so as to easily remove the same, all necessary buildings, one story high; kitchen, dining-room and sleeping compartments. Within this enclosure provide all necessary tools, machinery, etc., and there let the convicts quarry out stone, break it and load it upon wagons when required, working at this particular place so long as any stone is required in that section, preparing only the fine stone for second and last coat, and supplying only as much in each township as the farmers themselves cannot supply or do not have. Then move the prison to another point so as to do a like work in another section of the county. Two or three moves a year, we believe, would suffice to make the plan feasible and effective, and make the hauling convenient.

"The feeding and clothing of the prisoners can be done as cheaply and as satisfactorily as when in jail. All authorities agree that their health would be vastly improved and habits of regular systematic labor engrafted upon their lives that would be a blessing to them afterwards and a boon to the community in ridding it of an idle class that becomes steeped in vice largely through its habits of idleness. The prisoners could be readily transported to these convict camps in closed vans, and after serving their time be discharged from there or returned to the jail in the same manner."

Military Roads For Cuba.

It is understood that General Stone, director of the Road Inquiry Bureau of the Department of Agriculture, is to go to Cuba in order to construct military roads there to facilitate the occupation of the island by our army. Complete outfits of road-making machinery are expected to be taken and the work pushed with all speed. In considering the matter, the Chicago Record says that General Stone "reviewed with General Miles the conditions to be anticipated in Cuba during the rainy season, when the rough roads there will be rendered impassible, and the ease with which good roads can be constructed by the use of improved machinery. He pointed out with effect the strategic advantages which would have been gained by the Union armies during the war if facilities for constructing good roads had been available and if military operations had not depended in so large a measure upon the elements. He recalled several instances where decided progress would have been made had the armies constructed roads instead of waiting in camp for the sun and wind to dry the mud and make the rough country passable. General Stone believes that the roads that he will construct will not only materially aid the movement of the armies, but that they will remain a permanent improvement to be enjoyed by the people of Cuba after peace is restored."

Good Roads in Massachusetts.

The Ways and Means Committee has reported in favor of the appropriation of $400,000 for highways ($200,000 less than the Committee on Roads and Bridges recommended), all but $100,000 of it to be available this year. This is a generous amount of money to put into roads, and it is well invested. But let the House remember this when the wide-tire, or road-protector, bill comes before it.—Boston Transcript.

Narrow Versus Wide Tires.

Scientific experiments extending over two years have been made to determine the relative qualities of wide and narrow wagon-wheel tires. Every kind of road was used to test the question. It was found that on macadam roads the narrow tires were far inferior to the wide, and they required much greater effort to draw a given load. In a deeply rutted clay road, the narrow tires running in the ruts and the wide tires on top, the narrow tires were far more efficient. This was also the case with wet mud. But as soon as the mud began to dry the wide tires showed a vast superiority. In general the only justification for narrow tires proved to be thoroughly bad roads.

Shots at Bad Roads.

Connecticut has a wide-tire law, but judging from appearances no attempt is made to enforce it.

Rhode Island wheelmen intend to have the wide tire law of their State enforced. They are having it published and are calling attention to it.

Wide tires preserve good roads, improve poor ones and remove ruts. They are made more efficient by having the rear axle of the wagon longer than the forward one.

The length of the public highways of this country is said to be 1,500,000 miles. The amount of freight hauled over them in one year is estimated at 500,000,000 tons, and the cost of carting it $1,000,000,000, but with really good roads this item could be reduced over one-half.

It was said by G. P. Healy that he who is suited with existing roads because they suited his fathers, might as well believe in witches because his great-grandfathers feared them.

Somebody has been taking a census of steam rollers in Massachusetts and finds that as against twenty-seven in 1893, there are now 127 owned there. Still, the increase has not kept pace with the increase in the number of bicycles whose owners, in their efforts for good roads, are responsible for the larger number of steam rollers.

Royal Family of Boxers.

Boxing is a favorite sport of the Danish royal family, Prince Valdemar being the best boxer among them. When he challenged the late Emperor Alexander III. of Russia, however, he met more than his match. King George of Greece is also skilled with the gloves. The present Emperor of Russia, on his travels around the world, used to have a bout with Prince George of Greece every morning on the bridge of the steamer.

Civility costs nothing and buys everything.—Lady Mary Montague.

THE "JENKIN'S EAR" ISSUE.

It Resulted in a New Era of Activity in England.

Spain claimed to be mistress, by decree of the pope, of all the seas and continents covered by the vague title of "the Spanish Main," and so for two centuries, whatever was the case in Europe, perpetual war raged in the tropics.

By the Assiento treaty the British were allowed to dispatch one ship, not exceeding 600 tons, to the Spanish Main each year; but what parchment skin of treaties could keep the volume of the world's trade flowing through such a petty squirt! Illegal traders to the Spanish Main abounded, and Spanish guarda costas were not gentle in their methods of suppressing them. Capt. Jenkins, with his vessel, the Rebecca, sailing from Jamaica to London, was stopped and searched on the coast of Havana by a Spanish revenue cutter. Jenkins was slashed over the head with a cutlass and his left ear was chopped off. A Spanish officer then tore off the bleeding ear, flung it in its owner's face and bade him "carry it home to his king and tell him what had been done." The story of how that little morsel of brown, withered flesh turned out a spark which kindled the inarticulate slow-burning wrath of the English nation into a flame and swept England itself into war, Carlye tells:

"The 'Jenkins' ear' question, which once looked so mad, was sane enough, and covered tremendous issues. Half the world lay hidden in embryo under it. 'Colonial empire'—whose is it to be? Shall half the world be England's for industrial purposes, which is innocent, laudable, conformable to the multiplication table, at least, and other plain laws? Or shall it be Spain's, for arrogant, torpid, sham-devotional purposes, contradictory to every law? The incalculable 'Yankee nation' itself, biggest phenomenon (once thought beautifulest) of these ages—this, too, little as careless readers on either side of the sea now know it, lay involved. Shall there be a Yankee nation, shall there not be? Shall the new world be of Spanish type, shall it be of English? Issues which we may call immense! Among the then extant sons of Adam, where was he who could in the faintest degree surmise what issues lay in the Jenkins' ear question? And is it curious to consider now, with what fierce, deep-breathed doggedness, the poor English nation, drawn by their instincts of simple, guileless persons (liable to be counted stupid by the unwary) are sometimes of prophetic nature, and spring from the deep places of this universe."

Get a Whole Lot for Nothing.

The man who always wants something for nothing made a discovery in a Diamond street restaurant. A waiter upset a glass on the marble-topped lunch counter, breaking the edge of the glass. The waiter carelessly tossed it under the counter and got another with a smooth edge for the customer he was serving.

"What do you do with glasses thus slightly damaged?" asked the customer of the restaurant proprietor, relating the circumstance.

"Oh, we give them away; have to get rid of them; can't endanger the lips of customers by serving them in nicked glasses. But why are you interested?"

"Why, I thought if you would give me a few of the old glasses my wife might use them for jellies."

"Give me your address and I'll send you some," volunteered the restaurant keeper.

The man for a longing for articles without price went away gleefully, calculating mentally on how much he had saved on jelly glasses. Two days later, when he went home from business, he found thirteen barrels in his back yard. His wife said she supposed he had sent them and she paid the man $4.75 for delivering them. When opened, the barrels were found to contain broken glassware and china of all sorts. None of it could be used, not even for jelly glasses. An ash hauler charged $2 for taking away the rubbish. The man who wants things for nothing has withdrawn his patronage from a particular restaurant in Diamond street.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Oldest Postal System.

We find the first recorded postal system in the Persian Empire, under Cyrus the Elder; but it is clear that Rome of all the ancient States possessed the best organized system of transmitting letters through its numerous provinces.

All along the great Roman roads houses were erected at a distance of five or six miles from each other. At each of these stations forty horses were constantly kept, and by the help of the relays it was easy to travel 100 miles in a day. These services were intended for the State only, it being imperative to secure the rapid interchange of official communications.

In the time of Julius Caesar the system was so well organized that of two letters the great soldier wrote from Britain to Cicero at Rome, the one reached its destination in twenty-six and the other in twenty-eight days. Private citizens had to trust to the services of slaves, and it is not till the end of the third century that we hear of the establishment of a postal system for private persons by the Emperor Diocvletian, but how long this system remained history does not say.—New York World.

Spanish Honor Exemplified.

I see that the Spaniards are vaunting their honor and chivalry and calling Americans swine. Let me tell you something about Spanish honor. Premier Sagasta recently gave a reception to the British Minister. During the evening the Minister discovered that his watch had been stolen, and he came to the reluctant conclusion that one of the grandees present was the thief. He told Sagasta of his loss. Sagasta asked for silence and explained the situation. He said that in order to save the culprit's honor the lights would be put out and the whole company would pass by the Premier's desk in the dark, and the culprit would redeem himself by placing the watch on the table. In darkness the company passed by the table. When the lights were turned on again not only was the watch not there, but a valuable silver inkstand belonging to Sagasta was missing.—

Bug's Long Imprisonment.

The wife of Dr. C. H. Emory, of Bedford, Mass., a few days ago noticed a small white speck on the top of a hard oak centre table, of which she has been the owner for six years. Yesterday the speck suddenly developed into an opening about three-eighths of an inch in diameter, out of which crawled a strange looking bug, gray in color, about one inch in length, and having several arms and legs. There is much speculation concerning the strange insect. Undoubtedly it was embodied in the top of that polished centre table ever since the table was made from the rough lumber by the manufacturer. Since the possession of the table by Dr. Emory there has been no break in its surface, for Mrs. Emory nas had it under her daily care. Dr. Emory still has the captive, and is trying to identify it.—New York Telegram.

Splitting Atoms.

By means of the microtome, slices of vegetable and animal tissues down to a thinness of about 1-1000th of an inch are obtained for microscopic study. Professor Elmer Gates of Washington has now gone further, and even slices up blood cells and microbes by cementing them in a single layer between two glass slides and cutting slides apart with a very thin blade of copper sharpened to the highest possible degree. The cells are again cut by repeating the operation, and it is claimed that slices have been made only 1-100th as thick as the thinnest produced by the microtome.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The new monitors will be the most formidable vessels of that type ever built. And there are some who think that type the most formidable ever devised.

THE PURITAN MAID.

Hangs her picture on the wall,
Where the sunbeams lightly fall;
O'er her seated at the wheel,
Softly, tenderly, they steal;
'Neath her cap so plain and white,
Shine her curls of golden light.

Face of rose leaf tinted hue,
Eyes like violets kissed by dew,
Gravely, shyly, gazing down,
Shaded by the lashes brown;
So they looked that fair spring day,
When one stole her heart away.

Leal the Stuart blood was he,
And of Roundhead lineage she,
Ere the years around her flew,
Shadows dimmed those eyes of blue;
Ere her baby girl could speak,
Death had claimed the mother meek.

Now she lies 'neath moss-decked stone,
All with lichen overgrown;
Still the letter you may see,
"Phyllis, Sixteen Fifty-three,"
There the sunbeams gently play
Round the grave of Phyllis Grey.

—Pattye L. Bletchford.

His Pleasant Interlude.

A War-Time Tale.

He rode up to the entrance of the house, and, stooping forward, rapped smartly at the door with the hilt of his sword. Then he settled himself in the saddle, whistled and looked around at the detail, blue-coated men of the Federal cavalry, sitting stolidly behind him.

He waited a few moments, and then dismounted, whistling still, his blue eyes smiling and dancing as though thirty miles over rough country, and coming on the heels of a harassing march, were but a mere bagatelle. Again he knocked, loudly, insistently. The corporal moved heavily in his hot saddle, and moistened his lips with his tongue.

In answer to the knocking the still brooding house suddenly became alive with stealthy footsteps and secretive sounds, cautious movements and discreet murmurings. The lieutenant settled his hat more jauntily and looked at his dusty boots and ragged uniform with a mournful air. Presently light footsteps came down the unseen stairs, and paused on the other side of the heavy door.

"Who is there?" The voice was so clear and sweet that the lieutenant forgot his boots and smiled again, and even the corporal paused in the act of flicking a fly from the neck of his horse.

A detail of the United States cavalry. We want rest and shelter." The lieutenant might have had hopes of something infinitely more pleasant than these common necessaries, for his voice was mellowed with a grateful deference.

"I am quite alone with my aunt," said the voice. "Shall we be safe in opening to you?"

"Madame," answered the lieutenant, swelling in his blue tunic, "we are soldiers but we are men."

The door was unbarred and thrown open. The lieutenant swept his cap from his head and bowed. He bowed with exaggerated homage, for the voice was possessed by a young girl every whit as sweet as its cadence.

"I will not say you are welcome," she said, "for you do not wear the uniform which opens our hearts." She spoke sadly, for the war had been terrible in its results for her and her friends. Everywhere the blue uniform was swarming over the Southern homesteads, into the Southern homes.

He shrugged his shoulders.

"One must wear one uniform or another," he answered. "I was born in the North. The matter is a mere accident. It may have been unfortunate for me."

"I think not," she replied, looking gravely at him, thinking of the sacrifices made and making.

"I am by no means sure," he smiled, thinking of other matters.

In another minute he went off, his cap thrust back, whistling a happy waltz refrain, to see to the housing of horses and men—horses coming first in his estimation, as befitted a cavalryman. Davis, the corporal, and the six other men of the detail swore hardly as they loosened girths in the disused stables, but the lieutenant went on whistling.

In the evening he sat with the girl and her aunt in the broad, cool dining room, smoking. He could have dispensed with the aunt, but, after all, she was silent, and knitted. Marjorie—he had discovered that her name was Marjorie, with a pleased sense of its appropriateness—was not silent and she did not knit. She sat by the low open window and talked.

He was very candid about his movements, boyish and flippant. The war had left him entirely without personal animosity against anyone.

"Why did you become a soldier?" Marjorie questioned, wonderingly, for her hatred of the Northerners was as the hatred of her kindred—very deep and very bitter.

"Oh, I don't know. Any fellow would in my position. I was a lawyer. I hated law. The war promised excitement and adventure. There you are."

"And you like it?" She looked at him narrowly. That this hateful war should be agreeable was a phase she had not yet studied.

"Yes. Why not? It gives movement. I love movement. It gives adventure. I adore adventure. It gives excitement. I worship excitement. No one can enjoy the perfection of living without the zest of an apparent chance of the other thing."

"Life and death, right and wrong, are mere matters of amusement to you?"

"Should they be anything else? I am quite willing to grant that I am fighting for a wrong cause. I have never studied the subject. I fight because I like it, and because I don't like the law."

The aunt, serious over her knitting, reproached him.

"You are bringing death and desolation on us."

He was apologetic at once.

"I'm awfully sorry. I never thought of it in that light. It has been a mere game with me—like marbles or—or billiards."

Marjorie looked at him again, but he was conscious that her attention was divided. It had been divided all the evening. There was anxiety in her eyes, even fear. He smiled to himself as he saw this, and blew fanciful clouds of smoke.

"I cannot be that. It has been the cause of my meeting with you—and with your aunt," he added, as an afterthought.

Both aunt and niece smiled, but their smiles were forced.

"You have a secret," he went on, suddenly looking out of the window. "Forgive me for speaking. I look so much of a fool that I am afraid you have not given me credit for discovering it. Some one is hiding here."

Aunt and niece started to their feet, with alarmed faces and protesting lips. He waved them courteously to their chairs.

"I have no wish to discover who he is. He may be your brother, Mistress Marjorie; he may be—again, forgive me—something nearer. I do not ask. I have no desire to know."

They sank back in their seats, staring at him with strained eyes.

"You will not——" the girl began, falteringly.

"Search for him? No, most assuredly not. I am quite happy here, smoking and—and seeing you. Another might disturb us. It is no duty of mine to be a spy. While I trespass on your hospitality I am quite deaf. I do not say that if I met him in the open, face to face, I should not attempt to kill him. I should. He would do the same to me. But now—this is a pleasant interlude."

She, the girl, looked at him with eloquent eyes.

"Sir," she said, "you are very good."

He smiled. "It will be well if I can hope that you will permit to us of the North some of the chivalry you claim for the South. I am a soldier; I am not a spy."

The aunt came forward. He saw with apprehension that her face was white with emotion, that she walked unsteadily, and that her eyes were misty.

"God bless you——" she began.

"My dear madam," he said lightly, "I am your guest. I am afraid my intrusion was a little brusque, and not altogether acceptable, but necessity gave me no choice. It is," he went on, with an easy change, "a very pleasant evening. For a week or so I think I might be very happy here, but it must be dull to pass the whole of one's life with only trees and fields and animals—a few human and many otherwise."

"That," said Marjorie, speaking for the sake of speaking, and with little thought, "is not complimentary."

His eyes darkened a little as he looked at her.

'Imagination might suggest a greater happiness, but knowledge, the knowledge of a few hours, demonstrates the futility of such a possibility."

She crimsoned quickly, shyly looking at him.

"You are gallant, sir," she smiled.

"Am I? It is rarely that the truth is gallant."

The aunt, rendered obtuse with the stress of her emotion, she broke in.

"Perhaps," said she, "some one waits and watches for you in the far North. If so, I pray that she may repay you for you kindness to us—to my niece and to me."

He smiled again, the setting sun caressing his hair into an answering gleam.

"Madam, I have met many in my life—a longer life, I think, than you imagine—but a week has wearied me of them all. I have never hoped for more than a week's brief pleasure, never even guessed its possibility, until today."

"That is sad," said the aunt.

"It has one great advantage. They may put me under the ground tomorrow, and there will be no heart left to ache."

"You talk lightly of death." Marjodie shivered as she spoke.

"It's a soldier's chance, and when one plays a game of chance one should reckon the risks."

"And you have reckoned?"

"This little expedition, which has given me the great pleasure of your acquaintance and of your aunt's, should demonstrate that. I am far in an enemy's country. The general who accepted my offer did not underrate the peril. He parted with me with a longer handshake than usual. It was quite eloquent. We are twenty miles in advance of the column."

He started then, for a slight noise arrested his attention. The two women did not hear it, and he was silent.

When the night was dark a man stole from the back of the house. He wore a uniform, and if the night had not been so dark the uniform would have been seen to have been gray. But, after all, if the night had not been dark there was no one to see it.

In the morning, early, before the dews were dry, the lieutenant bade the two women a gay farewell, and rode down the road with his men. The road lay open to the dawn before the house, and there was no screening hedge.

He laughed as he rode and waved his cap gayly. The corporal looked on in grave disapproval. Such frivolities were not in keeping with the grimness of war. The carbines were slung and the swords rested in their scabbards.

Suddenly the windows of the house were alive with rifles. Six men looked over the muzzles at the detail. Looking back at the two women, the lieutenant caught sight of the tense faces glaring over the gleaming barrels.

"Forward, lads, for your lives," he shouted.

The sudden start of the horses, the abrupt ringing of his voice, discomfited their aim. The bullets flew wide. All but one. The man who had stolen from the house in the dark had covered the lieutenant, and he smiled as the figure in blue swayed in his saddle.

"Get on, Davis!" the lieutenant cried. "I'm done for! Get on; the general must have the report."

The corporal hesitated as his lieutenant dropped, but the report was of consequence, and it was no use dying beside his officer. So he rode on with the detail.

When the woman knelt by his side, and Marjorie raised his head, the lieutenant opened his eyes.

"Don't tell him that I knew he was there," he said. "It might be unpleasant for him." He struggled with the faintness that came upon him. "It was a pleasant interlude," he added weakly, "but it is over now."

If they had told the man in the gray uniform it would not have been news. St. Louis Star.

QUAINT OLD CURACAO.

Scene of Many a Bloody Battle of the Olden Times.

Curacao, in the West Indies, is a Dutch colony, and the quaintest little island in the world. It is not bigger than the District of Columbia, but has about 40,000 inhabitants and has played an important part in the history of America. It has belonged at different times to England, Spain and Holland, and its cozy harbor has been the scene of many a bloody battle between the navies of the old world, as well as between the pirates and buccaneers that infested the Caribbean sea for two centuries. It has been for 100 years and still is an asylum for political fugitives, and many of the revolutions that rack and wreck the republics on the Spanish main are hatched under the shelter of the pretentious but harmless fortresses that guard this port. Bolivar, Santa Ana and many other famous men in Spanish-American history have lived there in exile, and until recently there was an imposing castle upon one of the hills, called Bolivar's tower. There the founder of five republics lived in banishment for several years and waited for rescue.

The houses are built in the Dutch style, exactly like those in Holland; the streets are so narrow that the people can almost shake hands through their windows with the neighbors across the way, and the walls are as thick as would be needed for a fortress. The Dutch governor lives in the solemn-looking old mansion fronting the Skattegat, or lagoon, that forms the harbor, guarded by a company of stupid-looking soldiers with a few old-fashioned cannons. The commerce of the island is of phosphates, and the government receives a revenue of $500,000 from companies that ship them away.

There is not a spring or well, or any fresh water, and the inhabitants are entirely dependent upon rain water for existence, or upon supplies brought in barrels by schooners from the Venezulean coast, ninety miles away, or upon distilled sea water. As sometimes it doesn't rain for a year or two the natural supply is worth as much as the same amount of wine or beer.

This Meteor Fell Hard.

Imbedded deep in the soil of Hiram Davis' farm near Storm's Station, Ohio, lies the remarkable meteor whose appearance was noted at Bainbridge, Washington Court House, Waverly, Jackson and many other places. That the meteor is an immense one is proved by the fact that is ploughed up nearly two acres of ground where it struck the earth, and the entrance to the cave it tunnelled out for itself is bigger around than a washtub.

It was just at noon recently that the meteor entered the atmosphere, and the fiery trail it left behind it through the heavens as it fell was seen by many persons all over this portion of the state. The noise of its rushing through the air was so great that the houses were shaken and windows rattled as far away as Cynthiana, Pike County.

It fell in a field belonging to Hiram Davis, near Storm's Station. Apparently it had not caught the rotary motion of the earth in its fall through the atmosphere, and for 200 yards or more it ploughed along the surface. Then it buried itself deep into the ground, leaving only the entrance to the hole, over four feet in diameter, behind it. Large crowds of people have visited the place since the meteor fell, and an effort will be made to dig it up.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, July 21, 1898.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. A. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—C. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F, JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices,
JAMES R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor,
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer.
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chancellor N. E. Chancery Division,
R. B. KELLEY,
of Calhoun.

For Judge 7th Judicial Circuit,
GEORGE E. BREWER,
of Talladega.

Only ten day until the election. Don't fail to cast your ballot for Hon. E. S. Lyman.

The Marion Standard of last week copied a piece of poetry written for the NEWS, entitled, "Is Life Werth the Living?" and published in our issue of June 16th, without giving us credit.

PROGRAMME

FOR THE EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF SHELBY COUNTY S.S. ASSOCIATION, AT CHAPEL M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH, AUG. 5-6, 1898.

FRIDAY, AUG. 5, 1898.

10 A. M., Convention called to order. Devotional exercises by Rev. A. E. Burns. 1 Kings 17:1-16, God's power.

10:20, Address of Welcome by Rev. J. C. Francis.

10:30, Organization, enrollment and appointment of committees.

11:00, Study of last Sunday's lesson, by J. F. Averyt and J. R. White.

11:30, Reports from Sunday-schools.

2 P. M., Devotional exercises, Rev. W I. Sinnott. 1 Kings 18:30, 31—"The only true God."

2:30, Teachers' meeting, Rev. P. L. Abernethy and Rev. L. F. Goodwin.

3:00, Home Department, Judge Joseph Carthel.

3:30, Worship in the Sunday-school, the importance of, and how to conduct the singing. Rev. S. N. Burns and W. H. Kidd.

4:00, Reports of committees.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6TH.

10 A. M., Song service, I. D. Mason. Devotional exercises, Rev. F. A. Vann. 1 Kings 19:1 16, "God's way."

10:30, How shall next Sunday's lessons be taught? Adults, D. R. McMillan; Primary, Miss Minnie Allen.

2 P. M., Praver service. Rev. T. M. Wilson, J. H. Nabors. 1 Kings 21:4-16, "God forgotten."

2:30, Review of Second Quarter's lessons. E. T. Witherby.

3:00, What can be done for our county? Rev. R. Kidd, E. C. Stocum, and T. A. Houston.

3:30, What have I gained by this convention?

4:00, Adjournment.

It is earnestly desired that each Sunday-school in the county send at least three delegates. Chapel community is noted for its hospitality, and all who have an interest in the Sunday-school work are cordially invited to be present.

All delegates are requested to report at the church where the Committee on Entertainment will assign them homes.

Those expecting to go by railroad will notify by mail Rev. J. C. Francis, G. W. Nivens or Ernest Huston, Wilsonville, Ala.

J. F. AVERYT,
Chm'n. Ex. Com.

The following is an extract from a letter received from one of the Montevallo boys now in camp at Miami, Fla. The letter was written to Mr. George B. Monroe, at Aldrich:

MIAMI, FLA., July 14, 1898.

DEAR FRIEND:

I expect you will be somewhat surprised to hear from me so far away in the "Land of Flowers."

Miami is a beautiful town of about 1,200 inhabitahts, mostly Northern people. It is owned principally by General Flagler, who is worth several millions of dollars. Tropical fruits of all kinds grow here, such as cocoanuts, mangoes, sapodilloes, pineapples, etc., and fish can be caught here by the thousands in Miami river and Biscayne bay.

Our camp was already cleared up and well supplied with water and sewer pipes, so you see we are living in regular city style.

All of the boys seem delighted with their new accommodations. Your boys—Nabors, Gentry, Fancher and Cary are all enjoying fine health, and have learned to drill nicely.

Our company carries the regimental flags. R. E. H.

Subscribe for the News.

Win your battles against disease by acting promptly. One Minute Cough Cure produces immediate results. When taken early it prevents consumption. And in later stages it furnishes prompt relief. F. F. Crowe & Co.

MAPLESVILLE.

Maplesville is on a boom—another store will be opened in a few days.

Messrs. J. W. Graham and J. A. DuBose are now at Miami, Fla., with the First Alabama regiment.

U. C. Graham, who has been attending Massey's Business College for the past few months, has rerurned and is now in business with T. U. Crumpton.

A young couple went out for a buggy ride Monday evening, going so far until thay became aware that they were lost. Guess they were absorbed in thought.

Captain R A. Bearden is preparing for war. He will command the Maplesville Greys with the assistance of Licutenant Ensley Cooper.

Crump went to see the girls last night and reports having a stiff arm this morning. Wonder why?

Miss Lillie Savage spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. John Foshee.

Master Sam Latham has accepted a position with Dr. A. S. Woolley.

James Millstead, of Tuscaloosa, was in town Monday.

Clyde went to see his best girl Sunday, and reports having a nice time.

With the help of Mr. D. C. Savage, our Sunday-school and prayermeeting are improving to some extent.

Crump is such a champion eater he was charged extra for his dinner at the restaurant not long since.

The many friends of Miss Gertrude Woolley, the lovely and accomplished daughter of Dr. A. S. Woolley, are glad to welcome her home after a visit of several weeks to her sister at Anniston.

UNCLE TIGE.

"I think DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the finest preparation on the market for piles." So writes John C. Dunn, of Wheeling, W. Va. Try it and you will think the same. It also cures eczema and all skin diseases. F. F. Crowe & Co.

ELECTION MANAGERS.

List of Inspectors and Returning Officers for the August Election

The following are the inspectors and returning officers appointed for the August election in this county. In all instances except the first two, two of the inspectors are Democrats. In Beat 1 the second-named inspector in both boxes are Republicans. Except at Columbiana box the returning officers are Democrats;

Beat 1, Box 1—Wm. G. Parker, W. W. Albright, B. L. Moore, inspectors; Sheriff, returning officer.

Beat 1, Box 2—Jas. H. Cross, F. B. Finch. Wm. E. Seale, inspectors; Sam J. Harrell, returning officer.

Beat 2—George Garnett, Dave Merrell, W. P. Lovett, inspectors; C. C. Carden, returning officer.

Beat 3—W. H. H. Whatley, John Ingram, Wiley J. Nelson, inspectors; C. H. Field, returning officer.

Beat 4, Box 1—Jno. M. Fancher, A. J. Gentry, C. N. Pritchard, inspectors; R. T. Newton, returning officer.

Beat 4, Box 2—John Striplin, Sam Lawley, J. D. Trammell, inspectors; S. A. Bailey, returning officer.

Beat 5—Robert Atchison, James L. Harmon, James R. Bunn, inspectors; John Waddell, returning officer.

Beat 6—W. D. Lacey, L. N. Roy, J. L. Tucker, inspectors; Lon Lambert, returning officer.

Beat 7—C. P. McLane, H. C. Fulton, M. S. Wilson, inspectors; C. E. Hale returning officer.

Beat 8—N. M. Davis, Andrew Jackson, G. W. Dye, inspectors; E. S. Martin, returning officer.

Beat 9—John F. Hill, J. W. Millstead, Irwin Wingard, inspectors; George W. Taylor, returning officer.

Beat 10, Box 1—B. S. Rowe, W. E Miilender, M. M. Robertson, inspectors; Wm. Bradley, returning officer.

Beat 10, Box 2—S. K. Cross, Henry Cosper, Geo. W. Wallis, jr., inspectors; C. A. Glaze, returning officer.

Beat 11—J. E. Adams, J. S. Walton Harmon Archer, inspectors; W. A. Wilder, returning officer.

Beat 12—A. J. E. Cross, J. M. Allen, Tom Cross, inspectors; E. B. Jones, returning officer.

Beat 13—S. R. Krider, W. N. Lee, A. J. Deshazo, inspectors; C. A. Bass returning officer.

Beat 14—J. P. Kinnnett, S. H. Collins, Wm. Weldon, inspectors; R. E Collins, returning officer.

Beat 15—John W. Moore, R. M. Hollis, John R. Dyke, inspectors; Joel Falkner, returning officer.

Beat 16—E. C. Lide, J. E. Elliott, H. D. Adams, inspectors; Robt. Taylor, returning officer.

Beat 17—W. C. Denson, W. J. Dennis, Wm. Pledger, inspectors; Paul Nabors, returning officer.

Beat 18—M. M. Taylor, B. B. Campbell, John Morgan, inspectors; J. T. Davis, returning officer.

The editor of the Evans City, Pa., Globe writes: "One Minute Cough Cure is rightly named. It cured my children after all other remedies failed." It cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

DR. J. P. HALEY,
DENTIST,
Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, August 1st, 1898.

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,
EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's
Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address
C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

A nice guitar for sale cheap at J.W. Martin's jewelry store.

Another very heavy rain fell here last Sunday afternoon.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Mr. James A. Fancher, of Belle Ellen, was in the city Sunday.

Mr. Burgess Little spent last Sunpay with his parents at Blocton.

Banks Bros. now have on hand about 150,000 brick, ready to burn.

Try a bottle of V.V. V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

Mr. James Lann, of Jasper, Ala., was in the city on business Saturday.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

When you are very warm and thirsty, go to Crowe's and get a glass of ice cold soda water.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Messrs. Adams and Davidson are off on a vacation Don't cry, girls; they are gone, but not forever.

The jug peddler paid our town a visit last week, but to our sorrow the jugs were all empty.

If you have lost a BOW, remember the church is no place to go to look or it. Catch on?

We will give twelve months subscription to the News for one bushel of wheat.

Mrs. W. A. Harvey, of Blocton, visited her sister, Mrs. F. F. Crowe. the first of the week.

Mrs. W. B. Reynolds has returned home after a month's visit to her parents at Faunsdale.

Mr. Abb Fancher has capped the stack, but one of his old girls says the cap is set for another.

Mr. Harvey Cottingham, of Burnsville, Ala., visited the family of Mr. J. D. Farrington Sunday.

We call especial attention to the advertisement of Dr. Haley, dentist, to be found in another column.

Prof. J. E. Ruffin was shaking hands with his many Montevallo friends yesterday. All were glad to see him.

Mr. Isham Arnold was in town with watermelons Monday, and kindly remembered the News office. Thanks.

Mr. J. N. Campbell, of Blocton, passed through Montevallo Tuesday, enroute to Atlanta to attend the C. V. Reunion.

Meroney & Co. are receiving a lot of fine up-to-date goods, and don't you forget that Charley Meroney will keep in the swim.

We were in error last week in stating that Mr. C. C. Vandegrift was visiting Birmingham and Branchville. It is Mrs. Vandegrift.

The many friends of Miss Lucile Fancher gladly welcome her return from Clanton, where she has been on a visit of several days.

That ice cream Abb Fancher missed the other night makes the editor hot and thirsty to think of. Never mind, Abb, you'll get over it.

Several of the young ladies paid the new brick yard a visit last week to see them make pressed brick, and to see—the workman, of course.

Quite a number of drummers were in town last week. Montevallo is an important point; she needs a wholesale grocery house at home.

Dr. J. D Trammell, of Gurnee, was in town Monday, and gave us a pleasant call. He left a "wheel" with the editor for a year's subscription.

Mr. John H. Draper and wife left last Friday for Centreville, where Mr. Draper will assist in the erection of H. C. & W. B. Reynolds' new store.

Mr. N. T. Eddings was in town Monday, and left a reminder with the editor for the News. Mr. Eddings is one of Shelby's most successful farmers.

Mr. John McMath left Sunday for Talladega Springs, where he will recuperate for a short while. Wonder if he will visit the Magic City before he returns?

Box Car Billie (W. W.) the noted tourist, was in town one night last week, and he attended services at the Baptist church. He was looking well, but somewhat sunburned.

WANTED.—Two mules four feet six inches high, weighing about 850 pounds, from five to seven years old. Will buy or trade for larger mules. Address G. F. Peter, Maylene, Ala.

Mr. Will Harrison left Tuesday for Centreville, where he will open up a livery, feed and sale stable. His many friends wish him much success.

Some of our boys are good singers, for thus they sing:

I've a secret in my note, Sweet Marie.
And a boy will bring it, love, to thee;
'Tis only won't you—kee, hee, hee!
Go to—lone Mi-Mi wid me?

Thousands of persons have been cured of piles by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It heals promptly and cures eczema and all skin diseases. It gives immediate relief. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Rev. P. L. Abernethy requests us to ask all of the young people to meet at the Methodist church to-morrow (Friday) night, for the purpose of organizing an Epworth League.

Miss Maria Hawkins, of Elyton, who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. French Nabors, was very ill Tuesday night and yesterday, but we are glad to hear that she is better this morning.

Miss Virgie Boseman, of Jones' Switch, Ala., a pupil of the Girls' Industrial School last session, will be, we are proud to learn, President Reynolds' private secretary next session.

Bob Moore, of LaFayette, Ind., says that for constipation he has found DeWitt's Little Early Risers to be perfect. They never gripe. Try them for stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Messrs. A. H. Plumb, of Emporia, Kan., son of Senator Plumb, and Lyman O. Pelley, of Omaha, Neb., passed through town Sunday enroute to Maylene. These gentlemen are closing up the business of the old Brierfield company.

E. C. Blanks, of Lewisville, Texas, writes that one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was worth $50,000 to him. It cured his piles of ten years standing. He advises others to try it. It also cures eczema, skin diseases and obstinate sores. F. F. Crowe & Co.

We regret to learn that Major Alex. A. Wall, the clever proprietor of the St. George hotel, will return to Oakman, Ala., the first of September. Major Wall has made many friends during his short residence in our town, who wish him unbounded success where'er his lot may be cast.

Dr. Lipscomb, pastor of the First Baptist church of Eufaula, assisted Rev. M. P. Reynolds in conducting the meeting at the Baptist church last week. The doctor preached eloquent and forcible sermons at every service, and while there were no conversions, still, a great deal of good was done, and people resolved to do better.

Morgan Bros. are receiving the largest stock of goods ever brought to Montevallo, and at such prices that will sell them in a hurry. You will find it a pleasure to trade with George Morgan, Surge West, George Moore, Nat Nabors or Charley Pritchard. Either of these gentlemen will sell you more goods for the least money in less time, and give you better bargains, than you can get elsewhere. You will find this combination hard to beat. Call and see for yourself.

Sick headache, biliousness, constipation and all liver and stomach troubles can be quickly cured by using those famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They are pleasant to take and never gripe. F. F. Crowe & Co.

DRY VALLEY.

Laying by crops and eating watermelons is the topic of the day.

Kirk Sessions has declined going to Cuba, and says he is "going to get married."

Mr. M C. Banks and wife, of Montevallo, visited relatives in the Valley last Sunday.

A protracted meeting will begin at Sessions Chapel next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. J. G. Bryan, of Montevallo, spent last Saturday and Sunday with friends in the Valley.

Mrs. Harriet Butler, who fell from a porch several weeks ago and slightly dislocated her hip joint, is improving.

Rev. T. F. Sessions, who has been visiting home folk in the Valley for several weeks, left on last Saturday for New Mexico, where he has accepted a call to the ministry.

Some of our citizens attended the series of meetings that have been in progress in Montevallo recently, and they express themselves as having enjoyed the good sermons replete with gospel truths, and the good music rendered by the choir.

The long continued drouth in the spring and early summer blighted the prospects, to some extent, of a harvest next fall; but the refrigerant showers that have been falling recently have replenished vegetation, and our people are very much elated over the prospect of an abundant harvest.

SUBSCRIBER.

ALDRICH.

The mines are working every day.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich reached home Tuesday morning.

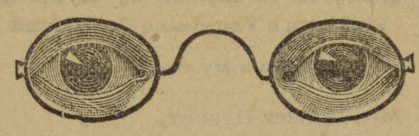
Genial Charley Pritchard was in town Monday shaking hands with his many friends.

Messrs. Jim Fancher, of Belle Ellen, and J. R. Broadhead, of Powderly, were in town Sunday visiting friends

Mrs. A Davis, accompanied by her three children, left on last Saturday for a visit to her mother, who lives near Centreville.

SAM SLICK.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.



H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

For Value Received.

"This is the bill from your oculist, said the collector to Mr. Grimly.

"Just take it back to him and tell him that I can't read it with those glasses he sold me."—Detroit Free Press.

A Philippine Heroine.

One of the Philippine insurgent leaders is a beautiful woman whose life seems to be charmed. She has often rushed bravely into the very teeth of death from guns and cannon, but has never been wounded. Frequently we see people in this country who live so long that their lives seem charmed also, but the only charm about it is that they keep up their strength and vitalize their blood with that celebrated remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

A woman's idea of wrong is something a man does that would be a mistake if she did it.

Salt Rheum

That Terrible Itching, Burning, Smarting, Swelling

Which ruins pleasure, interferes with work, prevents sleep—yields to the blood-purifying effects of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has cured thousands of cases, it will cure yours. Remember that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine.

Hood's Pills easy to take, easy to operate.

New Peril for Firemen.

Electrolysis is said to be attacking the steel framework of the high buildings at Indianapolis, Ind., which are built on the lines of electric surface railroads. Engineering experts, it is stated, are investigating the matter, and will shortly make a report on the subject to the city council. It would thus seem as if a new peril were added to the manifold risks already attendant on the life of a fireman, who, if this is true, may be called upon any day to enter a building, which by electrolytic action has been rendered more liable than ever to collapse and bury all who are fighting a fire within its walls.—Fire and Water.

About Black Diamonds.

Diamonds may be black, as well as white, and some are blue, red, brown, yellow, green, pink and orange, but there is no violet diamond, although in addition to amethyst, there are sapphires, rubies and garnets of that color.

TWO GRATEFUL WOMEN

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Can Do My Own Work."

Mrs. PATRICK DANEHY,
West Winsted, Conn., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It is with pleasure that I write to you of the benefit I have derived from using your wonderful Vegetable Compound. I was very ill, suffered with female weakness and displacement of the womb.

"I could not sleep at night, had to walk the floor, I suffered so with pain in my side and small of my back. Was troubled with bloating, and at times would faint away; had a terrible pain in my heart, a bad taste in my mouth all the time and would vomit; but now, thanks to Mrs. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound, I feel well and sleep well, can do my work without feeling tired; do not bloat or have any trouble whatever.

"I sincerely thank you for the good advice you gave me and for what your medicine has done for me."

"Cannot Praise It Enough."

Miss GERTIE DUNKIN,
Franklin, Neb., writes.

"I suffered for some time with painful and irregular menstruation, falling of the womb and pain in the back. I tried physicians, but found no relief.

"I was at last persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me. I feel like a new person, and would not part with your medicine. I have recommended it to several of my friends."

WIT AND HUMOR.

Up-to-Date Jokes and Witticisms From the Comic Papers.

SUNSET DREAMS.

The artist sees in the sunset glow
The tints that his brush can never know;
And the poet sees in the ruddy flame
The opening blooms of a wreath of fame.
From his cheerless hovel the miser old
Sees in its beams his longed-for gold;
And the maiden sees in the orb of fire
The crowning wreath of her heart's desire—
The golden sprockets and burnished steel
Of the glowing disk of her favorite wheel.

A HAPPY CONDITION.

Mattie: "Were you ever in love?"

Helen: "Yes, with myself."

Mattie: "Well, you never had any rivals to worry about, anyhow."

EXTRA PRECAUTION.

Young Lady: "Oh, I hope the train will not be struck by lightning!"

Passenger: "Don't be afraid. There are two conductors aboard."

A COMPROMISE.

"Is this our train?" said one waiting passenger to another.

"No, it belongs to the company, but we'll take the cars."

BOTH SLOW.

Dr. Jalap.—I hate to speak of it. Mr. Stikkum, but seeing that it is more than a year since I attended you and the bill is still standing, I must say that you are rather slow pay.

Stikkum.—But you must remember it was a slow fever I had.

EASILY SATISFIED.

Willie had done an errand for Uncle Frank and received simply a kind "Thank you."

"Oh, I don't care for any thanks," said Willie. "I'll be satisfied with your jack-knife."

THE BOY GOT A RAISE.

"See here, my boy, you musn't hum at your work."

"Why, sir, you wouldn't check the hum of revised industry, would you!"

THE VICTIM'S REVENGE.

First Doctor—Well, I've lost old Yellowboys!

Second Doctor—You didn't expect him to recover, did you?

First Doctor—No; but I didn't think he'd die.

SHE HAD THE MONEY.

"Say, I thought you said Miss Scaranyellow had money in her own right?"

"Well, that's the hand I've seen her carrying her pocketbook in."

AMBIGUOUS.

Young Wife (proudly): George always says there's no cooking like mine.

Uncle Crusty (with a disdainful smile): Does he? Well, he's about right there, poor chap.

POINTS OF RESEMBLANCE.

"Now, don't say you went off with my umbrella because it had a hook handle just like yours."

"No; I went off with it because it has a silk cover better than mine."

JUST AS BAD.

"Scientists say American people are killing themselves with overwork."

"I don't know; I've broken down my constitution trying to keep out of work."

A COMPLETE RETIREMENT.

"Is your friend out of politics?"

"Out of politics!" echoed Senator Sorghum. "I should say he was. And that isn't the worst of it: He's out of money."

SHE SAT ON HIM.

"Mamie," said the father, who looked as innocent as he could, "I accidentally overheard some of your conversation with that young man in the parlor last evening. Why didn't you sit right down on him when he said you could begin economizing by both using the same chair?"

"I did, papa," and she also looked as innocent as she could.

ALWAYS A KICK.

Banks—I see that somebody has invented a sail which will enable a bicycle to run before the wind at the rate of fifteen miles an hour.

Harper—Gee! Wouldn't that come in handy if somebody could turn in now and invent a contrivance of some kind to make the wind occasionally blow in the direction a person wants to ride?

HE WAS ANXIOUS.

Promoter.—You needn't be a bit afraid; the company is perfectly safe.

The Lamb.—Oh, I've no doubt about the company being safe enough, I was thinking about the safety of my money.

WHAT O' THAT?

"Do you think your sister likes to have me come here, Johnny?"

"You bet. You take her to the theater and bring her chocolates."

"I'm glad I can make her happy."

"Yes, and the feller what she's engaged to don't mind it, either, for it saves him that much money towards housekeeping."

BETTER THAN POETRY.

"Well, poor old Parrington ha struck it rich at last."

"What, Parrington, the poet."

"Yes: he's just made a fortune."

"Wrote a great poem, I s'pose. I always said he had it in him."

"No; he wrote a few fool verses that a friend of his set to music. Now it's the popular song of the day."

IF SHE WERE A MAN.

"Oh," she suddenly exclaimed, "I wish I were a man."

"What would you do?" he asked.

"I'll not say what I would do, but there is one thing I will confess that I wouldn't do."

"And that is—?"

"I wouldn't sit around as if I had handcuffs on when I happened to be alone with a girl."

ENJOYING THE CONTRAST.

Husband.—It seems to me that you come to my office a good deal more than there is any necessity for.

Wife.—I can't help it, dear; your manners in the office are so much nicer than they are at home, that I like to enjoy the contrast.

LAW ABIDING.

"You should always boil your water," said the solicitous friend.

"Yes," replied the man who uses a well in a surface-drainage neighborhood. "And get arrested for cruelty to animals!"

A Sprained Ankle.

A false step, a fall or a sudden wrench is very often the cause of that painful straining of the fibrous tissue commonly known as sprain. The ankle is, as a rule, the victimized member, and many are the tedious hours for which the careless dispenser of orange peel can be held accountable. There are several methods of treating a sprained ankle, one of which is strapping the leg from ankle to knee with adhesive plaster. The plaster is cut in strips about an inch in width and of sufficient length to encircle the leg to within half an inch, the space being left to insure circulation. This treatment can only be applied before the leg begins to swell, therefore within a very short time of the accident. Recovery by means of the ordinary treatment, that of elevating the foot and having resource to hot applications may be greatly accelerated by scientific massage. By proper manipulation the swelling can be reduced and the pain lessened in a very short time. If, however, the service of one who thoroughly understands giving the treatment cannot be obtained, simple rubbing will often give relief. The rubbing must always be up, not down, and the hands of the operator as well as the wounded limb should be made thoroughly antiseptic before any friction is applied, less the secretions of the skin being rubbed into the pores should be reabsorbed and inflammation increased in the strained tissues.—New York Ledger.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

TAPE WORMS

"A tape worm eighteen feet long at least came on the scene after my taking two CASCARETS. This I am sure has caused my bad health for the past three years. I am still taking Cascarets, the only cathartic worthy of notice by sensible people."

GEO. W. BOWLES, Baird, Mass.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 313

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

Bevel-Gear
Columbia Chainless
Bicycles
MAKE HILL CLIMBING EASY.
Columbia
Chain Wheels, $75
Hartfords, . . 50
Vedettes, $40 & 35
$125.
POPE MFG. CO.,
Hartford,
Conn.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-29

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

WORDS OF WISDOM.

What we are is much more to us than what we do.—George Herbert.

Be a whole man at everything; whole man at study, in work, in play.—Joseph Gurney.

I have always been a quarter of an hour before my time and it has made a man of me.—Nelson.

Economy is half the battle of life: it is not so hard to earn money as to spend it well.—Spurgeon.

It is as easy to call back a stone thrown from the hand as to call back the word that is spoken.—Emerson.

A closed heaven represents the blackest misery that humanity is capable of suffering.—Rev. W. S. Cassmore.

It is the vain endeavor to make ourselves what we are not that has strewn history with so many broken purposes and lives left in the rough.—Lowell.

Beware of stumbling over a propensity which easily besets you from not having your time fully employed. Do instantly whatever is to be done and take the hours of recreation after business, never before it.—Sir Walter Scott.

The law of nature is that a certain quantity of work is necessary to produce a certain quantity of good of any kind whatever. If you want knowledge, you must toil for it; if food, you must toil for it; and if pleasure, you must toil for it.—Ruskin.

If a man has no regard for time of other men, why should he have their money? What is the difference between taking a man's hour and taking his $5? There are many men to whom each hour of the business day is worth more than $5.—Horace Greeley.

On the River of Egypt.

"Assouan is the southern frontier of Egypt, the terminus of the lower Nile. And it looks like a terminus. We came to it on a lazy afternoon," writes G. W. Stevens, the well-known African explorer, "too late for coffee, too early for tea. The Nile, which had been lazy, too, began to show signs of a current. We tied up by a bank of yellow sand; in front of us, to the left, was a long line of palms with white houses peeping from behind them—Assouan. Beyond it a lofty rise of rock—at least, it looks lofty in Egypt—met the elevation of a rocky, tree-grown island—Elephantine. Between the two came down the river, still fretting from the Cataract. It narrowed between the two elbows of rock, and turned a corner, so that it looked as if Assouan were not only the end of Egypt, but the end of the Nile.

"'In a quarter of an hour I was in a boat, amid my packages, pulling away up stream for my friend's dahabeah. Lucky are the friends of my friend, and his welcome always gives you to believe he came to this particular corner expressly to meet you. Now I was to live a couple of nights aboard his dahabeah. I had seen the sort of comfort in which he sends you up the Nile in a party; now for the luxury when he gives you a dahabeah to yourself.

"The six leather-skinned rowers took hold of their clumsy oars, one hand like a cap over the butt; swung them out by the loop-of-rope rowlocks, and bent forward. As the oars took the water a seventh leather-skinned, squatting idly in the bows, suddenly set up a nasal wail. I knew it at once—Arab singing; but to my horror the whole crew joined in full-throated. For half a dozen strokes they howled, and then set up one strident staccato 'a-a-ah!' which is the cry they use in this country to remind shirking camels and donkeys of their duty. Then for another six strokes they howled; then a-a-ah-d again to keep themselves up to their work."—London Mail.

A White City.

There could not possibly be a whiter city than Cadiz, unless it were built of snow. As you near the coast you see in front of you a white mass, which appears to be floating upon the water. The first thought of a foreigner is that he is in sight of an iceberg. —New York Telegram.

Stone in Her Stomach.

From the Gazette, Blandinsville, Ill.

The wife of the Rev. A. R. Adams, pastor of the Bedford Christian Church at Blandinsville, Ill., was for years compelled to live a life of torture from disease. Her case baffled the physicians, but to-day she is alive and well, and tells the story of her recovery as follows:

"About six years ago," said Mrs. Adams, "I weighed about 140 pounds, but my health began to fail and I lost flesh. My food did not agree with me and felt like a stone in my stomach. I began to bloat all over until I thought I had dropsy.

"I had pains and soreness in my left side which extended clear across my back and also into the region of my heart. During these spells a hard ridge would appear in the left side of my stomach and around the left side.

"These attacks left me sore and exhausted. All last summer I was so nervous that the children laughing and playing nearly drove me wild. I suffered also from female troubles and doctored with ten different physicians without receiving any help.

"My Husband Read."

"My husband having read in the newspaper of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, induced me to try them. I began taking them last November but experienced no relief until I had taken six boxes. I am now taking the eleventh box and have been greatly benefited.

"I was also troubled with nervous prostration and numbness of my right arm and hand so that at times I could hardly endure the pain, but that has all passed away. I now have a good appetite and am able to do my own work. Have done more this summer than in the past four years put together. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cured me and I think it my duty to let other sufferers know it."

Hundreds of equally remarkable cases have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Beckford as a Mimic.

Sir Charles Murray is made, in his memoirs, to tell his own story about Beckford, author of the once famous "Vatherk:" Beckford and his daughter possessed extraordinary vocal gifts. The father took it into his head to "practice in a back room, the shrill cry of a peacock." He had noticed that when one peacock screamed "another on the opposite side of the house generally screamed in defiance." At last, believing himself proficient, "he gave his peacock cry," hiding himself behind a tree.

To his great delight the peacock on the opposite side of the lawn screamed defiantly. Immediately after this, which occurred just before breakfast, he came into the breakfast room, saying with triumph to his daughter:

"And Susan, the other peacock answered me."

To his great annoyance, instead of congratulating him on his success, his daughter only burst into a loud fit of laughter. Rather provoked at this, he said:

"Well, I think you might have congratulated me."

And then though still hardly able to speak for laughing, she said:

"Why Papa, I was the peacock that answered."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

It's bad form to drink too much wine at dinner and it's bad taste in the morning.

Piso's Cure is the medicine to break up children's Coughs and Colds.—Mrs. M. G. BLUNT, Sprague, Wash., March 8, 1894.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

America has eight towns named Madrid, three of which are considering the expediency of changing their names to something less pointedly and aggressively Castillian.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

In the town of Chile most shops are open till midnight, and during the hot afternoons, when everybody takes a siesta, they are locked up.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Some men exert themselves more in trying to borrow a dollar than they do to earn one.

About Russian Soldiers.

The wages of a common soldier in Russia are 3 rubles per annum—about $2.25. The rations are, daily, two pounds of suchary, which is a very coarse kind of bread made of cracked rye, baked hard at first, then cut in small pieces and further dried in a hot oven; a small quantity of salt and some soup. The soup is boiled in a huge caldron capable of holding 400 gallons. Into the water is cast some cracked barley, together with the shell dirt, and to this a little salt is added, but nothing of the meat kind enters into the composition. The soup is dealt out by a number of men with dippers, every soldier in his turn receiving his allotted quantity. Sometimes an adventurous fellow presents a larger vessel than the regulations require, and when detected in the effort to get more than his share is punished with 100 lashes on his naked back.—New York Press.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

A successful physician is one who is able to relieve his patients of good fees.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco stands at the top for its delicious aroma. Good as can be made. Try it.

Water pipes are now often made of glass and covered with asphaltum.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

Boston claims to have the longest paved street in the world.

Albert Burch, West Toledo, Ohio, says: "Hall's Catarrh Cure saved my life." Write him for particulars. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Pimples Cured.

All disfiguring pimples are due to diseased blood. Salve or cosmetics will not cure. B. B. B. will cure because it drives out of the blood the poison which creates pimples. One to four bottles are warranted to cure. B. B. B. is purely vegetable. Large bottle $1.00. All druggists. Send for book. Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

The microbe of love usually steers clear of an old bachelor's heart.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The Best Disinfectant.

Exposure to the sunlight is not only one of the best disinfectants known, but in furs, clothing, blankets, carpets, etc., it eradicates all hurtful vermin and germs. It must be direct sunlight and not that passing through glass.

DID YOU KNOW THIS?

At Rock Hill, S. C., there is a buggy factory covering FIVE ACRES of ground, and making more buggies than any three factories in the South. "A Little Higher in Price, But——" not too high—JUST A FRACTION ABOVE THE WESTERN TRASH—so that good wheels, good paint, good leather, &c. can be used. See our agent in your town or write us. We'll see that you get the best at living prices.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.

WE SELL DIRECT TO CONSUMERS.

$3.95

buys this Desk, made of quarter-sawed oak or finished in mahogany, piano-polished. It measures 53 in. high, 20 in. wide, 9 in. beveled mirror. Retail price $10.

Our mammoth general catalogue, the great household educator is mailed free on request. Our Clothing catalogue and Cloth samples is also mailed free. Expressage paid on all Clothing.

Owing to an overproduction at our Baltimore mills, we are offering many specials this month. Our Carpet catalogue in hand-painted colors is yours for the asking. This month we sew Carpets, furnish wadded lining free, and pay freight on all $9 Carpet purchases and over. Address (exactly as below)

CARPETS REDUCED.

Julius Hines & Son

Dept. 301. BALTIMORE, MD.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING

"Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

GIN REPAIRS

SAWS, RIBS, BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c.,

FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.

ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES

And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.

LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO.,

AUGUSTA, GA.

NOT LIKE OTHERS.

ST. ANDREW'S

Cold Tea

For the Liver

Regulates the Liver. For sale by dealers. To get free sample package send 2c. stamp to ANDREWS MFG. CO., Bristol, Tenn.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT,
Tulane University of Louisiana.

Its advantages for practical instruction, both in ample laboratories and abundant hospital materials are unequalled. Free access is given to the great Charity Hospital with 700 beds and 30,000 patients annually. Special instruction is given daily at the beside of the sick. The next session begins October 20th, 1898. For catalogue and information address

Prof. S. E. CHAILLE, M. D., Dean,
P. O. Drawer 261. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

To Women!

After you have tried Doctors and all other preparations, and they have failed to relieve you, then use

GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA.

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

IT WILL CURE YOU.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Sole Manufacturers and Proprietors.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

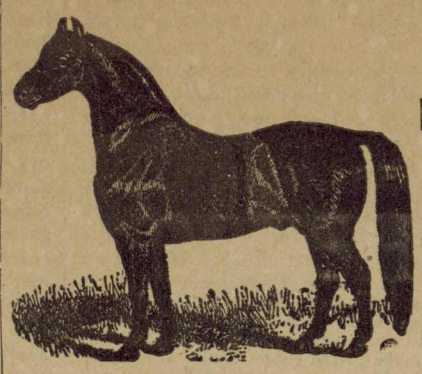
YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

Office at Store. Manager.

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

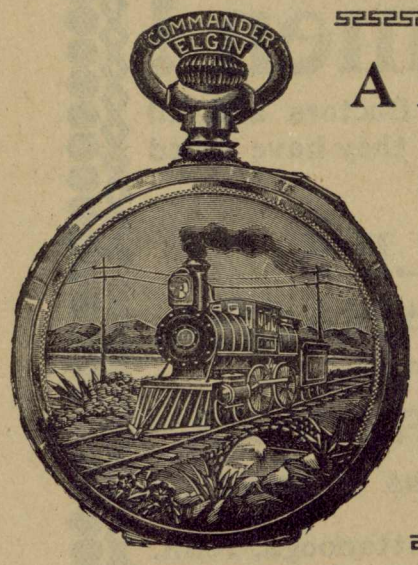
Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.



A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, JULY 28, '98. NO. 29

THE CALL OF THE BUGLES.

The bugle call has sounded; it's "Forward —march!" and then
The shouting of the captains and the charging of the men!
The storming of the ramparts—the victory—the retreat,
And April rains fall crimson on the hills and valleys sweet!

The bugle call has sounded; it's "Forward —march!" and then
Some shall sigh their farewells, and meet no more again.
The flag shall ripple victory, or droop in dread defeat,
And April rains fall crimson on the hills and valleys sweet!

The bugle call has sounded, and forth they fare to fight;
But, 'neath the stars—the flag's red bars, are faces cold and white.
And some shall come in glory; but hearts in vain shall beat
Through long—long years of loneliness, for unreturning feet.

The bugle call has sounded; the storm is in the sky,
And one shall live for Liberty, and one for her shall die,
And farewells fall from trembling lips—from hearts no more to meet,
And the rains of April redden on the hills and valleys sweet.

—Frank L. Stanton.

"Th'ow my knapsack on my back,
My gun on top my shoulder;
I gwine ter march ter ol' Key Wes'
Ter fight dem Spanish sojer."

—F. L. Stanton.

Annual Report of the Girls' Industrial School of Alabama.

Hon. John O. Turner, Superintendent of Education, Montgomery, Alabama:

My Dear Sir—

I herewith respectfully submit for your consideration the following report of the Girls' Industrial School of Alabama:

Number of pupils enrolled, session of 1897-8,	368
Number of pupils in following departments:
Mathematics,	328
English,	346
Pedagogy,	92
Stenography,	65
Typewriting,	74
Telegraphy,	46
Art,	85
Music,	184
Scientific Cooking.	285
Dressmaking,	248
Science,	80
Millinery,	120
Number of Graduates,	33
Number Male Teachers Employed,	1
" Female " "	20
Number Counties Represented.	51
Salaries of President and Teachers,	$11,022 90
Amount Expended in Permanent Improvements,	$11,279 38
State Appropriation Per Annum,	15,000 00
Incidental Fees from Industrial Departments,	$1,838 00
Total Resources of the School this Session,	$16,838 00
Total Appropriation from State to date,	$45,000 00
Value of School Property,	46,279 00

595 pupils have been onrolled during the two sessions of the school.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Since my last report one wing of our new dormitory building has been completed and furnished, and was occupied during the past session by nearly one hundred pupils. It is equipped with steam heat and water works. There has been added to the school building two brick wings, each sixty feet long and twenty-six feet wide, giving us eight new class rooms. We also have a new study hall, which accommodates about three hundred and twenty pupils. With these increased facilities we have been able to accomplish more and better work than heretofore. For lack of means we will not be able to add but little in the way of improvement for the coming session. We greatly need increased appropriations in order that we may finish the dormitory, increase the number of class rooms, and do much other needed work. The outlook for the school is very flattering. The great good it is accomplishing seems to be appreciated by our people. The practical results of the school has been fully demonstrated. The success in every department for the short time it has been in operation has not been surpassed by any school within my knowledge. It is my opinion, judging from the applications already made, we will have as many pupils as we can accommodate during the coming session.

The girls in the dressmaking and millinery departments collected for work done and goods sold during the past session over two thousand dollars. Scarcely any of these had ever earned a dollar previous to their entrance to this school. This did not prevent them from continuing their literary studies.

It has been my earnest endeavor to use the appropriations made to this institution in such a way as to give the greatest benefit direct to the people. With this end in view I have arranged so as to make the sum of $87.00 cover the cost of expenses for the entire session. This covers board, tuition, laundry, fuel, lights, attendance and the free use of all text books in the school. I have visited nearly all schools of similar character throughout the United States, and have not found any whose methods of instructions are better suited to our conditions, and certainly none whose expenses are so low. A handsomely illustrated catalogue displaying the operations of the school is now ready for distribution.

Trusting the above information may be of service to you, and that you will continue to exercise your influence in aiding us to secure appropriations commensurate with the importance of this work, I am, respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

H. C. REYNOLDS,
President.

The Chief Burgess of Millesburg, Pa., says DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills he ever used in his family during forty years of housekeeping. They cure constipation, sick headache and stomach and liver troubles. Small in size but great in results. F. F. Crowe & Co.

NOW THAT

Santiago de Cuba Surrendered!

WE WANT TO

C-U-B-A

Regular Customer at Our Store!

The cheapest place in town to buy

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, ETC.

Give us a call.

MORGAN BROS.

An exchange mentions a case where a merchant in one of the interior towns in South Carolina ordered a lot of canned goods from New York, "and on their arrival he found from the labels that they had been packed by a canning factory in his own town. They had been shipped to New York and freighted back ro the town where they were manufactured." That is a reflection on the merchant, or the establishment which put up the goods. If the latter advertised its business properly, and sold its goods to home merchants on as good terms as to outsiders the former certainly had very little interest in their town if they wouldnt patronize home industry. There are people, however, who would rather send hundreds of miles for a needed article than buy it from a neighbor, and the merchant in question may have belonged to that class.

Subscribe for the News.

ELECTION MANAGERS.

List of Inspectors and Returning Officers for the August Election

The following are the inspectors and returning officers appointed for the August election in this county. In all instances except the first two, two of the inspectors are Democrats. In Beat 1 the second-named inspector in both boxes are Republicans. Except at Columbiana box the returning officers are Democrats;

Beat 1, Box 1—Wm. G. Parker, W. W. Albright, B. L. Moore, inspectors; Sheriff, returning officer.

Beat 1, Box 2—Jas. H. Cross, F. B. Finch. Wm. E. Seale, inspectors; San J. Harrell, returning officer.

Beat 2—George Garnett, Dave Merrell, W. P. Lovett, inspectors; C. C. Carden, returning officer.

Beat 3—W. H. H. Whatley, John Ingram, Wiley J. Nelson, inspectors; C. H. Field, returning officer.

Beat 4, Box 1—Jno. M. Fancher, A. J. Gentry, C. N. Pritchard, inspectors; R. T. Newton, returning officer.

Beat 4, Box 2—John Striplin, Sam Lawley, J. D. Trammell, inspectors; S. A. Bailey, returning officer.

Beat 5—Robert Atchison, James L. Harmon, James R. Bunn, inspectors; John Waddell, returning officer.

Beat 6—W. D. Lacey, L. N. Roy, J. L. Tucker, inspectors; Lon Lambert, returning officer.

Beat 7—C. P. McLane, H. C. Fulton, M. S. Wilson, inspectors; C. E. Hale returning officer.

Beat 8—N. M. Davis, Andrew Jackson, G. W. Dye, inspectors; E. S. Martin, returning officer.

Beat 9—John F. Hill, J. W. Millstead, Irwin Wingard, inspectors; George W. Taylor, returning officer.

Beat 10, Box 1—B. S. Rowe, W. E. Millender, M. M. Robertson, inspectors; Wm. Bradley, returning officer.

Beat 10, Box 2—S. K. Cross, Henry Cosper, Geo. W. Wallis, jr., inspectors; C. A. Glaze, returning officer.

Beat 11—J. E. Adams, J. S. Walton Harmon Archer, inspectors; W. A. Wilder, returning officer.

Beat 12—A. J. E. Cross, J. M. Allen, Tom Cross, inspectors; E. B. Jones, returning officer.

Beat 13—S. R. Krider, W. N. Lee, A. J. Deshazo, inspectors; C. A. Bass, returning officer.

Beat 14—J. P. Kinnett, S. H. Collins, Wm. Weldon, inspectors; R. E. Collins, returning officer.

Beat 15—John W. Moore, R. M. Hollis, John R. Dyke, inspectors; Joel Falkner, returning officer.

Beat 16—E. C. Lide, J. E. Elliott, H. D. Adams, inspectors; Robt. Taylor, returning officer.

Beat 17—W. C. Denson, W. J. Dennis, Wm. Pledger, inspectors; Paul Nabors, returning officer.

Beat 18—M. M. Taylor, B. B. Campbell, John Morgan, inspectors; J. T. Davis, returning officer.

"I think DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the finest preparation on the market for piles." So writes John C. Dunn, of Wheeling, W. Va. Try it and you will think the same. It also cures eczema and all skin diseases. F. F. Crowe & Co.

WANTED.—Two mules four feet six inches high, weighing about 850 pounds, from five to seven years old. Will buy or trade for larger mules. Address G. F. Peter, Maylene, Ala.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

If it is daring the world wants, America can supply it. Daring rarely loses its life. Americans know it.

The showing of our foreign commerce, both in agricultural products and manufactures, is exceedingly gratifying.

Russia is fully alive to the necessity of interoceanic canal communication. She is now preparing to connect the Baltic and Black Seas.

The Kansas City (Mo.) Times says: If this is not a war for revenge why should so many amateur brass bands be sent to Cuba.

The pictures of Ensign Powell, who followed Hobson with the launch, make him look like a Bryn Mawr College girl, but just now it is safer to judge men by their acts than by their looks.

The total output of coal in the United States last year amounted to 198,250,000 short tons, with an aggregate value of $198,100,000. This is an increase of three per cent. over the previous year.

The three big battleships lately authorized by Congress will be named the Maine, the Ohio and the Missouri. It is obviously the purpose of the Navy Department that the Maine shall never be forgotten.

Whenever the United States asks for $200,000,000 at 3 per cent. interest we may be sure that eight or ten times the amount will be offered by our own people. Spain is hawking her 7 per cent. bonds throughout Europe and is glad to get 30 cents on the dollar for them at home or abroad.

Cuba is known in history under several names. The first was Antilla; then Juana, after a Spanish prince; Fernandina came third, followed by Santiago and the Isle of Ave Maria. The original Indian name, Cubanacan, signifying "where gold is found," was finally adopted, and usage shortened it to the first two syllables.

H. W. Collingwood has taken a census of the hens of the United States. He figures out the chickens of the country at 375,000,000, and their product in 1897 at 14,400,000,000 eggs, of a value of $165,000,000, while poultry sales realized $125,000,000 more, making a total value of the hen crop $290,000,000, or more than those of either the wheat or cotton yields.

The managers of the telephone company operating the system at Versailles, France, hold that the expression "Hello!" used in response to a call is impolite. The operators have been instructed to ask the subscriber who rings up the central office: "What do you want?" It is customary among Americans to say "yes." It carries well and it is much more elegant than "Hello."

There are numerous touches of originality surrounding the plans of the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha but none more uniquely clever and characteristic than the composite picture of the womanly beauty of the West, which is to be reproduced on the official medal. Forty-four of the handsomest women of the Western States, illustrating the strongest types of Western womanhood, were selected by competent judges, and the result shows a strong, handsome face.

The increase of German trade with Belgium at the expense of France and Great Britain is yearly becoming more noteworthy. In 1897 Belgium exported to France goods to the value of $71,000,000, while her exports to England amounted to $66,500,000, and to Germany no less than $77,500,000. In the same year Belgium imported from France goods to the value of $74,000,000, from England to the value of $48,250,000, and from Germany to the value of $50,000,000.

The Russian government has assigned $10,000,000 for the purchase of locomotives for the Russian State railways during the current year. A large number of these will have to be ordered abroad, as the Russian works, which are already full up with orders, cannot turn out more than 1,000 per annum at the most. In addition 400 locomotives have been ordered for the Siberian Railway, and 100 more will be ordered this year, while $750,000 is to be spent upon rolling stock on this line.

Kaiser Wilhelm's latest discovery of a weapon for the preservation and extension of his empire is represented in the theatre. The playhouse, he declares, if properly directed along the lines of his creed as to "the divine right of kings," could be made "an immense power in my hands." The Kaiser has manifestly not yet reached the same conclusion regarding the church, since it is less than a fortnight since he arbitrarily limited sermons by all court chaplains to fifteen minutes. The play's the thing wherein to catch the conscience of the king.

During the decade from 1880 to 1890 speeds of 15 to 16 knots were generally accepted as standard speeds for battleships the world over, comments the Engineering News. At the present time speeds of 17 to 19 knots are equally accepted as the standard for battleships by the principal naval powers. Not one of these powers would think at the present time of building first-class battleships for any lower speed. To do so would not only result in a vessel of obsolete type, but would seriously injure the naval prestige of any power.

France, in the persons of the World's Fair authorities, has paid American scientists a marked compliment in asking them for proposals to light the exposition. We do not regard this as a feature of a general appeal for bids, but as a tribute to the superior excellence of American devices for electric illumination. This country has always been ahead of all others in electrical work. It was an American, Franklin, who first brought lightning to harness; another American, Morse, who invented the telegraph, and another who made the telephone what it is. So far as electric lighting goes Europe yields to our facility in providing the ways and means. We do what is needed most cheaply, most thoroughly and with the most variety of method.

There is a growing interest in the subject of physical training in the public schools, particularly in Massachusetts. A pertinent report on the matter, recently presented to the School Board of Brookline by a committee of physicians, criticises present methods as disjointed and incomplete. To be effective, the committee says, physical training should be so ordered that increasing demands should be made upon the strength, intelligence and self-control of the pupils as they pass from the lower to the higher grades of the school system. To this end there should be proper apparatus and competent teachers, such as may be found in most of the European cities of even the second and third class. Elaborately equipped gymnasiums are not essential, as the desired object can be satisfactorily accomplished by placing adjustable apparatus in the large assembly halls which which it is customary to supply all school buildings.

What Gems Will Do.

Special properties have always been assigned to gems and one old writer gravely states that an amulet of sapphires will expel gout or ague and endow the wearer with courage; one of emeralds strengthens the eyes and helps a man to wealth; the agate gives eloquence and procures the favor of princes; chalcedony makes the wearer lucky in law and is of force against the evils arising from melancholy; topaz will restore the insane to reason; coral neutralizes the spell of witches, especially of those black and midnight hags who delight in pinching sleeping babies in their cradles. This explains why, even to this day, coral chains and pins are bought for infants.—New York Journal.

More Timber Than Gold.

The value of all the gold, silver, copper, iron, coal and lead mined every year in America is exceeded by the products of the forests. Even the combined wheat and cotton crop is less in value than the forest product.

Evidence Produced.

"Prisoner," said the court, "you have been arrested as a suspicious character. You appear to have no visible means of support." Then his wife stepped forth and held up her hands, after which there was nothing to do but to discharge him.—Chicago News.

What will Become of China?

None can foresee the outcome of the quarrel between foreign powers over the division of China. It is interesting to watch the going to pieces of this ancient but unprogressive race. Many people in America are also going to pieces because of dyspepsia, constipation, blood, liver and stomach diseases. We are living too fast, but strength, vigor and good health can be retained if we keep off and cure the above diseases with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

In a recent book on China the author says that Chinese burglars are difficult to catch, as they oil their bodies all over and twist their pigtails into bunches stuck full of needles.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

The only soap which the Hindoos of the orthodox type employ is made entirely of vegetable products. But soap is little used in India, being almost an unknown luxury with the natives.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Over 400 diamonds are known to have been recovered from the ruins of Babylon.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

The total number of United States vessels encircling Cuba is 77.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

The Victoria cross carries with it a pension of $250 a year for life.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco is the "best of the best." 2 ounces and cigarette book for 10 cents. Try it.

Swallows have been met at sea more than 1,000 miles from land.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Savages, on the whole, live longer than civilized people.

You Can Get Tired

By working hard, and then you can get rested again. But if you are tired all the time it means that your blood is poor. You need to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great cure for that tired feeling because it is the great enricher and vitalizer of the blood. You will find appetite, nerve, mental and digestive strength in

Hood's Sarsaparilla

America's Greatest Medicine.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, indigestion. 25c.

PIMPLES

"My wife had pimples on her face, but she has been taking CASCARETS and they have all disappeared. I had been troubled with constipation for some time, but after taking the first Cascaret I have had no trouble with this ailment. We cannot speak too highly of Cascarets." FRED WARTMAN, 5708 Germantown Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets TRADE MARK REGISTERED REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 314

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING "Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

An Optical "Delusion."

"Paw, ean you see farther with a telescope than with the naked eye?" "Of course you can, Johnny." "How can that be when it brings everything nearer?"—Chicago Tribune.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

In Costa Rica canary birds, bullfinches and paroquets are special table dainties.

After six years' suffering I was cured by Piso's Cure.—MARY THOMSON, 2½ Ohio Ave., Alleghany, Pa., March 19, 1894.

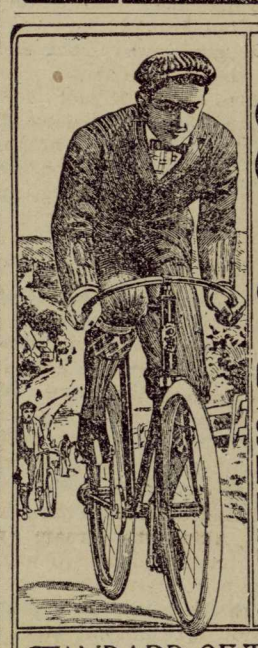
W. H. Griffin, Jackson, Michigan, writes: "Suffered with Catarrh for fifteen years. Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

WHEN a man asserts that he is just as good as anybody else, do you think he really believes it?" "Certainly not. He believes he is better."—Indianapolis Journal.

DO YOU PAY BIG PROFITS?

Yes, you do when you buy a "cheap-john," "clap-trap," "riff-raff," "make-shift" article when you can as easily get the best at a very slight advance. We make buggies—good buggies—best buggies—NOTHING BUT BUGGIES—thousands of them a year, and they are sold nearly as cheap as those THROWN TOGETHER. See our agent in your town or write. You shall be treated right.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.



THE COLUMBIA CHAINLESS MAKES HILL CLIMBING EASY

COLUMBIAS ARE STANDARD FOR CHAIN MACHINES.

HARTFORDS Next Best.

Other Models at Low Prices. Catalogue Free.

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

POPE MFG CO. HARTFORD, CONN.

ART CATALOGUE OF COLUMBIA BICYCLES BY MAIL TO ANY ADDRESS FOR ONE TWO CENT STAMP.

GROVES

TASTELESS CHILL TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS.

WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.

Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,

ABNEY, CARR & CO.

OPIUM Habit. Only guaranteed painless home cure. No interference with work. No publicity. Sample free. DR. PURDY, Dept. H, Houston, Texas.

LIVING ON MONKEY MEAT.

A Story Told by an American of Six Months in Oaxaca.

Living in Mexico is often a disastrous experience to the foreigner who is not acquainted with localities and customs. In the case of John Bascon and his companion, an Englishman, named Martin Hayes, their experience was such, but it was also interesting. In conversation with Mr. Bascon that gentleman stated the following to a reporter:

"Not long ago I came up from Guatemala with an Englishman named Martin Hayes, and we had three burros laden with goods. We prospected all along the line to Tonelado, and stopped one week with an Indian at Tehuantepec. While there we learned that in the district up to Tonelado there was plenty of gold, as another Englishman had passed through there with $8,000 which he had panned out at a certain point somewhere in the region of San Pablo, in Oaxaca. We traced the gold along the streams for sixty miles, and reached as far as San Miguel. We were very hungry by this time, having run short of provisions, and, going across the mountains, were told that we should be careful as banditti were numerous. Soon after two men met us not far from San Miguel, and they both had rifles. They ordered us to halt, but I pulled a revolver and took their guns away from them and marched them on in front of us. When we arrived at San Miguel one of them entered a complain before the Jese Politico charging us with holding them up, but the Jese knew the men too well to listen to their story, and the result is one of them is still in jail at that place.

"When we left San Miguel we secured a mozo to guide us to where the Englishman referred to found his gold, but when we got there the mozo would not stay, as it was known the Englishman had returned and died there. We found his skeleton, with the legs and arms eaten off, and the mozo, being fearful he would see the ghost of the dead, left us to ourselves. We went across a river and camped in the adjacent woods. Along the stream we prospected for gold, and in two weeks we found gold which went about twenty-five cents to the pan. We remained there about six months, and all that time we lived on monkey meat and green bananas, and both too, without salt. Just think of it! Nothing but monkeys, and occasionally a fowl or two, and not a tortilla or common hot cake. Well sir, my partner, Martin Hayes, of London, England, died four months after from the privations suffered during that time, and I don't suppose his wife and family ever heard of it. But we got some gold all right, and monkey meat would have been good enough for me if we had only had some salt."

Philadelphia Dog Ambulance.

An ambulance built especially for dogs and small animals, and the only one of its kind in the world, has just been put in use in the veterinary department of the University of Pennsylvania. The exterior of the palace car dog wagon is decorated with a vignette of a grand-looking St. Bernard and the inside is covered with removable antiseptic pads to guard against contagious diseases.

In order to avoid belligerent encounters between the injured four-footed patients of this traveling hospital it has been provided with movable slides so that the interior can be divided into various sized compartments. It contains also cages attached to the top and sides for pet birds and poultry. The plans for the ambulance were drawn by Dr. John W. Adams and they called for the best of material and the springs provided reduce all jarrings to a minimum.—New York Mail and Express.

According to the reports of a Canadian traveller who has lived two years in the far Northwest, there are still in that country, near Peace River, at least four herds of buffalo, numbering two thousand in all.

A Wonderful Clock.

In one of the town halls in a Japanese treaty port there is a remarkable time-piece. It is contained in a handsome frame, three feet wide and five feet long. It represents a noonday landscape, very cleverly carried out. In the foreground plum and cherry trees appear in bloom, while in the rear a hill is to be seen, from which flows a pretty cascade, imitated in crystal. From this cascade flows a tiny stream, which wends its way between rocks and islands and finaly loses itself in a stretch of woodland. In a miniature sky a golden sun turns on a silver wire, striking the hours on a silver gong as it passes. Each hour is marked by a creeping tortoise. A bird of rich plumage warbles at the close of the hour, and, as the warbling ceases, a mouse suddenly makes its appearance, and, scampering over the hill to the garden, is soon lost to view Altogether it is certainly a wonderful piece of mechanism.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Portraits of Harvard Law School.

After acting and persistent efforts, covering a period of about fifteen years Mr. John H. Arnold, the librarian of the Harvard Law School, has practically completed a very fine collection of portraits of English and American jurists. All of thee portraits, of which by far the larger number are engravings, have been classified and hung on the walls of the lecture rooms in Austin Hall. This collection is held to be the most extensive and valuable in America, and is said to be superior to any public collection in England. With the exception of a very few of the portraits, which have been given, they have all been purchased from the Law School funds, and many of them have been personally selected by Mr. Arnold in America and England.—The Boston Transcript.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Of the population of Spain more than 50,000 are gypsies.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

NERVOUS DEPRESSION.

[A TALK WITH MRS. PINKHAM.]

A woman with the blues is a very uncomfortable person. She is illogical, unhappy and frequently hysterical.

The condition of the mind known as "the blues," nearly always, with women, results from diseased organs of generation.

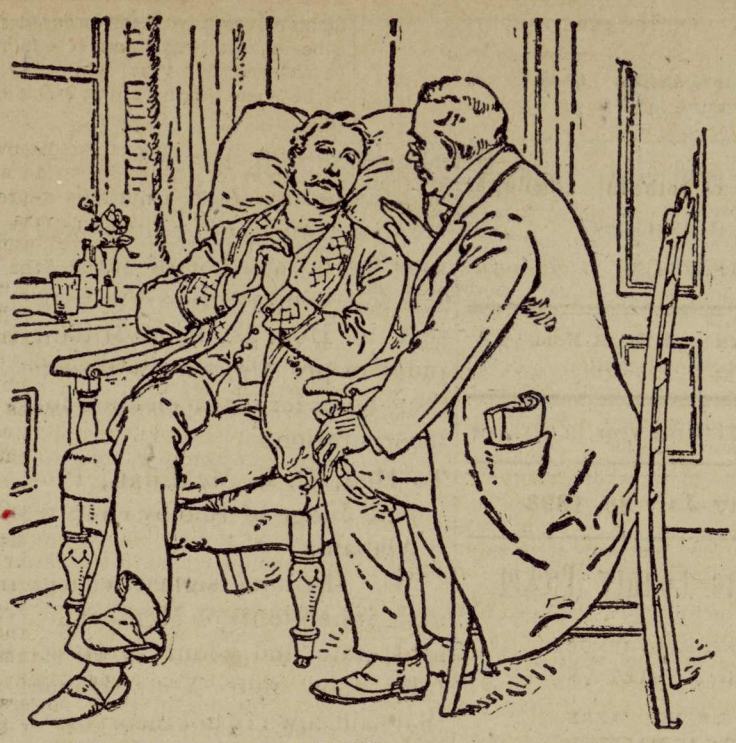
It is a source of wonder that in this age of advanced medical science, any person should still believe that mere force of will and determination will overcome depressed spirits and nervousness in women. These troubles are indications of disease.

Every woman who doesn't understand her condition should write to Lynn, Mass., to Mrs. Pinkham for her advice. Her advice is thorough common sense, and is the counsel of a learned woman of great experience. Read the story of Mrs. F. S. BENNETT, Westphalia, Kansas, as told in the following letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered for over two years with falling, enlargement and ulceration of the womb, and this spring, being in such a weakened condition, caused me to flow for nearly six months. Some time ago, urged by friends, I wrote to you for advice. After using the treatment which you advised for a short time, that terrible flow stopped.

"I am now gaining strength and flesh, and have better health than I have had for the past ten years. I wish to say to all distressed, suffering women, do not suffer longer, when there is one so kind and willing to aid you."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's remedy for woman's ills. More than a million women have been benefited by it.



"Doctor, what is free alkali?"

"The alkali used in the manufacture of soap is a strong chemical and is destructive of animal and vegetable tissue.

"Pure soap is harmless, but when the soap is carelessly or dishonestly made, alkali is left in it and it is then said to be 'free.' Soap containing free alkali should not be used where it may do damage.

"In the medical profession, in sickness, in surgery and in the hospitals we use Ivory Soap because it is pure and contains no free alkali.

"Ivory Soap is a powerful antiseptic, it is healing to a diseased surface and stimulating to a healthy skin."

IVORY SOAP IS 99 44/100 PER CENT. PURE.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

GERSTLE'S
Female Panacea

Cures All Diseases of Women.

MANY women are under the impression that the diseases peculiar to their sex are natural and incurable because so many suffer constantly from them. This is a mistake. Few women are so badly diseased that they cannot be cured. It is true, that had they taken a remedy that was efficient when the first symptoms of disease appeared, a more rapid cure would have been the result. No woman should neglect herself. When the monthly period becomes too frequent, painful, profuse, obstructed, or irregular in any way, or if she suffers from falling of the womb, whites, or any other female trouble, she should at once resort to the use of

Gerstle's Female Panacea

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

Which is absolutely the best female remedy ever offered her. Even if she has been negligent and allowed disease to fasten itself upon her she should not despair of being cured. This medicine is a purely vegetable tonic, containing those ingredients intended by nature as a remedy for suffering women. It matters not if other remedies have been tried and proven failures—Gerstle's Female Panacea will not fail. If there is any tendency to costiveness, indigestion or biliousness, move the bowels gently with a few mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. If your druggist does not keep these medicines write us and we will send them to you, all charges paid, upon receipt of price. Panacea, $1.00 per Bottle. Liver Regulator, 25c per Package.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.

EDUCATIONAL.

VIRGINIA BUSINESS COLLEGE.
Commercial, Shorthand, Typewriting, English. $50 tuition admits to all departments for session of forty-two weeks. Open to both sexes. Graduates assisted to positions. Eleventh session begins September 6th. Catalogue free. B. A. DAVIS, JR., President, Box B, Richmond, Va.

Educate for a Situation

We educate you, and then secure a good position for you, besides paying your railroad fare. Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Telegraphy.

Massey's
BUSINESS COLLEGE,
COLUMBUS, GA.
Send at once for Catalogue No.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT,
Tulane University of Louisiana.
Its advantages for practical instruction, both in ample laboratories and abundant hospital materials are unequalled. Free access is given to the great Charity Hospital with 700 beds and 30,000 patients annually. Special instruction is given daily at the beside of the sick. The next session begins October 20th, 1898. For catalogue and information address
Prof. S. E. CHAILLE, M. D., Dean,
P. O. Drawer 261. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CALIFORNIA small or large guaranteed investments, withdrawable any time, paying large dividends. "Alina Colony," 220 Cal. St., San Francisco.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-30

GIN REPAIRS
SAWS, RIBS,
BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c.,
FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.
ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES
And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.
LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

St. Andrews Cold Tea
FOR THE LIVER
Cures Sick Headache, Biliousness. For sale by dealers. To get free sample package send 2c. stamp to
ANDREWS MFG. CO.,
BRISTOL, TENN.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS.
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, July 28, 1898.

Democratic County Ticket.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE,
D. R. McMILLAN.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK,
W. R. A. MILNER.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION,
DR. C. C. OLIVER.

FOR COMMISSIONERS,
2nd District—R. J. Griffin.
4th District—C. F. Elliott.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
E. S. LYMAN.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
JOSEPH F, JOHNSTON,
of Jefferson.

Chief Justice,
THOS. McCLELLAN,
of Limestone.

Associate Justices,
JAMES R. DOWDELL,
of Chambers.

JOHN R. TYSON,
of Montgomery.

JOHN HARALSON,
of Dallas.

H. A. SHARP,
of Jefferson.

For Secretary of State,
R. P. McDAVID,
of Montgomery.

For Auditor,
WALTER S. WHITE,
of Colbert.

For Treasurer.
GEORGE W. ELLIS,
of Montgomery.

For Attorney-General,
CHARLES G. BROWN,
of Jefferson.

For Superintendent of Education,
JOHN G. ABERCROMBIE,
of Calhoun.

For Commissioner of Agriculture,
I. F. CULVER,
of Bullock.

For Chancellor N. E. Chancery Division,
R. B. KELLEY,
of Calhoun.

For Judge 7th Judicial Circuit,
GEORGE E. BREWER,
of Talladega.

W. F. Aldrich and A. P. Longshore spoke to a small crowd in Reynolds' new store Monday. We can't hear of any good being accomplished.

Don't fail to go to the polls next Monday and do your full duty. Be sure to vote the straight Democratic ticket, from governor down to commissioner.

INCORPORATION.

We have been working and using our ihfluence for several months to have our town incorporated, and our efforts will soon be crowned with success. The following petition has been sent to Hon. D. R. McMillan, judge of probate, who will soon issue an order for an election for incorporation:

To Hon. D. R. McMillan, Probate Judge of Shelby couuty, Alabama:

We, the undersigned adult male inhabitants of Montevallo, said state and county, respectfully show unto Your Honor that said town is not incorporated, and has a population of not less than one hundred, nor more than three thousand; wherefore petitioners pray that said town may be incorporated as is provided by the statutes of Alabama, and that the boundaries thereof be defined as follows, viz: Taking F. W. Rogan's storehouse as a central point, thence running three-quarters of a mile in every direction. (Signed)

W. S. Cary,
Clifton Newton,
C. N. Pritchard,
Geo. W. Morgan,
W. B. McMath,
W. B. Strong,
D. L. Wilkinson,
E. E. Fancher,
F. F. Crowe,
Frank Kroell,
George Kroell,
B. F. Crabbe,
Alex. A. Wall,
J. G. West,
C. F. Grove,
J. L. Ruffin,
C. L. Meroney,
F. W. Rogan,
T. A. Best,
George Nabors,
L. N. Nabors,
J. L. McConaughy,
R. T. Flemming,
W. R. Johnson,
J. W. Acker,
A. M. Cross,
R. T. Newton,
P. L. Abernethy,
E. Findley,
R. F. McKibbon,
Otto W. Puls,
Burgess Little,
E. G. Givhan,
John H. McMath,
D. W. Shivers.

We have encouraging news from all over the State. The Democrats are going to win by handsome majorities. The Pops won't be in it after Monday.

We hope every paper and periodical in the State will copy the report of President Reynolds to the State Superintendent of Education. The report is published on our first page. Taking it all in all, it shows that the Girls' Industrial School of Alabama is accomplishing more for less cost to the State, than any school in the world. Think of a school educating 600 pupils and having a property worth $50,000 (which it is well worth), in buildings and outfit, and out of debt, and has never had but the sum of $45,000 from the State. As the president says the people get the benefit of every dollar returned to them direct. Yes, they have gotten it five fold. Certainly, this school has only to be seen to be appreciat- and we prophesy it will not be forgotten by any man who has a daughter, sister or a mother. Pass this report around in order that our people may know of this grand work.

PROGRAMME

FOR THE EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF SHELBY COUNTY S.S. ASSOCIATION, AT CHAPEL M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH, AUG. 5-6, 1898.

FRIDAY, AUG. 5, 1898.

10 A. M., Convention called to order. Devotional exercises by Rev. A. E. Burns. 1 Kings 17:1-16, God's power.

10:20, Address of Welcome by Rev. J. C. Francis.

10:30, Organization, enrollment and appointment of committees.

11:00, Study of last Sunday's lesson, by J. F. Averyt and J. R. White.

11:30, Reports from Sunday-schools.

2 P. M., Devotional exercises, Rev. W I. Sinnott. 1 Kings 18:30, 31—"The only true God."

2:30, Teachers' meeting, Rev. P. L. Abernethy and Rev. L. F. Goodwin.

3:00, Home Department, Judge Joseph Carthel.

3:30, Worship in the Sunday-school, the importance of, and how to conduct the singing. Rev. S. N. Burns and W. H. Kidd.

4:00, Reports of committees.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6TH.

10 A. M., Song service, I. D. Mason. Devotional exercises, Rev. F. A. Vann. 1 Kings 19:1 16, "God's way."

10:30, How shall next Sunday's lessons be taught? Adults, D. R. McMillan; Primary, Miss Minnie Allen.

2 P. M., Praver service. Rev. T. M. Wilson, J. H. Nabors. 1 Kings 21:4-16, "God forgotten."

2:30, Review of Second Quarter's lessons. E. T. Witherby.

3:00, What can be done for our county? Rev. R. Kidd, E. C. Stocum, and T. A. Houston.

3:30, What have I gained by this convention?

4:00, Adjournment.

It is earnestly desired that each Sunday-school in the county send at least three delegates. Chapel community is noted for its hospitality, and all who have an interest in the Sunday-school work are cordially invited to be present.

All delegates are requested to report at the church where the Committee on Entertainment will assign them homes.

Those expecting to go by railroad will notify by mail Rev. J. C. Francis, G. W. Nivens or Ernest Huston, Wilsonville, Ala.

J. F. AVERYT,
Chm'n. Ex. Com.

Win your battles against disease by acting promptly. One Minute Cough Cure produces immediate results. When taken early it prevents consumption. And in later stages it furnishes prompt relief. F. F. Crowe & Co.

It is now given out that Miss Lettie Cook, quite a pretty young lady of Oswego, Kansas, is the fiance of Lieutenant Hobson, of Merrimac fame. They first met at a wedding in Norfolk, Va., several months ago.

The editor of the Evans City, Pa., Globe writes: "One Minute Cough Cure is rightly named. It cured my children after all other remedies failed." It cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

DR. J. P. HALEY,
DENTIST,
Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, August 1st, 1898.

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,
EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science.
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's
Business Colleges
Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address
C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber,
Montevallo, - - Ala.
Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Mr. M. C. Banks visited Centreville last Friday.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

A nice guitar for sale cheap at J.W. Martin's jewelry store.

A little son of Mr. O. W. Puls is on the sick list this week.

Another very heavy rain fell here here Tuesday afternoon.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Mr. Jack Hayes, of Avondale, is visiting a friend near town.

The editor made a flying visit to Dogwood last Friday evening.

Madame Rumor says a wedding is on the tapis in the near future.

Mr. John H. McMath has returned from his trip to Talladega Springs.

Try a bottle of V.V. V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

Mr. J. S. Ogletree, of Blocton, was in town Saturday, and gave us a call.

A very interesting meeting is now going on at Sessions Chapel, near town.

We are glad to see Mr. Will McConaughy out again after a short spell of fever.

Messrs. James Hayes and Charley Gist. of Six Mile, were in town last Friday.

Mrs. D. L. Wilkinson left a few days ago for a visit to her parents at Bolling, Ala.

For Sale.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

There is a good deal of sickness in around Montevallo at present. Some very serious cases.

Mrs. S. C. Lattimore, of Dublin, Texas, is visiting her brother, D. W. Shivers, of our town.

Mr. George Moore and wife, of McCalla, Ala., visited friends and relatives in town last Friday.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

J. W. Martin, the jeweller. removed his family Tuesday to the Latham place, one mile from town.

We regret to learn that Willie Strong is confined to his bed with fever. We hope he will soon be well again.

Master Welton Nabors, who has been quite sick for the past week, is, we are glad to learn, convalescent.

G. D. Mitchell, our typo, will be in Blocton Monday next, and will cast his ballot for Democracy and reform.

We could not send a better man to the legislature than Ed Lyman. Be sure to go to the polls Monday and cast your ballot for him.

Wednesday, July 13th, was cool enough for a fire; Wednesday, July 20th, was the hottest day we've had this summer. Quite a contrast in seven days.

Mr. W. H. Lawrence, the popular salesman at Latham & Co's., left on Tuesday morning for Plantersville, his old home, where he will visit friends and relatives.

Rev. P. L. Abernethy went to Renfroe last Friday to assist in a protracted meeting. He returned Tuesday, being called home by the serious illness of Earl Cary.

Thousands of persons have been cured of piles by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It heals promptly and cures eczema and all skin diseases. It gives immediate relief. F. F. Crowe & Co.

We regret to say that Master Earl Cary, a son of Mr. Walter Cary, is critically ill, and not expected to live. We hope that he may take a change for the better and soon recover.

Later.—Earl died last night about 10 o'clock. Will give a more extended notice next week.

Messrs. J. N. Campbell and J. J. Little, of Blocton, stopped over in our town a short while last Friday evening on their return from Atlanta, Ga, where they had been to take in the C. V. Reunion. They reported a big time.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds is having an addition of four rooms and a hall built to the already commodious residence in front of the Methodist church. He is making room to accommodate more girls when school opens. Mr. O. W. Puls is doing the work.

The little babe of Mr. Will Broadhead, of Aldrich, died last Friday, and the remains were brought to Montevallo and interred beside those of its mother, who had preceded her little darling to the spirit land about five months. Mr. Broadhead has the sympathy of all in his sad affliction.

Mr. S. R. Sheppard and wife, of Brierfield, were in town yesterday.

Misses Eunice and Rhoda Latham will leave to-morrow (Friday) evening for Birmingham, where they will spend a few days, and will go from there to Blount Springs, to be absent quite a while. We wish for them a pleasant visit and a safe return.

Grove & West have opened up their blacksmith and woodwork shop at the Vest old stand, and are now prepared to do all kinds of work in their line. They also repair bicycles, pistols and guns. These gentlemen are practical workmen, and we bespeak for them a liberal share of the public patronage.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Mr. George Kroell is having the old residence near his storehouse torn down, preparatory to the erection of his new brick store. The new building will be single story, 50x120 feet. Banks Bros. have the contract. The new building will be quite an addition to that part of town. Mr. Kroell will use his old storehouse as a repository for vehicles.

Private Roger N. Alston, Company G, Eufaula, a member of the Second Alabama regiment, died at Miami, Fla, last Sunday night, a victim of typhoid fever.

Mr. Alston was a brother of Miss Jennie Alston, of Hawkinsville, Ala., a pupil at the Industrial School last session. Her many schoolmates all over the State deeply sympathize with her in the loss of her brother.

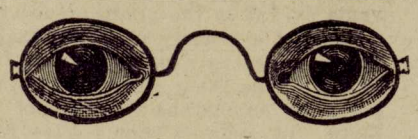
A SAD DEATH.

About two weeks ago Miss Maria Hawkins, of Elyton, Ala., came to Montevallo on a visit to her aunt, Mrs. French Nabors, hoping that a change would be beneficial to her health. She was in the bloom of young womanhood, was cheerful and happy, and little did she or her relatives think that so soon she would be called upon to give account for the deeds done in the body. Miss Hawkins had been a sufferer for about a year from Bright's disease, and about a week after her arrival here she was taken worse, and all that lovfng hands and medical skill could do was done to arrest the disease and alleviate the suffering of this lovely young woman, but all to no avail. She continued to grow worse until Sunday evening, when she quietly breathed her last, and her pure spirit was wafted on angels' wings to the God who gave it. Her remains were carried to Elyton Monday evening, being followed to the train by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives. The following young men acted as pallbearers: A J. Lee, L. W. Bowdon, S. S. Allen, S. P. West, A. B. Little and W. B. McCluney. The funeral was conducted from St. John's Episcopal church, Elyton, Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and the interment was at Elyton cemetery.

The deceased was a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Hawkins, who have many friends here who sympathize with them in the loss of their lovely daughter.

Mrs. D. W. Shivers and children left yesterday for Gallion, Ala., on a visit to Capt Henry A. Tayloe, father of Mrs. Shivers.

Mr. James McDonald came near happening to a serious accident several days ago. While engaged in stacking hay, he accidentally fell from a stack, and in the fall the prongs of a pitchfork came near penetrating his abdomen, The wounds were painful. but not serious. Mr. McDonald was able to be in town Tuesday.



H. C. Abbott & Bro.

We Are On Top

As we have the largest, most complete and best managed establishment of the kind in the city of Birmingham. GOOD WORK.

Low Prices and Prompt Attention Did It

We are a pretty big concern, but not too big not to want your patronage.

When you want

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses

FINE JEWELRY,

Diamonds, Watches, Clocks!

AND RICH CUT GLASS!

Go to

H. C ABBOTT & BRO.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

WINE OF CARDUI

DRUMMED OUT OF CAMP.

WHAT THE ORDEAL TO THE TUNE OF THE "ROGUE'S MARCH" MEANS.

It is One of the Severest of Army Punishments—An Account of a Dramatic Episode of the Civil War Related by a Drummer Boy Who Participated.

"I experienced a time of reminiscence when I read of the Seventh Illinois boys at Camp Alger," said a Washington man who seemed to be young for a veteran of the civil war. "Why, four eventful years of my life were spent with the Seventh Illinois, which I entered as a drummer boy. But my Seventh Illinois passed out of existence soon after it marched down Pennsylvania avenue in the grand review just a third of a century ago. Its ragged flag, bearing the names of the leading battles of the West, was rolled up and put away among the treasures of the State. By right it should have been the First Illinois, but as there had been six regiments in the Mexican war, the numbers began with seven.

"What makes my recollection of the old Seventh more vivid is the suggestion as to this punishment of the deserter, who left camp without leave to visit his girl at home. It is thought by many that when he is arrested and tried he will be sentenced to be drummed out of camp. Several officers have intimated that this, instead of the death penalty, is likely to be his unhappy fate. It happened that one of my first experiences as a drummer was to aid in the drumming out of a man who had twice fallen asleep on sentry duty. The punishment is much more severe than persons will think, unless they have witnessed such an event. I have seen men bucked and gagged, tied up by the thumbs and the like for showing disrespect for shoulder straps or some other breach of discipline, but cruel as they seem these inflictions are really mild by comparison.

"We were then in the three months' service and stationed at Mound City, about six miles above Cairo, on the Ohio River. No enemy had disturbed us, and it was not thought there was any danger of attack, but sleeping on sentry duty is everywhere and always regarded as a grave offense. The first offense of the young man was passed over with a repremand and a warning, because the regimental surgeon expressed a doubt as to his mental responsibility. He had always been rather queer. The second time the officer of the day made a great stir about it and the good discipline of the regiment required that something should be done, regardless of the doubt as to the mental condition of the offender. After long deliberation, it was resolved to carry out the sentence, which was that he be drummed out of camp.

"The young man took it very seriously and added to the dramatic effect, if he did not save a part of the proceedings from being serious, by the bearing of a man about to be hanged. His head was shaved and he was dressed in a shabby suit of civilian clothes. He lost all self-restraint before he was brought out of the guard house, and his moaning could be heard all over the camp. The regiment was brought out as if for dress parade, and then formed in two lines facing each other. There was a space of about twenty feet between the two lines. Down this space came the poor wretch, bareheaded and hardly able to walk. His face was white and his eyes wild. On either side of him was a soldier with his gun and immediately at his heels the drummers and fifers playing the "Rogue's March." Back of these came an officer with drawn sword. As the party started the regiment came to a charge of bayonets, in such an oblique direction that every bayonet pointed at the condemned man. As he passed the guns were moved so as to continue to point at him. When they reached the limit of the camp the officer solemnly charged him never to enter the lines of the army again, and he was allowed to go on his solitary, melancholy way. The utter depression of the man made the event impressive and a lesson in military discipline. The doubt whether he was wholly to blame turned the sympathy of the regiment to him.

"Anybody who has read, as most people have, the story of the 'Man Without a Country,' will understand why this punishment is severe. It cuts a man off from his kind, marks him as unfit to associate with his fellows, drives him from his natural society, and declares him to be particularly and hopelessly obnoxious. Few men can be so hardened as to bear it lightly. The victim of ordinary punishments, even of the humiliating buck-and-gag, is till one of his kind and is able to restore himself in the general esteem. For the drummed-out man there is no restoration. He is virtually affirmed to be beyond redemption, not fit to be imprisoned, worthless material to be cast away once and forever.

"There was comparatively little of this kind of punishment in the civil war. Indeed, there was little punishment of any kind, except confinement in the guard house, after the first few months. Either the soldiers learned obedience or else the officers found that punishments of the brutal kind were not profitable. The practice of tying men up by the thumbs was a favorite mode of discipline for awhile, but finally it was abandoned altogether. As a lesson in the case of a deserter at this time, drumming out of camp would be about as effective as hooting to all who could witness the proceedings.

"This was certainly the most disagreeable duty I had to perform in all my four years' service. There is a popular idea that the drummer boy is often called on to lead an assault. But in time of battle he is attached to the hospital corps. Sometimes in a pause in an engagement that has tried the nerves of the men martial music may enliven their drooping spirits, but as a rule the drum is dropped for the stretcher in a serious fight. In many engagements my days were spent in carrying canteens of water to the wounded, who were not able to leave the field, and in guiding the stronger stretcher bearers to those who needed the first attention, and my nights in giving chloroform at the amputating tables or attending to the wants of the wounded.—New York Sun.

Why We Get Tired.

It is the general impression among athletes that exhaustion and "loss of wind" are due to the inability to consume sufficient oxygen and exhale rapidly enough carbon dioxide. When the muscle is moving rapidly and forcibly it is true that it demands more oxygen, and gives off to the blood more carbon dioxide than when at rest. When a man is running as fast as he can make his limbs move he is able to keep up the pace but for a short distance unless, like a hunted hare, he runs to his death. On account of the forced, vigorous and rapid muscular action in this case, the poisonous materials are thrown into the blood, to be carried to all parts of the body—muscles, nerves, brain. The heart is affected by this poison through the nerve cells controlling that organ; the muscles of respiration are similarly disturbed. The panting, distressed efforts of breathing, sidelong tumbling, anhelation and final semi-consciousness of the hunted stag or hare are good examples of acute auto-intoxication ending in death. This latter deplorable condition is not unknown among the annals of human strife for athletic honors, even with our present advanced knowledge of physiology.—Popular Science Monthly.

Ambition of an Illinois Tar.

Before Assistant Paymaster W. H. Doherty, U. S. N., started for Key West to join his ship, he told the following incident, which occurred at the Norfolk Navy Yard: A member of the Illinois naval militia passed an examination successfully and was appointed Assistant Paymaster in the volunteer service, a rank which in the regular service pays about $1,700 a year. The next day the Illinois man walked up to the commander of the ship to which he had been assigned and said:

"Say, what do I do?"

The commander, overlooking the informality of his address, said: "Why you make out the pay rolls and pay off the men."

"Well, don't I fight?"

"Oh, no, you don't fight."

"Well, to thunder with this job," said the Illinois man. 'I want to fight."

He was thereupon made a petty officer at about $30 a month with a chance of unlimited fighting, and he accepted the change joyfully.

HOW MEN DIE IN BATTLE.

Bravely, Invariably, Though Regulars First Examine Their Wounds.

"If you want to know how men die in battle, ask some of those who have been at Wilson's Creek, on one side or the other," said Judge David Murphy of the Criminal Court.

"I was in Totten's Battery, and I saw them, wounded and dying, falling thick and fast around me. You may say that I saw not one man flunk in the face of death on that terrible day of fight and bloodshed. While I was firing my gun from Bloody Hill a youngster, not more than 20 years old, suddenly jerked his leg. He uttered a sharp, quick cry, then bent down and tore the trousers away from the place on his shin where a minnie had struck him. He looked up with a smile, patted the wound with his hand, pulled the torn trousers down and went on shooting. Five minutes later he yelled again, and his hand went up to the fleshy part of his left arm. 'Hit again!' he said, sat down behind the battle ranks and examined his arm. The wound was only skin deep, and that seemed to please him hugely, for he tied his handkerchief around it, and again went forward into the ranks with his musket.

"You're fighting in bad luck today, Pete," said a comrade. The youngster turned his face to answer back, and by the snapping of his eyes it could be seen that his mind framed a saucy, defiant reply. Just then his jaw dropped. A ball plowed its way through his mouth, leaving nothing but a bloody, tongueless cavity. With a hoarse gurgle the fellow threw his gun on the ground and fled back of the lines. He was found in a hospital afterward, but never recovered.

"On that same day I encountered three men under a tree. Their faces were ashen gray, showing that they were mortally wounded. I asked them why they were not attended to, and one of them said that as it was all over with them they wanted the surgeons to attend first to those who could be saved. One of them was smoking a short briar-wood pipe.

"What are you doing, my friend?" I asked.

"'Taking my last smoke,' he answered, his glassy eyes looking steadfastly at me. Another was reading a letter. He held it up to his face, but I could see that he was not making any headway. His eyes were growing dim, and his weak, trembling hands folded the missive and thrust it into his breast pocket. He was perfectly resigned to his fate, and had not a word to say. When I returned in the evening, after a lull, I found the three men dead. Their faces were white and set in the shadow of the tree under which they lay. By the placidity of the features I knew that they had met death without flunking.

"That's all bosh about men raving about mother, home and heaven. All the men I have seen die, or near death, were quiet and perfectly rational. They made no fuss. Those that did were usually delirious, entirely out of their minds. The faces of these were frequently distorted, and gave every evidence of the mental and physical agony they had endured.

One thing struck me as peculiar. Nearly all the regulars exhibited an instant desire to examine their wounds when they were hit, and the expression of their faces indicated in a moment whether they wer slightly or mortally wounded. They seemed to know with unfailing certainty. If the wound was slight and in a place where they could tie it up conveniently, they did so, and then went back into the fighting lines. If it was mortal, their grave, pale faces betrayed their knowledge. The volunteers were not so well posted, but they were brave as lions, and seldom gave up unless seriously hurt."

Coffee in the Philippines.

Coffee was introduced in the Philippines, probably in the latter part of the eighteenth century, from Brazil. The first large plantation was established in 1826, and the production began to extend actively fifteen or twenty years ago. Latterly the export has decreased very greatly. It used to average 2,500 tons a year, but has recently sunk to only 300. This is probably due to the revolution, for the coffee is of good quality, some of it excellent.

Unlike Manila hemp and tobacco, the coffee requires some capital on the part of those who undertake it. It takes the tree four or five years to begin to bear. Those who are able to make the necessary advances have prospered greatly, and, especially about Manila, have become rich.

The exported coffees formerly went exclusively to France, but are now scattered well over Europe, usually through Singapore. They are of two sorts, the Manila and the Zamboanga. The first is grown about Manila, chiefly to the south and east of Manila Bay. It has a small berry and is more highly prized than the other. The Zamboanga coffee is produced in the south, principally on Mindanao and the Sulu Islands. The berry of this variety is larger, but less care is used in its preparation. It goes directly to Singapore.

Falls That Shake Two Cities.

The Lewiston Falls have reached the flutter point. When the day is done and darkness falls from the wings of night, and far and wide over the city falls the hush of sleeping thousands, then the falls gets in its work.

Men awake with a start to find that all things are a-trembling. The old window sashes that have stood to the angry hows of a hundred northeasters now tremble and flutter when no breath of air is moving. Men who are nervous reach spasmodically under their pillows to see if the revolver is there, and women awake and demand that the cat be let out.

If you happen to know what it is that makes the noise, it is'nt so bad—but there are many who do not know, and "speerits" and gnomes and shadowy ghosts are suggested. Every year when the falls reaches a certain indefinite point on the ledge the two cities are set a-shaking like aspen leaves. Then it is that we rise in the night and stick burned matches into the jamb of the window and push the door latch back, so that we can sleep.

Languages That Will Die.

An eminent Russian linguist, in a work recently published on the different languages spoken throughout the world, avers that in 200 years from now there will be only three living languages—Russian, English and Chinese. All other languages and dialects, of which there are at present 3,000, will have fallen into disuse.

During the twentieth and twenty-first centuries, according to the Russian authority, tne whole of continental Europe and of Asia, with the exception of China, will have adopted the Russian language, and Chinese will be the language of the Celestials and the Oceanic, 417 American, while in the Russian empire alone sixty different tongues are found.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Precocious Child.

What a pity that every preacher cannot have just such a little daughter as one we know of. The four-year-old daughter of a clergyman, after listening to her father preach one Sunday morning for quite a while, finally became restless, and, climbing up, on the seat, she exclaimed: "Come on, papa, you've said enough; let's go home!"—

The largest history ever published is "The War of the Rebellion," issued by Uncle Sam in 120 huge octavo volumes, of 1,000 pages each, with a gigantic atlas in thirty pages.

OUR ARMY PUTS ON ITS NEW UNIFORM.

IDEAL SUITS HAVE BEEN PROVIDED FOR A TROPICAL CAMPAIGN.

Despatches from Cuba tell how the soldiers of our army, burdened with hot flannel uniforms and heavy outfits, are throwing away everything they can on the march, even their coats. In the terrible heat every ounce of weight adds to discomfort while marching, and, regardless of the future, men are casting aside blankets, extra clothing, tin plates and other articles in their Merriam kits, caring only to lighten their burdens.

Men in regular marching order who have been sent to Cuba, volunteers as well as regulars, carry in all nearly sixty pounds, including their rifles, enough to stagger a man in a cool climate. This casting away of every superfluous article is not a new practice, for it was done by tens of thousands of men in the Civil War and has been done by soldiers in almost all other wars.

Recognizing the unfitness of the regulation uniforms for the tropics, the Government is having 40,000 cotton drilling and duck uniforms made, which will greatly add to the comfort and general appearance of the soldiers. Already 4000 of these suits have been completed and shipped to Tampa to be forwarded to Cuba for General Shafter's command.

The new campaign uniform for infantry is made of canvas duck or drill. Its distinguishing feature is a Norfolk jacket, or blouse effect with a box plait down the back. There are four pockets in the front and five buttons. The two upper pockets are faced with blue cloth, the epaulet straps, cuffs and collars being of the same material and color.

The uniform is made with felled seams. Brown canvas leggings somewhat darker than the uniform are used. A web cartridge belt, blue woolen blanket, haversack to contain tin plate, knife, fork and spoon and rations, a water bottle and tin cup complete the equipment. No knapsack is used.

The trimmings of the cavalry uniform are yellow and of the artillery red.

Regulation army uniforms now in use are lined and weigh about eight pounds, being better suited for use in the Arctic regions than in a climate where the sun's rays are as hot as the blasts from a furnace. The lining carefully sewed inside the coats makes them doubly warm, and officers do not wonder that the men under them cast the garments aside in disgust.

Different from any uniform ever before worn by any United States troops are the new styles adopted, and they are as attractive looking as they are durable. The cloths used in the suits for the Cuban campaign are what are known to the trade as drill weave and duck. Housewives would call the first named material cotton drilling.

Suits of these materials weigh less than half as much as the uniforms now in use, and because of their looser weave are much cooler. The cotton drill uniforms, which are of a light buff color, weigh just two pounds and fourteen ounces, while the duck, which are light reddish tan, weigh four ounces more.

No colors could be found better adapted for service in a country where the men are exposed to dust and dirt in all kinds of weather, and even after a hard, long campaign it is expected the uniforms will still present a fairly respectable appearance.

In style the coats for all departments of the service, infantry, artillery and cavalry, are like the once popular Norfolk jacket, with a belt of the same material. The trimmings are of the same style, but of different colors, blue for the infantry, red for the artillery and yellow for the cavalry.

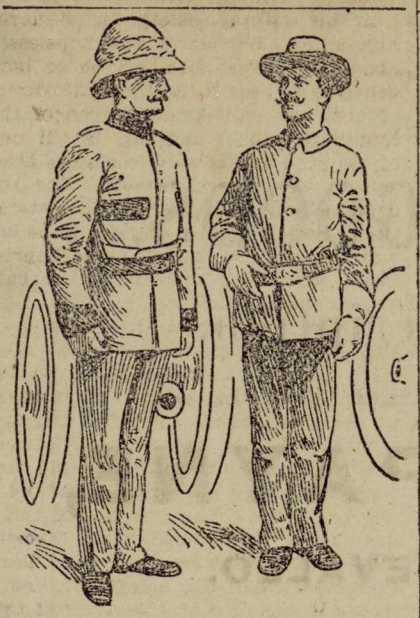
This trimming, which lends an attractive bit of color to the uniforms, consists of a deep facing at the ends of the sleeves, over the lapels of the two upper pockets, shoulder straps and around the low cut military collar. The trousers are perfectly plain.

The uniforms of privates and noncommissioned officers are worth about $3 each. Four big pockets are made in the coats.

Dressed in these suits, with the light under-wear being provided by the Government, the soldiers will feel like new men. No attempt probably will be made to carry the kit on forced marches, except when absolutely necessary.

Officers will wear uniforms of finer, but no more comfortable, material. The cloth is known as kahke in India, where it comes from, and is like brown linen. Uniforms of this cloth cost about $25.

In addition to the canvas and drill uniforms, which will be sent to the camps in the South as well as to Cuba, the Government is providing a blue flannel suit, unlined, which weighs only a few ounces more than three pounds.



ASTOR BATTERY IN AN IDEAL TROPICAL UNIFORM FOR SERVICE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Clothing the army and navy is one of the most important problems presented to the War and Navy Departments for solution. The quartermaster-general performs the task for the army and the paymaster-general for the navy. In time of peace the duty involves considerable labor. In time of war, and especially at the beginning of hostilities, when the public are crying for a million men to be enlisted, clothed and put at the front in a minute, the task assumes the proportions of a mountain in a fog.

Take the quartermaster-general, for instance. It is his duty to see that the big army which the President has called to give battle to the Spanish is clothed at the very earliest possible moment. His usual sources of supply are quickly exhausted. Others must be found. The clothing must be made. The first thing the quartermaster-general does is to ascertain, as nearly as possible, the exact number of suits required, the kind of suits, the number of shoes and underclothing, also hats. The exact kind is then specified in detail, and bids for the whole or part of the clothing needed. Accompanying every bid is a check to guarantee that the terms of the contract will be carried out to the letter.

These bids are submitted, together with samples of the goods required. The bids are carefully examined and compared and the lowest bidder (the quality of goods being satisfactory) gets the contract. The goods contracted for must be ready on time and delivered to the Government. When they are delivered they are inspected by Government officials and, if all right, accepted. Then they are forwarded to the store house of the army at Philadelphia to await orders.

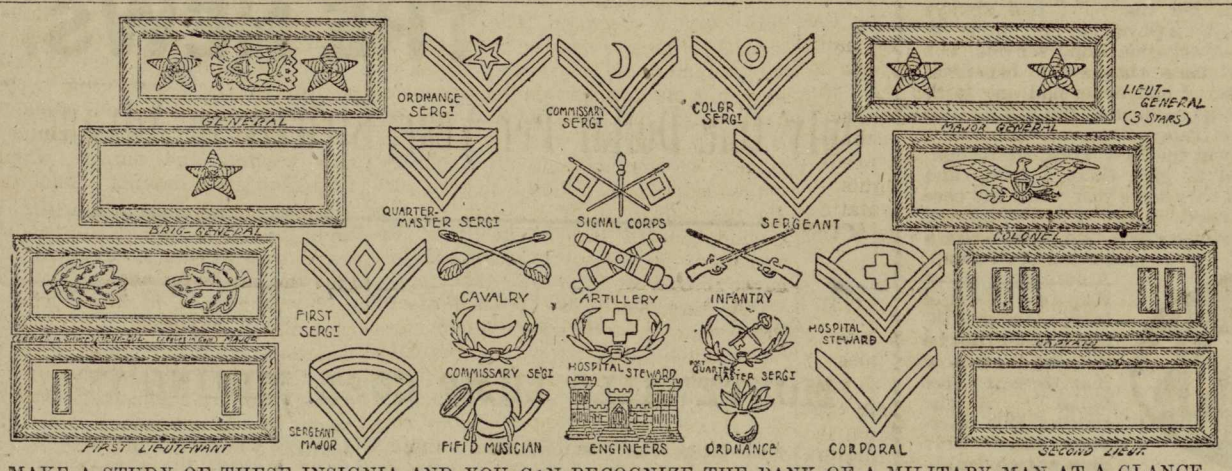
NEW U. S. ARMY UNIFORM—LIGHT AND HEAVY MARCHING ORDER.

When a regiment is recruited and sworn into the United States service, the captain of each company makes out a requisition for the number of uniforms needed and forwards the requisition to the quartermaster of the regiment. The colonel approves of the requisition, and then it is forwarded to the brigade quartermaster, who, if he has not the clothes required on hand, makes a requisition on the corps quartermaster. The latter, when uniforms are needed, makes a requisition on the quartermaster-general, who draws the supplies needed from the depot at Philadelphia.

Upon the delivery of the clothing to the regimental quartermaster, the captains of the several companies are notified. The captains march their men to headquarters and there they receive the clothing apportioned to them and for which the captain gives a receipt to the regimental quartermaster, who keeps it for his voucher. The same formula for the issuing of clothing is followed in the navy.

The army and navy uniforms are made in nearly every large city of the Union, and the cost of those for the privates is about $5, and those for men before the mast is about $8 per man. The officers' uniforms range in price from $50 to $75. A bullet will, however, pierce the one as quickly as the other. The uniform of the general officers of the army is a double-breasted blouse of dark blue cloth or serge, with four outside patch pockets with flaps, a rolling collar, with two rows of buttons, grouped according to rank, of the same kind as those worn on the dress coat. For all other officers a single-breasted blouse is worn, of dark blue cloth or serge, with four outside pockets with flaps, falling collar, with five buttons in front of the same kind as those worn on the dress coat. The skirt of the dress coat extends from one-third to one-half the distance from the hip joint to the knee.

Chile is a Peruvian word, denoting "land of snow."



MAKE A STUDY OF THESE INSIGNIA AND YOU CAN RECOGNIZE THE RANK OF A MILITARY MAN AT A GLANCE.

THE NEW CAMPAIGN UNIFORM FOR U. S. REGULARS.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

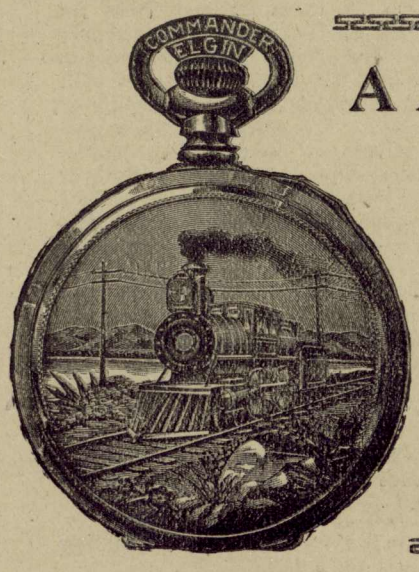
He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said: "The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

TEN FOR FIVE CENTS
RIPANS
ONE GIVES RELIEF

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (12 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—one single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

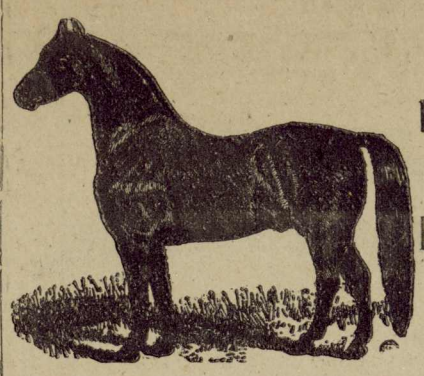


A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

☞Office at Store. Manager-

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank.

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 4, '98. NO. 30

GOING HOME TO LITTLE BEN.

The soldier had kissed his wife at parting,
And the sleeping babe in the cradle nest;
But so short the time he had for starting,
He must miss the one his heart loved best.
His four-year-old, a child so tender,
Was in the garden and dreaming when
The father left, to be a defender,
Without one kiss trom his little Ben.

When far down the road he heard Ben weeping,
And turned to look back on his darling child;
His curly head above the gate peeping,
Each curl a-tossing in the breezes mild.
"Come back, my papa!" the child was crying;
And the father's heart was throbbing when
He gazed on the child, with his dear curls flying,
And pleading: "Come home, papa, to Ben!"

For many a day, awake or dreaming—
Ah, many a day he heard that plea,
And saw those curls in the breezes streaming,
And the child-voice crying, "Come back to me!"
And, oh, the letter that came soon after,
From the wife at home, this news to state:
"Our home is silent. No merry laughter;
No curly head at the garden gate!

"In a little grave where the clay is mellow,
Ben sleeps, with his hands on his silent breast;
And the daisies nod with their crests of yellow,
And the soft winds whisper their songs of rest."
No wonder that father, when wounded, dying,
Said to the silent and watching men:
"I heard the voice of my darling crying,
'Come home, papa, to your little Ben!'"

Around his grave on that Summer morning,
His comrades stood with heads bowed low;
And silence told how they were mourning
For the comrade they had all loved so.
And, as they turned from his place of sleeping,
A voice was heard 'mongst those silent men;
A voice so mellow with tears and weeping:
"Gone home at last to his little Ben!"

—Faraway Moses.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE CUBANS

Since the Santiago campaign has developed the real character and disposition of the Cuban insurgents, there is a general tendency to discredit our allies in the war against the Spanish. The press despatches from the front state plainly that the Cubans have been more of a handicap than a help during the recent operations; that their principal activity has consisted of vigorous attacks on the American commissary, in return for which they have refused to render any notable assistance to our soldiers in front of Santiago. During the first minor engagements following the landing of our marines, they were of considerable assistance in keeping off the Spanish guerrillas and in the sacking of Baiquiri, Siboney and El Caney they displayed pernicious activity and enthusiasm. But during the two days' heavy fighting they were rather in the way of the American troops than of any assistance. They refused to aid in the menial but necessary task of road building, and while they were loitering in the rear our surgeons sought their assistance in vain, for they would not even cut poles for improvised litters for the wounded. It was not expected that they would take a leading part in the assaults, but even in the capacity of guides and skirmishers they proved unreliable. When they were denied the anticipated pleasure of sacking Santiago and probably massacreing the Spanish prisoners, even General Garcia showed his resentment by refusing to attend the ceremony of surrender, since which time the Cuban Achilles and his forces have been sulking in their tents, only coming into the American camp for their daily distribution of rations. In short, the relations between the American soldiers and their so-called allies are very much strained.

This disclosure of plain and disagreeable facts about the little, half-savage bushmen who have been persistently represented as veritable paladins of chivalry and daring is naturally disappointing to many idealists. The sudden dissipation of their dreams has caused a sentimental reaction, and they are disposed to regard their erstwhile heroes with contempt. The mere fact that a Cuban should prefer hardtack and bacon to death and glory in the trenches, knocks the poetry all out of the patriot business, and the impulsive are disposed to regret that the United States ever undertook the task of freeing the island.

As a matter of fact the Cubans are neither as heroic nor as worthless as they have been painted. While among them are doubtless men of undaunted bravery and devotion to the cause they have fought for so many years, the masses of the Cubans are not as advanced in morale as the American negroes before the war. They are merely what their Spanish masters have made them, and too much should not be expected of them. It would be strange if, after the treatment they have received for centuries, they should not be savage, merciless and revengeful, and their principal idea of the results of victory is the opportunity for plunder, rapine and slaughter.

It is difficult for the blunt and determined Anglo-Saxon to understand the vagaries of the volatile Latin. He is virtuous or vicious, lively or lazy, brave or brutal, according as his good or evil genius is uppermost. Spain's legacy to the island is a strain of Latin blood, mingled with negro, Indian and other nationalities, resulting in a nondescript race that is sadly lacking in many of the higher elements of civilization. In short, the Cuban problem presents more difficulties the closer we become acquainted with it, but that is no reason why we should throw up the job we have undertaken. Common sense only is required to solve it.

It is generally admitted now that the United States made a grave mistake in admitting the Southern slaves to citizenship immediately after their emancipation, and it will hardly be repeated by throwing the responsibility of self-government upon the Cubans as soon as they are freed from Spanish rule. They must be led gently and gradually out of the atmosphere of feudal depotism in which they have existed all their lives, and instructed in the ways of civilized democracy before they will be fitted to hold the reins of government unaided. The United States is responsible before the world for the establishment of a stable government, and having undertaken the task, we must carry it out in an enlightened and charitable spirit.—Washington Post.

60,000

Majority for Johnston!

A Similar Majority for

..Morgan :-: Bros..

For Leaders in Low Prices!

A Negro Private's Feat.

Wandering about the post in a suit of pink pajamas is a Titanic negro, six feet tall and of like proportions. His name is Americus Johnson, and he is a private in the Tenth regular cavalry. This "Buffalo," as the colored soldiers of the army are familiarly called, "sought the bubble reputation at the cannon's mouth" at El Caney and single-handed succeeded in overcoming a squad of the enemy and capturing a six-pound rapid fire gun, shot three Spaniards, knocked four senseless with the butt of his carbine, and the rest ran away in terror. Johnson was twice wounded, one ball passing through his left shoulder and another through his left leg, but neither remained in his body and no bones were broken. He speaks of his wounds contemptuously as "pin holes." They are healing rapidly, and he will soon be able to return to his home in Texas and receive the honors due the brave. He has already received a great deal, and I grieve to relate that glory and admiration are confusing Johnson's memory. He is becoming somewhat inaccurate and inconsistent in his statements. He sits all day long under the shade of a tree clad in his pink pajamas like the sultan of Senegambia, and relates the story of his achievements over and over again to throngs of colored people and straggling whites, who stand with both their ears and mouth wide open, paralyzed with awe. Like the editors of the yellow journals, Mr. Johnson has discovered that the public taste demands something hot and bloody, and he does his best to gratify their craving. By the time he gets to Texas, Johnson will have captured an entire battery; perhaps captured Morro itself.—Fort Monroe Telegram to Chicago Record.

An Iowa clergyman who has lost his pulpit for engaging himself to several young women at the same time, pleads that while he loved all the damsels because they are children of God, in promising to marry them he simply meant that he would perform the ceremony when called upon to do so. The spinsters had no such understanding of the arrangement, and they made things warm for the preacher when he was found out.

Thousands of persons have been cured of piles by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It heals promptly and cures eczema and all skin diseases. It gives immediate relief. F. F. Crowe & Co.

FINGER NAIL BITING HABIT.

There is Only One Sure Way to Stop the Practice.

"Non-believers in the doctrine of the transmission of hereditary instincts are brought to a standstill when they are confronted with such an indisputable fact that the finger-nail-biting habit is, in nine cases out of ten, handed down to the children of those addicted to it," said a Washington physician. "I have for nearly ten years watched this thing carefully, and in almost every case where a parent, either father or mother, has been a finger nail biter, I have found that the children have at a very early age naturally fallen into the same practice. The chief finger nail biters of the world are the French, and it was recently stated, upon reliable authority, that nearly two-thirds of the French school children are addicted to the habit. French specialists who have made a carefuly study of the matter maintain that the finger nail biting habit is a sort of nervous disease, and the French educational authorities are about to take steps to stop the habit among French school children. I haven't heard yet what they are going to do about it, but I am certain that they have a big contract on their hands. Even for grown people there is hardly any habit, aside from the confirmed abuses of narcotics, more difficult to overcome than the habit of biting the finger nails. It requires a strong mental effort and onstant vigilance to do this, for once a person has become thoroughly addicted to the habit he does it unconsciously, and is only reminded that he is marring himself when he gets one of his nails gnawed down to the quick. All manner of remedies have been advanced for the cure of the finger nail biting habit, including the placing of injurious and bitter compositions on the ends of the fingers, but none of these remedies amounts to much.

The only way to stop biting the finger nails is to stop, which is the only way to stop drinking liquor, by the way. The Americans are next to the French in the finger nail biting habit, probably because the Americans, as a whole, are an exceedingly nervous people. A man who accomplishes his determination to knock off biting his finger nails may, by incessant manicurger nails is to stop, which is the only a year or so, but finger nail biting, if long persisted in, ruins the shape of the ends of the fingers, and the nails can never be brought to look as well as those of the persons who permit their nails to grow as they were intended to grow."—Washington Star.

Science Troubled by Railway.

The observations of earth currents at Greenwich observatory have been made practically useless for several years by the electric railway from Stockwell to London, modern instruments being so sensitive that indications of this railway have been detected more than one hundred miles away. An early effect of the railway led to a funny experience. The generating station was visited by the magnetic superintendent of the observatory, and on his return to work the tracings of his magnets showed a curious deflection, which continued day after day—but only during the hours of his attendance. The idea that he was magnitized was a startling one! But one day he left his umbrella at home, and there was no disturbance, the umbrella having been a permanent magnet since the visit to the power station.

A Three Mile Bridge.

The proposed iron bridge over the Amu-Daria river, on the Central Asian railway, would replace a wooden bridge built when the Transcaspian Railway was built. The site is about 130 miles northeast of Merv. As the river overflows its banks, the new bridge would be 13,887 feet, or almost three miles long, and seventy-two feet above the normal water level to keep clear of the drift coming down. The estimated total cost of the bridge is $2,500,000, and a Russian firm has secured the contract for the metal work.

Audibility of Thunder.

While lightning may be see an its illuminating of clouds and mi. m y be recognized when it is even 00 iles distant, thunder is rarely audble nore than ten miles. The thuner rom very distant storms, therefor, se dom reaches the ear. The reason o this great uncertainty in tne audbi y of thunder is not difficult to uder and. It depends, not merely on tie itial intensity of the crash, but qui as much on the surroundings of th ob- server, even as in the quiet c ntry one will observe feeble sounds th es- cape the ear in a noisy city. Pe haps the most curious and important con- dition of audibility is that the th nder wave of sound shall not be ref cted or reflected by the layers of war and cold air between the observer an the lightning or by the layers of ind. swift above and slow below, so en- tirely to pass over and around th ob- server. Sound, in its wave-like s pro- gress obliquely through layers air of different densities, is subject re- fraction, and this refraction may ccur at any time and place. Thus, obs vers at the topmast of a ship frequently hear fog whistles that are inaudible at sea level; those on hill-tops hear thunder that cannot be heard in the valley; those in front of an obstacle hear sounds inaudible to those behind it. The rolling of thunder, like that of a distant cannonade, may be largely due to special reflections of sound. Again, the greater velocity of air at considerable altitude above the ground distorts the sound-wave and shortens the limit of audibility to the leeward, while increasing it to the windward.—Industries and Iron.

Fate of Beardsley Poster.

The late Aubrey Beardsley little suspected what the fate of one of his curious, weird pictures would be. According to a contemporary, one of these bizarre posters was purchased by an American in London for the modest sum of twenty-five cents, and sent to a friend in America as a specimen of the latest thing in English art. The friend's appreciation of English art was such that he used the poster for wrapping up some linen that was sent to a Chinese laundry kept by Sam Li. Sam's eyes brightened as he smoothed out the crumbled paper, and he fastened it on the laundry wall and invited his compatriots to come and look at it.

They came by twos and threes until the fame of the poster spread abroad; then they came in crowds. One of the visitors, Wan-fo-Li, director of the Chinese theater in Canton, bought it for $100 and soon made $400 by charging a small entrance fee for seeing the poster. Finally, a rich Chinaman of San Francisco bought it for $500 and to-day it decorates the palace of this millionaire, and before it burns, day and night, a lamp, as before some domestic divinity.—Chicago News.

Japan's First Skyscraper.

Over in Japan the people never have dared to build their houses or stores or office buildings more than two or three stories high. If they did the next lively earthquake that came along would tumble them all down. And yet Japan has recently made long strides toward civilization and is introducing many of the wonders of human industry which have characterized the civilization of America and Europe.

Recently an architect has drawn plans for a fifteen-story "skyscraper" to be built in the city of Tokio, and the money has been secured to complete the work. It will have the usual steel framework and its architect thinks that no earthquake ever will shake it down. No doubt when it is completed it will be a remarkable sight standing, as it will, among the low buildings of the city. It will be provided with elevators, and the Japanese will have an opportunity for the first time of experiencing the sensation of falling ten or fifteen stories and landing safely.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A silver coin is usually in currency for twenty-seven years.

Evidence Produced.

"Prisoner," said the court, "you have been arrested as a suspicious character. You appear to have no visible means of support." Then his wife stepped forth and held up her hands, after which there was nothing to do but to discharge him.—Chicago News.

What will Become of China?

None can foresee the outcome of the quarrel between foreign powers over the division of China. It is interesting to watch the going to pieces of this ancient but unprogressive race. Many people in America are also going to pieces because of dyspepsia, constipation, blood, liver and stomach diseases. We are living too fast, but strength, vigor and good health can be retained if we keep off and cure the above diseases with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

In a recent book on China the author says that Chinese burglars are difficult to catch, as they oil their bodies all over and twist their pigtails in to bunches stuck full of needles.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

The only soap which the Hindoos of the orthodox type employ is made entirely of vegetable products. But soap is little used in India, being almost an unknown luxury with the natives.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Over 400 diamonds are known to have been recovered from the ruins of Babylon.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

The total number of United States vessels encircling Cuba is 77.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c. $1. All druggists.

The Victoria cross carries with it a pension of $250 a year for life.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco is the "best of the best." 2 ounces and cigarette book for 10 cents. Try it.

Swallows have been met at sea more than 1,000 miles from land.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Savages, on the whole, live longer than civilized people.

You Can Get Tired

By working hard, and then you can get rested again. But if you are tired all the time it means that your blood is poor. You need to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great cure for that tired feeling because it is the great enricher and vitalizer of the blood. You will find appetite, nerve, mental and digestive strength in

Hood's Sarsaparilla

America's Greatest Medicine.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, indigestion. 25c.

PIMPLES

"My wife had pimples on her face, but she has been taking CASCARETS and they have all disappeared. I had been troubled with constipation for some time, but after taking the first Cascaret I have had no trouble with this ailment. We cannot speak too highly of Cascarets." FRED WARTMAN, 5708 Germantown Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good, Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 314

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING "Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

An Optical "Delusion."

"Paw, ean you see farther with a telescope than with the naked eye?" "Of course you can, Johnny." "How can that be when it brings everything nearer?"—Chicago Tribune.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

In Costa Rica canary birds, bullfinches and paroquets are special table dainties.

After six years' suffering I was cured by Piso's Cure.—MARY THOMSON, 294½ Ohio Ave., Alleghany, Pa., March 19, 1894.

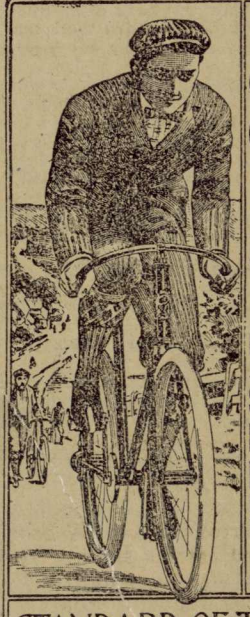
W. H. Griffin, Jackson, Michigan, writes: "Suffered with Catarrh for fifteen years. Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

WHEN a man asserts that he is just as good as anybody else, do you think he really believes it?" "Certainly not. He believes he is better."—Indianapolis Journal.

DO YOU PAY BIG PROFITS?

Yes, you do when you buy a "cheap-john," "chap-trap," "riff-raff," "make-shift" article when you can as easily get the best at a very slight advance. We make buggies—good buggies—best buggies—NOTHING BUT BUGGIES—thousands of them a year, and they are sold nearly as cheap as those THROWN TOGETHER. See our agent in your town or write. You shall be treated right.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.



THE COLUMBIA CHAINLESS MAKES HILL CLIMBING EASY

COLUMBIAS ARE STANDARD FOR CHAIN MACHINES.

HARTFORDS Next Best.

Other Models at Low Prices.

Catalogue Free.

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

POPE MFG CO. HARTFORD, CONN.

ART CATALOGUE OF COLUMBIA BICYCLES BY MAIL TO ANY ADDRESS FOR ONE TWO CENT STAMP.

GROVES

TASTELESS

CHILL TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS. WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.

Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,

ABNEY, CARR & CO.

OPIUM Habit. Only guaranteed painless home cure. No interference with work. No publicity. Sample free. DR. PURDY, Dept. H, Houston, Texas.

Schley's Rescue of Lieutenant Greely.

In 1871, while a lieutenant-commander on the Asiatic station, Commodore W. S. Schley took part in an attack on the forces defending the fort on the Salee river, in Korea, wherein the Koreans were taught a lesson in regard to the power of the United States that they have not forgotten. Schley's services in rescuing the survivors of Greely's Arctic expedition in 1884 are a matter of history. He was chosen for the work because his fearlessness, self-possession and determination were recognized a just the qualities required for the emergency. He left his desk in the department at Washington on a day's notice, set out with the expedition, sailed straight to the polar regions and arrived at Cape Sabine in the nick of time. Had he tarried twenty-four hours on the way, he would have been two late; for Lieutenant Greely and his six companions were at the point of death from starvation and cold. He was in command of the Baltimore in the harbor of Valparaiso in October, 1891, when the sailors of his ship were set on by a Chillian mob ashore; one Yankee bluejacket was killed, and five others were badly hurt. Throughout the trying times which followed, Schley carried himself with a dignity and courage that commanded the admiration of the country.—McClure's Magazine.

Wanted to Surprise Him.

A thrifty man went to an auction to bid for a bookcase which he was sadly in need of. In due course the thing was put up, and there were several bidders for it.

The man continued to bid, but he was harassed by some woman who was bidding against him. The woman was in the crowd on the other side, and he could not see her, but he was determined to have it, and he bid up pretty high.

Finally it was knocked down to him, and the auctioneer asked his name. He gave it, and arranged to have the case sent home.

Just as he started out of the door some one tugged at his sleeve. He turned, and there was his wife.

Knowing that he wanted a bookcase, she had come down to buy one cheap and surprise him, and it was she who had been bidding against her husband. —Spare Moments.

Towed Twenty Miles by His Fish.

Clifton R. Scudder, who went to Catalina Island a few weeks ago in company with Samuel Cupples, had a thrilling experience with a big tuna the other day. He started fishing at three o'clock in the morning. At seven o'clock the fish struck his hook, and for seven hours afterwards there was an almost even struggle for the mastery. The strike occurred near the little town of Avalon, California, and at two o'clock, when the fish was finally brought to gaff, the boat had been towed fully twenty miles. The big fellow weighed one hundred and thirty pounds. It was found to be hooked in the back, which explained the vigorous and protracted fight it made. The time required to land this tuna exceeded by two hours and one-half any former record.—St. Louis Globe-

A Family of Sixty-two Children.

The Italians are discussing the advisability of pensioning Mrs. Maddalena Granatta, a lady of 57, who lives near Nocera, 12 miles from Naples. Her husband has been dead ten years, but during the 19 years they lived together as man and wife they had 62 children born to them, 59 of the lot being males. Eleven different times in nine years triplets were born, and on three different occasions four boys were announced, and once there were four boys and a girl.—London Times.

War correspondents were at it as far back as the time of Edward II. Scribes, specially commissioned, were sent up with the English army which invaded Scotland at that time. Incredible as it may sound, not one of the London newspapers was specially represented at the battle of Waterloo.

A Wonderful Clock.

In one of the town halls in a Japanese treaty port there is a remarkable time-piece. It is contained in a handsome frame, three feet wide and five feet long. It represents a noonday landscape, very cleverly carried out. In the foreground plum and cherry trees appear in bloom, while in the rear a hill is to be seen, from which flows a pretty cascade, imitated in crystal. From this cascade flows a tiny stream, which wends its way between rocks and islands and finaly loses itself in a stretch of woodland. In a miniature sky a golden sun turns on a silver wire, striking the hours on a silver gong as it passes. Each hour is marked by a creeping tortoise. A bird of rich plumage warbles at the close of the hour, and, as the warbling ceases, a mouse suddenly makes its appearance, and, scampering over the hill to the garden, is soon lost to view Altogether it is certainly a wonderful piece of mechanism.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Portraits of Harvard Law School.

After acting and persistent efforts, covering a period of about fifteen years Mr. John H. Arnold, the librarian of the Harvard Law School, has practically completed a very fine collection of portraits of English and American jurists. All of thee portraits, of which by far the larger number are engravings, have been classified and hung on the walls of the lecture rooms in Austin Hall. This collection is held to be the most extensive and valuable in America, and is said to be superior to any public collection in England. With the exception of a very few of the portraits, which have been given, they have all been purchased from the Law School funds, and many of them have been personally selected by Mr. Arnold in America and England.—The Boston Transcript.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Of the population of Spain more than 50,000 are gypsies.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

NERVOUS DEPRESSION.

[A TALK WITH MRS. PINKHAM.]

A woman with the blues is a very uncomfortable person. She is illogical, unhappy and frequently hysterical.

The condition of the mind known as "the blues," nearly always, with women, results from diseased organs of generation.

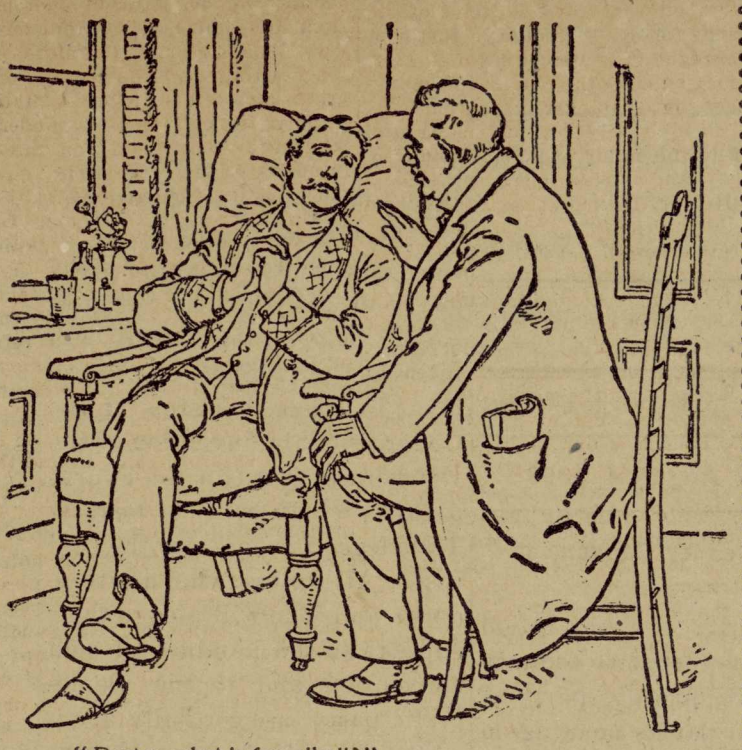
It is a source of wonder that in this age of advanced medical science, any person should still believe that mere force of will and determination will overcome depressed spirits and nervousness in women. These troubles are indications of disease.

Every woman who doesn't understand her condition should write to Lynn, Mass., to Mrs. Pinkham for her advice. Her advice is thorough common sense, and is the counsel of a learned woman of great experience. Read the story of Mrs. F. S. BENNETT, Westphalia, Kansas, as told in the following letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered for over two years with falling, enlargement and ulceration of the womb, and this spring, being in such a weakened condition, caused me to flow for nearly six months. Some time ago, urged by friends, I wrote to you for advice. After using the treatment which you advised for a short time, that terrible flow stopped.

"I am now gaining strength and flesh, and have better health than I have had for the past ten years. I wish to say to all distressed, suffering women, do not suffer longer, when there is one so kind and willing to aid you."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's remedy for woman's ills. More than a million women have been benefited by it.



"Doctor, what is free alkali?"

"The alkali used in the manufacture of soap is a strong chemical and is destructive of animal and vegetable tissue.

"Pure soap is harmless, but when the soap is carelessly or dishonestly made, alkali is left in it and it is then said to be 'free.' Soap containing free alkali should not be used where it may do damage.

"In the medical profession, in sickness, in surgery and in the hospitals we use Ivory Soap because it is pure and contains no free alkali.

"Ivory Soap is a powerful antiseptic, it is healing to a diseased surface and stimulating to a healthy skin."

IVORY SOAP IS 99 44/100 PER CENT. PURE.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea

Cures All Diseases of Women.

MANY women are under the impression that the diseases peculiar to their sex are natural and incurable because so many suffer constantly from them. This is a mistake. Few women are so badly diseased that they cannot be cured. It is true, that had they taken a remedy that was efficient when the first symptoms of disease appeared, a more rapid cure would have been the result. No woman should neglect herself. When the monthly period becomes too frequent, painful, profuse, obstructed, or irregular in any way, or if she suffers from falling of the womb, whites, or any other female trouble, she should at once resort to the use of

Gerstle's Female Panacea

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

Which is absolutely the best female remedy ever offered her. Even if she has been negligent and allowed disease to fasten itself upon her she should not despair of being cured. This medicine is a purely vegetable tonic, containing those ingredients intended by nature as a remedy for suffering women. It matters not if other remedies have been tried and proven failures—Gerstle's Female Panacea will not fail. If there is any tendency to costiveness, indigestion or biliousness, move the bowels gently with a few mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. If your druggist does not keep these medicines write us and we will send them to you, all charges paid, upon receipt of price. Panacea, $1.00 per Bottle. Liver Regulator, 25c per Package.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.

EDUCATIONAL.

VIRGINIA BUSINESS COLLEGE.
Commercial, Shorthand, Typewriting, English. $50 tuition admits to all departments for session of forty-two weeks. Open to both sexes. Graduates assisted to positions. Eleventh session begins September 6th. Catalogue free. B. A. DAVIS, JR., President, Box R, Richmond, Va.

Educate for a Situation

We educate you, and then secure a good position for you, besides paying your railroad fare. Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Telegraphy.

Massey's
BUSINESS COLLEGE,
COLUMBUS, GA.
Send at once for Catalogue No.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT,
Tulane University of Louisiana.
Its advantages for practical instruction, both in ample laboratories and abundant hospital materials are unequalled. Free access is given to the great Charity Hospital with 700 beds and 30,000 patients annually. Special instruction is given daily at the beside of the sick. The next session begins October 20th, 1898. For catalogue and information address
Prof. S. E. CHAILLE, M. D., Dean,
P. O. Drawer 261, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CALIFORNIA small or large guaranteed investments, withdrawable any time, paying large dividends. "Alina Colony," 220 Cal. St., San Francisco.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-30

GIN REPAIRS
SAWS, RIBS,
BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c.,
FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.
ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES
And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.
LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

St. Andrews Cold Tea
FOR THE LIVER
Cures Sick Headache, Biliousness. For sale by dealers. To get free sample package send 2c. stamp to ANDREWS MFG. CO.,
BRISTOL, TENN.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, August 4, 1898

Call for County Convention.

By authority of a resolution passed by the executive committee of the Democratic party of Shelby county at its meeting on the 7th of March, 1898, a convention of the Democratic party of Shelby county is hereby called, to be held at Columbiana on Monday, August 8, 1898, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Congressional Convention to be held at Talladega Springs on August 9, 1898, to nominate a Democratic candidate for Congressmen from the Fourth district of Alabama.

Delegates to said county convention will be selected by beat meetings to be held on August 6, 1898.

All voters who desire to do so, and who will pledge their support to the nominee of said convention and to the Democratic party, are invited to participate in said beat meetings. The following is the delegates to which each beat is entitled:

Beat 1 box 1—Columbiana,	9.
" 1 " 2—Shelby,	7.
Beat 2—Spring Creek,	1.
Beat 3—Calera,	10.
Beat 4 box 1—Montevallo,	11.
" 4 " 2—Gurnee,	1.
Beat 5—Tylers,	1.
Beat 6—Helena,	4.
Beat 7—Elliottsville,	4.
Beat 8—Yellow Leaf,	2.
Beat 9—Wilsonville,	8.
Beat 10—Harpersville,	10.
Beat 11—Weldon,	3.
Beat 12—Highland,	2.
Beat 13—Bold Springs,	1.
Beat 14—Vandiver,	1.
Beat 15—Sterrett,	1.
Beat 16—Vincent,	1.
Beat 17—Pelham,	3.
Beat 18—Dunnavant,	1.
Total, - - - - - - - -	85

W. B. BROWNE,
Chairman.

There were 500,000 bushels of wheat raised in Alabama this year. It is now wheat, hogs and hominy.

DEMOCRATIC BEAT MEETING.

There will be a beat meeting of the Democratic party held for Beat 4 in the town of Montevallo on the 6th day of August, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the County Congressional Convention, which will meet at Columbiana on the 8th inst., to select delegates to the Congressional Convention of the Democratic party for the Fourth district, which will be held at Talladega Springs on the 9th inst. All voters who desire to do so, and who will pledge their support to the nominee of said convention aud to the Democratic party, are cordially invited to participate in said beat meeting.

Now for incorporation.

Montevallo needs waterworks badly.

Montevallo will soon be incorporated.

Montevallo is still the banner beat of Shelby.

We will now see whether or not the reformers will reform.

The First Alabama regiment, now at Miami, Fla., has been ordered to Porto Rico.

Some citizen could make himself famous if he would invest a few shekels in a nice school building. That is what we need just now.

The election is so close that it will take the official count to decide. But the indications are that the Fusions have elected most of the ticket.

There is a big demand for houses here. If you are looking for an investment, you can't do better than to build a few neat cottages for rent.

Montevallo is the most enterprising city in the State for its size. Let every one pull together, and in a few years we will have a town that can't be beat.

Montevallo needs a good graded school. Our citizens should make an effort to obtain one. Prof. Ruffin will give us one if he can get the proper encouragement.

Subscribe for the News.

The election on last Monday passed off very quietly. We have been unable to get full returns, but it is conceded that the State has gone Democratic by at least 60,000 majority. Our county has gone Populist by a small majority. Other counties in the State elected a full Populist ticket, while others were divided. In Bibb the Democrats elected two county officers—superintendent of education and representative. The Democrats elected all circuit judges and chancellors.

Win and the folks are with you;
Lose, and they call you snide,
For it's been men's way
Since Adam's day
To flock to the winning side.

Next Monday our county convention will meet at Columbiana to select delegates to the Congressional Convention.

While the delegates to this convention are casting about for a candidate, we would like to suggest the name of one of the purest and best sons of Shelby county—an upright, Christian gentleman, a friend to us all—Hon. E. S. Lyman.

It was thought yesterday that the war was about ended, but to-day's dispatches say another hitch occurs in the peace proceedings. Spain objects to our dictating her policy in the Philippine Islands.

There was a wreck on the Birmingham Mineral road at McAdory, near Bessemer, yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Nobody was fatally hurt, but 16 passengers were more or less injured, two seriously.

Win your battles against disease by acting promptly. One Minute Cough Cure produces immediate results. When taken early it prevents consumption. And in later stages it furnishes prompt relief. F. F. Crowe & Co.

The editor of the Evans City, Pa. Globe writes: "One Minute Cough Cure is rightly named. It cured my children after all other remedies failed." It cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

DR. J. P. HALEY,
DENTIST,
Of Selma, Ala.
Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, September 5, 1898.

University of Alabama
Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898
ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,
EXPENSES LOW.
COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science.
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's Business Colleges
Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address
C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA.

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

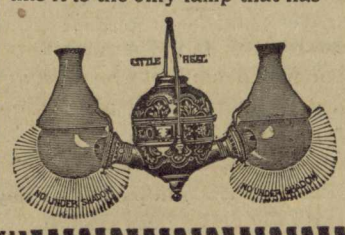
FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber,
Montevallo, - - Ala
Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Taken for Granted

Some people take it for granted that as long as they use oil lamps they must put up with all manner of inconvenience. That's wrong.

THE ANGLE LAMP

is different from any lamp you ever saw, because it gives absolutely no trouble, is lighted and extinguished as easily as gas, is more brilliant than electricity and cheaper to burn than any other lamp in the world. Besides this it is the only lamp that has



"No-Under-Shadow"

Folks who want a perfect light should see this lamp in operation. All styles, from one burner up. Unequalled for stores, homes, churches, hotels, etc.

W. B. McCluney & Co., Agts.,
Montevallo, Ala.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L. MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Mr. Fred Reynolds has gone to——

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Mr. Bingham, of Tuscaloosa, will open a dairy here soon.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds visited Birmingham on business this week.

Try a bottle of V. V. V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

We are glad to see Welton Nabors out again after his recent spell of fever.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

Mrs. Barker and daughter, of Summerfield, are visiting friends in town.

The editor has an invitation to a banquet of crow up Salt Creek next week.

Mrs. Emma Nash, of St. Louis, is visiting her brother, P. N. Hoskins, at Aldrich.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Mr. John Carlisle, of Talladega, attended the Carlisle-Bryan marriage Tuesday night.

Messrs. Harry Reynolds and Charley Acker returned from Birmingham Tuesday morning

The new catalogue of the A. P. I. is a work of art. President Reynolds spared neither pains nor expense to make it complete.

Miss Imogene Vandegrift will please accept our thanks for the delicious fruit sent us.

When you are very warm and thirsty, go to Crowe's and get a glass of ice cold soda water.

Misses Ethel Strong and Lucile Fancher left yesterday on a visit to friends at Ashby.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

The young people enjoyed quite a nice sociable at the home of Miss Lois McCauley Tuesday night.

Miss Bessie Hoskins, of Aldrich, has returned from Birmingham, where she has been visiting friends.

Little Miss Ione and Master Frank, children of Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Crowe, are visiting relatives at Blocton.

Quite a crowd of young people came over from Calera to attend the sociable given by Mrs. Payne Tuesday night.

Mrs. C. C. Vandegrift and daughter, Miss Imogene, have returned from their visit to Birmingham and Branchville.

We would suggest that during this wet weather would be a splendid time to sprinkle lime freely about your premises.

Mr. C. C. Vandegrift, general sales agent for the Campbell Coal Mining Company of Imogene, has gone to Demopolis on business.

While passing stock laws, we trust that some of our up-to-date legislators will pass a law prohibiting other folks' dogs from trespassing on other folks' cribs.

WANTED.—Two mules four feet six inches high, weighing about 850 pounds, from five to seven years old. Will buy or trade for larger mules. Address G. F. Peter, Maylene, Ala.

We were glad to see our young friend, Edgar Cary, looking so well. He reports all of the Montevallo boys at Miami in good health and enjoying themselves finely. Edgar will leave to-morrow (Friday) to rejoin his regiment.

"I think DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the finest preparation on the market for piles." So writes John C. Dunn, of Wheeling, W. Va. Try it and you will think the same. It also cures eczema and all skin diseases. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Private Edgar Cary, of the First Alabama regiment, now at Miami, Fla., reached home on a sad mission last Thursday morning. He came in response to a telegram, saying his brother was very ill and not expected to live. He reached home too late to see his brother alive, but in time, however, to attend the funeral.

NOTICE!

A reward of $5.00 is hereby offered for evidence to convict the party or parties who recently castrated my fine Berkshire boar.

Some party has the 37th volume of my Columbia Encyclopædia. They will greatly oblige by returning.

D. L. WILKINSON, M. D.

CARLISLE—BRYAN.

Married, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bryan, at 8 o'clock p. m. on Tuesday last. Mr. M. W. Carlisle and Miss Florrie Bryan. The beautiful and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor of the M. E. Church. Only a few intimate friends were invited. The bride and groom have many friends in our town who extend to them their best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life. Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle left Wednesday morning for Talladega, where they will in future reside.

The Chief Burgess of Milesburg, Pa., says DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills he ever used in his family during forty years of housekeeping. They cure constipation, sick headache and stomach and liver troubles. Small in size but great in results. F. F. Crowe & Co.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the good people of Montevallo and Spring Creek communities for their kind assistance and tender sympathy in our sad misfortune on the evening of July 31st. May God send His richest blessings on them all.

Yours in Christ and Love,
J. F. ALLEN AND WIFE,
A. J. EDWARDS AND WIFE.

Bob Moore, of LaFayette, Ind., says that for constipation he has found DeWitt's Little Early Risers to be perfect. They never gripe. Try them for stomach and liver troubles. F. F. Crowe & Co.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the young people met at the Methodist church for the purpose of organizing an Epworth League. Twenty-six members were enrolled, and the following officers were elected:

President, W. B. McCluney.
1st Vice President, Miss Bessie Allen.
2nd " " Miss Myrtle Lawrence.
3rd " " Miss Birdie Allen.
Secretary, Miss Imogene Vandegrift.
Treasurer, Miss Kate Reynolds.

TWO INFANTS DROWNED.

Last Sunday Mr. John Allen, a farmer living near town, spent the day with a friend at Aldrich. With him were his wife and four children, and Mrs. Edwards, his wife's sister, and her baby. During the day a very heavy rain fell, which caused a small stream, which they had to cross coming home, to overflow its banks. On their return home about four o'clock that evening, they attempted to cross this swollen stream, and in doing so the wagon became uncoupled, precipitating its occupants into the water. Mr. Allen succeeded in saving three of the children, but his baby and Mrs. [illegible]ds' baby were drowned before help arrived. Had it not been for the timely arrival of Mr. J. D. Farrington, the calamity would have been much greater. One of the bodies was recovered late Sunday evening and the other Monday morning. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved families in their sad misfortune.

Dr. Henry Backus, for many years a resident of Montevallo, died in Selma on the 2d inst. at the ripe age of 82. He was a native of New York, but came South at the age of 18, thinking he had consumption. He settled in Selma, studied medicine, married and began his practice there. He gained distinction during a yellow fever epidemic there before the war, and advanced some very important theories in the treatment of diseases. He was a man of great intellect. Some of his professional papers made for him quite a reputation as a ripe scholar. His widow is in a precarious condition, both having been invalids for some time. Many friends here extend sympathy to the bereaved ones in their affliction.

E. C. Blanks, of Lewisville, Texas, writes that one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was worth $50,000 to him. It cured his piles of ten years standing. He advises others to try it. It also cures eczema, skin diseases and obstinate sores. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A SAD BEREAVEMENT.

It is truthfully said, "Death loves a shining mark." It could not have been portrayed more fully than it was on Wednesday night, July 27th, 1898, when the young spirit of Earl Cary took its flight to the God who gave it.

William Earl Cary was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Cary. He was 15 years and 4 months old at the time of his death. He was taken sick on Tuesday, July 19th, with an attack of bilious-malarial fever. All that loving hands, tender nursing and medical skill could do was done to save this young boy's life. But God knew best. His will, not ours, be done. Earl lingered until 10 o'clock Wednesday night, July 27th, when he gently fell asleep in Jesus.

A short but impressive funeral service was held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist church, conducted by Rev. P. L. Abernethy, after which the remains were followed to their last resting place in the Montevallo cemetery by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives, there to await the resurrection morn.

Many friends deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Cary in the loss of their dear son, it being the first death that has occurred in their family.

Sick headache, biliousness, constipation and all liver and stomach troubles can be quickly cured by using those famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They are pleasant to take and never gripe. F. F. Crowe & Co.

JOB PRINTING.

LETTER-HEADS,
NOTE-HEADS,
BILL-HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
CIRCULARS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS, Etc.,
Done in first-class style on short notice, at the

NEWS : OFFICE,

THE LITTLE ARMCHAIR.

Nobody sits in the little armchair,
It stands in a corner dim,
But a white-haired mother, gazing there,
And yearningly thinking of him,
Sees through the dusk of long ago
The bloom of her boy's sweet face,
As he rocks so merrily to and fro,
With a laugh that cheers the place.

Sometimes he holds a book in his hand,
Sometimes a pencil and slate:
And the lesson is hard to understand,
And the figures hard to mate:
But she sees the nod of the father's head,
So proud of his little son,
And she hears the word so often said,
"No fear for our little one."

They were wonderful days, the dear sweet days,
When a child with sunny hair
Was hers to scold, to kiss and to praise,
At her knee in the little chair,
She lost him back in her busy years,
When the great world caught the man,
And he strode away past hopes and fears
To his place in the battle's van.

But now and then in a wistful dream,
Like a picture out of date,
She sees a head with a golden gleam
Bent over a pencil and slate,
And she lives again the happy day,
The day of her young life's spring,
When the small arm-chair stood just in the way,
The center of everything.

MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

Siege of the Wallow.

A Brave Frontiersman's Deed.

The western "bad man" was in a reminiscent mood and he remarked that he knew of no parallel to the heroism of Amos Chapman.

"To fight Indians was bad enough," he continued, "but to be corralled by them in a buffalo wallow and held there by them, and water up to your neck—that is an inferno with the lid off.

"I knew Chapman quite well. He had been on the frontier a long time. He was from the East. He had hunted buffalo, traded with Indians, fought with them in 1868, and finally married a Cheyenne. He was not more than 30 years old, tough, sure shot, good interpreter, fearless rider, and as brave as a man could be.

"It was in September, 1874, that Gen. Miles' command was camped on the Red River, in the Texas Panhandle, where it had followed the retreating Indians, or rather the main body of them, Prairie Dog Dave and I were selected as the two scouts to carry despatches from Gen. Miles to Major Compton, whose command was located on McClelland Creek. about seventy-five miles to the north. Some of the despatches were really intended for Camp Supply, in the Indian Territory, still further north, but our instructions were simlp to deliver them to Major Compton. Dave and I hoped to be sent on to Camp Supply with them, for we needed some new and warmer clothes, as it was beginning to be cold nights.

"We were not clad in buckskin and beads as scouts are usually pictured. Our clothing simply consisted of a pair of cheap overalls, calico shirts, soft hat and a pair of boots. We had lived in them all summer and thought it about time to change them. We reached Compton's camp without incident and cursed our luck when we received return despatches to Miles, while ours were turned over to Billy Dixon and Amos Chapman to take to Camp Supply. Later when we learned what they went through we took it all back.

"It was known that there was a marauding band of the red devils somewhere in the vicinity, but, like the Irishman's flea, it was a difficult matter to put a finger on them. They might be in one spot one day and fifty miles or more away the next. It was considered best to send a sergeant and five soldiers with the scout for greater security, and, as was customary, they took an unbeaten trail to their destination.

"Now, it happened that this roving band of reds, numbering fully 300 warriors, had been laying a five days' siege to Jack Callahan's twenty-five six-mule Government supply train in the sand hills of the Wachita river. The train was bringing supplies from Camp Supply down to Gen. Miles. It was surprised at this bad place for a fight, and was forced to go into corral. This is done by putting two wagons together in A shape, stringing the rest down the sides, and closing them up at the other end V way. The mules and horses are kept comparatively safe in the inclosure made by the wagons, while the teamsters and soldiers get what protection they can from behind the wheels or by digging rifle pits beneath the wagons. They can shoot with little danger of being hit. Such a corral can stand off an army of Indians until the water gives out. The Indians attacked the train for five days, killing one Lieutenant, two soldiers, and some of the animals. Their loss was heavy. Soldiers of Company K. Sixth Cavalry, Capt. Kingsbury, from Camp Supply, had appeared upon the scene driven off the Cheyennes, and relieved the besieged.

"Chapman and Dixon, with their little escort, had crossed the Wachita, some three or four miles below where the pack train had been held up, but, of course, knew nothing of its presence or that of the Indians. On a rolling prairie country such as they were in it is a difficult matter to see any great distance on account of the knolls and hollows. They were coming out of a small draw or canon, when suddenly they espied the savages, who were almost directly upon them. There was but one thing to do, and that was to get out upon the open prairie, where there would be a chance to fight. Temporary protection would be afforded by getting behind things in the canon, but it would only be a matter of a short time when they would be surrounded and shot at from all directions. As experienced men, they knew this. A dash was made for the prairie, and they reached it in a shower of shot. It is impossible to shoot well from the back of a rapidly moving horse.

"It was the plan to find a buffalo wallow, lie as flat as possible in it, and shoot until dead. Before such a place was found the scouts and soldiers dismounted, so as to shoot better and keep the Indians from getting too close before they could get into cover. A couple of dead Indians will stop one hundred live ones from coming too near. One soldier held the bridle reins of the horses while the rest of the men retreated behind them and shot at the advancing host. The Indians likewise dismounted, so that they could also shoot better and not be such good targets. It may seem strange that such la large body of Indians would not make just one charge and overwhelm the white men by force of numbers, but that is not the Indian way. They will not take a risk if they can help it. They will not trade anywhere near even with the white man when life is at stake.

"Before a buffalo wallow could be found the soldier holding the horses was shot and killed and the animals stampeded. Then there was a race for life to the nearest hole. Some thirty feet from one another soldier was shot, but not killed. He lay there and yelled in the agony of fear and pain.

"'Don't let them scalp me, boys! For God's sake don't let them get me!' he shrieked. The rest had safely got into the wallow.

"It was with this appeal ringing in his ears that Amos Chapman, without a word to his mates, but just a yell, 'I'm coming,' sprang up out of the wallow, his six-shooter in hand, ran to the wounded man, seized and sought to drag him back. The Indians fired a volley at him and made a rush toward him. I don't know how many shot were fired at Chapman, but the only place he was hit was below the left knee. The bone was shattered to splinters. Some of the bullets hit the dying soldier and hastened his end. Chapman's leg gave way under him like a piece of rubber, but he never weakened or let go. Reaching ahead with his good leg and the knee of the left, he dragged the soldier along with his left hand, piece by piece, firing his gun with his right.

"The men in the wallow kept up a fusillade and the Indians were held back. Painfully but persistently Chapman dragged himself and the man along. Sometimes he sought to rise hoping that the leg would hold, but it doubled under him. It did not take many minutes for all this to happen. Chapman and the wounded soldier reached the hole, where the latter died in a little while. Now, if that isn't an example of heroic bravery, then I don't know what is. One might criticise his judgment, but not his bravery. He could not and would not see that soldier slaughtered and scalped, and put his own life in peril to prevent it. Had he been killed the lives of all the others would have been placed in still greater jeopardy by the loss of a defender, but those things were not thought of. There was but one idea, and the instant it was conceived it was put into execution. Dixon would have done the same thing had not Chapman been quicker. When I think of such things to-day I believe that men like Chapman should have a monument. He got a cork leg from the government and a second lieutenant's pension when he retired.

"I cannot go into the details of the uneven fight that followed, for I was not there, and only know the story from what Dixon and Chapman afterward told me. The ordinary buffalo wallow, which is made by buffaloes rolling and wallowing around in the soft earth, is about a dozen feet in diameter and perhaps two or three feet deep. The men cut away the dirt from around the edge with their knives and threw the loose material up in front. This afforded greater protection, as only the head was exposed, and then only when firing, which had to be kept up.

"They stood off that big band of cowards all that day, and it must have been something awful. The shooting on the part of the Indians was almost continuous, for there were a lot of them, and they had plenty of ammunition, as they captured a lot of the horses. Three more of the soldiers were killed, the sergeant was shot twice, and, in fact, the only one to escape with a whole skin was Bill Dixon.

"Just to illustrate what curs Indians are, they just camped around that buffalo wallow, hiding behind their horses, shooting, while some of them yelled in English to Chapman to come out and fight. Just think, they wanted him to stand up and be shot at by the 300. They were anxious to kill him particularly, for he had married one of their squaws and was against them.

"That night there was a terrific rainstorm, which filled the wallow to the brim with water. The wounded men had to keep their heads above water so as not to drown, while they had to keep their guns and ammunition dry and be constantly on the watch for an attack. I need not dwell upon the horrors of that night and of the sufferings of these men, who rested their bodies upon those of the dead ones below, and sat through the long hours in the water, thick with the blood that oozed from their wounds and from the remains of their companions. It must have been a fearful experience.

"As Dixon was the only one uninjured, he crawled out of the wallow during the worst of the storm and started south toward Major Compton's command for help. He had no trouble in passing the Indians for they were intent upon protecting themselves from the downpour. Indians do not like water. Dixon traveled fully thirty miles on foot that night in the drenching rain, and as day broke he took refuge in a clump of wild plum bushes. During the forenoon he saw a body of horsemen in the distance, but it was some time before he assured himself that it was a body of soldiers out scouting. He fired his gun and attracted their attention.

"The party at once started back to the rescue, but some precaution had to be taken. Dixon, with remarkable instinct, brought them back to within a few rods of the wallow, but it was dusk and there was danger of being mistaken for Indians, who, by the way, had cleared out, for reasons known to themselves. It was some time before Chapman could be convinced that it was Dixon calling him and not the Indians who had tried to lure him out by talking English.

"All that day the men had been in torture, and still they were a long way from the hospital. Chapman rode seventy-five miles on horseback to Camp Supply, where the leg was amputated below the knee. He was out in a month, but always had to mount his horse afterward with his left leg, as the Indians do. He and Ben Clark escorted Dull Knife's band of Cheyennes down from the Dakotas to the Indian reservation in 1877. Chapman is living with the Indians now, and Billy Dixon has a ranch at the old 'Dobey Walls.'"—New York Sun.

Mammoth Japanese Painting.

What is probably the biggest picture ever painted was the work of Hokusai, the celebrated Japanese artist, who died in the middle of this century.

In 1871, when the artist was in his 58th year, he paid a visit to Negoya, where several of his pupils had settled. At this time his book illustrations were in great demand, and his enemies took occasion to observe that he was capable of nothing more than little drawings of this sort. This irritated Hokusia, who proclaimed, ironically, that if the greatness of a painter were to be measured by the size of his work he could prove himself great indeed. He and his pupils immediately set to work to confound their adversaries, and to make preparation for the drawing in public, by the master, of the largest picture on record.

The paper for the huge masterpiece was specially made, of great thickness, many large pieces being deftly joined to make a sheet of the area of 120 tatami, or Japanese floor mats, Now, as these tatami are invariably of one size —6x3 exactly—it is easy to calculate that Hokusai's big picture was to occupy a sheet of paper of 240 square yards in area. Brushes were made, of which the very smallest were brooms. Ink and color were prepared in barrels, with buckets for convenience of carriage. Upon the vast sheet the master proceeded to paint an immense figure of Daruma, the ancient hermit. The head, from the extreme crown to the lowest of the chin, measured thirty-two feet. Hokusai's signature and the date appeared at the left-hand side, and the whole thing remained suspended on the scaffold till the next day for the wonder and admiration of the crowd, which was vast.—Strand Magazine.

Navy Charts.

No office in the Navy Department has felt the drain upon its stock in trade as has the chartroom of the Hydrographic Office. Chief Craige said recently that almost every ship that is put into commission has gone out with a complete set of maps and charts. "A few of the boats recently commissioned have not received complete sets, and it is all we can do to supply them. The usual number of maps supplied is something less than 300. These are in series and are incased in tin portfolios, each portfolio containing the maps of its especial section of the globe. The department has been working day and night in its printing office rushing out the charts necessary to complete the stock."

Rare Steeple Climbing.

Vienna has been astonished lately by some daring steeple climbing. A steeple jack celebrated the beginning of the festivities for Emperor Francis Joseph's jubilee by climbing in the night to the top of one of the steeples of the Votive Church, 306 feet from the ground, by means of the lightning rods and architectural ornaments, and hanging on it a yellow and black banner twenty feet long. He gave a minute description of the manner in which he accomplished his foolhardy feat to the newspapers. A few nights later some one else imitated him by climbing the steeple and stealing the flag.

Agriculturists in Peru and Chile are paying especial attention to the growing of cotton.

NEXT REUNION IN CHARLESTON

SOUTH CAROLINA METROPOLIS IS SELECTED BY VETERANS.

OLD HEROES PARADE IN RAIN.

Great Demonstration as They Marched Through Atlanta's Streets—Closing Scenes of Reunion.

The next annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans will be held in Charleston, S. C.

By a vote of 1,054 to 870 at Friday's session of the convention of the U. C. V. in Atlanta, the contest between the South Carolina city and Louisville was decided in the former's favor.

The advantages of the two cities and the warmth of the welcomes they held in store for the heroes who wore the gray were pictured in glowing terms by the eloquent representatives which they had sent to capture the veterans.

So deeply impressed were the veterans by the orators from Louisville that the sentiment was expressed that in 1900 they would gather there.

Daughter of the Confederacy.

Shortly before the convention began to act upon the matter of selecting the next place of convocation Miss Winnie Davis was escorted into the hall by members of the Atlanta chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy. No sooner did the old soldiers catch sight of her familiar face than they instantly sent up their hats into the air in rapturous demonstrations of enthusiasm.

General Gordon was specially felicitious in presenting Miss Davis to the veterans. Said he:

"Let me present to you the daughter of President Jefferson Davis, the daughter of the confederacy and the daughter of this organization. Comrades, behold our daughter!"

Immediately after the selection of Charleston as the next meeting place, General Cabell, of the Trans-Mississippi department, stated that as there was no business to be brought before the convention Saturday he did not think there was any necessity for another session.

This announcement was received with approval, and in preparation for winding up the reunion a number of resolutions were passed.

Atlanta was thanked upon the motion of the Washington City delegation for the magnificent reception she had accorded the veterans.

General Gordon was thanked for the able, fair and impartial manner in which he presided over the sessions of the body. General S. D. Lee, and the other officers were also accorded thanks. The closing scene was a magnificent one.

Marched in the Rain.

The parade of the United Confedate Veterans' association, which was one of the grandest sights ever witnessed in Atlanta and which promised to be one of the largest ever seen in the south, was interfered with by a heavy downpour of rain Friday afternoon, which caused more than half of the participants to disperse and seek shelter.

Though the rain fell in torrents and the streets were small rivers, the majority of the grizzled old veterans marched through it as they did in the sixties and seemed to enjoy it. Thousands of Atlanta's citizens and tens of thousands of visitors watched and cheered the mud-bespattered heroes as they marched to the tune of "Dixie" and slowly wiped the water from their faces and wrung it out of their coats.

The sight was a remarkable one and one that will never be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to witness it. Here were hundreds of old veterans, who have almost reached the limit allotted to each man as a life, marching light-hearted through the streets of Atlanta behind generals and commanders who led them in war, not paying the slightest attention to the sheets of rain which beat against them and remaining utterly regardless of the consequences of the exposure.

The first portion of the parade was a grand success and here the veterans were seen in all their glory. True, a light rain fell from the time the parade began to move, but it was not sufficient to interfere with the movements of the old soldiers. So it was that at the given signal and at the sound of "Dixie" from the Fifth regiment band the parade moved off and started on its triumphal, through peaceful, march through Atlanta, which, on that same day, thirty-four years ago, was being defended by the men in gray.

In honor of these old men, who are an honor to their southland, Atlanta's entire population, in addition to thousands of visitors, stood on the streets through which the parade was to make its way, and nothing daunted by the rain, cheered lustily the old heroes as they marched along.

The most remarkable thing of the parade and the most remarkable scene which has probably been witnessed in the city, was the review of the parade by General John B. Gordon.

QUEEN IS TEARFUL.

To Save the Little King She Implores Ministers to Sue For Peace.

A special dispatch from Madrid gives the following account of the queen regent's daily life during the present crisis:

"Poor queen! This is the exclamation so often heard of late, day after day, as matters grow worse and worse as the Spanish disasters repeat themselves, and as the throne of the little king seems slipping away from her hands, into which it was given trust. I see her majesty looking careworn and anxious. Even her drives are becoming fewer and fewer.

"It would surely appeal to any mother in the world were she to see the way this queen-mother each day seems to cling closer and closer to her boy, as though to shield him from the dangers closing about him with almost fatal force. It is touching to witness it. Her worst enemies recognize in the queen personal qualities worthy of the highest admiration. The queen used every means at her disposal to prevent war. Her great hope lay in Senor Moret (Senor Moret y Prendergast, the former minister of the colonies), and he would have carried his point but for Senor Gullon, the former minister for foreign affairs.

"Today and ever since the war began the great occupation of the queen is to find the quickest way for its termination. At many of the councils of late held at the palace the queen has burst into tears, begging and urging her ministers to seek a solution for the terms of peace, which they seem incapable of materializing. Peace —which the queen with common sense sees to be of such vital importance, and which her ministers keep postponing with the word so fatal to Spain —Manana (tomorrow). The queen has taken every chance offered in the council of putting in a word for peace, and, little by little, she has finally managed to bring the cabinet to her view and to thoughts of peace."

TOWN DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Two Hundred Houses, Twenty Stores and Three Hotels Burned.

A special from Halifax, N. S., says: The town of Pugwash, 1,200 inhabitants, a shipping port of considerable importance on the straits of Northumberland, was wiped out by fire Monday, 200 dwellings, five churches, twenty stores, three hotels and several mills being destroyed. The fire started in a business block through a lamp exploding, and a high wind and the complete absence of water supply or fire-fighting apparatus soon carried the flames beyond control.

The fire swept through whole blocks with lightning-like rapidity, and people fled for their lives, losing everything. The inhabitants are now encamped in the fields; many are reported missing. Relief is being organized in every direction.

HOBSON VISITS PRESIDENT.

MERRIMAC HERO ACCORDED AN OVATION AT THE CAPITAL.

HE IS AWARDED A CONTRACT.

Will Raise the Colon and Maria Teresa. He Will Visit His Mother at Lithia Springs, Ga.

Lieutenant Hobson, after a busy afternoon Friday in Washington, where he was given such a reception as has not been accorded a popular hero in modern times, left again for New York. He is there to confer with a wrecking company as to its ability to send men and machinery at once to Santiago to raise the Maria Teresa and the Cristobal Colon.

The wrecking experts sent from Newport News have reported adversely on the Colon, claiming that it could not be floated. Hobson says it can, and visited Washington to urge the president to take his testimony rather than others, and to give the contract at once to a company to raise the vessel. He succeeded in convincing the president and Secretary Long that his judgment in the matter was correct, and they authorized him to go to New York and make terms with the contractors.

Lieutenant Hobson proposes to pay two visits before he starts again to Cuba. One is to his mother at Sweetwater park hotel, Lithia Springs, Ga., and the other is to Annapolis, where he goes to thank Admiral Cervera for the message he sent to Sampson.

"The relief it must have given my mother alone," he said, "will make me deeply grateful to the admiral forever, and I am going in person to thank him for that simple but thoughtful act."

PRESIDENT THANKS VETERANS.

Sends Message to Gen. Gordon Regarding Reunion Resolutions.

President McKinley is truly grateful for the sentiments of loyalty and allegiance expressed by the message from the confederate veterans sent by Commanding General Gordon during the reunion held in Atlanta and has so expressed himself in a letter.

The letter which the president writes to General Gordon is as follows:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23. To Hon. John B. Gordon, Commander-in-Chief United Confederate Veterans, Atlanta, Ga.— Dear General Gordon: Your recent telegram in behalf of the United Confederate Veterans was very welcome and I would have written to you before in acknowledgement, excepting for the unusual demands upon my time.

The present war has certainly served one very useful purpose in completely obliterating the sectional lines drawn in the last one. The response to the union's call to arms has been equally spontaneous and patriotic in all parts of the country. Veterans of the gray, as well of the blue, are now fighting side by side, winning equal honor and renown. Their brave deeds and the unequaled triumphs of our army and navy have received the gratitude of the people of the United States.

To have such a hearty commendation from yourself and your colleagues of the work of this administration in the conduct of the war and the pledge of whatsoever support may be needed to help in bringing it to a successful completion, is indeed most gratifying, and I thank you especially for the frank and cordial expression of the resolutions passed and forwarded to me. With very kind regards, I am, sincerely yours,

WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

The resolutions adopted by the United Confederate veterans, which were telegraphed the president and which were responsible for his letter of thanks, follow:

"Whereas, the United States of America are at present engaged in a war with Spain in the interest of human liberty, and,

"Whereas, our comrades and our sons are members of that glorious army and navy, the achievements of which are now the wonder of mankind; therefore, be it,

"Resolved, "That we, the members of the United Confederate Veterans, pledge our government the support of the organization in this crisis of affairs, standing ready at all times with men and money, irrespective of political affiliation, to support the president of the United States as commander-in-chief of our army until an honorable peace is conquered from the enemy."

The passing of the resolutions was one of the most significant things that the convention of veterans did, and will be appreciated by all patriotic citizens, who love to know that the country is reunited and that the confederate veterans are as anxious to fight for the stars and stripes as they were for the stars and bars thirty-eight years ago.

SONS OF VETS ADJOURN.

Last Day's Session Devoted to the Fair Sponsors.

The final session of the convention of Sons of Veterans was held in Atlanta Friday morning at 11 o'clock in the hall of the house of representatives. It was the occasion of a reception to the sponsors of the camps of Sons of Veterans and a very elegant affair.

Little business was undertaken, as it was not intended to take up any work. A few changes were, however, made in regard to the regular order of business. The most important of these was the election of every sponsor present or any one who represented a camp of the Sons of Veterans at the present reunion as honorary members of the federation.

PRISONERS GREET OUR FLAG.

Spanish Express Gratitude at Their Kind Treatment.

A Portsmouth, N. H., special says: It is learned that a remarkable demonstration occurred at Camp Long, on Peavey's island, where the captured sailors of Admiral Cervera's fleet are confined. As the United States gunboat Froline passed the island on her way to Cuba hundreds of the prisoners greeted the vessel with cheers and waving of hands.

The ovation took the Americans by surprise. The outburst was regarded by those in charge of the camy as a result of good treatment received here by the Spaniards, who took this method of expressing their g:atitude.

BRITISH SHIP CAUGHT.

She Was Taken as a Prize For Trying to Run the Blockade.

The British steamer, Regulus, of about 1,500 tons, was captured by the United States auxiliary gunboat Hawk nineteen miles from Sagua la Grande, province of Santa Clara, and was taken to Key West. She had landed a cargo at Sagua la Grande and was coming out when taken. The Hawk hailed her by megaphone and told her she was a prisoner for running the blockade.

No protest was made to this and Ensign Schofields was put aboard with a prize crew.

EMPLOYMENT OFFERED

In Advance to Officers of the Spanish Army In Cuba.

The Madrid correspondent of The London Observer says: The condition of government is now most critical and the authorities are devoting all their attention to preventing a revolution and safeguarding the dynasty.

The government offers the 8,000 officers of the army in Cuba employment immediately upon their return to Spain, with the object of removing their opposition to the establishment f peace.

MONTEVALLO, ALA., Aug. 3, 1898.

EDITOR NEWS:

My attention has been called to a caluminous report which was, during the last few days of the campaign, circulated in the Dogwood community, to the effect that Rev. N. J. Jarvis had bartered his suppart to me. I ask the privilege, through the medium of your journal, of doing simple justice to Mr. Jarvis by an emphatic refutation of the charges.

Possibly it resulted from some careless expression of a thoughtless and reckless person; but from whatever cause it arose, a man's reputation is too sacred to be so ruthlessly handled. I can not believe that any one who is acquainted with Mr. Jarvis and myself would for a moment credit such a slanderous report. To such as may not be advised of his character, I desire to say that Mr. Jarvis is honest in his convictions on every question and expresses them boldly and fearlessly. Such a man is never susceptible to bribery, and the aspersion will be treated with deserved contempt by those who know him. Mr. Jarvis and I have ever been personal friends. My observation is that he is conspicuously honest and candid in political matters. Four years ago when I was first a candidate, he came to me and expressed regret that he would have to vote against me, which his allegiance to his party compelled him to do. I expressed to him then my appreciation of his candor, and assured him that our present relations would not be the least disturbed. Upon my recent nomination, he came to me and without the slightest solicitation said he had made up his mind to vote hereafter for men whom he thought best qualified for office, and on this ground would support me, but expected to vote the Populist ticket with this exception. He asked me to so inform Judge McMillan, who had solicited his support. Some men who had reached the same determination were lashed back to old allignments by the cry of "traitor," "bribe taker," etc.; but it is only another evidence of the sturdy honesty, independence and courage of Mr. Jarvis that he could not be shaken from his conviction of right. I have too much appreciation and admiration for manhood and integrity to insult such an one by even a suggestion of remuneration for political support. Anything to the contrary is slanderous and basely false.

Yours truly,
E. S. LYMAN.

THE BRICK HOTEL,

ST GEORGE,

ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.,

Montevallo - - - Ala.

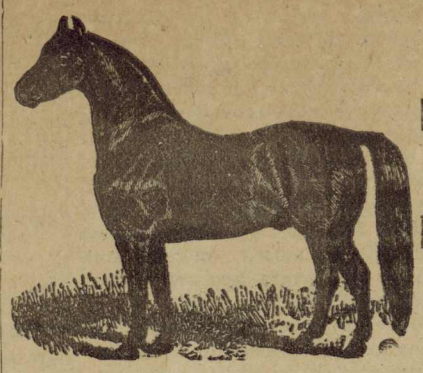
New and Centrally Located.

☞ Special attention given the commercial man.

Rates $2 00 per day.

Large sample room free

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

☞ Office at Store. Manager.

Subscribe

For

THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

NEW STORE!

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

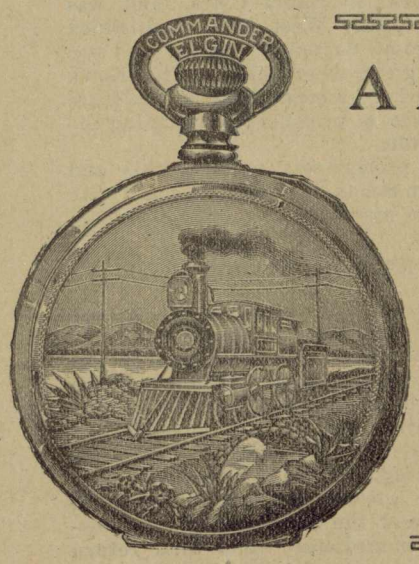
Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.



A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, '98. NO. 31.

SOME TIME.

Some time, when all life's lessons have been learned,
And sun and stars forevermore have set,
The things which our weak judgment here has scorned—
The things o'er which we grieved with lashes wet—
Will flash before us out of life's dark night,
As stars shine most in deeper tints of blue;
And we shall see how all God's plan's were right,
And how what seemed reproof was love most true.

And we shall see, that while we frown and sigh,
God's plans go on as best for you and me;
How, when we called, he heeded not our cry,
Because his wisdom to the end could see:
And, e'en as prudent parents disallow
Too much of sweet to craving babyhood,
So God, perhaps, is keeping from us now
Life's sweetest things, because it seemeth good.

And if, some time, commingled with life's wine,
We find the wormwood, and rebel and shrink,
Be sure a wiser hand than yours or mine
Pours out this potion for our lips to drink;
And if some friend we love is lying low,
Where human kisses cannot reach his face,
Oh! do not blame the loving Father so,
But bear your sorrow with obedient grace.

And you shall shortly know that lengthened breath
Is not the sweetest gift God sends his friend,
And that sometime the sable pall of death
Conceals the fairest boon his love can send.
If we could push ajar the gates of life,
And stand within, and all God's workings see,
We could interpret all this doubt and strife,
And for each mystery find a key.

But not to-day. Then be content, poor heart;
God's plans, like lilies pure and white, unfold;
We must not tear the close-shut leaves apart:
Time will reveal the calyxes of gold.
And if through patient toil we reach the land
Where tired feet, with sandals loose, may rest,
When we shall clearly know and understand,
I think that we shall say that "God knew best."

—May Riley Smith.

THE WORLD'S STOCK OF STATESMEN.

With Gladstone and Bismarck gone, it may be interesting to enquire what is left of the world's tsock of statesmen.

So far as has been demonstrated, there are very few men of Gladstonian or Bismarkian calibre before the public, although there is doubtless plenty of material at hand should occasion call for men of that calibre, for it is true in a certain measure that great statesmen are the product of great occasions. Lord Salisbury, for example, would be acknowledged a great statesman if Great Britain were precipitated into some great foreign war. Then it would be seen that the remarkable care exercised by Salisbury, his minute preparation for that very emergency, the success attending British enterprise, would all mark him as one of the greatest statesmen England had produced. As it is, he passes for a man of affairs, as a careful handler of coalition elements and a wise man in his generation. In popular estimation, he is not a national hero. Balfour, the nephew of Lord Salisbury, rests in the same disadvantageous position, but it is generally said of him that he is unusually strong, and has in him the making of a statesman of the first class. Jeseph Chamberlain, the Liberal leader, is likewise a prominent feature, a man with a future, and of George Curzon, the under secretary for foreign affairs, it is truly said that he understands foreign politics better than any one else in Great Britain. He has travelled much, has been intimately associated with national affairs, and has a natural turn for statistics. The smartest diplomat in the British service is undouhtedly Lord Dufferin, ambassador to France, and sometime governor-general of Canada and viceroy of India. However, his age precluded the idea of his being a future leader of British affairs.

***

60,000

Majority for Johnston !

A Similar Majority for

..Morgan :-: Bros..

For Leaders in Low Prices !

France offers us literally nothing. It is impossible for any one to be a statesman under the French constitution. That instrument seems to have been designed for the purpose of keeping out the "man on horseback," in other words, to prevent the rise of any one to popularity in the public service. If such is its design, it fulfills it well. Faure the president, comes as near being a popular idol as any person in France, yet he is far from reaching the pinnacle of greatness. He sprang from the ranks and has worked himself up to great wealth and to political prominence, and he is doing the best he can under the constitution to give France a good government, but of greatness in him we see no sign.

***

The passage of Prince Bismarck through German history was like the flight of a meteor, so brilliant as to obscure all other stars of the heaven, and the glamor left behind prevents our seeing clearly what remains. William the German emperor remains, it is true, with talents hidden by his unfortunate mannerism. Like Martha, he is busy in many things, but the occupation is not as creditable to him as to the saintly character of the New Testament. In fact, he does so many things and such little things that it is extremely difficult to see that he has any merit; yet, if we study the results, we will have to give him a high rank among modern statesmen. He has virtually been his own premier since Bismarck retired eight years ago, and as a rule he has succeeded in forcing through his measures. He has not kept down socialism, but even Birmarck could not do that: and he has failed in some of his efforts to bring Germany up to his military standard, but, taken as a whole, he has pushed his country forward. German interests have not lost anything while in his hands. Wait until he works down to his bearings, as engineers say, and possibly we have a man that will challenge the world's admiration. We notice that he hae begun to explain himself, and that is a good sign. In his neighborhood we observe no one but Count von Waldersee, Von Moltke's chief of staff, a man of high purpose and great experience, but who will hardly emerge from the background as long as William holds the centre of the stage.

***

In Russia, there is Podobenowszew, high procurator of the holy synod, an office equivalent to a minister of public worship for the state church. Under Alexander II, who was too much of a European to like him, he had but a secondary position, but under his pupil, the present emperor, he has become all-powerful, the more so because his orthodoxy wears the national garb, and he insists that the break down of the Nicholas I system was caused by the attempt to govern with ministers of German origin. He, seconded by Count Tolstoi, has been the originator of the dreadful persecutions for religion's sake that have disgraced recent Russian history. He initiates foreign policy, also, which is ostensibly under the control of Baron de Giers, the only influence of the latter being to mitigate the decrees of the actual foreign minister. If tolerable relations with England, Austria and Germany have been maintained during his regime, this is for the most part the merit of De Giers, the foreign secretary, whose influence with the czar lies in the cleverness with which he appears not to exercise any. Of Podobenoszew, backed by the powerful influence of an automatic czar, we are likely to hear more in future.

***

Austria since the union of 1867 has produced no great men. It may be said that men who conduct compromise governments cannot become great, since they cannot advocate or follow any policy but that of concession. In Italy's political world we find no truly great men to-day. Those whom we thought great are tainted with the scandal of corruption in office; they have fallen from the pedestal upon which popular favor placed them. There is, however, one great man in Italy, one worthy to stand side by side with Gladstone in personal purity, and by the side of Bismarck in firmness of purpose, namely, His Holiness Leo XIII. Successor of a similar pope, he has become a conqueror by following a different policy: neglecting none of the interests confided to him, abandoning none of the claims of his organization, holding firmly to his temporal rights, he has yet so measured his powers against his opponents as to win in every contest, and to gather strength with each winning. Under his sway the church has become plainly manifest to all as first and foremost, not as a political entity, but as the loving mother; and he has made his religion respected even by its enemies. Personally he has refused to have enemies, his towering intellect commands the admiration of the world's thinkers, while his nobleness of soul marks him as one of the finest specimens of manhood. In the moral world he has achievod greater victories than the conquests that have crowned the banners of military heroes.—Mobile Register.

TEACHER: "Who discovered America?" Street Gamin (after deep thought): "I disremember his name, but he was a Dago."—New York Weekly.

Lost his Life Saving Others.

A country boy visiting New York stopped a frantic runaway team that was about to dash on the sidewalk where there were hundreds of women and children. He saved their lives, but lost his own. Hundreds of lives are saved every year by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. People who are fast going to their graves with disorders of stomach, liver, bowels and blood are brought back to good health by it. All the sick should try it.

The government contracted for 250,000 Hessian bags to be used for fortification purposes.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

The battle steeds of Grant, Lee and Sheridan were Cincinnati, Traveler and Winchester.

When Hot

Don't sweat and fret, but keep cool and take Hood's Sarsaparilla. This is good advice, as you will find if you follow it. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a first-class summer medicine, because it is so good for the stomach, so cooling to the blood, so helpful to the whole body. Make no mistake, but get only

Hood's Sarsaparilla

America's Greatest Medicine.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate.

When Lead Becomes Elastic.

The experiments upon materials at low temperatures which have been made possible by the advent of liquid air develop some unexpected results. A ball of india-rubber cooled to the temperature of the air becomes brittle, and if dropped on the floor flies into a thousand (more or less) pieces, while a ball of lead will rebound, having acquired a remarkable increase of elasticity. Lead also makes a very respectable spiral spring at a temperature of 200 or 300 below zero.—American Machinist.

AN old peasant woman in Cuckinghamshire, extolling the merits of her favorite curate, said to the rector, "I do not say that Mr. Woods is quite an angel in sheep's clothing."—Collections and Recollections.

RELIEF FROM PAIN.

Women Everywhere Express their Gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham.

Mrs. T. A. WALDEN, Gibson, Ga., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before taking your medicine, life was a burden to me. I never saw a well day. At my monthly period I suffered untold misery, and a great deal of the time I was troubled with a severe pain in my side. Before finishing the first bottle of your Vegetable Compound I could tell it was doing me good. I continued its use, also used the Liver Pills and Sanative Wash, and have been greatly helped. I would like to have you use my letter for the benefit of others."

Mrs. FLORENCE A. WOLFE, 515 Mulberry St., Lancaster, Ohio, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For two years I was troubled with what the local physicians told me was inflammation of the womb. Every month I suffered terribly. I had taken enough medicine from the doctors to cure anyone, but obtained relief for a short time only. At last I concluded to write to you in regard to my case, and can say that by following your advice I am now pefectly well."

Mrs. W. R. BATES, Mansfield, La., writes:

"Before writing to you I suffered dreadfully from painful menstruation, leucorrhœa and sore feeling in the lower part of the bowels. Now my friends want to know what makes me look so well. I do not hesitate one minute in telling them what has brought about this great change. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. It is the greatest remedy of the age."

THE LADRONE ISLANDS.

Resources Are Considerable, but the Natives Are a Lazy Lot.

The Ladrone group comprises about twenty islands, only five or six of which are inhabited, the rest being mere dots on the ocean, the tips of volcanoes which have sunk beneath the sea as the crust of the earth at this point subsided. The principal islands of the group are Guahan, Rota, Aguijan, Saypan and Tinian; but the largest, Guahan, which has an area of only 200 square miles, forms nearly one-half the land area of the entire group. Lying as they do, almost under the equator, they have every variety of tropical product, and under proper conditions their population might become wealthy from agriculture alone, for no finer cotton, coffee, sugar or tobacco can be grown in the world than are raised in the Ladrone Islands, but the curse of Spanish rule has blighted every industry. The people labor no more than they are obliged to, and in the tropics no one is really obliged to work, for an abundant supply of food grows without cultivation, and clothing and shelter are almost unnecessary.

The present islanders are mostly descendants of settlers from Mexico or from the Philippine Islands. The people do not differ materially from the natives of the Philippines, and although the islands have several good harbors, the Spaniards have done little or nothing for their improvement. The most considerable town on any of the group is Saypan, on the island of the same name, the houses of which are elevated on piles from two to four feet above the ground. There are few Spanish settlers on the islands, and the hold of Spain upon the group has been for the most part nominal.

It is a singular fact, discovered by Anson, that there are evidence on several of the islands of a former civilization. Cyclopean ruins exist, the architecture and dimensions of the stones closely resembling the great ruins found in the islands of the Greek archipelago. These lonely isles must therefore, at one time, have been a seat of civilization. Perhaps it was before they became islands, for the Ladrone Islands are the remains of a mountain chain, which traverses the Pacific from north to south, having branches to the east in other scattered groups which here and there dot the surface of the sea.

To the United States the value of the islands is at present principally military, as furnishing harbors and coaling stations, but under an enlightened government there seems to be no reason to doubt that with proper cultivation the cotton of the islands would equal that produced along the coast of South Carolina, the sugar would rival that of Cuba and Porto Rico, and it is said that the tobacco of the Ladrones has a flavor equal to that of Vuelta Abajo Valley. Any development within the limits of climate and soil is possible under a civilized government, and the Ladrones may have before them a future as great as that which lies before Porto Rico.

How He Built the Road.

A Washington man who put in ten years of soldiering in the regular army of the United States, five years of it on the frontier with the cavalry in Indian campaigning and the other five in the heavy artillery, was recently appointed a captain and Assistant Adjutant-General in the volunteer service, and he is now attached to the staff of Gen. Miles. He is a man of ability and great unpretentiousness. A few days before he donned his uniform he went over to Fort McHenry, Baltimore, on official business. A War Department clerk went along with him. When the two men arrived at Fort McHenry the new captain pointed to a long shell road that runs through the post.

"Do you see that road?" asked the captain.

"Yes."

"Well, I made that whole road myself. It was as tough a job as I ever performed, and as bitter a period, but it did me a heap of good. I was serving with an artillery regiment, part of which was stationed here, and one night when I was on guard the officer of the day crept up on me unawares and found me sitting down on a pile of gunny sacks, neglecting my post. I got a general court-martial for neglect of duty on post, and was sentenced to six months in the guardhouse. My sentence tickled the old provost sergeant mightily, for he was in need of a steady prisoner to build that road. I built it, and crunched many a million oyster shells building it. I never feel myself feeling chesty and high and mighty, and all that sort of thing, that I don't shut my eyes and think of this shell road over in Fort McHenry."—Washington Star.

Red and Yellow Snow.

An interesting report has been issued by the officials of the Grand Ducal Observatory at Heidelberg concerning recent red and yellow snow falls in Germany. A fall of yellow snow occurred in the Engadine on March and red snow fell to the depth of eight centimetres on the same day at Kardi in Kaernten province, also all over the plateau on which the Konigsstuhl stands; on the Odenwald, too, colored snow fell, the wind driving it into every nook and corner, so that the drifts presented a color varying from rosewood to that of brown. An examination showed that the tint exhibited was due to mineral dust, and the latter has not been finally investigated, it reveals the presence of chalk elements—this, too, notwithstanding the fact of there being no chalk in existence for a long distance from the place where the snow fall was deepest. Of course, this phenomenon is well known to naturalists, snow of a really red color having been found occasionally in polar and Alpine regions, some of the chemical experiments revealing the presence of a certain vegetable substance, like the pollen of a plant.—The Pathfinder.

The Nose Lasts Longest.

Bone and cartilage enter so largely into the structure of the nose and determine its characteristics, that it undergoes little perceptible change, as a rule, with the lapse of years. The brow becomes wrinkled, and crows' feet gather round the eyes, which themselves gradually grow dim as time rolls on; cheeks lose the bloom which cosmetics cannot replace, and lips their fullness and color.

The chin, dimpled in youth, develops angularities or globularities, as the case may be, and the eyebrows become heavy with the crop of many years' growth. The nose shows no mark comparable with these familiar facial indications of the approach of old age, and practically enjoys immunity from the ravages which time makes on the other features of the face. Next to the nose, probably the ears, as a rule, show the fewest and least obvious signs of old age.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Remunerative Chimney Sweeping.

A new tenant, designing to fire his chimney and save the expense of a sweep, hoisted a bundle of burning straw at the end of a pole. A moment later he was startled by a golden tinkling, and glancing down, saw that the old-fashioned hearth was literally covered with gold pieces. Further examination revealed the charred fragments of a leathern bag suspended by a hook in the chimney, while the windfall itself totalled up to nearly $1,500.—Tit-Bits.

British Navy Salutes.

A salute in the British navy between two ships of equal rank is made by firing an equal number of guns. If the vessels are of unequal rank the superior fires the fewer rounds. A royal salute consists of (1) in firing twenty-one great guns; (2) in the officers lowering their sword points, and (3) in dipping the colors.

One of the hospitals in Moscow, Russia, is large enough to accommodate 7,000 patients.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

A new English cyclist's boot is provided with a flap on the inner side of the upper, which can be turned up to keep the trousers away from the pedals.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

A western woman patented a plant support consisting of wires twisted together to form an upright stem with ornamented loops at top to hold leaves and branches, while the bottom stem is shaped into curves to form an anchor.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco is the best for Pipe and hand-made Cigarette smoking. Rich, ripe, mellow, fragrant. Beats the world. Try it.

Great Britain is the largest exporter to Colombia.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

A force of 10,000 settlers are now in the Dakotas from Russia and Roumania.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The population of Europe is 360,000,000. Fifty years ago it was about 250,000,000.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

On Chinese railways telegraph operators get $17.80 per month.

I can recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption to sufferers from Asthma.—E. D. TOWNSEND, Ft. Howard, Wis., May 4, 1894.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

The sun divided into smaller planets, would make 1,310 each the size of the earth.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The Russian meteorological department has stations at 230 different places.

DON'T BE FOOLED

Into buying a "clap-trap," "make-shift" buggy, on which big profits are made. Try a "ROCK HILL." "A Little Higher in Price, But———" so little higher you can't afford to run the risk. See our agent in your town. He will sell you at lowest figures. If not write us. We'll see that you are treated right.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.

INSOMNIA

"I have been using CASCARETS for Insomnia, with which I have been afflicted for over twenty years, and I can say that Cascarets have given me more relief than any other remedy I have ever tried. I shall certainly recommend them to my friends as being all they are represented." THOS. GILLARD, Elgin, Ill.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets TRADE MARK REGISTERED REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 316

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING "Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

USE OF MOUNTAIN BATTERIES.

France and Italy Employ Them on the Frontier in the Alps.

The mission of a mountain battery is to seek out and destroy, at close range and piecemeal, an enemy whose forte is a protracted and unceasing system of guerrilla warfare that is extremely harassing and discouraging to troops accustomed to a "fair field and no favor," even though they be seasoned and well-tried veterans. In British India this type of artillery has been brought to a high standard of perfection, and its effectiveness in the continually recurring conflicts with the hill tribes has demonstrated that the mountain gun is the only weapon that can successfully cope with the guerrilla style of warfare practiced by the natives of the Himalayas.

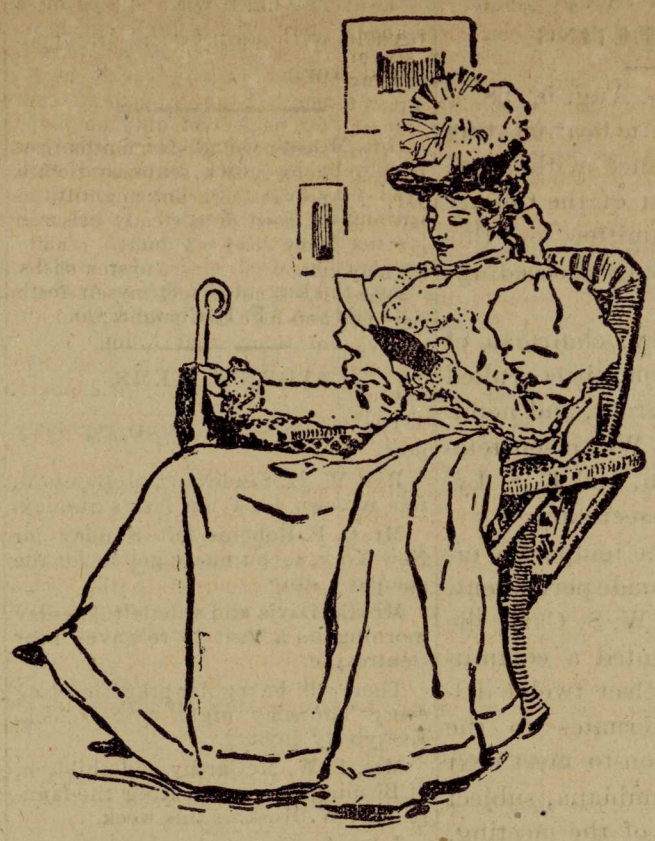
It is but little known to the outside world that both France and Italy have adopted the mountain battery as an integral part of the home defenses. When, in 1887, it became uncertain that Italy had joined the Triple Alliance, the then Minister of War in France determined that something must be done to defend the Alpine boundary from even the possibility of invasion in the event of hostilities by the new coalition. For that purpose he organized a perfect system of mountain artillery on the model of the British Indian force, and manned it with specially selected mountaineers. Italy, in turn, was compelled to provide a similar corps for the defense of her side of the range, and soon the two regiments, begotten in haste, began to fraternize and banquet one another. The same amicable relations have existed ever since, and the batteries have established a friendly rivalry that animates both parade and carousal.

The United States Army for the first time made use of this arm in active warfare in the Mexican War of 1845–48. The light and portable nature of the guns made them extremely valuable in the irregular skirmishes that took place, but their most important use was found in clearing the streets from a point of vantage on the roofs of the flat-topped houses of the City of Mexico. The ease with which the guns could be carried or slung to the roofs rendered them invaluable in repelling the street attacks, which were of daily occurrence after General Scott and his heroes had taken the capital.

The guns of the Astor battery are very different from the smoothbore muzzle loaders of the Mexican War. In fact they are in advance of the armament of the most perfect mountain batteries that India boasts to-day. The standard type that has done such good work against the Afridis and their sangars, or stone wall intrenchments, is a rifled muzzle-loading piece of ordnance, the barrel and breech sections of which are separate and screw together just behind the trunnions. As will be seen, this weapon is rather out of date, the improvements which have been made during the last twenty years along the entire line of artillery not seeming to have affected or reached the lonely depots of the Himalayas. The guns of the Astor battery are wholly different. They are Hotchkiss rapid fire guns of special construction and remarkable rapidity of fire, issued to the company of volunteers through the patriotic generosity of Colonel Astor.—New York Sun.

A Museum of Scientific Relics.

The Emperor William of Germany has ordered that the Saalburg, near Bad-Homburg, which is to be restored at his expense, shall then be called "The Limes Museum of the Empire," and shall contain all scientifically valuable relics dug up in future in and near the sites of the Roman frontier (limes) fortifications and colonies, the old museum at Wiesbaden being full. The Saalburg is said to have been built by Drusus about the year 11 B. C. and renovated by Germanicus twenty-six years later. It was the scene of many a fight till 1243, when a part of the excellent material of which it was built was used for the construction of highways.



Some persons say they are never influenced by an advertisement.

It is not expected that any one will buy Ivory Soap solely because it is suggested by an advertisement.

If you have never used Ivory Soap, you may be induced to ask some friend about it; should you find—as you probably will—that she is enthusiastic in its praise, then you may try it.

Millions of people use Ivory Soap; they use it because they like it. You too will like it. There is a difference in soaps.

Copyright, 1896, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

THE COLUMBIA CHAINLESS MAKES HILL CLIMBING EASY

COLUMBIAS ARE STANDARD FOR CHAIN MACHINES.

HARTFORDS Next Best.

Other Models at Low Prices. Catalogue Free.

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

POPE MFG CO. HARTFORD, CONN.

ART CATALOGUE OF COLUMBIA BICYCLES BY MAIL TO ANY ADDRESS FOR ONE TWO CENT STAMP.

One of the First Symptoms of Failing Health in a Woman is NERVOUSNESS

Did you ever think that there is always a cause for this malady? In women Nervousness is generally the forerunner of some form of female disease, such as Whites, Painful, Profuse or Irregular Menses, etc., either of which will produce Nervousness in all of its distressing intensity. If you use you will very soon be cured of Nervousness and all other female troubles as well. If costive, move the bowels with mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator.

Gerstle's Female Panacea

TRADE (G.F.P.) MARK.

I HAVE SUFFERED FOR YEARS

With painful menses, attended with sour stomach, rushing of blood to the head, and occasional whites. I also have severe nervous spells and heart palpitation so bad I cannot rest. I have used various female remedies for a long time but found no relief until about two months ago, when I commenced using your Gerstle's Female Panacea and ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR, and they are doing me more good than all others. I shall continue their use.

Glenmore, Ga. MRS. SARAH JENKINS.

If your case is complicated, write us and we will give you full information regarding the use of this medicine. Get it from your druggist. If he does not keep it send us $1 and we will send a bottle, all charges paid. L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.

GROVES

TASTELESS CHILL TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS. WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.

Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,

ABNEY, CARR & CO.

Greatest Healing Salve in the World.

CPC

Cures Constipation, Inflammation, Ulceration, Internal or External Piles.

Bruises, Burns, Vulvitis, Old Sores, Vaginitis, Cuts, Chapped Face and Hands.

Cure guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50c. Take no other. For saleby all druggists.

C. P. C. Co., P. O. Box, 610, Atlanta, Ga.

FITS STOPPED FREE Permanently Cured Insanity Prevented by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER

Positive cure for all Nervous Diseases, Fits, Epilepsy, Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance. No Fits or Nervousness after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges only when received. Send to Dr. Kline, Ltd., Bellevue Institute of Medicine, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Why Not Get the Best?

The "Cash Basis"

Is the best Dollar and a Half Shoe on the earth. Made of Vici stock, has style and service.

Sold by Leading Merchants. Made by

THE J. K. ORR SHOE CO.,

ATLANTA, GA.

Situations Guaranteed and student's railroad fare paid. The largest and best schools in the South.

Massey's Business Colleges

Columbus, Ga. Birmingham, Ala.

Jacksonville, Fla. Montgomery, Ala.

Write at once for catalogue No.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., NewYork, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

GIN REPAIRS

SAWS, RIBS, BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c.,

FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.

ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES

And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.

LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO.,

AUGUSTA, GA.

SPRING HILL COLLEGE, near Mobile, Alabama.

Boarding College conducted by the Jesuit Fathers. Preparatory, Commercial and Classical Courses. Large gymnasium, running track, etc. Climate exceptionally healthy. Address REV. M. MOYNIHAN, S.J., President.

VIRGINIA BUSINESS COLLEGE.

Commercial, Shorthand, Typewriting, English. $50 tuition admits to all departments for session of forty-two weeks. Open to both sexes. Graduates assisted to positions. Eleventh session begins September 6th. Catalogue free. B. A. DAVIS, JR., President, Box R, Richmond, Va.

OPIUM Habit. Only guaranteed painless home cure. No interference with work. No publicity. Sample free. DR. PURDY, Dept. H, Houston, Texas.

Good All the Year Round.

ST. ANDREWS COLD TEA

For the Liver.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-32

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

25 CTS. 25 CTS.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, August 11, 1898.

Whoop up the incorporation.

War is still going on, and peace has not been declared yet.

If you are not in favor of incorporation, move to Lonesomeville. Montevallo don't need you.

Hon. Gaston A. Robbins, of Dallas, seems to be the coming man for the next congressman from this district.

We find that it is impossible to even advocate anything one wants. Some of our citizens have become very wrathy at us because we want the town incorporated. Some even accuse us of not owning corner lots.

Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Merrimac fame, has again made himself famous, by having the nerve to accept the kiss publicly tendered him by a pretty girl. We consider this a true test of heroism, and invite the attention of all pretty girls to this fact. We would like to display our heroism in this line.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Democratic County Convention was held at Columbiana on the 8th inst. The convention was called to order at 12:30 p. m. T. J. Martin was elected chairman and J. R. White secretary. Most of the beats were represented. The following delegates were appointed to the Congressional Convention which met at Talladega Springs Tuesday: W. T. Smith, J. E. Ruffin, F. W. Gist, T. J. Martin, L. J. Bristow, L. O'Neal and W. H. Bell. Robbins captured the convention. Capt. Plowman's friends were very much surprised. They thought he certainly would carry this county. Shelby will likely give Robbins the nomination.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BEAT MEETING.

MONTEVALLO, Aug. 6, '98.

At a Democratic beat meeting held in accordance with a call of the Chairman of the County Executive Committee, on this day, the following proceedings were had:

C. L. Meroney, chairman of the executive committee, called the meeting to order, and nominated Dr. D. L. Wilkinson temporary chairman, and E. S. Lyman temporary secretary.

On motion, the temporary organization was made permanent.

On motion of W. S. Cary, the chairman appointed a committee of three to select twelve delegates and alternates to the county convention to meet next Monday at Columbiana, subject to the approval of the meeting. Said committee was composed of the following: W. S. Cary, C. L. Meroney and J. D. Farrington.

The committee reported the following names of delegates and alternates, which report on motion was adopted:

Delegates.	Alternates.
E. S. Lyman,	Ben Cunningham
Dr. D. L Wilkinson,	S H. McCauley,
J. D. Farrington,	R. O. Camp,
W. S. Cary,	R. L. Killough,
George Kroell,	M. N. Alexander,
Clifton Newton,	Thos. Randall,
Burgess Little.	A. J. Gentry,
W. B. Reynolds,	James Harris,
Wm. Thompson,	C. B. West,
Frank West,	C. C. Vandegrift,
R. E. Woolley,	R. T. Newton,
Geo. T. Peter.	C, L. Meroney.

Dr. E. G. Givhan moved that the delegation be instructed to vote as a unit for Hon. Thos. S. Plowman, but accepted the following substitute offered by W. S. Cary, which was unanimously adopted by the meeting:

Resolved by the Democrats of Beat 4 in beat meeting assembled, That in recognition of the distinguished services rendered to this community by Hon. T. S. Plowman, and of the injustice done him by a partisan majority in congress, it is the sense of this meeting that he should be renominated by the approaching convention; and the delegates from this beat to the county convention are hereby instructed to use every honorable means to select a delegation to the Congressional Convention favorable to Capt. Plowman's renomination.

There being no further business before the meeting, it was on motion adjourned sine die.

D. L. WILKINSON,
Chairman.

E. S. LYMAN, Secretary.

Don't you forget it, Montevallo will soon be an incorporated town.

One Minute Cough Cure surprises people by its quick cures, and children may take it in large quantities without the least danger. It has won for itself the best reputation of any preparation used to-day for colds, croup, tickling in the throat or obstinate coughs. F. F. Crowe & Co.

ALDRICH ITEMS.

The mines are working regularly now.

Rev. W. H. Studevant, of Bamford, was in town for a few hours Sunday.

Mr. C. F. Robbins left Sunday for New York, to purchase goods for the company store.

Mr. Ed Davis and wife left Tuesday morning on a visit to relatives near Centreville.

There will be regular prayermeeting every Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Everybody invited.

Mrs. F. W. McCarthy and children, of Birmingham, are visiting the family of P. W. Hoskins this week.

John Lewis, a colored miner, was seriously but not dangerously hurt in the mines Tuesday by falling slate.

On Friday night, Aug. 12th, at the hall, there will be held an Epworth League. Montevallo, Brierfield and other points will be represented. Dr. Culm, of Birmingham, is expected to be present, and other speakers will also be there. Let everybody that can, come out and help in the good work.

The protracted meeting, conducted by Rev. P. L. Abernethy, assisted by Bro. Henry Fancher, was brought to a close Sunday night. Notwithstanding the rains, the church was crowded every night, and a great deal of interest was manifested by all who attended. While there were but few additions to the church, the good accomplished will be seen in the future. One result of the meeting was the renewal of vows by the cold and indifferent members, of not only the Methodist, but other churches. At the love feast held on Sunday afternoon, nearly the entire congregation pledged themselves anew to work for God, sparing no effort to advance his cause here upon earth.

SUBSCRIBER.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. F. F. Crowe & Co.

When you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure, don't accept anything else. Don't be talked into accepting a substitute, for piles, for sores, for burns. F. F. Crowe & Co.

You invite disappointment when you experiment. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick headache just as sure as you take them. F. F. Crowe & Co.

For broken surfaces, sores, insect bites, burns, skin diseases, and especially piles, there is one reliable remedy, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. When you call for DeWitt's don't accept counterfeits or frauds. You will not be disappointed with DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. F. F. Crowe & Co.

More than twenty million free samples of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve have been distributed by the manufacturers. What better proof of their confidence in its merits do you want? It cures piles, burns, scalds, sores, in the shortest space of time. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A stubborn cough or tickling in the throat yields to One Minute Cough Cure. Harmless in effect, touches the right spot, reliable and just what is wanted. It acts at once. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Notice of Incorporation Election

STATE OF ALABAMA, SHELBY COUNTY. } Office of Judge of Probate.

A PETITION HAVING BEEN FILED with me by the requisite number of adult male inhabitants of Montevallo, in said county, praying that said town be incorporated for a distance of three-fourths of a mile in every direction, from F. W. Rogan's storehouse, in said town: Notice is hereby given that an order has this day been made by me directing an election to be held in the said town of Montevallo, on at the usual place of holding State and County elections, and between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 3 o'clock P. M., to ascertain whether or not a majority of the inhabitants of said town are in favor of incorporating the same. Every qualified elector who has resided within the boundaries of the proposed town for three months next preceding the election, may vote at such election.

Saturday, the 20th Day of August, 1898

Done at office on this, the 8th day of August, 1898.

D. R. McMILLAN,
Judge of Probate.

Aug11 2t

DR. J. P. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, September 5, 1898.

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898.

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address
C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala.

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....	$1,00
Six months, cash in advance	.50
Three months, cash in advance..	.25

LOCAL.

Use lime freely—it may save a doctor bill.

Montevallo needs a good school building.

Dr. Crowe is the happiest man in town just now.

Rain, rain—nothing but rain. Every day it rains.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Mr. C. E. Johnston, of Jones' Switch, was in town Monday.

Mr. A. V. Welsh, of Birmingham, was in town Tuesday.

Mr. George Kroell is having his wagon scales repaired.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Miss Kate Reynolds is visiting friends in Birmingham.

Don't forget that Morgan Bros. are the people who advertise.

Mr. Meroney is wearing the first open cotton boll of the season.

There is an effort being made to have a good primary school here.

Try a bottle of V.V. V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

For Sale.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

Miss Ethel McMath is visiting the family of Mr. Sam Curry, near town, this week.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Rev. M. P. Reynolds went up to the Magic City Monday evening on a visit to his family.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Dr. E. G. Givhan attended the Congressional Convention at Talladega Springs Tuesday.

Mr. Wm. H. Abernethy, of Birmingham, is visiting his brother, Rev. P. L. Ahernethy.

Mr. Frank Kroell went to Birmingham Saturday evening, returning on Sunday morning.

Quite a number of Montevalloites went to Columbiana Monday to attend the convention.

Mr. T. W. Rogan, of Greenville' Miss., arrived in town a few days ago on a visit to his mother.

Miss Realy Sessions is visiting friends at Bismark this week. We wish her a pleasant trip.

We call especial attention to the new legal ad, "Notice of Incorporation Election," on our editorial page.

Mr. Isham Arnold will please accept our thanks for a nice watermelon presented the News force last Friday.

One of Mr. Kroell's cows came near eating one of our merchants last week, because he is so green. He is opposed to incorporation.

Bullbat shooting is engaging the attention of quite a number of sports every evening. A heavy firing is kept up, but few birds fall.

Prof. W. H. Geisler, who has been spending several days with Mr. J. W. Martin, returned to his home at Greensboro Tuesday.

Mr. Vandegrift returned Saturday evening from his trip to Demopolis. He informed us that he sold about 600 tons of coal an this trip.

Major Alex. A. Wall, the clever proprietor of the St. George, will leave next week for Oakman, Ala. We are sorry to lose the Major.

We will give one year's subscription to the News to the person who will kill the Jonah owl that screeches every night in the Holbrook lot.

Work on the new Kroell building is progressing, despite the wet weather. It is to be finished and ready for occupancy by the first of October.

There are a few people who do not take the News, but borrow it from their neighbor. They are actually too stingy to spend two cents a week.

Mrs. Thos. J. Williams, of Selma, a former resident of Montevallo, is visiting her many friends here. She is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Crabbe.

Mr. Henry Lyman, of Birmingham, is visiting relatives here. He comes to Montevallo for his health. We hope he will be benefited by his visit.

Messrs. G. W. Morgan and Walter Cary played with the finny tribe in Killough's pond Tuesday afternoon. We haven't heard yet what luck they had.

W. E. Harrison, of Centreville, was in town Saturday. We are glad to know that he is succeeding in his livery business. He returned to Centreville Sunday morning.

Mrs. Pat Kroell left a few days ago for Shelby Springs, for her health. We hope the change will prove beneficlal, and that she will soon be restored to her usual good health.

Wanted.—Two mules four feet six inches high, weighing about 850 pounds, from five to seven years old. Will buy or trade for larger mules. Address G. F. Peter, Maylene, Ala.

Mrs. M. P. Reynolds and children are visiting Mr. Henry Lyman's family at Birmingham. Mrs. Reynolds has gone for the benefit of her health, which we hope will soon be restored.

Prof. J. E. Ruffin will make his future home at Union City, Tenn., where he has a position in the public school. Prof. Ruffin is a good teacher, and we wish him success where'er he may go.

Our wide-awake merchant, Charley Meroney, left Tuesday afternoon for Cincinnati to buy his fall stock of up-to-date goods. Our readers will hear from him through our advertising columns when he returns.

We notice that there are some people here who prefer to patronize out of town job offices when they want work done. Such people ought to be at some cross roads, where they would have to send off. They are not fit to live in town.

Mr. Thomas B. Ballard, of Marion, Ala.. was in town yesterday, and gave the News a pleasant call. He is representing the Marion Democrat, a free silver paper recently started at Marion. We wish Mr. Ballard much success in his new venture.

Miss Kate Schuford, one of Oxford's most beautiful and fusome young ladies, is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. A. Best. Miss Schuford will spend quite a while in our city, and some of our young men are going to try to persuade her to remain here permanently.

Prof. James Moore, of Chilton county, who has many friends in Montevallo, is now book keeper for the well-known firm of Morgan Bros., having succeeded C. N. Pritchard. We are glad to weleome Prof. Moore as a citizen of our town.

While shooting bats Monday evening, the gun in the hands of Jim Perry, colored, bursted. A piece of the cap struck him over the eye, causing the blood to flow freely, but didn't hurt him much. Had it been Jim's heel instead of his head, Rogan might have had a job.

Mr. C. N. Pritchard, for over eighteen months book-keeper for Morgan Bros., resigned his position on the 1st inst. and left on the 2nd for Pontotoc, Miss., where he will visit relatives. He will return about the first of September and take up a school at Belle Ellen. Mr. Pritchard taught school at Aldrich for six years, prior to his coming to Montevallo. He had three other positions offered him besides the one he accepted. Charley Pritchard has many friends in Montevallo and Shelby county, who regret to see him leave, but they wish him unbounded success in "teaching the young ideas to shoot."

NOTICE.

I would like to swap or sell 80 acres of land for 20 acres of land with a good house on it. Said land is four miles from Montevallo, in a good neighborhood, and near two churches. There are 35 acres cleared and 45 in timber, all lying level. There is lasting water on the place. Within one-half mile of Dogwood station. For further particulars, apply at the News office, or address J. A. Roebuck, Montevallo, Ala.

The following young people attended a social function at Mr. Sam Curry's Tuesday evening: S. S. Allen with Mrs. Lawrence; Harry Reynolds with Miss Eunice Latham; Charley Acker with Miss Della Latham; Pat McConaughy with Miss Rhoda Latham; Edgar Allen with Miss Mattye Barker; A. J. Lee with Miss Bertie Allen; Cassie Fancher with Miss Mary Kroell; Burgess Little with Miss Katie Kroell; L. N. Bowdon with Miss Florence Farrington.

Mr. Curry has a spacious residence five miles out from town, and he turned over the entire premises to his friends on this occasion.

NOTICE!

A reward of $5.00 is hereby offered for evidence to convict the party or parties who recently castrated my fine Berkshire boar.

Some party has the 37th volume of my Columbia Encyclopædia. They will greatly oblige by returning.

D. L. Wilkinson, M. D.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted by the M. E. Sunday-school August 7, 1898:

Whereas, Inasmuch as our Heavenly Father has deemed it wise to transfer from our Sunday-school our beloved Earl Cary to a home above, we shall miss him, but must yield to the mandates of Him who doeth all things well, and will lovingly cherish his memory and try to emulate his virtures. Therefore be it

Resolved 1st, That in his death we have lost one of our best and most consecrated members.

Resolved 2nd, That we tender his devoted parents, brothers and sisters our heartfelt sympathy and prayers in this sad hour of bereavement, and commend them to Him who doeth all things for our eternal good.

Resolved 3rd, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his bereaved family, and a copy sent to the Christian Advocate and Montevallo News for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
Rev. P. L. Abernethy,
Mrs. C. C. Vandegrift,
Miss Bessie Allen,
Lewis Bowdon,
Committee.

Truth wears well. People have learned that DeWitt's Little Early Risers are reliable little pills for regulating the bowels, curing constipation and sick headache. They don't gripe. F. F. Crowe & Co.

THE MAKING OF A SOLDIER.

Joe Jerry hoed in a stony field,
Under a sweltering sun.
The boy and the rock and the native weed
Fought for the life in a battered seed,
And the struggle was just begun.

"Get out of the mud and follow me,"
Said the man with the better clothes.
"Against you are vermin and drought and frost;
You will anger nature with labor lost—
Come where a fair wind blows."

But the boy digged on in the stony field,
With the struggle barely begun.
"I put the seed in this ground," said he,
"I think I had better stay and see Whatever may be done."

* * * * * * *

Joe Jerry quarried and placed the stones,
And fitted the timbers true.
Then his neighbors came, with fevered eyes;
"Gold!—pans of gold—just where it lies!
Shall we wait a day for you?"

A soft voice rifted the evening calm,
Singing the death of day.
A tired child came and went with a kiss,
"I have a wife and a home—and this;
I think I had better stay."

"War! On to war!"—and the cry came near—
"There is honor, or fame, for all!"
"I have a dying wife and these;
I shall stay with them if God so please."
But he went at the second call.

"Come on!" they cried. "It's death to wait!"
His face was bleeding and grim;
He picked a rifle out of the dirt
And answered simply: "The Captain's hurt;
I think I'll stay with him."

The Gold of Silence.

An Army Tragedy.

More harm has been wrought in this world by the gold of silence than by the silver of speech. Especially is this true of matters of the heart.

Farland came to realize it in the end; but as he left the commanding officer and walked in his deliberate way across the hop-room to where Miss Cameron stood, he was priding himself upon his ability to hold his tongue, and, with a wretched sort of vainglory, nerving himself to hold it for seven hours longer.

Miss Cameron was talking to the regimental quartermaster, and when she caught sight of Farland, she grew radiant. The regimental quartermaster observed this, and was, of course, annoyed. He went away and left her with the lieutenant.

It is the fate of a woman to be forever smiling. Few men have learned to distinguish that eternal smile. Those who have, have observed the subtlest tragedies of life.

Farland was not one of them. He was too distinctly manly to understand women. He was, therefore, strengthened in his resolve to keep silence when Miss Cameron's expression in nowise changed as he told her that she must excuse him from the next dance.

"I have just seen the colonel, and he has been pleased to inform me that I must leave at reveille."

"For what portion of the globe?"

She gazed over his shoulder in apparent absorption in something at the other side of the room. If Farland had been a student of the sex he would have known that this was overacting. It was one of the many of Miss Cameron's charms that she usually fixed her entire attention upon the person at hand.

"Where are you going?" she repeated.

"To join Blake's command. After that, wherever the will of heaven and the craft of the Apache may lead me."

For just one instant her expression changed. But Farland was not acute.

"Upon a scout, then?" she asked.

"Upon a scout, yes. And as I have to leave before reveille, and, as it is now eleven o'clock, there is no time to be lost."

Miss Cameron was smiling again.

"You will not sleep much to-night. Things must be serious."

"They are," he told her.

There was a pause—one of those intervals when the gods benumb our mental powers that instinct may have fair play. But we defeat their ends. We have trained instinct to lie quiet.

The lieutenant moved uneasily. Miss Cameron, with the delicate much-sung discernment of woman, thought him restless to be gone. She drew herself up to her full height, determined that she was indifferent and hard, and his resolution was enforced.

"You must not let me keep you," she said.

Farland was too well trained to allow his anger and unhappiness to appear in more than an exaggerated unconcern. He took her extended hand.

"Shall you be here when I return?" he asked. His resolution was near to breaking. If her tawny eyes had grown ever so little soft, he would have flung his golden wealth of silence to the winds. But her pride was mighty, and it was aroused.

"My visit comes to an end this week," she said.

"We shall probably meet again," he ventured.

She shrugged her shoulders negligently.

"Probably. One can never be sure that one has seen the last of anybody, in the army." And then she added: "Good-by."

She would have been glad to bow her head upon her arms and to have kept her heartache in silence. Instead, she gave the dance which was to have been Farlands to a married captain, and succeeded perfectly in her effort to appear to enjoy it.

And Farland went out, morally and bodily, into the night. His was the code of honor—which considers not the woman—that holds that if a man may not ask a woman to marry him then and there, neither may he tell her of his love. He thought he was doing right, and he was not one to rail at Fate. A little tempest of temptation had ruffled the deep waters of his conscience for a time. But they were calm again. He remembered with resentment the haughtily poised head, and the placid smile, and the last glimpse he had caught of her through the hop-room window—a yellow-gowned figure, swaying to the music in full enjoyment of life.

Well, she would have gone back to Bayard by the time of his return, and one could never be sure one would not forget—after years. He went into the barracks and gave his orders.

When the brass mouths of the bugles pealed their reveille welcome to the sun, as it shown above the mountains, far across the prairie, Farland and his command were trotting toward Mount Graham, and Miss Cameron, still in the yellow gown, stood at her window with her hands clasped before her, and watched the line of the receding column.

Farland stopped at Bayard two months later. The scout was over, and he was taking his command back to Fort Grant. They were to strike the railroad at Silver City, nine miles away, upon the following day.

He meant to see Miss Cameron. There was no longer a reason for silence. He waited with impatience while the commandant arranged for the disposition of the men. Then he walked with him across the parade. The primroses of the evening were opening, a great, pale flower bursting out here and there in the grass, until, even as he went, all the ground was starred with them, and the children from the officers' line and the laundresses' row were running, laughing, and screaming, and calling out, to gather the handfuls of fragile bloom that would be wilted before tattoo.

Upon occasions of necessity the commandant's long, lank body could bestir itself; but there was no such occasion now, and Major Cameron resented Farland's haste.

"I say, Farland," he protested, "slow up. What is your hurry. You will not get dinner before retreat, anyway."

Little the lieutenant recked of dinner. But he obliged himself to walk more reasonably. Major Cameron talked of the scout and its outcome. Farland tried to listen and to answer. In his joyful anticipation he forgot that he was a sorry-looking sight to go a-wooing, that his face was burned, his nose peeling, and his hair half-cut, and his clothes ragged and dusty Self-consciousness was not one of his faults. The major broke off suddenly in the midst of a tirade against Indian agents, those pet aversions of the line.

"I suppose you are about worn out," he said.

"No," said Farland; "not in the least. Why?"

"You appear not to be able to keep your mind upon anything. You have no notion of what I said last."

"You said 'Mescaleros' last."

"But you have no idea whatever what I said about the Mescaleros."

"I am afraid that's so," Farland admitted.

"And over there at the coral you answered three questions that I hadn't asked."

Farland apologized civilly. But he had seen, through the window, Miss Cameron standing with clasped hands and head thrown back, before the open fire. It was a favorite pose with her, and it recalled so much. The major might as well have addressed his concluding remarks to the flagstaff.

They went into the hall, and the commandant opened the door. "There is Clare," he said; "I believe you know each other. I will go and get Mrs. Cameron." He went away and closed the door again.

Farland was not demonstrative. But neither was he one to delay in carrying out a resolve. He took the hand that the girl held out to him, and then went to the fire-place, and rested his arm upon the mantel and looked at her speculatively.

"I am going to be very rash," he said, "and very precipitate."

She smiled incredulously. "How unlike you!" she said.

"Perhaps; but it is not unlike me to go straight to the point, I think."

She vouchsafed no encouragement. "It is not," was all she answered. She had long since determined that he was an unscrupulous flirt—worse than that, indeed, because he made more pretensions than most men. Now, when she looked into his keen gray eyes, that consoling fiction vanished. She wondered why he did not speak at once of the one thing that might reasonably be expected to be of interest—to herself, at least. But she folded her hands in front of her again, and stood very erect.

When I saw you last in the hop-room at Grant," he said, "I was to all intents and purposes upon half-pay. My mother was alive then, and I was supporting her."

She looked at him, puzzled. Why should he tell her this now? While there had yet been time he had been chary enough of his confidences. While there had yet been time——. She looked at him as he stood there before the fire, young and strong, with his pistol-belt showing beneath his faded blouse, the kerchief knotted around his neck, the dusty boots with their spurred heels, his face so absurdly sun and wind burned, glowing with blonde redness in the fire-light. While there had yet been time——. She checked an inclination to throw out her arms and cry aloud.

"That is why," he went on, "I did not feel justified in telling you—though you might, I should think, have seen—that I loved you."

She went up to him and put her hand upon his shoulder, and tried to speak.

"Well, what?" he asked. He was submitting dully to some blow which he saw, in her hardening eyes, was going to fall.

"I"—she was forcing the words from her throat with a harsh, dry sound—"I married Captain Whitcomb three weeks ago, because—I did not know."

Farland turned away and drew a chair near to the fire. The movement was quite natural, quite free from any gesture of tragedy. He was too stunned to feel the pain at once. That would come afterward, and stay through many years. He sat down in the chair and watched the flaming mesquite-root. It was a little hard for him to draw his breath, and the pain was beginning now, too.

Clare stood upon the other side of the hearth, and looked dully ahead of her. Then she draw her hand, slowly, across her eyes.

"I must go home," she said.

Farland did not answer her, and she went out and closed the door.—Gwendolen Overton, in the Argonant.

Rioters Become Soldiers.

Colonel Anderson, commanding the Second Tennessee Regiment, which is stationed at Camp Alger, was talking with a group of gentlemen from his own State recently.

This gallant officer has already gone through as interesting an experience as he will ever be likely to figure in, whether he joins the Spaniards in deadly combat on the soil of Cuba or in the far-off Philippines. He commanded a force of State troops in the famous Coal Creek strike in East Tennessee, six or seven years ago, and it is almost a miracle that he is alive now to tell about it. The rioting strikers, it will be remembered, burned the stockade and freed a lot of convicts who had been employed in the coal mines. Their desperate conduct necessitated calling out the militia, and Colonel Anderson went to the front to help put a quietus on the rioting.

In some way he became separated from his men and was captured by the strikers, who imprisoned him and came very near shooting him. He was in no wise daunted by his captors, and when they spoke of killing him he defied them to fire. A peremptory demand for his release, accompanied with a threat of wholesale hanging, caused his liberation.

The most curious part of the whole affair is that there are now in the regiment which Colonel Anderson leads a half dozen of the very men who participated in the Coal Creek strike, and who were present when he was captured. They are now, however, on the best of terms with their commander, and are willing to follow him wherever he leads. They are great, big fellows, fine specimens of physical manhood, and are eager for a chance to spill Spanish gore.—Washington Post.

Early Dictionaries.

The first dictionary recorded in literary history is the standard Chinese dictionary, compiled by Pa-Out-She, who lived about 1100 B. C. It contained 40,000 characters, each of which stood for a word, mostly hieroglyphic or rude representations resembling our signs of the Zodiac. This was four centuries before writing was employed by Western people. Anticlides, a contemporary of Alexander the Great, published a Greek dictionary of the words in ancient writings 336 B. C. Another Chinese dictionary was produced about 150 B. C., and Varro's Latin compilation dates back to 116 B. C. The earliest attempts at the compilation of an English dictionary were made by Bullokar in 1616, and by Cockerham in 1623, although a glossary of old English words was prepared in or about 975.

England has obout 150 packs of fox hounds and about 15,000 horses are kept specially for fox hunting.

The effort to make sugar from beets dates back as far as the year 1747.

A SWEET LITTLE IDYLL.

How the Birds Dropped a Wedding Ring Into Janie's Lap.

It was a time for reminiscing, and it was the reminiscence of love instead of war.

"When I was twenty years old," said a veteran of many dollars, "I was working on a farm in Massachusetts not far from Springfield, where lived a pretty little girl as poor as I was, the daughter of a Methodist minister, with whom I was desperately in love. One day, under the shade of a big tree in the churchyard, I told her how much there was in my heart and how little there was in my pocket, and asked her to marry me. She was seventeen and silly, and she consented on the spot. For an hour or more after that we sat under the tree talking over the fair and foolish things that lovers dream, when it occurred to me that an engagement ring was the correct thing for such an occasion, and I began bemoaning the poverty which prevented me getting one for the dearest hand on earth. It was absolutely true, too, for I really did not have enough money to buy a tin ring, much less the only kind I thought Janie ought to have. But Janie didn't care for the ring. She said we ought to thank Providence that we had each other, and let the old ring go. She was on the point of saying more, when she stopped suddenly, gave a little scream and pointed to something bright in her lap. I looked, and there lay a pretty gold ring with a small diamond flashing a greeting to us. At first we were afraid to touch it, but we soon got over that, and as we looked it over we wondered where it had come from, and though we knew that the day of miracles had passed we were both inclined to think it was a blessing from Heaven on our sweet and pure love.

"There was no one in the tree to have dropped it as a joke, but as it could not have reached us by any other way than from above we proceeded to search the tree. Nothing could be seen from the ground, and I climbed up, and there, over in the fork above us, high up, I found a birds' nest building, and knew that the builders had picked the ring up somewhere, for various bits of colored ribbon and rags fluttered about the nest. One of these pieces of silk Janie recognized as the trimming of a lady's gown who came to see her mother, and we decided at once that it was right to see if it belonged to the lady. Thither we went, happy as two children, and Janie went in and I waited outside. Presently she called me in, and when I had, with many blushes, told the story of the ring, the lady gave it to me, and said that it was now mine, to with as I pleased. She hoped I would not forget those who had been my friends when I had no diamonds, and then, right there before the lady I had never seen before, I slipped the ring on Janie's finger and kissed her. As soon as I had done that the lady kissed Janie, and I'll be shot if she didn't kiss me, too, and as we went out there were tears in her eyes glistening like the diamond on Janie's finger."

The English Attack on Cadiz.

Cadiz has been considered the key to Spain. It is one of three cities which Charles V. recommended Philip to keep an eye on. Once upon a time the latter prepared a fleet there. Its destination was England. Its object was to punish Elizabeth for her wicked refusal to marry. But the lady was highly strategic. She knew a trick worth two of that. Raleigh, Essex, gentlemen adventurers and choice persons were sent in advance to argue. They took with them over seven thousand pikemen, more than six thousand cannoniers, and a hundred and fifty sail. When the fleet reached Cadiz the harbor was found fully furnished with men-of-war, galleys, galleons, merchantmen and caracks. Then the historic fight was pulled off. There was the punshing of the galleys, the hulling of the men-of-war, the scurrying, the scuttling, the attack by land and sea, the storming of the citadels, a fall which followed, a sack which ensued and the reduction of Cadiz to a heap of cinders on a wreck-strewn shore. Many choice persons were knighted on the spot. Others were allowed to ransom their prisoners for all they were worth. Those were the good old days. But not for Philip. His part of the entertainment cost him twenty million ducats and a great deal of his desire to punish the contumacious queen.—Collier's Weekly.

Long Terms of French Premiers.

Of the French Ministries called into existence during the Third Republic, the Meline Cabinet, which after a critical delay has been succeeded by M. Henri Brison and his friends, broke the record by one day. The Meline Ministry dated from April 29, 1896, and lasted until June 15, 1898, covering a period of two years, one month, and seventeen days. Up to this time the record had been held by M. Ferry's second Ministry, which existed from February 21, 1883, to April 6, 1885, an existence of two years, one month, and sixteen days. The Ministry with the shortest record is that of Rochebouet, which entered into office on November 23, 1877, and left it December 13 of the same year. A peculiar comparison is offered if one places side by side the long term Premiers of the Third Republic with those former Ministries of France in the time of royalty. Richelieu was premier for eighteen years. Mazarin held office for nineteen years, and Colbert for twenty-two. While over in Spain, Ximenes maintained the Chancelerie at absolute power for twenty-one years. Among the Ministers who have served the greatest number of times in the French Cabinet of the Third Republic, M. Hanotaux is the only one who has always held the same portfolio—that of Minister of Foreign Affairs. He has presided over the destinies of the Quai d'Orsay under four Ministries, his time of office lasting three years, six months and fifteen days. After M. de Freycinet, he has served the longest period. M. de Freycinet has been in the Ministry nine times and has exercised the functions of his office during eight years six months and twenty-seven days. Jules Ferry was Cabinet Minister for three years and five months, M. Constans for three years, four months and six days, and M. Bourgois for three years and two months.—New York Times.

Can an Oil Lamp Explode?

The inquest in the case of Lucy Smith, the thirteen-year-old colored child who was burned to death a few days ago, was re-opened. It was in evidence at the first hearing that a coal oil lamp had exploded and set fire to the girl's clothing.

J. W. Daniels, an expert, testified that he had examined the oil of the same kind as that which is said to have exploded, and found it above the test required by law, and further declared that it was impossible for a coal oil lamp to explode. "It is my opinion," said the witness, "based on years of experiments, that it is an absolute physical impossibility for a lamp filled with coal oil to explode. I have made the tests in every possible way that could be suggested. Lamps have been filled to every degree of fullness and emptiness in these experiments. The wicks have been turned down until they have fallen into the oil in the lamps. Lighted matches have been thrown in and red-hot oil run down into the oil, but no explosion has ever followed.

"In order to have an explosion there must be a vaporous gas generated within the tank. The line is so finely drawn that if there is any oil at all in the lamp it is absolutely safe. Twenty-four drops of oil placed in a one-gallon can will generate enough of this vaporous gas to cause an explosion, but if forty-eight drops are introduced into a can of the same size there will no harm result."—Philadelphia Record.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

There can be little doubt that, if the blessing of good government can be secured to Cuba, the development of the country and the increase of the trade will be very rapid, and nearly with equal step. It will furnish a great field for the development of American capital and for the employment of such labor as can adapt itself to the climate.

Germany has two Frankfurts. The city on the river Main is so much better known than Frankfurt on the Oder (though that has 60,000 inhabitants) that letters from London and Paris are very apt to lose time by being misent. To obviate this difficulty it is recommended, in addressing a letter to Frankfurt an der Oder to write below "bei (near) Berlin."

John Gubbins the owner of Galtee More, the winner of last year's Derby, has just sold the horse to the Russian Government for $125,000. Great pressure was brought to bear on Mr. Gubbins not to let the famous animal leave England, but he replied that he was in the business for a purpose that had nothing to do with his health, and if any British turfman wanted his horse more than the Russians did, there was a way to get it. Then the pressure relaxed.

Some idea of the extent of this country's commerce may be gathered from the statement that the value of exported manufactured articles in the nine months ended March 31 was $208,788,036 or $8,779,348 more than the preceding like period. But the increase of exports of the agricultural products was so much greater that the percentage of manufactures is this year but 23.9 per cent of the whole, against 24,8 per cent in 1897. The export of manufacturers in March were worth $28,214,250, the largest figure ever recorded in any single month.

W. H. Wheeler draws attention in Nature to the effect of gales on tideless lakes and seas, which he says is at times so marked as to cause considerable inconvenience and anxiety to mariners. Thus in the Caspian Sea a gale will raise the water on one side six feet and depress it on the other as much, making a total difference of level of twelve feet. In the Baltic easterly gales will alter the level upward of eight feet. In Lake Erie depressions and elevations of from two to four feet are common, while occasionly heavy gales have produced a difference of level of upward of fifteen feet.

Russia, France, and other European powers, which have suddenly conceived great affection for the United States, are probably no more friendly than they were when they were trying to persuade Great Britain to join in a concerted effort to browbeat us into receding from our demands upon Spain. The change that has come over them is the discovery that the United States is fully able to take care of itself, both at sea and on land, at home and abroad. This is something that always commands the profound respect of the powers. Incidently, they have no desire to be at enmity with the possessor and disposer of the Philippines, muses the New York Commercial Advertiser.

The volume of United States' trade in China now amounts to one-seventh of the foreign trade of that empire, and is swiftly increasing. It is fifty per cent. greater than that of Germany, and is surpassed only by that of Great Britain. Last year nearly one-half of the $17,000,000 in cotton goods exported by the United States was taken by China alone, and American petroleum, wheat, flour, iron and steel and railroad materials are steadily increasing in favor with the Chinese. It is this growing trade of the United States which Russia, Germany and France in part seek to secure by division of China into spheres of influence. Their aim is to monopolize the foreign trade in their respective spheres by closing the door upon all competing nations.

A London paper says that the boy King of Spain amuses himself by drilling a company of guards in the ground of the palace, and in one of the apartments are toy models to the extent of a hundred or more of men and officers of the various regiments of the Spanish forces. These are placed in formations by two or three veteran officers, detailed to impress the delights of warfare upon the young monarch, and often they are presented as fighting troops, and practice various manoeuvres and perform sham battles against another crowd of toy soldiers supposed to be Americans, and which, of course, have to suffer defeat at the hands of the boy King. He has also models of different warships floating in one of the palace lakes, and, in fact, every possible means is being taken to instill into the mind of the royal child that his mission is to defend, and some day if possible, avenge his country. When the little King becomes fractious—and even royal boys can be naughty—by being forced to witness the American dummy soldiers inflict a thrashing on the Spanish, carefully arranged, of course, by the aforementioned veterans in attendance. The little King also likes to trot at the head of a company of boy soldiers sent from time to time to play with him in the palace grounds, and he his happiest when permitted, as a special concession, to beat a drum as they march past.

An Aged Scottish Order.

The Scottish Order of the Thistle is another aged order, but it is at least 370 years younger than the Order of St. Constantine. With commendable discretion, it says it dates only from 787. It must have been founded by Solvathius, King of Scotland, who died in that year, or by Achaius, King of Scotland, who ascended the throne in that year. At all events, 900 years afterward, in 1687, James VII., King of Scotland, re-established it. It is the only one of the higher orders of knighthood that has at present among its members a person not a noble; this person is John D. S. Campbell, commonly called the Marquis of Lorne, son of the Duke of Argyll.

Besides these two ancient orders even the Spanish military orders of St. James of the Sword, 1175, of Alcantara, 1156, and of Calatrava, 1158, seem young, and the Danish Order of Dannebrog, 1219; the Portuguese Order of Christ, 1318; the Swedish Order of the Seraphim, and the English Order of the Garter, 1350, seem quite childish.

A Municipality's Restaurant.

The city of Grenoble, France, has been running a restaurant and kitchen for fifty years. Meals are supplied at cost in the restaurant, or delivered at residences, as may be desired. The food is of the best quality, the cooks are as skillful as any in Paris, and the service is excellent. The dining-rooms are of several grades, according to the attendance, so that all classes and tastes may be suited. One may dine there for three cents on bread and soup, and have his hunger thoroughly appeased, or one can pay twelve cents and enjoy a full course dinner. The best rooms are marble-floored and prettily decorated. There is no financial profit whatever to the city of Grenoble in operating this huge restaurant, which serves from 15,000 to 20,000 meals a day. The charges are based on the cost of the materials used, help, and keeping utensils and buildings in repair.—American Kitchen Magazine.

The Hawaiian Isiands.

The total area of government lands in the Hawaiian Islands is fixed at 1,782,500 acres, divided as follows: valuable building lots, 145 acres; coffee, 76,270 acres; cane, 25,626 acres; rice, 977 acres; government interests in homesteads, 20,000 acres; grazing, 451,200 acres; high forest lands, 681,282 acres; rugged mountain tracts, 227,000 acres; barren lands, 300,000 acres.

Curious Facts about Trees.

It is a curious fact that the roots and branches of a tree are so alike in their nature that if a tree be uprooted and turned upside down the underground branches will take to themselves the functions of roots, and the exposed roots will in time bud and become veritable branches.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

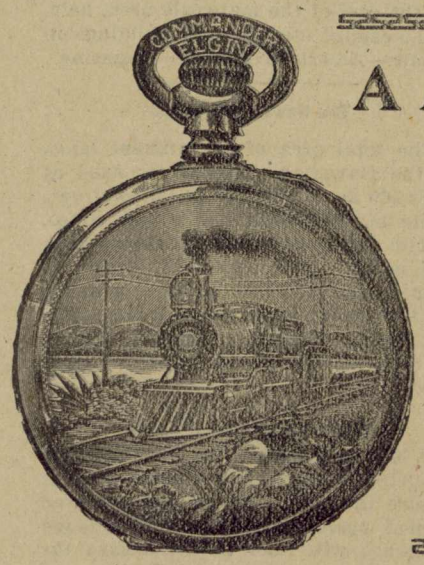
"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

TEN FOR FIVE CENTS. RIPANS ONE GIVES RELIEF

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some druggists—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (6 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some Ripans stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

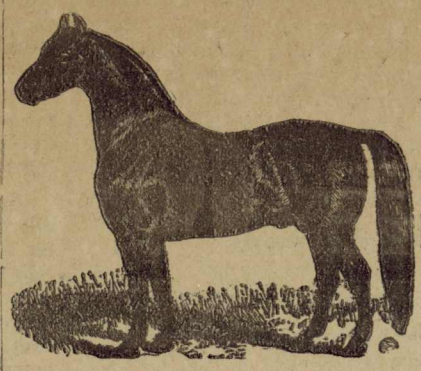


A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

☞Office at Store. Manager.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Probat Judge

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, '98. NO. 32.

SOME TIME.

Some time, when all life's lessons have been learned,
And sun and stars forevermore have set,
The things which our weak judgment here has spurned—
The things o'er which we grieved with fruitless wet—
Will flash before us out of life's dark night,
As stars shine most in deeper tints of blue;
And we shall see how all God's plan's were right,
And how what seemed reproof was love most true.

And we shall see, that while we frown and sigh,
God's plans go on as best for you and me;
How, when we called, he heeded not our cry,
Because his wisdom to the end could see:
And, e'en as prudent parents disallow
Too much of sweet to craving babyhood,
So God, perhaps, is keeping from us now
Life's sweetest things, because it seemeth good.

And if, some time, commingled with life's wine,
We find the wormwood, and recoil and shrink,
Be sure a wiser hand than yours or mine
Pours out this potion for our lips to drink;
And if some friend we love is lying low,
Where human kisses cannot reach his face,
Oh! do not blame the loving Father so,
But bear your sorrow with obedient grace.

And you shall shortly know that lengthened breath
Is not the sweetest gift God sends his friend,
And that sometime the sable pall of death
Conceals the fairest boon his love can send.
If we could push ajar the gates of life,
And stand within, and all God's workings see,
We could interpret all this doubt and strife,
And for each mystery find a key.

But not to-day. Then be content, poor heart;
God's plans, like lilies pure and white, unfold;
We must not tear the close-shut leaves apart:
Time will reveal the calyxes of gold.
And if through patient toil we reach the land
Where tired feet, with sandals loose, may rest,
When we shall clearly know and understand,
I think that we shall say that "God knew best."

—May Riley Smith.

THE WORLD'S STOCK OF STATESMEN.

With Gladstone and Bismarck gone, it may be interesting to enquire what is left of the world's stock of statesmen.

So far as has been demonstrated, there are very few men of Gladstonian or Bismarkian calibre before the public, although there is doubtless plenty of material at hand should occasion call for men of that calibre, for it is true in a certain measure that great statesmen are the product of great occasions. Lord Salisbury, for example, would be acknowledged a great statesman if Great Britain were precipitated into some great foreign war. Then it would be seen that the remarkable care exercised by Salisbury, his minute preparation for that very emergency, the success attending British enterprise, would all mark him as one of the greatest statesmen England had produced. As it is, he passes for a man of affairs, as a careful handler of coalition elements and a wise man in his generation. In popular estimation, he is not a national hero. Balfour, the nephew of Lord Salisbury, rests in the same disadvantageous position, but it is generally said of him that he is unusually strong, and has in him the making of a statesman of the first class. Joseph Chamberlain, the Liberal leader, is likewise a prominent feature, a man with a future, and of George Curzon, the under secretary for foreign affairs, it is truly said that he understands foreign politics better than any one else in Great Britain. He has travelled much, has been intimately associated with national affairs, and has a natural turn for statistics. The smartest diplomat in the British service is undoubtedly Lord Dufferin, ambassador to France, and sometime governor-general of Canada and viceroy of India. However, his age precluded the idea of his being a future leader of British affairs.

***

60,000
Majority for Johnston!
A Similar Majority for
..Morgan:-:.Bros..
For Leaders in Low Prices!

France offers us literally nothing. It is impossible for any one to be a statesman under the French constitution. That instrument seems to have been designed for the purpose of keeping out the "man on horseback," in other words, to prevent the rise of any one to popularity in the public service. If such is its design, it fulfills it well. Faure the president, comes as near being a popular idol as any person in France, yet he is far from reaching the pinnacle of greatness. He sprang from the ranks and has worked himself up to great wealth and to political prominence, and he is doing the best he can under the constitution to give France a good government, but of greatness in him we see no sign.

***

The passage of Prince Bismarck through German history was like the flight of a meteor, so brilliant as to obscure all other stars of the heaven, and the glamor left behind prevents our seeing clearly what remains. William the German emperor remains, it is true, with talents hidden by his unfortunate mannerism. Like Martha, he is busy in many things, but the occupation is not as creditable to him as to the saintly character of the New Testament. In fact, he does so many things and such little things that it is extremely difficult to see that he has any merit; yet, if we study the results, we will have to give him a high rank among modern statesmen. He has virtually been his own premier since Bismarck retired eight years ago, and as a rule he has succeeded in forcing through his measures. He has not kept down socialism, but even Birmarck could not do that: and he has failed in some of his efforts to bring Germany up to his military standard, but, taken as a whole, he has pushed his country forward. German interests have not lost anything while in his hands. Wait until he works down to his bearings, as engineers say, and possibly we have a man that will challenge the world's admiration. We notice that he hae begun to explain himself, and that is a good sign. In his neighborhood we observe no one but Count von Waldersee, Von Moltke's chief of staff, a man of high purpose and great experience, but who will hardly emerge from the background as long as William holds the centre of the stage.

***

In Russia, there is Podobenowszew, high procurator of the holy synod, an office equivalent to a minister of public worship for the state church. Under Alexander II, who was too much of a European to like him, he had but a secondary position, but under his pupil, the present emperor, he has become all-powerful, the more so because his orthodoxy wears the national garb, and he insists that the break down of the Nicholas I system was caused by the attempt to govern with ministers of German origin. He, seconded by Count Tolstoi, has been the originator of the dreadful persecutions for religion's sake that have disgraced recent Russian history. He initiates foreign policy, also, which is ostensibly under the control of Baron de Giers, the only influence of the latter being to mitigate the decrees of the actual foreign minister. If tolerable relations with England, Austria and Germany have been maintained during his regime, this is for the most part the merit of De Giers, the foreign secretary, whose influence with the czar lies in the cleverness with which he appears not to exercise any. Of Podobenoszew, backed by the powerful influence of an automatic czar, we are likely to hear more in future.

***

Austria since the union of 1867 has produced no great men. It may be said that men who conduct compromise governments cannot become great, since they cannot advocate or follow any policy but that of concession. In Italy's political world we find no truly great men to-day. Those whom we thought great are tainted with the scandal of corruption in office: they have fallen from the pedestal upon which popular favor placed them. There is, however, one great man in Italy, one worthy to stand side by side with Gladstone in personal purity, and by the side of Bismarck in firmness of purpose, namely, His Holiness Leo XIII. Successor of a similar pope, he has become a conqueror by following a different policy: neglecting none of the interests confided to him, abandoning none of the claims of his organization, holding firmly to his temporal rights, he has yet so measured his powers against his opponents as to win in every contest, and to gather strength with each winning. Under his sway the church has become plainly manifest to all as first and foremost, not as a political entity, but as the loving mother; and he has made his religion respected even by its enemies. Personally he has refused to have enemies, his towering intellect commands the admiration of the world's thinkers, while his nobleness of soul marks him as one of the finest specimens of manhood. In the moral world he has achieved greater victories than the conquests that have crowned the banners of military heroes.—Mobile Register.

THE WHISTLING BOY.

Is there a sound in the world so sweet,
on a dark and dreary morn,
When the gloom without meets the gloom within, till we wish we'd not been born,
As the sound of a little barefoot boy
gayly whistling in the rain,
As he drives the cows to pastures green, down the path in the muddy lane?

The joy of a boy is a funny thing, not dampened by autumn rain;
His clothes and his hands and his sturdy feet are not spoiled by grime or stain;
The world to him is a wonderful place that he means some day to explore;
If there's time to play and plenty to eat who cares if the heavens pour?

Oh, that cheery trill of a heart as fresh as the drops that clear the air,
Brings a smile to our lips, and clears the soul of the gloom that brooded
there;
And we bless the boy as he spats along through rivers of rain and mud,
For the hope and cheer in that whistled note would rainbow the sky in a flood.

—Celia S. Berkstresser in Ladies' Home Journal.

The Ring and the Glove.

I felt like Cortez upon a memorable occasion when the jeweller's glass door swung behind me, and, marching up to the counter, I asked for a ring.

"A ring, sir?" said the attendant, a Cockney to his finger tips. "What sort of a ring?"

"An engagement ring," said I valorously.

"What size, sir?" demanded the man, docketing me mentally.

"Five and a half," I replied, thinking of the glove.

"That's rather an unusual size," he remarked, rubbing one eyebrow, "unless it's a bangle the lady wants."

"I'm not sure that she wants it at all," I murmured, producing the little sandalwood-scented bit of silk; "but that is the size, I think."

"Oh—it's the size of the lady's 'and," he observed with mild toleration, unrolling it. "Well, sir, ladies' fingers vary in girth, and it's more usual to fit them with a piece of cardboard; but we'll go our best."

"Could not the member be reconstituted?" I asked impressively.

That knocked the conceit out of him; he stared at me helplessly.

"Fill it with powder or something," I explained.

It took him five minutes' self-discipline to grasp the startling novelty, but he did, and, under my direction, filled the third finger sheath with plate powder, which I rammed home with my pencil-case. Then, producing a miniature calliper, he took measurements and began to search his scintilating stock, displaying a reverent familiarity most impressive to behold. Cleopatra, how they dazzled! Pearls, rubies, emeralds, diamonds, each challenging the admiration, but checking the desire by the narrow parchment slip attached setting forth the price. Two hundred dollars, $300, $500, it was a charmed place, where money lost its everyday significance, for what man of spirit would be content to offer the girl of his heart a thing costing a miserable tenner when close beside it twinkled a rose diamond worth a king's ransom? I felt almost pauperized, recollecting that I had only $400 available.

"Now, sir, what do you think of this?" asked the shopman patronizingly, as he displayed an opal changeful as the shifting sunlight on a misty sky. "It's exactly the lady's size, making allowances, for, of course, she won't want to wear it over 'er glove."

"Are not opals unlucky?" said I, endeavoring to decipher the price.

"Oh, we don't hold with such superstition," replied the jeweller, loftily, "but they do say one will keep you from being poisoned."

"Then I shall leave it for the next rich widow," I answered. "But what is the cost of this?"

I alluded to an emerald set amid pearls, which I already saw glittering on the loveliest hand in the world. He extracted it with a silent respect he borrowed from my eagerness, and made a measurement while I watched him, my heart beating madly. The size was exactly the same; the price—but that is a detail. I decided upon it. The shopman thanked me perfunctorily, and I leaned against the counter, feeling like one who had received a great favor. But when I fumbled in my pocket for the notes and heard their crisp crackle my confidence returned, and then as I watched the splendid thing flashing in its violet bed I believed I must after all be a rich man, unknown to myself, so great was the suggestion of unlimited wealth thus conveyed.

"I should like a piece of glass on the inside of the case lid," I observed carelessly. "Is it usual?"

"That's looking glass?" queried the lapidary, glancing up from a surreptitious examination of the notes.

I nodded. I knew I must be getting red.

"Well," he remarked, tolerantly, "it is not exactly usual, but it's a pretty idea—'ightens the attraction of the gem, makes the lady see the present from two points of view."

"Hardly an advantage sometimes," I observed, "but can you do it?"

"Well, yes, I should think," he replied condescendingly.

"Then get it done, and I shall stand the racket," I answered magnificently.

He hurried away to effect the alteration, his place being taken by a bald headed salesman who wore spectacles and talked to me over them soothingly, as one would to a person of weak intellect, while I formulated piratical schemes and asked him puerile questions with a gravity equalling his own.

When I left the shop I headed straight for Bloomsbury square, but remembering that she might be just then occupied by domestic duties, decided to call later in the day. Even the ring in my pocket gave me no additional courage, and presently I began to think it was not quite royal enough. Edging my way to Regent's Park I hunted out a quiet spot and sat down to examine it at leisure. It was glorious still, but somehow not so glorious as I would have wished, and I was actually questioning the wisdom of my choice when an approaching footfall made me close the case. It was light, though firm, and the everlasting flint would have worn well beneath it. Something, more of the intellect than of the sense, made me look up, and I saw her.

The sensation of being shot through the heart has not, I believe, received adequate literary expression, those who experience it being usually preoccupied at the exact moment with other matters; but I think I know what it means. She stopped and we gazed at each other. She was in deep black, but the pallor had gone from her oval cheeks. She made a half tentative bow. I sprang to my feet.

"I am so glad to see you," I cried, "because—I want to restore something you forgot in the restaurant yester—a few weeks ago."

"How kind of you," she said, coming near.

"Oh, not at all," I replied; "but I hope you were not inconvenienced. I should have sent it, but I—I didn't."

I put my hand in my breast pocket hurriedly and extracted my handkerchief, which in turn brought to light a sheaf of letters and memoranda I shook out at her feet like a skillful conjurer. Then I tried the other pocket, but vainly. "It's a glove,' I said weakly, gathering up my belongings, "one of yours, don't you know."

"I recollect—I missed it," she said coldly.

"But the cab went so quickly," I pleaded; "ah, do sit down until I find it."

She did so. I was in a gentle perspiration.

"Pray do not take so much trouble," she murmured plaintively.

"Hurrah, I have it," I cried, and I extracted the wisp of silk from my watch pocket, where I had thrust it on leaving the shop.

"So kind of you," she observed, taking it. Then the powder ran out over her dress.

"How stupid," I gasped, completely demoralized now, and retaking the glove I shook it vigorously until I had created a miniature dust storm. She sneezed. I devoutly wished that the flying machine was an accomplished fact.

"It's ruined," I muttered wofully, for it certainly presented a piebald appearance.

She smiled. I sat down saying desperately:

"Would you allow me to keep it? The thing is of no use now."

"Why?" she answered quietly, but the voice was low.

"To remind me of that happy day," I replied, shying.

"Indeed? I am glad you think of it as a pleasant one," she said graciously. "Mr. Turnbull was declaiming all the way back in the cab. He seemed prejudiced against you."

"He may be described as a man who means well," I observed severely. "I hope he said something actionable."

"Oh hardly that!" she answered laughingly; "but he seems to have changed his opinion lately. Your name happened to come up in conversation to-day and he said—"

She paused! a sudden flame leaped into her cheeks.

"What did he say?" I demanded, trying to look away.

"He said you were an honorable man," she replied, the point of her parasol tracing a lop-sided isosceles triangle in the dust, "but—"

"Ah, there is much virtue in that 'but,'" I observed bitterly.

"That you ought to settle down," she continued, tossing her head and rising.

"So I shall," I cried, "but it depends upon my lady. I have her portrait here in this case. She is the only girl I shall ever care for in that way," I added, because a little qualification does no harm at even the most exalted moments. "By the way, she is an acquaintance of yours, too." And, pressing the spring, I handed the casket to her as the lid flew back. She glanced at me curiously, very pale now. I, weak about the knees, watched a child trundle a hoop past us.

She uttered a little cry that sank into a sobbing laugh. Then she sat down beside me and put one of the hands I hope to hold when death beckons me down the last dim turning of life's road, into mine.

"I trust she will make you a good wife," she said gravely. And— Well, surely man born of woman can guess the rest.—London Black and White.

The Ancient City of Barcelona, Spain.

The ancient city of Barcelona, Spain, is very admirably situated on the shores of the Mediterranean, from which it is separated by its harbor of some 300 acres, which is larger than the three harbors of Marseilles put together. Round this old town, which dates from the time of the Romans, and which is rich in antiquities of every description, including a very early Gothic cathedral, the undulating plain is covered to right and left with wide-spreading modern suburbs. Though the old town can still lay claim to half the entire population, the suburbs exceed it tenfold in area. These extramuros, with their very numerous factories, often of considerable size, are also well furnished with modern public buildings and country houses, as well as with artisans' dwellings. At the back, some five miles from the sea, the town is enclosed by a range of high hills, which do much to shelter it from the cold winds of winter, and to provide it with a healthy, equable climate.

Despite its advantages of situation and its commercial importance, Barcelona has always been famous as a turbulent town. Revolutions, combined with barricades and fighting in the streets, it has seen many. It is indeed, still looked upon as a hotbed of sedition.—New York Commercial

At a convenient fighting distance a ship like the Indiana looks about one inch long.

The Oldest Volunteer.

A New York State doctor, aged 109, volunteered his services to the President recently and expressed a desire to enter the army as a surgeon. Even at his advanced years he can readwithout glasses, and walk 10 to 15 miles a day. The oldest standard medicine is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has no equal for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, fevers and bad blood. It strengthens, purifies and vitalizes. One bottle does much good.

Corporal Anthony, the brave marine on the ill-fated Maine, is now on the Detroit.

Weak Stomach

Sensitive to every little indiscretion in eating, even to exposure to draughts and to over-perspiration—this condition is pleasantly, positively and permanently overcome by the magic tonic touch of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which literally "makes weak stomachs strong." It also creates an appetite—makes you feel real hungry, and drives away all symptoms of dyspepsia. Be sure to get

Hood's Sarsaparilla

America's Greatest Medicine. All druggists.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. 25 cents.

Teeth Made of Paper.

The paper teeth made in Germany—that is, artificial teeth for human use, manufactured from paper pulp instead of porcelain and other materials that are usually selected for making our imitation masticators are said to be very satisfactory. It is distinctly durable, and not being brittle does not chip off. The moisture of the mouth has no effect upon it. It retains its color perfectly, and is lighter in weight than porcelain and cheaper, of course to make.

Facts About Great Britain.

Great Britain has forty colonies.

There are 230 British millionaires.

The British have 689 ships-of-war.

They could fire 7,530 guns at once.

The British Empire, if cut into strips a mile wide, would reach around the world 450 times.

Half the exports from the United States of America are brought to England and for all this food $425,000,000 is paid yearly.

A LIVING WITNESS.

Mrs. Hoffman Describes How She Wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for Advice, and Is Now Well

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before using your Vegetable Compound I was a great sufferer. I have been sick for months, was troubled with severe pain in both sides of abdomen, sore feeling in lower part of bowels, also suffered with dizziness, headache, and could not sleep. I wrote you a letter describing my case and asking your advice. You replied telling me just what to do. I followed your directions, and cannot praise your medicine enough for what it has done for me. Many thanks to you for your advice. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me, and I will recommend it to my friends.—Mrs. FLORENCE R. HOFFMAN, 512 Roland St., Canton, O.

The condition described by Mrs. Hoffman will appeal to many women, yet lots of sick women struggle on with their daily tasks disregarding the urgent warnings until overtaken by actual collapse.

The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparalleled, for years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for sometimes past has had sole charge of the correspondence department of her great business, treating by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women during a single year.

VIRGINIA BUSINESS COLLEGE.
Commercial, Shorthand, Typewriting, English. $50 tuition admits to all departments for session of forty-two weeks. Open to both sexes. Graduates assisted to positions. Eleventh session begins September 6th. Catalogue free. B. A. DAVIS, JR., President, Box K, Richmond, Va.

WARD ROOM CATERER.

One Feature of Life in the Navy That Is Distasteful.

If there is any one feature of life aboard ship that a ward room officer of the navy particularly dislikes, it is his election as caterer of the ward room mess. All of the ward room officers have to take their turn at this job. When the catering of an officer proves especially satisfactory to his messmates, he is often elected over and over again, to his deep disgust. His frequent re-election, however, does not serve to make him remiss in his duty to the mess, in order that he may be displaced as caterer. This would be too obvious, and would cause criticism. The ward room caterer does all of the buying for the mess through the ward room steward, who is an enlisted man. Some ward room officers are eminently successful as caterers, and others make a very bad fist of it. It is a principle among ward room officers to ridicule the mess caterer and pour contumely upon his efforts, no matter how successful he may be, and the caterer is always the butt of all hands aft at meal times. Everything that he sets before his messmates is pronounced villainous, and he is made as unhappy as possible, even though he knows the officers of the mess are only guying him. At the end of the month, the expenses of the mess are divided up among all of the officers of the mess, each paying his portion.

Lieutenant Victor Blue, the nervy young officer who recently performed the feat of getting a good view of the Spanish fleet in Santiago harbor by making a daring detour of seventy-five miles or so on Cuban soil, was attached to the Bennington, which was lying in Honolulu harbor, about three years ago. He was then an ensign, and he had not up to that time been a ward room caterer. So he was unanimously elected almost as soon as he was attached to the Bennington. Lieutenant Blue is a giant of a young man, and exceedingly good natured. But he made a sad hash of the caterer's job. He got his accounts all mixed up before he had served as a caterer for a week, and he had to pay a lot of seignorage out of his own pocket. The meals he placed before his messmates were satisfactory enough, but the caterer's job wore on Lieutenant Blue a great deal. He figured on how to get his conge. When a new caterer is elected it is the custom of the ward officers to weigh themselves every day, in a spirit of fun, in order to weigh the caterer, and to make it appear by their solemnly averred loss of weight, that they are being half starved. Lieutenant Blue went down to the engine room one day, after he had been worried over the caterer's job for a week or so, and dug out a big drop-scales. He tinkered with it for a while. Then he rigged a bo'sun's chair to it, carried it aft, and suggested to the officers that when they wanted to weigh themselves thereafter they use those scales of his. The officers didn't suspect anything, and after dinner the same day several of them weighed themselves. They had all lost a pound since the day before. They said the scales were wrong and Lieutenant Blue admitted that perhaps they were. They all weighed again the next day. Each of them had lost another pound, and they began to feel of their waistbands wonderingly. All of the officers of the Bennington's ward room went on losing flesh, according to Lieutenant Blue's scales, for ten days or so. Then a meeting of the ward room officers was called, and Lieutenant Blue was dropped as caterer, as being "incompetent" and "no-account anyhow." Lieutenant Blue didn't have to serve as caterer for the rest of that cruise, and he wore a smile of deep content every time he looked at a weighing apparatus.

A Monkey Cyclist.

There is a very popular monkey in the Zoological Gardens of the Prater at Venice just now, and she is very much admired. "Miss Maja," has an exquisite bicycle which she rides to perfection, imitating to a nicety all the movements of cyclists. She jumps into the saddle without touching the pedals, kisses her hand to everybody while she waits for the signal, then flies off at a splendid pace. From the wheel she jumps on a trapeze and then on the wheel again before it can fall. When she has shown all her arts and graces she claps her hands, calling upon the public to applaud. She thanks prettily for applause by bowing and putting her hand to her heart. The monkey has not been trained at all—only made to look on while men and women cycled. She has taught herself everything without any one's help. When money is given to her she runs to her nurse, takes her purse and puts it in. It has been proposed to let her have one of the many cycling medals distributed in Vienna, but the societies refuse to give it to her.—London News.

Snakes Pick Hops.

Hop picking is one of the principal industries of the Deer Lick bottom district in Indiana, and gives employment to several hundred persons each year. In 1896 the employers had considerable trouble with the pickers over the question of wages. The pickers wished to be paid by the hour, but the hop growers wished to maintain the present scale by the piece. The matter as a general proposition is still unsettled except by one hop grower, Jacob Presley, on Deer Lick bottoms. He did not hire any pickers at all this year, and yet his hops are all picked and cured. The story is a curious one, and begins in 1895, when Mr. Presley first noticed two yellow snakes in his hop field. His first impulse was to kill them, but their actions were so odd that he stopped to watch them. The snakes would climb the hop poles and pick every blossom, throwing them upon the ground. Then they would extract a certain amount of hop from the stalk and pass on to the next one. This set Mr. Presley to thinking if the snakes could not be utilized instead of men and women.

In the spring of 1896 he found a nest of thirteen yellow snakes down by the creek, and, capturing them alive, he took them home. In the fall he tried them, and with such success that he determined to use them this year. Accordingly he hired no hands, to the great surprise of his neighbors. Instead he turned the snakes loose, putting 150 baskets on the ground to catch the hops as they fell. The experiment was a great success.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The First Public Library.

Libraries instituted for research in all branches of knowledge existed in remote antiquity. According to Prof. Sayce, such a one was founded by Sargon I., the Semitic ruler of Akkad, about 3800 B. C. Here was deposited the great work of Babylonian astronomy, the "Observatiois of Bel," and the name of the keeper of this library has been handed down to us on his seal.

Similar libraries were founded in the chief cities of Babylon, the contents of which—either the original works or copies of translations of them—were drawn upon to enrich the famous Assyrian library of Nineveh, founded, it is stated, by Assurbanipul (Sardanapalus) from political motives. That it was a public library is indicated by a remark of the king at the end of a treatise—"I have placed it in my palace for the instruction of my subjects."

According to a writer on the subject, the volumes were all numbered, and any one who wished to consult a book wrote the number of it on a ticket and handed it to the keeper. The library founded at Athens by Pisistratus about the year 540 B. C. is often stated to be the first that was opened to the public. The more famous Alexandrian Library takes the next place in point of time.—New York World.

Quick Wit Saves from Failure.

The faculty of keeping one's head in an emergency is not too common. A young Philadelphia elocutionist has it to perfection, and a few days ago it neatly saved her from an embarrassing situation. She was reciting professionally, and her work had called forth wild applause. She was warm and tired, however, and when just a few lines into an encore number, she knew that a certain place her memory would fail her, and that she would stumble and fall. Her wits answered quickly. Before coming to the breaking point, she suddenly stopped and addressed her auditors. "I see by your faces that many of you have heard this piece before. I do not like to repeat, so, with your permission, I will try another number." Some magnanimous persons answered: "No, no. Go ahead." But the young lady was obdurate, and the people of that audience now consider her the queerest of all elocutionists."—Philadelphia Record.

AN ISOLATED RACE.

Ainos of Japan, Who Had Never Seen a Foreigner.

Mrs. Mabel Loomis Todd writes for the Century, from personal observation, an article entitled, "In Aino Land." Mrs. Todd says:

In the summer of 1896, as a lay member of the Amherst College expedition which visited northern Japan to view the total eclipse of the sun, I had the rare opportunity of seeing the absolutely primitive "hairy Aino" of that region.

In the southern portion of the island, near Hakodate and Sapporo, and about Volcano Bay, travelers have visited these shy and silent people. But several hundred miles north are many Ainos, who, until the summer of 1896, were strangers to the members of any race but their own or the few fishing villages along the coast. The dwellers in the province of Kitami are too distant to be sought by visitors; and a foreign woman, the Japanese officials informed me, had never before reached Kitami.

Skirting the rough western coast by steamer, and rounding Cape Soya, the eclipse party located at Esashi, which must not be confused with another town of the same name near Hakodate. The news of the arrival of strange white foreigners spread quickly among the neighboring villages. Walking with stately tread, bushy-haired and bearded groups of Ainos often passed the expedition headquarters, apparently looking for nothing unusual, and giving no evidence of curiosity, yet never failing to see every foreign figure within their range. Humbly accompanying their lords, women and children frequently followed, far less imposing than the men. Somewhat larger, and apparently stronger, than the Japanese, although not taller, the older men are actually patriarchal, with long beards, and masses of thick hair parted in the middle. Many faces have a benign and loftly expression.

Driven gradually through ages from the south to Hokkaido, the Ainos are among the few races yet retaining, in this over-civilized world of ours, an utterly unspoiled simplicity. Their origin has never been satisfactorily traced, but they were certainly in Japan long before the present race of Japanese had arrived, and names clearly originating in the Aino tongue are still retained all over the empire. Gentle and subservient to the conquering race, it is evident that they formerly held more egotistic views than now, even fancying themselves the center of the universe, as is shown perhaps by an old national song:

Gods of the sea, open your eyes divine,
Wherever your eyes turn, there echoes
the sound of the Aino speech.

Uncle Sam's War Month.

April is the month made notable by great events in American history. The first great struggle for American liberty broke into hostilities at Lexington and Concord in April, 1775; the war between the Confederate States and the United States began in April, 1861; in April of 1862 Farragut captured New Orleans, and in April, 1865, came the surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia at Appomattox Court House.

Big gold nuggets are extremely rare. The biggest on record was found in Australia in 1852, weighed upwards of 223 pounds, and was worth $55,000.

She Meant Well.

He was a young soldier and she an admiring girl.

"Of course," he said, in response to her sympathetic suggestions, "there are hardships connected with this life."

"It's too dreadful," she murmured, "to think of what you will have to go through."

"The only thing to do," he answered, "is to go through them without thinking about them."

"I can see you now," she proceeded, with half-closed eyes and outstretched hand, "leaping into battle."

"Oh, no," he interrupted, somebody has been misleading you. We don't leap. It's not a swimming bath or a gymnasium, you know. We just form into straight lines and go into battle the same as we go anywhere else."

"I can hear you shouting defiance to the foe," she persisted.

"I don't think I'll show any defiance," he returned with some hesitation. "You know, the foe don't speak any English. And anyhow, I have an idea I'll feel like keeping my mouth closed and squinting along the gun barrel most of the time."

She made one more effort.

"Don't you feel some tremor when you think of how you will be where the fire is hottest and the bullets thickest?"

"No," was the reply. "To tell you the honest truth, I don't. It's time enough to put your mind on such things when the emergency comes. It's trouble enough to think of going where the coffee is coldest and the soup thinnest."—Washington Star.

The Poisonous Laurel.

Among the most poisonous of plants native to the United States are various laurels. One of these is the common broad-leafed laurel, which is a handsome shrub from ten to thirty feet high. Its leaves are thick and shining, and its flowers appear in showy pink clusters. This kind of laurel grows abundantly on rocky hillsides. Its poison is a peculiar crystalline substance, easily dissolved out of the plant by cold water, and more dangerous even than strychnine. Great numbers of cattle and sheep are destroyed annually by eating the shrub, and children sometimes mistake the young shoots for wintergreen. Occasionally the leaves are used criminally to increase the intoxicating effects of liquor. The symptoms are persistent nausea, frothing at the mouth, grating of the teeth, dizziness, loss of sight and feeling, and coma. Among other poisonous laurels may be mentioned the narrow-leafed laurels, otherwise known as "lambkill" or "lamb laurel." It is much like the broad-leafed plant, but smaller. The so-called "stagger bush" is a species of laurel. Its more common name is "kill lamb." It is a small shrub, with showy clusters of tubular white flowers, and is frequent in low, damp soils along the Atlantic coast.—New York Sun.

The Paris Bill Poster.

The bill poster of Paris is a more picturesque personage than his brother of New York. He plies his trade in all winds and weather, and he is nothing daunted by an assignment of a bleak suburban district on a rainy day.

He ties his posters—incased in a waterproof cover—across his back. He fastens on his paste pot. He mounts his bicycle. Then he opens his umbrella—for he is an expert wheelman, and can manage it and his wheel at once. All over the umbrella are advertisements in little form of the article or the event which he intends to advertise in large by his posters. So his entire route is placarded, and he himself is a living advertisement.

Fifty years ago the population of Europe was about 250,000,000; it is today considerably over 360,000,000.

About one-third of the streets of Paris, France, are ornamented with trees.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, August 18, 1898

Vote
for incorporation.

Whoop up the incorporation.

Don't fail to vote Saturday.

Cuba is free.

The cotton crop this season is estimated at 10,000,000 bales.

Keep your eye on the fellow that tells those big spook tales about incorporation.

The News has recieved a copy of New Era, it is a live up-date Women paper, edited by Mrs. G. C. Ball of Birmingham.

War is a thing of past the white wings of peace have taken the place of the War Horse.

Montevallo is Incorporate.

Mr. E. S. Lyman after a full investigation says that the old incorporation is still good, therefore there is no need for an election.

Election for Officers.

In the near future an election will be ordered for city officers.

No Election.

The election for incorporation is off, as Montevallo is alread incorporated.

Hon. Gaston A. Robbins, of Dallas, seems to be the coming man for the next congressman from this district.

Montevallo will soon put on city airs, Mayor, Aldermen and Marshall.

The streets will soon be put proper condition.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BEAT MEETING.

MONTEVALLO, Aug. 6, '98.

At a Democratic beat meeting held in accordance with a call of the Chairman of the County Executive Committee, on this day, the following proceedings were had:

C. L. Meroney, chairman of the executive committee, called the meeting to order, and nominated Dr. D. L. Wilkinson temporary chairman, and E. S. Lyman temporary secretary.

On motion, the temporary organization was made permanent.

On motion of W. S. Cary, the chairman appointed a committee of three to select twelve delegates and alternates to the county convention to meet next Monday at Columbiana, subject to the approval of the meeting. Said committee was composed of the following: W. S. Cary, C. L. Meroney and J. D. Farrington.

The committee reported the following names of delegates and alternates, which report on motion was adopted:

Delegates.	Alternates.
E. S. Lyman,	Ben Cunningham,
Dr. D. L Wilkinson,	S H. McCauley,
J. D. Farrington,	E. O. Camp,
W. S. Cary,	E. L. Killough,
George Kroell,	M. N. Alexander,
Clifton Newton,	Thos. Randall,
Burgess Little.	A. J. Gentry,
W. B. Reynolds,	James Harris,
Wm. Thompson,	C. E. West,
Frank West,	C. C. Vandegrift,
R. E. Woolley,	R. T. Newton,
Geo. T. Peter.	C. L. Meroney.

Dr. E. G. Givhan moved that the delegation be instructed to vote as a unit for Hon. Thos. S. Plowman, but accepted the following substitute offered by W. S. Cary, which was unanimously adopted by the meeting:

Resolved by the Democrats of Beat 4 in beat meeting assembled, That in recognition of the distinguished services rendered to this community by Hon. T. S. Plowman, and of the injustice done him by a partisan majority in congress, it is the sense of this meeting that he should be renominated by the approaching convention; and the delegates from this beat to the county convention are hereby instructed to use every honorable means to select a delegation to the Congressional Convention favorable to Capt. Plowman's renomination.

There being no further business before the meeting, it was on motion adjourned sine die.

D. L. WILKINSON,
Chairman.

E. S. LYMAN, Secretary.

Don't you forget it, Montevallo will soon be an incorporated town.

One Minute Cough Cure surprises people by its quick cures, and children may take it in large quantities without the least danger. It has won for itself the best reputation of any preparation used for coughs, croup, tickling in the throat or chronic coughs. F. F. Crowe & Co.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. F. F. Crowe & Co.

When you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure, don't accept anything else. Don't be talked into accepting a substitute, for piles, for sores, for burns. F. F. Crowe & Co.

You invite disappointment when you experiment. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick headache just as sure as you take them. F. F. Crowe & Co.

For broken surfaces, sores, insect bites, burns, skin diseases, and especially piles, there is one reliable remedy, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. When you call for DeWitt's don't accept counterfeits or frauds. You will not be disappointed with DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. F. F. Crowe & Co.

More than twenty million free samples of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve have been distributed by the manufacturers. What better proof of their confidence in its merits do you want? It cures piles, burns, scalds, sores, in the shortest space of time. F. F. Crowe & Co.

I was in favor of incorporation.

I was oppose to incorporation.

Many a person is starving with a full table before them. Appetite gone! Ambition gone! Life a burden!! What is the matter? The liver has ceased to do its proper work. The life channels are clogged. Poisonous fluids are thrown back into the blood, which should be thrown out. SMITH'S BILE BEANS will surely stimulate the liver to do its work well, and headache, sallowness and bad breath will flee away. Price, 25 cents per bottle. All Druggists

A stubborn cough or tickling in the throat yields to One Minute Cough Cure. Harmless in effect, touches the right spot, reliable and just what is wanted. It acts at once. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Notice of Incorporation Election

STATE OF ALABAMA, SHELBY COUNTY. } Office of Judge of Probate.

A PETITION HAVING BEEN FILED with me by the requisite number of adult male inhabitants of Montevallo, in said county, praying that said town be incorporated for a distance of three-fourths of a mile in every direction, from F. W. Regan's storehouse, in said town: Notice is hereby given that an order has this day been made by me directing an election to be held in the said town of Montevallo, on at the usual place of holding State and County elections and between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 3 o'clock P. M., to ascertain whether or not a majority of the inhabitants of said town are in favor of incorporating the same. Every qualified elector who has resided within the boundaries of the proposed town for three months next preceding the election, may vote at such election.

Saturday, the 20th Day of August, 1898

Done at office on this, the 6th day of August, 1898.

D. E. McMILLAN,
Judge of Probate.

Augl1 2t

DR. J. P. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, September 5, 1898.

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898.

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.

UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science

PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.

For catalogue or other information, apply to

JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala., Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address

C. ELDRIDGE, Secy,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. L. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 51, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L. MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance	$1.00
Six months, cash in advance	.50
Three months, cash in advance	.25

LOCAL.

Don't take the News.

Send your job work to Birmingham.

Vote against incorporation or any thing that looks like progress.

Don't advertise, you can't afford to waste money that way, let those big companys that don't know any better keep up the newspapers.

Don't forget that Morgan Bros. are the people who advertise.

Mr. A. J. Lee, is off on a vacation trip.

Montevallo needs a good school building.

The young people, spent a very enjoyable evening at Mr. Oxley's Monday.

Follow the crowd, and vote for incorporation.

Mr. Hum of Birmingham will be the new hostess at the Hotel St. George. The guest will have ham three times aday.

☞ When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Mr. Hinton, former post master of Longview, has accepted a position as clerk with S. A. Latham & Co.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter for $25.00. Apply at the News office.

Try a bottle of V.V.V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

Mr. Mitchell our printer left Thusday for Blocton we have not heard from him since he may be in Cuba.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

We are

Editor, Printer and Devil this week, so please excuse our short-comings.

We call especial attention to the new legal ad, "Notice of Incorporation Election," on our editorial page.

Mr. Rip Van Wrinkle, of sleepy hollow, was in town Saturday he was very much surprised when we informed him that Montevallo was not incorporated.

Wanted, a position by a young man to teach music, reference furnished as to ability.

Apply to A. A. Roebuck.
Aldrih, Ala.

Mrs. T. M. Allen, is sick with a fever we hope she will soon be well again.

☞ Are you the person that induced my printer to leave?

Mrs, Wilson has returned from her summers vacation.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Drummer galore.

Mis. Linnie Curry, of Dry Valley is visiting Miss. Ethel McMath.

Miss. Beulah Harris, of —— Tenn. is visiting Mrs. C. L. Meroney.

Miss. Hattie woods, of Birmingham is visiting Mrs. C. L. Meroney, this week.

Mr. Bur McMath, want to borrow ten Dollars.

Miss. Leeper, of Columbiana is visiting Mrs. Wilson.

Dr. Wilkinson returned with his better half Tuesday, they have been visiting Mrs. Wilkinson father at Bolling Ala.

Col. Murfree, president of the Marion Military Institute, was in town Wednesday.

For Sale.—We have for sale a good organ, in good order, which will be sold at about one third of origional cost.

Mr. W. E. Perry. came down from Birmingham Wendesday on his wheel, he expect to be with us this fall.

Mr. B. G. Lindsay, the champion Book Agent of the south, was in town Tuesday, he is stopping at Bismark.

Miss. Alice and Maud Woodword, of Yazoo City, Miss. are visiting thier grand mother Mrs. M. A. Nabors who lives about three mile south of town.

Mr. Vandegrift returned Saturday evening from his trip to Uniontown. He sold 1000 tons of coal Friday, that make Friday a lucky for Imogene mine at least.

Rev. P. L. Abernethy, is at Brierfield this week conducting a protracted meeting, we hope the meeting will be a grand success.

Dr. Hargrove, of Maylene was in town Monday.

The St. George, will closed untill the 1th of September, then it will be open under a new management.

The Magnolia, is open again Mr. Shivers, is entertaining the Knight's of the Grip.

Major Alex. A. Wall, the clever proprietor of the St. George, left Monday for Oakman. Ala. where he will make his future home, his many friends wish him much success in his new home. We are sorry to lose the Major.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Mr. King's family is visiting relative in Carlton, Ga.

WANTED.—Two mules four feet six inches high, weighing about 850 pounds, from five to seven years old. Will buy or trade for larger mules. Address G. F. Peter, Maylene, Ala.

Dr. Wilkinson will build a fine residence on the lot next to the Methodist Church in the near future.

Mr. Fred Reynolds, has returned from a wild goose chase, ask him about it.

Mrs. C. C. Vandergrift entertained the Epworth League royally Tuesday evening.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

On July 31st, 1898 at 4:30 O'clock P. M. in the Methodist Church at Montevallo, there was organized an Epworth League: Its object being promotion of loyalty and piety to the Church amoung the young people for their education and encourgement in Bible and Christian literature, and for their encourgement in works of grace and Charity.

The pastor being unavoidably absent, Mr. W. B. McCluney was elected by the house as President of the League (having been previously nominated for the office by the pastor.) The president taking the chair the following officers were nominrted.

1st Vice President, Miss Bessie Allen.
2nd " " Miss Myrtle Lawrence
3rd " " Miss Birdie Allen.
Secretary, Miss Imogene Vandegrift.
Treasurer, Miss Kate Reynolds.

After approval by the pastor officers shall be elected by ballot at the next business meeting of the League which shall be Tuesday Aug. 16th 1898 8 P. M. President proceeded to enroll members and twenty four were admitted membership. First devotional service was announced for Sunday Aug. 21st. After song and prayer the meeting adjourned.

At the business meeting of the League Tuesday night the following committees were appointed.

Department of Worship.
Miss Bessie Allen.
" Bessie Steele.
" Boziman.
" Ollie Bryan.
Mr. A. M. Cross.

Department of Literary Work.
Msss Birdie Allen.
" Lois McCauley.
" Realy Session.
Mr. W. S. Cary.
" Clifton Newton.

Department of Charity and Help.
Miss Myrtle Lawrence.
" Kate Reynolds.
Mr. S. H. McCauley.
" C. C. Dill.

Look Out Committee.
Mr. C. C. Vandegrift.
" George Allen.
" Richard Dill.
Miss Leta Ozley.
" Imogene Vandegrift.
Imogene Vandegrift Secy.

NOTICE.

I would like to swap or sell 80 acres of land for 20 acres of land with a good house on it. Said land is four miles from Montevallo, in a good neighborhood, and near two churches. There are 35 acres cleared and 45 in timber, all lying level. There is lasting water on the place. Within one-half mile of Dogwood station. For further particulars, apply at the News office, or address J. A. Roebuck, Montevallo, Ala.

NOTICE!

A reward of $5.00 is hereby offered for evidence to convict the party or parties who recently castrated my fine Berkshire boar.

Some party has the 37th volume of my Columbia Encyclopædia. They will greatly oblige by returning.

D. L. WILKINSON, M. D.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted, by the M. E. Sunday-school August 7, 1898:

WHEREAS, Inasmuch as our Heavenly Father has deemed it wise to transfer from our Sunday-school our beloved Earl Cary to a home above. we shall miss him, but must yield to the mandates of Him who doeth all things well, and will lovingly cherish his memory and try to emulate his victures. Therefore be it

Resolved 1st, That in his death we have lost one of our best and most consecrated members.

Resolved 2nd, That we tender his devoted parents, brothers and sisters our heartfelt sympathy and prayers in this sad hour of bereavement, and commend them to Him who doeth all things for our eternal good.

Resolved 3rd, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his bereaved family, and a copy sent to the Christian Advocate and MONTEVALLO NEWS for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
REV. P. L. ABERNETHY,
MRS. C. C. VANDEGRIFT,
MISS BESSIE ALLEN,
LEWIS BOWDON,
Committee.

THE BRICK HOTEL,
ST GEORGE,
ALEX. A. WALL, Prop.
Montevallo - - - Ala.
New and Centrally Located.
☞ Special attention given the commercial man.
Rates $2 00 per day
Large Sample room free

Natural Color Photographs.

After years of experimenting, the process by which natural color photographs are produced has at last been perfected, and all of the materials necessary for this work are now obtainable. The ground plan of the process rests upon the combination of the three primary colors, blue, green and red. A single glass plate is provided with a series of triple parallel colored lines on the surface. A red line, a blue line, a green line, then the red, blue and green again, and so on until the whole plate is colored with these lines, which are 1-225th of an inch apart. Special plates of this sort are used by being placed in the plate-holder, with a hinge back, with the ruled side upward, and in close contact with the film of a pan chromatic sensitive dry plate. The holder containing the two plates is put into the camera with what is known as an ortho-chromatic intercepter. This consists of a sheet of glass coated with a very thin yellow film, which checks the too rapid action of the violet rays. This is put into the camera just back of the lens. The exposure varies according to the usual conditions. The plate is developed in an exceedingly dim ruby light, and a perfect monochrome negative is the result. This is mounted with one of the ruled red, green and blue glasses, so adjusted that the lines of the cover glass rest exactly over the corresponding lines of the transparency. Then the two glasses are firmly attached, and the result is an exquisite photograph, which by transmitted light shows all the natural tints and graduations of color.

Olives a Spanish Product.

The bulk of the edible olives come from Spain, the olives raised in other Mediterranean regions being used chiefly in making oil. There are imported into the United States about 5000 casks of Spanish olives annually. They are imported in brine. The olives vary in size from about 210 to the kilo, which is 2 1-5 pounds, up to olives as large as sixty to seventy to the kilo.

A steamship bringing olives to this port is likely to include in her cargo almonds and corkwood, a valuable freight. In one shipment lately received here there were several hundred casks of olives. When the casks have been hoisted out they are rolled along on the wharf, a cooper starts the bung, and a number of olives are taken from each cask for inspection. The olives are taken out with a pair of tongs a foot or more long, made of two slender strips of wood, which operate like sugar tongs.

The man who takes the samples from the casks carries in one hand a small white china platter, using the tongs with the other hand. He thrusts the tongs through the bunghole into the cask and nips one or more olives at every dip until he has a platter full.

These sample olives are inspected on the spot by the representatives of the importer, who sees that they correspond with the invoice and that the brine is of sufficient strength to keep them. They are then removed to the warerooms to be sold in the original packages or repacked in kegs and bottles.—New York Sun.

Express Company Bars Babies.'

A South Sider yesterday afternoon called up the American Express Company by telephone and wanted the agent to make a contract to bring a precious package from Northern Michigan. When asked the character of the package, the man at the telephone said it was a six-months-old baby. The person in whose care the child had been left, the mother being dead, had wired that she could no longer take care of the little one. General Agent Nosler told the anxious father that he could do nothing for him, whereat the latter seemed greatly disappointed. Mr. Nosler said that twenty years ago the company accepted charges of that character, but the carriage of men, women and children became risky and undesirable and finally had been abandoned by all the express companies.—Chicago Tribune.

Fan and Programme.

A London theater manager has found a new way to make his summer playhouse attractive. He has his programmes made so that they may be folded into the form of good, serviceble fans. They cost the users a penny apiece, but are eagerly bought up, not only for use but as souvenirs.

An Immense China Closet.

The czar of Russia probably owns a greater quantity of china than any other person in the world. He has the china belonging to all the Russian rulers as far back as Catherine the Great. It is stored in an immense closet in the Winter palace at St. Petersburg.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Cotton is rapidly collected by a new picker consisting of a piece of hose, one end attached to a suction pump, the other to the arm of the operator to suck in the cotton picked by hand and fed toward the open mouth of the hose.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Fifteen years ago Reading, Pa., did not have a single hosiery mill. Now it has 16, employing 2,500 hands.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

The bull ring of Madrid was built in 1874 at a cost, it is said, of 80,000 pounds.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Brigadier General Joseph K. Hudson was the founder of The Topeka Daily Capital.

Scrofula.

With the following symptoms: Inflammation of the nostrils and eyelids, rotten gums, poor teeth, swelling of the glands of the neck, causing scrofulous ulcers, sometimes called Lupus. All cured by B. B. B. A powerful vegetable blood remedy. Large bottle $1.00. At druggists. Send for book, free. Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Out of eighty military posts in the country fifty are without chaplains.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Mme. Melba sings the "Star Spangled Banner" in the costume of a Spanish senorita.

We have not been without Piso's Cure for Consumption for 20 years.—LIZZIE FERREL, Camp St., Harrisburg, Pa., May 4, 1894.

Rev. H. P. Carson, Scotland, Dak., says: "Two bottles of Hall's Catarrh Cure completely cured my little girl." Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco does not make every mouth as sweet as a rose, but comes "mighty nigh"—does give every one a most delightful smoke. Try it.

"Our future shall be determined by us and not for us," says Prof. Theodore S. Woolsey.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

Lyulph Stanley, a wealthy, all-round sport, enlisted in a Colorado regiment.

Identity Established.

"You say," inquired the Washington officer, "that you saw the runaway team coming down the street before it was within four blocks of you. Why didn't you run down some alley or cross street?"

"I didn't think of it," moaned the injured man. "I had no map of the city with which to find the location of any alley or cross street."

The officer immediately became all attention, for he now knew that the victim was a member of the strategy board.—Judge.

JACK FIANCE: "Pardon if I am somewhat cold and drawn away from you tonight." May Whiff: "Why, Jack, you said I might eat onions if I wished." Jack Fiance: "Yes, but I didn't say that you were to eat Spanish onions."—Judge.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

A remarkably handsome assistant surgeon with Kansas volunteers is Dr. Eva Harding.

BAD BREATH

"I have been using CASCARETS and as a mild and effective laxative they are simply wonderful. My daughter and I were bothered with sick stomach and our breath was very bad. After taking a few doses of Cascarets we have improved wonderfully. They are a great help in the family."
WILHELMINA NAGEL,
1137 Rittenhouse St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 315

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

CUT-PRICE CARPET SALE.

Owing to an overproduction of Carpets, we have made great reductions for a short time only.

Our Carpet Catalogue and Special Supplement, both in hand-painted colors, and all matter pertaining to this extraordinary sale, will be mailed any one free. This is an opportunity not to be neglected. During this sale, we sew Carpets free, furnish wadded lining free and pay freight on all orders of $9 & over. A New 160-page Catalogue of Furniture and everything necessary for housefurnishing is now ready to be mailed—it's free.

$7.45
buys a made-to-your measure All-Wool Cheviot Suit, expressage prepaid to your station. Catalogue and samples free. Address (exactly as below).

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Dept. 301. BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COLUMBIA CHAINLESS MAKES HILL CLIMBING EASY
COLUMBIAS ARE STANDARD FOR CHAIN MACHINES.
HARTFORDS Next Best.
Other Models at Low Prices.
Catalogue Free.

STANDARD OF THE WORLD
POPE MFG CO. HARTFORD, CONN.
ART CATALOGUE OF COLUMBIA BICYCLES BY MAIL TO ANY ADDRESS FOR ONE TWO CENT STAMP.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

GIN REPAIRS
SAWS, RIBS,
BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c.,
FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.
ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES
And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.
LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

HEALTHY MOTHERS Make HAPPY HOMES.

HOW can a woman be cheerful and happy when she is weak, nervous, and suffering the excruciating tortures of Female Diseases? It should not be expected of her. When she is suffering from Deranged Menstruation, Whites, Falling of the Womb, etc., show your sympathy for her in a practical way by providing her with

GERSTLE'S
Female Panacea.
TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

This splendid tonic will soon relieve her suffering and CURE the disease, thus producing the desired result through natural channels. Only $1.00 per bottle.

If there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. Price 25c per package.

MY WIFE WAS ALMOST A COMPLETE WRECK

With female troubles. She has taken six bottles of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA and it has cured her. She is now on the last bottle and is feeling as well as she ever did and weighs more than ever before in her life.
SOLD AT DRUG STORES. B. R. LEGGETT. Broxton, Ga.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprietors, Chattanooga, Tenn.

HOURS OF THE SOLDIER BOY.

Early Rising Carried to an Extreme and Marching Begin at 2 A. M.

There is a fetich that is worshipped in the army and navy, and that is early rising. In the piping times of peace it is very difficult for the officers to find enough work for the men to do to keep them out of mischief. The forts and ships are all so painfully clean that even a Dutch housewife could not unearth a speck of dust, but the men are required to wash and scrub and polish as if cholera were coming. With all that, there are many hours in the life of a soldier or sailor when he is put to it to kill time.

He must get up early, with the sun if possible, unless the sun rises after six, and then he gets up earlier. Of the 100,000 volunteers there are hardly 100 that have ever got out of bed before six, that is, willingly, and they are going to have a time getting used to being routed out before daylight.

In addition to systematically getting up at a beastly hour, the soldier will soon notice that when the regiment goes anywhere it always starts about 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, just when a man would give a leg for a snooze.

Sailors can be chased to bed at 9 P. M., but soldiers will skip the guard and make a night of it, with no chance to sleep it off. Then will come the time when they will ask each other what in the mischief is the sense starting off at 3, to march somewhere and then stand around two or three hours waiting for the wagons to come up.

It is an established fact that very few soldiers fear a battle, but many feel like deserting after a campaign of early rising. The days of surprises and ambuscades are over, and the only effect of depriving men of sleep is to make them discontented. Nobody can explain this mania, except that it dates from England or Russia, where the sun rises in summer at 3 A. M.—

The Saffron City.

Havana is bounded by beauty on one side, by ignorance on the other. The approach to it, particularly in the early morning, is exceeded in loveliness by perhaps two or three ports. There are many exquisite things in the world, and among them, near the head of the list, stands dawn in the tropics. It is sudden as love and just as fair. Dawn in the Havanese harbor is a foretaste of what paradise may be. The tourist who has sailed that way passes a night beneath stars that are larger and more neighborly than our own. The water, too, is different. At Key West it looks like a lawn in May. It has the same asparagus green. Then it changes. It becomes seamed with phosphorus. As the stars disappear it changes again, and very suddenly, into a sirup of opals. At the horizon is a tender pink. Overhead is a fusion of salmon and of blue. Just beyond, within rifle range, is an amphitheater of houses parti-colored as rainbows, tiarred with the pearl points of a cathedral, girdled with the yellow walls of a crumbling fort. Every city has an aspect and an odor of its own. Paris, for instance, has a white sky and smells like a pretty woman. The aspect of Havana is saffron. It smells of rancid oil. In addition it suggests Seville. Though the Moors have never been there, it looks as though they had. There is a saying which runs: "Que no ha vista Sevilla no ha vista maravilla"—not to have seen Seville is not to have seen a marvel. In view of recent events it is proper and pertinent to give the saying a twist: "Que no ha vista Havana ha vista nada." It does not rhyme as well, but as nada means nothing it ought to pass in a crowd.—Collier's

First Fire Company

The Phoenix was the name of the first fire company in England and it was established in 1682. At that time, in the towns, squirts or syringes were used for extinguishing fire and their length did not exceed two or three feet, with pipes of leather. Watertight, seamless hose was first made in Bethnal Green in 1720.

Believes Every Word.

If a woman loves her husband it is a constant source of wonder to her upon hearing him talk these evenings on the conduct of the war that the government does not make him the head of the board of strategy.

WE WANT TO BURN

The words, "ROCK HILL," into your memory so you will never forget them. They stand for "Buggies"—best buggies—not "clap-trap," "riff-raff" stuff—but buggies that STAND UP, last long, and are warranted. "A Little Higher in Price, But——" so little it don't pay to run the risk. Don't pay big profits on cheap work. See our agent in your town or write us.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING "Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

ST. ANDREWS Cold Tea

FOR THE LIVER

Cures Headache,

INACTIVE LIVER.

SPRING HILL COLLEGE, near Mobile, Alabama. Boarding College conducted by the Jesuit Fathers. Preparatory, Commercial and Classical Courses. Large gymnasium, running track, etc. Climate exceptionally healthy. Address REV. M. MOYNIHAN, S.J., President.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-31

CONFIDE IN A WOMAN.

Women may write about their troubles to Mrs. Pinkham and avoid the questions of a male physician.

The questions asked of a woman by a male physician are embarrassing and frequently revolting to a sensitive nature. In consequence the whole truth is not told! This makes it difficult for female troubles to be successfully treated, and is the reason so many women grow worse rather than better.

Mrs. Lucy A. Loughery of New Lebanon, Ind., describes how wretched she was until she received Mrs. Pinkham's help:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I propped myself in a chair and wrote to you, and as soon as I commenced to take your Vegetable Compound I began to improve. I had suffered with severe pains in my hips, back and head. The doctor said I had bladder trouble and falling of the womb. I had spells when, if I did not sit down, I would fall. I was sleepy all the time. I was also troubled with leucorrhœa and itching piles. People thought that my end was near. Had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advice, I would have been dead and buried long ago. I hope that this letter may be the means of helping all women who suffer as I did.

Women understand women better than men can. The whole truth is freely told to Mrs. Pinkham, and women only see the letters received by her at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is freely offered.

Here is a convincing letter from a woman in Bethlehem, Pa.:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Words cannot express my gratitude for the good that your Vegetable Compound has done me. I have taken five bottles, and feel better in every respect. Menses heretofore lasted too long and were very profuse, and made me very weak. Your Compound is a miracle. Before writing to you I had tried doctor's medicine, but of no avail. I would not give up your Compound for female complaints for all the doctor's medicine in the world. My friends want to know what makes me look so well. I do not hesitate one minute in telling them what has brought about this wonderful change. I cannot sing its praises enough. I hope every one who suffers as I have will give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound a trial; and I know that, if taken according to directions, it will cure.—Mrs. Edwin Ehrig, 413 Church Street, Bethlehem, Pa.

All women who suffer should secure Mrs. Pinkham's counsel. Female troubles are real troubles, and must be treated understandingly. For a quarter of a century Mrs. Pinkham's advice and Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have been helping women to be strong and well, more than a million women have been benefited by it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS ....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthropist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a lozenge and distributed among the poor."

Sales Unprecedented.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

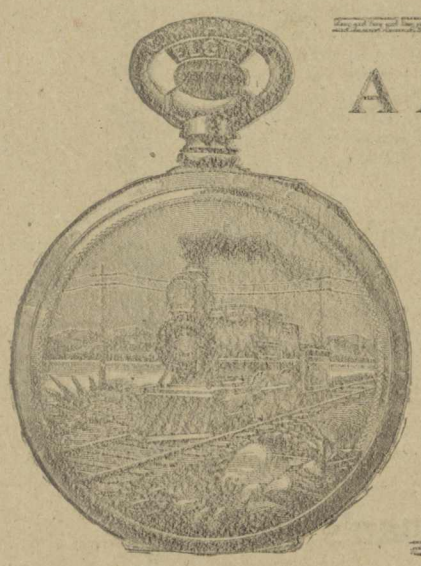
He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A NEW 5-CENT PACKAGE of RIPANS TABULES, packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale by druggists generally—SIX FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced carton is intended for the poor and the economical. (Ten cents will also buy the same carton containing 12 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (ten tabules) for five cents. RIPANS Tabules may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents, tobacconists and fancy goods stores and soda fountains. Ripans stoves and fancy shops. One gives relief.

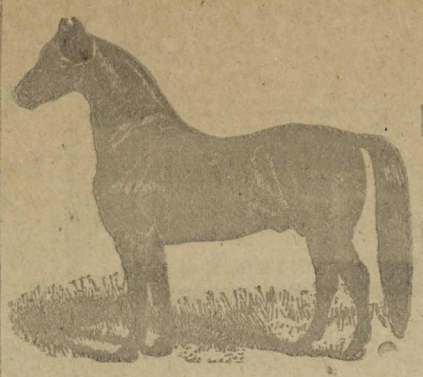


A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,
Manager.

Office at Store.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL, Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg't. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for which is 98.85 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remi ted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 25, '98. NO. 33!

At Twilight.

I've been listing all day to the rain beat on the clover,
I've heard all day the wind, as it set the leaves astir,
And a sparrow feebly piping, ere yet
the rain was over,
And a fragrance from the meadow
came sweeter far than myrrh;
But the rain, the wind, the clover had one song, one cadence only,
It entered my heart and filled it with a pain I never knew Till I sat there in the darkness, growing still and sad and lonely,
Till my heart began to clamor, crying hopelessly to you!
I am longing for you, sweetheart, for the voice that makes my heaven,
I am yearning for the touch of that hand I love so well,
And my heart would bridge the distance and would bid each bond be riven;
How it hungers for your presence
there,s no tongue can ever tell!
Ever longing, till no other in my sight
finds aught of favor,
Ever yearning it in the gloom. till the stars glide into view,
And aweary with a love that cannot fail and cannot waver—
'Tis a woman's way of wanting-longing-aye, of loving you!

Margaret E. O'Brien

WHEN WILL THE HARD TIMES END?

David H. Mason in The Chicago Record.

It is a remarkable fact that, ever since the American people became an independent nation, all the periods of hard times have been about the same length, So uniform has been the occurrence as to indicate some undiscovered natural law govering the circumstances and fixing their termination. The most disastrous hard times in this country began in 1783. at the close of the revolutionary war. Distress took on its darkest forms. Only depreciated paper money was in ciaculation. Everywhre the people were in debt beyond their ability to pay. Property, when brought to sale under execution, sold at so low a price as frebuently ruined the debtor without paying the creditor. Laws were passed making property of specific kinds a legal tender in the payment of debts. Other laws installed the debt, so that only a third or a fifth was annually recoverable in the courts, although past due. So dreadful were the scenes of bankruptcy, ruin and demoralization that even respect for liberty and independence was diminished; that many berson regarded goverment itself in the nature of oppressor and enemy; and that disiniegrftion became the threatened fate of the union. Yet with in six yerrs a radical change had taken place for the better. At the close of one year more, or seven in all, agriculture, shipping navigation, the fisheries, foreign and the coast wise trade, manufactures and commerce among the states had become thrifty beyond precedent, showing a marvelous recuperation.

—

The next periods of universal distresi, both public and private, made itself distinctly felt in 1818. Banks, merchants and manufactures were alike prostrated. Coined money disappeared from the pockets of the people. Mechanics were everywhere throughout the country suffering for want of food. Property was brought to force sale at one-fourth its value, and struck off to sheculators, leaving honest creditors unpaid and families reduced to peggary. The government at Washington had to resort to loans in order to provide for its ordinry expenses in time of peace. Yet, when six years had rolled away, a signal improvement was manifested. At the end of another year, or in 1827. thrift had superseded adversity.

—

Some persons now living remember the panic of 1837. Its destructive energies brought quick destruction to a multitude of people. At its touch the bottom suddenly fell out of business all over the union. Bankruptcy and repudiation extended even to cities and states. The credit of the national government sank so low teat the small sum of 12,000,000 could not be borred, either at home or abroad. So empty become the public treasury that the warrants for instalment of the president's salary could be turned into cash only at a discount, py resorting to the Washington brokers Yet, the six years which ended in 1843. brought at their close a marvelous rvival of industry and commerce. When an additional year had elapsed general prosperity was at its flood.

Another distressful period followed the panic of 1857. Thousands of commercial houses were reduced to insolvency many of them going out of existence. Manufactures establishment were suspended on every hand discharging their employees into chronic idleness. Private enterprises of different kinds were abandoned. Public works were retarded, and the national coffers had to be replenished by the negotiation of loans at an exorbitant rate of interest. A multitude of industries and useful laborers were precipitated into privation and wretchedness. Yet, by the end of six years, or 1863. all evidence of hard times had disappeared thaoughout the north; and despite the civil war then waged the highest degree of material prosperity was brought to pass after the japse of another year.

—

The fifth periods of collapse was introduced by the panic of 1873. In the shrinkage of value which took place thousands of millions of dollars were lost irretrievably to the owners. Our manufacturing industry had been so widely diversified and develosed that the very vastness of its extent made it the more vulnerable to the destructive shock, so that a great number of establishments were tumbled to bankruptcy. Many financial institutions were obliged to close their doors, once for all. The country swarmed with tramps when investigation discovered were mainly workmen, clerks professional men and others, who, having lost employment or patronage at home, had wandered away in a vain search for work and wages, until they had become demoralized by constant disappointment and loss of self-respect. Yet in 1879. of six years after the beginning of the collapse, plentiful signs of business revival gladdened the hearts of the people. In 1880. one year later, full prosperity had become a generall reconized fact.

—

Does not the extraordinary uniformity of the outcome in these five periods indicate more than mere coincidence-does it not suggest some natural law governing the circumstances and fixing the limit of hard times? If so, the revulsion which began in 1893, should be declining now in its forces and may be expected to be grertly mitigated, or preparing to depart, in 1899, when the six year period is to terminate. Twelye month later, or 1900 the evidence of high-grade prosperity should be visible on every hand.

the man
who wants good clothing should see our stock,
we have the best in montevallo.

..Morgan :-: Bros..
Leaders in Low Prices !

One Minute Cough Cure surprises people by its quick cures, and children may take it in large quantities without the least danger. It has won for itself the best reputation of any preparation used to-day for colds, croup, tickling in the throat or obstinate coughs. F. F. Crowe & Co.

The Watch.

A watch is the most delicate piece of machinery made. All standard watches tick 18000 times an hour. The old English and old style American watch tick anywhere from 14000 to 16,8000 times an hour. It is almost impossible to regulate a watch while laying in a show case or hanging on a watch rack so that it will keep correct time, while in the wearers porket. A better result can generally be had by leting the owner wear the watch while it is being regulated and have him let the Jeweler compare the time once a week and make such changes as the watch may need to perfect its time keeping. Again the same watch will not as a general thing keep the same rate of time if worn by different persons, for instance I might have a watch that keeps perfect time for me and lend it to my neighbor and nine times out of ten it would run to rast or to slow for him this is due to the magnetic force of the body. Every body contains more or less magnetism and the watch is influcnced according to this force. Cheap unadjusted watches generally stop when you get on an electric car. People coming in contact with electric dynamos or riding on electric cars should not open their watches anymore than possible while near such magnetic influences. When a watch becomes magnetised the ballance will not vibrate at all, or sometimes trys to go at it highest possible speed when the ballance refuses to move the hair spring is so highly magnetised that it pulls to a dead centre and every piece of the spring

(Continud on editoral page)

AT EVENTIDE.

The tired breezes are tucked to rest
  In the cloud-beds far away,
The waves are pressed to the placid breast
  Of the gleaming, dreaming bay;
The shore line swims in a hazy heat,
  Asleep in the sea and sky,
And the muffled beat where the breakers meet
  Is a soft, sweet lullaby.

The pine-clad hill has a crimson crown
  Of glittering sunset glows,
The roofs of brown in the distant town
  Are bathed in a blush of rose;
The radiant ripples shine and shift
  In shimmering shreds of gold,
The seaweeds lift and drowse and drift,
  And the jellies fill and fold.

The great sun sinks, and the gray fog heaps
  His cloak on the silent sea,
The night-wind creeps where the ocean sleeps,
  And the wavelets wake in glee;
Across the bay like a silver star
  There twinkles the harbor light,
And faint and far from the outer bar
  The sea-birds call "Good night."

The Saraband's Skipper.

The last half-hour of the steamship Saraband had come. All day she had lain in the pitiless bay, crouching under the fierce blast of the northeast gale, the seas sweeping her decks, and now all on board knew that she had but a short time to live.

She had had her day. Built to carry one hundred and twenty passengers, she had once been one of the popular boats going through the newly opened canal to the east, and her long, flush deck had been the scene of many a gay gathering when her passengers had assembled under the awnings to laugh, flirt and talk after dinner. But larger and faster boats had come and her glory had departed, so that after many vicissitudes here she lay, her passenger accommodations taken out and the space filled with grain from the Black Sea ports, sinking.

Her decks were slanting at an angle of forty-five degrees, for the wheat had shifted, and she lay nearly on her beam ends; every movable thing had long been washed away, and one structure which should have been immovable--the engine hatch--had also been smashed in.

That was the immediate reason why she was going to founder; the engine-room plates were awash and the fires in the stokehole were out, and for the last two hours she had only been kept head to sea by means of a sea anchor made of the derricks and spars. A portion of every sea that came on board found its way through the makeshift contrivance of spars and tarpaulins nailed over the gaping chasm in her deck that marked the former position of the engine-hatch, and each found her a little lower in the water.

In the shelter of the bridge-deck--the only structure which had been strong enough to resist the remorseless violence of the seas--clustered her crew some thirty hands, hard faced sailors and grimy firemen; the former quiet, apathetic, almost careless; the others, save for a few, dead white with fear, spending their last moments in cursing with foolish, meaningless repetitions of the same words, the ship, their luck in coming in her, and the skipper, for not making use of the two remaining boats which hung from their davits at the lee side of the bridge deck, and which, from their elevated position, had not gone when the other boats had been swept away. On the bridge stood the skipper and the mate, bearded, elderly men both, straining their despairing eyes into the wall of mist and spray which relentlessly rushed down upon them, in the faint hope that some passing vessel might appear through the gloom of the gale.

At length the skipper turned and scrambled down the sloping bridge to where the mate crouched on the lee rail. "We shall have to try the boats, Mr. Smith; she'll not last much longer!" he shouted, the wind picking up each word as he uttered it and sweeping them away to leeward, as if jealous of the mate hearing them.

"It's a very poor chance," said the mate; "but I suppose it's our only one. How long do you give her?"

"Half an hour at the outside. Are the boats all ready?"

"They've been ready since morning," said the mate; "but can we get them in the water unsmashed, and won't the firemen rush them?"

"I don't think so," replied the skipper; "there's time enough and room enough for all to get away."

But his face took a grimmer look as he led the way down the bridge to the charthouse, the mate following him. Inside they could hear each other with greater ease, and the skipper, while taking his revolver from a drawer, gave the mate his final instructions.

"We'll lower the forward lifeboat first, as she's the biggest; you will take charge of her, get your crew aboard, and have every one in his place before we start to lower, so that you can shove off as soon as she touches the water. If those patents act you ought to be all right." (The boats were fitted with a patent contrivance, by which the tackles holding them are automatically released the moment the boat is water-borne, so that there is no unhooking of blocks to be done while the boat is getting dashed to pieces against the ship's side.)

"I shall be all right," said the mate, "but what about you? Who's going to lower the falls of the after boat? You can't manage it from the boat itself, with all the crowd you will have on board."

"I'll lower her from the deck," said the skipper. "If they have a long painter made fast to the ship they can easily pull up again under the counter, and I'll make a jump for it."

"Mind you don't jump short; you'd have a poor chance with those boots and oilskins on," said the mate.

"Oh, I'll manage," replied the skipper. "Call the men up."

The men came up in a body, and the skipper came out on deck, revolver in hand.

"The ship's sinking," he said, "and I have decided to take to the boats. There's plenty of time and room for all to get away in safety, if you obey my orders. You will remain standing where you are till I call your names, then the man whose name is called will take his place in the boat. Any man that starts for the boat before I tell him, I shoot; understand all?"

There was a low murmur from the men, and the skipper continued.

"Mr. Smith will take charge of the boat."

The mate, with a look at the skipper, climbed into the boat as she hung in the davits. The skipper then called the names of the crew he proposed to send in her, sending first the sailors, so that the mate might place each in his proper station in the boat, before the firemen, etc., who would be of no use in the critical manoeuvres of getting her away from the ship's side, crowded her up. But these same firemen did not understand his reason, and thought he was showing undue preference to his own men, and, a heavier sea than usual striking the steamer, there was a cry of "She's going down, and he's sending the sailors first!" and a rush for the boat.

Stand back!" cried the skipper.

"Crack! and the leading fireman spread out his hands and pitched on his face, rolling in a limp bundle down on the lee rail. The rest of the men stopped. They might as well be drowned as shot, they thought, and they huddled together, looking with horrified glances at their dead comrade. The skipper paused, lowered his revolver, and then called the next name; they had learned their lesson, and went quietly to the boat, which got safely away, and drifted out of sight in the midst of the gale.

The other boat was filled without any mishap, and the skipper, the only man left on the deck, lowered her; she also got clear away and drifted out to the full length of her painter. The skipper walked aft to wait for them to haul up again. He had to pass the body of the dead man, and he did not look at it. The boat was hauling up on the painter, and was getting close; the skipper got on the rail ready to jump. At that moment a fireman, the brother of the man he had shot, reached over the boat's bow, and, with a cry of "Blast you, stop and drown with Bill!" cut the painter.

The distance between the ship and the boat began to widen instantly, and in spite of the frantic efforts of the sailors at the oars, the deeply laden boat was swept away and blotted down from the rails and made his way back to the bridge deck. He had just ten minutes to live. Ten minutes to prepare for the next world, after forty years at sea!

He climbed up on the bridge again, and sat on the canvas windscreen to think. His wife and children, who would look after them now? His wages were $80 per month; on that he had had but small chance to save. Well, he supposed the Shipmasters' Society would do something for her, but she would have to give up her little house at Forest Gate, and drop from the position of a captain's wife to letting lodgings; perhaps one of the children could be got into an orphanage; if not, well, it meant starvation or the workhouse. He thought of his own life, of his hard, ill-used boyhood, cabin boy in Quebec on a timber ship; of his manhood spent in unremitting toil in all parts of the world; of the various ships he had commanded, in each of which he had been expected to use less coal, less paint, fewer provisions, and to go with smaller crews than in the last. He thought of the blackguards he had had to command as crews, and the trouble he had had with them, and the old sailor proverb rose to his lips: "To live hard, work hard, die hard, and go to Davy Jones's locker after all, would be too hard." Well, he'd not had much fun out of life, and now he was going to find out what it all meant. Anyway, he had always done his best for his ship.

His eye fell on the dead body of the fireman. That too! If the man should indict him at the bar of the last judgment he would answer there, as he would have answered to an earthly court: "In my judgment it was necessary for the safety of the men in my charge." A sudden quiver warned him she was nearly gone, and he rose to his feet for one last look to windward. As he looked into the blinding spray, he saw a large wave come out of the mist, and knew it would swamp her. He gripped the rail with both hands, and his lips moved in a half forgotten prayer. "Our Father, which art"——and the wave swept on. But the Saraband had gone. The skipper had gone to meet his fireman where "there shall be no more sea."—Temple Bar.

Corn Diet Makes Tall Men.

The proof that corn bread diet makes bigger men physically can be found in the rural districts of Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky, where hominy and corn bread constitutes the staff of life. A table in any of the rural districts in those states on which there is no dish prepared from corn is a curiosity, and in those states men who fall below the stature of five feet are dwarfs. Six feet is the regulation size, and men who tower considerably above this hight are accepted by the inhabitants as a matter of course.

Of course, climatic influence must be considered when stature is under discussion, but the food forms the basis of calculation. It is generally accepted by men who have given this subject thought that the six-footers of Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky as a rule were brought up on hominy or corn bread as the main food supply. If the crowned heads of Europe could but be convinced that corn bread will result in a nation of six-footers, the American farmer would hardly be able to raise corn enough to supply the European markets.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

The most violent thunder storms are experienced in French Guiana.

UNHAPPY PORTO RICO.

The Spaniards Have Had a Varied List of Misfortunes in the Islands.

"The Island of Porto Rico" is the subject of an interesting illustrated article by Fred A. Ober in the Century. Mr. Ober says:

Those early settlers may well have deserved their fate; still, one may hardly withhold sympathy from them in their many and varied misfortunes. In 1515 they had a visitation of ants which devoured everything before them; and then, soon after the insects had been driven away or destroyed, an epidemic of the smallpox decimated their ranks, swiftly followed by another disease, more insidious, but scarcely less fatal in its effects. In 1529 French pirates burned the town of San German, on the south coast; the fierce Caribs ravaged the eastern provinces, carrying off some of their prominent men to be sacrificed at cannibal repasts; and seventy years later, in 1595, "that great pirate, Don Francisco Drake," appeared off San Juan, which city he sacked, the English claim; but to be gloriously repulsed, the Spaniards say. The fortifications of San Juan then mounted seventy pieces of artillery, with thirty-four in the great Castillo del Morro alone. There is no doubt that a Dutch attack was repelled in 1615, and another English attempt defeated in 1678; but in the latter instance the Porto Ricans were aided by a hurricane, which destroyed many of the ships of war. The islanders were wont to point many a moral with this signal instance of divine interposition, until a fleet of their own was similarly destroyed, in 1702, when it seemed to them more rational to ascribe such an event to natural causes.

During the greater part of the seventeenth centry the filibusteros and bucaneros, composed of combined Dutch, French and English renegade adventurers, continually harried the coast and attacked the supply galleons coming from Spain. At first intrenched in the island of St. Kitts, they were driven out by a fleet under Don Federico Toledo, fitted out in Porto Rico, when they flocked to the island of Tortuga, north of the coast of Haiti, whence they preyed upon Spanish commerce at their convenience.

The Morro of San Juan, standing well out at sea, was a chip on the Spanish shoulder at which passing ships could not resist taking a shot or two. The last great attack upon San Juan, previous to the American bombardment of this year, was in 1797, by the English, under Abercrombie, who were compelled to retire after a three days' siege.

During the century that has elapsed since that event the inhabitants of this rock-ribbed fortress town have boasted the impregnability of their fortifications, until so rudely disturbed by the guns of modern battle-ships.

An Insolent Boy.

I am reminded of the little boy who applied for a job at a squire's house, where he could earn five shillings a week by making himself generally useful, says a writer in London Answers.

Squire—Can you clean silver?

Boy—Yes, sir.

"Can you cook and light fires and sing and dust old china and make beds?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Can you clean bicycles and repair punctured tires and tune pianos?"

"Certainly, sir."

"Can you mend electric bells and do plumbing and gas fitting, teach modern and ancient languages, geography and the use of globes?"

"I can, and also do anything else that is required."

"Then I think you will do."

Boy—Thank you, sir. By the way, is your house built on a clay soil?"

Squire—Well, it happens that it is. But what has that to do with you?"

"Well, I thought you would like me to fill up my spare time by making bricks."

He was not engaged for his insolence.

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

Better Public Roads Needed.

Some well-informed authority on the subject of public roads states that there are 1,500,000 miles of public roads in the United States, over which the aggregate amount of 500,000,000 tons of freight is hauled annually.

Estimating the average distance over which freight is thus hauled from the farm to the depot at eight miles, it is figured that the total cost of hauling freight annually over the public roads in the United States is $1,000,000,000, or $2 per ton.

With uniformly good public roads it is claimed that the cost of hauling freight from the farm to the depot ought not to be more than $400,000,000, or $600,000,000 less than what it is at present. This difference is strongly emphasized by the authority from whom we quote when he states that it is equivalent to the yearly interest on $20,000,000,000 of three per cent. Government bonds, and adds that with only one-half of this almost inconceivably vast amount every public road in the United States could be rebuilt.

There is food for serious thought in the figures which are thus given. Public roads are the arteries of the nation just as much as are the railway systems, and the prosperity of the nation must necessarily depend, in a large measure, upon the manner in which it cares for its public roads. One of the greatest sources of strength which the old Roman empire possessed was derived from its magnificent public roads, many of which are as well preserved to-day almost as they were in the time of the Cæsars. European travelers at the present time state that Germany is indebted to her public roads more than to anything else for much of the imperial stability which to-day belongs to her.

While the penalty of bad public roads is visited primarily upon the farmer, it affects ultimately every industrial, commercial and agricultural interest of the nation. In the North and East the public roads are in fairly good condition, but in the South and West they are in extremely bad condition, and steps must speedily be taken to overcome this evil if either section expects to make the most of its possibilities.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Field For Agitation.

Highway agitation seems to be sadly needed in Lawrence, Kan. The Journal of that city, in a recent issue, says that "there is no country road leading to the city but is in better condition than the best street on the south side." The worst street of all is Massachusetts, and on it the city has done no work "through the park in years, save to drag the scraper through it occasionally. Through that park road the mud has been from one to three feet deep, and a loaded wagon could not go through it. This on a street within a block of the business portion of the town, and on a street traveled necessarily by a large number of people, is a shame and a disgrace to any city or community that claims to be civilized. We pay out thousands of dollars a year in charities to people who are able to work, and who should be made to work, and if they were put on the roads the amount given them each year would keep some of the streets, at least, in good condition. It is time something practical was done. Almost half a century has come and gone since Lawrence was settled, and to-day the roads and streets are in far worse condition than when the first settler came."

Steam Wagons For Heavy Loads.

London Engineering describes the recent trial of steam wagons to carry heavy loads on ordinary thoroughfares as encouraging, though the matter still requires much study and experiment. At one of the trials the loads carried by the different wagons varied from two to five tons, and the conditions of the test were that the vehicles should be able to go anywhere that similar ones drawn by horses could go. The test was moderately well sustained, and it was demonstrated that there were no obstacles to the ultimate practical success of the employment of steam wagons on common roads, but that general improvement of the latter would have a good deal to do with it

The Movement in California.

The good roads movement is getting a strong hold in old Sonoma County, which is becoming one of the most progressive counties in the State. The live people there are opposed to building any more wooden bridges and are in favor of iron-stone culverts and fills where possible, and iron or stone bridges where there must be bridges. They favor putting the roads in charge of the county surveyor, sprinkling the roads thoroughly and enforcing the wide-tire law. They are divided in opinion about issuing bonds, but seem to be agreed that the cities should help build the country roads on accouut of the benefit of the trade which they bring.—San Francisco Chronicle.

New Way of Road Making.

A unique plan of fixing the big Buttersville hill has been adopted by the commissioners of Pere Marquette township, says the Ludington (Wis.) Appeal. A two and one-half inch pipe, 1000 feet long, has been run from the Buttersville mill to the top of the hill. Water is run through the pipe and washes away the sand which has drifted over the road, making it almost impassable. In this way hundreds of tons of sand can be removed with but little effort. The hill will be in shape for travel in a few days.

Items.

The sprinkling cart is a daily necessity if macadam roads are to be maintained at their best.

Two equally good farms, not far apart, in Pennsylvania, were recently sold. The one on a macadam road brought ninety dollars an acre and the one on a mud road but sixty.

The death of William H. Rhawn, of Philadelphia, one of the early and active workers in the good roads cause, is regretfully announced. He was closely identified with the movement in many ways, and was largely instrumental in offering the prizes for essays on road-building.

A Tale of the Sea.

On May 8th last the tug Thomas G. Smith, owned by F. A. Von Boyneburgk (an ex-director of the Maritime Exchange) was wrecked in Chesapeake Bay in a big storm, the captain and crew being rescued with difficulty. Mr. Von Boyneburgk has a summer residence at Cape Map, where he went recently with his family, and where a strange sequel to the wreck has transpired, which he tells as follows:

"Three days ago, while at my cottage at Stone Harbor, Seven-Mile Beach, near Cape May, an object was observed floating in the breakers and making frantic efforts to effect a landing right in front of my house. George Cressy, a resident of Seven-Mile Beach, like myself, became very much interested, and started out to help the object, which looked like a square boat, to land. A few minutes later it was safely on the beach, and turned out to be the pilot house of a small steamer. Mr. Cressy entered the house, and now comes the curious part of the story. When he emerged he brought with him two water-soaked documents, which he found attached to the woodwork.

"Without saying a word he handed me the documents to peruse, and need I say that when I glanced at them I was so startled that they almost fell from my hand. They were the inspection papers of my tug, the Thomas G. Smith, and the object before me was her pilothouse. For a moment I was too dumfounded to utter a word. Here this faithful pilothouse had detached itself from the wreck, floating out the Chesapeake Bay and 200 miles up the Jersey coast right to my door."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Military Service in Spain.

Any Spaniard over the age of nineteen is liable to be called into military service for three years. By the payment of $300 he can escape military duty.

Original Way of Testing Gold.

The ordinary practice of taking a bath solved for Archimedes the question of how to test the purity of the gold in Hiero's crown. He observed that when he stepped into a full bath the quantity of water which overflowed was equal to the bulk of his body, and it occurred to him that the worth of the crown might be tested by such means. He thereupon made two masses of the same weight as the crown, one of gold, the other of silver, and immersed them separately in a vessel filled to the brim, measuring exactly the quantity of water that overflowed in each case. Having found by this means what measure of the fluid answered to the quantity of each metal, less in the case of the gold than of the silver—the bulk of the former being less, weight for weight—he next immersed the crow itself, and found that it caused more water to overflow than the gold, but less than the silver. Having found the difference between the two masses of pure gold and silver, in certain known proportions, he was able to compute the real quantity of each metal in the crown, and thus discovered the fraud that had been practised on the king, to whom he hurried, exclaiming, "Eureka! Eureka!" ("I have found it! I have found it!") an exclamation that has ever since been used to express exultation over a discovery.

Man With Variegated Sight.

Eugene Saulley of Indianapolis, Ind., is strangely afflicted. Some time ago he became entirely blind, and it was feared that he was hopelessly robbed of his sight. Gradually his sight returned so that he could see indistinctly as he was led or driven about the city, and he improved until something like his old-time vigor was restored. One day, while stopping at a florist's viewing a handsome wreath of vines, his sight changed, and for three weeks everything upon which he looked, whether man or beast, fowl or plant, showed a bright color of green.

In time this disappeared. Again his sight has undergone a strange transformation. Now if he looks at his watch the whole face of it is a gleaming sheet of brass, but where the figures stand there is a wreath of blue. Everything at which he looks now appears the same. Speaking of his peculiar affliction, Mr. Saulley said:

"It is not pleasant when talking to a friend to see instead of a genial face a hideous, bright yellow countenance embroidered with a wreath of blue."

Physicians are at a loss to account for his strange peculiarity, but are hopeful that with increased physical vigor the trouble with his sight may be rectified.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Modern Armor Plate.

The modern armor-plate is a solid mass of steel containing about five per cent. of nickel, this allow having great ductility and toughness. As has already been stated, however, it is not enough that a plate should resist penetration, but it must be capable of withstanding the tremendous blows of the high-power projectile up to certain limits without cracking; because a cracked plate would speedily be displaced piecemeal. This quality is imparted by the nickel, and when the fact was recognized, in 1890, it was hailed as a great advance in armor efficiency, and nickel steel plates displaced all others. But still another advance has been made, resulting in the nickel steel plate not only stopping the projectile while retaining its own integrity, but also smashing the projectile, so that the huge bolt on striking it does not merely glance off, but is shattered into fragments. This is accomplished by the so-called Harvey face-hardening process which, also, according to Admiral Sampson, "has increased the resistance of armor fully thirty-five per cent. and perhaps fifty per cent., according to the thickness of the plate."

The making of lucifer matches is a state monopoly in France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Greece, Roumania and Servia.

Vouched for by McKinley.

Ralph Botkin, son of Congressman-at-Large J. D. Botkin, of Kansas, is probably the only volunteer soldier in the United States volunteer service who is directly indebted to President McKinley for his enlistment.

When the first call was made for volunteers, Ralph, who is only sixteen years old, went to the recruiting office to enlist, but was rejected on account of a slight physical defect. He grieved a great deal, especially when he saw the Kansas troops of the command of Colonel Lindsey pass through Washington en route to Camp Alger. He went up to the lower house of Congress to ask his father as a special favor to use his influence at the war department in his behalf. He was the only son and Mrs. Botkin, who was ill, hated to see him go to the war, so young.

Mr. Botkin seeing that the boy was very anxious to enlist, called a carriage and both of them rode direct to the White House. Mr. Botkin explained the situation to President McKinley, who, after questioning the young man closely, said that he would suspend the regulations in order to give such a brave young patriot a chance to serve his country.

"What do you want?" asked the president.

"I want to be a private with the other Kansas boys," said young Botkin.

"You have metal enough to be a general," said the president pleasantly

Mr. McKinley called the war department up by telephone, and, after getting the adjutant general of the army, he said:

"Corbin, I have a young Jayhawker here that wants to fight for his country. Assign him to Colonel Lindsey's regiment at Camp Alger, without examination. I will vouch for the fact that he is all right."

That very night Ralph Botkin walked into Camp Alger, reported to Colonel Lindsey, and was assigned to a tent with another Kansas boy.

It is probably the first time in the history of the United States that the president has been called upon to appoint a man to the position of a private in the army.

The Boy Hero of Sevilla.

Among those who fell in the fierce fight near Sevilla, Cuba, was a New York City boy only sixteen years old, who had served in the United States Regular Army only since March last. In the circumstances that led to his joining the Army and meeting in consequence an early but heroic death there is a tinge of pathetic romance. Jacob Willinski was his true name, but he enlisted in the 1st United States Cavalry under the name of Jack Berlin. For several years he lived with his widowed mother and several brothers and sisters at No. 16 Pitt street, and was a pupil of Public School No. 34, in Broome street. Though only 16 years old, he was fully six feet feet tall, and looked at least three or four years more than his age. His mother is now living at Maspeth, Long Island, but from his sister, Mrs. Brunstein, who lives at No. 12 Pitt street, it was learned that he disappeared from home early in February last. Nothing was heard from him until April 22, when he wrote to his mother informing her of his enlistment. "I am a soldier in the United States Army," he wrote, "and am going to Cuba, where I expect to meet my death." He explained at the same time that while walking home with his salary one night either his pockets were picked or he lost the money, but believing that the excuse would not be accepted as true he hesitated to return to his mother.

"I could not pluck up courage enough," he wrote, "to go home that night, so waiting for Sunday night to fall, I crossed to Jersey City, where I caught a freight train for Philadelphia, thence to Chicago, suffering untold agonies. Traveling four days without food, I became desperate. Reaching Chicago, I found work for a day, amounting to $4 which I expended for clothing and food. On March 28, without food or money, I enlisted in the Army."

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday. August 25, 1898.

Montevallo is incorporated.

Cotton is selling at 5cts.

The News, columns are open to those who care to use them.

A confitutional convention is not a party question.

Nearely all the ginneries in Ala have decided to use the uniform press the size is 24 X 52 incees.

The congressional convention meets in Anniston to-day the nomination will be hotly contested, the convention may have to nominate a dark horse, probably Col. Knox.

The foot bridge is in a dangerious condition, our citizens should see that it is repaired.

Montevallo must have a good graded school.

We would like to see the property holders fix the streets in front of thier property, the weed seem to have full chare of some streets.

Birmingham is to have a grand peace celebration.

We find a printer to be a necissary evil, we have tried to be editor, printer and devil with poor success in the future we will try to have a printer.

THE LUCKY THIRTEEN,

We are and amazingly lucky nation considering that we started in life with thirteen states, have thirteen bars on our flag, thirteen stars on our coat of arms, thirteen leaves on the laurel branch clutched by the American eagle, thirteen arrows in that noble bird's port claw, and finally, thirteen letters in our national motto "E Pluribus Unm"

WHO WILL WIN

Votes Allowed for Subscriptions

For every new subscription or renewal for a year, accompanied by $1 in cash, one hundred votes will be given

For every six months subscription or renewal, paying 50 cents, fifty (50) votes will be given

For a three months subscription or renewal, paying 25 cents, twenty-five (25) votes will be given

All subscriptions will be stopped when time paid for expires, unless ordered continued

Commissions Paid.

As the NEWS allows a commission on all subscriptions and renewals obtained, all persons who enter the contest for one of the prizes will have an opportunity to earn some money by this means The ballot printed below will entitle the bearer to one vote in the contest. If you wish to vote cut it out and write the name and address of your candidate on it and forward it to Mr B F Crabbe, Montevallo, Ala. who will count the votes in the contest, and place them to the credit of the persons whose names they bear. This coupon will be published every week during the contest, as will also a summary of the vote showing the standing of the various candidates to date. No votes will be received or counted at this office.

The following is the form of the ballot. Cut it out, fill in properly the name of your candidate and forward as above directed.

BALLOT.

Good for One Vote

IN THE CONTEST FOR

FOUR SCHOLARSHIPS

EASTMAN

business College,

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Write plainly the name and address of the person for whom you wish to vote on the dotted lines below:

Name.....

P.O.....

County.....State.....

The Competition

Begins from April 28, and the winners of the four prize scholarships will be announced in the first issue of September, 1898. The names of unsuccessful competitors in the contest will also be announced, and every young man or woman who secures as many as five new subscibers for the NEWS, will receive besides commissions a prize of some sort, the exact character of which will be announced later. Thus no one whose success in this work amounts to anything worthy of recognition will go unrewarded, but there will be prizes practically for everybody. So if you do not win one of the educational prizes, you may win something valuable of another kind.

Information concerning commissions will be furnished personally or by mail from this office. Catalogue and other literature of the College may be had by addressing Clement C. Gaines, President, Poughkecpsie, N. Y.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed Booklet and sample free. Addres Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York seems to stick together. A watch to keep good time should be kept in regular use, this is why most ladies have so much trouble with their watches, they lay them away for a week and get them out and on winding find that it will not run or that the main spring has broken.

(Continued from first page)

A Watch should be wound up twice aday to insure correct time In winding only once aday the watch runs so nearely that the spring becomes too weak to its duty and oftentimes the wearer finds his watch is almost an hour slow, this is caused by the watch itopping in his pocket, and a sudden jar or motion sets it to going again and on being taken from the pocket show to nearly an hour slow put still going, this causing him to say hard things abut the jeweler who repaired it whiehe is not to blame. The engineer who wishses to make agood rate with his train trys to keep his engine under the same presure of steam by a stedy fire.

Wind your watch twice aday and you keep almost the same presure on the main sprin and keep the watch moving at the same rate of time. Try this and be convinced of the fact.

J. W. Martin.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. F. F. Crowe & Co.

When you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure, don't accept anything else. Don't be talked into accepting a substitute, for piles, for sores, for burns. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A stubborn cough or tickling in the throat yields to One Minute Cough Cure. Harmless in effect, touches the right spot, reliable and just what is wanted. It acts at once. F. F. Crowe & Co.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA,

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

DR. J. P. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, September 5, 1898.

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5 1898.

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR.

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.

UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science

PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.

For catalogue or other information, apply to

JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala., Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y.
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure

McELREE'S

Wine of Cardui

taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

WINE OF CARDUI

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. L. SUMMERS,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M.
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 53, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MOXAM, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L. MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance 50
Three months, cash in advance...25

LOCAL.

Prof. Summons is in town.

Jim Davis of Birmingham, came down Sunday.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter Apply at the News office.

The Reynolds building is nearly completed.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandegrift.

Capt. McKibbon is getting ready for the ginning season.

☞ When you want to go to the depot order Knoell's Bus.

Mr. A. J. Lee, has returned from his summer vacation.

The editor made a flying trip to Columbiana, Monday.

Try a bottle of V.V.V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

We notice that a great many people are taking bitters for their health.

Don't forget that Morgan Bros. are the people who advertise.

Water melons have played out, the coons are looking blue.

Miss Lula Wilson, of Calera, is visiting Miss Lois McCarley.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Tough steaks is a rarity these days what has become of the butcher.

Keep cool if your neighbor will let you.

John R. Oxley, of Longview, was in town yesterday.

Messrs Ed Ambrose and Henry Little was in town yesterday.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Mrs. S. B. Moore of Calera visited Mrs. Payne this week.

Hush money some time speak loud.

Some girls must think it is leap year, they meet the boys half way going to church.

Our line of hats are up to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros.

Mr. S. S. Dill who has been working in Warrington Florida, is at home on a visit.

The tramps have discovered our back door we are now in the hand out business.

Miss Myrtle Lawrence, is visiting friends and relatives in Stanton this week.

Several of our citizens went down to attend Capt. Reynold's wedding Tuesday.

A great many of our friends were disappointed in not getting to vote for the incorporation.

The finest gypsie outfit that was ever in Montevallo, are campted near the big spring.

Morgan Bros. are having thier stone painted, Mr. Finley is the artist that is doing the work.

Mr. Frank Knoell went to Anniston yesterday, to the Congressional Convention.

The board of Trustees will meet in the near future. There will be some new teachers appointed.

Misses Bettie Dill Benna Oxley and Lela Oxley attended the meeting at Dogwood last week.

Messrs Roland Lee, Philip Lacey, and Miss Nellie Griffin of Bridgeton, was in town Sunday.

A faker in the shape of a rope walker was in town last week. Look out for the petrified woman and wooden leged man.

We are

Editor, Printer and Devil this week, so please excuse our short-comings.

A Greek Indian gave an exhibition at the negro Church Friday night. Those present give avery glowing account of it.

While the preacher was praying shors trader, traded horses three times near Dogwood last week.

Capt. Reynolds, is making arrangements to build water works for the School. They will be put up at the spring.

Wanted, a position by a young man to teach music, reference furnished as to ability.

Apply to A. A. Boebuck.
Aldrich, Ala.

For Sale.—We have for sale a good organ, in good order, which will be sold at about one third of origional cost.

WANTED.—Two mules four feet six inches high, weighing about 850 pounds, from five to seven years old. Will buy or trade for larger mules. Address G. F. Peter, Marlene, Ala.

We make gent's furnishing goods a speciality our Globe Brand Shirt are the best in town. We have collar and ties, to please most fastidious. Morgan Bros.

You invite disappointment when you experiment. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick headache just as sure as you take them. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Messrs M. C. Reynolds P. L. Abernathy. W. B. Reynolds. Burgess Little and J. M. Reynolds attended Capt. Reynolds marriage.

For broken surfaces, sores, insect bites, burns, skin diseases, and especially piles, there is one reliable remedy, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. When you call for DeWitt's don't accept counterfeits or frauds. You will not be disappointed with DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A negro preached on the street here Tuesday, it seems that the colored people dident like the idea of letting an African preach in the church.

More than twenty million free samples of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve have been distributed by the manufacturers. What better proof of their confidence in its merits do you want? It cures piles, burns, scalds, sores, in the shortest space of time. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A slight mistake appeared in the News last week, we stated that our printer Mr. G. D. Mitchell had gone to Cuba, but we discovered since that he found a blind tiger and has been chasing it ever since.

Ladies———Please.

Wait and see our line of dress we have best. Suitable triming to match. Morgan Bros.

Mr. Geo. Morgan, of Morgan Bros. Montevallo, Ala. spoke of the energetic way in which Louisville was pushing her product in the South. In Alabama especially she is making great head way in the face of sharp competition from St Louis. Baltimore. and Cincinnati. (Louisville Times)

MARRIAGE

Capt. H. C. Reynolds and Mrs. Augusta Nelson, were quietly married in Montgomery Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock. They are now in the north an extened trip. The many friends here join the News in wishing them a long and happy life.

EPWORTH LEAUE.

Mr. Wm. Abernethy president of Wood Lawn league gave our league his plan for league work, in his address Sunday after-noon.

Subscribe for the News.

NOTICE.

I would like to swap or sell 80 acres of land for 20 acres of land with a good house on it. Said land is four miles from Montevallo, in a good neighborhood, and near two churches. There are 35 acres cleared and 45 in timber, all lying level. There is lasting water on the place. Within one half mile of Dogwood station. For further particulars, apply at the News office, or address J. A. Roebuck, Montevallo, Ala.

NOTICE!

A reward of $5.00 is hereby offered for evidence to convict the party or parties who recently castrated my fine Berkshire boar.

Some party has the 37th volume of my Columbia Encyclopedia. They will greatly oblige by returning.

D. L. WILKINSON, M. D.

DEATH.

News reached the city on the Sabbath of the death of Miss Diamond Sibley, who was, during the past two years, a pupil it the Polytechnic Institut. Her home is at Ivy, Ala., Sumter County, but when her death occurred she was visiting relatives some distance from home. While information is but meagre, and while we have not all the facts with reference to this sad event, it seems that her death was very sudden and unexpected, being the result of heart desease.

There were few girls more popular than she, and by her solid worth she had drawn to herself the love and confidence of those who knew her best.

The News extends its deepest sympathy to her loved ones and assures them that the little town of Montevallo mourns the loss of this bright fair girl. We will miss her from our college halls, but trust that she is now learning, not the mysteries of earth, but the deeper mysteries of the infinite beyond from the Author of all knowledge.

JOB PRINTING.

LETTER HEADS,
NOTE HEADS,
BILL HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
CIRCULARS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS, Etc.,
Done in first-class style on short notice, at the

NEWS : OFFICE.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c.
If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

What the Old Man Called It.

"This is the parlor, eh?" tentatively remarked the real estate agent who was looking over the house. "Yes," replied old man Kidder; "but I usually call it the courtroom. I've got seven daughters, you know."—Harper's Bazaar.

The Biggest Bicycle in the World.

A German has just completed a bicycle that has one wheel nine feet in diameter. Two people ride it—one on each side of the monster wheel. It runs as easily as a smaller bicycle because of its scientific construction. The scientific formula of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the reason of its great virtues in making the weak strong, and in curing most of the every-day ailments of men and women. If your health is poor, try a bottle.

One pint of milk produces, roughly speaking, one ounce of butter.

Nervous People

Are great sufferers and they deserve sympathy rather than censure. Their blood is poor and thin and their nerves are consequently weak. Such people find relief and cure in Hood's Sarsaparilla because it purifies and enriches the blood and gives it power to feed, strengthen and sustain the nerves. If you are nervous and cannot sleep, take Hood's Sarsaparilla and realize its nerve strengthening power.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. 25 cents.

An Amusing Incident.

An amusing incident occurred in an A., B. & C. car the other afternoon. Four young couples, evidently out for an enjoyable day, were seated on one side of the car having a decidedly good time. While their merriment was at its height a seven-year-old boy across the aisle suddenly leaned forward.

"Say, mister," he called to one of the young men, "why don't yon kiss your girl?"

The young man looked up in surprise, and the girl—a pretty girl, too—blushed.

"Talmage. Talmage," said the boy's father, "what do you mean by such talk?"

The boy looked at his father in surprised disgust.

"What's the matter with you, dad?" he cried. "You told me you'd do it if you was him!"

And the father found the landscape decidedly interesting until the young people left the car.

STORIES OF RELIEF.

Two Letters to Mrs. Pinkham.

Mrs. JOHN WILLIAMS, Englishtown, N. J., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot begin to tell you how I suffered before taking your remedies. I was so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without falling. I had womb trouble and such a bearing-down feeling; also suffered with my back and limbs, pain in womb, inflammation of the bladder, piles and indigestion. Before I had taken one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great deal better, and after taking two and one-half bottles and half a box of your Liver Pills I was cured. If more would take your medicine they would not have to suffer so much."

Mrs. JOSEPH PETERSON, 513 East St., Warren, Pa., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered with womb trouble over fifteen years. I had inflammation, enlargement and displacement of the womb. I had the backache constantly, also headache. and was so dizzy. I had heart trouble, it seemed as though my heart was in my throat at times choking me. I could not walk around and I could not lie down, for then my heart would beat so fast I would feel as though I was smothering. I had to sit up in bed nights in order to breathe. I was so weak I conld not do anything.

"I have now taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and can say I am perfectly cured. I do not think I could have lived long if Mrs. Pinkham's medicine had not helped me."

"SHANG HY" PIERCE'S STAMPEDE.

Indians and a Thunder Storm Crushed the Cattle Until They Lost Their Horns.

"The favorite story with all cattlemen," said W. P. Anderson of Chicago, "is one of a stampede. When a man witnesses one he never forgets it.

"I have heard many tales of the kind, but never a better one than that told by A. H. Pierce, known all over the range country as 'Shang Hy' Pierce. He told it in the Lindell Hotel in Kansas City. As near as I can remember it was as follows:

"'Several years ago I started from the range of Texas with 2,000 cattle which I wanted to drive into Kansas. It was the regular routine work to gather them from the ranges in Texas and start the drive. Of course, we expected that we would get to Kansas in due time and without trouble. I had driven innumerable herds over the trail and very seldom had any trouble. I did not anticipate trouble on this trip, as when I started out I had with me the best lot of cow punchers that ever left Texas.

"'It was a beautiful sight when we started out, driving 2,000 long-horned steers. The men were all in good spirits, planning to daub red paint all over Kansas City. Through the thick dust from the hoofs of the cattle and horses could be seen the red handkerchiefs of the cowboys as they dashed up and down, gathering the herd together and swearing in a loud and good-natured manner.

"'When we were out about four days we met a small band of Indians, who bothered us until we drove them away. We go into quite a fight over the matter. We discovered them early in the morning and by afternoon we forgot all about the Indians and were busy taking care of our stock. We knew that a heavy storm was coming up and wanted to get our herd pretty well bunched before dark, so we could handle them easily in case of rough weather.

"'That night there was a stampede in the herd and we never did get a large number of the cattle, although the herd proper was saved. The stampede was caused by the Indians with whom we had trouble in the morning. By the flashes of lightning we saw them scampering away across the plains in an opposite direction to that taken by the herd.

"'The stampede started shortly after midnight and I do not believe I will ever forget what I went through before daylight. The Indians gathered upon the flank of the cattle and worried them, until the whole herd was in motion. Of course in a wink we were all up and mounted and after the herd trying to stop the stampede and keep them together.

"'Shortly after the stampede started the storm began and the bright flashes of lightning and the heavy rolling of thunder added to the madness of the cattle. Above the roar of the storm and the thunder of the hoofs of the cattle I could hear my men yelling and trying by every power to keep them together. The bellowing of the mad cattle, the rush of the horses, the yelling of the men and the thunder made a combination of noises the like of which I never expect to hear again. Just as dawn commenced to streak the horizon we managed to turn the head of the rushing column and in a short time had them going in a circle, milling.

"'With daylight the storm ceased and we could see every movement. After we once got the herd going in a circle it was easy to keep them together, and our efforts were directed toward making the circle so small that the stampede would be stopped. As it grew smaller nothing but a moving bunch of great horns could be seen above the herd. And they kept milling and milling and milling.'

"Here the story teller stopped to take a chaw of tobacco and one of the interested listeners interrupted to know what happened next.

"'Well,' continued Pierce, 'they kept milling and milling, and when they stopped I found that in their milling they had ground all their horns off, and I drove the herd into Kansas and sold them for muleys.'"

PENNSYLVANIA NON-COMBATANTS.

Sects That Do Not Believe in War, but Are Patriotic Nevertheless.

A correspondent of the New York Sun has just finished up a journey among the non-combatants of Pennsylvania. They include Quakers, Dunkers, Amish, Mennonites, Anabaptists, Moravians, and a few other independent sects of recent origin. As for the genuine stock of Quakers, very few young, able-bodied men were seen. In many sections the Quaker meeting houses are closed. At other points the meeting houses are opened once or twice a month and a few elderly people come from miles around to worship. The men who maintain the communion are too old to go to war, even if they were combatants. They of course deprecate war and are opposed to bloodshed, but they are intensely loyal to the cause of humanity, and think that Spain's cruelties in Cuba should stop. Many young men of Quaker extraction who long ago gave up the garb of their denomination and associated themselves with other churches have enlisted to help free Cuba.

The Mennonites are constantly increasing in numbers where the Quakers are dying out. So with the Dunkers and Amish. Their young men are well built, strong in bone and muscle, but throughout all their beautiful farming country there is thought only for agricultural pursuits. They do not go to law with any one, have strife with no one, take very little interest in politics, pay their taxes like good citizens, but take no part in municipal affairs, and do not go to war. During the civil war they made up large sums to pay for substitutes during the drafts. They are opposed to war on general principles, because their sects are for peace at all times, at home and abroad. They are intensely interested in the struggle with Spain, but are very careful not to talk about it with strangers. Their devotion to the flag is unquestioned, and they want to see victory for the nation, but they do not enlist, simply because they wish to be considered non-combatants. Their neighbors outside the sect have the greatest respect for them. Whenever they can contribute toward the assistance of any family whose head has gone to war, they cheerfully do so. A bag of meal, ham or bacon, a generous roast of veal when a calf is killed, potatoes by the bushel, wood by the load, and many other things are hauled to the house. So while these non-combatants do not shoulder the musket or draw the sword, they are willing to do their share in taking care of soldiers' families left behind.

The Effect of Wind on Lakes.

Attention has been called to the very remarkable effect of the wind on various inland bodies of water. It is not unusual for the residents in towns on the shores of lakes to be greatly inconvenienced, provided a heavy wind blowing on shore continues for any length of time. In the Baltic Sea the level has been altered for upwards of eight feet. Sometimes the water is blown out of a channel, leaving it almost dry. In one instance a depression of six feet occurred on one side of a body of water with a corresponding rise of six feet on the other. Lake Erie has been known to alter its level a distance of fifteen feet on account of heavy winds, and Lake Michigan was at one time the subject of considerable interest from the same cause. The wind was heavy and continuous and piled the water up on one side, while the other was so low that people walked out upon rocks where in the memory of man no feet had ever trodden.—New York Ledger.

The broad headed horses are the cleverest. In the British household cavalry the horses with broad foreheads learn their drill more rapidly than the others.

Punctilious.

"So you don't want breakfast badly enough to take off your coat and pull a few weeds out of the garden," she remarked scornfully. "Madam," said Meandering Mike, deprecatingly, "luck has been agin me. But I'm still too much of a gent to take off me coat in the presence of a lady."—Washington Star.

He Described It.

"How's business with you?" "Out of sight." "Let's see. What is your line?" "Stocking supporters."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

A Wisconsin woman patented an improved ironing board, etc., which is hinged at one end to a vertical post attached to a board at the other, and attached to brace at lower board, so upper board can be raised to insert garment.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

The heat has been so great in Melbourne, Australia, lately that the asphalt streets have been melted and completely ruined, and cycling has been out of the question.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic. cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Finger nails grow at the rate of rather more than one and a half inches in a year.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY. }

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886. A. W. GLEASON. Notary Public.

SEAL

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Corse's are not allowed to be worn by Russian young women attending high schools.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

One hundred miles of the railroad to Uganda are now open to traffic.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an A No. 1 Asthma medicine.—W. R. WILLIAMS, Antioch, Ills., April 11, 1894.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco stands at the top for its delicious aroma. Good as can be made. Try it.

The crushing resistance of the trap rocks of New Jersey are 24,000 pounds to the cubic inch.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

The population of London is four million two hundred and fifty thousand.

DID YOU KNOW THIS?

At Rock Hill, S. C., there is a buggy factory covering FIVE ACRES of ground, and making more buggies than any three factories in the South. "A Little Higher in Price, But——" not too high—JUST A FRACTION ABOVE THE WESTERN TRASH—so that good wheels, good paint, good leather, &c. can be used. See our agent in your town or write us. We'll see that you get the best at living prices.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING

"Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

SPRING HILL COLLEGE, near Mobile, Alabama.

Boarding College conducted by the Jesuit Fathers. Preparatory, Commercial and Classical Courses. Large gymnasium, running track, etc. Climate exceptionally healthy. Address REV. M. MOYNIHAN, S.J., President.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-34

The Result Accomplished.

Deacon Jones: "What! Not going to church any more? I thought you told me not long ago that you hadn't missed a Sunday in three years?" Farmer Cornerib: "So I hadn't. But what's the use now? Times air gettin' as good as they ever was."—Judge.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

It is said that only one American house is represented at Manila.

Sour Stomach

"After I was induced to try CASCARETS, I will never be without them in the house. My liver was in a very bad shape, and my head ached and I had stomach trouble. Now, since taking Cascarets, I feel fine. My wife has also used them with beneficial results for sour stomach."
JOS. KREHLING, 1921 Congress St., St. Louis, Mo.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 318

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

In a Class Alone.
Columbia Bevel-Gear Chainless Bicycle.
Its running qualities are Perfect.
OUR CHAIN WHEELS.
Columbias and Hartfords.
Other Models, low prices.
POPE MFG. CO.,
Hartford, Conn.
Catalog Free.

GROVES

TASTELESS
CHILL TONIC
IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS.
WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.
Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,
ABNEY, CARR & CO.

Some Queer Peruvian Dishes.

On the whole the living in Lima is very good. You will not find in Washington or New York a better meat and fish market than that of Lima. The meats are largely sold by women, and the women seem to have monopolized the milk, meat and vegetable trade of this city. The steaks and chops are very good, and you can buy a little kid or a half dozen guinea pigs for a trifle. The Peruvians are very fond of kids, and guinea pigs are a delicacy not to be sneered at. They taste much like young pigeons or very tender squirrels. They are raised and fattened for eating all about here and nearly every farmer keeps a guinea pig pen. Another queer dish is fish cooked by putting cold lemon juice on it. It is really raw fish served with lemon juice, but the lemon has much the same effect on the flesh of the fish as boiling, and I have a number of times smacked my lips over what I thought was the most delicious boiled fish I had ever eaten to find that it was fish a la serviche, that is raw fish and lemon. The fish of this coast are delicious. They are of nearly every kind from the sole to the corbina, which is a very large and sweet fleshed fish not unlike the bluefish of the Atlantic, though of a more delicious flavor. I have tried the Peruvian oysters at the National Club. They were brought to me parboiled on the half shell.—Correspondence Washington Star.

Funny Toothache Cures.

Before the days of dentists, and when people generally believed in the value of charms, there were ever so many mysterious ways of preventing toothache.

One of these was to dress the right side of the body first—right stocking, right shoe, right sleeve, right glove. A favorite plan in Scotland was to draw a tooth, salt it well, and burn it in full view on glowing coals. In Cornwall many save their teeth by biting the first young ferns that appear.

The custom of catching a common ground mole, cutting off the paws while the little creature still lives, and wearing them, is traced to Staffordshire, England. Some people who are fond of exercise believe that walking twelve miles—no more, no less—to get a splinter of the toothache tree that grows particularly well in Canada and Virginia, will drive away the worst ache and pain that ever tortured a tooth.

The belief that toothache is caused by a worm at the roots is prevalent in many parts of the world; hence, this cure: Reduce several different kinds of herbs—the greater the variety the better—to a powder. Put a glowing coal into this powder and inhale the incense. Afterward breathe into a cup of water, and the worm will be gone forever. —New York World.

Genealogy on a Turtle's Shell.

James Barton, of Conklin, N. Y., has unearthed on his farm a turtle which, in its way, is a family heirloom. Mr. Barton was plowing recently when the turtle was brought to light. On its shell was inscribed "Ashabel Hastings, July 14, 1824, Joel Barton, June 16, 1863." Ashabel Hastings was James Barton's grandfather, and Joel Hastings his father. A short distance from the field is a road where, while Ashabel Hastings was yet living, the turtle was found and marked by Joel Barton. Ashabel said that at the time of its first capture it was apparently old. It is thought the turtle is more than a hundred. James Barton inscribed his name on the shell and set it free, to bear the record to future generations.—New York Press.

Aluminum in the French Army.

Aluminum is likely to be extensively used in the French army for cooking utensils instead of tin. A large supply of articles, hitherto made of the latter metal, has just been issued to the troops of all arms in each army corps, in order that a thorough trial of its merits may be made, and in the event of this proving thoroughly satisfactory, aluminum is to be permanently adopted.

Men who are always in a hurry, and most men are, want a soap for the toilet that will lather quickly and freely in hot or cold water. Other soaps than Ivory may have this quality, but will likely contain alkali, which is injurious to the skin. Ivory Soap is made of pure vegetable oils, no alkali; produces a white, foamy lather, that cleanses thoroughly and rinses easily and quickly. Money cannot buy a better soap for the toilet.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

EXPOSURE to WET and COLD

HAS proven disastrous to many women. Wet feet and damp clothing chill the entire system and the delicate female organs are at once effected. Painful, Profuse, Suppressed or Obstructed Menses, Whites, Falling of the Womb, or some other health-destroying disease is almost certain to follow such exposure unless proper precautions are taken. When any of these diseases appear women should begin the use of

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea.

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

It will regulate the menses, cure all forms of female disease, and give health and strength. It is used in the privacy of the home. No consultations. No humiliating examinations. If there is any tendency to constipation or indigestion take mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator.

MY DAUGHTER SUFFERED INTENSELY

From female irregularities, and had tried physicians and other remedies, but could get no relief, and we had despaired of her recovery. We were induced to try Gerstle's Female Panacea, and I believe it saved her life.
A. J. MACE, Jamestown, Tenn.

For Sale at Drug Stores, $1.00 per Bottle.
L. GERSTLE & CO., Props., Chattanooga, Tenn.

GIN REPAIRS
SAWS, RIBS,
BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c.,
FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.
ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES
And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.
LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

--PATENTS--
Procured on cash, or easy instalments. VOWLES & BURNS, Patent Attorneys, 237 Broadway, N. Y.

VIRGINIA BUSINESS COLLEGE.
Commercial, Shorthand, Typewriting, English. $50 tuition admits to all departments for session of forty-two weeks. Open to both sexes. Graduates assisted to positions. Eleventh session begins September 6th. Catalogue free. B. A. DAVIS, JR., President, Box K, Richmond, Va.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

Massey's
Business Colleges
Birmingham, Ala. Columbus, Ga.
Montgomery, Ala. Jacksonville, Fla.
We pay student's railroad fare, and guarantee situations. Write at once for catalogue No. A

ST. ANDREWS COLD TEA
FOR THE Liver
CURES Sluggishness, Jaundice.

Hogsett Military Academy, Danville, Kentucky.
Prepares for Universities, Government Schools and General Business. Situated in the Blue Grass Region of Kentucky. A pleasant, safe home for your boy. Fall Term opens Sept. 8. E. Albert Smith, Sup't.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthropist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked:

"Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

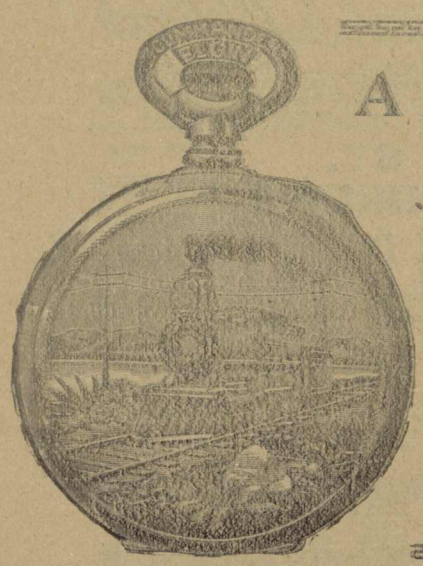
"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $3 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

RIPANS ONE GIVES RELIEF

A new style of the well-known RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale in large drug stores—DEALERS EVERYWHERE. The low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (60 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (six tabules) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, newsagents and at all druggists' and barbers' shops. One gives relief.



A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

Established in 1882.

GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,
Manager.

☞Office at Store.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALE, Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mgr., Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas., Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturers agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.95 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank.

Probate Judge

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, '98. NO. 34

Is It Worth While?

Is it worth while that we jostle a brother
Bearing his load on the rough road of life?
Is it worth while that we jeer at each other
In blackness of heart—that we war to the knife?
God pity us all in our pitiful strife.
God pity us all as we jostle each other;
God pardon us all for the triumph we feel
When a fellow goes down 'neath his load on the heather,
Pierced to the heart; words are keener than steel,
And mightier far for woe or for weal
Were it not well, in this brief little journey
On over the isthmus down into the tide.
We give him a fish instead of a serpent,
Ere folding the hands to be and abide
Forever and aye in dust at his side?
Look at the roses saluting each other;
Look at the herds all at peace on the plain—
Man and man only, makes war on his brother,
And laughs in his heart at his peril and pain;
Shamed by the beast that go down on the plain.
Is is worth while that we battle to humble.
Some poor fellow soldier down into the dust?
God pity us all! Time off soon will tumble
All of us together like leaves in a gust,
Humbled, indeed, down into the dust.

—Joaquin Miller.

"FAST."

One of the saddest things Nashville has known in many a day is the killing of young Davis. It occurred this week. He was fatally stabbed by J. G. Cisco.

And yet, sad as that killing is, the cause thereof is sadder still.

Mr. Cisco is a Confederate veteran. For years he was a prominent news paper man and a writer of no mean ability. And whereever knowu he has been recognized as a citizen of exceptional character.

Mr. Davis, who died at the hands of this good citizen, belonged to one of the very best families. No people in Dickson, where they live are more respectable or more highly esteemed than are his parents. The young man himself seems to have been universally liked and admired. His friends seem not now to believe he was guilty of the crime for which he was slain, such faith have they in his uprightness.

"Your daughter is ruined." This was the awful news that suddenly overwhelmed the unsuspecting father. Poor Mr. Cisco had never the slightest suspicion of a thing so terrible as this. He loved his motherless girl. He was proud of the long and honorable record of a family whose unstained history he could trace through three centuries. "Your daguhter is ruined," said the doctor. Oh, if it had been Your doughter is dead! That had been the sweetest announcement ever a father heard, compared to the disgrace and the grief so awful, so unsupportable as this.

"Who is guilty of this unspeakable deed? Who is the author of this unutterable outrage? I must know—I shall know.

With the innocent babe beside her, with the infuriated father confronting her, she knew not what to do. She uttered a name.

The blade, they say, was long and sharp—as keen of edge as any razor. It was the weapon he selected.

"Where is Mr. Davis, a young man employed by this house?

The clerk of whom the question was asked never dreamed that this calm, deliberate gentleman purposed a tragedy so dreadful.

He was directed to the rear of the large room, and there he found his victim, just as he came up out of the cellar bearing a bundle of goods. Besides the two no one was present to see or hear what passed. But the awful deed was done.

The old man—he is 54 years old—walked deliberately out of the store. His clothes were stained with gaeat splotches where the red blood had spurted; and as he walked away he wiped the long blade with his handkeachief.

The young man rushed back into the book-keeper's office. They took him to ahospital. His father and mother were summoned. The doctors did what they could. But that long Keen blade had done its work to well.

He lived long enough to kiss his mother and to speak to the father he loved so well—to tell them that he was innocent—to say he had forgiven the hand that took his life.

They carried his body back to his old home and laid it away in the old family burial grounds. But the deselate homes, the broken hearts, the grief that stays in spite of the best that earth can bring! What shall be done? Simply endure? Simply go on in sight of the crushing load on the poor bleeding heart? Go on with the affairs and sports of life as though nothing had happened?

Rather let the apostle's injunction be heeded: "Bear ye one another's burdens," and let those who have eyes to see and ears to hear, learn a solemn lesson never to be forgot.

"She was fast." so they tell. She played and laughed and sang along the brink. In a careless moment or in the frenzy of passion she suffered her foot to slip and the fatal plunge was made.

She was fast! The words have a fearful signficance—a significance that every Parent should understand. Every mother and father should warn against its first and faintest sign, as they would warn against the approach of a leper or against the hiss, or touch of a venomous beast.

Only the other day ayoung man in Atlanta was being sued for a breach of promise. The father of the young women happened to see the young man as he sat quietly in the court room. With the fury of a wild beast he sprang on the despoiler of his child and his home. The old man—his head was white wite the snows of 70 winters—the poor old man was carried to jail. the young man with his throat cut was taken to the hospital.

She, too, was fast. Innocent is it? Plearant pastime? Alas! Alas! who can measure the grief and the shame it cost?—Florence Standard Journal.

the man

who wants good clothing should see our stock,
we have the best in monteval lo.

..Morgan:-: Bros..

Leaders in Low Prices!

PARTY.

At the home of Mrs. Davidson the following young people enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Charlie Davidson with Miss Bessie Steele. Chris Dill with Miss Laura Towles. George Lawrence with Miss Imogene Vandegrift. John Adams with Miss Ethel Strong. Harry Strong, with Miss Lois McCauley. Abb Fancher with Miss Ollie Bryan. Misses Lucile Fancher and Mamie Davidson.

The following young men were present. Edgar Allen. Richard Dill. George Allen. and John Kroell. Mrs. Davidson is a charming hostess and entertain the young people royally.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c.
If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

THE SAILOR'S FAREWELL.

We'll sail away by morning,
At the day's first dawn of light,
When the guns are loudly booming
And we're stripp'd to win the fight.
So cheer up, my own sweet dove,
Let not grief thy beauty stain;
As a proof of faithful love.
Wear this gem and golden chain.
Then farewell to home and wife,
I go where my duty guides;
'Tis a proud and gallant life,
The mate of a sailor's bride.

If I should fall, my darling,
'Neath the foeman's deadly hand,
Remember I died fighting
For freedom's glorious land,
So chase away all sorrow
While the merry bugles play,
Though darkness veils to-morrow,
The light will come next day.
Then farewell to home and wife,
I go where duty guides;
'Tis a proud and gallant life,
The mate of a sailor's bride.

Running the Gauntlet.

I found myself, a few years ago, in a port on the west coast of South America during one of those revolutions which seem so characteristic of the South American republics. I was then an assistant engineer on the United States cruiser San Francisco. The port was still in the hands of the forces of the recognized government; but the revolutionists had been making recent gains in places not far away, and our admiral, in order to protect American interests, had brought his little fleet, consisting of the San Francisco, the Baltimore and the Pensacola, into the harbor. English, French and German men of-war were also present.

The city lies on the shore of a broad, deep bay. Across the harbor lies a summer resort, once very popular, but at the time of which I write little frequented.

The distance from the city to the summer resort is only four or five miles in a direct line, but twice as far around the coast of the bay. A railroad connected the two places and it is of a remarkable ride that I took on a locomotive over this road that I wish to tell.

I had a considerable leisure while we were in port, and as I wished to acquire a knowledge of the Spanish language, I spent as much time as possible ashore, mingling with the inhabitants and soldiers, noting their accent and idioms. Among the men whose acquaintance I made in this way was William McDougal, better known as "Scotty," a grizzled, hard-headed, muscular and well preserved Scotchman, who, although he had been in the country twenty years, still spoke Spanish badly. He was engineer in charge of one of the locomotives running between the harbor and the old summer resort.

I had frequently ridden with him on his engine, and had derived considerable amusement from his gruff talk and the picturesque vituperation he showered upon his native fireman, who, however, understood not a word of it all.

For several weeks there had been a daily fright on shore over the expected attack by the revolutionary fleet, which was known to be only sixty miles away. The troops were drilling, and a gun had been mounted on a point commanding the harbor. To restore public confidence, the government officials decided upon a grand review of the troops, to be held at the old summer resort, and on the appointed day I rode over there from the port with Scotty, his engine slowly pulling a long train of flat cars crowded with soldiers.

The men were good looking fellows, well uniformed, the very flower of the government army, many of them being veterans of an earlier war. I remarked to Scotty that they should make a good fight.

'A gude fight, d'ye say?" replied Scotty, "Ye dinna ken the cattle. If tha' Donna Maria shows her nose aroun' yon point." Indicating the northern entrance of the bay, "there'll be a great scattering."

The Donna Maria as well as nearly all the other vessels of the republic, was in the possession of the revolutionary party.

After the review in the afternoon was over I hurried back to the station, and caught Scotty's engine just as it was starting back to the port with the first train-load of returning troops.

On the engine was a government colonel and some of the field officers of his regiment. I was in civilian clothing, and as I swung up into the gangway, the colonel, in a pompous and bombastic manner, inquired of Scotty why I was there.

"Amigo de mio,"—friend of mine,—said the laconic Scotty, and further explained in very poor Spanish that I was an "Official abordo el buque de guerra San Francisco."

At this the colonel relaxed. He and I were soon engaged in conversation—an opportunity of which he availed himself to impress on me the absolute absurdity of any naval force attacking with any hope of success a place garrisoned by soldiers so brave as his own, especially when commanded by an officer so valiant as himself. All his fierce gesticulations and grandiloquent expressions were closely followed and tacitly applauded by his fellow officers; but while these terrible warriors were boasting of their valor, Scotty sat silently on his cab seat.

The pull was up-grade for the first two miles, and the train moved slowly. The track was but a few feet above the water of the bay, which it skirted all the way to the port station. Looking seaward, I noticed the smoke of a steamer rising from behind the north point of the bay, and I called the attention of my companions to it.

"Es of vapor del norte," said the colonel, and the conjecture was plausible, for the mail steamer was expected; but just then a ball of smoke swelled into a cloud from the gun on the south point of the bay, where the steamer could be seen. Then, even as a moment later we heard the report, a low, ugly, lead-colored, two-masted war-vessel appeared from the north.

A flash from her bow, and instantly we saw the dust rise from the redoubt on the south point where the gun was located.

The fireman with a yell of terror, "La Donna Maria!" took a flying leap from the engine on the land side.

"La Donna Maria!" echoed the colonel, turning pale. "La Donna Maria!" yelled the other officers in chorus.

"It's sure La Donna Maria," said Scotty, coolly, adding, with reference mair the day."

It was indeed the dreaded Donna Maria, built by popular subscription in the republic, and believed by the lower classes there to be the most formidable vessel afloat.

She paid no further attention to the gun on the point, but steamed straight into the bay. Her commander had seen our train of soldiers. We were in a critical position. It would require fully twenty minutes to take the train the rest of the way to the port station, and, nearly all the way we should be under fire. The Donna Maria dared not shell the town, for if she had attempted it, the foreign war vessels present would immediately have opposed her. A train load of troops was a different matter. She could shoot at them so long as the shells did not endanger anything else.

Boom! went her bow gun again. The shell striking the water a few hundred yards off shore without exploding, skipped up a few feet above the car next behind the engine. That settled the colonel. The business-like shriek of the missle set him wild. Drawing his sword he approached Scotty, and in a volley of commands, threats and entreaties, ordered him to back the train to the summer resort.

Scotty paid no attention to him, but glanced at the steam gauge, which already showed a considerable reduction in pressure, owing to the desertion of the fireman. We had reached the top of the grade, and the remainder of the run would be on level track. Shorty kept the train moving ahead.

Again came a shot from the Donna Maria, and this time the shell exploded over the train, wounding some of the men on the fourth car from the engine.

Once more the colonel stepped up to Scotty, with his sword drawn back for a lunge. He seemed crazy either with fear or with nervousness, and liable to do anything. Quick as a flash the engineer drew a big Colt's revolver, covered the colonel, and said coolly, "Stand awa' ye cowardly cur! Dinna ye ken that anither train is following us, and that if we stop, we're lost? My orders are to go ahead, and I'm gaun to obey orders. Gie a hand, laddie, and stoke the fire a bit," he said to me.

I pulled open the fire-box door, threw in some coal, took the big poker and stirred up the fire.

The colonel seemed impressed either by Scotty's manner or by his pistol, which was still ready cocked in the enginer's hand. Certainly the colonel had some reason to be excited. His men were perfectly helpless on the cars; behind us was a train, on the seaward side the Dona Maria. Our engine, a poor affair at best, was fast losing her steam. The soldiers on the train were wildly excited, furiously angry at Scotty for not stopping and backing, and only prevented from firing into the cab by the fact that their officers were there and in the tender.

Scotty looked back at the yelling troops with calm contempt; many of them were uselessly firing their rifles in the direction of the enemy, more than two and a half miles away. I was doing my best with the fire, and soon saw a gain in the steam gauge.

'Stick to it lad," said Scotty, never taking his eyes off the others. "How's her steam?'

"It reads one hundred and five. It's going up?"

Scotty pulled out the throttle another notch, and our speed began to increase. We had about five miles to go. If the Donna Maria's shells did us no serious damage, we should make it.

Another puff and a roar from her broadside battery! She was now about two and a half miles away, and could use her smaller guns.

Bang! a shell exploded not fifty yards ahead of the engine. Smash! a piece of it struck the copper feed-pipe of the left injector! Instantly the whole side of the engine was in a cloud of steam.

"She's all right, Scotty, it's only the pipe!" I yelled; and Scotty never turned his head. The heroic officers were cowering in the coal space.

Thud! went a shot into the bank on the land side; it had passed but a few feet over the engine. The steam-gauge showed one hundred and twenty pounds. The old engine was teetering up and down like a yawlboat in a short sea.

Then from the bluffs right over our heads came the roar of a field battery. The government artillery was taking a hand. I looked toward the Donna Maria. Water was splashing high between her and the shore. The range was too long for the light battery.

We had yet a mile to safety. The Donna Maria redoubled her efforts; her sides blazed; but the aim of her gunners was poor. Scotty grinned as he pointed toward them. "They're rattled, lad," he said. "They canna hit tha side o' South America tha noo!"

And so it was; the faster they fired, the wider from the mark went their shells.

When we drew into the port station and safety, Scotty, still protected by his pistol, said to me, "Tell them hombres to go, and go quick!"

I translated, and the officers went—and went quickly, too!

Then, as they left, Scotty stepped over to me, and grasping my hand in a vice-like clasp, said, "Aye, lad, but it's a pity ye're in the navy. Ye'd mak' a gran' engine-driver—in time. An,' lad, next time ye're prayin" on yer knees, dinna ye forget to thank God that ye come from a race of men that can keep their wits aboot them in the time o' danger."—Free S. Bowley, in Youth's Companion.

His Secret of Perpetual Health.

One of our middle-aged citizens who surrenders himself entirely to business and looks older than his years, had been curious for some time to learn how one of his neighbors, twenty years his senior, managed to retain his youthfulness of spirits and activity. The old gentleman has a florid face that seems to belie the crown of snow-white hair. His eyes are sparkling, his step is elastic, his form erect and his laugh contagious. When asked for the desired information he blushed like a schoolboy and occasionally stammered in his explanation:

"Of course," he laughed, "I'm regular in my habits, get out of doors a good deal, and try to take things just as philosophically as I can. That is, I won't permit myself to worry. But I wouldn't be telling you the whole truth if I withheld what I regard as the chief secret of my being so well preserved. I have courted my wife ever since I married her, and that was more than forty years ago. I pay her all the little attentions that I ever did when I was trying to win her, and which a woman never ceases to hold dear. I invite her to ride, ask her to go to the theater or whether she would enjoy accompanying me to some social entertainment, and take her out into the country and rave over its beauties, just as we have always done.

"In that way, don't you see, we fail to note the passage of time. She is the same happy girl and I the same attentive lover. If we have a little tiff we act very much as we did when foolish youngsters and make it all up in the same way. Try it. It's the secret of perpetual youth."—Detroit Free Press.

Cologne Drunkards.

Sweet-smelling drunkards can be found nowadays on the little Island of Pemba, near Zanzibar. The principal settlement has suddenly been changed from a dirty, disreputable village into a town fragrant with perfume; and that radical change was brought about solely by the prohibition of alcohol. Since the natives—colored and a mixed population—had become victims of alcohol to such an extent that there were more drunken people to be seen than sober ones, the British resident prohibited the importation of alcoholic beverages to stop the evil. Then the native merchants began to import "eau de cologne" in quantities—of course, not the real article, but liquor of the worst sort, perfumed and packed in cologne bottles. Now the drunkards of Pemba get their wonted fill of alcohol in this disguise, and the worse the drinker the better he smells—Philadelphia Record.

Russia's Exhibit of Birds.

Ornithologists all over the world are much interested in the great exhibition of birds about to be opened at St. Petersburg. It is to be an international exhibition, in that it is the aim to exhibit the birds native to every country of the world. The Czar has placed himself at its head, the Russian Government will assist it with money and influence, and the European and other governments which were invited to take a part in the project have replied favorably. The exhibition has now assumed such gigantic proportions that it has been found necessary to postpone it from the summer of this year to the summer of next year, to allow as many regions as possible on the earth to be represented.—New York Tribune.

American Newspapers.

In the year 1709 there was only one newspaper in the United States. Now there are more than in England, France and Germany put together.

A fad in London just at this season is a black satin jacket, elaborately strapped and stitched and worn with a black and white checked skirt.

Artificial limbs have been constructed in Germany in such a way that those who are obliged to use them can ride bicycles.

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

Bad Roads and Feuds.

Hayden Brock, a young mountaineer, who lives in Laurel County, Kentucky, and has been a student at the State College in Lexington for three years, was asked recently what, in his opinion, caused mountain feuds. He hesitated before answering, but he finally said:

"Bad roads. You see, our roads are so bad that a four-horse team can haul only 2500 pounds of goods from London to Manchester. This can be done only during the summer and fall months. In the winter and spring it is impossible to haul empty wagons over this road, and the mail has to be carried on pack mules. We are therefore shut off from the world during at least five months in the year, and when we do have communication, it is so slow and costly that many of our people have never seen a railroad train, and know nothing about cities. These bad roads prevent our children from going to school during the winter months and the result is that we have a great deal of illiteracy. The mails are few and necessarily slow, so that we are entirely out of touch with the world and all that is going on in it. Freights are also very high. It costs thirty-five cents a hundred pounds to haul freight from London to Manchester, and to Hyden, the county seat of Letcher County, it costs seventy-five cents a hundred.

"Owing to the poor roads, very little work can be done in the winter, and the enforced idleness breeds ignorance and crime. Many of our people spend their dreary winter days and nights in making and drinking moonshine whiskey, and this often results in shootings and killings, and often starts feuds. If we had better roads we would have more and better schools, there would be fewer illiterates, and our people would have something else to think about besides shooting and killing. We have many bright young people in the mountains, but they have no opportunities and the bad roads keep them at home, so they usually drift into feuds and often become outlaws. Bad roads are the bane of the mountains and they cause all the feuds."

The Rev. J. J. Dicke, a Methodist minister, who has been working among the mountain people, of Kentucky, for fifteen or twenty years, and who has studied their character closely, thinks the only hope of the people in the mountain part of the State lies in more education and better roads. It has been suggested to use the convicts in building highways through the mountains, instead of allowing them to remain in the penitentiaries engaged in pursuits which keep thousands of workmen who are not criminals from having employment. Putting the convicts to work on the roads of the mountains would present a curious spectacle.

As there seem to be so many different opinions as to the causes of the feuds in Kentucky, it is to be inferred that they are the result of various causes, which the persons interviewed have clearly pointed out. A concerted effort will be made at the next session of the Kentucky Legislature to have roads built through the mountains by the convicts.

It is believed that good roads and good schools will relegate the "forty-five" to the rear.—New York Sun.

The Movement in Canada.

Good-road making and the wide agitation therefor in the United States have attained sufficient importance to serve as a stimulus, or at least as a good example, across the northern boundary. The road inspector of the province of Ontario dwells in his report on the progress of the reform here in an endeavor to arouse interest there. That interest is lacking is evident from the detailed reports from existing conditions. Summarizing these, the inspector says: "A century ago the roads of Ontario such as existed, and they were very few, were mere trails. To-day, notwithstanding the amount of money and labor placed on them, the majority are a little better than trails. This criticism may seem overdrawn to those who drive over some of the best gravel roads during the summer season, but if the journey had to be made in the fall or spring, the rainy seasons, its fairness would become more apparent. From the middle of October until the end of December, and from the first of March to the middle of May, a period of five months, by far the greatest part of the mileage of the province is mud, ruts and pitch-holes. This may vary somewhat at the more northerly and more southerly parts of the province, but it is the general rule of the average year. Of this period of five months there are at least two months of the year when the roads are practically impassable for loads. From the middle of November until the middle of December, from the middle of March until the middle of April the agricultural trade of the country is practically cut off. For the remaining three months of the five the roads are barely passable." The estimated loss to the province by the absence of good roads the inspector estimates at $651,576,000, capitalized at three per cent.—New York Post.

Will Help to Reduce Taxes.

The wide-tire measure passed by the New Jersey legislature was due, says Assemblyman Grispin, its originator, to "its inestimable value to the taxpayers who were constantly being called upon for increased appropriations for road improvements, by both the farmers and bicyclists, which call would be unnecessary if the broad tire was adopted, as it would be of a two-fold service; first, in making the roads hard and smooth; second, in doing away with the complaint from bicyclists that the heavily loaded farm wagons cut the road to pieces—besides lessening the annual appropriation for the roads about fifty per cent."—L. A, W. Bulletin.

Notes.

It is suggested that the Government put wide tires on the army wagons.

Street pavements need to be something more than hard and durable. They should be smooth, noiseless and easily cleaned and repaired.

Water should not be allowed to stand along the roadside. Ditches should be kept clear and open in order to carry it off quickly, as it is liable otherwise to find its way under the roadbed.

Steel tracks are claimed to make the most perfect surface known; after it comes crushed stone, on which five times the power is required to haul a load; then gravel, requiring ten times the power; and, finally, common earth, requiring twenty times.

Deer Hunting With Eagles.

The berkute or bearcoote, the golden eagle, is trained and used by the natives of Tartary and the Kirghis steppes for hunting foxes, wolves, boars and deer. Mr. Harting quotes this description from Atkinson: "We had not gone far when several large deer rushed past a jutting point of the rocks and bounded over the plain about 300 yards from us. In an instant the bearcoote was unhooded and his shackles removed, when he sprang from his perch and soared into the air. I watched him ascend as he wheeled round, and was under the impression that he had not seen the animals; but in this I was mistaken. He had now risen to a considerable height and seemed to poise himself for a minute.

"After this he gave two or three flaps with his wings and swooped o in a straight line toward his prey. I could not perceive that his wings moved, but he went at a fearful rate of speed. I gave my horse his head and a touch of the whip; in a few minutes he carried me to the front, and I was riding neck and neck with one of the keepers. When we were about 200 yards off the bearcoote struck his prey. The bearcoote had struck one talon into his neck, the other into his back, and with his beak was tearing into the animal's liver."—Forest and Stream.

AFRAID OF INDIANS.

Terror Vanished When the Red Men Began to Sing a Hymn.

About sixty-five years ago, says a writer in the Montreal Witness, two youths came from Scotland, and struck out for the wilderness of Oxford County, in what was then Upper Canada. They had heard that Indians might be found in the region, and they kept a sharp and somewhat fearful watch. Nearing their destination, they encamped one chilly night by the side of a stream. While they were getting their lunch, hovering over the fire, they were overwhelmed with astonishment and fear by seeing a small band of Indians suddenly arrive.

As it was too late to try to escape, and as the Indians were too many to fight, the young fellows decided to parley with the savages; but their "parleying" was rendered of no effect by the fact that while the Indians spoke not a word of English the Scotch boys were totally ignorant of the sign language in which the Indians tried to converse.

But presently the savages made a gesture which the boys understood. It was a beckoning sign and plainly meant come along.

"Well," said one of the boys to the other, "it is evident that we have got to die, and we may as well die at their camp as here."

"In any event we will die like men," said the other.

"We will."

So they started along, following the Indians, or rather followed by them. Soon they reached a large Indian lodge which they entered. The Indians beckoned to them to sit down in front of a large fire in the center of the lodge, which was directly beneath a hole in the roof that served for chimney, window and ventilator.

The Indians offered them food, but appetite had been scared out of them. The Indians ate and then got out hatchets and knives.

"Our time has come," said one of the boys.

"So it seems," said the other, "but let us sell our lives dearly."

However instead of falling upon them with the weapons, the Indians procured a lot of strips of ashwood and went to work making baskets, stripping, measuring, splitting and bending the wood. The boys were a little reassured and yet they agreed that probably the savages would pretend to fall asleep and would murder them in the night. They resolved that but one of them should lie down, while the other would sit up and watch, each taking his turn.

After the Indians had worked at basket making for some time, one of them, who seemed to be a sort of chief, suddenly gave a yell that froze the blood in both boys' veins. The Indians threw down their implements and formed in a circle about the fire, and the white boys. The terrible ceremony of death was about to begin.

Then the chief Indian sounded a note with his voice, and all the Indians began to sing. But what was it that they were singing? The Scotch boys, piously reared, knew the tune well; it was the one to which they were accustomed to sing the words:

How pleased and blest was I
To hear the people cry,
"Come, let us seek our God to-day."

The boys looked at each other in astonishment, and when the Indians had sung this song—in their own language, of course—they sung a greater and more thrilling one, "Rock of Ages, Cleft for Me."

The fears of the boys were gone. In their own tongue, they joined in the song with more unction, no doubt, than they had ever before known in singing it; and when the Indians had finished their devotions, for it was with a devotional purpose that they had sung, the boys lay down to sleep and slept soundly in the warmth of the fire.

The tribe was one which had been visited by missionaries, and the men had no other purpose than one of grateful hospitality in bringing these wandering white youths to their lodge.

The next morning they ate with gusto to the food which their hosts offered them, and expressing their thanks as best they could, went their way.

THE GUNS OF THE LADRONES.

Old Cannon to be Found in the Islands of the South Pacific.

A cannon being too big to be mislaid, it is generally known what becomes of old guns. The smoothbores of the civil war are known to have been used up in soldiers' monuments and G. A. R. emblems. Condemned cannon of an earlier period now keep the peace in many coastwise towns, buried at street corners to the trunnions and presenting upward either the cascabel or the muzzle blocked with an old cannon ball shrunk in. The old forts and the military museums account for a few more. But these uses cannot account for all the big guns of the past, and the melting pot is supposed to have received the rest of this metal of war.

Much of the antique ordnance has been melted down into the pots and pans of peace, but there are very many thousands of ancient cannon scattered all over the Pacific and the East Indies. It causes the experienced island no more surprise to find ancient founders' names on the guns lying in the grass of savage towns than the trader in Africa feels at discovering still in use the muskets that served their turn in the wars of Marlborough. Some of these guns were mounted and emplaced by exploring expeditions of old, when new-found territory was calmly taken by the first comer. Such are the guns at Nukahiva and Hiva-oa which tell the tale of the time when Americans annexed the Marquesas and built up a navy in the Pacific to defend them. Such, too, are the guns at San Juan of the Ladrones, which the Manila expedition has just seized. While none of the batteries at San Juan is modern or efficient, one is conspicuously inefficient. This is a bastion so placed as to protect the old careening beach on which the galleons were hove down to make ready for the long voyage to Acapulco. These guns, richly decorated and piously dedicated, date back to the time when the whole Pacific was a Spanish lake closed to all adventurers, but the stately march of the plate galleons between Manila and Mexico. Some of the guns in this bastion are old enough to have seen service when Drake pried open the rich Pacific.

Others of these guns are pirates' loot from armed merchantmen. Of such acquisition are the many guns in the beach towns of Mindoro and Mindanao and other southern Philippines, where piracy was relinquished only when its profits vanished as the gunboats patrolled the straits. But the biggest trade in old cannon used to be carried on in the South Seas. Every whaler carried a supply as ballast bound out, and each gun was a thing of value at the islands. For a cannon and one keg of powder any savage chief was glad to equip the whaler with all the kanakas needed for boats' crews. Each chief was anxious to make a show of ordnance, and could not have too many cannon. The guns were seldom mounted; if fired at all they were loaded just as they lay haphazard on the ground, and the one object was to make a noise. The guns are still there on the islands, but the civilized races have put a taboo on powder, and it is long since the South Sea Islanders have heard the sound of their neglected artillery.

The Bravest Are the Tenderest.

That the "bravest are the tenderest" was once more demonstrated in the fight at Santiago Bay. Captain Philip of the Texas made a dash for the Spanish ships the moment they put their noses out of the harbor. When the yellow and red flag was pulled down on the Almirante Oquendo, the commander of the Texas gave the order to his men: "Don't cheer, because the poor devils are dying." The direction was as chivalrous as it was characteristic.—New York Sun.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday. September 1, 1898

The news columns are alway open to discussions of interest to it patrons, if you have anything of interest send it in we will gladly publish it for you.

Nearly every farmer in the valley will have a surplus of corn.

Montevallo will receive more cotton this year than she ever has before.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich will be retired to private life after the election.

The majority of the Alabama boys want to be mustered out but the offiicers are trying to coerce them from expressing theis opinion.

A papper is a good index to any town, where you find a dead paper you will find a dead town, and sleepy merchants.

Hon. Gaston A. Robbins, got the nomination for congress from this district. His election is assured, but to make his majority so large that a fusions will never run again, will take work, do your duty.

while the college is having water-works built we would like to see them large enough to supply the town.

A large majority of the thinking voters of all parties are in favor of a contitutional convention.

The Cemetary

We have called our readers attention to the condition of the cemetary several times although it could be worse we dont believe that the citizens will allow it to get in any worse condition. We would ask you to make a visit out there and then tell us what you think.

Teachers Iustitute

Program of Teachers Institute to be held at Columbiana Sept. 23rd and 24th 1898. Opening exercises conducted by Rev. W. I. Sinnott, at 9:30 a. m. Sept. 23rd

1st Song.
2nd Welcome address Hon. W. B. Brown.
3rd Response. Prof- J. L. Ruffin.
Music.
4th Enrollment of Teachers.
5th How should we train pupils in habits of self control J. C. Burgner. W. H, Bird.
6th Teaching primary Arithmetic. Miss Lou Ella Lyon.
7th Teaching Fraction. L. Booth Riddle.
8th Teaching Percentage. P. Wr Acton.
9th Are lady teachers better for the primary grades than gentlemen, General discussion by the Institute.
10th The evil effects of quarreling and complaining by the teachers. Miss Ophelia Galloway and M. E. Pelham,
11th Teaching language lessons. Prof. W. B. Greek.
12th Teaching Grammar. S. P. Williamson.
13th Teaching reading first, second and third grades. Miss Georgia Cromwell. H. M. Abercrombie
14th Teaching reading fourth & fifth grades. Miss Nannie Fulton. H. A. McKinnon.
Music.

Seccond Day Saturday September 24th at 9 a. m.

1st Song and prayer.
2nd Teaching Politeness and good manners. Miss Minnie Kidd.
3rd Teaching Punctuality truthfulness and honesty. Prof. C. H. Florey.
4th Ccrporal punishment in School.
5th Question Box conducted by Prof. F. Mynatt.
6th Address on Institute work John H. Mooney.
7th What are the ends of Education? Miss Lucy Smith,
8th Five minutes talks by the Teachers.

Eugene Williams,
Supt. of Education.

Aldrich Items.

No sickuess of a serious nature iu town.

Quite a number of children and adults have sore eyes. Thompson's Eye water is the cure.

Messrs Henry Farrar, John Kelley, Jim Wilcox, and Lewis Farrar of Blocton were in town on Friday last, they came over to assist at the burial of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Farrar, they returned to Blocton on the evening train. Mrs. Farrar remained with her mother Mrs. Ambrose, for a few days.

The editor of the News was in town on Saturday afternoon, his visits like Angles are few and far between.

Mr. Whitten a M. E. minister of Blocton, was in town for a hours on Friday last, he came over with the funeral party.

The mines are running regular and everybody is cheerful.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich and wife are expected to reach home about Fribay next.

On Sunday night Rev. P. L. Abernather preached a mosi enstering sermon the congregation was small but attentive.

The excursion that passed through this place Sunday consisted of nine coaches it was crowded to such an extent that numbers refused to go from this place as there was no room them, only one coach of whites the rest was negroes.

Sam Slick.

One Minute Cough Cure surprises people by its quick cures, and children may take it in large quantities without the least danger. It has won for itself the best reputation of any preparation used to-day for colds, croup, tickling in the throat or obstinate coughs. F. F. Crowe & Co.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. F. F. Crowe & Co.

When you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure, don't accept anything else. Don't be talked into accepting a substitute, for piles, for sores, for burns. F. F. Crowe & Co.

A stubborn cough or tickling in the throat yields to One Minute Cough Cure. Harmless in effect, touches the right spot, reliable and just what is wanted. It acts at once. F. F. Crowe & Co.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

DR. J. P. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, September 5, 1898.

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5 1898

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR.

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science.
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to

JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address
C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD.

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

WINE OF CARDUI

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.
REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.
J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.
C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.
C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Do you know we have a news stand in Montevallo.

Mr. S. S Dill, left Saturday for Birmingham.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter Apply at the News office.

Miss Pattie Nelson, will go to Gadson to morrow to visit her Uncle.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandergrift.

Mr. Ham, came yesterday, he will open the St. George at once.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Misses Renna and Nellie Ozley are spending this week at Spring Creek

Try a bottle of V.V. V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

Mr. G. C. Alexander, of Spring Creek, was in town Monday.

Don't forget that Morgan Bros. are the people who advertise.

Dr. Trammell, of Gurnee, was in town Wednesday.

White Mustard seed at McCluney & Co.

The News is sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. Will Lawrence. We wish him aspeedy recovery.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

A full line of spices at McCluney & Co.

H. C. & W. B. Reynolds will move in their new store at once, the shelves are being put up now.

Caraway seed at McCluney & Co.

Morgan bought the first bale of cotton of the season form I. T. Self. for five & nine sixteenth Morgan is always first.

Celery seed at McCluney & Co.

Mr. Jim West, was carried back to Tuscaloosa, Tuesday. His many friends hope's that he will make a speedy recovery.

All the popular magazines periodicals and news at McCluney & Co.

Prof. J. M. Collier President of the Brierfield Normal College, visited our santum yesterday, he says the prospects are good for the School.

News stand opened at W. B. McCluney & Co.

Rev. T. J. Beard, D. D., will conduct service, according to appontment at the Episcopal Church, next Wednesday night.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

Dr. Hally, dentist, of Selma, will be here Monday, Sept. 5th for one week. Dr. Haley has the reputation of being an up-to-date dentist.

Our line of hats are up to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros.

S. A. Latham & Co. are having their store painted.

Wanted, a position by a young man to teach music, reference furnished as to ability.
Apply to A. A. Roebuck.
Aldrich, Ala.

Mr. George Kroell's new brick store is going up as fast as the work nan be done.

Miss Carrie Norris of Russell ville is visiting Mrs. C. L. Meroney.

For broken surfaces, sores, insect bites, burns, skin diseases, and especially piles, there is one reliable remedy, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. When you call for DeWitt's don't accept counterfeits or frauds. You will not be disappointed with DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Miss Nellie Parker of Columbiana is her sister Mrs Meroney

For Sale.—We have for sale a good organ, in good order, which will be sold at about one third of origional cost.

We make gent's furnishing goods a speciality' our Globe Branb Shirt are the best in town. We have collar and ties, to please most fastidious. Morgan Bros.

Two negroes broke in Cary's commissary last Thursday night. Some clothing was stolen, but the negroes were captured at Gurnee.

Subscribe for the News.

You invite disappointment when you experiment. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick headache just as sure as you take them. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Coal will in the near future replace ice. Coal dont melt but it gets away pretty fast on a cold day.

More than twenty million free samples of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve have been distributed by the manufacturers. What better proof of their confidence in its merits do you want? It cures piles, burns, scalds, sores, in the shortest space of time. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Several of our young men will go to college this fall. Messrs. Abb Fancher and John Adams go to Marion. Messrs Henry Latham and Henry Fanchar, go to Howard

A fellow from Belle Ellen, say he want come here any more because one of our stable's sent him yallar buggy, harness and horse to take his girl to meeting. Go slow livery—man?

Truth wears well. People have learned that DeWitt's Little Early Risers are reliable little pills for regulating the bowels, curing constipation and sick headache. They don't gripe. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Prestdent H. C. Reynold and bride are at home.

The Brierfield Normal College, will open Monday, you are invited to be present.

Miss Nona Wells has returned home, from two month visit.

The miners are out on a strike at Cary mines.

Some evil person tried to ruin our press last week.

Ladies———Please
Wait and see our line of dress we have best. Suitable triming to match. Morgan Bros.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Thier will be a grand rally of the league at Aldrich Friday evening at 8 o'clock, all are cordially invited to attend.

They have stolen the editors scissors
They have tried to muzzle the press
But somebody give us a barlow knife
And the paper comes out, I guess!

NOTICE.

I would like to swap or sell 80 acres of land for 20 acres of land with a good house on it. Said land is four miles from Montevallo, in a good neighborhood, and near two churches. There are 35 acres cleared and 45 in timber, all lying level. There is lasting water on the place. Within one-half mile of Dogwood station. For further particulars, apply at the New office, or address J. A. Roebuck, Montevallo, Ala.

A HINT

To Our New Judge.

In the north western part of a certain county lives a well known Irish magistrate, a man of liberal education and a full quota of Irish wit. A short time ago, Jim and Bet, a colored pair, called upon the 'squire to be united for the bettar or for worse. Having been notified of their coming, the 'squire prepared and actually used the following ceremony.

Jim will you take Bet,
Without any regret,
To love and cherish,
Till one of you perish,
And laid under the sod,
So help you God!

Being answered in the affirmative by Jim the ,squire turned to Bet and said:

Bet will you take Jim,
And cling to him,
Both out and in,
Through thick and thin,
Holding him to your heart,
Till death do you part?

Bet ocquiesced by a modest bow of the head, and the happy pair were dismissed in following words:

Through lifes alternate joy and strife,
I now pronounce you man and wife;
Co up lifes road till you get to the level,
And salute your bride you ugly black devil!

JOB PRINTING.

LETTER-HEADS,
NOTE-HEADS,
BILL-HEADS,
STATEMENTS,
CIRCULARS,
ENVELOPES,
CARDS, Etc.,
Done in first-class style on short notice, at the

NEWS : OFFICE.

for information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

This Settles It.

"Dewey Merritt the Philippines?"
"I rather guess we do.
The Luzon player pays the score.
We'll take those islands, too.

The Enormous Gold Product of 1898.

This will be the greatest gold year in history. From South Africa, the Klondike and Australia the precious metal is being shipped in large quantities. It is believed that this year's output will be nearly double that of any previous twelve months. The sales of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are also increasing very fast, and this year that famous remedy will cure more people of dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, nervousness and weakness than ever before.

A Teplitz woman of 99 has committed suicide because she did not want to live 100 years.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Five is said to be the great sacred Chinese number.

Warm Weather

Weakness is quickly overcome by the toning and blood enriching qualities of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine cures that tired feeling almost as quickly as the sun dispels the morning mist. It also cures pimples, boils, salt rheum, scrofula and all other troubles originating in bad, impure blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, indigestion.

The Origin of Blue Blood.

After the Moors were driven out of Spain the aristocracy of Spain was held to consist of those who traced their lineage back to the time before the Moorish conquest. These people were whiter than those who had been mixed with Moorish blood. The veins upon their hands were blue, while the blood of the masses, contaminated by the Moorish infusion, showed black upon their hands and faces. So the white Spaniards came to declare that their blood was "blue," while that of the common people was black. The phrase passed to France, where it had no such significance, and thence came to England and America. It is now used arbitrarily to designate old aristocracy or families proud of their ancestry.—New York Tribune.

In Illinois during the past year 118 coal mines were abandoned and 79 mines opened.

COULD NOT SLEEP.

Mrs. Pinkham Relieved Her of All Her Troubles.

Mrs. MADGE BABCOCK, 176 Second St., Grand Rapids, Mich., had ovarian trouble with its attendant aches and pains, now she is well. Here are her own words:

"Your Vegetable Compound has made me feel like a new person. Before I began taking it I was all run down, felt tired and sleepy most of the time, had pains in my back and side, and such terrible headaches all the time, and could not sleep well nights. I also had ovarian trouble. Through the advice of a friend I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and since taking it all troubles have gone. My monthly sickness used to be so painful, but have not had the slightest pain since taking your medicine. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too much. My husband and friends see such a change in me. I look so much better and have some color in my face."

Mrs. Pinkham invites women who are ill to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is freely offered.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Up-to-Date Jokes and Witticisms From the Comic Papers.

AN ARCTIC EXPLORER.

I am a man of iron will
And perfect fearlessness;
I set out boldly toward my goal,
Resolved to win success.
That goal which no man yet has reached
Of all who dared to start,
The coldest spot in all the earth—
I mean Clorinda's heart.

All schemes that mortal could devise
I summoned to my aid;
For years, o'er every obstacle
I triumphed undismayed.
But, though right manfully and well
I strove to do my part,
The ice I found impassable
Around Clorinda's heart.

A NAPOLEON OF FINANCE.

"I don't see what you accomplish by borrowing money from Jones to pay what you owe Brown."

"Well, you are stupid; in about a month I can borrow from Brown again and pay Jones."

A SAGE SUGGESTION.

Early Ryser—Why don't you leave the matchsafe in one place two consecutive times? Every morning I waste five minutes groping for it.

Mrs. Ryser (sleepily from under the bed-clothes)—How do you expect to find anything in the dark? Why don't you strike a light?

RECOMPENSE.

"I deceived you about one thing," murmured the new wife to her husband, "I am older than I told you."

"Don't mention it, my angel. I find that your fortune is fully twice as large as I had supposed."

A BUSY MAN.

"I've been busy all mornin'," remarked Meandering Mike, as Wandering William came up.

"You've been busy, have you?" was the incredulous reply. "What doin' ?"

"Restin'."

THERE ARE EXCEPTIONS.

Billings—A man never learns to really know his wife until after they are married, no matter how long they may have been engaged.

Darrow—You're wrong there. Sometimes the girls have little brothers.

A DIAGNOSIS.

The scorcher who thinks of nothing but his bicycle caught a cold which left him with a very sore throat. He decided to see a physician.

"Well," said the doctor, cheerily, "what seems to be the matter?"

"I can't say exactly," was the reply in a heavy whisper. "But it feels and sounds as if I had a puncture in my inner tube."

RETROGRESSIVE RECKONINGS.

Miss Gambrel—Isn't it funny? Lucy and I are always forgetting our ages.

Visitor—You ought to put them down.

Miss Gambrel (absent-mindedly)—Yes; we did cut them down several times, and probably that's the reason we forget them.

HOW MARY REMEMBERED.

Miss Belle—Mary, remember I am at home to none except Mr. Vere Brownskins this afternoon.

Mary (half an hour later)—I've told four gentlemen callers that you're at home to none except Mr. Vere Brownskins, and they all went away very angry, indeed, miss.

HIS FIRST SCORE.

Magistrate—"You have not been convicted before?"

Prisoner—"No, sir."

Magistrate—"Then you are going to be."

(Proceeds to adjust his spectacles.)

A NICE DISTINCTION.

Wife (reading letter)—Who do you think is coming to pay us a visit?

Husband—Who?

Wife—My mother.

Husband—That will be a visitation.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Mother—What is the matter, Clara? You look distressed.

Clara (a bride)—George has—has had to go off on a trip, and he won't be back for—for two days—boo-hoo!

Same Mother (some years later)—How long will your husband be away?

Same Clara—I forgot to ask.

LIVED TO GRUMBLE.

The deaf man got out of the tram car on to the other line of rails. "Look out! There's a car coming!" said the conductor.

"What?" said the deaf man.

"There's a car coming."

"What?"

The car caught and knocked down the deaf man, and as he picked himself up he said:

"I wonder what that fool kept me there talking about."

THE FIRST SNAP.

"I can see no reason," said the serious-minded boarder, "for your assumption that Adam was a politician."

"Only this," said Asbury Peppers. "He didn't have to go to work until he lost his position."

A HARASSING SERIAL STORY.

Louise.—I've fixed Kitty so she will answer my letter at once.

Belle.—What did you do?

Louise.—I wrote her a lot of gossip and forgot to send the middle pages

HORSELESS.

Hicks: Talking about horseless carriages, we've got one up at our place.

Wicks: That so? Say, I should like to have a ride in it.

Hicks: You can.

Wicks: All right. I'll come up this afternoon.

Hicks: Not to-day. You'll have to wait, you know, till we have bought a horse.

UP-TO-DATE MEDICAL TREATMENT.

Brimble—What kind of a doctor is Sizumep, anyway? Why, he didn't even feel of my pulse.

Gorble—That's all right. Physicians nowadays do not trouble themselves so much about the condition of the patient's pulse as about the condition of his pocketbook.

MISTAKES OF AN AMATEUR DIPLOMAT.

"If I were a single man," said Willikins, "I'd go to war in a minute."

"Am I to understand, then," Mrs. Willikins angrily retorted, "that you are sorry you married me?"

"Not at all," he answered, thinking to pacify her. "I'm glad I married you. Otherwise I wouldn't have any excuse for remaining at home."

"George Willikins," she exclaimed, "if I am to be regarded as simply an excuse for keeping you out of danger, the sooner you shoulder a musket and go the better it will be for both of us."

Brothers Meet in the Army.

Sergeant Reuther of the Reading Artillerists, writes from Chickamauga to a friend in Reading, Penn., as follows:

"Private Francis Hartman and a few others were at cards, and among the onlookers was a stranger. He heard one of the boys address Hartman. The stranger said his name was Hartman, too, and wanted to know where our Hartman was from, and was informed that we were all from Reading. The stranger then said that he had an uncle living in Reading named Henry Hartman. Private Hartman said that he was his uncle also. He then wanted to know who his parents were. When told he exclaimed: 'Then we are brothers!' It was a happy reunion. They had not seen one another in eighteen years. The missing man had been fighting Indians in the regular army in the West, not having written a line to any one since he left."—New York Sun.

The first permanent military force in England was the King's guard of yeomen, established in 1486.

Nearly all the bread eaten by the Chinese is first boiled and then browned by baking.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Sixty children exhibited in Berlin never touched other nutriment than vegetarian.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

A part of a forest tree was converted into printed paper in Germany inside of 3 hours.

Eczema, Itching Humors,

Torturing, disfiguring eczema, and every species of itching, burning, scaly, crusted and pimply skin and scalp diseases indicate bad condition of blood. Above diseases and symptoms permanently cured by using B. B. B. For sale by all druggists. Large bottle $1.00. Send for book, free. Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco stands unrivalled for purity and flavor. Made from the purest, ripest and sweetest Tobacco. It will please you. Try it

Piso's Cure for Consumption has no equal as a Cough medicine.—F. M. ABBOTT, 383 Seneca St., Buffalo, N. Y., May 9, 1894.

The West Indian migratory crab passes its life after maturity on land.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Out of thirty recognized coaling stations in the Pacific Great Britain controls twelve.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

ST. ANDREWS S*COLD TEA

For the Liver

Cures Constipation

VIRGINIA BUSINESS COLLEGE.
Commercial, Shorthand, Typewriting, English. $50 tuition admits to all departments for session of forty-two weeks. Open to both sexes. Graduates assisted to positions. Eleventh session begins September 6th. Catalogue free. R. A. DAVIS, JR., President, Box 18, Richmond, Va.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

The Esquimau's "Huskie."

The wild dog, influenced at all by association with man, is typical of nothing but the wolf, and in the circumpolar ice he is found in numbers roving over the fields of snow and ice, frequently in company with the wolves. The Esquimaux have taken these wild creatures, and by a rude process of selection and training, they have developed the "huskie," a colloquial abbreviation of the word Esquimau. These animals represent a type of dog but little removed from the wolf—hardy, vicious, swift of foot and keen of eye. They have been trained to haul sledge loads of goods across the snow and ice, and this comes as natural to them now as for a pointer to point. They possess the blood of the wolf, however, in their veins—the taint of the jackal. At the first opportunity they will run away and join the wild dogs and deteriorate rapidly in their company. Throughout the great Northwest it is hard work to make up a full team of strictly pure huskies. The leader of a team is invariably a trustworthy huskie, but harnessed behind him will be one or more wild creatures that are kept in harness only through the moral influence of the others.—North American Review.

What Two Flags Represent.

England's national flag has been called "a triplet of crosses," for it is composed of the cross of St. George, the cross of St. Andrew, and the cross of St. Patrick. Thus: The flag of "St. George for merrie England," a red cross on a white ground, the red lines drawn straight from top to bottom, and from side to side; the flag of St. Andrew for Scotland, a white cross on a blue ground; the flag of St. Patrick for Ireland, a red cross on a white ground, the narrow red lines drawn from corner to corner. By placing the cross of St. George on that of St. Andrew we have "the Jack," as ordered in 1606 by James I, whose signature was always "Jacques;" hence the expression, "the Jack." By laying the cross of St. Patrick over that of St. Andrew and then placing that of St. George over both, we have "the Union Jack," as borne since the union with Ireland in 1800. An eloquent Canadian writer finds that the American flag and the English flag wave together with singular beauty and harmony, "the one proclaiming the starry heavens, symbolical of God's infinite power—the other emblematic of his greatest work, the redemption of mankind.

The Origin of Blue Blood.

After the Moors were driven out of Spain the aristocracy of Spain was held to consist of those who traced their lineage back to the time before the Moorish conquest. These people were whiter than those who had been mixed with Moorish blood. The veins upon their hands were blue, while the blood of the masses, contaminated by the Moorish infusion, showed black upon their hands and faces. So the white Spaniards came to declare that their blood was "blue," while that of the common people was black. The phrase passed to France, where it had no such significance, and thence came to England and America. It is now used arbitrarily to designate old aristocracy or families proud of their ancestry.—New York Tribune.

A Folding Megaphone.

The megaphone has come into almost universal use at athletic and aquatic races and contests because it enables the judges and other officers to make announcements that can be heard all over the field. Its adoption has been somewhat hampered by the size of the instrument, which is too bulky to be conveniently transported, but this has been overcome by making them collapsible like the drinking cup made for travellers and picnickers. The folding megaphone is made in sections, one filtering in the other, and when not in use the horn collapses into a package about the size of a hat box.

There was a striking clock in Westminster Abbey in 1638.

The Bravest Are the Tenderest.

That the "bravest are the tenderest" was once more demonstrated in the fight at Santiago Bay. Captain Philip of the Texas made a dash for the Spanish ships the moment they put their noses out of the harbor. When the yellow and red flag was pulled down on the Almirante Oquendo, the commander of the Texas gave the order to his men: "Don't cheer, because the poor devils are dying." The direction was as chivalrous as it was characteristic.—New York Sun.

If you insist upon knowing, there are two reasons for my refusing you." "And they are?" "Yourself and another man."—Life.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

A Tennessee veteran, after reading the advise to soldiers to bathe only in boiled water, says that when he was with the column that headed John Morgan off from Buffington Ford he could not take off his clothes for 16 days.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Of thirty-five flags shown in a flags of all nations supplement to a London weekly in 1858, barely forty years ago, eleven have disappeared.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

France is about to undertake the improvement of the catacombs in Paris.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

It has been calculated that the maximum life of a pine tree is from 500 to 700 years.

A BUGGY THAT COSTS $1 TO $5.

More than the cheap, trashy kind is worth all it costs and more too. That little amount pays the extra cost of good wheels, good axles, good paint, good leather, &c. "ROCK HILL" Buggies "A Little Higher in Price But——" worth more because they STAND UP and keep away from the shop. See our agent in your town or write us.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S.C.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

HEAD ACHE

"Both my wife and myself have been using CASCARETS and they are the best medicine we have ever had in the house. Last week my wife was frantic with headache for two days, she tried some of your CASCARETS, and they relieved the pain in her head almost immediately. We both recommend Cascarets."
CHAS. STEDEFORD,
Pittsburg Safe & Deposit Co., Pittsburg, Pa.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good, Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe, 10c, 25c, 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 317

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

WE SELL DIRECT TO CONSUMERS.

$3.95

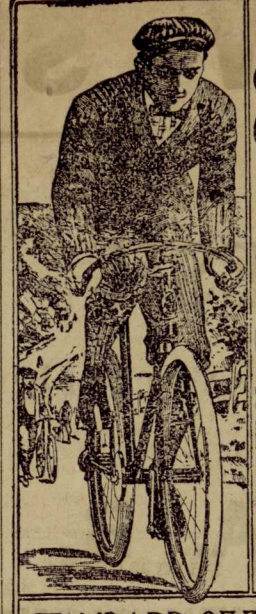
buys this Desk, made of quarter-sawed oak or finished in mahogany, piano-polished. It measures 53 in. high, 29 in. wide, 9 in. beveled mirror. Retail price $10.

Our mammoth general catalogue, the great household educator is mailed free on request. Our Clothing catalogue and Cloth samples is also mailed free. Expressage paid on all Clothing.

Owing to an overproduction at our Baltimore mills, we are offering many specials this month. Our Carpet catalogue in hand-painted colors is yours for the asking. This month we sew Carpets, furnish wadded lining free, and pay freight on all $9 Carpet purchases and over. Address (exactly as below)

CARPETS REDUCED.

Julius Hines & Son
Dept. 301. BALTIMORE, MD.



THE COLUMBIA CHAINLESS MAKES HILL CLIMBING EASY

COLUMBIAS ARE STANDARD FOR CHAIN MACHINES.
HARTFORDS Next Best.
Other Models at Low Prices.
Catalogue Free.

STANDARD OF THE WORLD
POPE MFG CO. HARTFORD, CONN.
ART CATALOGUE OF COLUMBIA BICYCLES BY MAIL TO ANY ADDRESS FOR ONE TWO CENT STAMP.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING
"Our Native Herbs"
THE GREAT
Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.
200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.
Containing a Registered Guarantee.
By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for
THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., NewYork, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-33

GIN REPAIRS
SAWS, RIBS,
BRISTLE TWINE, BABBIT, &c.,
FOR ANY MAKE OF GIN.
ENGINES, BOILERS AND PRESSES
And Repairs for same. Shafting, Pulleys, Belting, Injectors, Pipes, Valves and Fittings.
LOMBARD IRON WORKS & SUPPLY CO.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

SPRING HILL COLLEGE, near Mobile, Alabama.
Boarding College conducted by the Jesuit Fathers. Preparatory, Commercial and Classical Courses. Large gymnasium, running track, etc. Climate exceptionally healthy. Address REV. M. MOYNIHAN, S.J., President.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

CURES EFFECTED BY Gerstle's Female Panacea.

One Bottle Cured Where Physician Failed.
I sold your GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA (G. F. P.) to a young lady customer whom our physician had given up as hopeless, and told her if it did her no good she need not pay for it. After taking one bottle she was entirely cured and has been in good health ever since.
Moore's Bridge, Ala. J. R. GILLILAND.

If there is any Costiveness, use St. Joseph's Liver Regulator until the Bowels become regular. Get it from your druggist, or send us 25 cents and we will send you a package, prepaid.

Health Restored.
I was weak and in very bad health and unable to do my work. I used one bottle of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA (G. F. P.) and it did me more good than anything I ever used. I am now in good health and can do my work.
MRS. S. E. CHANDLER.
Gin, Ark.

Suffered from Change of Life.
My wife was sick for seven years, suffering from the Change of Life. We tried everything we could get from the doctors and paid out a considerable sum for treatment without any good result. We then began using GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA (G. F. P.) and it did more good than all else we had used for six years. It is the greatest remedy for suffering females ever placed on the market. J. D. BORDEN, Colmesneil, Tex.

If your druggist does not keep it, send us $1.00 and will send you a bottle, all charges paid. L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.

6% GOLD BONDS,

Payable semi-annually at the Globe Trust Company, Chicago, Ill.

These bonds are a first mortgage upon the entire plant, including buildings, land and other property of an Industrial Company located close to Chicago.

The Company has been established for many years, is well known and doing a large and increasing business.

The officers of the Company are men of high reputation, esteemed for their honesty and business ability. They have made so great a success of this business that the bonds of this Company are rarely ever offered for sale.

A few of these bonds came into our hands during the hard times from parties who had purchased them several years ago. We offer them in issues of $100.00 each for $80.00 and accrued interest.

For security and a large interest rate these Industrial Bonds are recommended as being among the best.

First-class bonds and securities of all kinds bought and sold.

KENDALL & WHITLOCK, BANKERS AND BROKERS,
52 Exchange Place, New York.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

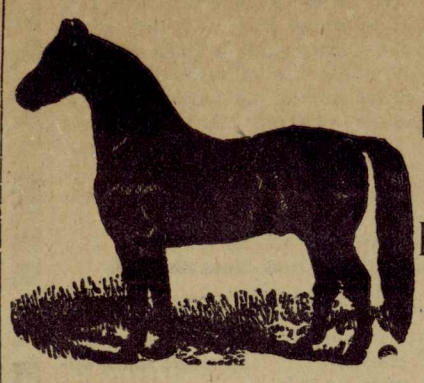
YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

☞Office at Store. Manager-

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked:

"Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some druggists—FOR FIVE CENTS. The low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (FORTY-EIGHT TABULES) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

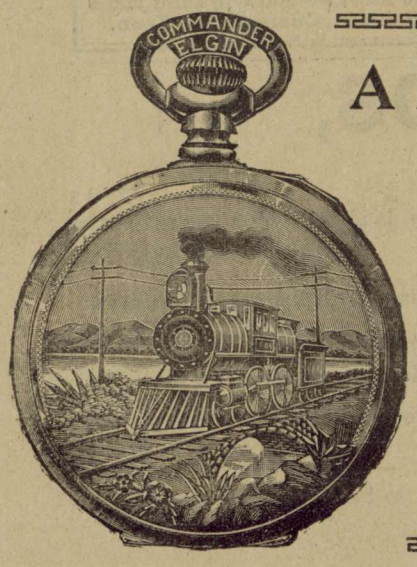
Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.



A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, '98. NO. 35

WRITE IT.

Write it on the workhouse gate,
Write it on the schoolboys slate,
Write it on the copybook,
That the young may often look,
"Where there's drink there's danger"

Write it on the churchyard mound,
Where the rum-slain dead are found
Write it on the gallows high,
Write it for all the passers-by,
"Where there's drink there's danger."

Write in the nation's laws,
Blotting out the license clause;
Write it on each ballot white,
So it can be read aright,
"Where there's drink, there's danger"

Write it on our ships that sail,
Borne aloung by storm and gale;
Write it large in letters plain,
Over every land and main,
"Where there's drink, there's danger"

Write it over every gate
On the church and halls of state,
In the hearts of every band,
On the laws of every land,
"Where there's drink there's danger"

Miss Frances E. Willard.

Philippine Possibilities.

The possibilities of the Philippine islands under proper management is a subject of interesting and timely speculation, particularly on the part of those who believe that the easiest way ont of our present difficulties is the retention of the island.

That Spain has always failed in colonial management is of course, notorious. The worlds history seemes to bear out the contention that how ever brave, however brain however brilliant the Latins may be they lack the excutive ability requisite to the management and proper development of colonial possession. This is certainly true of the Spanish; the Italians and the French have done little better. While Porto Rico shows less evidence of Spanish mismanagement and misrule, Cuba and the Philippines, not to mention the long list of colonies which have gone from her before this, rise to demonstrate the truth of all that has been said of Spsnish lack of executive ability.

The English have demonstrated that the Anglo-Saxon does possess this ability. Their splendid success as colonizers, in the modern acceptation of the term has led the world to believe that they alone possess that ability. We believe that the Americans is just as able to carry through what he may undertake in this line or in any other as his English brother, but whether the possessiou of colonies is for the better or for the worse is another question.

There are, however, other colonizers besides the English—other highly successful colonizers. The New York Sun calls attention to this fact in its oomparison of the present condition of the Philippines with that of their next door neighbor, Java which belongs to Holland. In answering its question, Why should not the Philippine islands be as prosperous as their great sister island Java? The Sun says:

the man

who wants good clothing should see our stock,
we have the best in montevallo.

..Morgan:-: Bros..

Leaders in Low Prices!

"Java has no natural advantage that is lacking in the Philippine. In point of climate the Philippine are more favorably situated, for they are from five to twelve degrees futher from the equator. It is well known that Europeans have been more easily acclimated in the Philippines than in Java. In all their Malayan possession the Dutch have never numbered more than 50,000 to 60,000 souls. The Spaniards have lived in greater safety in the climate of their more northern islands; and yet the Philippine group for the most part, is still a wilderness, with a comparatively scant population, like that of most wholly uncivilized lands, while Java is called the Pearl of the East and is the best cultivated and most densely peopled island in the world."

The reason for this The Sun believes is that the Dutch have the genius for colonization, while the Spauish not. The Spanish idea of profiting by the Philippiue has been to exact onerous customs duties at a few large ports and to grind down the native population by placing upon them the hesvist taxes that Spanish ingenuity could conceive. On the other hand, the Dutch have profited by developing all the resources of the island under their control, turning every acre to the best possible account. The picture The Suu draws of the contrast is interesting.

The philipbine have more than twice the area of Java, and are naturally just as rich as the Dutch island. But what a contrast between them! Iu Java schools are supported by the government for the education of the natives, while in the Philippines it has been practically a crime for a native to acquire an education. In the Philippines no rail or wagon roads have been constructed except in the environs of Manila, while Java gridironed with good country road and its railroads would extend fron New York half way to San Francisco. There being no means of transportation in the Philippines it has been impossible to develop agriculture, mining, and other industries except in the neighborhood of the sea. The result is that the greater part of their land is still a virgin wilderness, while Java, from end to end is one great garden with its thousands of rice, sugarcane and tobacco fields in the lowlands, it its coffee trees at the middle heights and tea plantation above them. In Java no distinctiou is made between trade with the Netherlands and foreign countries while it was the policy of Spain to keep the philippines solely as as a Spanish preserve until pressure she could not resist compelled her to open the ports one by one, to foreign trade.

The advices received from our men sent down there seemed to indicate that much that has been said against the climatic condition has been over stated, for they do not seem to be even so bad as at Porto Rico. There are many other evidences to bear out the contentson of the annexationists that to furnish proper government for the island, to give them adequate protection and to develop them into a garden of wealth like Java would not be an altogether difficult undertaking.

That the Philippines have never been given such treatment as would develop their wealth, is evident. The Sun thinks:

The 8,000,000 Filipinos have never had a chance to reach Java's stage of development. Their opportunity is only just beginning to appear. With humane and good government and practical business sense in the conduct of its affairs, the archipelago will uedergo, in the next twenty years, a transformation such as no Oriental country except Japan has ever seen in so short atime.

Perhaps this is true. If so has this nation, having taken those people from under the Spsnish yoke, the moral right to cast them again into the darkness and hopeleness that Spanish rule entails?

It is an interesting problem.

A stubborn cough or tickling in the throat yields to One Minute Cough Cure. Harmless in effect, touches the right spot, reliable and just what is wanted. It acts at once. F. F. Crowe & Co.

IN THE LANE.

By Victor Grey.

Through the lane the setting sunlight
Falls in misty, golden showers,
Tinting with its shimmering lances
All the little, nodding flowers,
Shining 'mid the emerald foliage,
Where the birdies, blithely singing,
Fill the woodlands all about us
With a sweet and joyous ringing.

Don't you love this lane, my darling?
When I think of those sweet hours
We have spent within its cloisters,
'Neath its trees and 'mid its flowers,
Every blade of grass grows dearer—
Every tiny fragrant flower
Seems to bring, in swift succession,
Memories of some happy hour.

Here it was we met, my darling,
On that blissful, sunlit morning,
When the woodland's robe of emerald,
Fringed with summer's fair adorning,
Gleamed with shimmering diamond dewdrops,
And the birds were blithely trilling
Happy lays—sweet morning carols—
All the woods with rapture thrilling.

Here, within its dusky shadows,
Sauntering down the lane together,
Love around us cast his fetters—
Fetters that would bind forever.
Here it was I told my story,
And, my happy answer guessing,
Held you in my arms a moment,
Sweet, red lips the while caressing.

There we had our lovers' quarrel,
'Mid those clumps of fragrant clover;
Here it was we grew repentant—
Begged forgiveness o'er and o'er;
Then I kissed your cheeks' soft roses,
And your eyes with teardrops shining,
Not content until your ringlets
On my heart were safe reclining.

Yes, I love this lane, my darling,
With its fringe of wildwood flowers—
Love it for the joy that crowned me
In those happy, happy hours;
For, though years since then have vanished—
Youth's fair bloom is ours no longer—
Still our hearts as one are beating,
And our love each day grows stronger.

A Terrible Moment.

Yes, terrible—that is just what it was. I shall never forget it, even should I live to one of those wondrous ages at times recorded in the papers. Moreover, it was not a thing for a man to forget. Many events may slip from our mind, but never that moment when we stand on the brink of the grave, brought thither by the probability of an awful death.

It happened in this way. I had been in Australia for about five years, during which time I had amassed a tolerable fortune, when I began to long to see the old country again—a desire considerably strengthened by the fact that the girl I loved, and who had consented to be my wife, was going to England, and I could not bear the thought of such an extent of ocean between us; so I determined to go too, and let our marriage take place there.

May Brodstone was the only daughter of a well-to-do squatter, and the prettiest, nicest girl for miles round the station, though, until I had become acquainted with her, rather fond of a bit of girlish flirtation. This was the worse for me, as it turned out.

Among her many admirers was one Jacob Kiel. Dark-haired, dark-eyed, dark-complexioned, he was of that class of men who feel strongly, and who never forget an injury—like wild cats, they are nasty customers to offend. Well, May, I fear, had flirted somewhat with Jacob Kiel, who, I really believe, loved the very ground she walked on, though she declared—and I knew it was true—that she had never given him the slightest hope.

It was about this time that I appeared upon the scene; and she discovered that she had found the right man, as I had found the right girl. May Brodstone instantly gave up all her admirers, was as steady and quiet as a gun-tree when no wind blows, and finally said the "Yes" upon which my happiness depended.

Old Mr. Brodstone knew that the match would be a good one, and readily gave his consent, so that our engagement was soon made public. I was present when the news reached Jacob Kiel. I shall never forget his face. His lips were compressed, his dark eyes contracted; he looked from May to me, and I felt if he could he would do much mischief. Without a syllable he quitted the place. A strange sensation ran through me as he departed; and May told me that a cold shudder had run through her veins.

We did not see much of Kiel after this, though we knew he was often about the station on business; but the man somehow threw a kind of shadow over May's and my happiness, and we were not at all sorry when we got on board the steamer and steamed off towards Old England. We had not, however, got cleverly out of sight of land when May, giving a little cry, put her had on my arm, and, slightly nodding her head towards the lower deck, said,—

"Oh, Edward, look—he is here too!"

And so he was. Leaning quietly over the side, watching the land apparently, was Jacob Kiel—a passenger for England, like ourselves. I will own that I was considerably annoyed, though when May, drawing neaner, exclaimed, in a low, startled voice, "Edward dear, I don't know how it is, but I dread that man—I cannot divest my mind of the thought that he means us harm," I laughed, and tried to banish so absurd an idea. And certainly it appeared I had every right to do so. Save by a casual interchange of a few words, Kiel never troubled us; and we were making a capital journey, when, just as we were within twenty degrees of the line, we were struck by a hurricane which the captain declared was almost a cyclone in violence.

The vessel could not weather it. The masts crashed overboard, taking several of the crew with them, and, before the wreck could be cut adrift, a portion of the broken spars, dashing against the ship, had caused a leak below the water-line, and the cry was,—

"We are sinking! Lower the boats—the pumps are useless!"

The captain was marvellously firm and cool, and by his example made us all the same.

The boats were rapidly lowered and filled, while, thank Heaven, the storm seemed to abate. The women went first, of course, and all who proceeding well, when, just as the last boat was being filled, I remembered that in my hurry I had left my mother's miniature in my chest. There was plenty of time to fetch it, and in a second I was down in the cabin. Flinging the lid open, my hand was already upon the likneses, when I heard a foot upon the stairs. I turned, and by the dim light yet swinging from the roof perceived Jacob Kiel.

Good Heavens! The diabolical expression on his face, the fiendish malice in his dark, snake-like eyes, revealed his intention in a moment. He had come to do me some deadly harm. Leaping up, I seized my revolver, to be on my guard; but an attack was not his purpose. Before I could prevent him, he had quickly closed the cabin door, and locked it on the outside.

Like a flash of lightning all the horrors of my situation instantly flashed before me. I was a prisoner in the sinking ship! Uttering a loud shout of fury, I sprang forward; the cry was echoed by a laugh from Jacob Kiel. I heard him say, "Who will marry May Brodstone now?" and then his feet went rapidly up the stairs.

I called aloud for help; the uproar of the storm drowned my voice. I paused. Just then the wind lulled, and I heard an order to push off; the speaker was Jacob Kiel. I again shouted in my agony; but my voice and the wind rose together—I was not heard. I continued to shout like a madman, though I knew that all hope was gone—that I was alone, like a trapped rat, in the sinking ship.

Furiously I beat the door, all the while painfully conscious that rescue was impossible and death certain, for it was night, and, as no dought the storm would separate the boats, my absence would not be discovered until the vessel had foundered.

Could I expect aught else, when in the occasional lull of the hurricane I heard the rush of the deadly waters in the hold, and felt the ship lurch more heavily each moment as she plunged in the trough of the sea? Suddenly she gave a terrific heel over, and a wave came rattling down the companion ladder like thunder, rushed under the door and inundated the cabin.

I shrieked in agony, believing that all was over—that I was to die thus, not even with the chance of battling for life.

I felt that I could meet death calmly if I were on deck, with the heavens above me; but my very hair stirred at the thought of being buried in the sea as it were in a box. Was there really no way of escape? I looked round and gave a great cry of joy, leaped forward, careless now that the water mounted higher and higher.

"Fool! Idiot!" I exclaimed. "You are your own murderer!"

My eyes had rested upon my revolver. In a second I had fired two of its barrels into the lock of the door, shivering it to atoms, and the next minute I was upon the deck—only just in time, for the vessel was settling fast. It would have settled long before, but that the storm had abated.

With a wild hope I looked for the boats. Near or far all was alike—darkness hid the waters. But, having succeeded so far, I resolved not to despair. One by one I discharged the remaining barrels of my revolver, and then plunged into the sea, to swim as far as I could from the ship before it sank, hoping that I should find some pieces of wreck. I did so before I had proceeded far—a mast, with cordage attached. This helped me; for, after lashing myself to the mast as well as I could, the waves bore me away. Suddenly, however, a fearful rush of water seized me. I was drawn rapidly back, and then down as in a whirlpool—flung, it seemed, here, there and everywhere—after which I remembered no more. When I came to, I was in one of the boats, with May Brodstone leaning over me.

It appeared that directly morning dawned the boats were called together, and the captain went over the names, when mine was found missing; upon which he had resolved to row back, and see if he could not find me, urged thereto by many of his companions, who wondered—as did not Jacob Kiel—what could have prevented my getting into one of the boats.

The sea was nearly calm, the sun shining, and their search was not difficult. They soon perceived a dark object. Approaching it, they found it to be myself, clinging like grim death to the wreck, but laughing and yelling like a maniac. In fact, I was mad, and for some time after they managed to get me into the boat I remained so; then I became calmer, though I was delirious for a whole day and night.

Directly sensibility returned I told my story, filling every one with horror, especially May Brodstone.

"I see it all!" exclaimed the captain. "The villain! Last night our boats separated in the darkness; this morning the one bearing Jacob Kiel and the worst of the crew was missing. He has either steered the boat into a different track, or paid the fellows to desert us, fearful of the punishment that might have awaited him when we touched land."

Whether this was so I do not know, for we never heard of Jacob Kiel again.

That day we were picked up by one of Green's ships, homeward bound, and in due time were landed in England, where May and I were married, and where we now reside; for my wife will not hear of crossing the ocean again, as she cannot forget—that most terrible moment of my life.

He Turned the Wheel.

A certain eminent professor who had spent nearly the whole of his life in the classic shades of learning, and was about a century behind the times in everyday matters, came up to London last summer to attend some royal society or other, and put up at a well-known hotel not far from Charing Cross.

In the night he was taken with a violent thirst. He would have made a raid upon the water supplied in his bedroom decanter, but his knowledge on such matters warned him it was dangerous to touch water that had been standing in a room.

Therefore he slipped on his trousers and started out on a memorable expedition to find some water in a filter.

In the hall, opposite the top of the stairs, he found a filter, a new-fashioned filter, though, such as he had never seen before. Instead of a glass or cup there was a neat little rubber hose with a nicely polished nozzle.

"There," said the professor to himself, "now that's what I call a really sensible idea. I had no notion that anything so delightfully simple existed. I'll have one of these fixed at home. Get the water direct without disarranging one's mustache, too. I wonder how the thing works."

Presidently his eye fell upon the printed direction, which told him to turn the wheel on the top as far as it would go.

"Ah, that's it," said the professor, and he placed the nozzle in his mouth and turned the wheel.

When the professor came to he found himself one stage lower on the stairs. At least his head was there and his feet were one or two steps higher. The professor sat up.

"Did that on my back," he muttered, rubbing vigorously in several places.

Through the balustrading he saw a crowd of boys, porters, housemaids and half-dressed visitors standing around the filter." The professor heard the manager call from his room:

"What's the matter there?"

"Oh, some idiot has turned on the fire hydrant."

Then the professor scrambled to his feet and crept up to his room, without participating in the general inquiry as to who that idiot might be.—Answers.

Just What He Wanted.

One of the first men to reach San Francisco with a hoard of Klondike gold was an Irishman named Finnegan, who had been very poor before he struck it rich, and who, consequently, was unfamiliar with many ordinary usages of a life of luxury.

"Oi say, yez kin bring me two dozen eyesters," he said, airily, as he took a seat in one of the finest restaurants in 'Frisco.

The oysters were soon set before him, and Finnegan, looking about him for something to put on them, and hardly knowing what the something should be, spied a bottle of Tabasco, and proceeded to season the bivalves not wisely but too well.

Impaling an oyster upon his fork, he thrust it into his mouth, then leaped to his feet with a terrific roar of pain, and began dancing about and yelling like a madman.

"See here!" cried the proprietor, rushing to the table, "keep still, or I'll put you out!"

"P-p-put mè out, is it? Oi wish yez would put me out!" yelled Finnegan. "Me insides is blazin' loike a match-factory!"—Harper's Magazine.

The Kind of Power Used.

"The statement that General Hampton lost a leg in the war reminds us of a little story," says the Montgomery Advertiser. "In the days before the war there was a hotel on top of Stone Mountain, in Georgia, and the water for use of the guests was raised by a force pump from below. A Northern traveler who knew something of the use of hydraulic rams accosted the landlord with: 'This is fine water, landlord; is it raised by a ram?' 'Ram, thunder!' snorted the landlord, 'it's a blamed big mule!' And that's the way Wade Hampton lost a leg."

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

Good Country Roads.

"The great secret of success in road-making and road-keeping is to drain the roads, and keep the roads drained by keeping the ditches open," writes John Gilmer Speed on "How to Have Good Country Roads," in the Ladies' Home Journal, "The old method was to run a plow through the side ditches and throw the disturbed soil, sod and all, in the middle of the road. There it would stay till a heavy rain came to wash this soil back into the ditches and fill them up again. If there were money enough this kind of thing would be done over and over again, as often as four times in a year. Where there were wet spots broken stone or gravel would be placed in the road and left for the passing wagons to wear this metal into ruts. The money spent was absolutely thrown away.

"By the new process all the road-mender needs to do is to provide ditches and outlets for them, and then so shape the road that the water falling in a rainstorm will run off at once into the ditches. The water must not be suffered to run in the road, but off the road. The rainfall, being thus simply and effectively disposed of, becomes a most beneficial instead of a destructive agent; it cleans, and shapes, and hardens the roadway, instead of washing it away and deepening the ruts. When there are wet places, such as springs, in the roadway, gravel and broken stone will not cure such things. The water must be drained off underneath the roadway and into the ditches by means of pipe or blind-drains. The whole thing is so simple that any one can easily master the principles and put the details into practical operation."

The Cost of Hill Taxes.

The tax we have to pay because the original cattle tracks and paths led abruptly up and down over hills seems to be as immovable as the hills themselves which cause it. Immense sums would be eventually saved if many hill roads were re-located. In learning how to improve our highways and to construct new ones, it is well to learn where lines should run, in order to ensure economy in grades and reduce the tax on time, strength, wear and tear and maintenance caused by hills.

Writing on this subject in the Portland Industrial Journal, Mr. S. D. Gray tells of roads over hills which "must not be gone around because our fathers traveled them and we may as well be foot-sore as they." He cites a case "in which both town and county commissioners refused to act. This road was two miles in length with eight rugged hills, four of them unsafe to ride up or down. All these hills could have been avoided and a level road made for less than $1000 that would pay for itself in ten years. The old hills still remain. What we need is an understanding not how to build our roads but to say where our roads can and should be built."

To Improve Roads in Louisiana.

The new constitution of Louisiana allows the Police Juries "to set aside at least one mill per annum of the taxes levied by them, and to impose a per capita tax of not more than one dollar per annum upon each able-bodied male inhabitant.... and to levy an annual license of not less than twenty-five cents nor more than one dollar per annum upon each vehicle, including bicycles, kept and used for locomotion" for the purpose of "constructing, maintaining and repairing the public roads and bridges of their parishes."

Would Increase Driving.

An officer of a carriage company expresses himself in favor of four-inch tires as the narrowest that should he used for a wagon carrying more than 800 pounds and says, "we think it would be very hard, indeed, to estimate the benefit to be derived by the vehicle industry from wide tires or good roads. We believe that anything that would add to the pleasure of driving would benefit the carriage industry, and the improvement of roads would certainly add much to this pleasure."

Anti-Rut Paragraphs.

Dust makes a very find road. Something a little coarser is not so likely to blow away.

Eight-inch tires are to be put on the sprinkling carts which will be used to water the new speedway in New York.

Since Massachusetts began to build State highways, over one hundred steam-rollers have been purchased by towns in the State.

Adjustable iron tires for heavy wagons can be had in suitable widths and can be easily put on, thereby converting the ordinary road destroyer into a road improver.

A road that receives little care soon shows wheel tracks and ruts. It it was constantly swept and frequently scraped both of these would be obliterated, and drivers would not follow so constantly in the same tracks, to the great detriment of the road.

There has been much complaint regarding the poor condition of the country roads about Lebanon, Penn., and now Colonel A. Frank Seltzer, acting district attorney, has notified all the township supervisors that unless they place the roads in first-class condition and place in positlon suitable sign-boards he will have them indicted.

Three essentials of modern road-building are the road-machine, for grading, shaping and preparing the road-bed; the stone-crusher, which may often advantageously be portable, with outfit for breaking the stone, and an efficient road-roller, preferably a steam-roller of about twelve tons' weight. These are at the bottom of economical macadam road construction.

Real Gem of the Antilles.

If Cuba be the "Pearl of the Antilles," which is open to doubt, Porto Rico is its diamond, its ruby, its Koh-i-noor, the most precious stone in the carcanet which Spanish luck and enterprise plucked from the misty, mysterious regions of the West four centuries ago. It is inferior to Cuba only in the attribute of size. In fertility of soil, in salubrity of climate, in strategic position and in the character of its people, which, after all, is the most serious condition confronting any country which desires to annex or govern the West Indies, it is far superior. It is, indeed, well worth having, which cannot be said of every colonial possession on the rent-roll of Spain.

Porto Rico lies at the Windward end of the Antillean chain. It is 2000 miles distant from some parts of Cuba, which shows that it runs a long way to the east. It affords an excellent vantage for control of the Carib Sea trade. It is so far out into the Atlantic that the establishment of a coaling station upon its soil would be of immense advantage to our ships in case of further troubles with European nations. It is capable of growing sugar, coffee, fruits and other tropic staples in the greatest abundance. In proportion to size it has paid Spain more money than any other one of its colonies. Its climate is tolerable in summer, delightful in winter, and healthful always. Its air lacks the enervating quality common to the atmosphere of lands farther to the west. It has lain for eons smiling in a setting of blue and waiting only a touch of Northern energy to make it the fairest island of all the seas.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A Porcelain House.

Japan, it seems, intends sending to the Paris Exhibition a huge house, hexagonal in shape, and composed entirely of porcelain. It measures several yards in circumference, and its weight will not be less than seventy tons. From the artistic point of view, according to the several models already finished, it will be exquisite. It is estimated that the cost of making it will be about $10,000.—London Chronicle.

The castle of Heidelberg is the largest in Germany.

A WOUNDED BOY'S SHOT.

Brings Down a Spanish Sharpshooter Who Was Trying to Kill Him.

Mr. Belthasar Prell of Baltimore, Md., has received a letter from his son, Martin Prell, of Troop G, First cavalry. The letter is dated from the United States general hospital, Key West, Fla., and is as follows:

"I am now at the Key West hospital, wounded. I suppose you have already seen my name in the papers. I am wounded and good for about six weeks in bed before I will be able to walk. I received a compound fracture in the left leg, the bullet passing through the inner side of my leg and breaking it off completely. I also received a flesh wound in the right ankle which is now almost well. My fractured leg is getting along nicely, and I am doing well and hope to be out again in about six weeks.

"I was real lucky in not getting killed, for it was a hard battle, but we won the day and drove the Spaniards out of the trenches and planted the Stars and Stripes on the principal fort and the hills around Santiago de Cuba.

"Yes the Spaniards are brave fighters—when they are behind a brick wall; but when we get them out of their intrenchments they are the best runners you ever saw in your life. But they did certainly fight while they were intrenched, and their sharpshooters in the trees did the best work.

"After I was wounded and had crawled to the rear, I saw some one shooting at me about 300 yards from me, and he was shooting pretty close to my head. I was in pain and wounded in both legs and could not even walk, but I still dragged my gun and had it loaded, and I said to mysel that he would either get me or I would get him. So I took a good aim and let it go and saw his gun fall first, and then a Spaniard, and then I was lucky again, and then crawled to the hospital tent, where I had my wounds dressed.

"It was one of the most disagreeable sights you ever saw in your life, for there were dead and wounded wherever you fell. But the boys stood it bravely and clinched their teeth and the intrenchments were filled with dead Spaniards by the hundreds. During the whole day it rained bullets, and at times they came thicker than rain; but the more the bullets came the harder the boys would fight, and the more they would advance."

Mr. Prell has been in the regular army nearly three years, and is an excellent shot. His brother, Leonard Prell, is a member of the Fifth Maryland regiment.

A Confusion of Names.

He was looking lank and lean; he wore a threadbare suit of black and under one arm he carried a volume; under the other there was an umbrella which had seen better days. He entered so quietly that Dodson, who was busy at his desk, did not hear him.

"I have here—" he began softly.

Dodson wheeled in his chair and took in the situation. "I don't care what you have!" he roared. Don't you see that sign 'Peddlers and book agents not wanted,' or are you blind?"

"The Life of Samson—" continued the agent with an apologetic smile.

"Why didn't you say so before?" said Dobson, subsiding.

"In one volume, price $1.50," continued the long, thin man in black.

"I'll take it," said Dodson shortly. "Good day, sir."

A few minutes later a friend of Dodson's happened in and took up the volume.

"Hello, old man," said he, "I didn't know you went in for biblical subjects."

"I don't see the joke," said Dodson testily. "I believe that in times like these every patriotic American citizen should familiarize himself with the lives of our prominent men who are at the front making history for the glorious country. We neglect these things too long. I propose to keep up with the times."

"You will have to hurry if you do," answered his friend dryly. "This particular Samson without the 'p' has been dead for three thousand years."—

Unexplored Bolivia.

The richest parts of Bolivia have not been surveyed, and there are great provinces here which are practically unexplored. There are some sections which are as unknown as Central Africa, and their inhabitants have as curious customs as the savages along the edges of the Sahara. There is a strip of Bolivia several hundred miles wide and about five hundred miles long, lying between this plateau and the boundary of Brazil, which has resources of great wealth. I have met men here who have traveled overland to Paraguay, and the Argentine. They tell me of vast plains upon which cattle feed in herds of thousands. They can be bought for from $2 to $3 a head, for there is no means of getting them to the markets. At present Senor Ballivian tells me there is a syndicate formed in London to connect these rich grazing lands with the head of navigation of some of the Amazon branches by means of a railway which will run along the boundary between Brazil and Bolivia, but on Brazilian soil. The road will be on the line of a concession granted to Colonel Church some years ago, and its purpose will be to carry these cheap cattle to the rubber camps of the Amazon. There are several other important projects to build railroads in Bolivia. One is to construct a line from La Paz to the Desuaguadero river. This line would be sixty-five miles long, and Senor Ballivian says it will probably be begun this summer. Another scheme is to extend the Central North Argentine railway to Sucre. This road is now near the Bolivian border, and it would pass through a rich cattle-grazing, agricultural and mining territory, and would furnish an outlet to the Atlantic for Bolivian products. There are several other plans for railroads from the Argentine into Bolivia, and the day will probably come when all of eastern Bolivia will be opened to settlement.—Frank G. Carpenter in Atlanta Constitution.

The Professor as a Nurse.

A certain learned professor, who lives in New York, has a wife and family, but, professor-like, his thoughts are always with his books. One evening his wife, who had been out for some hours, returned to find the house remarkably quiet. She had left the children playing about, but now they were nowhere to be seen. She asked what had become of them, and the professor explained that, as they had made a good deal of noise, he had put them to bed without waiting for her or calling a maid.

"I hope they gave you no trouble," she said.

"No," said the professor, "with the exception of that one in the cot there. He objected a good deal to my undressing him and putting him to bed."

The wife went to inspect the cot.

"Why," she exclaimed, "that's little Johnny Green from next door!"—

Extermination of Mould in Cellars.

Unslaked lime is best suited for this purpose. Same is blown, in the shape of a fine powder, on the walls of the cellar and into the joints and crevices by means of the bellows or else thrown on with the hand. The walls must be damp; dry walls have to be well moistened previously. The lime slakes with the adhering water and kills all organisms. On the day following the walls are washed off, and, as experience has proved, the cellar will remain free from mould for at least two years.

A Boy's Definition of War Ships.

A Chicago school-teacher the other day asked her class the difference between a battle-ship, a cruiser, a monitor and a torpedo boat. One boy wrote: "Battle-ships is three-masted schooners with guns on all four corners. Cruisers is what the Navy cruise round in. A monitor is a boy or girl what tattles on the other side. Torpedo-boats throws torpedoes up in the air and then comes down and mashes everything."

THE WEEKLY NEWS,
MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,
PUBLISHERS.
CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday. September 8, 1898

Help us to make the News, the best weekly in the state.

Every body is getting ready for alarge business this fall. Are you husling for your share?

If you are proud of your town dont you think it would be a good idea to help her paper all you can.

Our merchants can't afford to sit down and let Centreville enchorch on her territory. Let everybody hustle for Montevallo.

Montevallo is the best advertised town in the state, we should encourage the people that desire to locate here, the more people the better busines and more enterprise.

We hope that the A. P. I. will get an appropriation from the legnsature large enough to build the building needed by the school, Alabama can well afford to be liberal with her daughters.

Montevallo must have a graded school, our people must get to-gether and build a school house that will be suitable for Montevallo. Where the negro church now stands is an ideal location. Work up and do your duty.

Teachers Iustitute

Program of Teachers Institute to be held at Columbiana Sept. 23rd and 24th 1898. Opening exercises conducted by Rev. W. I. Sinnott, at 9:30 a. m. Sept. 23rd

1st Song.
2nd Welcome address Hon. W. B. Brown.
3rd Response. Prof- J. L. Ruffin.
Music.
4th Enrollment of Teachers.
5th How should we train pupils in habits of self control J. C. Burgner. W. H, Bird.
6th Teaching primary Arithmetic. Miss Lou Ella Lyon.
7th Teaching Fraction. L. Booth Riddle.
8th Teaching Percentage. P. Wr Acton.
9th Are lady teachers better for the primary grades than gentlemen, General discussion by the Institute.
10th The evil effects of quarreling and complaining by the teachers. Miss Ophelia Galloway and M. E. Pelham,
11th Teaching language lessons. Prof. W. B. Greek.
12th Teaching Grammar. S. P. Williamson.
13th Teaching reading first, second and third grades. Miss Georgia Cromwell. H. M. Abercrombie.
14th Teaching reading fourth & fifth grades. Miss Nannie Fulton. H. A. McKinnon.
Music.
Seccond Day Saturday September 24th at 9 a. m.
1st Song and prayer.
2nd Teaching Politeness and good manners. Miss Minnie Kidd.
3rd Teaching Punctuality truthfulness and honesty. Prof. C. H. Florey.
4th Ccrporal punishment in School.
5th Question Box conducted by Prof. F. Mynatt.
6th Address on Institute work John H. Mooney.
7th What are the ends of Education? Miss Lucy Smith,
8th Five minutes talks by the Teachers.

Eugene Williams,
Supt. of Education.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

The Methodist of this place will move their church down in town making it much more convenient for the majority of the members.

The protracted meeting, which was held at the Baptist Church last month was a grand success.

Rev. J. D. Martin, tore the bark off of all denominations except the Baptist, making it very painful for quite a number of us.

Prof. J. E. Yeager, of Spring Creek, will open a school at this place in the near future Prof Yeager is well qualified for this position, and we wish for him and pupils much success.

Hon. C. W. Cary, who has been visiting relatives in Connecticutt for quite awhile, passed through town yesterday, enroute to his coal mine near this place.

Mr. Arthnr Hatcher, formely of Gurnee, has moved to Dogwood, we are always glad to welcome such a good citizen to our town.

We some times have Justice Court in Dogwood, and we always have a large crowd.

C. D. & F.

MAPLESVILLE.

Mr. F. U. Crumpton has returned home after quite an extended tour through the North West.

Mr. Wheeler Fosher, is at home on a visit to his mother.

Miss Gertrude Woolley, has returned home from an excursion trip to Chicago.

Miss Stella Bowlin of Selma, has returned home after a two weeks visit to Mrs. Vines of this place.

Mr. Clyde Martin, went to Tuscaloosa Sunday,

Our town is on quite a boom, one new store and bright prospects for another.

Mr. Steele and family, of Mobile, have moved to this place.

Quite recently two cotton seed ware houses have been erected at this place.

Unless macrimonial lightning strikes this place pretty soon there will be good prospects of having several old maids left on our hands.

Success to the News.

Uncle Tige.

ALDRICH ITEMS.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hoskins, returned from Wilmington N. C. Friday.

Mr. Charley Monroe and sister Miss Birdie left Sunday for Etna Ga. to visit relatives. They will stop at Oxanna for a few days.

Mr. Oscar W. Tenney, our clever lightning manipulater went to Wilsonville Sunday to see home folks.

Mr. C. F. Robbins, came home Monday, he had been in New York for quite awhile.

The Aldrich boys intended to show the Caleraites how to play ball, but only four of them showed up Saturday.

Mr. Aldrich and wife returned home Tuesday. They were welcomed by their many friends.

Rev. P. L. Abernathy organized a branch of the Epworth League here Sunday, fifteen charter members. The following officers were elected.

Miss Bessie Hoskins President.
1st Vice Pres. Geo. B. Monroe.
2nd " " Miss Mamie Hoskin
3rd " " Miss Hattie Corbatt
Oscar Tenney secy. John Davis Treas. Every one invited to join.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. F. F. Crowe & Co.

DR. J. P. HALEY,
DENTIST,
Of Selma, Ala.
Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday September 5, 1898.

University of Alabama
Fall Term Begins Oct. 5. 1898
ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,
EXPENSES LOW.
COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's
Business Colleges
Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala. Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address
C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD.
DENTIST,
ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA.

WINE OF CARDUI
THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure
McELREE'S Wine of Cardui
taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.
For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.
W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."
WINE OF CARDUI

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. INNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Celery seed at McCluney & Co.

Mr. Jos. Crim, of Longview, has moved here.

Mr. J. D. Farrington, has been sick for several drys.

FOR SALE.—A good typewriter Apply at the News office.

Mrs. Wilkinson returned home to day.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandergrift.

Major Strong sent us a pear that weighted 22 ounces, can you beat it

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Mr. George Vest, of Columbiana, was in town Monday.

Try a bottle of V.V. V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

Mr. Richard Ozley, will attend the Brierfield Normal Institute this year.

Don't forget that Morgan Bros. are the people who advertise.

Mr. T. M. Allen has moved in the Wilson house.

White Mustard seed at McCluney & Co.

Drs. Givhan and Wilkinson attended the medical association at Columbiana, Tuesday.

Do you know we have a news stand in Montevallo.

Miss Nellie Kierman, of Piedmont, is visiting her brother, Mr. P. J. Kierman.

Caraway seed at McCluney & Co.

Rev. F. M. Woods, and family of Blocton, spent a few days this week with Judge Ozley.

Morgan bonght the first bale of cotton of the season form I. T. Self. for five & nine sixteenth Morgan is always first.

Mr. and Mrs. Cary have returned home, they have been spending the summer in Conn.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Misses Dora Fonde and Nannie Brown of Montgomery, are the guest of W. B. Reynolds this week.

A full line of spices at McCluney & Co.

Montevallo boasts of having the largest ham in the world. Its weight is 275 pounds, it is now on exhibition at the St. George Hotel

All the popular magazines periodicals and news at McCluney & Co.

Dr. H D. Passmore, dentist, of Abbertville, is in town. Dr. Passmore is thinking of locating here, we think he would do well and the News would be glad to see him make his home here.

News stand opened at W. B. McCluney & Co.

Little Willie Shivers, while trying to play show man, on top of Mr. Canterberry's house fell and broke his arm. He is getting along nicely now and we hope he will soon be well a gain.

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

In the absence of Dr. Givhan and Dr. Wilkinson some thief appropiated to his own use $90.00 belonging to Dr. Wilkinson. A liberal reward will be paid for their apprehension.

Our line of hats are up to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros.

Mr. Edgar Allen, while building air castles, forgot that he wasr iding a bicycle, the wheel bucked and the destruction was awful. Several large piece of his outer covering was taken off without any effort on his part, he was so disfigured that we let him get to us with a bill before we discovered who he was.

Wanted, a position by a young man to teach music, reference furnished as to ability.

Apply to A. A. Roebuck.
Aldrich, Ala.

Tuesday evening the orchestra gave a delightful concert at the Hotel. Misses Mary and Kate Kroell played two beautiful pieces. Montevallo orchestra consists of thirteen pieces, the boys played like Ruebin did.

Our devil gave the following account of the concert, Sam Allen opened the engagement wit the Samson gun boat he landed a ten noter on Ham's peano, Lee opened the peano way up in G McCluney run his torpedo fiddile ten notes to fast, Chas. Acker broke two strings trying to keep up, Harry just couldent get in at all, but the Misses Kroell's played like the graphophone or Patruska.

For Sale.—We have for sale a good organ, in good order, which will be sold at about one third of origional cost.

The Montevallo steam gin is now readyfor the season of 98 & 99 with special preporations for this crop in the way of additional improvement in handling cotton and seed, together with a reduction in the price of ginning to 11 cents per hundred pounds seed cottou making the price uniform for large or small bales. With a market for both cotton and seed make it to the interest of all farmers who come to this market, to patronize the Montevallo gin

You invite disappointment when you experiment. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick headache just as sure as you take them. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mr. C. C. Dill will leave for Talladega, on the thirteenth.

Ladies———Please
Wait and see our line of dress we have best. Suitable triming to match. Morgan Bros.

Mr. C. B. Davidson, is going to school at Harpersville.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

The League rally with an address from Dr. Culver, will be held at Aldrich Hall on Tuesday evening Sept. 13th at 7. 30 O'clock, an interesting program has been arranged let everybody attend.

NOTICE.

I would like to swap or sell 80 acres of land for 20 acres of land with a good house on it. Said land is four miles from Montevallo, in a good neighborhood, and near two churches. There are 35 acres cleared and 45 in timber, all lying level. There is lasting water on the place. Within one-half mile of Dogwood station. For further particulars, apply at the New office, or address J. A. Roebuck, Montevallo, Ala.

Subscribe for the News.

A Narrow Escape.

Mrs. James Ozly had a narrow escape last Friday out on a lonely road. Mrs. Ozley had been attending a protracted meeting at Spring Creek, and was returning home in her buggy, happening to look back she discovered a negro man walking at a rapid gait, as if was trying to overtake her. Withoute citing the suspicion of her daughtershe drove faster' and observedthe negro still gaining on her She became alarmed and put the whip to the horse, the negro started for the buggy in a run he grabed a valise in the rear of the buggy and made for the woods. Several parties went after the negro but have not captured him yet.

What the fellow that don't advertise think of Morgan.

I sit at my door day by day,
And watch the folks at Morgans;
They come and they go
Like the flakes of the snow,
While I sit at my door
All alone.

I think I'll step down to Morgans,
And ask how he makes business pay
His goods go like hot cakes,
And great profits he makes,
While I sit at my door
All alone.
Now this is the tale that he tells—
His goods so quickly he sells,
Because he is wise,
And does well advertise,
While I sit at my door
All alone.

I shall try this wonderful cure,
There are customers still to secure.
Then like Morgan,
Fair or foul be the day,
I'll not sit at my door
All alone.

All aboard for success!
Quick time most surprising
Is made on the train
Of Good Advertising.

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber,
Montevallo, - - Ala
Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

For broken surfaces, sores, insect bites, burns, skin diseases, and especially piles, there is one reliable remedy, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. When you call for DeWitt's don't accept counterfeits or frauds. You will not be disappointed with DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. F. F. Crowe & Co.

We make gent's furnishing goods a speciality' our Globe Branb Shirt are the best in town. We have collar and ties, to please most fastidious. Morgan Bros.

Hotel Clocks Always Truthful.

"When I am traveling I never put the slightest confidence in a household clock," writes Robert J. Burdette in the Ladies' Home Journal. "A hotel clock I can depend upon. There are too many watches in a hotel—good watches, watches whose absolute correctness means money to the commercial man who regulate the traveling life of this country. A lying clock would be spotted in a quarter of a second, and the unhappy clerk scourged with pitiless sarcasms therefor. In the course of my wanderings up and down this part of the globe I missed a few trains and lecture engagements by depending upon clocks in the homes of my friends. Having thus paid for the lesson—fifteen or twenty thousand dollars, I think—by my own computation of the value of my lectures (set ahead a little bit, you know, it may be a trifle fast; I haven't time to look up the exact figures), I withdrew all my trust from mantel clocks, especially the highly ornamented marble-and-gilt variety with silver bells or cathedral chimes."

Cycles of Rainfall.

A contemporary points out that the statistics of rainfall which have been collected in various parts of England for many years past show that there is a regular recurrence of cold and wet periods every thirty-five or thirty-six years, measuring from the centers of each period. Curiously enough, other observations show the same rule to apply to many other parts of the world as well. On the assumption that these fluctuations may be depended on, the center of the next wet period should occur in the second decade of the coming century; but in the immediate future we should have a preponderance of dry periods for some years yet to follow.—New York World.

Has not Slept for Five Years.

It is reported that a man in Indiana has not had an hour's sleep for five years. He constantly walks about, unable to rest, and is now little more than a skeleton. There are thousands of men and women who are unable to sleep more than an hour or two a night because of nervousness, weakness, dyspepsia, headache and constipation. A certain remedy for these disorders is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. All druggists sell it.

The proportion of foreigners to English in England is about 1 in 250.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

James Balfour-Melville, who had been a member of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club since 1846 and had won its gold medal, was choked to death by a piece of beef while at dinner recently.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Houses in the West End of London are not letting well this year. The only places that are letting well are shootings in the highlands, which are snapped up very rapidly.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

I have found Piso's Cure for Consumption an unfailing medicine.—F. R. LOTZ, 1305 Scott St., Covington, Ky., Oct. 1, 1894.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco gives the consumers the very best Tobacco they can get. 2 ounces for 10 cents. It is fast winning its way to public favor. Try it.

No fewer than 1,173 persons have been buried in England in Westminster Abbey.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Over sixty thousand oil wells have been sunk in the United States.

Feed Your Nerves

Upon rich, pure, nourishing blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and you will be free from those spells of despair, those sleepless nights and anxious days, those gloomy, deathlike feelings, those sudden starts at mere nothings, those dyspeptic symptoms and blinding headaches. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done this for many others—it will cure you.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure sick headache. 25c.

A FLOATING MACHINE SHOP.

The Remarkable Crew and Equipment Carried by the Vulcan.

The floating machine shop of the United States navy has been named the "Vulcan," and this vessel is now with Admiral Sampson's fleet and was ready to repair any damage which might have been sustained at the hands of Admiral Cervera; but it is likely that now she will devote her attention to saving some of the wrecked vessels in conjunction with the wrecking companies. It is said that $300,000 was spent in altering and equipping this vessel. Officially the "Vulcan" is an engineers' repair ship, and formerly she was the steamer "Chatham." Shortly before the war, Engineer in Chief Melville recommended that two vessels be purchased which could be transformed into engineers' repair ships and attached to the Atlantic and Flying squadrons. Only one steamer was purchased by the Auxiliary Board, and she was transformed at the Boston navy yard. While the ship is not intended for fighting purposes, she carries two rapid-fire six-pounder guns. The "Vulcan" is to follow in the wake of the fleet, and she has a large coal capacity which will give a wide radius of action. She will also supply fresh water to other vessels and make such repairs as may become necessary. The bow of the boat is devoted to a stock room; back of this is the blacksmith shop. There are also evaporators and distillers of a capacity equal to a daily output of 10,000 gallons of water. There is a complete foundry with a cupola, which will enable castings to be made on the boat. She has two steam cranes with ten-foot arms, which are especially designed for moving weights from a man-of-war and for transferring machinery to a disabled ship. There are also plate-bending rolls, punches, shears, lathes, planers, drills, milling machines and other machine tools, which will enable them to repair the hulls, engines, and boilers or guns. The "Vulcan" carries a large complement of first-class mechanics, and the repair shop has some of the finest engineers in the country. It is doubtful if any vessel has yet started out to war which has carried such a complement of well-trained and well-educated men. The "Vulcan's" captain is Lieut.-Commander Ira Harris, who has been general manager of the Chicago Drop Forge and Foundry Company. The chief engineers are Gardiner Sims, the head of the Armington-Sims Engine Works, of Providence, Rhode Island, who has thirty of his best mechanics aboard, and Professor Aldrich, of the University of Virginia, one of the best electrical experts in the country. Out of her entire crew of two hundred men, ninety-two have the right to wear the officer's cap.—Scientific American.

Eleven Thousand Eyes in One.

In the course of his lecture at the London Institution on "Insects at Work," F. Enock, after referring to the trap door and the garden spiders, spoke at some length on the leaf cutting bee, probably the most remarkable of all bees.

The leaf cutter, he said, had three eyes in the center of its head (a very thick one) and two compound eyes, occupying, respectively, positions on each side of the others. In each of these compound eyes there were 11,000 reflectors, making a total of 22,000.

That appeared strange, but he had proved it to be a fact by placing a locust in the lens, and then taking a photograph of the head, which showed a locust in every reflector.

In explanation of the title given to this bee, it was explained that its habit was first to burrow in a sand bank, making a sort of tube for its nest. Next the intelligent creature—which was really a capital architect—would proceed to a rose tree. It would there alight upon one of the leaves and with the tools with which it worked would cut a round piece out of it. This it would carry to its nest and ram it against the extreme top end. Then it would take an oblong piece, which it used to commence the side of a cell with; and so it would go on until it had constructed twelve cells, in each of which it would deposit its collection from the Canterbury bell, of which it was very fond, and other flowers. An egg was laid in each of these cells and in due time young bees appeared and in their turn escaped from the cells and flew about, to carry on the same kind of work.

Earthquakes in the Philippines.

The earthquakes in the Philippines, especially on Luzon and Negros Islands, deserve a special story by themselves. The whole group of islands is of volcanic origin. There are seventy volcanoes in constant eruption on the islands. Several of them are the most violent in the world and are always being studied by scientists from Europe and America. The famous volcano Mayara is within sight of Manila. An earthquake occurs on an average of once every ten days. I have known small quakes to come at the rate of a dozen a day for a week atatime. About a dozen times a year there are shocks so severe that people will run about in fright and damage will be done to the buildings. The big bridge over the Passig River at Manila has been so swerved by earthquakes twice in my residence in the city that it has been made unsafe for travel. In 1884 an earthquake nearly ruined the great stone cathedral in Manila, razed many buildings to the ground, rocked hundreds more, and 2,000 people on Luzon Island were killed by falling timbers and walls. In 1860 the great earthquake occurred on Negros Island. It has never been known how many people were killed then, but the number is estimated at 7,000. Almost every structure on the island was shaken down, and great gaps, yards wide and miles long, were cracked across the island. The quake opened seams in the earth from the seacoast and made passages from the interior lakes to the ocean.

Giants of Patagonia.

The tribes to the east of the Cordilleras, in southern Patagonia, belong to Araucanian stock, and are a superior race. The Tehuelches—as they call themselves—of southern and eastern Patagonia, are the people whose unusual stature gave rise to the fables of the early days to the effect that the natives of this region were giants averaging nine or ten feet in height. It is a fact that they are the tallest human beings in the world, the men averaging but slightly less than six feet, while individuals of four to six inches above that mark are not uncommon. They are in reality by no means savages, but somewhat civilized barbarians. They are almost unacquainted with the use of firearms, notwithstanding some contact with the whites, but they have plenty of horses and dogs.

Unsurpassed hunters, they capture the guanaco and the rhea, or South American ostrich, and from the skins of these and other animals they make clothes and coverings for their tents. They make beautiful "capes," or mantles, of furs and feathers, which are highly prized by Europeans and find a ready market.—Boston Transcript.

Artificial Marble.

Louis H. Bruhl, United States consul at Cantania, contributes to the last consular report a description of a new artificial black marble made in Sicily, by which it appears soft white sandstone, after having been sawed and cut into desired forms, and smoothed, is boiled in coal tar. The resultant is hard as granite, and in this state very difficult to work. The coal tar is not put into the boiler hot, it is gradually heated up to 700 degrees and completely surrounds the sandstone. This black liquid penetrates nearly eight inches and the artificial product is susceptible of a high polish and scarcely distinguishable from pure black marble. It is very much cheaper than marble proper, costing about one-fifth of the pure article.

The Atlantic Ocean is crossed monthly by 1,000 ships.

What He Would Like.

Employer (meeting clerk on grandstand)—See here, Jenkins! You told me you would like to get off this afternoon and go to your mother-in-law's funeral.

Clerk—Y-yes, sir. I would like to do that first rate; only she isn't dead.—Judge.

An Impossibility.

"Do you know, Mr. Gilley," said Miss Sears enthusiastically, "that I have ridden a century?" "Oh, come now, Miss Sears," replied Mr. Gilley; "you cawn't have done that, doncher you know, because bicycles haven't been invented that long, aw."

"CHARLEY," said young Mrs. Torkins, "you have heard of castles in Spain." "Yes." "Did you ever see one?" "No. Why do you ask?" "I was just wondering whether they aren't built of those gold bricks you read about so much."

CONSULTING A WOMAN.

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Inspires Confidence and Hope.

Examination by a male physician is a hard trial to a delicately organized woman.

She puts it off as long as she dare, and is only driven to it by fear of cancer, polypus, or some dreadful ill.

Most frequently such a woman leaves a physician's office where she has undergone a critical examination with an impression, more or less, of discouragement.

This condition of the mind destroys the effect of advice; and she grows worse rather than better. In consulting Mrs. Pinkham no hesitation need be felt, the story is told to a woman and is wholly confidential. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass., she offers sick women her advice without charge.

Her intimate knowledge of women's troubles makes her letter of advice a wellspring of hope, and her wide experience and skill point the way to health.

"I suffered with ovarian trouble for seven years, and no doctor knew what was the matter with me. I had spells which would last for two days or more. I thought I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken seven bottles of it, and am entirely cured."—MRS. JOHN FOREMAN, 26 N. Woodberry Ave., Baltimore, Md.

The above letter from Mrs. Foreman is only one of thousands.

BAD BLOOD

"CASCARETS do all claimed for them and are a truly wonderful medicine. I have often wished for a medicine pleasant to take and at last have found it in Cascarets. Since taking them, my blood has been purified and my complexion has improved wonderfully and I feel much better in every way." MRS. SALLIE E. SELLARS, Luttrell, Tenn.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken. Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c. 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 319

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

Hogsett Military Academy, Danville, Kentucky.
Prepares for Universities, Government Schools and General Business. Situated in the Blue Grass Region of Kentucky. A pleasant, safe home for your boy. Fall Term opens Sept. 8. E. Albert Smith, Sup't.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., NewYork, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

The Development of Suburban Traffic.

American corporations have been very enterprising in extending their lines into new districts—often, it must be added, where there was little business to warrant such extensions. Without questioning the wisdom of these enterprises, it may nevertheless be said that there has been, in most instances, a failure on the part of these corporations to secure to themselves the enormous local and suburban business which has grown up in and around our great cities. A great number of cases can be cited where this business is handled successfully and profitably on a large scale by the steam roads of Europe, establishing beyond question the desirability of the service that can be secured in this way. American managers, however, have not only disregarded this business, but have actually discouraged it; and it is only within a few years that a proper appreciation of its importance and value has been shown by even a very few of the leading companies. There is, on the other hand, an almost total lack, on the part of the public, of any proper appreciation of the part which the existing lines terminating in or passing through the great cities should take in the development of this local and suburban traffic. Corporations have been allowed, and even encouraged, to withdraw their freight and passenger stations to points farther from the business centers; and, with very few exceptions, there has never been an effort, on the part of either city or State governments, to take such action as would lead to any development in the line above suggested.—"Railway Crossings in Europe and America," by Franklin B. Locke, in Century.

Where Marriage Is a Lottery.

A cynic or a sage once remarked that marriage is a lottery. In the Province of Smolensk, in Russia, this aphorism has been reduced to a quarterly fact, for each three months there is held the most remarkable lottery ever devised.

Husbands and wives are chosen by the chance drawing of a lottery ticket.

The tickets cost one ruble each. There is only one prize to be drawn, and it consists of the entire sum yielded by the sale of the tickets, amounting to 5000 rubles, together with a lady described as of noble blood.

The tickets are sold only to males, and the lucky winner of the prize will have to marry the damsel if he takes the 5,000 rubles. If, however, he be already married, he is at liberty to turn over the money and the lady to any friend whom he may wish to put in for such a good thing.

If the winner should be willing to marry but is not found to be to the damsel's taste, then they are to be excused from matrimony and permitted to divide the rubles.

It is not hard to imagine a condition of affairs where the lady in the case refuses her chosen lord and prefers to take the cash, deciding that 2500 rubles is more to be desired than a more or less doubtful happiness with a husband of whom she knows nothing.—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

Paper Hanging by Machine.

Paper hanging by machine is the latest achievement, says the Werkstatt. The arrangement used for this purpose is provided with a rod upon which the roll of paper is placed. A paste receptacle with a brushing arrangement is attached in such a manner that the paste is applied automatically on the back of the paper. The end of the wall paper is fixed at the bottom of the wall, and the implement rises on the wall and only needs to be set by one workman. While the wall paper unrolls, and, provided with paste, is held against the wall, an elastic roller follows on the outside which presses it firmly to the wall. When the wall paper has reached the top, the workman pulls a cord, whereby it is cut off from the remainder on the roll.

Marigold and camomiles in North Africa reach a height of four or five feet.

Told by the Sergeant.

From The Democrat, Grand Rapids, Mich.

At the Michigan Soldiers' Home, in Grand Rapids, lives Sergeant Richard Dunn, hale and hearty, although he carries the scars of several wounds sustained in some of the battles of the Civil War. In recounting his experience to a reporter, Mr. Dunn said:

"About a year and a half ago I began to have trouble with my stomach. My suffering was so intense that I tried different medicines and doctored with several physicians, but without permanent relief.

A Wounded Soldier.

"I read an account of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People having cured a case much like mine, and I decided to give them a trial, which I did.

"After taking five boxes I was cured. I never felt better than I do now, even in my younger days. I am naturally a robust man, but that stomach trouble, together with rheumatism, which afterward set in, were making fast inroads upon my health and I am satisfied that it would have been but a short time before my comrades would have been conducting the regulation funeral ceremonies over my remains, had I not chanced to read of and taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"There are several others in the home who are taking these pills and are receiving great benefit." RICHARD DUNN.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 1st day of Nov., 1897.

HENRY GIBSON, Notary Public.

Sergeant Dunn is perfectly willing that anyone should write him in reference to his case, provided stamp is enclosed for the reply.

All the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves are contained in a condensed form in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. In men they cure cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

A Jalapa Funeral.

A funeral among the poor in Jalapa, Mexico, is a sight long to be remembered. First come the coffin-bearers, carrying the stained pine box on their shoulders, for there isn't a hearse or even a carriage in the whole city of Jalapa. The coffin is gaudily decorated with long streamers of black muslin,

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Police court statistics show that Cornwall is the best behaved county in England.

Third-Class Matter.

"Say" said the bookkeeper, addressing the cashier, and winking knowingly at the office boy, "do you know anything about this new stamp tax?"

"Sure," replied the cashier, "what do you want to know?"

"Suppose," continued the b. k., "that I wanted to express by opinion; would I have to stamp the express receipt?"

"Undoubtedly," answered the cashier. "But if you will allow me, I would suggest that you forward your opinions by mail."

"And why by mail?" asked the autocrat of the ledger.

"Because," replied the cashier, "as they have no weight, it would be cheaper."—Chicago News.

An Opportune Time.

For a time there was no sound except that of two hearts beating as one. Finally she broke the silence. "I think, George," she said, "that you'd better speak to papa tonight," "But, dearest," he protested, "he seems to be exceptionally cross tonight." "True," she admitted, "but he is also exceptionally tired."—Chicago Post.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

The finest shops in a Chinese city are those devoted to the sale of coffins.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

☞Sold by Druggists; price 75c. per bottle.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Kentucky claims to have more water power than any other state in the union.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

No person in Norway may spend more than threepence at one visit to a public house.

DO YOU PAY BIG PROFITS?

Yes, you do when you buy a "cheap-john," "clap-trap," "rig-raff," "shake-shift" article when you can as easily get the best at a very slight advance. We make buggies—good buggies—best buggies—NOTHING BUT BUGGIES—thousands of them a year, and they are sold nearly as cheap as those THROWN TOGETHER. See our agent in your town or write. You shall be treated right.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.

The Best BOOK ON THE WAR BEAUTIFULLY bound and sumptuously illustrated (price $2), free to anybody sending two annual subscriptions at $1 each to the Overland Monthly, SAN FRANCISCO. Sample Overland, 5c.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

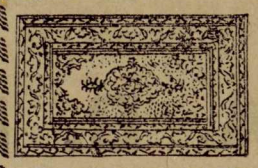
MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98—365

Overproduction Sale,

$2.00 AXMINSTER CARPET,

79c.

In our fifty years' experience as manufacturers, Carpets never have been as low as during "This Special Sale," and an opportunity like this is not likely to present itself again. Our offer—sew Carpets free, furnish wadded lining and pay freight on orders of $9 and over received during this month. Our Lithographed Carpet Catalogue showing goods in hand-painted colors; also, new 160-page catalouge of Furniture and everything necessary for housefurnishing are mailed free to any address.



Axminster Rugs, $1.49

Best quality Axminster Moquette Rug. It measures 27x60 inches, and the colorings are in those delicate tints and shades for which these carpets are famous.

Address (exactly) as below.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Dept. 301. Baltimore, Md.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING "Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

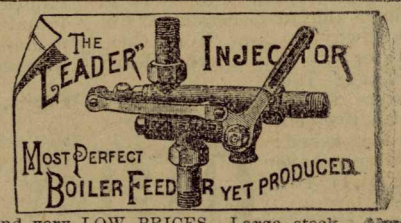
Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.



And very LOW PRICES. Large stock. AND PIPE, VALVES and FITTINGS. ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS and REPAIRS.

Lombard Iron Works & Supply Co.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

ST. ANDREWS COLD TEA

FOR THE LIVER

Increases the Appetite.
Clears the Complexion.
Purifies the Blood.

--PATENTS--

Procured on cash, or easy instalments. VOWLES & BURNS, Patent Attorneys, 237 Broadway, N. Y.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

From Girlhood to Womanhood.

DON'T LET YOUR DAUGHTER have a wrong merging into womanhood. The greatest crisis in every girl's life is at this stage when the menstrual functions are being established, and she should have every provision obtainable for establishing this period properly, without which she can never become a perfect woman. Mothers, teach your daughters to confide in you. Explain their condition to them and watch over them as you would the most delicate plant, and as this most critical age draws near commence giving her

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea.

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

It will establish the menstrual functions, restore the strength and give life and energy to the entire being. PRICE $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

When there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with moderate doses of ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR.

My daughter was suffering from a severe bilious attack, together with great "bearing-down" pains and back-ache during her monthly periods. She had violent nervous spells which produced a peculiar quivering and jerking sensation. I bought a bottle of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA (G. F. P.) and some ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR and commenced treating her. All pains and biliousness were removed and the jerking was stopped. It is the best I ever saw for young girls. MARY ELIZA BENES, Beulah, Ala.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprietors, Chattanooga, Tenn.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

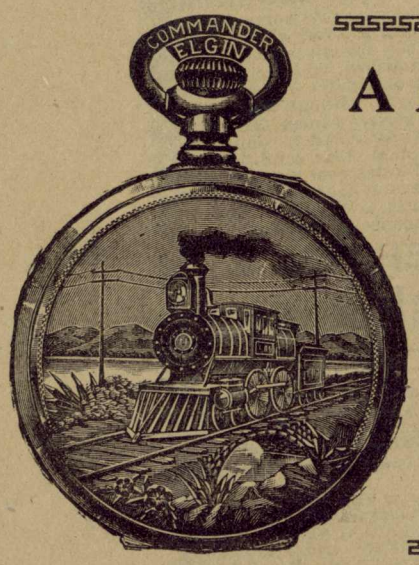
He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $3 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. The low priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (60 Tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. [illegible] Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

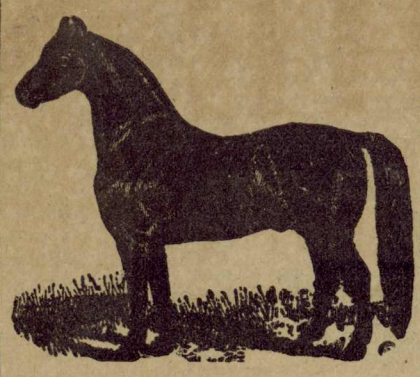


A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT.

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

Office at Store. Manager.

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL, Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E. BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, '98. NO. 36

Under the Flag.

With courage and will undaunted,
To all the world we say,
Wherever our flag is planted,
There it must ever stay;
The soil won by brave endeavor,
By death, blood, grief, and pain,
Must be ours, and must forever
Under our flag remain.

The soil where our brave are sleeping,
Be it remote or near,
Is sacred soil, and its keeping,
Duty we need not fear;
No alien fllag must cover
Bones of our fallen braves;
Old Glory alone shall hover
Over their silent graves.

Not for lust of power or booty,
Our vengeful swords we drew,
The path of our bounden duty
Lay clear as heaven's blue;
'Twas to stay the tyrant's smitting,
Th' oppressor's rule destroy,
To give to others the right in
The freedom we enjoy.

Shall we hold aloof, or falter
At Liberty's appeal?
Quench the fire on Freepoms alter
Where smitten people kneel?
Shall the isles in our possession,
Unblest, revert again
To the baseness and oppression
And cruelty of Spain?

No! by the blood that unstinted
Ran in unnumbered rills,
And moistenee the soil and tinted
The grass of Cuba's hills;
That wet Porto Rico valleys,
And hillsides of Leon,
And spilled in the midnight sallies
In far away Luzon.

By our murdered seamen, lying
In foul Havana Bay;
By our fever stricken, dying,
By those who've passed away;
We swear that the islands fated
As victims of our might Shall be saved and consecrated
To liberty and right

To the races so benighted
Our flag shall carry peace;
All the past rongs shall be righted,
And all oppression cease;
We shall see 'neath its upraising
O'er conquered isles of Spain,
The fires of freedom blazing,
And law and order reign.

Thomas Winthrop.

THEY COME POURING IN

People who want to edit write the times.

The times is in receipt of another communication from a party who wants to edit. The fellow writes cleverly enough and he says with a few dollars in his pocket he could write a fitting essay on 'money and how to get it?"

But here he goes;

Blank, Alabama, Dear Mr. Jelks This morning as I strolled into the Franklin Times office and fouud the editor absent I threw my anat omy upon the soda keg, my feet upon the exchange table and proceeded to peruse the Captain's most valuable exchanges, and the first article that caught my eye was "Wauted, a Local Editor"—published in your paper of August 18th. I could not but feel after read ing the first few lines that the man and opportunity had met and that I was the man you were looking for.

That is good. The man and the occasion rarely come together. Hobson and Santiago came plump into each other's arms and Wheeler and San Juan and now comes the good gentleman from Blank and says he wants to fill a long felt want. Good for him.

While it would be painful for me to leave this locality, possessing the influence I do, both in church and state yet I am determined not to keep my "light under a bushel" any longer, and after giving you my qualifications think there will be no trouble for us to strike a trade.

I have been in the news paper business for several years– in the capacity of cleaning up the office and making paste, and occasionall bringing a bucket of water. As a reporter I am up date–using all the slang phrases known to the profession, such as, "let her go Galliger," "getting there Ely" "he's a hun" and "cracker-Jack," and when slapped on one cheek in varibly turn the other, and so far as being "cussed out', is concerned its a matter of small moment. I am known far and wide as au energectic liar and can make a "mountain of a mole hill," in beautiful and pathetic language, while on the other hand can say little of lots. As to my grammar I must say that I am perfect—a twin cousin to Mr. Kirkman and was for several years his qrivate secretary. So you see we will have no trouble in that line. As to clean linen—I will say that I am a walking advertisement for Jim Pyles Perline. Each season bring to my being a refreshing bath—I don't use colgne.

I agree with you on cigaretts, but being raised in the hills of North Alabama, where we are fast learning the "tricks of the black belt," I must insist on my allowance of Battle Axe, qut will promise to furnish my own cuspidor. As to "treating the measures of high art," "touching melancholly "pouring out sympathy" I am on to the racket with a sheep skin backing and no man on earth can shed more copious, briny and sym pathetic tears than your aspirant for a job. I must say, happily, that I am an expert in the bridal chamber–can smooth the ribbons, adjust the veil and lovingly smear the "swans down" upon her cheek and at the same time teach the trembling groom all of the latest attitudes. Have often poked my nose into other folks business and given adAice to the parents of the happy couple—hearing from it later.

if you think I am the youth you are looking for, and if you will kindly send me a check for 40 or 50 dollars, so I can call on you and make a trade I will then explain the problem "money and how to get it."

Yours very truly.

This is very clever indeed. The cuss can write whether he knows anything about money or uot. So many people can write! So many Adison's there are and so few Bennets!

They can soar and soar but they can get no money. They cau cock their feet up high enough on the editoral table–and not take them down again. The times is of the opinion that it is not so much men'al legs it needs as business legs. My, my, "the dollar and how to get it" is the whole story.

The gentleman from Blank may be a poet but poetry does not pay He may write like Dana and Dana would not have been able to run a newspaper in a country town—impossible! We are not assured about his buslness legs.

the man

who wants good clothing should see our stock,
we have the best in montevallo.

..Morgan :-: Bros..

Leaders in Low Prices!

An Essay On Mvn.

Man is an omniverous animal

Some smart people call him a biped, but this is a zoological error.

He's just a plain, everday two-leged animal.

Man is found in most parts of the world.

He roams at will, feeds in the daytime, and sleeps at night.

Some nights.

He is very tame.

You can go up and put your hand on him anywhere, so long as you dont put it on his pocket book. He has, under such conditions, been known to kick-

He is like the dog, howls a good deal anb runs about at night.

Continued on editoral page,)

Fine Point.

"Where is the legal editor?" asked the correspondence man.

"What do you want?" asked the managing editor.

"A man wants to know if it is necessary to put stamps on poker checks. —Indianapolis Journal.

His Difficulties.

Foreigner—Vot you mean ven you say I learn de language like a big ghost?

Native American—That isn't what I said. I said you were learning it in great shape.

Foreigner—Vell, vot's de difference? —Chicago Tribune.

Beauty Was Profitable.

Pretty Cashier—"You must give me a holiday to recruit my health. My beauty is beginning to fade."

Manager—"Why do you think so?"

Pretty Cashier—"The men are beginning to count their change."

Swallowed a Needle and Died.

A tailor in Chicago accidentally swallowed a needle and died as a result of the inflammation set up by the small needle. Little things frequently have great power, as is seen in a few small doses of the famous Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, however, has an entirely different effect from the needle in this notice. The Bitters make nervous, weak and sickly persons strong and well again. They are also good for dyspepsia and constipation.

Death is purely speculative, life is purely practical.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Many could do well if they could do anything.

To close fire shutters and doors automatically they are mounted on an inclined track to slide shut as soon as a fusible cord over the door is burned, the cord allowing a weight to drop on the latch and release the door.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

If work were abolished many would become virtuous at once—laziness being immorality on this planet.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

The cloud of death is dark toward man, bright toward God.

Pimples

Are the danger signals of impure blood. They show that the vital blood is in bad condition, that health is in danger of wreck. Clear the track by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and the blood will be made pure, complexion fair and healthy, and life's journey pleasant and successful.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure indigestion, biliousness.

YELLOW FEVER PREVENTED BY TAKING "Our Native Herbs"

THE GREAT

Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator.

200 DAYS' TREATMENT, $1.00.

Containing a Registered Guarantee.

By mail, postage paid, 32-page Book and Testimonials, FREE. Sold only by Agents for

THE ALONZO O. BLISS CO., Washington, D.C.

FITS STOPPED FREE Permanently Cured Insanity Prevented by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER

Positive cure for all Nervous Diseases, Fits, Epilepsy, Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance. No Fits or Nervousness after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges only when received. Send to Dr. Kline, Ltd., Bellevue Institute of Medicine, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Hogsett Military Academy, Danville, Kentucky.

Prepares for Universities, Government Schools and General Business. Situated in the Blue Grass Region of Kentucky. A pleasant, safe home for your boy. Fall Term opens Sept. 8. E. Albert Smith, Sup't.

--PATENTS--

Procured on cash, or easy instalments. WOWLES & BURNS, Patent Attorneys, 27 Broadway, N. Y.

A WAR TRAGEDY.

The Line on a Bulletin Board Read by a Girl Who Was Buying Her Trosseau.

Like that of Colonel Ellsworth in the civil war, the death of the officer concerned in this story made more of an impression on the public mind than it might otherwise have done, because he was among the first to fall, writes the Washington correspondent of the New York Sun. Both men were of special interest to Washington people. Colonel Ellsworth, who had been a student of the law in the office of Mr. Lincoln at Springfield, was a member of the Lincoln household, and his body lay in state at the White House. The officer who lost his life in the present war had many personal friends at the capital, and at the time of his death the young lady to whom he was engaged to be married was here for the purpose of buying her wedding trousseau.

When he found himself assigned to take part in the operations in Cuba he shared with most of the young men who were his fellow officers the opinion that the war with meant a considerable increase in his income from various sources, and he had also special reasons for believing that he would soon be sent back North on a mission. Before he went South he was engaged to a young lady of his own State. They had been children together, and were deeply attached to each other. Being of a sanguine nature, he wrote to the young lady that as he believed his income would be considerably increased by the war, and as he hoped to be sent back to the United States, there was no reason reason why arrangements should not be made for their marriage; that, as there would not be time enough after his detail, it would be well to have her trousseau ready for an emergency.

Consequently the young lady came to Washington, where she has friends. It was noted that she was especially happy, one cause being her recovery from what was regarded as pulmonary consumption. For years she had suffered from occasional hemorrhages and severe paroxysms of coughing and had become frail and emaciated. She found no permanent relief from drugs and chages of surroundings and was at last induced to study Christian science. She began to improve and after a few months all the indications of disease disappeared. Her gain in health and the purpose of her visit to Washington combined to make her particularly lively in spirits when she came to the capital. She was able to do shopping every day without unusual weariness.

It was while she was down town, on Pennsylvania avenue, with a friend one day, that she found her way blocked by a great crowd gathered before a newspaper bulletin board. Finding it difficult to proceed for a moment, she turned her eyes to the bulletin and read in black letters the line: "—— ——, killed," the name being that of her betrothed. At first she did not realize the meaning of the words, but as they reached her understanding she was only saved from falling by the arms of the lady who accompanied her and had tried in vain to turn her attention from the bulletin. Fortunately she is a young lady of strong character and great self-control, and after the first moment of agitation she pushed out of the crowd.

Tree Climbing Fish.

India has fishes which climb trees and migrate from stream to stream in dry season. Florida can match her with a great snail which climbs trees and feasts on the young birds, like his fellow robber, the blue crab. The shell of this snail is opaline, and almost as transparent as glass. Its shape is odd and handsome. This snail is edible and not unlike those found on the coast of France and which are so much in demand in the markets of Paris. In some places they are so abundant that a shake of a tree will bring down a bushel of them.

The German government pays the North German Lloyd more than $1,000,000 a year for carrying the mails.

The Little Brother Was Urgent.

A Cleveland youth called the other evening on a young woman who resides not far from his home, and when he rang the bell her little brother came to the door, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Good evening," said the little brother.

"Good evening," said the youth. "Is your sister at home, Georgie?"

"Yes, sir," replied the boy, "she's home. Do you want to see her?"

"Yes," said the youth. "Please tell her I am here."

"Won't you come in?" inquired the boy.

"No, thank you," said the youth, "I'll wait on the porch."

"Better come in," said the boy.

"No," said the youth.

"Better," said the boy.

"No," said the youth.

"Well, maybe you know best," said the boy.

"Yes," smiled the youth.

So the boy went in, and the youth sat down on the porch and propped himself against the post.

Pretty soon, with much rustling of skirts, Miss Alice appeared in the doorway.

"Mercy! Mr. Skimple, is that you? Didn't you notice the porch had just been painted?"

And then poor Skimple remembered with a sickly smile how urgent her little brother had been.

But that wouldn't remove the paint.

George Was Misquoted.

"George, Aunt Maria is ever angry at you for saying she eats too much."

"Dear, dear, I didn't say anything of the kind."

"What did you say, George?"

"All I said was that she had an appetite like a mud dredge."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

OLETIMER—Is your married life one grand sweet song? Newlywed—Well, since I got a baby it's more like a grand opera, with loud calls for the author every night.

MINNIE—Papa informed me that he was very much opposed to George. Violet—And what did you say? Minnie—I notified papa that intervention would mean war.—Puck.

WE WANT TO BURN

The words, "ROCK HILL," into your memory so you will never forget them. They stand for "Buggies"—best buggies—not "clap-trap," "riff-raff" stuff—but buggies that STAND UP, last long, and are warranted. "A Little Higher in Price, But———" so little it don't pay to run the risk. Don't pay big profits on cheap work. See our agent in your town or write us.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.

School Will Open

and good Shoes are cheaper than Doctors' Bills.

ASK FOR THESE BRANDS.

and get your money's worth in service.

Rob Roy,
Kango Goat,
Columbus Belle,
Crack Proof,
Red Seal.

Sold everywhere, but only made by

The J. K. Orr Shoe Co.,
ATLANTA, GA.

Lazy Liver

"I have been troubled a great deal with a torpid liver, which produces constipation. I found CASCARETS to be all you claim for them, and secured such relief the first trial, that I purchased another supply and was completely cured. I shall only be too glad to recommend Cascarets whenever the opportunity is presented." J. A. SMITH.
2920 Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent. Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 320

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

REGAINED HEALTH.

Gratifying Letters to Mrs. Pinkham From Happy Women.

"I Owe You My Life."

Mrs. E. WOOLHISER,
Mills, Neb., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I owe my life to your Vegetable Compound. The doctors said I had consumption and nothing could be done for me. My menstruation had stopped and they said my blood was turning to water. I had several doctors. They all said I could not live. I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it helped me right away; menses returned and I have gained in weight. I have better health than I have had for years. It is wonderful what your Compound has done for me."

"I Feel Like a New Person."

Mrs. GEO. LEACH,
1609 Belle St., Alton, Ill., writes:

"Before I began to take your Vegetable Compound I was a great sufferer from womb trouble. Menses would appear two and three times in a month, causing me to be so weak I could not stand. I could neither sleep nor eat, and looked so badly my friends hardly knew me.

"I took doctor's medicine but did not derive much benefit from it. My druggist gave me one of your little books, and after reading it I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel like a new person. I would not give your Compound for all the doctors' medicine in the world. I can not praise it enough."

GROVES

TASTELESS CHILL TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS.
WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.
Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,
ABNEY, CARR & CO.

Greatest Healing Salve in the World.

CPC

Cures Constipation, Inflammation, Ulceration, Internal or External Piles.

Bruises, Burns, Vulvitis, Old Sores, Vaginitis, Cuts, Chapped Face and Hands.

Cure guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50c. Take no other. For sale by all druggists.

C. P. C. Co., P. O. Box, 610, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS.

Heroes of War.

From the Chicago Times-Herald.

The feeling of admiration for heroes of war seems to be innate in the human heart, and is brought to the surface as the opportunity and object for such hero worship presents itself.

Among those who proved their heroism during our Civil War was A. Schiffeneder, of 161 Sedgwick street, Chicago. He is an Austrian by birth, came to America at the age of twenty and soon became an American citizen. He was living in Milwaukee when the call for volunteers came, early in 1862, and he promptly enlisted in Company A, of the Twenty-sixth Wisconsin Volunteers. In the Army of the Potomac our hero saw much fighting, campaigning in the Shenandoah Valley.

He received a wound.

In the first day's fighting at the battle of Gettysburg, Schiffeneder received a wound in the right side, which afterward caused him much trouble. With a portion of his regiment he was captured and imprisoned at Bell Island and Andersonville, and afterward exchanged. He returned to his regiment, which was transferred to the army of General Sherman, and marched with him through Georgia to the sea.

In this campaign Mr. Schiffeneder's old wound began to trouble him and he was sent to the hospital and then home. He had also contracted catarrh of the stomach and found no relief for years.

"I happened to read an account of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People about a year ago," he said, "and thought that they might be good for my trouble. I concluded to try them. I bought one box and began to take them according to directions. They gave me great relief. After finishing that box I bought another, and when I had taken the pills I felt that I was cured. I recovered my appetite and ate heartily. I can testify to the good the pills did me."

Mr. Schiffeneder is a prominent Grand Army man in Chicago, whither he moved some years ago with his family.

Found Missing Link.

"Ah, ha!" ixclaimed the great discoverer, joyfully, "at last I have found the missing link?" and crawling from under his bed, he proceeded to put the small gold affair in his clean cuff.—New York World.

TEACHER: "You are plentifully slow with your figures, Tommy. Come, now, speak up quickly. If your father gave your mother a $50 bill and a $20 bill, what would she have?" Tommy: "A fit."—Harper's Bazar.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

School will be dismissed presently—do not go home without leave.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The wine of life bursts many of its bottles.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

To be unloving is to have life's burden without its benefit.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

H. H. GREEN'S SONS, of Atlanta, Ga., are the only successful Dropsy Specialists in the world. See their liberal offer in advertisement in another column of this paper.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco is the "best of the best." 2 ounces and cigarette book for 10 cents. Try it.

We think Piso's Cure for Consumption is the only medicine for Coughs.—JENNIE PINCKARD, Springfield, Ills., Oct. 1, 1895.

The Bible in words of one syllable—faith, hope and love.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

All vice is unscientific and self-love is idiotic.

HOBSON'S SENSE OF DUTY.

Incidents in the Early Life of the Hero of Santiago.

Donaldson Caffrey, jr., son of the United States Senator, and District Attorney for his judicial district, was a classmate of Hobson's at the Academy of Annapolis.

"Hobson," said Caffrey the other day, "is one of the most exalted characters I have ever known. He had a will of iron. His religious tendencies somewhat associated him in my mind with Stonewall Jackson, it was so pronounced. He was a hard student, attended with the most scrupulous regularity to every detail of discipline and of duty, and in all his work at the academy never forgot his Bible.

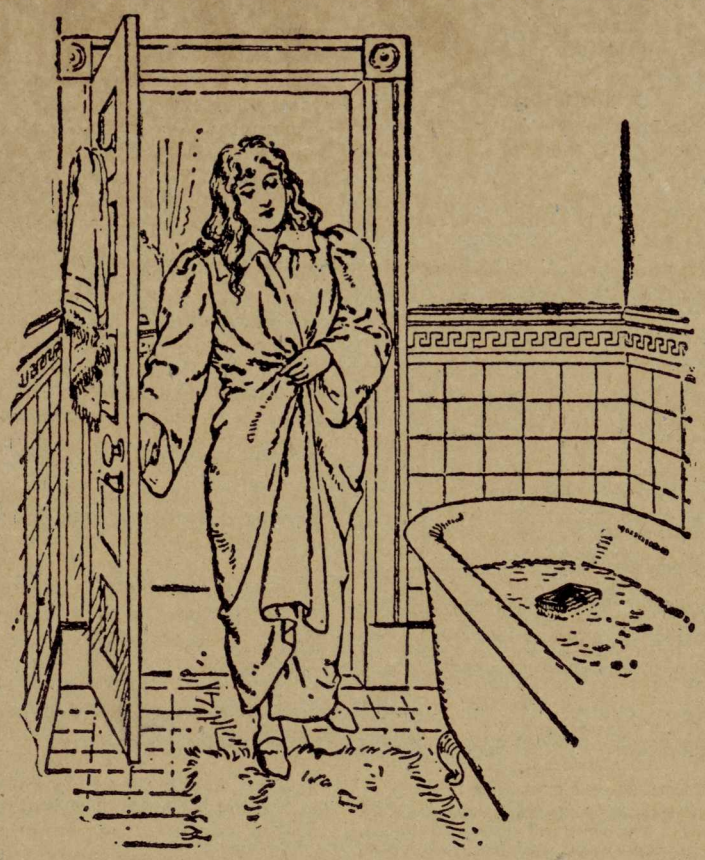
"There is an unwritten law at Annapolis that the officer of the senior class in the last year shall not report small irregularities and infractions of discipline among his classmates, and, like everything at the Naval Academy, this law is rigid, and is always respected. Hobson, however, saw his duty in disregarding it, and made himself so unpopular with the boys that to a man they all cut him. This had not the slightest effect upon him, however, for he was doing what he conceived to be his duty, and nothing could ever deter him from the performance of duty. I only saw one variation from this rule of his, and I am inclined to believe it was in his conscience no variation at all. It was when we went out cruising. Those young tigers were on the alert for the slightest opportunity to haze, and the man who is so unfortunate as to give an opening, has a rocky time of it, indeed. I remember that inadvertently I threw myself down on the mess-table on the first day out. My comrades pounced on me, and, pretending this was a heinous offense, had some fun at my expense, which I shall never forget.

"You must know we have all the amiable traits of young savages and just about as much mercy. I wondered on this trip if Hobson would have the temerity to kneel and pray. There was not a man of the crowd, out of the many superb youngsters, who would have flinched in the mouth of the cannon, with the hardihood to kneel and pray before the boys. But Hobson quietly kneeled and prayed before turning in for the night. The boys succeeded in making that unbearable for him in time and he eventually quit it. I am convinced, however, that he desisted simply because he concluded the quiet of his bed would be better conducive to a religious frame of mind, and not because he had not the moral courage to kneel and pray before the whole body of us. However, a great many of us, I am sure, did the same thing."

The Value of the Army Cook.

The value of a good cook in camp is thus estimated by Lieutenant Henry J. Reilly, U. S. A.: "If the cooks know their business the rations are well cooked and palatable; the men are contented, the sick-report has but few names on it, and their duty is easily and readily done. If there are no good cooks in the company, underdone pork, soggy beans—covered with greasy water for soup—and miserable coffee cause discontent, a large sick-report, duty poorly done, with much grumbling, and finally a small company, which the men are anxious to leave, and to which they never return if they can help it. In active field service, when three and five days' rations have to be carried in the haversack on long marches, or when strong pickets are sent out and each man has to cook his own food, arises the greatest difficulty. Those who have some knowledge of cooking get along very well and utilize anything eatable they can find, while those who have not this knowledge, unless helped by their more fortunate comrades, generally fall out and their names soon appear on the sick-list."

Church processions are prohibited in Mexico. Even a priest cannot legally walk the streets in his churchly garments.



The bath can be made an exhilarating pleasure by the use of Ivory Soap. It cleanses the pores of all impurities, leaving the skin soft, smooth, ruddy and healthy. Ivory Soap is made of pure, vegetable oils. The lather forms readily and abundantly.

IT FLOATS.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

Climbing Up and Down Stairs

CARRYING heavy burdens, washing, ironing, scrubbing and other laborious duties are productive of an enormous amount of suffering among women who are already weak and prostrated by the ravages of female diseases. The performance of these heavy labors is obligatory to many women, but the suffering is not. This feature of the household burdens may soon be removed if women will only take the trouble to learn how. A few bottles of will regulate all menstrual irregularities, and restore the entire female organism to its proper condition. Take St. Joseph's Liver Regulator in small doses if there is any tendency to constipation or indigestion.

GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK

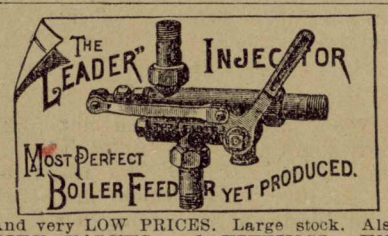
BED-FAST FOR A YEAR.

Gerstle's Female Panacea has made a most wonderful cure on the wife of one of our tenants. She had been bed-fast for twelve months, but your medicine has cured her and she is loud in her praises of same.

HIXON BROS., Claiborne, Ala.

Get this medicine from your druggist. If he does not keep it, send us $1.00 and we will send you a bottle, all charges paid.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Props., Chattanooga, Tenn.



and very LOW PRICES. Large stock. Also PIPE, VALVES and FITTINGS. ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS and REPAIRS.

Lombard Iron Works & Supply Co.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

Place Your Money

in a Bank until we secure you a paying situation. We pay railroad fare. The largest, best and cheapest business schools in the South.

Massey's Business Colleges

Columbus, Ga. Birmingham, Ala.
Montgomery, Ala. Jacksonville, Fla.

Write at once for Catalogue No. A.

The Best BOOK ON THE WAR BEAUTIFULLY bound and sumptuously illustrated (price $2), free to anybody sending two annual subscriptions at $1 each to the Overland Monthly, SAN FRANCISCO. Sample Overland, 5c.

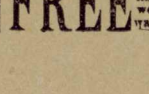
MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-36

AGENTS WANTED in every county to sell "WAR WITH SPAIN." A complete history of the war from beginning to end. Most complete and authentic book published. Superbly illustrated. Big commissions. Handsome premiums. "BONANZA" for agents. Outfit free on receipt of 20 cts in postage to pay mailing. Order outfit at once and secure first choice of territory. Address
D. E. LUTHER PUB. CO., Atlanta, Ga.

ST. ANDREWS COLD TEA FOR THE LIVER

CURES INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA.

For sale by dealers. For sample package send 2c. stamp to
ANDREWS MFG. CO., Bristol, Tenn.



$3.19 Cash with order buys this Auto. Self Cocking Nickel Plated Rubber Handled 6 Shot Revolver, 32 or 38 C. F. or send 20c. & will ship C. O. D. $2.99 and allow examination. Fire Arms Co. Winston, N. C.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send or book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

FREE Send your address and we will express 50 fine 5c. cigars. When sold, remit $2.50 and we will mail you free a handsome stem-wind watch. WINSTON CIGAR CO., Winston, N. C.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

CLIFTON NEWTON, - EDITOR.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.0 per year, in advance

Thursday. September 15, 1898

Help us to make the News, the best weekly in the state.

Every body is getting ready for alarge business this fall. Are you husling for your share?

If you are proud of your town dont you think it would be a good idea to help her paper all you can.

The Montevallo merchant is the man who gives you credit when you have no cash to buy the necessaries of life, he is the man who helps you pay your taxes to run your school, and he is the man that you appeal too when in distress, then why ignore him when you have cash to spend. Montevallo merchants will sell you as cheap as you can buy in Birmingham.

We are not responsible for the following: "We live in a land of high taxes: low valleys and low wages; big crooked statements; big lakes: big strikes, big drunks, big pumpkins, big men with pumpkins heads, silver streams that gambols in the mountains and pious politicians that gamble iu the night: roaring cataracts and roaring orators: fast young men and farter girls: sharp lawyers, sharp financiers and sharptoed shoes; fertile plaines that lie like a sheet of water, and thousands of newspapers that lie like thunder.

Teachers Institute

Program of Teachers Institute to be held at Columbiana Sept. 23rd and 24th 1898. Opening exercises conducted by Rev. W. I. Sinnott, at 9:30 a. m. Sept. 23rd

1st Song.

2nd Welcome address Hon. W. B. Brown.

3rd Response. Prof- J. L. Ruffin.

Music.

4th Enrollment of Teachers.

5th How should we train pupils in habits of self control J. C. Burgner. W. H. Bird.

6th Teaching primary Arithmetic. Miss Lou Ella Lyon.

7th Teaching Fraction. L. Booth Riddle.

8th Teaching Percentage. P. Wr Acton.

9th Are lady teachers better for the primary grades than gentlemen, General discussion by the Institute.

10th The evil effects of quarreling and complaining by the teachers. Miss Ophelia Galloway and M. E. Pelham, 11th Teaching language lessons. Prof. W. B. Greek.

12th Teaching Grammar. S. P. Williamson.

13th Teaching reading first, seccond and third grades. Miss Georgia Cromwell. H. M. Abercrombie

14th Teaching reading fourth & fifth grades. Miss Nannie Fulton. H. A. McKinnon.

Music.

Seccond Day Saturday September 24th at 9 a. m.

1st Song and prayer.

2nd Teaching Politeness and good manners. Miss Minnie Kidd.

3rd Teaching Punctuality truthfalness and honesty. Prof. C. H. Florey.

4th Ccrporal punishment in School.

5th Question Box conducted by Prof. F. Mynatt.

6th Address on Institute work John H. Mooney.

7th What are the ends of Education? Miss Lucy Smith,

8th Five minutes talks by the Teachers.

Eugene Williams,
Supt. of Education.

DOGWOOD ITEMS.

Mr. Jim Patersons house was burned Friday night. Mr. Paterson lost all of his furniture.

Cary's mines are running again, they are expecteds to run regular.

Deputy Harrison, and Jim Vest had quite a chase last week, they went out to Cary's mines after a white man who was wanted for grand larceny.

ALDRICH ITEMS.

Mrs. Lizzie Nash, and son Geo., of Belle Ellen, was in town Sunday.

Prof. W. B. Greek, was in the city on Monday. He will probably teach our school next session.

There was an interesting game of ball on Saturday between the Blocton "Rough Riders," and the Aldrich team. The scores were 13 to 10 in favor of the "Rough Riders." One marked feature of the game was the perfect order on the grounds.

A shooting scrape occurred on Sunday afternoon, in which, Lovenia Green, a negro woman, was shot through the heart by, a negro, Jim Hill, a stripling about 17 years old. It was claimed to be accidental as there will probably be a legal investigation, comments are unnecessary.

At the hall on Monday evening at 8 O'clock the Montevallo and Aldrich branch of the Epworth League, met for their Rally. The services were opened by the singing of hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name." After prayer by Rev. P. L. Abernathy, Miss Woodward, of Miss. was introduced, and in a recitaion gave a sketch of Browns troubles when he got his hair cut. Her well modulated voice and gestures show that she is perfect mistress of the art, and places her in a high rank with the Elocutionist of the land. Dr. Culver was then introduced and for more than an hour his eloquence held the attention of the audience. He out lived the objects and works of the Epworth League and Christian Endeavor, and other kindred associates. His oddress was replete with pathos and wit. His illustrations showed that Christianity was practical and not merely theoretical. The musical part of the evening entertainment was well appreciated. Time and space forbids a more extended notice, but I cannot close without tendering our thanks to Bro. Abernathy for his untiring energy in procuring for us the presence of Bro. Culver, and I am sure that I but echo the wish of all that they may long be spared to help along the good work.

Let us have another Rally at Montevallo in the near future

(Continued from first page)

Like the elephant, he has a trunk, but he doesen't always take it with him.

The elephant does.

As to what man is really good for anthropology is still in the dark.

Being strong, he is used to carry pictures carry news and pull revolvers.

He is also fast and often goes in the human race.

Properly trained, man can jump higher than any other known animal. He has even beeu known to jump moufain resort board bills.

Although in many ways man is like other animals, in this respect, he is different from them all; he lies standing up.

B. W. WRENN, JR.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,

COMMERCIAL LAW SPECIALTY. ATLANTA, GEORGIA

DR. J. P. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, September 5, 1898.

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.

UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science

PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.

For catalogue or other information, apply to

JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address

C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

DR. G. W. SHACKELFORD,

DENTIST,

ATLANTA, - - - GA.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

WINE OF CARDUI

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. Monroe, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....	$1.00
Six months, cash in advance	.50
Three months, cash in advance..	.25

LOCAL.

Mrs Brown and her Neice have returned from a visit to Stantonr

For Sale.—A good typewriter Apply at the News office.

Col. R. T. Newton, will open a bakery and market soon.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandergrift.

Banks have nearly completed Kroell store.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Prof. Kilpatrick is having good success in getting up a school here,

Try a bottle of V.V.V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it.

Miss Nellie Rhodes, has returned from an extended visit to Calera.

Don't forget that Morgan Bros. are the people who advertise.

J. C. Rowe, of Dadeville, will clerk for Mr. Crabbe this fall.

See Morgan Bros. line of carpets'

Mr. Chas Meroney blowed himself for a big street lamp, let others do like wise.

Elegant line of dry goods at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Messrs C. C. Dill, Herman Harper, and Wayne Bayan, left Tuesday for Talladega, Mrs Brown has bought the old George Hadnot place, and expects to move soon.

Do you know we have a news stand in Montevallo.

Mr. Johnson is building a fine butcher shop on his lot next to the creek.

C. L. Meroney & Co. sell pure high grade groceries.

Capt. Reynold's new building is nearly finished, he had it built to accomidate the schooll girls

Go to C. L. Meroney & Co. for a perfect fitting suit of clothes.

Mr. B. C. Crabbe, attended the pumpkins Husters convention at Dadeville last week.

See the show windows at Meroney's, W. E. Perry, late of Birmingham is the artist

Harry Strong left Saturday for Birmingham, where he goes to except a position with the gas Co.

Heiser's celebrated line of mens high grade goods at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Capt. Reynolds is having the big spring blasted out, to give agood basin for the water works.

Ladies buy Krippenderf, Dittman & Co. fine shoes from C. L. Meroney & Co.

Mr. W. E. Perry, is with Meroney again. Will came down from Birmingham Saturday, he says Birmingham is too slow for him.

Place your yearly subscriptions for magazines, periodicals, etc. with W. B. McCluney & Co.

Geo. Lawrence, will leave soon for Blocton where he will take a posotion with Higginbottom & Davenport, as assistant book-keeper.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Miss Ada Dill has opened a dressmaking parlor in the rear of Martin's Jewelry store, she will be glad to see her old customers, and others desiring work done.

All the popular magazines periodicals and news at McCluney & Co.

Dr. Berkstreser's pet is doing nicely we hope he will be out again soon, he has a nice little carbuncle for rent, sale or to give away, as he has no more use for it

News stand opened at W. B. McCluney & Co.

"A terrible accident. Edgar's wheel bucks agasn. Mr. Edgar Allen went to Aldrich Monday night on his bucking wheel, just as he reached the city the chain broke, he was compelled to ride back in the buss with the young ladies. Was this one of his schemes."

Our line of hats are up to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros

Ginghams, Checked Percales and Duck, the latest styles for shirt waists, at Morgan Bros.

A large crowd went to Aldrich Monday night, to the Epworth League Rally.

Wanted, a position by a young man to teach music, reference furnished as to ability.

Apply to A. A. Roebuck.
Aldrich, Ala.

Mr Burgess Little visited the Majic City Tuesday.

In the absence of Dr. Givhan and Dr. Wilkinson some thief appropiated to his own use $90.00 belonging to Dr. Wilkinson. A liberal reward will be paid for their apprehension.

Miss Lucile Wilkinson has returned from her summers vacation.

For Sale.—We have for sale a good organ, in good order, which will be sold at about one third of origional cost.

Ed Lolenthal, of Selma Ala, dropped into a jay town one day with a new brand of cigars his house had sent him, He went into the store of Mizery, Lucas & Co, and tried to sell the old codger a few hundred of the new goods. The crabbed old codger said "Havent got time to look at anything now, entirely too busy" Besides I am satisfied with staple lines, I always have to give a thing a trial my self before I buy it any how. Ed kinder halted but making up his mind not to be broken so short, says, "I guess you handle a good many kinds of pills Mr. Mizery? "yes sir a pretty good many I reckon" replied uncle Fuller. "Well said Ed, if you try every kind of pill you keep before buying it, I guess you are too busy to look at my new line of cigars." Uncle Fuller paid for the drinks.

You invite disappointment when you experiment. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick headache just as sure as you take them. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Ladies———Please
Wait and see our line of dress we have best. Suitable triming to match. Morgan Bros.

DEATH.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kroell had th misfortune to loose their baby Wednesday morning. The News extende sympathy to the bereaved family,

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. F. F. Crowe & Co.

Mr. S. F. Lenard has made a contract witn the Higginbotham Lumber Co. to keep the books and log the mill. We wish him much success.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Torbert have moved here to take charge of the Dormintory.

Miss Woodward, of Pontotoc Miss. is visiting Rev. P. L. Abernathy.

Dr. Crowe went to Talladega to attend the Populist congressional convention Wednesday.

Mr. I. J. Dunklin, of Greenville Miss. has excepted a position as assistant Druggist at W. B. McCluney. Mr. Dunklin is an expert in his line having been in the drug business for a number of years.

NOTICE.

I would like to swap or sell 80 acres of land for 20 acres of land with a good house on it. Said land is four miles from Montevallo, in a good neighborhood, and near two churches. There are 35 acres cleared and 45 in timber, all lying level. There is lasting water on the place. Within one-half mile of Dogwood station. For further particulars, apply at the New office, or address J. A. Roebuck. Montevallo, Ala.

Subscribe for the News.

What the fellow that don't advertise think of Morgan.

I sit at my door day by day,
And watch the folks at Morgans;
They come and they go
Like the flakes of the snow,
While I sit at my door
All alone.

I think I'll step down to Morgans,
And ask how he makes business pay
His goods go like hot cakes,
And great profits he makes,
While I sit at my door
All alone.

Now this is the tale that he tells—
His goods so quickly he sells,
Because he is wise,
And does well advertise,
While I sit at my door
All alone.

I shall try this wonderful cure,
There are customers still to secure.
Then like Morgan,
Fair or foul be the day,
I'll not sit at my door
All alone.

All aboard for success!
Quick time most surprising
Is made on the train
Of Good Advertising.

For broken surfaces, sores, insect bites, burns, skin diseases, and especially piles, there is one reliable remedy, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. When you call for DeWitt's don't accept counterfeits or frauds. You will not be disappointed with DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. F. F. Crowe & Co.

TAPS

Over the hills, where the sun went down
In a dying glory of red and gold,
Was a swath of crimson, where death had mown
His grist in the chapparal—stiff and cold—
Grand physiques for the grave's dank mould—
Ah, that the grave should such enfold!
The reaper hath reaped what the sword hath sown,
And will hold till the scroll of time be rolled!

Over the hills that they stormed that day,
Man and man like a solid wall,
Knowing no thought but the one, "obey,"
Following orders, that is all—
While the gaps close up as the heroes fall,
And the black smoke curls like a funeral pall
Over the dead that shall live for aye,
Though they sleep till the reveille's waking call.

Dotting the hills where the fight was won,
Poor rude mounds where the dead men sleep;
Hot is the glare of the tropic sun,
But cold they lie in their slumber deep,
Knowing not of the ones who weep,
Heedless of fame that their names shall reap,
Resting awhile after work is done,
Till the sunbeams glint where the shadows creep.

—New York Sun.

How Bingham Missed His Chance

"You are working too hard, old man," said Jack Bingham's friends, one after another, as they saw his ruddy cheeks turn pale, his springy, elastic tread become dull and dragging, and heard less and less often his cheery if not exactly tuneful whistle.

But to all their good advice and earnest protests Jack turned a deaf ear, smiled a little, and kept at his tasks the steadier.

None of his friends properly appreciated Jack's unusual devotion to labor, for none of them knew its incentive—that he was in love. She was a dainty little thing, always admired by men and rather looked down upon and at the same time envied by her own sex; at home the pet of her parents and in society an imperious and exacting young belle. Just the kind of girl, in short, with whom it was the height of folly for Jack to be in love, and consequently the object of the most ardent adoration on his part.

Preserving a measure of clear-headedness even in his worship, Jack plainly realized that as the head of a household where economy was necessary his idol would prove a melancholy failure. Resolving, therefore, to earn enough money to prevent her from worrying as to ways and means, he worked early and late, steadily and hopefully. The copy he turned out was good in spite of its volume; his regular salary from his paper was increased, together with his duties; and his income from outside work reached an astonishing figure.

Still, the money did not come fast enough to suit the impatient lover, who thereupon began to worry and fret. Now the man who works with his brain sixteen hours a day, and worries and frets in addition, has not a long career of usefulness before him, be his motives what they may.

Jack's eyes gave way first. Specks and blurs floated in them, and through them jumped pains that drew his head down on his folded arms in spite of himself. His feet and hands grew heavy, as if his blood had turned to lead. Six months before he had gone up or down the office stairs in three jumps. Now they seemed to grow longer every day, and often he stopped half way with a queer little catch in his side. Presently the pain that gnawed at the back of his eyeballs refused to yield even to sleep. Then Jack grew afraid, but did not let his fear keep him from his work.

He was not sure of himself in those days, and adopted the precaution of reading over aloud whatever of importance he had written. One day it came about that as he read, his tongue seemed suddenly swollen and useless, and he could not utter the words his mind framed. He turned to his typewriter and placed, as he thought, the heading he desired on the article he had written but could not read.

When the foreman in the composing room saw "The Love of Ethel" introducing a column of interviews on the tariff, he laughed at first, and then, remembering Jack's looks of late, grew grave. Soon he made a pretext for consulting Jack—but not about the tariff article—and saw in a moment that the mischief was not caused by whiskey.

Soon the managing editor came and Jack was led away to a cab, babbling thickly about Ethel, his work and the money he had saved; money that proved a godsend in the long months that followed. For Jack was an orphan, his friends were careless, happy go-lucky bohemians, and brain fever is an illness that demands the most skillful of physicians and the most careful of nurses. So when Jack came to himself again, very pale and thin and quiet, he knew that his precious store must be drained low.

That troubled him little, however, compared with his torturing doubt of Ethel. Why did he not hear from her? Why did not she come to him now that he was so much better? The kindly doctor had noticed Jack's trouble; by a quiet inquiry had discovered what probably lay at the bottom of it; and so had an answe ready for Jack when the latter screwed up his courage to ask for Ethel. She had been as ill as he, they told him, and like him was now slowly but surely recovering. And Jack must not worry about her in the least, for the doctor would bring him news from her every day.

So Jack kept obediently quiet among his pillows, listening intently for the doctor's footsteps, and flushing like a girl when the news was good, as, somehow, it always was. One day the brown-eyed nurse brought him a great bunch of roses, bought at the price of her week's salary, and told him that Ethel had sent them. When she saw how Jack buried his face in the roses and kissed their petals lingeringly, as if they were Ethel's lips, a wave of angry hate surged in the nurse's heart for the girl who could play with such a love, forget it and forsake it. The wave, receding, left its traces in the trembling of the cool white hands that smoothed so deftly his hot pillows and brushed so gently his thick, wavy hair.

But not a word escaped her lips, and Jack's evil day might have been put off indefinitely had it not been for Evans, the blunderer. When Jack grew well enough to see his friends for a few minutes at a time Evans was one of the first to call, and with his usual ill luck plunged directly into condolences. Jack did not quite understand at first, but Evans, floundering ahead, soon made it clear to the invalid that Ethel had not been ill; but that, on the contrary, while the issue of his illness had been still doubtful, she had thrown him over and had announced her engagement to another.

After that Jack went back into the valley of the shadow and knocked at the very gates of death. But the doctor and the nurse, working desperately together, pulled him away and led him back into a gray sort of lightless life. Whereat he was not so grateful as he ought to have been. And when he found that he must get well, whether he would or no, he announced that he was going back to work at once. The doctor remonstrated, commanded, begged, in vain, and the shy pleadings of the nurse had no effect.

Back he crept to his old haunts, a thin, pale ghost of his former self. The young fellows who were doing his work looked at him with a pity that was akin to fear and asked themselves: "Shall we, too, come to that?" For they thought that work had caused his illness, and that illness had made him what he was.

His old desk had long since been in the possession of another, but the proprietor, when Jack asked for a place, gave orders at once that he should be employed at whatever he was able to do. The managing editor, eyeing him dubiously, but recalling the brilliance that had once been his, turned him over to the city editor. And the city editor, whom Jack had had instructed in the rudiments, did not forget the debt he owed, but placed "Bingham" opposite the easiest assignments in his book until the staff would have risen in open revolt had the object of this favoritism been any one else.

As it was, Jack himself was the first to complain. Banquets and balls, receptions and races, lectures, sermons and interviews, quickly cloyed the appetitie of the newspaper man who had been used to the strong meat of journalism for his daily diet.

"Give me something with blood in it," Jack said to the city editor one day. "I'm tired of this woman's work. When I was on earth before they were not afraid to send me out after big stories once in a while."

"It's for you we're afraid and not for the story, Jack, and you know it," expostulated the man on the city desk. "Even the Kid believes that no man on the paper can work up a sensation with you. But you're not strong enough yet for a rough job, Jack. Look in the glass and see for yourself. Just take it easy for a while longer, old man, and trust us to work you hard enough by-and-by to make up."

The "story with blood in it" came sooner than any one expected. The very next night Jack chanced to be alone in the reporters' room when the city editor came to the door and cast a worried glance around.

"No one else here, Jack?" he asked. "Then you will have to go. I hate to send you, for it's a hard trip, but we'll help you out all we can. They have just telephoned me from the union station that there's a big smash at Mad River. A wreck train will go out in ten minutes. Catch it on your life. Rush in a first story for an extra and then plan to do the introduction for the later editions. I'll get more men out to you just as soon as possible. They will report to you and you can lay out the work for them. You know what to do better than I can tell you. There's a cab at the door. And take as much care of yourself as you can."

Before the last words were out of the city editor's mouth Jack was half way down the stairs, pulling on his overcoat as he went. His nerves were tingling with that subtle elation of conflict which newspaper men know as well as do soldiers on the verge of battle and sportsmen in sight of big game. He whistled under his breath as the nighthawk cab jolted and jounced him over the stones to the station, and when no other reporter appeared to claim a place on the wreck train he even hummed a tune, something he had not done for months.

As the train rushed along through the night Jack learned all that the railroad men could tell him of the disaster. An extra freight and a through express had collided on a curved embankment which skirted the banks of a river. In the strong light of a summer day the landscape was a picture of beauty; the long sweep of the black tracks through the green valley and by their side the clear water of the stream rippling over bright, yellow sands.

The scene Jack looked upon that winter's night was as fascinating in its wierd horror as was that of summer in its vivid coloring. Out of a clouded sky the moon struggled in vain to pierce the heavy, snow-laden darkness. Upon the track and tumbled on either side engines and cars were piled in huge, formless heaps. Stifled shrieks and screams sounded from the depths of the black masses. Here and there the gleaming lanterns of the trainmen darted like will-'o-the-wisps, frequently converging upon one point, where lay a torch-guarded row of the dead.

Suddenly, while Jack strained his eyes to pierce the gloom, a little tongue of flame leaped into the darkness.

"The wreck's afire!" cried the railroad man at his side, and there came as if in answer from the chaos a shrill cry of forture.

The fire, leaping from point to point, licked greedily at the dry wood of the splintered cars, and again the piercing shriek made Jack shiver in spite of himself.

Clambering over the mass of wreckage in the direction from which the screams seemed to come, he found, almost at the bottom of the great pile, a woman, saved from instant death by a freak of fate, but pinned down and cramped until movement was impossible. She had swooned at the crash of the collision, apparently, and had been brought back to consciousness by the heat of the advancing flames.

One glance and Jack knew the face. "Ethel!"

He reeled as he cried the name and the woman shrank back even towards death at the sound of his voice. In a moment the weakness passed and he attacked the imprisoning pile. Help came from all directions and slowly a way of escape was opened.

But the flames swept swiftly on, scorching the girl's delicate flesh, charring her golden hair and dragging from her shrieks of pain that tore the hearts of those who heard them. Jack's feverish strength increased with each recurring cry, and he pulled and lifted with a power that amazed his helpers and himself.

At last he reached her, held her in his arms for a single moment, then passed her back to willing hands. On the instant a piece of iron, its supports burned away, dropped from the overhanging pile and felled him in his tracks. They thought he was dead when, senseless, he was rescued. But presently, in an improvised farmhouse hospital, he came back to consciousness to find a flood of pale-gold hair covering his face, to feel the warm kiss of full lips on his bloodless ones and to hear a sweet voice say,—

"Jack! My Jack! It is Ethel. Don't you know me?"

If Jack had been physically stronger perhaps the barriers which long months of bitter contempt had raised would not have been so easily swept away. But as it was he whispered, "My darling," and raised one arm weakly to fold about her neck. Afterwards he was very glad that he did, for the truth came out little by little; he learned that the fault was not Ethel's but her matchmaking mamma's, and that in the girl's own heart he had never been supplanted.

It was some months later, when Jack returned, hale and hearty, and with new hope in his soul, to his work, that the city editor said,—

"Too bad you had to miss your chance at the Mad River wreck, old man."

"Chance? What chance?" asked Jack, bewildered.

"Why, don't you remember that you were the only newspaper man on the spot? If you hadn't got knocked out we should have had the scoop of the year."

"By Jove! That's so," said Jack, regretfully. "And I had quite forgotten it."

At about the same time the doctor was saying to the brown-eyed nurse,—

"What a chance Bingham missed!"

"Chance for what?" she asked.

"For getting even with that girl, of course. Instead of forgiving and forgetting, he ought to have turned his back on her and married you. He owed a great deal to you and he knew it."

The nurse moved quickly away, but not until the doctor had seen that the brown eyes filled with tears at his words. He had learned what he wished to know, but there was a pain in his own heart because of it.—Waverley Magazine.

In each wing of the ostrich twenty-six long white plumes grow to maturity in eight months. In the male these are pure white, while those of the female shade to ecru or gray.

FOR THE YOUNG FOLKS.

HUM-UM-UM.

Said little brown Bee to big brown Bee:
"Oh! hurry here and see, and see,
The loveliest rose—the loveliest rose
That in the garden grows, grows, grows,
Hum-um-um—hum-um-um,"
Said little brown Bee to big brown Bee.

Said little brown Bee to big brown Bee:
"Much honey must be here, and we Should beg a portion while we may,
For soon more bees will come this way,
Hum-um-um—hum-um-um,"
Said little brown Bee to big brown Bee.

Said big brown Bee to little brown Bee:
"The rose is not for me, for me,
Though she is lovelier by far
Than many other flowers are.
Hum-um-um—hum-um-um,"
Said big brown Bee to little brown Bee.

Said big brown Bee to little brown Bee:
"No honey-cup has she, has she,
But many cups, all brimming over,
Has yonder little purple clover,
And that's the flower for me, for me.
Hum-um-um—hum-um-um,"
Said big brown Bee to little brown Bee.

—[Margaret Eytinge.

THE LOST WINGLESS BIRD.

A generation or two ago travelers in the Arctic Sea used to find great flocks of ungainly birds, with practically no wings, standing like watchmen along the rocky shores. The birds, some of which were over three feet high, had webbed feet and very short legs, and were almost helpless while on shore, but once in water they swam with wonderful rapidity using the stubby wings that were of no service for flying, and cutting through water with the smoothness of a ship under every sail. These monster black birds, with their huge beaks and white, downy breasts, were the great auks, now extinct, for they were so easily overpowered that sailors and the native of the localities used to kill them with clubs by the thousands.

There is a story that the last living, great auk was seen about fifty years ago by the natives of St. Kilda. Some of them captured the then unknown creature after a hard struggle and took it to a town, where the "island Parliament" was sitting. The bird was tethered for the night and the next morning the parliament deliberated upon its fate, finally deciding that it was a creature of evil omen and should be stoned to death. This was done accordingly, and months after the natives had learned that they had killed a harmless bird that could have been sold for perhaps $2,000 to any museum in Europe.

A PRINCESS AND A PUDDING.

Little Princess Ena, daughter of Princess Beatrice of Battenberg and granddaughter of Queen Victoria, is a young miss with a will of her own, as well as a little temper. As a vent for the latter she once upon a time kicked the footman's shins at luncheon. The pudding was the cause of rebellion—possibly it was the Queen's favorite semolina pudding. At any rate, her majesty was at the table and objected, with grandmotherly solicitude, to a second helping for the Princess Ena, whereupon her young royal highness kicked the footman. She was detected in the act and bidden by her mamma to withdraw from the room. Upon reaching the door she turned around and, fixing her eyes upon her grandmother, startled that old lady with the shocking remark:

"Well, I don't care, anyway, and you're a horrid, fussy old thing, anyhow."

Seeking the seclusion of a remote apartment, she happened upon her brother's tutor, an amiable young man, who was somewhat amused after a time—which he had spent in entertaining the young lady with agreeable conversation and not aware that she was in disgrace—with her remark that she liked him very much, "and you are the only person in the house who understands me."

WHAT SPOILS THE SWEET TOOTH.

A little boy who is quite well acquainted with the man who keeps a grocery on North State street, happened to be in there the other day when the grocer was weighing out sugar. The white, glistening stuff appealed to the little fellow's sweet tooth and he asked for a lump of sugar.

"The grocer laughed. "The idea," he said. "You mustn't eat it. It will rot your teeth."

"Why?" asked the boy. He had been told such things many times before, and many times before had he asked "why," but never had he received a satisfactory answer.

"Oh," replied the grocer vaguely, "because it will. All sweet things break the enamel on your teeth and rot them."

Then the boy arose in the might of his injured pride. "I don't see," said he, "how that can be. Sweet things oughtn't hurt any more than sour things, or bitter things, or not so much, in fact."

And the little chap was right. But he didn't know it, nor the grocer didn't know it. Consequently, it is just as well to enlighten them and at the same time correct the generally prevailing erroneous impression. Sugar, and other sweet things in themselves do not hurt the teeth—that is, it is not the quality of sweetness that is injurious, but the fine, sandy particles that abound even in the most highly refined sugar. These scratch against the teeth and break the enamel, but the innocent sweetness gets the credit for all the damage.

DOLL PINCUSHIONS FOR THE SOLDIERS.

A little girl who had no pennies to give and wanted to make something for the fair given in her town "to help the soldiers" contributed a very odd and pretty trifle in the shape of a doll pincushion. As there may be other little girls anxious to help the soldiers who are minus pennies and ideas, a description of the pincushion may be of use.

Dollie, who was a very small wooden jointed one, measured just two inches high. The skirt, which formed the pincushion, consisted of four pieces of black cloth, each shaped like the quarter of a circle. These were pinked out at the lower edge, and the pieces, after being sewed together separately, were all joined together. In front there was a similar piece of scarlet cloth, which, like the two black quarters on either side, had a leaf shaped design worked on in white transparent beads.

The little cape which dollie wore was also red, with the edge and front prettily finished with loops of beads, which trimmed the tiny red cap glued on to Miss Dollie's head, and also made the necklace which she wore. Any little girl with a few patterns of cloth and some beads can make a similar pincushion or even a pen-wiper with just a hint or two from mother.

A SEA CANDLE.

In these days of gas and electric lights it seems very strange to hear of burning whale-oil in lamps or even to use petroleum, but an actual candle that grows in the sea, and is alive, too, is still more strange.

This candle is the fattest of fat little fish, and it is found in the northern seas, the very region where it is most needed. It is quite ornamental by moonlight, and glitters like pearls in the water because of its shiny armor. The Indians of Russian America and Vancouver Island catch the little fish—which are about as large as smelts—with immense rakes, having teeth made of bone or sharp-pointed nails, and every time the rake is swept in one fish at least, and sometimes three or four will be found fast on each tooth.

To make them into candles the women take a long wooden needle, and thread it with a piece of rush pith, which is drawn through the fish from head to tail. When this wick is lighted the fish burns steadily in its rough candlestick—only a bit of wood split at one end to hold the candle—and gives a light bright enough to read by. It is not very probable, though, that the natives use many of them for this purpose.

Large quantities of these useful little fish are turned into oil—but not to be burned in lamps. It is the favorite supply of winter food, and helps to keep out the terrible cold of those long northern winters. When Mrs. Indian has oil-making on hand the children probably find it worse than washing day or cleaning house, and are glad enough to take their little bows and arrows or spears and go off until things are quiet again around the lodge.

First the squaw makes five or six large fires, and throws a number of large, round pebbles into each to be heated very hot. Four large square boxes of pine-wood are ready by each fire, and in every box she piles a layer of fish, which she covers with cold water, and then puts in five or six of the heated stones. When the smoke has cleared away small pieces of wood are laid on the stones, then more fish, water, stones and wood, until the box is filled. The liquid from this box is used for the next one in place of water, and the floating oil is then skimmed off from the surface. This oil is put into bottles which are also found in the sea. An immense seaweed with hollow stalks that widen like a flask at the root is gathered for this purpose, and each bottle will hold nearly a quart of oil. Candle-fish is the every-day name of the oil-giver, but on great occasions it is Salmo pacificus.

The Traits of the Kitten.

All the cat's habits show it to be by nature a solitary animal, says Louis Robinson in "Wild Traits in Tame Animals." Even in early life, when family ties bring out the instinct of association, this is apparent. If you compare the play of puppies with that of kittens you will find in one case that companionship of some kind is an essential, for if a puppy has no playmate of his own species he will always try to make one of the nearest biped; whereas a cork or a bit of string is all that is necessary to satisfy the requirements of the kitten. The way in which the cat takes its food is a sure sign that in its natural state it is not in the habit of associating with greedy companions.

When given something to eat it first carefully smells the morsel, then takes it in a deliberate and gingerly way, and sits down to finish it at leisure. There is none of that inclination to snatch hastily at any food held before it which we observe even in well-trained dogs, nor does a cat seem in any hurry to stow its goods in the one place where thieving rivals cannot interfere with them. Indeed, no greater contrast in natural table manners can be observed anywhere than when we turn from the kennel or the pigsty and watch the dainty way in which a cat takes its meals. That a cat allows people to approach it while it is feeding without showing jealousy proves that it does not attribute to human beings like tastes with its own.

New York Charities.

No city in the world approaches New York in doing good to the poor and needy. The benevolent contributions, public and private, of which any record is kept, aggregate between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 annually in Manhattan Borough alone. The private charitable institutions in old New York represent a real estate valuation of nearly $40,000,000. Our hospitals have reached the astonishing number of 101, many of the institutions being housed in palatial buildings equipped with every modern device for the amelioration of the condition of inmates, while there are 189 other establishments provided with departments for the relief and care of the sick. We have hospitals under the patronage of several religious denominations, yet all freely admit patients regardless of class, color, creed or previous condition of servitude. Many wealthy people prefer hospitals to their own homes as places of refuge during serious illnesses, recognizing the numerous advantages in medical service and attendance.—New York Press.

ALLIGATORS PLAYING PYRAMID.

Rules of the Game as They Appear to an Outsider Watching the Sport.

Did you ever see the alligators at a Zoo play "pyramid" or any other of their famous games? They wrestle like old-time Graeco-Roman boys, and strain and struggle in all sorts of ways at it. When, finally, one wins by getting the other on his back, a funnier thing occurs. The victor makes a sound like escaping steam, then the others make sounds like escaping steam—alligators' applause, if you please. Then they all become still and watch the vanquished brother squirm to get off of his back and onto his legs again. If he's longer in doing it than the gang think is proper they move up in single file and give him a jab with their jaw in his upturned body. When finally he gets hmself righted all hands again set up the steam escaping racket, cheering him long and as loud as they did his victor. Their meaning no fight is shown by their never hurting each other.

A great midsummer pastime of the alligators in the Zoo at Cincinnati is playing pyramid. The 'gators play pyramid several times a day. To see it done you'd declare that the ugly things had been trained to it. But no. It's just one of the ways of the sporty side of their life. The game comes on by one of the bigger alligators uttering the steam hissing noise. This calls the others to attention. Then the big ones says a line or two of alligator talk and stretches himself full length in the center of the pen. No sooner is this done than a little bit smaller alligator crawls on top of the other and stretches out lengthwise, but head to tail with the other. The second one being settled, a third, a little smaller alligator, climbs on top of the second and settles down as the second one did. They keep this up until six or seven have builded themselves into as strange a pyramid as ever an eye beheld. After each one has settled on top of the other he lies perfectly motionless, so that when the pyramid is completed it appears as same marvelous carving.

But this effect lasts only about two minutes after the pyramid is finished. Then comes a new chapter of the act. The Sandow 'gator underneath all starts to crawling. He heads for up and down places in the pen, the game clearly being to see how long it will take him to jolt his strange pyramid load to pieces. And right here develops what appears to be a strict rule of the game. Say there are seven in the pyramid, and the sixth from the bottom jostles off first, taking, of course, the seventh one with him. You'd naturally think the game done for that sixth and seventh alligator. But not at all. It seems that the sixth one is in disgrace for having been shaken off before the seventh one, who was top of the heap. Therefore, what does the seventh do but cling to the back of the sixth, after they have fallen off, and proceeds to ride Mr. Alligator No. 6 around the pen until Mr. Sandow Alligator has succeeded in dumping the whole shooting match. If the fourth is shaken off before the fifth, the fifth like the seventh, proceeds to ride his disgraced "next" until Sandow gets rid of all his load and another game is started.

It is claimed for the Washington Artillery of New Orleans, La., which was organized in 1846, that it is the oldest artillery organization in the United States. It was the first in the South to tender its services to the Government in the war with Mexico, and on the day after acceptance it was ready. It now is composed of five batteries, with a total membership of about 350 men.

NEW STORE !

WHEN YOU NEED

... FRESH :-: GOODS....

Of Every Description,

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN TO CALL ON

Mrs. A. B. PAYNE,

SOUTH MONTEVALLO.

(West Old Stand, Near Foot Bridge.)

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tabules with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthopist, and do a beneficent deed—one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Roosevelt Hospital prescription, which is the basis of the Ripans Tabules, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hegeman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tabules were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

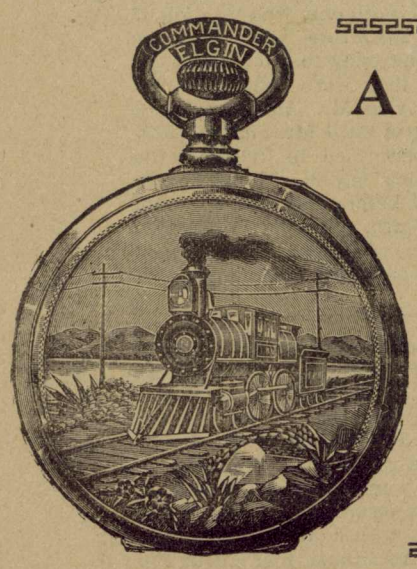
He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tabules is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of these, through the recommendation of friend to friend. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intrinsic merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them specially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Fordham Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tabules for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tabules recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $2 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tabules lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should parade her name in the newspapers, but to do this the elder lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tabules to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly affected to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES packed in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some Druggists—FOR FIVE CENTS. The low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (60 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of some grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at some liquor stores and barber shops. One gives relief.

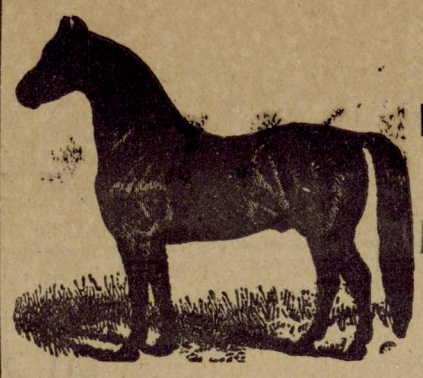


A Man...

Without a watch wastes a good deal of his own time and other people's also. It's all unnecessary, for anyone can own a watch now at the prices we are selling them. You can pay just as much or little for one as you want to.

J. W. MARTIN,
Montevallo, Ala.

Established in 1882.



GEO. KROELL'S

Livery, Sale, Exchange and

FEED STABLES.

First-Class Rigs, Gentle Horses

And Careful Drivers

FURNISHED DAY OR NIGHT

We keep on hand a variety of Horses and Mules for sale for cash, or on time. Anything from a fancy driver and saddler to a cheap priced work horse. Also all kinds of vehicles and harness.

When You Want to Ride or Buy, See Me.

FRANK J. KROELL,

Office at Store. Manager-

Subscribe For THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦♦

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1898. NO. 39.

JACKY ON SHIPBOARD.

His Hammock is a Portable Folding Bed of the Most Improved Kind.

"Jacky," as the sailor-man is called, does not have to provide either his own bed-linen nor his own food. He does not provide bed-linen, because it is a luxury for which he has no use, and, even if he had, he would not know where to put his linen when he was not sleeping upon it. Jacky's bed is a hammock, and is a folding, portable bed of the most improved kind. People who swing hammocks on verandas in the summer know nothing whatever about Jacky's style of bed. His is made of an oblong piece of stout canvas, fitted with eye-holes in the ends. In the eye-holes are made fast small ropes, called "clews," and these are lashed at their outer ends to a ring. When Jacky's folding-bed is open for use it hangs by these rings from hammock-hooks fitted to the beams under the decks. Jacky has a mattress and a blanket in his bed, and he has to keep them there. When he "turns out," as getting up is called, he rolls his hammock up on its longest axis, and lashes it with a rope provided for that purpose. There must be seven turns in the lashing, with one exactly in the middle. The clews are tucked in under the lashing. Jacky is allowed about ten minutes to turn out and lash his hammock. Then he goes up on the spar deck and hands his hammock to one of the stowers, who drops it into the nettings. The "nettings" are simply troughs in the ship's rail. A tarpaulin is hauled over the hammocks and laced down to keep the rain out, and there they stay till they are served out again at night. In the meantime, if Jacky desires to sleep, and in war times he does very often need a nap, he must perforce seek the gentle caresses of a steel battle-hatch or an oily alleyway, where cooks and marines do break in and coal-passers corrupt. But a paternal Government provides the hammock for Jacky, and also allows him the use of the deck.—From "A Warship Community," by W. J. Henderson, in Scribner's.

Frightened Into Health.

Fear is sometimes curative, although vastly less so than the opposite emotions of joy and hopeful expectation. Dr. Tuke reports the case of a man suffering from rheumatic fever who was instantly cured by the shock and fright of a railway accident. Sharp relates a similar history. Hysterical paralysis has been cured by sudden fright, although such occurrences are rarer than is generally supposed. Michea, a celebrated physician, one of the most profound in the knowledge of mental diseases, used to write insulting anonymous letters to some of his patients in order to cure them, and with good results in some hypochondriacal cases. Physicians have sometimes had recourse in hysterical cases to threats or sudden fright to check dangerous symptoms when all other remedies have proved useless. Amann tells of a hysterical patient who suffered from tetanic convulsions and trances, and whose father treated her with blows and cured her. Pansanicis relates that a youth recovered his speech in the fright caused by the sight of a lion; and Herodotus, in his history, narrates that the son of Croesus was dumb, and that at the taking of Sardes, seeing a Persian with drawn sword about to kill his father, he cried out, overcome with fright, "Kill not Croesus!" and from that moment he was able to speak.—Tit-Bits.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

There are 230 glaciers in the Alps said to be over five miles in length.

Vultures cannot discover a carcass by the sense of smell. They rely entirely upon their sight when in quest of food.

Recent researches on metallic lithium have shown that this metal cannot be distilled in either hydrogen or nitrogen gases, vigorous combination occurring in both cases.

Water turns to steam at 212 degrees, and if it suddenly vaporizes at these high temperatures in the interior of the earth, the pressures that result are nearly equal to that of gunpowder.

The number of minor planets known between Mars and Jupiter now conconsiderably exceeds 400, of which M. Charlois, of Nice, has discovered eighty-six, while Herr Palisa, the Australian astronomer, has detected eighty-three.

The origin of the gulf stream is said to be "due to the reaction of the atmospheric upon the oceanic circulation; that is, it is caused by the winds and modified by the form of the continental shores and the differences of rotational diameter of the earth between the equator and the poles."

The bottom of the Pacific, between Hawaii and California, is said to be so level that a railroad could be laid for five hundred miles without grading anywhere. This fact was discovered by the United States surveying vessel engaged in making soundings with a view of laying a cable.

An Old Family Bible.

Mrs. Billard, the daughter of the late Rev. Oldrin, who lives in Stamford, Conn., owns, probably, the oldest Bible in existence in the State. The Bible came into her possession by inheritance from her father, who was pastor of the Methodist Church here, when the Hoyt brothers, two of them, Oliver and William, famous as millionaire leather merchants in the "Swamp," New York, became members of that church. The book is in the original binding and well preserved, the Old Testament part having been printed in 1597 and the New Tastament in 1596. The covers are of wood, and the book is the size of the family Bible seen in the house of almost every New England family. Inscribed on the yellow flyleaf are the words:

"Edward Oulldron owns this book, and after his death to his son Edward Oulldron, given by his grandmother—1651."

Later on it appears that the spelling of the family name had been changed, for below the name "John Oldrin" is the inscription:

"Edward Oldrin's book, given by his father on his deathbed in the 1827, July 28, to be kept in the family."—New York Sun.

His Father Made Coffins.

A little boy named Peter at a public school saw his teacher faint and fall. In the general confusion it was hard to keep so many heads cool, and the little ones flocked round the prostrate woman and her sympathizing colleagues. But this small boy kept both his color and his coolness. Standing on a bench and raising his hand, he exclaimed: "Please, teacher, can I run home and tell father to come? He makes coffins."—New York World.

The oldest university in the world is that of Pekin, China, which has graduated 60,000 students.

"MAN WHO LOST HIS SHIP."

The Shirt Drummer's Veracious Tale of an Incident on the Road.

A New York shirt drummer tells an interesting story of an experience en route to New Orleans. Shirt drummers are regarded as exceptionally veracious men, and if this story isn't true, at least, ought to be. Anyhow, here it is: "I came via Atlanta," said the traveler, "and some little distance out of that city was lounging in the smoking compartment when in walked a tall, rather solemn-looking young man, plainly dressed and apparently bored. He sat down and opened a newspaper.

"Presently a fat, red-faced fellow, one of the breed they call genials, tried to rope him into conversation.

"'Going far?' he said.

"'To Atlanta,' the stranger replied, pretty short, but still courteous.

"'What might be your line, if I may ask?' the fat man continued.

"'My line?'

"'Yes, your business, I mean.'

"'Oh! I'm a sailor, a sea-faring man.'

"We could all see that the young man was annoyed, but the fat gent became interested at once and took a fresh start.

"'A sailor,' he repeated. 'Well, I'd never of thought it. You were an officer, I suppose, of course.'

"'Yes, sir,' said the other. 'I've been an officer.'

"'Yes, yes. I have a cousin that's a steward on the Umbria. Did you ever command a ship yourself?'

"'I did once,' answered the young man.

"'Indeed! I hope you had good luck with her.'

"'That depends upon what you call good luck.'

"'Why, you didn't lose her, did you?'

"'I did.'

"'Dear me,' said the fat man, sympathetically; 'piled her up, I suppose, as they say at sea? I've heard that a captain never gets another job when once he piles up a ship, though he may be as innocent as a babe unborn.'

"There was silence for a while. Then the fat man started again.

"'May I ask,' he said, 'if you expect to get another ship?'

"'Can't say I do,' snapped the victim.

"'Dear me, dear me? That's tough luck. By the way, what might be your name?'

"'Hobson,' said the young man."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Doubtful Relative.

A stern professor in a Chicago preparatory school for girls sat at his desk, trying to unravel a knotty problem, when a fluffy-haired miss of sixteen approached. "Please, sir," she began, in a tremulous voice, "will you grant me permission to go out riding with my brother this afternoon?" The old man had not forgotten the days of his youth, and, looking over his spectacles, he slowly said: "So you want to go riding with your brother, do you? By the way, is this brother of yours any relation to you?"

Odd Theft in Paris.

A theft of a peculiar nature took place in the Avenue Daumesnil. A Government office is situated in that avenue, and when the clerks came down one day they found that the safe had been broken open and official stamped paper to the value of $2500 stolen. This must be "swag" somewhat difficult to realize on, and the police are satisfied that they will catch the thieves as soon as they attempt to turn their booty into cash.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

One may smile and smile and be a villain still.—Shakespeare.

Fear nothing as much as sin, and your moral heroism is complete.—C. Simmons.

The first indication of domestic happiness is the love of one's home.—Montlosier.

Good humor is one of the best articles of dress one can wear in society.—Thackeray.

Nothing is so haughty and assuming as ignorance where self-conceit sets up to be infallible.—South.

Make yourself an honest man, and then you may be sure there is one rascal less in the world.—Carlyle.

The hours we pass with happy prospects in view are more pleasing than those crowded with fruition.—Goldsmith.

A house is never perfectly furnished for enjoyment unless there is a child in it rising three years old, and a kitten of six weeks.—Southey.

It is one of the most beautiful compensations of this life that no man can sincerely try to help another without helping himself.—Herbert.

A man has no more right to say an uncivil thing than to act one; no more right to say a rude thing to another than to knock him down.—Johnson.

The "America's Cup" Challenger.

In view of the probability that Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock will be the next yacht to sail for the America's cup, it is expedient that we make Sir Thomas's acquaintance and try to discern what manner of man he is. The announcement came by cable, almost simultaneously with the news of the prospect of a challenge, that he had given a hundred thousand pounds to a Princess-of-Wales fund to provide cheap meals for London workingmen. We may infer from that that he has money to spare and is not adverse to spending it, provided the occasion appeals to him.

He is an Irishman by derivation, though born in Glasgow, Scotland. He laid the foundation of his fortune by selling Irish bacon to the Scotch. When Irish bacon ceased to be procurable in quantities big enough to supply the markets he found for it, he fell back on Chicago, where he has long had large interests in the pork-packing industry. His fortune is said to have been very greatly swelled by investments in Ceylon, where, after the coffee-bug had destroyed the coffee plantations, he bought a number of estates that came into the market and planted them with tea. It was an experiment, and turned out to be successful and very profitable.

Besides being rich, shrewd and benevolent, Sir Thomas is credited with being a very lively sportsman, who will make the best race that British wits and British money can provide for, and will prove in all respects a good and reasonable man to sail against.—Harper's Weekly.

Expensive Cameos.

At the sale of the Morrison cameos in London a Greek ring set with an intaglio of Bacchus from Tarsus was sold for $1150, another ring with a figure of Bacchus for $925, the signet of Asander, King of the Bosphorus, from Kertch for $2300, the Sessa ring for $725 and a fine intaglio bust of Domita for $420.

The smallest tree in the world is the Greenland birch. Its height is less than three inches, yet it covers a radius of two to three feet.

Subscribe

For

THE NEWS.

Only One Dollar Per Year, Strictly in Advance

P. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

BOYS What sort of a start are you going to make in life? Are you going to make money and be successful business men? Or are you going to wear yourselves out in the cheerless drudgery of hard labor? Half of this depends on your parents, the other half on you.

YOUNG MAN Wealth and honors await you if you prepare yourself to take them. Men succeed WHO ARE READY. If you want to be paid a good salary you must make yourself worthy of it. There are thousands of $50 a week places begging for good men, and millions of $3 a week men beginning in poor places. If you are worth $50 a week you will get it—sure. We prepare our students to fill the most responsible positions in counting rooms and offices in [illegible] two months. The best equipment a young man can have to [illegible] in the world is a course in

Eastman NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE

of the NEW YORK BUSINESS INSTITUTE, 81 E. 125th Street, New York, N. Y.

[illegible] time and money by going to [illegible] when it will cost you less to attend the largest [illegible] having a number of students in attendance who have left [illegible] months before graduation. Such people often tell us that six months here is equal to a year in any other school. Besides, such schools rarely or never obtain positions for their graduates. We do.

SECRETARY for first information of a vacancy for a Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Clerk or Telegraph Operator, which we successfully fill, and secure situations promptly for graduates of Business and Shorthand courses. Bankers, Merchants and prominent patrons in almost every county in the United States. Thousands of testimonials on request. Students enter any time. No vacations. Expenses moderate. If you are seeking employment and willing to study send for our beautiful book giving much helpful information. Address as above. (Mention this paper).

CLEMENT C. GAINES, President, POUGHKEEPSIE and NEW YORK

WITH THE CHURCHES:

Methodist Episcopal.

A packed house greeted pastor Abernathy last Sunday at eleven o'clock services. The subject, Christ the King, was handled with unusual ability. He said; "The truest wisdom is to seek Christ, who stands for good in all things. We should have the principals of Christ in all our works and relations of life. Business and educational advantages increases the responsibility to make our life a constant examples of virture to those around us."

Dr. Simpson, of Tuscaloosa, Presiding Elder of this district, preached Sunday evening at 7:30 He spoke of Christ as strictly a personality and His direct personal influence in saving the world. "We cannot depend on even the highest ideals of morality as a saviour or uplifter, without the application of the Devine Christ to the individual heart."

Dr. Simpson is a speaker of grace and power and it is a treat to hear him.

There will be preaching at the Baptist Church next Sunday.

Be sure and atteud the League next Sunday afternoon at the M. E. Church at 4 o'clock.

Eat apples and bananas every day. Get them at F. F. Crowe & Co. Post Offie

If you want to be healthy eat fresh fruit. Find it at F. F. Crowe & Co. Post Office.

R M Carothers. Selma.
I B Kemp. ,,
Dr. J P Haley. ,,
D G Lindsy Birmingham.
J B Morton. ,,
Emmitt Welsh. ,,
J H Moffett. ,,
B G Linsy. ,,
A Stephens. ,,
Cary Jones. ,,
B F Tyler. ,,
R A Gilbert. ,,
F P Dunnam. ,,
S D Rogers. Knoxville.
J A Bingham. Talladega.
E N Draper. ,,
G Patterson. ,,
Prof. Howard Greggs. ,,
Jno E Berkstresser.
F A Sims. Sweetwater.
A C White Louisville.
F M Erwin. Rome.
S C Smith. ,
C N Prichard. Bell Ellen.
Julius Atto. Macon.
J C Roberson. ,,
Miss E A Kennedy. New York.
J T Luper. Columbiana.
O G Hall. New Orleans.
W H Cooper. Centreville.
W M Burt. Pellsboro.
W M Meeks. Gadsden.
J S Smith Montgomery.
Miss. Mamie Wisdom. ,,
Mrs. Wisdom. ,,
Miss. J S Smith. ,,
A C Hill. Eutaw.
S P Smith. Meridian.
M C Fits. Centerville.
J W Wollwork. Blockton.
Col. W D Thomas. ,,
J F Boganier Bell Ellen.
C H Beals & Miss. T Beals. Montt
R E Walling Midland.
Mrs. W T Reed & daughter. Gothite.
Col. Tpears. St. Clo Ari.
M F Gardner. Mobile.
T A Turner. Anniston.
F P Phillips ,,
N A Graham. Calera.

News stand opened at W. B. McCluney & Co.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

WINE OF CARDUI

Bigest pencil tablets in America for five cents at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Montevallo Select School.

A Male Institute.

With Preparitory Department for Boys and Girls.

Faculty up to date—20 years experience, Terms low—Work thorough—New house complete in 30 days. Girls Industrial patrons, prepare your sons for colleg with us,

J. B. Kilpatrick. Principal
Mrs. J. B. Kilpatrick, Assistant

Cold drinks at Rogan's

Go to Rogans for fine candies fruits and cakes.

The formal opening of the Industrial Wednesday, was well attended and highly injoyed- The Blocton Cordet Band rendered delightful music. Dr. J P Simpson made the first address which was full of good humor, commonssence and extraordinary eloquence. The next speaker was Capt. R F Kolb. The same geanial smile that has won thousrnds, was still present. He promised to do all in h power to increase the appropration for the Girls industrial. He hopes to see a thousand young ladies here in few years. Dr. Davdson, of Southside Baptist Church, of Birmingham address the audiance in that delightful style for which he is noted. The hit of the occasion was the rendation by the talented Miss. Gramberry. She is the newly elected teacher in Expression and is cetainly a model in her line. Editor Graham, of Calera Sentinel, spoke, frvoring the extention of the school facilities for girls. Mrs. Babb closed the exersise by reading a splended address. She is a woman of strong individuality and is veritable inspiration to all around her. She looks on the bright side of life and is very hopeful of the future for the Institution which produces so much for the advacemrnt of the girls of Alabama.

Our line of hats are up-to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros

---

In the United States Circuit and Destrict Cort, at Birmingham, the case of W. R. Weaver, Admiusstrator, against the Louisville and Nashville RR. ; a suit which grew out of the now famous Cahaba River Bridge wreck, in which Mr. Weaver lost one of his sons, was settled to the entire satisfaction of Mr. Weaver and his Attorney, our fellow townsman, Judge J. M. Reynolds. Judge Reynolds spent almost the entire week in attsdance on the Cort, looking after this case, and deserves great credit for the successfull termenation of it.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

The New goods have arrived at the New York Racket Store.

Don't light a splinter, 12 boxes of matches at Kroells for 10 cents

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. INNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONRO, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Mrs. W. A. Jonnson, has moved into the C. W. Cary house.

Heiser's celebrated line of mens high grade shoes at C. L. Meroney & Co.

We want a correspondent at every Post Office in this section. Send us the news of your neighborhood.

If you want cheap building lots call on C. C. Vandergrift.

Mr. J. W. Martin moved to the Finley place this week.

☞When you want to go to the depot order Kroell's Bus.

Ward Hunnicutt, of Thorsby has accepted a position with Geo, Kroell as salesman.

Try a bottle of V.V.V. for that tired feeling. F. F. Crowe & Co. keep it

J. H Lee, one of Montevallo's efficient mechanics added his name to our subscription list this week.

Don't leave town for any length of time without having the News follow you.

Do you eat caudy, apples and bananas? Find them first class at F. F. Crowe & Co. Post Office.

Write letters on good paper. The lates styles and best qualities at F. F. Crowe & Co. Post Office.

Don't forget that Morgan Bros are the people who advertise.

J. W. Martin has just received a lot of haudsome new watches. Call and see them.

See Morgan Bros. line of carpets'

Dose your watch keep good time? If not have it examied at Martins the Jeweler.

Don't injure your eyes. Martin the Jeweler keeps spectacles suitable for school girls and all ages.

Mrs. J. T. Brown, of Birmingham, said, in renewing her subscription, that she could not do with out the News.

Mr. J. C. Dill has returned from Mississippi, where he has been in business for the last three years.

Ladies buy Krippendorf, Dittman fine shoes from C. L. Meroney & Co.

Mr. Farman, of Brierfield, is contractor forthe handsome new school buildin which is being erected by Pros. J. B Kilpatrick. The Prof. is due much credit and should be encouraged in his noble effort to establish a first class preparatory sceool here.

WANTED–To exchange a $25.00 set of furniture for a good milch cow. Call on M E. Ham at St. George Hotel, Montevallo Ala.

Have you seen that big pumpkin at F. W. Rogans? It is the largest one ever brought to Montevallo.

The young ladies of the Industaial can have their little brothers and sisters with them, if they will have them come to Montevallo and attend the Preparatory School taught by Prof. Kilpatrick.

Elegant line of dry goods at C. L. Meroney & Co.

We print this week a notice of the marriage of Miss Mary Lee Perry and Mr. P. O. West which came too late for publication in last issue. We wish for the happy pair a long life of prosperity.

Mrs. A. B. Payne has in her store honey put up in pound cases and sealed by the bees themselves. The bees are so kind to prepare the honey ready for the market. It is a curiosity, go over and look at it and you will want some bees right away.

Some re kl ss, good for nothing brainless thing, who never take pleasure but in mischief broke th street lamp in front of the hotel Monday night

Three for five. A box of toilet soap at Lathams & Co. three cakes for five cents.

Kroell sells twelve boxes of matches for ten cents.

Mr George W Allison, of Piedmont. spent several days in town this week He inters two daughters and a niece in the Industrial Mr Allison is a prosperous and inteligent man and knows how to appreciate our good school.

Use first class stationery. Buy it from F. F. Crowe & Co.

W H Cosper, leading society man of Centreville, spent several days in town this week

Have you seen the beautiful stationery at W B McCluney & Co.

Judge H. Austell, of Mobile, spent Monday in Montevallo.

Buy your fall suit, best and cheapest at C. L. Meroney & Co

Col. Spears, of Pell City, was in town this week.

Call and see the new lot of saddles and bridles at Morgan Bros.

Mr. William Meeks, of Gadsden, was in the city last Saturday. He brought a daughter to inter the Industrial.

Wanted, a position by a young man to teach music, reference furnished as to ability.

Apply to A. A. Roebuck. Aldrich, Ala.

Mr. W. F Aldrich gave the Montevallo boys a farewell ball last Friday evening. Ice cream and cake was served and the young people enjoyed themselves till two o'clock.

Place your yearly subscriptions for magazines, periodicals, etc. with W. B. McCluney & Co.

A trunk belonging to one of the incoming school girls, was carelessly left on the rail-road track and was totally demolisned by the train.

All the popular magazines periodicals and news at McCluney & Co.

FOUND–At the News Office, Montevallo, a space to let the people know what you want. Tell the public what you want and you will receive it.

Miss Kate Shuford has returned from Centreville, where she has been visiting sister for the last two weeks.

Do you know we have a news stand in Montevallo.

C. L. Meroney & Co. sell pure high grade groceries.

While waiting for a room to be fixed up for a photograph gallery, we will in the meantime call at any place or residence for the purpose of making photos of those who wish them. Please see specimins of our work at Fred Rogan's store.

Respectfully.
R W. Carleton

J B Whatly

First Class Painter Calera Ala

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber.
Montevallo. - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

I. W. Session

Luwber Manufactory

Orders for plain lumber filled on short notice at lowest prices.

Also Gin and Griss-Mill.

Patronage Solicited.

On Montgomery road east of Montevallo

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabama

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

LOVE PASSED BY

As in a dream I saw her where she stood,
God's sunlight on her lips and in her face.
Her brown locks rippling thro' a maze of lace,
And in her cheeks the mantling of warm blood,
And all her ways instinct with subtle grace.

I could not tell what skies were bent above,
Nor what sweet incense lingered in her train;
I only felt the burning palms of love
Laid on me, and the moaning of a dove
That fluttered in my face, with sudden pain.

And she had passed, as if no curse were born
Of all the love-light sleeping in her eyes.
The frowning day was ravished of its morn,
And onward crept from burning noon, forlorn,
Westward, enshrouded by the sobbing skies.

—Atlanta Constitution.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

It was a summer night in Cawnpore in the year 1857. Two lovers stood within the convenient shade of a veranda saying a long farewell—till the morrow. The stars were shining with that radiance which makes the peculiar glory of an Indian night, and the air was heavy with the scent of the champak blossom.

"Good night, my darling! I must go, and each moment only makes it harder to leave you."

"Go then! Who is keeping you?"

"You! You witch! How well you know your power. Haven't you kept me ten whole minutes when I ought to have started on my rounds ages ago?"

"I have kept you! How dare you imply such a thing? I have been longing for your departure. I—I am very sleepy," with a carefully simulated yawn and wide open mischievous eyes.

"Well, I am going. Really, this time. By-the-by, you know I cannot come till late to-morrow evening. I wish to goodness I were not adjutant. What's the use of a few extra rupees when it takes up all my time so that I never see you now?"

"Oh! what a story and what a frown! I can see it quite plainly."

"You cannot! I can only just see your white frock and the lines of your hair and that scarlet thing on your head, and—your eyes. I see them wherever I am. When the Colonel gives me an order, I stare straight over his head, till I know he thinks I have gone crazy, and I see, there—in the air—two dark brown eyes, sparkling with wickedness and shining like the stars above us now—and——"

The remainder of the speech was arrested by a little hand which was laid lightly upon his lips, and which naturally met the fate it deserved. There was complete silence in the shadow of the veranda, only broken by her soft and hurried breathing, and a slight stir as she nestled into his arms and was clasped for an instant to his breast. The syce (native groom), who was crouching near beside his master's waiting horse, raised his drowsy head and wondered if they had gone into the house again. But just then the farewell was finally accomplished, and he listened curiously to their parting words.

"Good night, Dick. Be as early as you can."

"Good night. Of course I'll be early. It will be years before I see you again."

"Be sure you recognize me then! You silly! Good night."

Master and servant turned at the gate of the garden and looked back. She had stepped out of the shadow, and it was bright enough for them to see every detail of her white muslin dress, flounced to the waist, and to catch the gleam of her uncovered neck and arms. Dick Manners even imagined that he could distinguish the curve of her dark head outlined against the scarlet bow and see the star-like shining of her eyes. He sighed as he rode away. It was so hard to leave her even for a few hours; and the heavy, clinging scent of the champak blossom oppressed him and seemed to lie as a weight uuon his heart.

It was in May, 1887, when a party of English men and women rode through the streets of the native city of Lucknow. They were going to visit the shops of the famous gold and silver workers, and were accompanied by an escort of native police for their guidance, and, though the ladies of the party scoffed at the idea, for their protection as well. The bazaar at Lucknow has too bad a name for any Englishman to care to take his womankind there without a show of force.

The streets are very narrow, and the houses have, in many cases, overhanging balconies to the upper stories, creating a feeling of oppression even in riders, who are raised above the masses of many shaded humanity with which the countless lanes and alleys are filled. The crowd was rather a silent one at that time—7 in the morning. There were cries, indeed, from the unclothed children, who fought each other, and shrill reproofs from their mothers, who, returning from the wells with brass pots balanced on their heads, had no hands with which to punish their mischievous offspring. Besides the lower caste women, whose garments were of the scantiest description, there were women of the higher class, with veiled faces and shrinking forms, who, gliding along in the shadow thrown by the overhanging roofs attracted the attention of the English ladies, and they had to have the whole system of "purdah" explained to them. Mrs. and Miss Villars were ostensibly traveling through India, but excepting for a fortnight in Bombay, and a hurried visit to Cawnpore, they had spent all their time in Lucknow. At first Mrs. Villars used to speak about once a week of the necessity of their seeing "Delhi and Benares and Agra and everything," but lately she had become silent on these points and seemed to be waiting, with the rest of the society in cantonments, for the announcement of an event which would, in all probability, give Miss Villars ample opportunity for visiting these famous cities in turn and without any need for haste!

Edith Villars was typically English in appearance, having soft, fair hair and gray-blue eyes, and with the latter she now gazed as if fascinated at the shrouded figures which passed her in an endless stream. They filled her soul with terror. She felt that each of those veils might cover some awful tragedy, a tragedy whose horror was increased ten-fold by the seal of silence and of secrecy, typified by that shrouding veil.

Suddenly she turned to her companion, a gray-haired man, strong and upright, a man in the prime of life, and whose whole appearance, from the tip of his pointed gray mustache to the tip of his polished riding boot, was as typical of the English officer as hers was of the English girl.

"Did you notice that woman, Col. Manners?" she asked.

"Which?" said he, gazing at the numbers by which they were surrounded with a natually bewildered expression.

"Just on ahead. There—now—look. The one with the pretty blue—sarry, do you call it?"

"Sari," said Col. Manners, instinctively correcting her pronunciation. "I see the woman, or rather the figure you mean; but what is there extraordinary about her?"

"Only her feet. They are white, quite white. Isn't it funny?"

"Oh, no. They often look white with the dust of the road, and, besides, some of them are fair. Perhaps that particular woman is a hillwoman—a Kashmiri, they are sometimes as fair as—no, not you—but many English girls," and he glancer admiringly at her dazzling complexion.

But her remark had evidently impressed him, and for some time he, too, watched the passing women, gazing always at their feet. And it seemed to him that there were many white, horribly white. Strange stories came to his remembrance, stories which were whispered just after the mutiny, that all the missing English women and girls had not been killed. That thought had nearly maddened him once, even now he shuddered and saw with thankfulness that they had arrived at the Chauk, the part of the bazaar where the best goldsmiths' shops are situated, and remarkable for the beantiful carving of the wooden balconies which overhang the porches where the work is carried on. The travellers were loud in their praises and comparisons with every picturesque town in Europe, giving, however, as they felt correct, the preference to this city of "the gorgeous East."

The principal police officer soon ushered them into one of the largest shops, a low-ceiled room with a mud floor, while he whispered to Col. Manners that the owner was the biggest rascal in the whole bazaar, but also the best worker, and that the English "memsahibs" would see some wonderful things. Col. Manners, who had often performed the duty of showman during his stay in Lucknow, knew exactly what to explain, and waited expectantly for the inevitable exclamations of astonishment over the fire—a few pieces of glowing charcoal in a broken earthenware pot, the very primitive bellows, worked by an almost naked, shining little boy, and the few rough and simple tools.

The proprietor was a stout man, greasy and repulsive looking, and with an air which made Col. Manners look even sterner than his wont. His words were sharp as he bade the man show his goods as quickly as possible. The ladies thought all natives alike and noticed nothing wrong with the man's leer and sly glances or the way in which he directed all his remarks and compliments to the young girl. They watched him make a few silver bangles, and bought some curious ornaments which were lying about the shop, but Mrs. Villars had set her heart upon buying a certain kind of nose ring, and there was not one to be seen. When the silver worker understood her wish he went to the back of the room, where, in the shadow, Col. Manners had seen a crouching figure, and, saying a few words in a low, harsh tone, he returned to his customers with a particularly fine nose ring, encrusted with turquoises, in his hand. Mrs. Villars was delighted, and, while she conducted her bargaining with the aid of the policeman, her daughter wandered to the back of the shop.

She was astonished to find a woman seated there, and more, that she wore the identical sari which had attracted her attention on the road. Instinctively she looked down to see the woman's feet, but the whole form was shrouded in the usual way, nothing was visible but the face, and upon that the girl gazed with a growing horror on her own. It was the face of an old woman; dark hair was parted and brought low over the forehead; there was no color in the sallow cheeks, and the eyes glittered out of bony hollows. They were wonderful eyes, the only remaining trace in that countenance of a long past beauty; but now they were awful, too, for misery and humiliation, rage and despair, glared out of their brown depths as the English girl bent over them, half fascinated, half appalled.

A voice sounded across the room:

"Come, Miss Villars, we must be going. There is more for you to see, and the sun is getting hot. And"—with a tender, half proprietary tone in his voice as he came near her—"I don't half like your being here any longer. Ah, what have you found there?"

Over the miserable eyes into which she was looking there came a sudden change. They positively darkened with an expression of the acutest agony. Was she suffering—ill? Edith bent closer, but a fierce gesture of the hidden arm forbade her kindly touch and she could not speak—the woman would not understand English. She felt relieved to know that Col. Manners was beside her, and silently pointed to the huddled form. For a few, brief seconds his clear, blue eyes met those other brown ones—those eyes, awful with the extremity of shamed despair, and filled with such longing as might burn in those of some lost soul who gazed across the impassable gulf into the kingdom of the blest.

With a deep-drawn sigh Col. Manners passed out and looked up, half unconsciously, to the dark blue sky above.

"These hovels are stifling; the charcoal fumes make them unbearable. Fancy living in one! No one but a native could!"

But, even as he spoke, he threw off the depression caused by the charcoal fumes, or that uncomfortable looking old woman in the corner, and turned to look proudly at the tall, beautiful, fair-haired girl who was already, surely, his own.

Miss Villars had not answered him. She stood hesitating on the threshold, shading her eyes from the dazzling glare before her, thinking of the blackness, the wretchedness behind her. She felt it would be long before she forgot that face; those eyes, which, to her excited imagination, seemed to be following her still. Was there not some appeal in them? She half turned as though to go back, but Col. Manners said: "This way, Miss Villars," and she stopped, ashamed of her aimless impulse.

Inside the dark and stifling shop, which Col. Manners had been so glad to leave, the woman still crouched upon the floor. She had thrown back her veil as if she needed air, and the masses of her dark, fine, waving hair were revealed. Not native hair; the very way it grew showed that. When the shade of the sari was gone her features were visible, and every curve of lips, nostrils, eyelids and throat cried out her English blood. Within her breast a torrent of misery was unsealed. It was years since she had thought, consciously thought, as she was thinking now.

But for thirty years she had not heard the voice she had heard to-day, had not seen the face upon which her eyes had hungrily rested only a few moments ago, had not dared for shame and agony to admit the thought of him into her heart, and now— All that she had borne of humiliation, ill-usage and daily, grinding tyranny throughout those weary years, was as nothing to the burning torment of those few seconds when Dick had looked down upon her without a spark of recognition in his eyes, with only a horror, which was, perhaps, the mere reflection of that within her own.

She closed her eyes. It was a summer night; she stood in a starlit garden; the scent of champak blossom was heavy on the air, and a voice was speaking from very far away: "It will be years before I see you again."

But, before the memory of the past could drive her tortured soul to madness, she was recalled suddenly to the present by another voice:

"Am I to keep thee in idleness all thy day? Rise, get thee to the preparation of the meal. Thou hast looked too long upon these white folk. Perhaps they have bewitched thee; but, remember I will have no lazy white memsahibs here!"

It was the voice of her master, and, while the sneer cut her to the heart as it had never failed to do through all the long years, the flash died out of her eyes, and, drawing the sari closely about her once more, she passed obediently to the back of the house with the slow, gliding step of a native woman.—Temple Bar.

First Submarine Torpedo Boat.

David Bushnell, of Saybrook, Conn., is said to have been the inventor of the first submarine torpedo boat, in 1775. It was of very primitive construction. The Government declined to second Bushnell in his efforts, and his own private fortune was practically wasted on the enterprise.

A Soldier's Escape.

From the Democrat-Message, Mt. Sterling, Ill.

When Richmond had fallen and the great commanders had met beneath the historic apple tree at Appomattox, the 83d Pennsylvania Volunteers, prematurely aged, clad in tatters and rags, broken in body but of dauntless spirit, swung into line for the last "grand review" and then quietly marched away to begin life's fray anew amid the hills and valleys of the Keystone State. Among the number Asa Robinson came back to the old home in Mt. Sterling, Ill., back to the fireside that he had left at the call to arms four years previous. He went away a happy, healthy farmer boy in the first flush of vigorous manhood; he came back a ghost of the self that answered to President Lincoln's call for "300,000 more."

The Soldier's Return.

To-day he is an alert, active man and tells the story of his recovery as follows:

"I was a great sufferer from sciatic rheumatism almost from the time of my discharge from the army. Most of the time I was unfitted for manual labor of any kind, and my sufferings were at all times intense. At times I was bent almost double, and got around only with the greatest difficulty. Nothing seemed to give me permanent relief until three years ago, when my attention was called to some of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had not taken more than half a box when I noticed an improvement in my condition, and I kept on improving steadily. I took three boxes of the pills, and at the end of that time was in better condition than at any time since the close of my army service. Since then I have never been bothered with rheumatism. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is the only remedy that ever did me any good, and to them I owe my restoration to comparative health. They are a grand remedy."

A Manifestation of English Friendship.

Can America ever forget the part the English have taken in this war? If one can forget kindness, then we can forget the English; otherwise, we must hold them in mind as steadfast friends, who have done everything to aid us without grossly violating the neutrality laws. Our ships have not been supposed to coal and provision at Kingston, Jamaica, but they have done so all the same. Here is a story showing how a friend may be blinded to our faults at times. An American cruiser was coaling at Kingston. A British cruiser was lying in port.

"What is that boat doing over there?" inquired the English captain. "I suppose it is coaling, sir," replied the first officer. "Coaling!" repeated the English captain. "That cannot be. Send a man at once to see what that boat is doing."

So a sailor was dispatched. He watches the American boat for half an hour or so, understanding a thing or two himself, and then returns. He presents himself to his captain to make a report. "Well, sir, what is that American cruiser doing?" asks the captain.

"Coaling, sir, I believe," replies the sailor.

"Believe! Don't you know what the boat is doing? You are stupid, sir. Send me a man who knows something," turning to an officer. So another sailor is called up. He is instructed to go at once and find out what the American boat is doing in the harbor. The second sailor goes away and does not hurry himself about getting back. During this time the American boat is coaled up, and when he finally makes his report, it is too late. He tries to find his captain, but the latter is buried somewhere in the recesses of his cabin. When the captain finally does come on deck the American is far out at sea.

That closes the incident.—Chicago Tribune.

Prayer with a Recess.

The little boy was on his knees in his little nightdress, saying his prayers, and his little sister couldn't resist the temptation to tickle the soles of his feet. He stood it as long as he could, and then he said: "Please, God, excuse me while I knock the stuffing out of Nellie."

HER GREATEST CRIME.

A Wierdly Fascinating, Yet Horrible Story About Cleopatra.

One of the most weirdly fascinating and yet horrible stories recorded in history is the beguiling of Harmachis, priests of the pyramids by hereditary right, by the crafty and conscienceless Cleopatra, into disclosing the secret of the gold and gems hidden upon the body of Menka-ra, one of the Pharaohs. Even the great and wise Harmachis was too weak to resist the spell cast over him by the beautiful Egyptian queen in her eloquent plea that the wars had brought her to ruin, and the gold was needed to defend Egypt from Antony, even falsely promising, in the earnestness of her desire, to wed the priest. Far into the night they talked about the ancient secret of the mighty treasures hidden beneath the mass of "Her"—now known as the Third Pyramid, and of all pyramids the most interesting. Secretly they set forth on foot, a distance of six miles, with one trusty eunoch. Reaching the city of the dead, they passed by many tombs until they stood in the shadow of "Her," which, by the aid of ropes, they entered. Passages and chambers were quickly passed when a trap door was reached, descending through which they found themselves in a small arched chamber paved and lined with great blocks of granite. There before them stood the sarcophagus of Menka-ra. Together they drew forth, with difficulty, the body, and laying it on the ground, began their grewsome and unholy task of unwinding the many cloths about it. As they unwound, gold collars and bracelets, an inlaid ax and an image of the holy Osiris fell from the wrappings. The last covering was tightly glued and, faint with the great heat and the odor of mummy dust and spices, they tremblingly ripped the linen with a knife, and stood in that extreme moment face to face with one whom no one had seen for three thousand years. Made bold by desire, they stripped the body and discovered on the left side a scar. They lifted the body, which was heavy with priceless treasures, and with her beautiful face set and terrible, Cleopatra pierced the dagger into the dead breast until it grated upon the gems inside. She plunged her hand into the opening and drew forth the most wonderful emerald, flawless and very large, on the under side of which was inscribed the name "Menka-ra, Son of the Sun." Again and again she plunged in her hand and drew from Pharaoh's breast great priceless emeralds, until one hundred and forty-eight were found. And the last time she brought forth two great pearls, such as had never been seen. So it was done. The treasure lay glittering before them—lay with the regalia of gold, the sickly scented wrappings and the torn body of the white-haired Menka-ra. Gathering the treasures and hiding them in their robes, they gave one last look at the dreadful sight and went from the tomb.

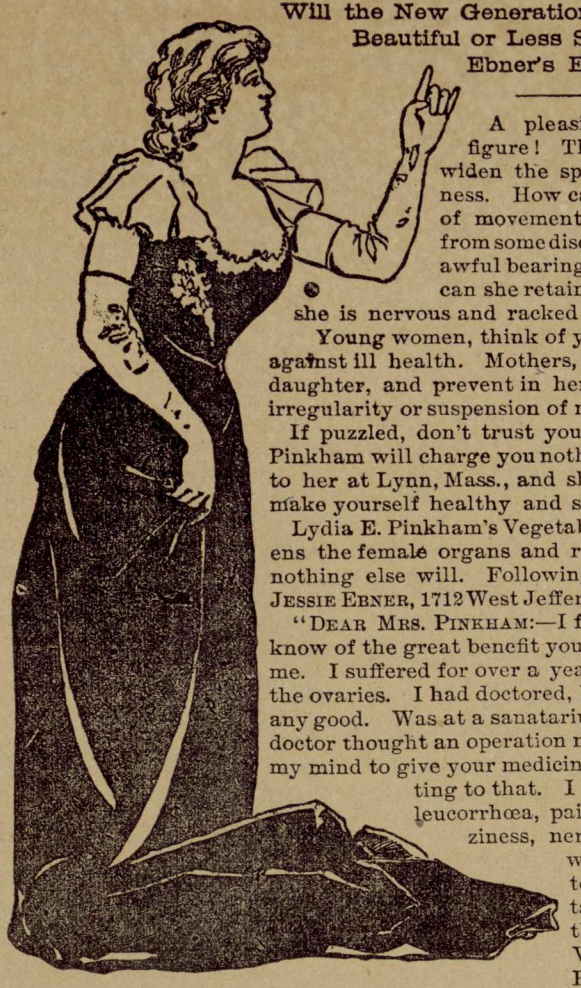
Hornets Hold a Church Spire.

Hornets have not only stopped work on a new church spire for the Wall street Methodist church at Louisville, Ky., but are likely to cause a lawsuit between the members of the church and Contractor George Lynch. Lynch contracted to build the spire, but in tearing down the old one, a nest of hornets was found. The little insects routed the workmen, several of whom had narrow escapes from death by falling to the ground when stung. Sulphur and fire were tried, but after the steeple had been set on fire once and the flames barely extinguished, this plan was abandoned. Lynch wants to finish the work but says he cannot tackle the hornets. The church people are getting very impatient and threaten to sue him.

London is much healthier in summer than in winter. In the third week of January, 2,021 deaths were notified, while in the third week of June the number was only 1,193.

MRS. PINKHAM TALKS TO THE FUTURE WOMAN.

Will the New Generation of Women be More Beautiful or Less So? Miss Jessie Ebner's Experience.



A pleasing face and graceful figure! These are equipments that widen the sphere of woman's usefulness. How can a woman have grace of movement when she is suffering from some disorder that gives her those awful bearing-down sensations? How can she retain her beautiful face when she is nervous and racked with pain?

Young women, think of your future and provide against ill health. Mothers, think of your growing daughter, and prevent in her as well as in yourself irregularity or suspension of nature's duties.

If puzzled, don't trust your own judgment. Mrs. Pinkham will charge you nothing for her advice; write to her at Lynn, Mass., and she will tell you how to make yourself healthy and strong.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound strengthens the female organs and regulates the menses as nothing else will. Following is a letter from Miss JESSIE EBNER, 1712 West Jefferson St., Sandusky, Ohio.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to let you know of the great benefit your remedies have been to me. I suffered for over a year with inflammation of the ovaries. I had doctored, but no medicine did me any good. Was at a sanatarium for two weeks. The doctor thought an operation necessary, but I made up my mind to give your medicine a trial before submitting to that. I was also troubled with leucorrhœa, painful menstruation, dizziness, nervousness, and was so weak that I was unable to stand or walk. I have taken in all several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and am now in good health. I will always give your medicine the highest praise."

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman best Understands a Woman's Ills

GROVE'S

TASTELESS CHILL
TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS. WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.
Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,
ABNEY, CARR & CO.

JUST AS GOOD

as the J. K. Orr Shoe is the way cheaper brands are often worked off on the public. It costs no more to GET THE GENUINE.

If your dealer don't sell them, drop us a card, and get the name of the nearest up-to-date merchant.

The J. K. Orr Shoe Co.,

ATLANTA, GA.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

Greatest Healing Salve in the World.

CPC

Cures Constipation, Inflammation, Ulceration, Internal or External Piles.

Bruises, Burns, Vulvitis, Old Sores, Vaginitis, Cuts, Chapped Face and Hands.

Cure guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50c. Take no other. For saleby all druggists.

C. P. C. Co., P. O. Box, 610, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED—Agents for new Farmers' Manual. It contains Cotton Sellers' Table that runs from 3c to 10c. It figures the 16ths and 20ths. Also for the Bible Looking Glass. It teaches the Bible by illustrations. Latest War Books. Circulars free. Agents sell 7 out of 9 calls; agent in Walker Co., Tex., sells 20 in 5 hours. J. L. NICHOLS & CO., Atlanta, Ga.

And very LOW PRICES. Large stock. Also PIPE, VALVES and FITTINGS. ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS and REPAIRS.

Lombard Iron Works & Supply Co.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

FITS

STOPPED FREE Permanently Cured Insanity Prevented by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER.

Positive cure for all Nervous Diseases, Fits, Epilepsy, Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance. No Fits or Nervousness after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges only when received. Send to Dr. Kline, Ltd, Bellevue Institute of Medicine, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

ST. ANDREWS Cold Tea

FOR THE LIVER

Cures Headache,

INACTIVE LIVER.

FREE WATCH!

Send your address and we will express 50 fine, long-filler Nickel cigars. When sold, remit us $2.50 and we will mail you, free, a handsome stem wind and set watch, which retails for $2.50. WINSTON CIGAR CO., No. 99 Main St, Winston, N. C.

PHOTO of Your Future Husband or Wife and date of marriage. Your Horoscope will tell! Send date of birth, height, weight, color of hair and 25c. to C. Richards, Box 22, station D, Cincinnati, Ohio

THE WEEKLY NEWS,
MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,
PUBLISHERS.

THOS. N. FREEMAN - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance

Thursday October 6, 1898

It is often claimed that nonpartisan Journalism is an impossibility; that no paper can edited without a leaning more or less to some political parity. We claim that neutrality is not only possible but in many cases highly commendable.. We admit that political parties and their representatives, the press, are absolutely neccessary; but should all journals be political exponants? It might, with as much consistancy, be demanded that all edltors should side publicly with some religious denomination, which would be absurd. Lovers of advancement speak write and act in those lines which they think are the most conducive to that improvement. Giving every one the credit of being honest, we must see that men will disagree as to the most essential line of action. We will condemn no mans plan for he that is a Christian, patriot, a umanitarean at heart, must always leave the world better than e found it. It is the unselfish pirit that the world loves in a ublic man.

We will endeavor to work on hose lines which we conceive to e the most important.

It is only through education hat people are enabled to govrn themselves. To foster and ncourage institutions of learnig; to arouse a craving for nowledge is certainly a noble bject. Can any politician, howoever enthusiastically attached o his party find any fault with his position.? No party can now tand that does not pretend to base its principals upon truth nd right. Therefore no partisan can conscientiously object to an occasional editorial stand on a nonpartison basis.

Whiskey calculation again.

The twelfth annual report of the commissioner of labor, just issued, shows that during 1896 the amount of liquor consumed in the United States was over a billion gallons,- or about 16½ gallons fer every man, women and child in this country. We arise to remark that somebody got our share of the "booze," as we diden't drink a drop that year nor any other year. Hope the fellow enjoyed it.

Creensboro Watchman

The good old time or the good time to come never exists any where but in the imagination. The man who is waiting for circumstances to change so that he may make money easy will wait on and die in poverty. Very few of us have any hope of inhereting a fortune and even such a hope is generally a curse to the one who cherishses it. Our observation is, that most of the young men who have prospects of getting fortunes when their old mother, father, or uncle dies, usually spend their days in idleness and grow up to be good for nothing. If they happen to the bad luck of loosing the expected fortune they spend their lives as nonentities–mere hangers-on.

The political prisoners confined by the Spanish government in Havana are now being liberated. Many of them have been deprived of their liberty for several years. What a glorious thing it must be for them to breath again the fresh air and look on the blue sky and hear the birds sing once more! Oh! Liberty is the most precious gift with which man may be blessed. we do not appreciate our own glorious liberty for we can scarcely conceive what it is to be slaves. May we always be free from the domination of tyrants! any man that seeks to rule one of his fellows by any other force but pursuasion is a tyrant. A tyrant is hated by his slave always.

The great curse of the world is the mad rush after money. This feverish discontent ruins thousands of lives. But people cannot be contented by merely deciding to do so, There must be an underlying principal Other objects must take possession of one's life. A trade, a business, plied with care and honesty, usually brings sufficient funds for support to those whose brains or not fired by an ambition to shine above their fellows. To build a sublime character; to be useful to those around us; to be versed in a noble art as music, painting, or literature; to be as a sweet smelling savor to our companions: to be as a light in darkness: all these are objects worthy of the highest ambition, but carries not with them the destructive force of mere money getting.

A Georgia boy, Ellison Van Hoose has lately attracted attention as a musical genuis in London. This reminds us that the South is in a way to become distinguished as a producor of musicians. That is as it should be. Bright skyes, delightful climate, and the beautiful green and mountains are enough to inspire the soul with all the noble sentiments. Of all the arts, music is the most Devine and has a greater influence over the heart for good. We want to urge the young people of this section to devote much of their leasure in studding music. A German performer once made the statement that he never saw a musician in jail.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA
Shelby County.

Adelie Pope, by her next friend Alex Burr Complainant. vs. In Chancery Sixth District North-Eastern Chancery Division.

In this cause, it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of E. S. Lyman that the Defendant Ira Pope is a Non Resident of Alabama, and resides now in the State of Kansas, but his particular place of residence in said state is to affiant unknown and futher, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendsnt is over the age of twenty — one years It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication bo made in the Montevallo News a news paper published in the city of Montevallo once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him the raid Ira Pope to plead, answer or dumur to the bill of complaint in this cause, by the 24th day e October A. D. 1898, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office, in Columbiana, Ala. this 13th day of September A. D. 1898.

J. R. White Register.

It is stated this week by th daily press, that the plans for disarmament presented by the Czar of Russia, is quietly gaining favor in the European courts

When we first read this plan it sounded like the impractical ravings of a socialist and hundredyears ahead of the times. But now we even hope to see a great commission of peace meet in some of the large cities of the world. Dosen't it seem strange that the world might posibly wake up some morning and find itself useing its brains and laying aside steel and powder and organized murder.

DR. J. P. HALEY,
DENTIST,
Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. First call on Monday, October 3, 1898.

University of Alabama
Fall Term Begins Oct. 5 1898
ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,
EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's
Business Colleges
Birmingham, Ala., Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address
C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM - - - ALA.

Did You know That
Well informed gentlemen buy Brown and Bay State shoes
Inteligent ladies purchase Krippendorf and Dittman shoes
Misses will have the Muiedells shoes
See our Ladies Cloaks and Up to date Ribbons
Sweet, Jucy, Sugar cured Hams 10 ct. per lb.
..Morgan :-: Bros..
Leaders in Low Prices !

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6, '98.NO. 37

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL ITEMS.

Mrs. Mary C. Babb, Lady principal, arrived last Friday. She returnes to her work with renewed health and energy, gained by a vacation spent in a delightful town in New York, to the Niagra falls and the lakes. Mrs. Babb had the pleasure and profit of attending the Chautauqua this summer. She is a women of marked ability and has a talent in imparting her knowledge and training to her pupils. The Indurtrial School is certainly fortunate in having such a genius at the helm.

***

True artistic taste has been shown in the selection of the new line of fall prints at Morgan Bros. Prices from 3½ to 5c

Miss Ella McCombs directress in art, comes to her duty much refreshed by a trip to New York and the lakes. The Industrial aught to produce some genius in painting and drawing and Miss McComb knows how to develope it. We look forward to a grand success for this department this year.

***

Have you seen the beautiful and delicious candies at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Miss Elizabeth Haley, of Jasper, teacher of Latin, arrived Tuesday, happy and smiling. She is also teacher of the normal class.

***

See the celebrated line of Fountain shirts at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Mrs. Florence Hudson, from Greensboso, teacher of Telegraphy, is on hand to begin her years work.

***

New clothing this week at Morgan Bros.

Miss. Tell Thompson is the new teacher in stenography and typewriting. She is a grsduate of Eastman's business College and her home is in Charlston West Va.

***

Buy a new stove, best at Morgan Bros.

Miss Laura Dale, teacher of piano and guitar, has returned.

Miss Leo Sanders of the deprrtment of dressmaking and needle work, from Selma, hos arrived.

Miss Louie Austin, teacher of Geology, is at her post cheerful and hopeful.

***

"Don't read trash," Read the best weekly and monthly magazines, subscribe at W B McCluney & Co.

Miss Sallie Crumpton, has arrived in Montevallo from Greenville. She is teacher in voice culture.

Wonderful! Fine toilet soap at S. A. Latham's & Co. 3 cakes for five cents.

Miss Edna Bush, Pianist, has returned from her vacation and is ready for her work.

Msr Sallie Cothron, pianist, from Selma is on hand.

See the show windows at Meroney's, W. E. Perry, late of Birmingham is the artist

Miss Grandberry is teacher in Oritory and Physical culture, instead of Miss Annie Francis lasr year.

Go to C. L. Meroney & Co. for a perfect fitting suit of clothes.

Miss Callins, of Selma, has been elected teacher in mathematics,

Leave your laundry with F. W. Rogan every Wednesday and get it Saturday.

Miss Addie Lee, Diractress in music returns to Montevallo, the same genial, enthusiastic spirit as ever. She has been greatly missed during the vacation and receives a hearty greeting from all.

Miss Annie Kennedy, teacher in English and history, is at her post looking well and as happy as ever.

Miss Sophia Fitts, teacher in English and history, arrived from MonuttEgal, refreshed and cheerful ready to begin her years work.

Mrs. Robert Ashley, of Montgomery, came up Tuesday and entered her daughter in school. She is delighted with the Industrial, its teachers and surroundings.

The matriculation has reached about 300 and still they come on every train.

Mrs. M. B. Jones, of Montgomery, visited the Industrial Tuesday. She was accompanied by her daughter who entered school.

STRUCK DUMB.

After all there seems to be no way of deviding the strange coincidents of life from special Providential interference. No one wishes ,o be called superstitious, yet nearly every man or women, some time in their life have seemed to see the guiding hand of a master who chastises as well as blesses. The followering sketch taken from the Atlanta Constitution very remarkabl inded but shauld not deter any one from making good resolutions.

Strange fate that befell Patrick Kelly who swore he would not take another drink.

"If ever I take a drink again" said Patrick Kelly. a boiler maker, about three weeks ago, "I hope I may be struck dumb"

Yesterday afternoon at No. 126 Decater street Kelly was with some fiends and orered a drink of "good old corn wniskes."

The liquor was poured out and Kelly and his friends clinked the glasses as they prepared to drink to each other's good health.

As soon as the whiskey was swallowed Kelly turned away and walked to the rear of the saloon. One of his friends followed him and asked him a question. Kelly moved his lips, but made no reply. The question was repeated, ard again the lips moved without a sound being uttered. Seizing a pencil and a slip of paper, Kelly wrote, as his hand trembled with excitment:

"I am struck dumb."

He was wild with fright and sank upon a box in the saloon. The ambulance was sommoned and he was taken to the hospital

The physicians' at the hospital made an examination, and allthey could say was: "There has been some sort of paralysis of the tongue. The case is a strange one and we will have to watch it a while before we can say positively just what is the matter with the man.'

The affair caused much talk and those who were aware of Kelly's promice and his sudden loss of speech shook their heads and said:"It certainly looks very queer."

Kelly has been addicted to drink for anumber of years. He resides on Foundry street and earns good wages as a boiler maker. Every now and then he would get on a spree and he has been arrested by the police on the charg of drunkenness. He has many friends who alway help him out of trouble and like him in spite of his faults.

The case is more puzzeling to the physicians as Kelly is in good health.

Wedding.

On Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock the parlor of the old Perry home at Cedar Dale were made merry by the presence of a number of friends and relatives, gathered to witness the marriage of Miss Mary Lee Perry and Mr. P. O. West. Rev. C. L. Herring, a special friend of both bride and groom, afficiated and the marriage was a quiet sweet affair. The bride is the younger daughter of Mr. S. J. Perry, and by an unusally lovable disposition, and strong true charcter has drawn to herself the sincere love of many friends, who wish her every happiness in the new life.

Mr. West, a promising young business man, with many sterling qualities is to be congratulated upon the prize he has won. The bride was simply attired in a white organdy, which seemed so in keeping with her pure girl life.

A novelty of the occasion was a little booklet, prettily done in water colors, each page containing an appropriate quotation, in which the guest registered their names.

Hotel Arrivals

St. George: M. E. Ham: Proprietor.

Continured to 8 th. page.

Nautical.

"It is remarkable that one rooster can do all that crowing." "I think the little rooster is helping him." "Oh, yes; an auxiliary crew-sir."

Proposed Alliance with England.

If the United States and England should form an alliance, the combined strength would be so great that there would be little chance for enemies to overcome us. In a like manner, when men and women keep up their bodily strength with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, there is little chance of attacks from disease. The old time remedy enriches the blood, builds up the muscles, steadies the nerves and increases the appetite. Try it.

American apples have already, in a large measure, conquered the markets of England.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Ether drunkenness has become almost epidemic in Lithuania.

Every Action

And every thought requires an expenditure of vitality which must be restored by means of the blood flowing to the brain and other organs. This blood must be pure, rich and nourishing. It is made so by Hood's Sarsaparilla which is thus the great strength-giving medicine, the cure for weak nerves, that tired feeling and all diseases caused by poor, impure blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure indigestion. 25 cents.

The Sentinel's Orders.

When Professor Simon Newcomb, the distinguished astronomer, was at Gibraltar, he was one morning "taking the sun" in order to test the running of his chronometer, when a sentinel speedily informed him that no sights were allowed to be taken on the fortification. Professor Newcomo explained that he was taking sights on the sun, not on the fortifications. But he was inexorable; the rule was that no sights of any sort should be taken without a permit. When Professor Newcomb met Sir Fenwick Williams, of Karks, then military governor of Gibraltar, they laughed together over the incident, and Sir Fenwick said it reminded him of the case of an old lady in Punch who had to pass a surveyor in the street behind a theodolite, and begged: "Please, sir, don't shoot till I get past!"—New York World.

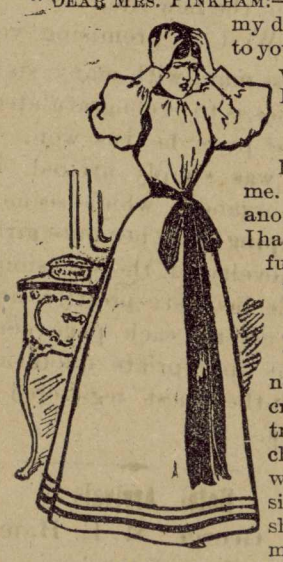
The Italians always carry their money together with their passports. in long tin tubes.

TO MRS. PINKHAM

From Mrs. Walter E. Budd, of Patchogue, New York.

Mrs. BUDD, in the following letter, tells a familiar story of weakness and suffering, and thanks Mrs. Pinkham for complete relief:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I think it is my duty to write to you and tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I feel like another woman. I had such dreadful headaches through my temples and on top of my head, that I nearly went crazy; was also troubled with chills, was very weak; my left side from my shoulders to my waist pained me terribly. I could not sleep for the pain. Plasters would help for a while, but as soon as taken off, the pain would be just as bad as ever. Doctors prescribed medicine, but it gave me no relief.



"Now I feel so well and strong, have no more headaches, and no pain in side, and it is all owing to your Compound. I cannot praise it enough. It is a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to every woman I know."

A Descendant of Louis XVI.

Society in Holland and Belgium has been a little interested in the recent adventures of the soi-disant Prince de Bourbon, who was for some time an officer in the Dutch army. The individual in question is the grandson of the watchmaker Naundorff, who claimed to be the legitimate representative of Louis XVI., and who was acknowledged as such by King William III. of the Netherlands. The watchmaker's grandson entered the Dutch army and rose to the rank of Lieutenant, but because he had taken a dislike to his profession or for some other reason he deserted and fled to France.

There he found some persons who believed in him as the true representative of the Bourbons, and who helped him to enter business as a wine merchant. In this he was not successful, and the next news heard of him was his arrest in the streets of The Hague, where he has just been sentenced to four months' imprisonment in the fortress of Groninguen.—London Globe.

According to a statistician the area of the herring nets used in Scotland one year was no less than 164,000,000 square yards.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Sudden jerks of a horse are prevented from yanking riders in a carriage by the use of a spring back rest hinged to the seat at bottom, the top being supported by coiled springs on rods in cylinders at the ends of the seat.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Walter Ralston, who travels for the Smithsonian institution, has made a special study of poisonous insects and reptiles, and has been fanged over two hundred times.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

There is enough salt in the ocean to make a layer 230 feet deep.

Protect Your Ideas By Letters Patent.

The firm of Vowles & Burns, Patent Attorneys, No. 237 Broadway, N. Y., whose advertisement will appear in our next issue, procure patents either on cash or easy installments. Write for terms. Sales negotiated.

I cannot speak too highly of Piso's Cure for Consumption.—MRS FRANK MOBBS, 215 W. 22d St., New York, Oct. 29, 1894.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco stands at the top for its delicious aroma. Good as can be made. Try it.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

A number of medieval frescoes were discovered recently in the capitol at Rome.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The forest lands in Bavaria are said to be worth $65 an acre.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

German servant girls who reach their 40th year in one family, receive a golden cross.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

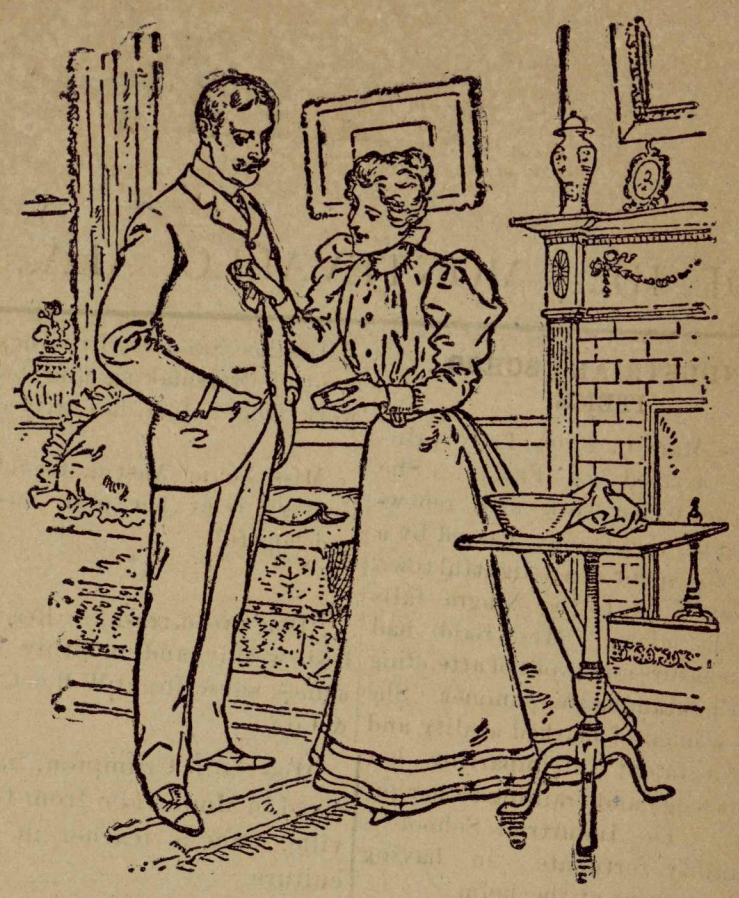
The United States pays enough for pensions annually to pay the expenses of Mexico 6 years

DO YOU PAY BIG PROFITS?

Yes, you do when you buy a "cheap-john," "clap-trap," "riff-raff," "make-shift" article when you can as easily get the best at a very slight advance. We make buggies—good buggies—best buggies—NOTHING BUT BUGGIES—thousands of them a year, and they are sold nearly as cheap as those THROWN TOGETHER. See our agent in your town or write. You shall be treated right.

ROCK HILL BUGGY CO., Rock Hill, S. C.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-40



The many uses to which Ivory Soap is applicable, make it an economical as well as a valuable soap. Spots on clothing are quickly and easily removed by an application of the foamy lather of Ivory Soap with a dampened cloth and a brisk rubbing. Ivory Soap cuts the grease and leaves the surface rubbed perfectly clean. Be sure you use Ivory Soap, or the remedy may be worse than the grease spot.

IVORY SOAP IS 99 44/100 PER CENT. PURE.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

Severe Pains in the Back,

BEARING-DOWN pains and symptoms of a like nature are forerunners of the most distressing and also the most common of female diseases, Whites and Falling of the Womb. Whites is often the result of neglect, and when permitted to continue frequently causes inflammation of the womb, the ligaments are weakened and relaxed and Falling of the Womb and other complications arise, producing general debility and undermining the health. These loathesome and weakening diseases will be cured and the entire female system built up if a few bottles of the great female tonic

Gerstle's Female Panacea

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK

Are taken regularly as directed. Remove any biliousness, indigestion or constipation with St. Joseph's Liver Regulator.

I HAVE BEEN CONFINED TO MY BED 17 MONTHS

With falling of the womb and ulcers of the same. I have been treated by two physicians but they did me no good. I have tried many kinds of medicines and I find that Gerstle's Female Panacea benefits me more than all other treatment. I shall continue its use, for I wish to recover my health. I have used only one bottle and am better already.

SUSAN E. DAVIS. Imboden. Ark.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprietors, Chattanooga, Tenn.

TEACHERS—25 WANTED NOW. UNION Teachers' Agencies, Washington, D. C.

PILES

"I suffered the tortures of the damned with protruding piles brought on by constipation with which I was afflicted for twenty years. I ran across your CASCARETS in the town of Newell, Ia., and never found anything to equal them. To-day I am entirely free from piles and feel like a new man."

C. H. KEITZ, 1411 Jones St., Sioux City, Ia.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

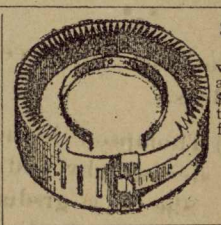
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe, 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 312

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.



$100 FORFEITURE.

Our SEMINAL RING prevents night emissions absolutely, or we forfeit $100.00 in gold. Ten days trial free. Write to-day for particulars.

Address,

CAPITAL CURE CO.,

P. O. Box 578,

ATLANTA, GA.

SAVE MONEY.

Buy your Carriages and Buggies direct from the factory. We furnish anything in the line. Carriage, Phaeton, Top or Open Buggy, Cabriolet, Surrey, Trap, Cart, Road or Spring Wagon at a saving of from 25 to 30 per cent. Write SOUTHERN CARRIAGE & WAGON CO. for catalogue. Box 1, Atlanta, Ga. Henry L. Atwater, Manager.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. DR. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., NewYork, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

The Best BOOK ON THE WAR BEAUTIFULLY bound and sumptuously illustrated (price $2), free to anybody sending two annual subscriptions at $1 each to the Overland Monthly, SAN FRANCISCO. Sample Overland, 5c.

Probate Judge

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, '98 NO. 37

WITHOUT A FRIEND.

Did hear the roaring of the storm,
And see the cyclone tornado
Reap the virgin forest down?
And saw the white-Capt ocean waves
Arise like ghost from hidden graves
And break with a wail on a rock-bound shore?

Have stood upon a mountain clift,
And saw the fleecy clouds flote by
Like an azure ocean drift?
And heard the waving cedar tree
In murmurs softly speek to thee
But still withall did heaxe no sighs?

Oh! Who is satisfied to hear?
What sounds can fill the void within?
No picture to the soul can lend
One half the sweets that love can give.
companions gone! Who'd care to live
In paradise without a friend?

Thos. Freeman.

LITERARY

Articles by Home Talent.

MAGAZINE REVIEW.

In the Cosmopolitan, Prof. Peck is the authos of, by far, the most interesting artitce. The New Amrican Aristocracy, is a distinct adcitsod to the essays of the time. With very epigrammatic style he takes us through the period of Washingtonian dignity, Jeffesonian simplicity, Jacksonian vulgarity, to the present mushroom, billionair time. He should be read to be enjoyed. The essential differance betwen a ready made aristocracy and an historic one, rest in the fact that everyone recognizes the latter, while noqody recognizes the former.

Bismarck, by Prof. Sloane, in Century magazine for October, is a fine study of the great Chancellor. A point brought out, is Bismarck's profound faith – faith in God and in his own mission. As far back as 1840 he is said to have declaed he would one day make a harmonious whole out of the fragments of Germany.

In McClueres Magazine, for October, Stephen Bousal gives a splended accunt of the fall of Santiago. There was an annoying dificiency of infor-maton regaading the strength and position og the enemy round San. Juan, and this nearly, and incompetant hands would have led to our defeat, Gen. Shafter, who, hearing that reinforcements were on their way to to Santiago, decided to surround the city and to de so must take El Caney. The plan of the batile was a sfmulfamou attack on El Caney on his extreme right and on Agnadoreson on his left, this lattes bring to mark the signifecance of the attack on El Caney.

W B McCluney.

Dose your watch keep good time? If not have it examied at Martins the Jeweler.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOO.. ITEMS.

School was opened Tuesday morning by a prayer by Rev. J. Gurrn, one of Alabamas venerable Baptist ministers. He intered his grand daughter, Sallie Bert, in school.

"fell from the ceiling." A wonderful mer ca', but the proof is reliable.

Write letters on good paper. The lates styles and best qualities at F. F. Crowe & Co. Post Office.

Miss Elizabeth Haley has 84 pupils in her Latin classes.

C. C. Vandegrift keeps Imogene coal on hand, and can deliver it on short notice.

Miss McCombs, has 61 pupils in the art department. The first two weeks will be spent by the beginers in out line drawing, from plaster cast figures.

Bigest pencil tablets in America for five cents at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Did You know That

Well informed gentlemen buy Brown and Bay State shoes
Inteligent ladies purch se Kripp ndorf and Dittman shoes
M sses will hav th Muiedells shoes
See our Ladies Cloaks and Up to date Ribbons
Sweet, Jucy, Sugar cured Hams 10 ct. per lb.

..Morgan :-: Bros..

Leaders in Low Prices !

Use Talcum powders and dont give but 6c a box at New York Racket Store.

Mrs. Babb's lecture to the young ladies Tuesday morning, was very suitable and timly. The subject was, "the necessity of studdying English" The remark was instigated by the request of several youug ladies, to be excused from the study of the English course. She said in part, "I have been studdying English all my life and I have not finished yet." No one can make a success in any line without a good knowledge of how to speak our language correctly.

You will find the best candies at the lowest price at the New York Racket Store.

One young lady lost her bracelets and the next morning they

The Geomentry and Trigonometry classes number 20 and 14 most of whom are senior class.

News stand opened at W. B. McCluney & Co.

Miss Kennedy and Miss Fitts are organizing the English class which will no doubt contain all the girls in school.

Cook rice right. Buy a douple rice boiler, made of granite ware, at New York Racket Store.

Mrs. Hudson is organizing her class in Telegraphy. She has 40 pupils at present.

Keep warm and dry. Buy a uew mackintosh at New York Racket Store.

Miss Addie Lee is getting the musical classes about organized.

Go to Rogans for fine candie fruits and cakes.

President says "The school is a hundaed per cent better equiped than this time last year" We have a better chore of teachers and the prospects are bright.

Don't light a splinter, 12 boxes of matches at Kroells for 10 cents

Mrs. B. M. Wade, of Montgomery' is directress of the dress making department. She has registered 215 pupils for her department. The class has begun work.

Buy a new stove, best at Morgan Bros.

President Reynolds and his two secetarys are kept busy all the time registering the new pupils. Over a dozen came in Monday.

"Pass me the cake." School girls and others who eat cake, will find something nice at the New York Racket Store. New stock next week

The new water suply system, for the college is working to perfection, so the girls have pure water from the big spring for all purposes.

Cilluloid collars 5c and cuffs for 10c at New York Racket Store

Six new class rooms and a hall 28 by 50 feet, is being rapidly completed. The hall is for the class in Physical Culture, instructed by Miss Granbery of the Emerson school of physical culture of Boston.

One gallon tin coffee pot for 10c and a 14 quart milk bucket, at New York Racket Store.

New clothing this week at Morgan Bros.

By the way

It has been suggested by some of the town that there are a few people tn Montavallo, who are not keeping their premices as clean as they might. Now, while Yellow fever and other contagious deseases are rageing in many parts of the country, it should be our ambition to keep the good health record which we enjoy, but this cannot be done unless every one will do their part to keep the place clean. There is a heavy penalty imposed by law on all those who fail to comply with the sauitary regulations; especially for poluting streams, lime is the best disenfectant and shouled be used in large quantities.

Continured to 4th page

IN THE LANE.

By Victor Grey.

Through the lane the setting sunlight
Falls in misty, golden showers,
Tinting with its shimmering lances
All the little, nodding flowers,
Shining 'mid the emerald foliage,
Where the birdies, blithely singing,
Fill the woodlands all about us
With a sweet and joyous ringing.

Don't you love this lane, my darling?
When I think of those sweet hours
We have spent within its cloisters,
'Neath its trees and 'mid its flowers,
Every blade of grass grows dearer—
Every tiny fragrant flower
Seems to bring, in swift succession,
Memories of some happy hour.

Here it was we met, my darling,
On that blissful, sunlit morning,
When the woodland's robe of emerald,
Fringed with summer's fair adorning,
Gleamed with shimmering diamond dewdrops,
And the birds were blithely trilling
Happy lays—sweet morning carols—
All the woods with rapture thrilling.

Here, within its dusky shadows,
Sauntering down the lane together,
Love around us cast his fetters—
Fetters that would bind forever.
Here it was I told my story,
And, my happy answer guessing,
Held you in my arms a moment,
Sweet, red lips the while caressing.

There we had our lovers' quarrel,
'Mid those clumps of fragrant clover;
Here it was we grew repentant—
Begged forgiveness o'er and o'er;
Then I kissed your cheeks' soft roses,
And your eyes with teardrops shining,
Not content until your ringlets
On my heart were safe reclining.

Yes, I love this lane, my darling,
With its fringe of wildwood flowers—
Love it for the joy that crowned me
In those happy, happy hours;
For, though years since then have vanished—
Youth's fair bloom is ours no longer—
Still our hearts as one are beating,
And our love each day grows stronger.

A Terrible Moment.

Yes, terrible—that is just what it was. I shall never forget it, even should I live to one of those wondrous ages at times recorded in the papers. Moreover, it was not a thing for a man to forget. Many events may slip from our mind, but never that moment when we stand on the brink of the grave, brought thither by the probability of an awful death.

It happened in this way. I had been in Australia for about five years, during which time I had amassed a tolerable fortune, when I began to long to see the old country again—a desire considerably strengthened by the fact that the girl I loved, and who had consented to be my wife, was going to England, and I could not bear the thought of such an extent of ocean between us; so I determined to go too, and let our marriage take place there.

May Brodstone was the only daughter of a well-to-do squatter, and the prettiest, nicest girl for miles round the station, though, until I had become acquainted with her, rather fond of a bit of girlish flirtation. This was the worse for me, as it turned out.

Among her many admirers was one Jacob Kiel. Dark-haired, dark-eyed, dark-complexioned, he was of that class of men who feel strongly, and who never forget an injury—like wild cats, they are nasty customers to offend. Well, May, I fear, had flirted somewhat with Jacob Kiel, who, I really believe, loved the very ground she walked on, though she declared—and I knew it was true—that she had never given him the slightest hope.

It was about this time that I appeared upon the scene; and she discovered that she had found the right man, as I had found the right girl. May Brodstone instantly gave up all her admirers, was as steady and quiet as a gun-tree when no wind blows, and finally said the "Yes" upon which my happiness depended.

Old Mr. Brodstone knew that the match would be a good one, and readily gave his consent, so that our engagement was soon made public. I was present when the news reached Jacob Kiel. I shall never forget his face. His lips were compressed, his dark eyes contracted; he looked from May to me, and I felt if he could he would do much mischief. Without a syllable he quitted the place. A strange sensation ran through me as he departed; and May told me that a cold shudder had run through her veins.

We did not see much of Kiel after this, though we knew he was often about the station on business; but the man somehow threw a kind of shadow over May's and my happiness, and we were not at all sorry when we got on board the steamer and steamed off towards Old England. We had not, however, got cleverly out of sight of land when May, giving a little cry, put her had on my arm, and, slightly nodding her head towards the lower deck, said,—

"Oh, Edward, look—he is here too!"

And so he was. Leaning quietly over the side, watching the land apparently, was Jacob Kiel—a passenger for England, like ourselves. I will own that I was considerably annoyed, though when May, drawing neaner, exclaimed, in a low, startled voice, "Edward dear, I don't know how it is, but I dread that man—I cannot divest my mind of the thought that he means us harm," I laughed, and tried to banish so absurd an idea. And certainly it appeared I had every right to do so. Save by a casual interchange of a few words, Kiel never troubled us; and we were making a capital journey, when, just as we were within twenty degrees of the line, we were struck by a hurricane which the captain declared was almost a cyclone in violence.

The vessel could not weather it. The masts crashed overboard, taking several of the crew with them, and, before the wreck could be cut adrift, a portion of the broken spars, dashing against the ship, had caused a leak below the water-line, and the cry was,—

"We are sinking! Lower the boats—the pumps are useless!"

The captain was marvellously firm and cool, and by his example made us all the same.

The boats were rapidly lowered and filled, while, thank Heaven, the storm seemed to abate. The women went first, of course, and all who proceeding well, when, just as the last boat was being filled, I remembered that in my hurry I had left my mother's miniature in my chest. There was plenty of time to fetch it, and in a second I was down in the cabin. Flinging the lid open, my hand was already upon the likneses, when I heard a foot upon the stairs. I turned, and by the dim light yet swinging from the roof perceived Jacob Kiel.

Good Heavens! The diabolical expression on his face, the fiendish malice in his dark, snake-like eyes, revealed his intention in a moment. He had come to do me some deadly harm. Leaping up, I seized my revolver, to be on my guard; but an attack was not his purpose. Before I could prevent him, he had quickly closed the cabin door, and locked it on the outside.

Like a flash of lightning all the horrors of my situation instantly flashed before me. I was a prisoner in the sinking ship! Uttering a loud shout of fury, I sprang forward; the cry was echoed by a laugh from Jacob Kiel. I heard him say, "Who will marry May Brodstone now?" and then his feet went rapidly up the stairs.

I called aloud for help; the uproar of the storm drowned my voice. I paused. Just then the wind lulled, and I heard an order to push off; the speaker was Jacob Kiel. I again shouted in my agony; but my voice and the wind rose together—I was not heard. I continued to shout like a madman, though I knew that all hope was gone—that I was alone, like a trapped rat, in the sinking ship.

Furiously I beat the door, all the while painfully conscious that rescue was impossible and death certain, for it was night, and, as no doubt the storm would separate the boats, my absence would not be discovered until the vessel had foundered.

Could I expect aught else, when in the occasional lull of the hurricane I heard the rush of the deadly waters in the hold, and felt the ship lurch more heavily each moment as she plunged in the trough of the sea? Suddenly she gave a terrific heel over, and a wave came rattling down the companion ladder like thunder, rushed under the door and inundated the cabin.

I shrieked in agony, believing that all was over—that I was to die thus, not even with the chance of battling for life.

I felt that I could meet death calmly if I were on deck, with the heavens above me; but my very hair stirred at the thought of being buried in the sea as it were in a box. Was there really no way of escape? I looked round and gave a great cry of joy, leaped forward, careless now that the water mounted higher and higher.

"Fool! Idiot!" I exclaimed. "You are your own murderer!"

My eyes had rested upon my revolver. In a second I had fired two of its barrels into the lock of the door, shivering it to atoms, and the next minute I was upon the deck—only just in time, for the vessel was settling fast. It would have settled long before, but that the storm had abated.

With a wild hope I looked for the boats. Near or far all was alike—darkness hid the waters. But, having succeeded so far, I resolved not to despair. One by one I discharged the remaining barrels of my revolver, and then plunged into the sea, to swim as far as I could from the ship before it sank, hoping that I should find some pieces of wreck. I did so before I had proceeded far—a mast, with cordage attached. This helped me; for, after lashing myself to the mast as well as I could, the waves bore me away. Suddenly, however, a fearful rush of water seized me. I was drawn rapidly back, and then down as in a whirlpool—flung, it seemed, here, there and everywhere—after which I remembered no more. When I came to, I was in one of the boats, with May Brodstone leaning over me.

It appeared that directly morning dawned the boats were called together, and the captain went over the names, when mine was found missing; upon which he had resolved to row back, and see if he could not find me, urged thereto by many of his companions, who wondered—as did not Jacob Kiel—what could have prevented my getting into one of the boats.

The sea was nearly calm, the sun shining, and their search was not difficult. They soon perceived a dark object. Approaching it, they found it to be myself, clinging like grim death to the wreck, but laughing and yelling like a maniac. In fact, I was mad, and for some time after they managed to get me into the boat I remained so; then I became calmer, though I was delirious for a whole day and night.

Directly sensibility returned I told my story, filling every one with horror, especially May Brodstone.

"I see it all!" exclaimed the captain. "The villain! Last night our boats separated in the darkness; this morning the one bearing Jacob Kiel and the worst of the crew was missing. He has either steered the boat into a different track, or paid the fellows to desert us, fearful of the punishment that might have awaited him when we touched land."

Whether this was so I do not know, for we never heard of Jacob Kiel again.

That day we were picked up by one of Green's ships, homeward bound, and in due time were landed in England, where May and I were married, and where we now reside; for my wife will not hear of crossing the ocean again, as she cannot forget—that most terrible moment of my life.

FOUGHT LIKE CLOCKWORK.

So Worked the Gunners on the Oregon in the Fight.

The Somerville (Mass.) Journal prints a letter from Ensign Charles L. Hussey of the Oregon to Fred Ela Warren, his old New Hampshire schoolmate, in which he says:

"I volunteered for duty with the prize crew on board the Cristobal Colon. It was six hours of experiences we had there, transporting her crew, (prisoners of war,) tending her wounded, and burying her dead, and all the time trying to save the ship. But she continued to make water, and finally rolled over on her side. I had the satisfaction of running up the Stars and Stripes over her quarter deck before she went down. The Colon was a fine ship, and may be saved yet.

"I have been fortunate in getting special duty that has given me an insight into most of the operations. Of course our engagement of the 3d of July stands way ahead of anything since 1863. My own station in battle is on the upper deck—in fact, on the rail, where I have a battery of ten rapid-fire guns, six-pounders.

"During the engagement the Oregon fired 1,776 rounds—note the good historical number—several of my guns firing upward of 250 rounds, and the actual battle lasted only a little over an hour. The guns were so hot from the rapid fire that the water used in sponging them out boiled in the bore.

"Only three of the enemy's shots struck us, but they played a merry tune about our ears for the first half hour; then the enemy's fire weakened. One shell struck an eight-inch turret upon which I was standing, which was quite close enough. But it was those ricocheting over our heads that made us duck—a useless operation, as you know.

"After the first ten minutes our men at the guns were like clockwork; such steadiness I had never expected to see. In fact it was the old story of quick loading and fine pointing. The Spaniards captured said that their men could not face such a shower of rapid-fire projectiles. Some even jumped overboard to save their lives.

"The question that is asked more than any other is, 'What are the feelings of being under fire?' We had had a half dozen bombardments to break us in, the one on July 2 being especially at close range, so when the fleet came out we were to a certain extent seasoned. From my position on the rail or on top of the turret I could see everything going on, but our own heavy guns made such a continuous roar, augmented by the crack! crack! of the rapid-fire guns, that it would be impossible to tell where a shell struck the ship unless a fragment came our way.

"We simply concentrated our mind on the nearest ship. She must be sunk. And then the daily drill that we have had for a year gets in motion, and it is like clockwork. Fortunately the clockwork has not had a toothed wheel knocked out yet. May it continue ever so!"

Cycles of Rainfall.

A contemporary points out that the statistics of rainfall which have been collected in various parts of England for many years past show that there is a regular recurrence of cold and wet periods every thirty-five or thirty-six years, measuring from the centers of each period. Curiously enough, other observations show the same rule to apply to many other parts of the world as well. On the assumption that these fluctuations may be depended on, the center of the next wet period should occur in the second decade of the coming century; but in the immediate future we should have a preponderance of dry periods for some years yet to follow.—New York World.

Linen colored handkerchiefs of pure linen are the latest fashion. They are more serviceable on the links, awheel, and for all outdoor use than the dainty bits of white linen usually carried by women.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Porto Ricans demonstrate their patriotism by shouting for freedom and feeding themselves.

It is a great misfortune for Spain that the war has not brought on a new set of men to the front to play parts in her politics.

In 1897 South Africa imported $1,437,534 worth of bicycles. In the civilization process the wheel seems to take precedence of the railway.

And now the impetuous young German Emperor has become a fireman. At last he has a wide open opportunity to extinguish himself.

The feminine enthusiasm over Schley surpasses that displayed toward Hobson to a degree which suggests an inclination to make a distincton between a lieutenant and an admiral.

Spain says she will "insist" on certan interpretations, etc., etc. Well. there will be several American fellows present to take a hand in the interpretation business, so let the work go on.

Dewey was satisfied to only take up both ends of the Manila episode. The Spaniards ought to congratulate themselves that he did not conclude to take a play in the middle of the game.

"The only thing we can do now," says Dupuy de Lome, speaking for Spain, "Is to repent and reform." Such things are quite possible, even to Spain, when she can't do anything else.

It will repay you now to watch how the word "protocol" will be overworked from now on in all the ordinary affairs of life. We will have protocols in family rows, in neighborhood rows and in politics.

General Augusti, of Manila, having bombastically boasted that he would hold out to the death, quietly escaped and left the odium of surrender to a subordinate. "Spanish honor" is fearfully and wonderfully made.

France has a law forbidding the slaughter of birds smaller than larks. Nevertheless, piles of such birds are offered for sale in the markets of many French cities. A movement is now under way for enforcing the law and saving the songbirds and the fields. which, it is said, they keep free from injurious insects.

Senor Vicuna, the new Chilean Minister, has signalized his arrival in Washington with the announcement that his mission is to foster the friendly and commercial relations between his own country and the United States. He could have no higher mission and it is to be hoped that he will meet with unqualified success.

It is now fully recognized that the worst blow which that most sacred of all British institutions, the peerage. has suffered during recent years is that which Mr. Hooley has inflicted by his bankruptcy court revelations. And yet there was nothing new in the general nature of his disclosures. It was known to every one acquainted with the ways of London that the use of some of the most aristocratic titles in England long has been a marketable commodity in promoting financial schemes. It is the official proclamation of the truth, more than the facts themselves, which has shocked and humiliated England.

This country is on the eve of an enormous extension of its foreign commerce. Not only does a great trade await us in Cuba and Porto Rico —to secure which ships are already sailing from all our Atlantic and Gulf ports—but ten new lines of steamers have been organized to trade with the Orient, and now an eleventh is announced from San Diego, Cal. These lines will sail some of them from the Eastern and some of them from the Western coasts. They will trade with Hawaii, China, Japan, South Africa, New Zealand, Australia, Manila, the East Indies and the Polynesian groups. Manila, in our hands, promises to become a rival of Hongkong in world-covering commerce, is the opinion of the New York World.

The Russian birth rate is so far in advance of the death rate that the increase of population has been prodigious. In 1724 there were 16,000,000 Russians; yet there were 20,000,000 in 1762; in 1796, owing to conquests by Catherine II., the population jumped to 37,000,000; conquests in Finland and Poland account for the gain of 9,000,000 shown by the census of 1809. The prodigious increase, due simply to the excess of births over deaths, began after this date. With no important change in the frontiers, the inhabitants in 1847 numbered 67,000,000, an increase of 21,000,000 in less than forty years. In 1858 Russia had 74,000,000, in 1885 108,000,000;the census of January, 1897, counted 129,000,000, and it is estimated that the present population is more than 130,000,000. The Russian people has more than sextupled since the day when Chappe prophesied its approaching end.

A curious echo of the Czar's peace communication to the powers is the European rumor that Russia's autocrat merely anticipated Germany's would-be autocrat—who, being on his travels in the Holy Land, intended to issue just such an appeal for disarmament from the Mount of Olives, when he should have reached that point. Of course, Wilhelm entertained no such purpose; but since no one can prove that he did not, the event gives him a fresh opportunity to "play to the galleries." The persistence with which this young man seeks to occupy the center of the stage, no matter who may be enacting the star part, is amusing when it is not exasperating. Some day he will be tossed over the footlights into the orchestra, with his head through the big drum and his heels kicking a vain appeal for rescue. thinks the New York Mail and Express.

The medical officer of one of the leading deaf and dumb institutions of England states that he has obtained material aid from the seemingly improbable source of a loud-speaking telephone in the treatment of his patients, in the education of such deaf mutes as possess a fragment of hearing power the telephone being found to possess many important advantages over the speaking tube usually employed. In the first place, in arranging for this purpose, the wires from several receivers can be coupled up to one transmitter, and thus a teacher can instruct a group of children at the same time; then, again, it is not necessary for a teacher to apply his mouth close to the transmitter, so that the pupils have a full view of the facial expressions and lip movement, which is not possible when having to direct his voice into the mouthpiece of a speaking-tube or trumpet. While seeing the movement of the lips, the patient has the sound conveyed close to his ear drum—a most advantageous combination.

One of the Portland, Oregon, papers lately announced the arrival at Astoria of a magnificent ocean log raft which scaled between six million and seven million feet of lumber; a raft which, if made of sawed lumber, would contain about twelve million or thirteen million feet. It was 600 feet long, with beam of fifty-three feet and drew twenty feet six inches. Of cigar shape, it was protected by a heavy plank bulkhead at each end, held in place by four steel cables of one and one-fourth inch in diameter. It was towed by a hawser sixteen inches in circumference and 150 fathoms long, connecting with a chain seventy-five fathoms in length at the end of the raft, this chain being connected with another chain running through the whole length of the raft, in this way pulling the raft together wherever the strain came on the hawser, thus tightening the raft more securely when on the ocean.

It would seem from the official report of the United States Government timber tests that to determine the difference in strength values of specimens of the same kind of wood a large number of experiments are essential. Wood being a non-homogeneous material, and extremely variable in its strength and other properties, the range of its variation in these respects is of great practical importance to builders and others. It is stated that small differences —such as a few hundred pounds in values of 10,000 pounds or more—are too small to determine the quality in general; and the fact is made apparent that mistaken conclusions as to the relative values of various wood materials have arisen from differences in data which, according to this report, might fairly be considered within the range of variability of each materal by itself. The result of the Government series of experiments in this line indicate how much uniformity may be expected in timber, and plainly show that differences of less than ten per cent. in ordinary wood testing with conifers and fifteen per cent. in hard wood may be looked for in stock of the same kind, and must be regarded as a criterion for or against the whole.

The Western states, inclusive of Alaska, which have exhibits in the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, comprise in area more than two-thirds of the whole United States. The region is as large as France, Germany, England, Scotland, Ireland, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Belgium, Switzerland, Greece, Sweden, Norway. the Netherlands, Turkey in Europe, Bulgaria, Roumania, and Servia, together with Egypt and Japan, the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, and Cuba; and, in addition, you must add all of New York, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maine, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and South Carolina. According to Harper's Weekly there were living in this region a half-century ago less than two million people, exclusive of Indians, three fourths of the white inhabitants being in three states. To-day this population has been increased by over twenty millions of people.

Ivanhoe's Rebecca's Portrait.

Miss Wilhelmine Loos, daughter of the Rev. Louis Loos, of Lexington, Ky., formerly President of Kentucky University, has completed for the Foster Jewish Home and Orphan Asylum of Philadelphia, a picture of Rebecca Gratz.

When Arsanna Gratz Clay, a grandniece of Rebecca Gratz, was asked by the managers of the home to have painted a copy of the famous picture of Rebecca that hangs in the Clay homestead and which was painted by the immortal Sully, she commissioned Miss Loos to do the work. It is well done, and the members of the Gratz family agree that it is a perfect likeness of the distinguished original.

The picture was sent to Philadelphia in time for the unveiling on August 29. the anniversary of the death of Rebecca Gratz, the founder of the Foster Home. Rebecca Gratz was the lady who inspired Scott's character of Rebecca in "Ivanhoe."—Richmond Dispatch.

A Pigeon's Remarkable Flight.

A carrier pigeon owned by H. C. Worth, of San Francisco, has just made a remarkable flight. The bird was taken in a basket on the transport Australia to Manila by way of Honolulu, then back to Nagasaki, Japan, and thence to San Francisco. During the entire trip the lid of the basket was never raised. When the Australia was sixty miles from this city on her return trip the pigeon was liberated. After poising at a height of a few hundred feet it started directly for home and arrived at the loft of its owner long before the Australia had docked.—Chicago Record.

During the war the daily output of magazine rifles from the Springfield armory increased from 120 to 363.

The Italians always carry their money together with their passports. in long tin tubes.

A Philadelphia Chinaman glories in a pigtail five feet eleven inches in length.

Our Second Satellite.

If we are to credit the observations made by Dr. Georg Waltemath of Hamburg, Germany, our earth is accompanied in her wanderings, not by one satellite only, as we have hitherto been content to believe, but by two. Although it seems utterly incredible that we should have to wait till the end of the nineteenth century for the recognition of the existence of this second moon, yet we must remember that numerous observations, mostly, it is true, utterly unscientific and vague, have from time to time been made recording the passage of an unknown dark body across the sun's disc.

These observations were some short time back collated by Dr. Waltemath, and from the facts thus brought together he has evolved the theory of the existence of a small moon hitherto unrecognized, having a diameter of some 440 miles, with a volume 123 times smaller than that of the moon, and a mass eighty times less.

In announcing his theory Dr. Waltemath predicted a transit of this body across the sun's disc for a date early in February last, and curiously enough he has since had his prediction confirmed from more than one quarter. He has received letters from China, where three German officers in the Chinese service observed the phenomenon; from Weisbaden and other towns in Germany. These confirmatory observations may, of course, be mere coincidences; but wilder theories than that of Dr. Waltemath have by the advancement of science been proved to be sober facts.—London Chronicle.

A Novel Exhibit.

A novel feature of the Burlington Railway Land Department exhibit is the work of the extraordinarily clever wife of a Nebraska farmer. It includes a group of five figures seated at a dinner table and four pictures. The pictures are made of corn, corn husks, corn tassel silk, and the leaves of the silver maple, and they have been done so well that they would pass for paintings. The first scene shows the young farmer coming to the country with his ox team. The second his sod house and primitive mode of breaking the prairie. The third and fourth scenes reveal the changes which thirty years have wrought in the farmer's home and in means of transportation. The family at dinner are clothed in corn husks, and even the table cloth is woven of the husks.—Omaha Correspondence Boston Transcript.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The forest lands in Bavaria are said to be worth $65 an acre.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

The fiber of the ramie plant, originally an East Indian perennial of the nettle family, but now cultivated in the West Indies and in the southern part of the United States, is considered to be the coming textile fiber.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

According to computations the black race embraces about one-tenth of the living members of the human species, or 150,000,000 individuals.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

No machine takes the place of nature's teasle in finishing various grades of woolen cloth.

Attention Farmers!

Do you want to make a pocket full of money before Christmas? You can certainly make it selling our great "WAR WITH SPAIN," a complete history of the war from beginning to end. Most complete and authentic book published. Superbly illustrated. Liberal commissions and handsome premiums. Outfit free on receipt of 20 cts in postage to pay mailing. BONANZA for farmers who have horse and buggy and can travel through the country. Order outfit and secure choice of territory. Address:

D. E. LUTHER PUB. CO., Atlanta, Ga,

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

THOS. N. FREEMAN - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday. October 13, 1898

We print this week a list of beautiful and useful prizes, which we hope our readers will examine. These goods are all first class and cheap at the regular selling price.

We have about 200 subscribers who's time expires this month. We expect these old friends of the News to immediately take advantage of the prize offer and see that their names are renewed on our mailing list at once.

It is a sad thought that comes to our minds, when we look out over the beautifl hills and valleys of this fair Southland and see what God given wealth is laying idle, waiting only the master touch of man to make it grow into virtable edens, while the only force that can accomplish this work– the inteligent and energetic young men and women, are gone mad after city life and look upon the farm with perfect disdain. The country is drained of its best element and the business and professions of the cities are over crowded and thousands who might have made asuccess and lived happy are even driven to the mad house or suicide. The farmers of Alabama need more educated men and women-

Let every body who has any pride in our town and section, help us to make the Montevallo News the best weekly paper in the state. We are in the newspaper business, not so much for the money that is in it, but simply because we like to edit This is the whole truth and honestly, if our readers help us to make more money than it will take for the editor and his one companion to live on, he will put it all back in the publishing business, just simply to see things hum. If we could raise the subscription to five thousand, we would do our best to make the world think that Montevallo was the "only'ist" centre of the earth.

We have a high ideal as to what the Montevallo News aught to be and we will strive constantly to that end. We intend to make the paper more interesting and useful than it has ever been in its history. We expect to push the subscription list up to the thousand mark during the next three months.

Young man learn to do something. If your talent and opportunity directs you to a certain work, learn to do that well. The man or women who learns to do something well need never be miserable or die of hunger. The world is in need of experts. If you farm, be the best farmer in the country. Use your brain as well as your muscle. Read and study and never loose a chance to add to your knowledge on your particular line. If you are a mechanic, aspire to be an architect. If you are a clerk in a store, dont sit on the counter and look disappointed when a customer comes in, and move about as if you diden't care whether you sold any thing or not. There is one business allowed by law, and you don't have to pay licens, in which I would not advise you to become an expert in, and that is loafing for it is the most miserable existance a man can live. Soloman said that the only happiness was in the works of one's hands, and expierence has proved him right.

That movement which should inspire the dispondant soul with the brightest ray of hope, which should make one feel that the future is not all darkness, is the broad awakening to the necessity of educating the young womanhood of our land. There has always been some kind of female education but it was usually very superficial. The old idea was, to make the young lady "accomplished", which consisted on her being taught to make some kind of strange noise on a piece of rosewood furnature, called piano and shriek in a cat-like voice something sentimental, to be able to spread paint on china or canvas so that it woud resemle a pieture and to know how to look delicaet and etherial, as though a light breeze, little stronger than southern zepher, would waft her angelic form beyond the vision of our grosser natures. But thank heavens we are getting over such foolishness. We have discovered that girls are human beings "a little above the angles." We like them better for that. We want them for companions and not goddesses, therefore we are educating them to take their places beside the men, a help-meet and an inspiration. When they have talent that way, they learn to sing in a voice which reaches the heart or to make music which stirs the soul; or to paint pictures which is nature reproduced; or to cook bread that is the real staff of life, or to transact all kind of business, in a word be of some use in the world.

There will be several bills be the legislature this fall, all aiming to improAe school system of our State. No one seems toknow exactly how but all agree that something must be done. Of coarse the great question is, how shall the money be raised? Some are in favor of a special tax, others favor a general tax. Special taxes are always expensive and hard to collect and never gives satisfaction. A general raise in the taxes for all the state, will likely be the plan adopted; this method will be simple and bears on all alike. Few property holders will object to paying an extra dollar, when he knows that the mouey is going to educate the people around him. Then, there must be no option in the matter, alaw which allows a Destrict to vote to raise the taxes, will not be the best law, for the more inteligent section will have good schools and the igdorant section would not vote araise, so remain in the background uneducated.

DR. J. P. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. Will be at St. George Hotel, Monday, Nov. 7, 1898.

J. M. Reynolds,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

and Solisitor in Chancery.

Moutevallo. - - - Ala.

THE STATE OF ALABAMA
Shelby County.

Addie Pope, by her next friend Alex Burr Complainant. vs. Ira Pope Defendant.

In Chancery
Sixth District
North-Eastern
Chancery Division.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of E. S. Lyman that the Defendant Ira Pope is a Non Resident of Alabama, and resides now in the State of Kansas, but his particular place of residence in said State is to affiant unknown and futher, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendsnt is over the age of twenty — one years. It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Montevallo News a news paper published in the city of Montevallo once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him the said Ira Pope to plead, answer or dumur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 24th day of October A. D. 1898, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office, in Columbiana, Ala. this 13th day of September A. D. 1898.

J. B. White Register.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo. - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing specialty. Work solicited.

Montevallo Select School.

A Male Institute.

With Preparitory Department for Boys and Girls.

Faculty up to date — 20 years experience. Terms low—Work thorough—New house complete in 30 days. Girls Industrial patrons, prepare your sons for colleg with us.

J. B. Kilpatrick. Principal
Mrs. J. B. Kilpatrick, Assistant

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5 1898

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to

JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala., Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South. Write for elegant catalogue No. 12. Address

C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,
June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 8:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. SINNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M. —Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P. —Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month.

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONROE, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.0(
Six months, cash in advance .... .5(
Three months, cash in advance.. .2

LOCAL.

B. W. Hoskins, of Aldrich, spent Saturday in Montevallo.

Ladies buy Krippendorf, Dittman fine shoes from C. L. Meroney & Co.

We met several people in Montevallo this week, who came from distant towns to trade with our merchants.

Wanted, a position by a young man to teach music, reference furnished as to ability.

Apply to A. A. Roebuck.
Aldrich, Ala.

Mrs. Bryan, accompanied by her family has moved to Birmingham to join her husband, who has a position there.

The young ladies of the Industaial can have their little brothers and sisters with them, if they will have them come to Montevallo and attend the Preparatory School taught by Prof. Kilpatrick.

Bro. Graham, of the Sentinel, of Calera, was in town Tuesday,

Three for five. A box of toilet soap at Lathams & Co. three cakes for five cents.

Col. J. B. Peasley, of Selma, spent one day in Montevallo this week.

S. H. McCauley cut four crops of Johnson grass from one piece of land, this year. This grass, when cut in the right stage, is the most profitable crop that can be grown on low, rich land.

"Don't read trash," Read the best weekly and monthly magazines, subscribe at W B McCLUNEY & Co.

Bat shooting seems to be a popular amusement these afternoons. Two of Montevallo's crack shots, went out one evening this week and baged about fifty birds. They admitted eating them.

Wonderful! Fine toilet soap at S. A. Latham's & Co. 3 cakes for five cents.

Mrs. M. A. Holbrook, of Anniston, formely of this place, has moved into the old homestead in front of our office. She is accompanied by her danghter Miss. E. S Storrs. Montevallo people are glad ta know that these estimable ladies will make their home here for some time in the future.

See the show windows at Meroney's, W. E. Perry, late of Birmingham is the artist

Mrs. Richards, of Denver Col. spent several days in Montevallo this week, visiting her son Cliftou Newton. She returned to the West Tuesday, accompanied by Mr. C. Newton. Mr Clifton will be missed in our town. All bid him God's speed and wish to see him back amoung us again sometime in the future.

Cold drinks at Rogan's

Hundreds of school girls are seen on the streets every afternoon It lends a charm and a spirit to to the town. We couldent do without the girls.

Go to C. L. Meroney & Co. for a perfect fitting suit of clothes.

Boys, you can look at the girls go by, but you will have to wait till they graduate before you tell them the old story.

Leave your laundry with F. W. Rogan every Wednesday and get it Saturday.

We apprehend an epidemic of heart desease in Montevallo. Several of the boys are already complaining.

True artistic taste has been shown in the selection of the new line of fall prints at Morgan Bros. Prices from 3½ to 5c

Gaston A. Robins, Democratic nominee for congress, of this District, spent Tuesday night in Montevallo. He is looking well, although he is making two speeches every day.

Have you seen the beautiful and delicious candies at F. F. Crowe & Co.

If you want to know how to keep goats or sheep from jnmping, call on Bro. Crabbe and he will give you the information free.

See the celebrated line of Fountain shirts at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Montevallo certainly has some talented musicians. We had the pleasure Tuesday evening of hearing some beautiful music, rendered by Misses Kate and Mary Kroell.

R. T Newton keeps a meat market. Leave your orders with him

We want a correspondent at every Post Office in this section. Send us the news of your neighborhood.

Heiser's celebrated line of mens high grade shoes at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Don't leave town for any length of time without having the News follow you.

If you want cheap building l ts call on C. Vandergrift.

FOUND—At the News Office, Montevallo, a space to let the people know what you want. Tell the public what you want and you will receive it.

Use first class stationery. Buy it from F. F. Crowe & Co.

DOGWOOD ITEMS

Rev. J. D. Martin delivered quite an able sermon at the Baptist church Sunday.

Call and see the new lot of saddles and bridles at Morgan Bros.

Pat and James Harrison have employment at Gurnee.

While waiting for a room to be fixed up for a photograph gallery, we will in the meantime call at any place or residence for the purpose of making photos of those who wish them. Please see specimins of our work at Fred Rogan's store.

Resectfully.
R. W. Carleton

We are pained to chronicle the illness of Miss Leila Striplidg who has been very ill for some time with typhoid fever, and we wish far her a speedy recovery.

C. L. Meroney & Co. sell pure high grade groceries.

We are glad to state that Mrs. H W Grrrison is much better after having been very ill for some time.

Buy your fall suit, best and cheapest at C. L. Meroney & Co

Mr and Mrs Oscar Harrison of Belle Ellen, visited relatives and friends near this place last week.

Have you seen the beautiful stationery at W B McCLUNEY & Co.

Walter Harrison, of Belle Ellen was in town Sunday.

Don't injure your eyes. Martin the Jeweler keeps spectacles suitable for school girls and all ages.

Miss Emma Lacey, of Maylene, visited relatives and friends near town last week.

Kroell sells twelve boxes of matches for ten cents.

Every body will be greatly pleased when the METHODIST church shall have been moved down in town.

C. D. & F.

J B Whatly

First Class Painter Calera Ala

Our line of hats are up to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabay

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

Aluminum Instead of Linen.

Collars, cuffs, shirt fronts and like articles usually made of linen are being made of aluminum, coated with white Japanese varnish, on which designs in imitation of weaving and sewing are marked.

The Cost of Freeing Cuba.

The United States are certainly entitled to retain possession of the Philippine Islands if the peace commissioners so decide, for the cost of the war runs far into the millions, and the end is not yet. The money paid out reaches an astonishing total. To free the stomach, liver, bowels and blood of disease, however, is not an expensive undertaking. A few dollars invested in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will accomplish the task easily. The poor as well as the rich can afford it.

Uruguay has more newspapers in proportion to its population than any other country.

Fall Medicine

Is Fully as Important and Beneficial as Spring Medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to keep the blood rich and pure, create an appetite, give good digestion and tone and strengthen the great vital organs. It wards off malaria, fevers and other forms of illness which so readily overcome a weak and debilitated system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine.

Hood's Pills cure indigestion. 25 cents.

A Model Fruit Seller.

A thrifty Italian fruit seller on one of the most populous thoroughfares down town, who talks fluently with his diverse patrons, is an interesting character. His personal appearance gives no outward suggestion of his profound book lore and his versatility in the modern languages. Underneath his commonplace counter he always has a box of books on poesy, history and biography, and whatever time the exigencies of business allow, this assiduous Italian spends with the classics and the old maters. He reads and speaks fluently, Italian, French and English, and can converse intelligently with his German customers. At seventeen, when he landed in New York, he knew no language but Italian. A Columbia College professor became interested in the lad, who then served him with his morning news, and taught him to read. Now this fruit seller savant has a rare collection of old Italian and French chronicles and a well selected library of history and fiction.—Philadelphia Recod.

YOUNG AT SIXTY.

Serene comfort and happiness in advanced years are realized by comparatively few women.

Their hard lives, their liability to serious troubles on account of their peculiar organism and their profound ignorance concerning themselves, all combine to shorten the period of usefulness and fill their later years with suffering.

Mrs. Pinkham has done much to make women strong. She has given advice to many that has shown them how to guard against disease and retain vigorous health in old age. From every corner of the earth there is constantly coming the most convinciug statements from women, showing the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in overcoming female ills. Here is a letter from Mrs. J. C. Orms, of 220 Horner St., Johnstown, Pa., which is earnest and straight to the point:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women that I think your remedies are wonderful. I had trouble with my head, dizzy spells and hot flashes. Feet and hands were cold, was very nervous, could not sleep well, had kidney trouble, pain in ovaries and congestion of the womb. Since taking your remedies I am better every way My head trouble is all gone, have no pain in ovaries, and am cured of womb trouble. I can eat and sleep well and am gaining in flesh. I consider your medicine the best to be had for female troubles."

The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparallelled, for years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for sometime past has had sole charge of the correspondence department of her great business, treating by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women during a single year.

LIFE IN MANILA.

MANY ATTRACTIONS ABOUT THE QUAINT OLD CITY

The Natives Have Wonderful Talent for Music —The Tremendous Downpour of the Rainy Season—Canoeing in the Streets.

Wallace Cumming writes an article on "Life in Manila" for the Century. Mr. Cumming says:

Our firm had a mess-house, in which the partners lived, and which was open to all their American and English employes. Should the latter prefer to live elsewhere. One thousand dollars a year was allowed as the equivalent. I lived at the mess, finding it much more comfortable. Indeed, it would have been hard to be dissatisfied with our way of living; and as it will show the style in which the great American houses in the East are conducted, I think it worth telling with some detail. The mess was a fine house, handsomely furnished, in one of the pleasantest parts of the city. The table was supplied by a Chinese cook. He was allowed five hundred dollars a month, and given certain of the heavier groceries, such as flour, rice, etc. He paid his undercooks; and was responsible for meals at the mess, and for breakfast (like the French dejeuner a la fourchette) and afternoon tea, which were taken at the office by all the employes, except on Sundays and fiestas. Then there was a majordomo, who had control of all servants and had charge of the house. There was also an extra house-servant, and a Chinese porter, who opened and shut the great house doors, filled the baths, pulled the punka, and watered the street in the dry season. Then every one had a personal servant, who took care of his room, attended to his clothes, waited on him at table, prepared his early breakfast (about 7 a. m.), and so on. Everybody also owned a horse or horses, which involved one more servant at least. Being a junior, I contented myself with one pony and a two-wheeled trap, something like a dog-cart. The others drove victorias and pairs. Three of our mess owned racing-ponies, which inured to my benefit, as it gave me as much riding as I wished. After the bath and an early breakfast came the drive to the office, between eight and eight-thirty; then work till twelve-fifteen, at which hour breakfast was served at the office; then work again until five-thirty, interrupted between three and four by afternoon tea; then to the bungalow to dress, to drive, and back to dinner at seven-thirty.

To a lover of music Manila is a charming place. The natives have wonderful musical talent, and there were numerous bands. Those of the three regiments then stationed there were remarkably good; and four afternoons each week they played in turn on the "Luneta," a sort of plaza on the shores of the bay just outside the old walls. I recall vividly the open-air concert, by three hundred instruments, given in honor of Prince Oscar of Sweden. The glorious full moon of the tropics, far brighter than in more northern lands, shining on the quiet waters of the bay, the innumerable lights, the brilliantly dressed crowd, and the thrilling music of the mighty bands, softened in volume on the great plain, combined to make it an occasion to be long remembered. The "Battle of Castelejos," which they played, was inspiring, and the effect was heightened by the repetition of the trumpet-calls by soldiers who were stationed at intervals far off upon the plains, while the guns on the city walls added a touch of reality.

During the height of the rainy season, from about the middle of June to the middle of September, all outdoor pursuits are suspended. The violence of the downpour is hardly to be imagined by dwellers in higher latitudes. The streets in Manila, and some of the roads for a few miles outside, are fairly good during the dry season, but quickly become nearly impassable when the rains set in. As I have already mentioned, Manila is intersected in all directions by creeks, which are traversed by hundreds of canoes. These canoes are dugouts, often of great size, and the natives are most expert in handling them. They are indispensable at times when vast floods come down from the great lake, about thirty miles from Manila, of which the river Pasig is the outlet. One storm will sometimes raise the river and overflow most of the city. After a few hours' rain I have gone direct from our steps into a banca (canoe), and been paddled through the streets to the office.

SAN JUAN'S FORTIFICATIONS.

Morro Castle Dates From the Time of Ponce De Leon.

In the Century there is a richly illustrated article on "The Island of Porto Rico," written by Mr. Frederick A. Ober. Writing of the fortifications of San Juan, Mr. Ober says:

Morro Castle dates from Ponce de Leon's time, but the Morro as it stands to-day was completed in 1584. The faro stands here, with a first-class light, and within the Morro's walls are buildings of a small military town —quarters for troops, a chapel, bake-house, and guard-room, with dungeons down by the sea and underneath. This is the citadel, the initial point of the line of circumvallation, composed of connected bestions, castles, and fortalezas, running from west to east, to the Castle San Cristobal, thence north to the ocean.

The oldest portion of the line is at the southwest angle, and is called the "Fortaleza," the platform of which supports the captain-general's palace, and was built in 1540. The sea-wall to the north is pierced by the gateway of San Juan, which affords entrance to the glacis of San Felipe del Morro, between the palace and semi-bastion of San Augustine. Turning southwardly from the Fortaleza, we note the bastion of La Palma, and the semi-bastion of San Justo, in the curtain between which two is the arched entrance from the Marina, or outside ward, to the intramural city, and known as the Puerta de Espana. Beyond it, to the east, are the bastions of San Pedro and Santiago, the latter in the eastern wall, the middle part of which is pierced by the landward gate called the Puerta de Santiago, protected by a ravelin of the same name. The fortress San Cristobal, though sometimes called a castle, is in reality an amplification of the fortifications facing east, or landward, and extends from the bay on the south northward to the ocean.

These fortifications in their present shape were projected in 1630, and virtually finished between 1635 and 1641; but San Cristobal and the outworks were not completed until the comparatively modern date of 1771. The eastern advanced works consist of two lines of batteries, protected by a deep moat; of the small fort at San Antonio at the bridge of that name; and at the extreme eastern end of the islet a still smaller fort, San Geronimo, which defends the bridge of Boqueron.

From Santiago Via London.

A member of the House of Commons, who has two nephews who are engineers in the American Navy, is receiving from the fleets a correspondence which would awake the envy of many newspapers. Their descriptions illustrate the readiness and efficiency of the American Navy. One of his correspondents relates that in one of the bombardments of Morro Castle one of the guns of one of the American ships was put out of action by a shell from the forts. Immediately all the chief engineers were summoned from the whole fleet by signal, and were brought aboard this ship to give advice as to the gun. They all looked at the gun and examined her damaged machinery, and the result of their combined wits was that in half an hour the gun was back in action, as sound as ever!—London Chronicle.

On an average every woman carries forty to sixty miles of hair on her head.

A Domestic Incident.

From the Observer, Flushing, Mich.

"Early in November, 1894," says Frank Long, who lives near Lennon, Mich., "on starting to get up from the dinner table, I was taken with a pain in my back. The pain increased and I was obliged to take to my bed. The physician who was summoned pronounced my case muscular rheumatism accompanied by lumbago. He gave me remedies and injected morphine into my arm to ease the pain.

"My disease gradually became worse until I thought that death would be welcome release from my sufferings. Besides my regular physician I also consulted another, but he gave me no encouragement.

On Getting Up From the Table.

"I was finally induced through reading some accounts in the newspapers regarding the wonderful cures wrought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, to try them. I took the pills according to directions and soon began to notice an improvement in my condition. Before the first box was used I could get about the house, and after using five boxes was entirely cured.

"Since that time I have felt no return of the rheumatic pains. I am confident that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life and I try to induce my friends who are sick to try the same remedy. I will gladly answer inquiries concerning my sickness and wonderful cure, provided stamp is enclosed for reply. FRANK LONG."

Sworn to before me at Venice, Mich., this 15th day of April, 1893.

G. B. GOLDSMITH, Justice of the Peace.

The Way He Won Her.

"How did Miss Rockingham ever come to choose that measly little chap for her husband, when she might have had the Marquis de Montmorency?"

"The measly little chap could understand her French or at least he made her believe he could—and the marquis couldn't."—Cleveland Leader.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Nearly 70,000 tons of cork are consumed in England every year.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free. DR. R. H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

For Whooping Cough, Piso's Cure is a successful remedy.—M. P. DIETER, 67 Throop Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 14, 1894.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco gives the consumers the very best Tobacco they can get. 2 ounces for 10 cents. It is fast winning its way to public favor. Try it.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Philosophers take things as they come, but pickpockets take them as they go.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

No wonder the stars are so bright when astronomers continually scour the heavens.

TAPE WORMS

"A tape worm eighteen feet long at least came on the scene after my taking two CASCARETS. This I am sure has caused my bad health for the past three years. I am still taking Cascarets, the only cathartic worthy of notice by sensible people."

GEO. W. BOWLES, Baird, Mass.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets TRADE MARK REGISTERED REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good, Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 313

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

A Painter's Daring Act.

A daring display of patriotism was recently made in Utah and the evidence of it stands there to-day to make people wonder how it was done. William Gibson of Vernal, suggested to a painter named Voigt that he be pulled up the sheer side of a cliff 28 feet higher than the Washington monument, and paint on the rock the words "Remember the Maine." Voigt readily consented and the trial was made. The start was made from the ledge, sixty feet from the base of the cliff. When Voigt was raised about one hundred feet from the ledge the twist in the rope began to make him twirl, slowly at first, but more rapidly as he gained momentum, and soon he was whirling so fast that those watching below were in momentary fear that he would fall. After the twist was out of the rope he was pulled up to a point 358 feet from the base, and there in immense capitals he painted the words which cheered our soldiers on their marches in Cuba.—Philadelphia Press.

Forwarding the Santiago Round Robin.

An officer from Santiago brings an interesting story of how the round robin of Shafter's Generals got into print. They figured on the cost of sending it and Roosevelt's letter by cable, and estimated it would be about $1,500. That staggered them, and it was then proposed to send the statement by mail, but that would take a week or more, and it was feared that the delay would cost many lives. An Associated Press correspondent, according to the returned officers, called on the Generals for news and was informed of their dilemma. He offered to send the round robin and Roosevelt's letter if furnished with copies. He was ordered out of the tent while the officers prepared their statements. After signing them they left the tent and the correspondent walked in. He found the desired copies lying on a table, evidently pepared for him, and telegraphed the statements to the United States.—Washington Correspondence Chicago Times-Herald.

Cheaper Coffee Coming.

Coffee is to be cheaper. This is to be one of the results of the war. Nearly half of the world's coffee crop comes to the United States. We consume about twelve pounds per annum for every one of our population, and spend on an average nearly $90,000,000 a year for coffee. Two-thirds of the world's supply of coffee comes from Brazil, which places an export duty of 11 per cent. upon the fragrant berry. The finest coffee in the world is grown in Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines, and under the stimulation of American enterprise these countries will, within a few years, be able to supply the world with coffee. What this means to the coffee consumer he can clearly understand.—Leslie's Weekly.

A Trick of Trade.

That there are tricks in all trades is shown by a peculiar circumstance surrounding the import of British hams, bacon and salt pork into Italy, which by law is prohibited, placing restrictions upon the porcine products of any country for sanitary reasons. By simply making the request, most other countries have secured the setting aside of this regulation in their favor. But it is not generally known that there is a method, withal an expensive one, of evading the terms of the regulation. If a ham were packed in a hermetically sealed tin, it could be passed as preserved meat, even if the label frankly declared that the tin contained an entire ham. This point has been successfully tested.—Boston Herald.

History of a Sapphire.

A villager recently found a big sapphire at a gemming pit at Nawdam Korale, Ceylon. He parted with it to a Moorman for a nominal sum, and it is now in the possession of a Colombo jeweller. It weighs twenty-three rupees and is valued at $6,000.-

The Umbrella Conscience.

"You may bank on a guilty conscience almost every time when an umbrella is in question," said a New Orleans drummer. "You see this one—well, it came into my possession quite recently by what they call the right of conquest in a protocol. I was caught out in the rain after lunch, and wondering what in the deuce I would do, when I noticed a chap under an awning trying to raise an umbrella. It was clear he didn't understand the fastening, and as the umbrella itself was not new, the circumstantial evidence against him was conclusive. So I walked up and said firmly: 'That's my umbrella, sir.' At the same time I took it out of his hand. He wilted at once, stammered something about a mistake, and walked off, while I walked away proudly, sheltered from a very moist shower. That's what nerve will do. Wonder, by the way, whose it really is."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Clouds more generally form in the upper regions of the atmosphere, because it is colder.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

CHOOSE FOR YOURSELF.

We usually advertise a specimen bargain from one of our catalogues, but we don't do so in this advertisement because we're perplexed. Our furniture catalogue consists of 160 pages, every page filled with bargains. Now, how are we to select one? We say to you, if there's anything on earth in the furniture or carpet line that you want, you'll find it in our catalogues at least 40 per cent. cheaper than you can buy it anywhere else.

Would we spend our money advertising our furniture and carpet catalogues (they're absolutely free, not even a stamp necessary) if they weren't worth having? Not much. If you get these catalogues you'll see for yourself what an enormous amount you can save by buying from mill owners and furniture manufacturers like we are.

That carpet catalogue that we are so anxious you should have, is the finest thing an artist ever designed, and you can select carpet from it just as though you were in the sample room of one of our mills, because it's lithographed in ten colors from hand painted plates.

We couldn't exaggerate the value of our furniture catalogue if we tried. Just think of 160 large pages devoted to furniture, and every page filled with bargains. Will you be a friend to yourself? Will you write for those catalogues at once? Address (exactly as below.)

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Dept. 301. Baltimore, Md.

FREE WATCH!

Send your address and we will express 50 fine, long-filler Nickel cigars. When sold, remit us $2.50 and we will mail you, free, a handsome stem wind and set watch, which retails for $2.50. WINSTON CIGAR CO., No. 39 Main St, Winston, N. C.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

The Best BOOK ON THE WAR bound and sumptuously illustrated (price $2), free to anybody sending two annual subscriptions at $1 each to the Overland Monthly, SAN FRANCISCO. Sample Overland, 5c.

--PATENTS--

Procured on cash, or easy instalments. VOWLES & BURNS, Patent Attorneys, 233 Broadway, N. Y.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use } Thompson's Eye Water

WANTED—Specialty Salesmen; new plan; sell goods; secure salesmen; salary, expenses, commission. W. F. Main Co., Iowa City, Ia.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS. 25 CTS.

And very LOW PRICES. Large stock. Also PIPE, VALVES and FITTINGS. ENGINES, BOILERS, MILLS and REPAIRS.
Lombard Iron Works & Supply Co.,
AUGUSTA, GA.

WANTED Agents for Farmers' Manual. It contains Cotton Sellers' Table that runs from 3c to 10c. It figures the 16ths and 20ths. Also for the Bible Looking Glass. It teaches the Bible by illustrations. Latest war books. Outfit free. Agents sell 7 out of 9 calls; agent in Walker Co., Tex., sells 20 in 5 hours.
J. L. NICHOLS & CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

WELL DRILLING MACHINES of all kinds and sizes, for drilling wells for house, farm, City and Village Water Works, Factories, Ice Plants, Breweries, Irrigation, Coal and Mineral Prospecting, Oil and Gas, etc. Latest and Best. 30 years experience. WRITE US WHAT YOU WANT.
LOOMIS & NYMAN, Tiffin, Ohio.

Good All the Year Round.
ST. ANDREWS COLD TEA
For the Liver.

SAVE MONEY.

Buy your Carriages and Buggies direct from the factory. We furnish anything in the line. Carriage, Phaeton, Top or Open Buggy, Cabriolet, Surrey, Trap, Cart, Road or Spring Wagon at a saving of from 25 to 30 per cent. Write SOUTHERN CARRIAGE & WAGON CO. for catalogue. Box 1, Atlanta, Ga. Henry L. Atwater, Manager.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

TEACHERS WANTED—Assts. Grade, Pub. & Private. Union Teachers' Agencies, Washington, D. C.

MENTION THIS PAPER in writing to advertisers. ANU 98-41

To Women!

After you have tried Doctors and all other preparations, and they have failed to relieve you, then use

GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA.

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

IT WILL CURE YOU.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.
Sole Manufacturers and Proprietors.

6% GOLD BONDS,

Payable semi-annually at the Globe Trust Company, Chicago, Ill.

These bonds are a first mortgage upon the entire plant, including buildings, land and other property of an Industrial Company located close to Chicago.

The Company has been established for many years, is well known and doing a large and increasing business.

The officers of the Company are men of high reputation, esteemed for their honesty and business ability. They have made so great a success of this business that the bonds of this Company are rarely ever offered for sale.

A few of these bonds came into our hands during the hard times from parties who had purchased them several years ago. We offer them in issues of $100.00 each for $80.00 and accrued interest.

For security and a large interest rate these Industrial Bonds are recommended as being among the best.

First-class bonds and securities of all kinds bought and sold.

KENDALL & WHITLOCK, BANKERS AND BROKERS,
52 Exchange Place, New York.

P. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas. Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

By the Way.— Continured from the 1st page.

Did you ever think how little it would cost to put up a good gyster of water works in Montevallo? That big spring at the foot of the hill is worth a million dollars to the town. This is not exagurated at all. What is a town without water? How many towns have good water? While the two big springs are wasting near a million gallons of cool, clear, pure water each day, hundreds of towns in the South are pumping muddy or stagnant water into their homes, causing sickness of all kind.

Who is going to build a nicely equiped bath house for the public, by next spring? We have the best place in the world for that. It wouldent cost much and would pay finanicaly.

Now is the time to clean off the grounds around your premises and start a lawn. It adds so much to a heme to have winter lawn with its green grass to cheer the heart during the long, dreary days of cold. Plow up the land thourghly, spread on about 25 loads of manure to the acre, narrow all smoothly and sow some mixed seed from one of the best seedmen. Bluegrass and Orchadgrass mixed will keep the ground green, winter and summer.

FOURTH QUR. CONFERNCE.

Rev. Jno. D. Simpson, Presiding Elder of this pastorial charge, has been with us several days, At 2,30 o-clock Wednesday, the usual business of this part of the Work, transacted at the church. It was a very harmoninous session and the reports show a good condition existing in all lines of the church work. This has been, in many respects, a suceessful year and the stewarts enter into its closing months with renewed interest and zeal. Bro. Simpson had all of the newly elected stewarts present, to stand about the alter and reading to them the rules for stewarts, as laid down by the church, he installed them in an impressive speech. It was a helpful and striking departure from the usual custom. He spoke of the high honor imposed upon them by the Pastor in choosing them out of all the members of the church. as those best suited in every way for this important office. Mr. J. M. Reynolds is chairman of the board and to his efforts are due, in a large measure, the success that has already been accomplished. We predict full payment along all lines and take the liberty of calling on every one interested in church work to come up to the full mearsure of their duty.

Handsome Gifts

For our subscribers!

The Montevallo News

is wroth

$ 1,00 per. year:

But to complimen our old subscribers and to add 500 new names to the subscription list at ONCE, we offer the splended gifts below enumerated. To all who send in their subscription or renew for the NEWS within the next 60 days, may take their choice of these beautiful and useful gifts. Those who live near, are requested to call at the places named, where the goods may be examined. Snbscribers who live at a distance will state which article is wanted and it will be sent by mail Post paid. Pay $1,00; receive the NEWS one year and take your choice in this list.

1 pair ladyies cuff buttons, worth 50 cents.

1 pocket knife, good metal, sold for 50 cents.—

1 pair of gents. shirt buttons, worth 50 cents. These goods may be examined at J W Martins.

1 French-briar pipe, with amber mouth peace, sold at 50 cents,

1 box of fashionable writingpaper, worth 50 cents.

Examine the obove goods at Mc.Cluney & Co's drug store.

1 pair of fine scissors, sold for 50 cents: may be see at George Kroell's

1 beautiful silver picture frame, sold at 25 cents; seen at Meroney & Co's.

1 box of toilet soap, 3 cakes, sold for 25 cents.

1 set of ladies or gent's shirt butons, sold for 50 cents

1 solid, rolled-gold, baby's ring, sold for 100.

See these goods at H C & W B Reynnolds.

For a club of 10 subscribers, will be given a splended solid nicke, stem-winding, stem-setting watch, guaranteed by J W Martin, for one yeaa. This watch is sold for $5,00.

For a club of 5 subscribers, will be given a nickle-plated watch: good time keeper; seen at Latham & Co's, This watch is sold for $2,50.

For a club of 3 subscribers, will be given a splended alarm clock, sold for $1,00; may be examined at Latham & Co's.

For a club of 2 subscribers, will be given a first class razor, wlich may be seen at Latham & Co's.

For a club of 2 subscribers, will be given a good handsaw: seen at New York Racket Store.

Well cooked light bread is the most healthful. Get it at the New Bakery, Bests old stand. R. T. Newton proprietor.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Says; that, it is a sad fate, that the local young man has to be contented with, to have 400 girls promenading the streets and noee to sfroll with to some beautiful spot, and whisper "Sweet nothings" into her willing or un willing ear. It is evident that Cupid will have to seek new fields or go out of the business.

Montevllo needs a stock law or a mutual a gaeement betwene all hog owners to keep them fenced up. One of those privileged swine which has learned to feel at home on the sidewalk, one day this week, walked supinely through a well known public place, into the back yard, much to the consternation of the houskeeper.

Montevallo has a great future before it and Girls Industrirl is the main factor it the imprevement. With Capt. Reynolds at the head the school is bound to be a great success. By the way, everyone who has the wellfare of our town at heort, should do all in their power to assist Capt. Reynolds in effort to secure the increased appropriation.

WITH THE CHURCHES:

Dr. McKeen, pastor of the first Presbyterian church of Anniston, filled thepulpit at the M E church last Sunday at eleven o'clock services, and also in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. The subject for the morning sermon was "forgivness" Those who feel sorrow, must know that if they so will, God can and will overrule the affliction for eternal good. No human being can forgive our sins. We must look to God for He with His infinite arm, will cast our sins behind and remember them no more forever. He is very impressive and holds the attention of the audience very closely.

Pastor Reynolds preached at Baptist Church at 11 o'clock. The subject "Fight the good fight of faith" was discussed in fervent and convincing style.

The attendance at the League at 4 o'clock at the M. E Church was not what it should be, but hope to see better attendance in the future.

Hotel Arr.vals

St. George: M. E. Ham: Proprietor.

J W Smith. Chicago.
E C Wood. Atlant.
E P Jones. New Orleans.
James Monroe. New York.
Frank Weller. Evensvill Ind.
A C Fox Fonsdale. Ala.
J W McDaniel. Baltimore.
J G Dun. New Orleans.
L Thalheimer. Selma.
J M Weie ,,
C Ward ,,
Chas. Lenair ,,
J B Parsley. ,,
Easton Robbins ,,
Dr. J P Haley ,,
Ed. Lilenthal ,,
S A Manldin. ,,
J L Clry ,,
T D Kemp. ,,
L C Wilson. Nashveille.
T J Haygood. Little Rock.
T A Turner. Anniston.
F P Phillips. ,,
Frank Willson. ,
Forest Colmer. Birmingham.
C R Plassen. ,,
F P Dunivan. ,,
W B Fawlks ,,
W E Faw. ,,
N A Graham. Calera.
J W Brs zeal. ,,
W B Brown. Columbiana.
J B Wilson. Boston,
L D Williams Washington.
J W Wallwork. Blockton.
Sam Waugh. ,,
James Wough ,,
A L Biles. ,,
Joe Wollwork. ,,
J H Clancy & Wife. Monte Sano
Miss Clathe Says ,
Miss E H Says ,,
J S Perkins. Cincinnata.
L Selegman. Montgomery.
Jno. Pitts. Shelby Co.
J H Qoberson ,,
W Jones. Atlante.
J S Eckles. Chattanooga.
A H Morston. ,,

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, '98 NO. 38

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL ITEMS

Perhaps the "haps" and mishaps which are continually occurring within the walls of the Dormitory will be of some slight interest to the readers of "The News." Here daily arrivals constantly add new life to the scene.

Variety is the spice of candy. Try the delightful flavors at F. F Crowe & Co

Ninety-six girls assemble nightly in the Study Hall, where Miss Barnett sees that order is preserved.

Why does F F Crowe & Co. sell more candy than any body else? Because it is the best and cheapest

Miss Mc Alpin, the competent matron, takes an interest in the welfare of each individual under her care.

Fresh bananas always on hand at F F Crowe & Co

The supply of water is seemingly inexhaustible; this fact is highly appreciated by the girls, although the water is not very pleasant to the taste as yet. The fact is, it is very "ironical."

Get your share of the fine bananas at F F Crowe & Co.

Plato's definition of a cultured man, "One who is curious to learn, and is never satisfied; seems to be highly appreciated in this community. Some of our young ladies, at least, must aspire to this ideal: they are so curious to acquire the sort of knowledge Mr. Webster gives us, that, not satisfied with their progress from Monday to Friday, this suffices most girls,- we find them eagerly wending their way towards the chapel, promptly on Saturday morning. Here they are awaited by Mrs, Babb; she graciously permits them to spend a few hours, all too short, in her improving society. We sincerely hope that the young ladies receive the benefits they so earnestly desire.

They find that the fancy paper at F. F. Crowe & Co. is the best

Some young lady asked, not long since, why the tank was not put on the top of the Darmitary. Can any one volunteer an answer?

That chocolate cake at F. F. Crowe & Co. is delicious.

When a girls brother comes to the Dormitory, all the girls want brothers

Something new, peanut cocoanut flakes at F. F. Crowe & Co,

Miss Callan took tea with Miss Burks Saturday evening. We had the pleasure of being at the table with her.

See those bueatiful new style ribbons at Morgan Bros.

Miss Thompson came up Saturd s night, and the the gir's enjoyed dancing with her and Miss very Callan much.

Up-to-date ribbons at Morgan Bros.

The windows of the Dormitory are always white on Saturday. There is no small pox here, only a light case of measles.

Ladies, call and see the latest style of capes at Morgan Bros.

A WOMAN
Who Buyes
Kipendolph & Dittman
shoes is always pleased
When He buys.

If wise, wants shoes for style and use Brown & Baystate are the best.

Fine flavored French candies at Rogan's,

The breakfast bell rings at seven o'clock. Promptly, five minuites ater the dining room door is closed to all comers

Toilet Soops in endless variety at McCluney & Co's.

Ask certain young ladies how they enjoyed their breakast on Saturday morning.

How does 250 leaves in one tablet for 5 centi suit you?. None larger. Comparison challenged at McCluney & Co's.

Several girls have been on the sick list during the past week, but seem to have recovered.

Tenneys candies in packages only at Mc Cluney & Co's.

The girls fairly besiege Mr. Forbers when he comes with the mail. Some young ladies receive so many and such long letters that dinner is left untasted. They certainly must subsist on something besides the food of mortals in their normal conditions.

Our line of hats are up to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros

On my rounds looking for news, we had a delightful treat of grapes. They were highly appreciated, and we have news promised from that source.

You have lost your sole, and you will loose a bargain if you dont see that beautiful line of new stock shoes at New York Racket Store.

Ask a certain young lady of Dormitory whether her complaint was rheumatics or rheulazies

J. W. Martin has just received a lot of haudsome new watches. Call and see them.

The weekly prayer meeting, held every Sunday night, was very well attended The subject studied, under the leadership of Miss Cambbell was "Prayer."

New clothing this week at Morgan Bros.

Visitors are here almost every day. Mr. Prowell visited his sister this week.

Dose your watch keep good time? If not have it examied at Martins the Jeweler.

Miss Mamie Wisdom returned to her home in Montgomery, Tuesday. Her new-found friends very much regret the necessity which calls her home, and hope she may be with us again soon.

A MAN
Muiedells shoes for A GIRL is best and Cheapest. Latest in ribbons & CloAkS
Only 10c for-sweet-sugar cured HAM
Morgan BroS.
Leaders in low prices.
MONTEVALLO, ALA,

Well cooked light bread is the most healthful. Get it at the New Bakery, Bests old stand. R. T. Newton proprietor.

Mrs. Babb called on the ladies of the Dormitory Friday afternoon.

Ladies buy Krippendorf, Dittman fine shoes from C. L. Meroney & Co.

A good appetite certainly is the best sauce. We Dormitory girls are always ready for the ringing of the bell

SCHOOL GIRL

WITH THE CHURCHES:

The Missionary intertainment given by the sabbath school of the M. E. Church last Sunday, was entertaining and instructive. The Baptist Sunday school having been invited over, the house was crowded to standing room. A good collection was taken for the Missionary cause.

A committee has been appointed to formulate a plan for the enlargement of the M. E. Church. The house, although quite comfortable, has been so much overcrowed for the last year, that an extention is absolutely neccessary to accomadate the increasing audience.

Pastor Abernathy preached at the M E. Church at 11 o'clock last Sunday to a crowded house on the subject, "Coming of Christ Kingdom." In the opening of the address he said that many people who claimed to have Christ Kiugdom in their hearts, were in fact nursing in their bosom some bitter malice against their fellow man. "Christ, he said, in the life, will not make one the less a man, but only develop the truest manhood. Away with the false standard of honor, which resents every slur, and is even ready to die for this egotistical hell-made code." The body of the sermon was an appeal to the Missionrry spirit. A handsome collection for missions was received.

Want Column.

Let your wants be known.

One cent a word per issue,

Laundry Rogan. Leave your laundry at Rogan's on Wednesand get it on Saterday.

Lost in Montevallo- an opal set; The finder will be rewarded anply by returning the same the St George Hotel,

Lost— a gold medal with the initials C. F. G. on one side and a map drawing on the other. Finder will be rewarded by returning the same to C. F. Gallehu.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

MONTEVALLO, - ALABAMA.

St. Louis, Mo., has issued instructions through superintendents to the principals and teachers that there is to be no more home work that shall involve the study of text-books.

In an article in the Revue des Deux Mondes M. Fouille declares that, while the modern Greeks are not descended wholly from Slavs, as some have maintained, they certainly are not lineal descendants of the great peoples who made Greece famous.

Apropos of the anti-vaccination crusade going on in London, it is interesting to note that in Norway and Sweden and Denmark vaccination is enforced in a novel way. People cannot be married without each producing their certificate of vaccination, Without this the minister cannot perform the ceremony.

Californians are complaining about the naming of warships. There was built in California the queen of the American navy, the battleship Oregon; the queen of the protected cruisers, the flagship Olympia; the handsomest vessel in the service, the cruiser San Francisco, and the only two monitors that ever crossed the Pacific, the Monterey and the Monadnock, and the swiftest torpedo boats are now being built there—yet the State has not been honored by having its name given to a battleship.

While European Russia will need only forty-five years or so, Germany about sixty-five years, Austria-Hungary seventy years, England eighty years, and Italy 110 years, it will take France over 860 years to double its population! What signifies the loss of Alsace-Lorraine's 1,500,000 souls compared with the loss France suffers every day? In the last five years the German population has increased by 3,000,000, who are every one fully German; France meanwhile has increased her people by only 175,000, who are not even of French nationality. The increase of a nation is of the utmost importance to the success of its country. It has meant much in the nineteenth century, it will mean more in the twentieth.

Discussing the quietly growing but highly important change in agricultural communities near cities, as the result of the invasion of the trolley, the American Agriculturist says that farming lands thus favored have advanced from five to twenty-five per cent in value. Thus far this is due, the paper says, not so much to the relative nearness of a market as to the increased demand from city residents who wish to enjoy country life. This is expected to mean much ultimately to agriculture. The city people gradually stay longer at their country summer homes, and when there are good schools in the vicinity the summer sojourners often become permanent residents. All this enables the country town to afford the betterments which make life worth the living, and this improvement, socially and financially, may, in certain restricted regions, restore to farming some of its lost favor.

A CRISIS IN PROCEEDINGS

Reached by the Peace Commissioners at Paris.

AMERICA WILL NOT ASSUME CUBAN DEBT

The Philippines Will Be Demanded—Day Informs Spanish Commissioners That Further Delay Will Not Be Tolerated.

A dispatch to a London news agency from Paris says:

"Today (Monday) the conference reached a crisis for the first time. Judge Day presented the demands of the American commission in threatening words. He said that delay was the only possible object attainable by the persistent efforts of the Spanish commissioners to saddle the United States with the Cuban debt and would be tolerated no longer, as the United States would neither assume nor guarantee any part of the debt.

"The Spaniards replied that this placed Spain in a position of repudiating or of reducing the face value of the Cuban bonds from 50 to 60 per cent., paying only half the stipulated interest on the reduced value. Before they would adopt either alternative, they would surrender to the United States the entire Philippines.

"Judge Day responded that the Philippines would probably be demanded, irrespective of the Cuban or any other debt.

"This, to the Spaniards, the first intimations of the intentions of the United States as to the Philippines, resulted in a whispered consultation on the part of the Spanish commissioners, after which they asked for time to communicate with Madrid. Judge Day said that President McKinley had instructed him to demand the entire surrender of Porto Rico tomorrow (Tuesday) and the delivery of every town to the United States officers before midnight, together with the evacuation of Havana on or before November 1, when the United States would be at the gates ready to take possession.

"There was no alternative offered in the case of either of these demands, and the session consequently was very brief. The American commissioners have received dispatches from Washington indicating that the administration is irritated and indignant over the delay of the Spanish commissioners."

WARLIKE PREPARATIONS.

Are Being Made by France—Getting Cruisers Ready.

PARIS.—Inquiries made Monday at the offices of the French minister of marine confirm the report published by the Soliel in a dispatch from Toulon that Vice-Admiral Fournier, who is now at Tunis with the minister of marine, M. Rockroy, will return immediately to Toulon, where orders have been received to speedily prepare the armored cruisers Admiral Trechouart, Bouvines, Jemmapez and Valmy for active service, and that, in addition, orders have been issued to send the largest possible number of gunners to Brest without delay to man the forts and batteries there. The vessels mentioned are to be promptly placed on a war footing and sent to Brest. Rumors connect the French preparations with the Fashoda dispute.

British Ship Blengfell Burned.

The British ship Blengfell, Captain Johnson, from New York, September 18 for London, was destroyed by a sudden fire off Margaet, England, early Monday morning. Nine of the crew, including the captain and a pilot, perished.

Later it developed that the captain's wife and children, the first and second mates, were also lost.

GOMEZ WILL BE MADE PRESIDENT

Cuban Assembly Will Meet at Santa Cruz Oct. 20.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA.—The meeting of the Cuban assembly at Santa Cruz is fixed for October 20, but owing to the lack of transportation facilities the members of the assembly will be unable to arrive at Santa Cruz on time, and the end of the month will probably have come before the election of a president and cabinet takes place.

El Cubano, a daily paper of Santiago, predicts the election of the following ticket:

President, Gen. Maximo Gomez; vice-president, Senor Bartholome Maso; secretary of foreign affairs, Dr. Domingo Mendez Capote; home secretary, Senor Benjamin Guerra; secretary of justice, Senor Jose A. Lanuza; secretary of war, Gen Calixto Garcia; secretary of public instruction, Senor Enrique Varona.

A BLIZZARD IN THE WEST.

Heavy Fall of Snow Reported in Missouri and Kansas.

A Monday's special from Kansas City, Mo., says. A genuine blizzard prevails in the Southwest and West today. A heavy snow has fallen since 3 o'clock, and driven by a strong wind has prostrated wires in all directions and caused delay to railway traffic. The snow followed twenty-four hours of steady rain.

There has been a decided fall in the temperature, and the suddenness of the storm, coming as it has upon the track of Indian summer weather will undoubtedly cause great suffering, especially on the ranges covered with cattle. Kansas City is practically cut off from the West, as far as telegraph communication is concerned.

TO SAVE HIS WATCH

Edward Thomas Rushed Into a Fire and Burned to Death.

His love for a plain silver watch which was an heirloom caused the death of Edward Thomas, a watchman at the furnaces of the Pioneer Manufacturing company, at Thomas, Ala., Monday. Thomas was employed as top filler. His duties were in the top house, 150 feet from the ground. Gas from the furnace blown over by a driving southeast wind set the top house on fire. At this time Thomas was on the safety platform, but rushed across and entered the house to save his watch, and was literally roasted to death.

M'KINLEY HONORED.

University of Chicago Confers Degree of Doctor of Laws Upon the President.

The University of Chicago Monday conferred upon President McKinley the degree of doctor of laws. Hundreds of people applauded to the echo as the president of the college placed around the shoulders of the nation's executive a hood of purple, to indicate, as Dr. Harper said in Latin, that the receiver of the degree had "Surpassed other men in native genius and devotion to it." The exercises at the university, while hampered very much by wet weather, were still impressive in an extraordinary degree.

LOCKED UP IN ST. LOUIS.

Alabama Negroes From Virden, Ill., Are in Jail.

The fifty-seven Alabama negroes that were sent to St. Louis from Springfield, Ill., after the union miners at Virden had refused to allow them to remain in that city, are in jail in St. Louis. They spent Sunday in religious service, and are anxious to get back to Alabama. Mayor Zeigenheim is trying to devise a way to get the hapless negroes back without legal intricacies. To send them to Alabama is not within the province of the St. Louis authorities, who had no connection with the trouble in Virden.

DEATH IN THE DEEP SEA

One Hundred and Sixty-Five Persons Drowned.

STEAMER STRANDED ON ENGLISH COAST

The Ship Was Blown on the Rocks and Scores Were Drowned Like Rats—Thirty-One Out of Two Hundred Saved.

LONDON.—The Atlantic Transport company's steamer, Moh Eagan, formerly the Cleopatra, of the Wilson and Furness-Leyland line, which left London for New York Friday, with 50 passengers and a crew of 150, ran ashore off the Lizard, between the Manacles and the lowlands. It is rumored that there has been a great loss of life.

It appears that when the Moh Eagan struck a gale was blowing and the sea was running high. Lifeboats put off from the Lizzard and from Falmouth, one returning filled with passengers. Several were drowned, however, it is reported, on the passage of the lifeboat to the shore. The coast at that point is extremely dangerous, and has been the scene of numerous wrecks.

A dispatch from Falmouth says that the Moh Eagan foundered and was probably blown ashore by the heavy sea and wind after her machinery was disabled.

Later.—According to a dispatch just received from Falmouth, out of 200 persons constituing the passengers and crew of the Moh Eagan, only 31 have been saved.

WAR WITH ENGLAND

Would Result From a Military Revolution.

LONDON.—The situation in Paris is regarded in well-informed quarters here as being more serious than at any time since the commune.

The St. James Gazette says: "A military revolution, however peaceful, which replaces the Brisson cabinet with the nominees of the generals, would imperil the relations between England and France almost to the breaking point. The semi-official and party-inspired Paris papers are still pretendeng that negotiations are proceeding between the two governments, and France believes it, although everybody in England knows that the statement is ridiculous. Even supposing Major Marchand is unconditionally withdrawn from Fashoda, the difficulties with France will in no way end. Behind it lies the whole question of the Behr el Ghazal, the richest prize in the Soudan.

CONSPIRACY DISCOVERED.

Plotters Were Arranging to Overturn French Affairs.

PARIS.—It is announced that a military plot against the government has been discovered. The plot was discovered by a general holding an important position. The plotters were to have taken action on Saturday during the absence of the minister of war, General Chanoine.

It further appears that when the government was warned of the plot, the ministers were not surprised, having already obtained information regarding the conspiracy.

The Matin says the plot was not in favor of one of the pretenders to the throne of France, who has been talked about for some time, but was only for the purpose of changing certain officials of the government, without touching the president.

Prominent Pittsburg Attorney Killed.

Charles E. Cornelius, one of the most prominent attorneys of Pittsburg, Pa., was killed by a train at Zewickley on the Fort Wayne railway Saturday.

GREAT BRITIAN PREPARING

Talk of War Over the Fashoda Affair.

FRANCE MUST BICK DOWN OR FIGHT

Grave Situation Arising Out of the French Aggressions in the Soudan—Indications That France Will Retire From Fashoda.

LONDON.—There has been a great deal of talk here about the possibility of war with France and various preparations upon the part of the British government reported to have been made. It is announced that a leading small arms firm at Birmingham was asked this week whether it was prepared to turn out a thousand magazine rifles weekly. The significance of this will be appreciated when it is pointed out that the British government works alone are capable of turning out 4,000 magazine rifles weekly. It is also rumored that war insurances have been effected at Lloyds during the last few days, but they appear to have been more in the character of bets than trading.

The situation arising out of the question between Great Britain and France as to the right of occupying Fashoda is extremely grave. Everything hinges on the nature of the report of Maj. Marchand, the French commander at Fashoda, who is is now on his way from Khartoum to Paris.

The evacuation of Fashoda by the French must, however, take place if war between Great Britain and France s to be averted, as the Marquis of Salisbury has nailed his colors to the mast and cannot recede from the position he has taken up, and in which he has received the unanimous support of the country.

The emphatic declarations of the English press and public men have already had a certain influence across the channel and the inspired statements of the French press belittle the inportance of Fashoda and shift the ground to an undefined claim upon the province of Bahr-El-Ghaseal and a port on the Nile. The mouth-piece of the French foreign office is preparing France for the abandonment of Fashoda by asserting that Major Marchand overshot his goal and that instead of going to Fashoda he ought to have stopped at the confluence of the Bahr-El-Ghaseal.

THEY WILL NOT YIELD.

Firm Stand Taken by the American Commissioners at Paris.

MADRID.—The semi-official Correspondencia attaches much importance to Friday's meeting of the peace commissioners. It says it believes that besides discussing the Cuban debt and the evacuation of Cuba, the Philippine question was under discussion, which this paper claims to regard as incredible "as all unprejudiced people must think, that after the signature of the protocol, the rights and sovereignty of Spain would be unquestioned."

Continuing, the Correspondencia says: "The Americans ure uncompromising and disposed to only yield on points of unimportant detail. They are not disposed to agree to arbitration, while Spain is willing to accept Russia or Germany. The public is anxious, but we cannot immediately reassure it, the telegraph not being, under the present circumstances, the best means of information."

Congressman Love Dead.

Congressman W. S. Love of the Sixth Mississippi district, died Sunday, at Gloster, Miss. He had been ill two weeks.

Danes Will Be Made to Surrender Coal.

The cruiser Newark has left Port Antonio, Jamaica, for St. Thomas to demand possession of the coal belonging to the United States.

CULVER FILES ANNUAL REPORT

Reviews Work of His Department in Regard to Fertilizer—Agricultural Schools

In his annual report to the governor, just filed, Commissioner of Agriculture Culver, of Alabama, says:

"One of tho most important duties assigned to this department is the management and general supervision of the fertilizer trade of the state. Heretofore it has been the custom of this department to have the manufacturers submit samples of their fertilizers, and have them analyzed by the state chemist, this being the guarantee upon which goods are sold within the state. During the present season we have abolished this custom, and have received samples of the various brands direct from dealers after coming into the state. During the present year we hope to get our fertilizer dealers familiar with the workings of this plan, and we are sure that it will prove very beneficial to the fertilizer consumers of the state.

"The demand for farmers' institutes has been greater than for many previous years. I have visited many counties of the state, and everywhere the farmers have attended in large numbers, evincing a strong desire to become more familiar with the needs of their soils and the proper methods of fertilization and cultivation.

"I have visited all of the above schools during the year, and on close inspection find that they are complying with the law, both in teaching scientific agriculture and in making experiments on the farm. When the crops are gathered, the results of the experiments will be published in pamphlet form, as well as all the newspapers in their respective districts. Every pupil over the age of ten years is required to study agriculture and horticulture. The time once was when it only required muscle and some brain to cultivate our then virgin soils, which yielded so abundantly to the husbandman; but that day is in the past; we have worn down and dilapidated our soil until it no longer yields to mere force. It now requires to be built up as it is cultivated. This is what is being taught in our agricultural schools, and, in my humble judgment, the young men from these schools will revolutionize the farming interests of this country. I would urge every farmer in Alabama to send as many of his sons as possible to some one of these schools.

"The branch station located at Tuskegee for the colored race, under the direction of Professor Booker T. Washington, is also doing fine work. Professor Carver, who is an educated man, is teaching scientific and practical farming, and, in my opinion, that station should have an equal showing with the other schools of this character.

Proclamation by the Governor.

Governor Johnston Friday issued the following proclamation:

The LaFayette Memorial association are appealing to the youth of the United States for funds to erect a monument that will testify the gratitude this country has for gallant Frenchmen who gave such generous aid to our fathers in the war for independence. To aid in this work I appeal to the teachers of Alabama to give the pupils in their schools an opportunity to contribute to this monument, so that it may be erected during the exposition in Paris in 1900. All contributions can be sent to the state superintendent of education to be forwarded.

Damages Awarded.

In the city court at Birmingham, the jury in the case of Mrs. S. A. Jones, administratrix, against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $3,737.37. The plaintiff sued for $25,000 damages for the death of J. S. Jones, who was killed by the explosion of a locomotive while running, near Hartselle, Ala., on July 2, 1896.

Delegates to National Convention.

The governor has assigned to Commissioner of Agriculture Culver the task of selecting seventy-five delegates from Alabama to the Farmers' National congress, which will meet shortly at Fort Worth Tex , and the commissioner will be glad to hear from any representative farmers in the state who can arrange to go as delegates.

Birmingham's Mardi Gras.

J. M. Evans, of New Orleans, has been given the contract to put on Birmingham's Mardi Gras carnival in February next.

Wheeler in Command.

Major-General John J. Coppinger left Huntsville for Washington Friday, being succeeded in command of the Fourth corps by General Joseph Wheeler.

BRIEFLY MENTIONED.

W. P Oden, a prominent attorney of Sylacauga, died suddenly on a train of the Central of Georgia railroad last Friday.

For the first time in sixteen years Birmingham is without telephone service, due to a fire in the exchange Friday night, which practically burned out every 'phone in the city.

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE.

Its Twelfth Year Starts Off With Largest Enrollment in Its History—Dr. Curry's Visit.

This institution, but entering its twelfth year's existence, starts off with the largest enrollment in its history—above 500 on the attendance courses, in all departments and classes. This is due in part to the facilities for scholarships per senators and representatives in the state legislature, and the new provision for fellowships to post graduates while on a course for higher training.

Dr. Curry recently visited this college and found not only professors, teachers and pupils busy with regular work, but a large force of workmen overhauling the college buildings, repairing and adding to, or upon the campus grading, fencing and beautifying, and expressed himself as highly delighted, both with the "college work" and "college improvements." He seemed pleased to look into the faces of representatives of thirty or more Alabama counties, and of students from several other states, too, and gave assurance that Peabody fund would stand by the college in its labor and fight for "free public schools" in Alabama. The college people and citizens of Troy were greatly stirred up by his three powerful addresses in behalf of "Universal Education Under Trained Teachers" everywhere.

Dr. Curry is the prince of southern educators and his visits are an educational benediction to any institution or locality. Dr. Curry presented the Troy State Normal college with a fine portrait of George Peabody, the philanthropic founder of the fund for "Southern Education," bearing his name. Miss McMillan, art director of the college (sister to Governor-elect McMillan, of Tennessee), will paint for the new auditorium to be built a life-size portrait from this gift of Dr. Curry, so highly prized by the college people.

In no other place are Dr. Curry's visits more appreciated than at Troy, and he promises to return again next spring, to the delight of all.

Dr. Curry was given a private "Tea" at President Eldridge's home, and there met students from about twenty different counties, who gave him a most hearty reception and became his "Escorts of Honor" to the train as he left for Montgomery, Wednesday night, last.—Troy Messenger.

The University.

The University continues to grow in numbers. The net enrollment now reaches 190. This includes about forty law students and "co-eds" and about 150 academics. The latter are very mature in the main, coming from all sections of the state. These facts and figures indicate that the University has, as it deserves, the confidence of the people of Alabama.—Tuskaloosa Times.

ANARCHIST PLOT.

Conspiracy to Kill the Emperor of Germany Discovered.

ALEXANDRIA.—The Alexandria populists have arrested nine Italian anarchists and have thereby frustrated a plot on Emperor William on his way to the Holy land. The first to be arrested is a cafe keeper, a well known anarchist in whose house the police discovered two wire bound boxes of great strength full of bullets. The police investigation showed that the cafe keeper had bribed the steward of a steamer sailing Friday from Alexandria to Port Said and Syria to take on board a box filled with bombs. When the kaiser decided not to visit Egypt the anarchists changed their plans and decided to attack him in Palestine.

ATE SPIDERS AND DIED.

Novel Means of Suicide of an Iowa Murderess.

Stranger than the death of Cleopatra from the sting of an asp was the death of Cora Smith, self-confessed murderess of her father, at the Anamosa, Ia., state prison. The court of the prison, where the female prisoners are allowed to take their exercise, is surrounded by high stone walls. Here the spiders come out from the crevices in the rocks to bask in the sunshine. Cora captured them, one at a time, placed them in her handkerchief and hid them in a paper bag in her cell. When she had accumulated enough, she began to eat them. A post-mortem examination revealed the cause of death.

RIGOROUS CENSORSHIP REVIVED

By Spanish Government at Madrid—Will Surrender No Further Territory.

According to advices received from Madrid, a rigorous censorship has been revived there. Senor Sagasta and his colleagues are said to be greatly concerned regarding the demands of the United States government, which, they assert not only refuse to assume any of Spain's colonial, debts, but want to take the heavy artillery in Cuba and the floating dock recently sent to Havana.

The same advices say that the Madrid Imparcial announces that the government has cabled Captain-General Blanco not to turn over any further territory to the Americans until the peace treaty has been definitely signed.

SIXTH AT SAN JUAN.

With Band Playing the Mississippi Put Into the Harbor.

SAN JUAN, P. R.—The steamer Covadonga sailed for Spain Saturday, carrying 2,500 troops.

The Reina Maria Christina sailed Sunday for Spain with Captain-General Macias and his staff on board.

The United States transport Mississippi with 800 troops on board, arrived at daybreak Saturday morning with her band playing.

IN A DYING CONDITION.

Ministers Not Allowed to See the Chinese Emperor.

The British, German and Japanese ministers at Pekin, according to a special dispatch from Shanghai, have vainly sought for a week past an audience with the emperor.

An official of the Tsung Li Yamen says the emperor lies in a dying condition in a small building on a lake near the empress dowager's palace, where no man can penetrate.

Frost in Mississippi.

The occurrence of frost at various points in the south is welcomed by the marine hospital service authorities at Washington, who look for their continuance and a rapid diminution of the fever. The frost is reported officially at Jackson, Starkville, Columbia and Holly Springs, Miss.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

MOS. N. FREEMAN - Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday, October 20, 1898.

Don't forget to look at the prize list on 4th page and be sure and send in your subsciption this week or as soon as possible.

If you want a watch for use, you cant do better than make up a club for the News. The watch will be given to any one who gets up a club of 10 subscribers and each subscriber will be allowed to take choice in the prize list. Remember they dont have to be new names. Renewals will be accepted on the club list.

Educate the masses; in this lies the only hope of the age. We must away withthe old ideas that only the professional class must be educated, Every since the days of Julious Ceasar, two thousand years ago this selfish plan has been the practice to more or less extent. What has it done for the world? The professional class in Italy was educated and the mass ignorant. Rome fell. In France, a hundred years ago, we saw an educated class on one hand and vast, ignorant mass on the other; the consequences were that the Rev olution came, with all of its horrows. But the people of America are waking up to these lessons of history, They have learned that the only safty lies in the education of the common people.

Hon. John. W. Tomlenson of Birmingham, is running for Railroad Commisioner. The Governer will please the majority of our citizens in giving him the place. Mr. Tamlinson is a very able man and we will be certainly glad to see him appointed.

We havo made a valuable improvment in the News this week. Hearafter the paper will contain the State news and general new of interest and togather with the local items, the News will be up to date in all respects, We feel assnred that the public will appreciate our efforts and do their part to help make the News the best local paper in the State.

500 coppies of the News this week. The circulation has more than doubled in the last month.

The sudden sinking of the Steamer Mohigan near the British coast a few days ago, in which crew and pasengers numbering about 175 were nearly all drowned, reminds us of Jule Verns strange story, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the sea". Who knows if some one has not acted on the suggestion and actualy made a submarine boat which may be powerful eneough to distroy all the vessels of the world ond still be undiscovered. The real Capt. Nemo would be the master of the world.

KICKER.

Cov. Tanner, of Illinois, and archfiend of anarchy, has greatly exceeded his autherity in refusing Alabama laboreas their constitutional rights to disembark at Vinden Ill, for the purpose of earning an honest living. His hands are died with thet red blood of every man whe fell at the battle of Venden.

In the eyes of law, justice, and every thing American, Gov. Tanner stands to day a murderer of the deepest dye, and should be made to pay the penelty of his helisn deed, as were the leaders of the famous Haymarket Riot, and a thousand years from now he could sit a pale ghost upon the Stygion shores and read the record of his damnable deeds by the red light of hell.

Klantes.

MAYLENE ITEMS.

A pretty home wedding uniting the destinies of Miss Leila Fulton of Maylene and Rev. L. F. Goodwin of Blocton Ala. was witnessed by a select number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties Wednesday Oct. 5th at four o'clock in the afternoon at the sesidence of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Fulton parents of the bride. Rev. Martin Robinson of Bessemer performed the ceremony. The attendants were Mr. Parry Yeager of Blocton and Miss Nannie Fulton sister of the bride. Mrs. R. H. Hargrove presided at the organ and rendered a beautiful wedding march as the bridal party entered the parlor. First came the minister followed by the groom and then the bride leaning gracefully on the arm of her sister. The bride was attired in gray cloth travelling dress trimmed in green velvet andpink chifion She carried a bouquet of pink la france and brides roses and a sihgle la france rose resting in her hasr. The parlor was prettily decorated in cut flowers the canna and the golden rod prevailing. After receiving the congratulations and best wishes of the friends present Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin left on the five o'clock train for Birmingham where they spent several days at the Florence from there they will go to Blunt Springs for afew days returning to Mt. Pinson the home of the grooms parents and then to Blocton their fnture home. Miss Fulton by her winning ways had won a numbe of friends in the community in which she lived who regretted to see her depart. Rev. Goodwin returned last spring from Lebanon Tenn. where he had been attending the Cumberland University and took charge of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church at Blocton, he is a young man of obility and has a promising future. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin have our best wishes for a bright and happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Falkner, of Maylene left yesterday for America Ala.

Dr. R. H. Hargrove spent Tues. day in Birmingham.

I. W. Session,

Luwber Manufactory

Orders for plain lumber filled on short notice at lowest prices.

Also Gin and Griss-Mill.

Patronage Solicited.

On Montgom ry road east of Montevallo.

DR. J. P. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. Will be at St. George Hotel, Monday, Nov. 7, 1898.

J. M. Reynolds,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

and Solisitor in Chancery.

Moutevallo, - - - Ala

THE STATE OF ALABAMA, Shelby County.

Addie Pope, by her next friend Alex Burr Complainant. vs. Ira Pope Defendant.

In Chancery Sixth District North-Eastern Chancery Division.

In this cause, it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of E. S. Lyman that the Defendant Ira Pope is a Non Resident of Alabama, and resides now in the State of Kansas, but his particular place of residence in said State is to affiant unknown and futher, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendsnt is over the age of twenty – one years. It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication bo made in the Montevallo News a news paper published in the city of Montevallo once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him the raid Ira Pope to plead, answer or dumur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 24th day of October A. D. 1898, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office, in Columbiana, Ala. this 13th day of September A. D. 1898.

J. R. White Register.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo. - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Montevallo Select School.

A Male Institute.

With Preparitory Department for Boys and Girls.

Faculty up to date—20 years experience Terms low—Work thorough—New house complete in 30 days. Girls Industrial patrons, prepare your sons for colleg with us,

J. B. Kilpatrick. Principal

Mrs. J. B. Kilpatrick, Assistant

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5 1898

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.

UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science

PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.

For catalogue or other information, apply to

JAMES K. POWERS, President,

Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

Massey's

Business Colleges

Birmingham, Ala, Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla. The great schools of the South Write for elegant catalogue No 12. Address

C. ELDRIDGE, Sec'y,

June2-6m Columbus, Ga.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

Baptist.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

Methodist—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

Rev. W. I. Sinnott,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. Alex. Moore, W. M
F. F. Crowe, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month

C. F. Robins, C. C.
G. B. Monroy, K. of R. & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L. Meroney, Dictator.
E. S. Lyman, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Cold drinks at Rogan's

Miss Edna Malone is the guest of Dr. Aokers family this weeek.

Have you seen the beautiful and delicious candies at F. F. Crowe & Co

Bro. P. L. Abernathy, accompanied by Miss Adie Lee, went down to Brierfield Friday and enjoyed a delightful Ice cream supper, given that evening by the Epworth League at that place. They repart that the pupper was a success and that all had a delightful time. Pretty cold for ice cream, but warm hearts warm all around them.

While waiting for a roomto be fixed up for a photograph gallery, wewill in the meantime call at any place or residence for the purpose of making photos of those who wish them. Please see specimins of our work at Fred Rogan's store.

Resectfully.
R. W. Carleton

Mrs. T. N. Freeman' wife of the eeitor arrived in town Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman will keep house at the Mrs. Payne residence, near the the big spring.

See the celebrated line of Fountain shirts at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Call and see the new lot of saddles and bridles at Morgan Bros.

Editor Thos. Freeman went to Birmingham first of the week on business.

C. L. Meroney & Co. sel pure high grade groceries.

Capt. Reynolds went to Birmingham Monday on a business trip.

Buy your fall suit, best and cheapest at C. L. Meroney & Co

Mr. J. B. Hazzard, of New Orleans, spent the last ten days in Montevallo, prospecting. He is a naiive of this place' having lived here ten or more years ago. Being a man ofconsiderable intelligence he talks very interesting of our town, its past days and its glorious future.

Don't injure your eyes. Martin the Jeweler keeps spectacles suitable for school girls and all ages.

Mr. J. B. Bright, of Birmirgham spent Wedneskay in the city on business,

R. T Newton keeps a meat market. Leave your orders with him

We want a correspondent at every Post Office in this section. Send us the news of your neighborhood.

Heiser's celebrated line of mens high grade shoes at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Dr. P. L. Abernathey went to Birmingham Monday to perform the cerimony at the marrage of Mr. Henry Park to Miss Ellen Abernathy. The happy couple were married at the home of the bride in Avondale, Tuesday afternoon.

COAL delivered at short notice from Imogene mines. C. C. Vvndegrift.

The "Ventriloquest" intertained and was intertained at the eligant home of Mr. C. C, Vandergrift last Saterday evening. "A littlel folly now and is relished by the wisest men',.

The flavor and variety of F. F. Crowe & Co. is remarkable.

Arrived in the city Tuesday—a fine 8 pound daughter of B.F. Crabb. It is now papa Crabb as well as "Racket Crabe.

LUMP COAL from Imogene mines kept always on hand Delivered on short notice C C Vandegrift.

Did you see the frost last Saturday and Sunday morning? Oh yes! you say that the early bird got frost bit.

Have you seen the beautiful stationery at W B McCluney & Co.

They go like hot cakes, those delicions cakes at F. F. Crowe & Co.

Dig the potatoes now and have them good dry before heaping them.

"The meloncolly days have come,the sadest of the year" as the poet said,but who is sad.? No body in Montevallo it seems. If any body feels like crying come over and the News force will weep with you, but what will they have to lement over.

A beautiful, new line of capes are on exhibition at Morgan Bros.

Mrs. E. O. Marible of Gadsaccompanied by her grandson Jef. Cox, arrived in Montevallo Tuesday where she will spend the winter for her health. Mrs. Marible is one of the leaders in the Baptis church circles of Gadsden, and she will be greatly missed there, but our town will be the gainer.

Our citzens should remember Montevallo Male school is select in the fullest sense af the term. Limited in its numder of pupils to the teacher, its able and experianced idstructors can and do give the very best of attention to each individual attendant.

Perfumery?. Best line at McCluny & Co's.

ALDRICH ITEMS.

A few cases of sickness in this community.

Mrs B Ladys fell on last Sunday morning and was seriously injured She is improving.

An infant of Mr and Mrs J M Peter has been quite sick for several days

Col S S Holbrook needed the service of a physician on Saturday last.

Several non-residents are in town during the week.

Mr G B Dean was in town Sunday

Mr P L Abernathy and Mr Rice gave us a pleasant call this morning

prof W B Greek arrived in town on Sunday afternoon and reopened school on Monday with an attendance of about 35 pupils.

T J Hoskins left for Birmingham to confer with his partners C N Pritchard and B F Farrar they expect to go into the mining business in the near future.

John Broadhead has moved back to his old home near this place,

There is some dissatisfaction on the of the mines at this place regarding the right of the empty train cars. From Present indication it seems as astrick was eminent. It is the general opinion that the trouble will be smoothed over in a fewdays. There never has been a strike among the employee of this company.

Hot 1 Arrivals

St. George: M. E. Ham: Proprietor.

J M Weis.	Selma.
B L Ducklin.	"
R R Crouhers.	"
J B Wilson.	StLouis.
R H de Graffenried	"
W P Miluer.	Birmingham.
Emmett Walsh.	"
E M Butt.	"
J A Stephens.	"
F G Sheppard.	"
H J Sandlin.	Va.
S A Wallace.	Wilsonville.
A C Jones,	Louisville.
T C Abercrimbe	Kentucky.
F A Sims.	Sweetwoer Tenn.
Frank X Ohlon.	Atlanta.
J P Pearson.	"
W D Vassar.	"
T A Turner	Augstow.
J W Paindexter.	Va.
W J Milner.	Birmingham.
R C powell.	"
J S Oliver.	Mobil.
Thos. Cagos.	Decater.
E O Emory.	"
Dr. Canady.	Wahtly. Ala.
J F Fruland.	N C.
S P Vandaudingham.	N Y.
O P Smith.	Nashvelle.
E O Meeks.	Atlanta.

SHELBY COUNTY BANK,

Montevallo, Alabar

Transacts a General Banking and Exchange Business

Collections Promptly Made and Remitted.

Make Your Notes Payable at this Bank

The Fall

With its sudden changes, its hot days and chilly nights, dampness and decaying vegetation, is peculiarly trying to the health. A good Fall Medicine is as important and beneficial as Spring Medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla keeps the blood pure, wards off malaria, creates a good appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and maintains the health tone through this trying season.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. 25 cent.

GROVES

TASTELESS CHILL TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS. WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.

Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,

ABNEY, CARR & Co.

FREE WATCH!

Send your address and we will express 50 fine, long-filler Nickel cigars. When sold, remit us $2.50 and we will mail you, free, a handsome stem wind and set watch, which retails for $2.50. WINSTON CIGAR CO., No. 99 Main St, Winston, N. C.

Money in Chickens

For 25c. in stamps we send a 100 PAGE BOOK giving the experience of a practical Poultry Raiser—not an amateur, but a man working for dollars and cents—during 25 years. It teaches how to Detect and Cure Diseases; Feed for Eggs also for Fattening; which Fowls to Save for Breeding; everything requisite for profitable Poultry raising. BOOK PUBLISHING CO. 134 Leonard Street, New York.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

Continuous Steel Pipe.

The West Australian government has taken a contract to lay nearly 350 miles of water pipe of a novel character. This pipe is to be made of steel spirals packed in concrete. Sheet steel is cut into strips of the required width. These are fed into a machine and welded into one continuous strip. As the strip is fed into the machine, rivet holes are punched, then the edges of the laps are brought together by machinery and held during the process of riveting, which is all done by compression. The lap is thrown on on the outside of the pipe, rendering the inner surface smooth and even throughout its length. A tenacious hydraulic cement is packed around the laps, making the pipe absolutely water-tight.

Il Trovatore Wheel.

The "Il Trovatore" wheel, made in Germany, has a musical contrivance fixed to the handlebar and worked by the front wheel, and plays over 500 tunes. It can be stopped by a spring and set on again, and so on for half an hour, ad infinitum, until the machne wears out.

STRONG STATEMENTS.

Three Women Relieved of Female Troubles by Mrs. Pinkham.

From Mrs. A. W. SMITH, 59 Summer St., Biddeford, Me.:

"For several years I suffered with various diseases peculiar to my sex. Was troubled with a burning sensation across the small of my back, that all-gone feeling, was despondent, fretful and discouraged; the least exertion tired me. I tried several doctors but received little benefit. At last I decided to give your Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. The effect of the first bottle was magical. Those symptoms of weakness that I was afflicted with, vanished like vapor before the sun. I cannot speak too highly of your valuable remedy. It is truly a boon to woman."

From Mrs. MELISSA PHILLIPS, Lexington, Ind., to Mrs. Pinkham:

"Before I began taking your medicine I had suffered for two years with that tired feeling, headache, backache, no appetite, and a run-down condition of the system. I could not walk across the room. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound, one box of Liver Pills and used one package of Sanative Wash, and now feel like a new woman, and am able to do my work."

From Mrs. MOLLIE E. HERREL, Powell Station, Tenn.:

"For three years I suffered with such a weakness of the back, I could not perform my household duties. I also had falling of the womb, terrible bearing-down pains and headache. I have taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel like a new woman. I recommend your medicine to every woman I know."

GUARDING THE NEGRO MINERS.

Alabamians in Springfield Are Protected by Police.

All of the negro miners from Alabama, who went to work in the Chicago-Virden Company's mine at Virden, Ill., with the exception of a few who went north on the train from Springfield, are established in the headquarters of the local miners' union. Policemen are guarding the hall. The negroes number 106. It was understood that the negroes would be shipped back to Alabama, but it has not been done.

Adjutant-General Reece stated that the Federation of Miners refused to have anything to do with the transportation of the negroes from here to their homes; that the state authorities were in a quandary, because they had no authority to send them away.

MUST BE RESTORED.

England Demands That Chinese Emperor be Returned His Throne.

A dispatch to a London news agency from Shanghai says:

"Reports from Japanese sources are in circulation here to the effect that Sir Claude McDonald, British minister at Pekin, had informed the Chinese government that sovereignty appertains solely to the emperor, who has been forcibly abducted and deposed, and that he must be restored to his position, while Kank Yu Wei and the other reformers must be pardoned. Failing compliance, Great Britain will enforce these demands."

Russia Concentrating Troops.

The Odessa correspondent to the Standard says that Russia has hastily concentrated 40,000 men at Port Arthur, to be in readiness for any emergency at Pekin.

$125,000 Fire at Macon, Ga.

The candy and cracker factory of the Winn-Johnson Co., and the oil and paint store of T. C. Burke, at Macon, Ga., burned Friday. Loss $125,000.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

A hospital train having on board 120 convalescent soldiers, left Jacksonville for Old Point Comfort.

American imports into China continue to increase, while those of other countries decrease.

The Summit Lumber company's large plant was destroyed by fire at Junction City, Ark. The loss is about $50,000.

J. McD. Scott & Co., wholesale shoe dealers of Pittsburg, Pa., have made a voluntary assignment. The liabilities are stated to be $200,000.

Great Britain, Russia, France and Italy have decided to respect the porte's suggested modifications in the ultimatum to the Turkish government on the evacuation of the island of Crete.

The Rt. Hon. Wm. St. John Broderick, English under secretary of state for war, has been appointed under secretary of state for foreigh affairs in succession to Lord Curzon, the new secretary of India.

It is reported that Chang-Yin-Honan, who was recently dismissed from the tsung li yamin and from all his other offices, and banished to Illi, Turkestan, was murdered while en route to the place of exile, on a secret order from the empress dowager.

The May stock farm near Lexington, Ky., has been leased to Congressman Joseph C. Bailey, of Texas, to be used for breeding trotting horses. It is expected that Mr. Bailey will make his permanent home there.

It is the understanding at the war department that the Seventh and Eighth cavalry, now at Huntsville, Ala., will be the first troops that will go to Cuba, and it is not now expected that they will go with General Lee.

FIGHTING IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Five Northern Provinces Rebel Against Aguinaldo.

A rumor at Manila says that Macabulos, chief of the five northern provinces of the Philippine islands, has rebelled against Aguinaldo, and that hard fighting has already taken place between the opposing factions. It is also reported here that General Rios, the Spanish commander at Iloilo, has sent emissaries from that place to undermine Aguinaldo's influence and induce the natives to demand that Spain retain the Philippine islands.

FIFTEEN PERSONS POISONED.

Toadstools Prepared for Supper and Cause Two Deaths in Arkansas.

At Mammoth Springs, Ark., Mrs. Joe Williams and her sister, Mrs. Brinkley, while visiting at their mother's home, prepared what they thought to be mushrooms for supper. The dish proved to be toadstools, and all of the fifteen persons who ate of it were poisoned, three slightly and the others seriously. A thirteen-year-old daughter of a neighbor named Greer, and Mrs. Brinkley's young son, died.

Uprising at an End.

Adjutant-General Corbin Monday received the following dispatch from General Bacon indicating that the Indian uprising in Minnesota is practically at an end:

"Walker, Minn.—Adjutant-General: At council with hostile Indians today, the latter said they wanted no more fighting with United States soldiers and agreed to come and surrender on Wednesday. This is the result of their defeat when engaged with our men on the 5th."

GEN. SUMNER COMING SOUTH.

He Favors the British Plan of Caring for Health of Troops.

Maj.-Gen. Sumner, who received his promotion for gallantry in the battle of Santiago, will soon be sent to one of the corps in the south and given command of a division. Gen. Sumner has given attention to the subject of care of soldiers in southern climates, and is of the opinion that some such system for troops in southern climates as Great Britain employes ought to be adopted.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free DR. R.H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

I use Piso's Cure for Consumption both in my family and practice.—Dr. G. W. PATTERSON, Inkster, Mich., Nov. 5, 1894.

S. R. Baldwin writes: "After trying Soothing Remedies without avail, and physicians without relief, I gave DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (TEETHING POWDERS) and they acted like magic. I occasionally gave a powder to keep my child's gums softened." TEETHINA Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels and makes baby robust and healthy.

PIMPLES

"My wife had pimples on her face, but she has been taking CASCARETS and they have all disappeared. I had been troubled with constipation for some time, but after taking the first Cascaret I have had no trouble with this ailment. We cannot speak too highly of Cascarets." FRED WARTMAN, 5708 Germantown Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets TRADE MARK REGISTERED REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.

... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...

Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 514

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea

Cures All Diseases of Women.

MANY women are under the impression that the diseases peculiar to their sex are natural and incurable because so many suffer constantly from them. This is a mistake. Few women are so badly diseased that they cannot be cured. It is true, that had they taken a remedy that was efficient when the first symptoms of disease appeared, a more rapid cure would have been the result. No woman should neglect herself. When the monthly period becomes too frequent, painful, profuse, obstructed, or irregular in any way, or if she suffers from falling of the womb, whites, or any other female trouble, she should at once resort to the use of

Gerstle's Female Panacea

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

Which is absolutely the best female remedy ever offered her. Even if she has been negligent and allowed disease to fasten itself upon her she should not despair of being cured. This medicine is a purely vegetable tonic, containing those ingredients intended by nature as a remedy for suffering women. It matters not if other remedies have been tried and proven failures—Gerstle's Female Panacea will not fail. If there is any tendency to costiveness, indigestion or biliousness, move the bowels gently with a few mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. If your druggist does not keep these medicines write us and we will send them to you, all charges paid, upon receipt of price. Panacea, $1.00 per Bottle. Liver Regulator, 25c per Package.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Am. N. U., No. 42, 1898.

The Major's Experience.

From the Detroit Free Press.

One of the staunchest supporters of the deep-water way from the Great Lakes to the ocean is Major A. C. Bishop, of 715 Third Ave., Detroit, a civil engineer of wide experience and considerable prominence in his profession. He was assistant engineer on the Hudson River Railroad in 1850 and has since conducted large engineering operations. He has been located in Detroit since 1851, and has a large acquaintance among the business men and citizens of this city.

Two years ago, for the first time, Major Bishop was in the hospital. For two months he had the best of medical attendance, but when he was discharged he was not like the Major Bishop of old. When asked regarding his health, he said: "When I had my last spell of sickness and came out of the hospital I was a sorry sight. I could not gain my strength, and could not walk over a block for several weeks.

Major Bishop.

"I noticed some articles in the newspapers regarding Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which convinced me that they were worth trying and bought two boxes. I did not take them for my complexion but for strength. After using them I felt better, and know they did me worlds of good. I am pleased to recommend them to invalids who need a tonic or to build up a shattered constitution.

"A. C. BISHOP."

Subscribed and sworn to before me this eight day of January, 1898.

ROBERT E. HULL, JR., Notary Public.

The pure, powerful vegetable ingredients in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People supply the antidote for poisonous matter in the blood and add those elements needed to build up body and brains. Many diseases long supposed by the medical profession to be incurable have succumbed to the potent influence of these pills. They can be taken by young or old, being harmless in their nature, but powerful in eliminating disease.

The public funeral of Mr. Gladstone was not extraordinarily expensive. Some of the newspapers give the cost at $35,000, but a competent authority states that the actual cost was about $10,000.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money

---

A French inventor claims to have discovered a process for converting the wool on a sheep's skin into a velvet-like substance.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Mulhall, the well-known statistician, places the percentage of illiteracy in Russia at 85. Sweden heads the list with only 2 per cent. of illiterates, while the United States comes sixth with 13.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

A turnip seed increases its own weight fifteen times a minute. On peat grounds turnips have been found to increase by growth 15,999 times the weight of their seed each day they stood upon it.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco gives the consumers the very best Tobacco they can get. 2 ounces for 10 cents. It is fast winning its way to public favor. Try it

---

W. E. Trull, famous as the "first man up San Juan hill," is a descendant of Ezra Hyde, who distinguished himself by unusual bravery in the revolution.

Beauty is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

A club at Trarback, which offered a prize of a barrel of wine for the best song in praise of Moselle wine, has received 2,149 compositions to choose from.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail druggists refund money.

A newly discovered story about Henry Clay is to the effect that when his wife was asked if she was not worried by his gambling, she replied: "Oh, not at all. Mr. Clay always wins."

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggist.

A petitioner to the general Methodist conference in Canada recently asked that body to "protect congregations against the growing evil of manuscript preachers."

Kind of a Wife He Wanted.

An advertisement which appeared in a recent edition of a Japanese paper published at Waisan, Korea, deserves to be rescued from oblivion. It ran as follows: "A bachelor, 27 years old, without wealth, of quiet disposition, living on a reasonable monthly income, and having but little parental restrictions, desires to be married to a lady possessed of the following qualifications: 1. She must be 21 years of age and of good health; 2. Of more than average beauty; 3. A working knowledge of arithmetic; 4. A working knowledge in sewing; 5. Not given to much talk; 6. Possessed of some property; 7. Virtuous; 8. Hater of liquor; 9. Have little or no parental restriction.

Enjoying an Earthquake.

According to the Argonaut, a lady—"an old lady," to quote the Argonaut literally—having returned to Michigan after a visit to California, was asked by one of her neighbors if she had experienced an earthquake. "Yes," said the lady, "we had one, a pretty severe one, and I rather enjoyed it. You see it was the first thing that has happened since John and I married that he didn't think I was to blame for."

Thirteen out of every 10,000 people in the United States are in prison. Seventeen out of every 10,000 are insane, the number being divided almost equally between the sexes. The tendency to insanity is greatest among the Irish. It is least among the Canadians.

An English physician has discovered a way of producing local anaesthesia without the loss of consciousness or the use of ether or chloroform. He uses moderate currents of electricity frequently interrupted.

After a trial of two sessions daily in the high schools of Cleveland a return has been made to the one-session plan.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY,

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886. A. W. GLEASON, SEAL Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The cakes of Ivory Soap are so shaped that they may be used entire for general purposes, or divided with a stout thread into two perfectly formed cakes for toilet use. For any use put to, Ivory Soap is a quick cleanser, absolutely safe and pure.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

GIVEN AWAY!

Information Concerning Your Wheel.

Write us or call at our mammoth bicycle house and we will tell you all about it.

The oldest and largest house in the south. All kinds of wheels; all kinds of prices. Repair department complete.

The Loosley Cycle Company,

Second Ave., (opp. P. O.) BIRMINGHAM, Ala.

The Best BOOK ON THE WAR Beautifully bound and sumptuously illustrated price $2), free to anybody sending two annual subscriptions at $1 each to the Overland Monthly, SAN FRANCISCO. Sample Overland, 5c.

BUSINESS EDUCATION PAYS

If you expect to take a business course, send for interesting booklet No. 15 and rate card. Established ten years. The leading business college of the south BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE, Birmingham, Ala

--PATENTS--

Procured on cash, or easy instalments. VOWLES & BURNS, Patent Attorneys, 237 Broadway, N. Y.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days treatment Free. Dr H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials

RUDYARD KIPLING.

The Youth's Companion...

THOSE who subscribe at once for the 1899 volume will receive Free all the November and December issues from the time of subscription to January 1, 1899, including the beautiful Double Holiday Numbers. Among the many famous contributors to these issues will be . . . .

Rudyard Kipling Nov. 10th issue. "The Burning of the 'Sarah Sands.'" The story of a hero.

W. D. Howells Dec. 1st issue. "The Watermelon Patch." A story of fruit-loving boys.

Lillian Nordica Dec. 22d issue. "Incidents in a Singer's Life." An American prima donna's trials and triumphs.

THE volume for 1899 will be the best THE COMPANION has ever published. Each of the 52 weekly issues will contain half a dozen delightful stories, besides articles of rare interest. Famous soldiers, sailors, statesmen, scholars and story-writers will give their best work to readers of THE COMPANION.

50-CENT CALENDAR FREE TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who will cut out and send this slip, with name and address and $1.75, at once, will receive THE COMPANION every week from the first November issue until January, 1900, including:

FREE—All the November and December issues of 1898, inclusive of the beautiful Double Holiday Numbers.

FREE—The exquisite Companion Calendar for 1899, richer and costlier than any of the famous Companion Calendars of former years. Designed and lithographed in twelve colors exclusively for THE COMPANION. A charming ornament for the home.

AND THE COMPANION for the 52 weeks of 1899—a library in itself.

M 78

Illustrated Announcement and Sample Copies Free.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, - - 201 Columbus Avenue, BOSTON, MASS.

The Enemy of "Credit System"

iS in Montevallo,

The New York Racket Store,

Call on him

He has for school girls,

Stationery in Boxes 5c to 25c Box.
Paper for notes 2 qr for 5c and up
Leagal and fools cap paper 7c to 10c qr.
Envelopes 3 pkgs for 5c to 5c pkg.
Pens 3 to 8c Dz. Thimbles 1c
Hair pins 1c Kid curlers 3 to 5c Dz.
Needles 1c Pins 1c
Curling Irons 2½ to 5c each Thread 3c
Talcum powder 6c
Fancy Candies of all kinds Cheap.
Fancy cakes of all kind Cheap.
Pen holders 1c Tablets 3½ to 10c
Pencils 4c Dz to 2 for 5c Hooks & eyes 1c
FOR THE TRADE IN GENERAL :-

All kinds of Dry goods, woolens, cotton goods, Flannelettes, Oil cloth, shoes, Velvet, Velvetine, calicoes, Toilet soap, collars, cuffs, thread, over shirts, under shirts, drawers, ½ hose, ink, tooth brushes, tea spoons, table spoons, and every thing in

Dry goods or notion line cheaper than the cheapest.

Call and convince your self.

I guarantee to save you money.

Boys what do you think of this.;

1 Cilluloid Collar 5c.
1 pr " Cuffs 10c.
1 Mackintosh Coat $1,50

Yours for business

NEW YORK RACKET STORE.

B. F. Crabbe

Prop.

Handsome Gifts

For our subscribers!

The Montevallo News

is wroth

$ 1,00 per. year:

But to complimen our old subscribers and to add 500 new names to the subscription list at ONCE, we offer the splended gifts below enumerated. To all who send in their subscription or renew for the NEWS within the next 60 days, may take their choice of these beautiful and useful gifts. Those who live near, are requested to call at the places named, where the goods may be examined. Snbscribers who live at a distance will state which article is wanted and it will be sent by mail Post paid. Pay $1,00; receive the NEWS one year and take your choice in this list.

1 pair ladyies cuff buttons, worth 50 cents.

1 pocket knife, good metal, sold for 50 cents.-

1 pair of gents. shirt buttons, worth 50 cents. These goods may be examined at J W Martins.

1 French-briar pipe, with amber mouth peace, sold at 50 cents,

1 box of fashionable writingpaper, worth 50 cents.

Examine the obove goods at Mc.Cluney & Co's drug store.

1 pair of fine scissors, sold for 50 cents : may be see at George Kroell's

1 beautiful silver picture frame, sold at 25 cents; seen at Meroney & Co's.

1 box of toilet soap, 3 cakes, sold for 25 cents.

1 set of ladies or gent's shirt butons, sold for 50 cents

1 solid, rolled-gold, baby's ring, sold for 100.

See these goods at H C & W B Reynnolds.

For a club of 10 subscribers, will be given a splended solid niclke, stem-winding, stem-setting watch, guaranteed by J W Martin, for one yeaa. This watch is sold for $5,00.

For a club of 5 subscribers. will be given a nickle-plated watch : good time keeper ; seen at Latham & Co's, This watch is sold for $2,50.

For a club of 3 subscribers, will be given a splended alarm clock, sold for $1,00 ; may be examined at Latham & Co's.

For a club of 2 subscribers, will be given a first class razor. wlich may be seen at Latham & Co's.

For a club of 2 subscribers, will be given a good handsaw : seen at New York Racket Store.

By the way

The Editor of the Age-Herald, speaking of the advantages of Birmingham, asserted that the reason that that city was free from malarial deseases, was the fact of the lime soil in that section which absorbes and distroyes the germs. What is trne of Birmingham is true of Montevallo. The health record of a town is its greatest recomendation. With fine spring water at the door of all the homes in town, every inhabitant would be a walking advertisment for the town.

Dont forget what we said last week about cleaninfi up tne place. If yon have anp tenants who are not doing their duty in this line, see that it is done. Another one of the town Physicians said the latter part of last week. "Mr. Editor, please keep reminding the people to clean up their places".

Use first class stationery. Buy it from F. F. Crowe & Co.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Probate Judge

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, '98 NO. 39

Get your share of the fine bananas at F F Crowe & Co.

Fresh bananas always on hand at F F Crowe & Co

Variety is the spice of candy Try the delightful flavors at F F Crowe & Co

They find that the fancy pape at F F. Crowe & Co is the best

Could I Forget You Darling?:

When the sky is the blue of yor eyes,
And soft wind whispers to me,
And the murmuring pines all agree
To murmur your name when I sigh?

When birds that fly in the blue,
And the clouds in the etherial dome
Would know if my heart dared to roam,
Or prove for one moment untrue?;

When the heart that throbs in me,
And soul that stirs me within,
With anguish would cry 'ganst the sin
If ever I try to forget thee?.

Thomas Freeman.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL ITEMS.

During the past week not a few Persons have visited the Dormitory. The girls almost "eat them up," and I am sure no person receives a heartier welcome anywhere than we give. Is it not strange that we never fully realize how much we do think of our friends and relatives until, far away at a boarding school, we receive an unexpected visit! Even slight acquaintances are pounced upon and welcomed with a hearty hand-clasp, as we ask question after question. Yes, if you wish a heart-warming welcome, just take tea with us.

Ah! that strikes a memory chord! Monday A M. President Reynolds gave a very earnest talk from the rostrum, full of truth and promise for the future. Then he dined very unexpectedly at the Dormitory. It certainly is pleasant that our table has so many visitors.

Sunday morning quite awhile before the dinner bell rang, the reception hall was full to overflowing with blooming damsels. In fact, more persons were in the hall than for some time. Can any one imagine why all determined to be on time this particular day?

Lieutenant Hooper and Mr. Bargenier spent Sunday at the Dormitory with their respective sisters.

Mrs. De Bardelaben made her daughter a short visit the past week.

Mr. Beall spent a few hours Sunday with his daughter, Miss Tramellah.

Mrs. Taylor is visiting her sister, Miss Isabelle Terrell. A certain young lady told me to say that she was visiting her also, but I won't, Rie might not like it.

Who believes that a wishbone is no fallacy? How came it to be over the door any way?

Last Saturday night, the scene in the hall at the Dormitory was a lively one. We had special permission to stay down till nine o'clock, and every moment was thoroughly enjoyed. Certainly some of the girls here are "new women."

Only a gymnasium will satisfy the longing in our hearts.

The new class rooms are almost finished, perhaps the next building will be the "gym."

Every girl in school takes physical culture, so Miss Granberry's classes are quite full.

The Dormitory girls are sorry they had no opportunity to see the teachers as they quitted the scene of their revelry on last Saturday night. We wanted to see the costumes, and especially Mrs. Babb's. Their voices full of myrth floated up to me as they were leaving. However so, we know the teachers enjoyed the "party."

The prayer meeting was well attended and interesting on Sunday night. The subject selected for next meeting is "Charity."

Who will play the writer agame of Tennis? I see the courts are vacant.

Use first class stationery. Buy it from F. F. Crowe & Co.

WITH THE CHURCHES.

The weather last Sunday morning was delightful and both Methodist and Baptist churches were crowded.

It is gratifying to see the attendance and work of the Sunday schools improving. Splendid teachers have been selected and much enthusiasm has been aroused.

The Epworth League is being conducted in a non-denomination-al spirit and the young and old of all sects will be blessed and improved by attending.

Don't stay away from your prayer meetings on account of a little bad weather. Your spiritual relation with your God and your fellow man is the most important business of your life.

Pastor Reynolds preached at the Baptist church at 11 o'clock A. M. and at 7:30 P. M. His subject for the evening service was, "Sin and its influence." The text was selected from Mark 15–15. He compared the life of sin to the mad man who broke the chains and wandered among the tombs. In eloquent language sin and disipation, was discribed as a breaking away from all ties of love and friendship and wrecking itself in the tombs of selfishness and degredation.

Pastor Abernathy filled the pulpit, as usual at the M. E. church his subject being, "the necessity of sacrafice in the christian life." It is not enough, he said, to merely attend church, to pray or sing but, to be a true Christian, we must be fully imbued with Christ and his spirit; so much so that all self ambition, and pleasure, will cease to influence us. Great success in any line is only acquired through effort and selfsacrafice and the glory of genius and charactor, and christian man and womanhood is built through disappointments and trials.

Ladies, call and see the lates style of capes at Morgan Bros.

RECITAL FRIDAY EVENING

At College Chapel

The teachers of the Industrial, assisted by local talent will render a fine program on Friday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Granberry has kindly consented to give her assistance, so with our well known music teachers, together with our gifted elocution teacher, we may confidently expect a delightful entertainment. A charge of 15 cents will be made at the door. The proceeds of the entertainment to go to the worn out preachers of the North Ala. conference. No more worthy cause could ask for your patronage. Let's give them a good house.

A WOMAN
Who Buyes
KipendolPh & Dittman
shoes is always pleased

When He buys. A MAN If wise
wants shoes for Style and use. Brown
&Baystate are th › best.

Mundells shoes for A GIRL
is best and Cheapest. Latest in ribbons
CloAk S
Only 10c for-sweet-sugar cured HAM
Morgan Bros.

Leaders in low Prices.
Montevallo, Ala.

For anything in the Confectionery line go to Rogan.

Tennys Peanut Brittle is the best, eat no other. Rogan sells it.

Fine flavored French candies at Rogan's,

Up-to-date ribbons at Morgan Bros.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

MONTEVALLO, - ALABAMA.

Kitchener does not sound like a name to conjure with, but it is about the most popular name in England just now.

The efficiency of torpedo boats must not be too hastily condemned Remember not one of them has had opportunity in this war under American seamen.

With reference to the disarmament proposition, several European powers, after glancing over the map regretfully, conclude that one more fight is absolutely necessary.

In an article in the Revue des Deux Mondes M. Fouille declares that, while the modern Greeks are not descended wholly from Slavs, as some have maintained, they certainly are not lineal descendants of the great peoples who made Greece famous.

The French are delightful. What could be more humorous than their lack of humor, says the New York Sun. For instance, there was a terrible wreck on the Western railroad the other day. At the wholesale funeral of the victims of gross negligence, M. Foulon, the agent of the line, placed all the blame on the forces of nature. He assailed "matter" thus: "Being conquered by science it keeps quiet for weeks, months, and sometimes years. It is under the yoke a seemingly docile servant, then it revolts and furiously sets at defiance the most careful calculations, the most far-sighted precautions. Rebellious matter bursts out in firedamp in collieries, in stupendous shipwrecks like the one now fresh in every memory, in factory disasters, in railway catastrophes. Hence the rending of hearts and wrenching of souls, and the public mournings like the one in which we all unite today." Could Pascal have done better? How philosopical! How correctly fatalistic! Can we wonder that this nation should desire to honor sailors who escape from a shipwreck, leaving the women behind to perish.

The Berlin (Germany) Post is publishing a series of letters from Teheran which represent the condition of Persia as absolutely hopeless. The writer declares that the country is moribund, and quite incapable of offering any resistance to external attack. He says that the internal decomposition is spreading more and more rapidly. All idea of patriotism has ceased to exist, and the great traditions of the country are forgotten. There is nothing left that the Persians, and especially the people of Teheran, would not sell for a piece of silver. Gold is no longer to be seen. The higher classes and the officials are corrupt, and the lower orders are shamelessly plundered, and thrown into a dangerous state of religious excitement by fanatical Mollahs, who teach them that all other nations are infidels and unclean, and who fan their contempt for Europeans by all imaginable means. This is only when Europeans are not present. When they are, the Mollahs treat them with mean servility. No Persian, he says, high or low, thinks lying, perjury or fraud disgraceful. On the contrary, they are regarded as marks of wisdom.

RACE WAR IN MISSISSIPPI.

The Battle Continued Several Hours, and at Least Twelve Men Killed.

WHITE OFFICERS AMBUSHED BY NEGROES.

The Fight Was the Result of an Attempt to Arrest a Negro—The Whole County is Aroused—Race Trouble in North Carolina.

A Sunday's special from Meridian, Miss., says: The most bloody race war that has occurred in Mississippi since the days of the reconstruction period, is raging in Scott county, fifty miles west of Meridian. The war grew out of an assault on Charles D. Freeman, a white man by Bill Burke, a negro. Freeman and Burke became involved in a quarrel which ended in Burke assaulting Freeman with a hoe. A warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Burke and Constable Thompson, with fifteen men, went to the house of Burke, who live a mile from Harperville, at 9 o'clock last night to execute the writ. When Constable Thompson and his posse arrived they found Burke fortified in his little log house, with fifty or sixty negroes ambushed on the premises and the officers' demand for a surrender was answered with a volley.

Officer Sibley, one of the posse, was instantly killed and three others, including Constable Thompson, seriously wounded. The posse was thrown into confusion by the volleys, but the fire was returned and for a time a desperate battle raged in the dark. The negroes were greatly in the majority, however, and the officers retired and sent out runners for help. The sheriff responded with heavy reinforcements and the battle was renewed this morning. The fight has been kept up all day and when the last courier reached the nearest telegraph office, ten miles from the scene of the battle, at a late hour tonight, they reported that ten negroes had been killed and several wounded. Four negroes were captured and taken to Forest, where they were guarded by 200 white men to prevent their rescue by negro sympathizers. A general alarm has been sent out over Scott and the adjoining counties of Rankin, Newtown and Smith and hundreds of white men are under arms and on their way to Harperville.

Gov. A. J. McLaurin left Brandon for Harperville Sunday night.

RACE WAR IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Whites at Lumberton Telegraphing for Winchesters.

A special from Lumberton, N. C., says: At 3 o'clock Sunday morning a squad of the negroes who were dispersed at Ash Pole, Robeson county, crept up to the town and shot three whites stationed there as guards. They were Albert Floyd, Robert Inman and Wm. Bullard. Bullard is seriously wounded, the others slightly. A hundred whites with bloodhounds are now in pursuit, and four of the negroes have been caught. There is great excitement at all points in the state in telegraphic communication with Lumberton. The whites are telegraphing the principal towns in the state for Winchester rifles to be sent there immediately.

Lynching in Alabama.

John Anderson, colored, charged with the murder of Charles Holmes, a well-known white farmer, was taken from jail at Lafayette early Sunday morning by a large mob, composed of people from Fredonia and West Point, Ga. Anderson was dragged to the edge of town, his body strung up to a pole and his body riddled with bullets. Anderson had been for years a tenant on Holmes' farm, and the killing was the result of a dispute over money matters.

ANNEXATION IN FAVOR.

Majority of Philippine Insurgents Voted to Become a Part of the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The United States transport Rio De Janeiro, which arrived here Saturday, brought advices to the Associated Press, dated Manila, September 22.

The Philippine chiefs have been in session since September 15. The first thing decided was that the Philippine republic should not countenance any policy that should be agreed upon whereby Spain would have anything further to do with the islands and would resist by force of arms any such measure. A vote was taken on the policy of annexation to the American republic and annexation was decided upon by a large majority, some seven out of eight voting in favor of it. Aguinaldo now expresses himself as personally in favor of annexation, adding that he does not think that the natives generally will support such a policy.

When interviewed by the Associated Press representative on September 11, Aguinaldo stated that his army consists of 37,000 insurgents, regularly armed and equipped with modern weapons, and that he had some 9,000 prisoners of war at this time, including the larger portion now being held in the vicinity of Manila. He stated that an army of 100,000 could easily be raised to fight for the cause of independence, adding that "the whole population is willing to fight for the cause of independence, and will oppose any European power taking possession."

When asked how it was that so many natives openly declare themselves in favor of annexation to America, he stated that the natives who profess to favor annexation are insincere.

He expressed himself as entertaining the greatest friendship for the American people, adding that he hoped there would be no trouble between the republic of the Philippines and America.

ANTI-AMERICAN CAMPAIGN

Is Being Waged by the Cubans—Abetted by Spaniards.

HAVANA.—The Cuban general, Rego, has arrived from Puerto Principe and is preaching in the Havana cafes and the insurgent camps near the city a holy war against the Americans. He has interviewed many of the leaders of the Cubans, and has urged the carrying on of war against the Americans if independence is not at once granted to Cuba. The Cuban colonel, Torriente, has also arrived at Havana from the east, and is carrying on a strong campaign against the Americans and Calixto Garcia, whom he professes to to look upon as a traitor to the Cubans and as bribed by American gold.

A secret circular has been sent to the presidents of all the Cuban patriotic committees denouncing a large number of Cubans who are looked upon as traitors to the cause of Cuban independence and are charged with being attached to the Americans.

The Spanish colonel, Cervera, military governor of Mariano, advises the Cubans not to surrender their arms, and to make resistance until the independence of the island is declared. Colonel Cervera is an intimate friend of General Parrado, president of the Spanish evacuation commission.

COST OF THE EVACUATION.

Spanish Authorities Estimate the Amount Needed Will Reach $16,000,000.

The Spanish authorities at Havana estimate the total cost of evacuation will be $16,000,000. Twenty-four vessels will be employed to embark troops, of which six are hospital ships. The French mail steamers Chribon and Notre Dame, which have just arrived, have been chartered by the Trans-Atlantic company as transports.

The Spaniards evacuated Biaz on October 15.

FIRE AT OPELIKA.

One of the Most Disastrous Conflagrations in the History of the City.

Opelika was visited at 2 o'clock Monday morning by one of the most disastrous fires in the history of the city. From some unknown cause fire broke out in the large furniture store of B. Y. Cooper & Sons, and building and stock were soon a mass of flames. The two-story building adjoining, owned by F. Watkins, was badly damaged. The two-story Harwell building, west of the furniture store, caught next in a lower story, the grocery store of Goodwin & Lowe and the jewelry store of J. C. Condon. The loss is over $50,000. B. Y. Cooper & Sons suffered the greatest, having a $12,000 stock destroyed, with only $5.000 insurance. The other losses are about half covered.

SERIOUS TROUBLE PREDICTED.

Indians Have Commenced Killing Cattle Belonging to Texans.

A special from Perry, O. T., says: Serious trouble is brewing among the Comanche, Kiowa and Apache Indians. For thirty years since the Medicine Lodge treaty, the government has fed these Indians, but that treaty expired July 1. They have commenced killing cattle belonging to Texas cattlemen, and a crisis is near. These Indians have no crops, few cattle and have had no money for months. Men who know predict great starvation among them this winter and serious trouble. There are 1,500 Comanches, 1,300 Kiowas and 600 Apaches.

Alabama's Crop Conditions.

The crop report for October shows a slight falling off in the cereal condition throughout the United States, as compared with October, 1897. The average yield of bushels per acre and average conditions of the crops of Alabama on October 1 were as follows: Oats, 16.8; rye, 11.1; corn, 95 per cent; cotton, 76 per cent; Irish potatoes, 71 per cent; tobacco, 87 per cent; sweet potatoes, 96 per cent; sorghum, 97 per cent; sugar, 99 per cent; rice, 95 per cent; apples, 67 per cent.

Death of Colonel Pickett.

Colonel R. O. Pickett, the oldest member of the Florence bar, died Monday, in Leighton, Ala. Colonel Pickett was about 85 years old, and a unique character. He was a merchant in Florence in the thirties, but afterward read law with James Irvine and practiced at Moulton, Lawrence county, until the breaking out of the war, when he enlisted as captain in the Thirty-fifth Alabama, and was made a colonel before the war ended.

Physical Examination of First Alabama.

The work of mustering out the First Alabama goes steadily on. The surgeons began making the physical examinations of the men on Sunday, Company I being the first examined. Companies G, D and M have been completed. A great many of the men are found defective, that is a great many more than was supposed there should be. A great many of the men are entitled to pensions.

To Establish Toll Gates.

It is reported that Colbert county, Alabama, which has within the last several years expended $200,000 on turnpike roads, will instruct its representative, Hon. Wilson R. Brown, in the next legislature, to introduce a bill providing for the establishment of toll gates to protect its roads from the free use by persons of adjoining counties.

Commission at Anniston.

The war investigating commission, at Anniston, sat from 9 o'clock to 5:30 Monday, and examined about a dozen witnesses, including a number of officers and men of the regular troops, as well as a number of volunteer officers. The commission will leave for Huntsville Tuesday night.

LAWS TO GOVERN SANTIAGO

General Wood Defines Rights of Cubans Under American Rule.

PROCLAMATION IS VERY CLEARLY STATED.

Every Right of the Citizen is Protected in the Courts—Right to Worship God According to Conscience is Guaranteed to Every Individual.

SANTIAGO.—General Wood, military governor pro tem of the department of Santiago, Friday issued a proclamation in ten sections, which is a sort of declaration of independence. The first articles guarantee to the people the right of assembly for the common good and to apply to those in power by petition or remonstrance for the redress of grievances.

The second section guarantees the right to worship God according to individual conscience, provided there is no interference with any existing form of worship.

The third section directs that courts of justice shall be open to all and that no private property shall be taken by the government without compensation.

The fourth section, dealing with criminal trials, invests the accused with the right to be heard himself or by counsel, and to have compulsory process to secure the attendance of a witness in his behalf.

The fifth section says no person accused of crime shall be compelled to give evidence against himse f.

The sixth section d clares that no person who is once accused of the charge brought against him shall be tried again for the same offense.

The seventh section provides that all persons charged with crime shall be entitled to bail, except in cases of capital offense, and that the writ of haheas corpus may not be suspended except the commanding general of the department deems it advisable.

The eighth section says that excessive bail shall not be required, and that no excessive fine or unusual punishment shall be inflicted.

The ninth section provides that in order to secure the people against unreasonable search there shall be first established under oath a presumption of guilt.

The tenth section guarantees to all the right to write or print freely on any matter, subject to responsibility for abuse of right.

The municipal laws are to be administered in accordance with these declarations of rights, subject to modifications, which, in the judgment of the commanding general, would be beneficent, and promote the principles of enlightened civilization.

HARD FIGHTING IN TRANSVAAL.

Tribe Rebels Against the Government and Troops Are Called Out.

PRETORIA.—Serious trouble is brewing with the Magato tribe in the Zoulpansberg district, south of the Limpo river. The natives recently massacred a Lutheran missionary and his family at the town of Zoulpansberg and the Transvaal government sent an expedition to punish them. The affair has now assumed serious proportions. Chief Opefu, with 20,000 followers fully armed, with four cannon, supplied by white traders, has attacked the Laager.

The ultimatum of the commanding officer of the Transvaal troops, General Joubert, demanding an unconditional surrender, has been ignored by the tribesmen and he has summoned 3,000 burghers to re-enforce the 5,000 now in the field.

Steam has been raised on the City of Mobile at Mobile in order to try her machinery. The test proved all to be in perfect order. It will soon be plying the waters of the Alabama.

M'KINLEY TALKS IN TWO STATES.

President Crosses Indiana and Ohio on His Return Trip.

CINCINNATI, O.—One continuous ovation marked the passage of President McKinley over the states of Indiana and Ohio. Defying the wind and rain of a most disagreeable October day, the citizens of these states congregated in great numbers at every station along the line, and never were they disappointed, for the president graciously appeared at every point where the crowds awaited his coming to speak a few words.

Perhaps the most imposing demonstration of the day was at Indianapolis, where the streets through which the president was driven to the state house were jammed with cheering people. Here, on the steps of the state capitol, almost within the shadow of the statue of Thomas A. Hendricks, the president delivered one of the most striking and eloquent addresses of his long western tour. In the course of it he paid grateful tribute to the memory of Hendrics, and referred also to ex-President Harrison, both of which references were received by the people with deafening applause.

At Connorsville, Ind., a 2-months-old baby was handed over the railing of the rear platform into the arms of Secretary Wilson, who presented it to the president, his youngest namesake, William McKinley.

STORM IN SOUTHERN TEXAS.

Much Damage Done to Cotton—Building Demolished—A Railroad Smash-up.

The wind and electrical storm which swept over Texas was very severe in South Texas. Damage to cotton is enormous. Damage to cotton is enormous. At Deer Park, twenty miles from Houston, the residence of C. E. Adams was demolished. At Pasadena the residence of John Stout was wrecked and the six occupants were injured. At Missouri City a number of freight cars were blown from the siding out on the main track. The California express, running forty miles an hour, dashed into the cars at full speed. George Johnson, of San Antonio, the engineer, was killed. None of the passengers were hurt.

Farmer Accidentally Killed.

Wednesday, near Nicholson, Jackson county, Georgia, an old farmer named Hunt met a tragic death. He was driving his wagon along the road and was sitting high up on two bales of cotton. The wagon struck a stump and pitched the old man off. His head and body struck a stump with great violence. His skull was crushed and several ribs were broken. Death ensued in a few hours.

No Battle at Manila.

The sensational Spanish report of a naval battle between Admiral Dewey's vessels and the insurgent navy in the Philippines is received with absolute incredulity in both the navy and war departments. If there has been any recent action, Admiral Dewey has failed to mention it, and neither General Otis nor United States Consul Wildman have regarded it as worthy of notice.

Want the Colored Cavalry.

The Philadelphia peace jubilee committee has telegraphed General Wheeler requesting him to allow the Tenth cavalry, colored, to be sent to Philadelphia to participate in the parade. The committee offers to pay all expenses incurred by the regiment during the trip.

Bought Land in Cuba.

An American syndicate, representing Detroit capital, has purchased a large tract of land at Manzanillo, Cuba, which contains several good iron mines.

Colonel Alston Dead.

Colonel Joseph R. Alston, First South Carolina, died Friday, at Yorkville, S. C., while waiting orders prior to mustering out.

ALABAMA NEWS GLEANINGS.

Interesting Items Gathered From All Parts of Our Commonweath.

The new prohibition law at Montevallo promises to do up the blind tigers.

John Johnson, until recently keeper of the railroad bridge spanning the Alabama river at Selma, was stricken with paralysis Friday.

W. L. McCain shot and killed a negro named Lewis Fleming, near Wetumpka. It is said the negro tried to do Mr. McCain hurt by choking him.

Mr. R. H. Baker died last week, after an illness of several days. He was 70 years of age, and for a number of years was a prominent merchant of Selma.

Athens is to have a carriage factory. Joseph H. Calvin is at the head of the enterprise and hopes to have the buildings ready for work at the first of the year.

Duncan S. McLaughlin died last week at Powderly, aged 80 years. He was born in Jefferson county, one year and eighteen days before the state was admitted to the union.

A colored girl about 18 years of age named Mary Jackson, living near Englewood, Tuskaloosa county, was found a few days since near the railroad track shot through the head and side.

So far 318 students have matriculated at the Polytechnic institute at Auburn. These students have reported themselves as being connected with the following churches: Methodist, 137; Baptist, 82; Presbyterian, 42; Episcopal, 37; Catholic, 10; Hebrew, 7.

The state department of agriculture is shipping out to the farmers quantities of winter grazing oats for seed. The variety is especially adapted to furnishing winter pasture, being too hardy to be killed by the frost, and afterwa d furnishing a stand to ma ture in the spring.

The strike among the miners at Blossburg, Jefferson county, has been declared off and work has been resumed at that point. The Sloss Iron and Steel Company has acquiesced in the demands of the men that they be not taxed for schools, but be allowed to run their own places of education.

Near Brown's Station, Dallas county, Jim Perkins shot Sam Didlake, killing him instantly. Both were negroes. An argument arose between the two as to which was the better man. Didlake started toward Perkins in a threatening manner, when the latter pulled a pi tol from his pocket and fired.

Mr. F. M. Perry, the largest capitalist and landholder in Lauderdale county, who is at present spending about $100,000 in the erection of a flouring mill and cotton gin on Cypress creek, just outside the city limits of Florence, is said now to be figuring upon the cost of an electric plant to be run by the same water power.

The trial of Albert Teague, who shot and killed Walter Clarke, depot agent at Guntersville about three months ago, was concluded Friday, the jury returning a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. The punishment inflicted was confinement in the penitentiary for thirty-five years.

The Hunters' Syndicate of Selma, which has posted about 25,000 acres of land, has excited the displeasure of the non-land holder who is the owner of a cheap gun and a bird dog. Some have gone so far as to say positively they will have no business dealings with any member of the club, and will boycott any retail dealer purchasing goods from any member of said club.

According to returns published by the British board of trade, the imports of American pig iron into Great Britain during the first six months of 1898 aggregated 30,231 tons, valued at $332,155, and of American steel, unwrought, 12,832 tons, valued at $325,980:

STATE TOPICS OF INTEREST.

The Second Regiment Ready to Be Mustered Out.

The Second Alabama regiment is again in camp at the state fair grounds, Montgomery. The camp discipline has been greatly relaxed and the remaining ten days or two weeks of enlistment will be devoid of laborious work. All of the guns and accoutrements, excepting enough to equip the daily guard detail, have been boxed up, preparatory to being sent to the government arsenal at Columbia, Tenn. The mustering out will begin on Friday. It is stated that since the troops realize that they are to be mustered out of service beyond any doubt, many who were before the furloughs anxious to be given a chance to return to private life are now disposed to remain in service and go to Cuba. In fact, it is stated that several companies will be organized after the disbandment of the regiment and offer themselves to the war department to be assigned to uncompleted regiments from other states.

Selma's Usual Killing.

The almost regular Saturday night affair of one Negro killing another came off on schedule time at Selma Saturday night when Coger Barnum shot and killed Bill Lipscomb. The two Negroes were in a saloon in East Selma, drinking. A quarrel ensued, and Barnum pulled his British bulldog and fired. The first shot failed to take effect, but the second entered Lipscomb's mouth, coming out at the back of his head. Death was almost instantaneous. This is number eleven on the homicidal calendar for Dallas county since January 1, 1898.

Industrial Deal of Magnitude.

The West Point Mining Company, Florence, have purchased the assets of the West Point Mining and Manufacturing Company. The new company has a paid up capital of $50,000, the assets consisting of 100 acres of inexhaustible ore deposits and a lease of the West Point Iron Company, of West Point, Tenn. The mines have the best brown hematite ore in the South, running the lowest in phosphorus, with a capacity of 500 tons a day.

Big Fire Loss.

Saturday morning about 2:30 fire broke out in a suburban store in the southwestern part of Montgomery and was not checked until it had consumed a negro church and pastorate and six or seven stores and shops. The African Methodist Episcopal church Zion, a large frame building, was consumed, as was the dwelling house of the pastor. The total loss is about $20,000, with about 50 per cent of insurance.

Will Curtail Acreage.

The low price of cotton has so discouraged the farmers of the Abbeville section that a great many have resolved to plant only a few acres of the fleecy staple during the next year and have decided to discontinue the use of guano altogether. They will devote their time to raising stock, corn, oats and peas, and will locate their smokehouses, not in the west, but on their own farms.

New Trial Denied.

Judge John Bruce, of the United States court, Huntsville, has denied the motion for a new trial in the case of Chess and Walter Motes, Dodge Blankenship, John Littlejohn and Jasper Robinson, convicted of killing W. A. Thompson near Sylacauga, Talladega county, last March. The case will go to the supreme court of the United States.

Camp Albert G. Forse.

General Joseph Wheeler left Huntsville Saturday for Philadelphia, to be present at the peace jubilee. Camp Wheeler went out of existence today, when General Wheeler issued an order changing its name to Camp Albert G. Forse, in compliment to the gallant captain who was killed in the cavalry charge on San Juan.

DIRECTORY.

CHURCHES.

BAPTIST.—Rev. M. P. Reynolds, pastor; preaching every second and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., W. Lyman, Superintendent. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:30. Sunbeam Society first and third Sundays at 3 p. m. Ladies' Aid Society meets at 4 p. m. on Monday after the second and fourth Sundays.

METHODIST—Rev. P. L. Abernethy, pastor; preaching every first and third Sundays at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school every Sunday at 9:30 a. m., D. L. Wilkinson, Superintendent. Christian Endeavor Society every Sunday at 5:30 p. m.

Presbyterian services at the Methodist church every second Sabbath.

REV. W. I. INNOTT,
Pastor.

LODGES.

Central Lodge No. 70, A. F. & A. M.—Meets on Monday night before the first full moon in each month.

J. ALEX. MOORE, W. M
F. F. CROWE, Sec'y.

W. J. Hardy Lodge No. 52, K. of P.—Meets every second and fourth Monday nights in each month

C. F. ROBINS, C. C.
G. B. MONRO, K of R & S.

Knights of Honor—Meets the second and fourth Tuesday nights in each month.

C. L MERONEY, Dictator.
E. S. LYMAN, Reporter.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One year, cash in advance.....$1.00
Six months, cash in advance .... .50
Three months, cash in advance.. .25

LOCAL.

Prof. W. C. Carpenter, spent last Saturday in town.

See the celebrated line of Fountain shirts at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Prof. Williams, of Belle Ellen, spent Sunday in the city.

Call and see the new lot of saddles and bridles at Morgan Bros.

Mr. Alex Wall, formely of this place, came through the city Sunday.

C. L. Meroney & Co. sel pure high grade groceries.

Prof. Roberts has a class in dancing at Aldrich.

Buy your fall suit, best and cheapest at C. L. Meroney & Co

Morgan Bros, has as fine a line of carpets as is found any where. Call and see them.

Don't injure your eyes. Martin the Jeweler keeps spectacles suitable for school girls and all ages.

Four of the Montevallo girls had a delightful outing amoung the hills Saturday last, gathering chestnuts. They report the nuts plentifull.

Heiser's celebrated line of mens high grade shoes at C. L. Meroney & Co.

LUMP COAL from Imogene mines kept always on hand Delivered on short notice C C Vandegrift

If you want any thing, have lost any thing, let the world know in the want column. Only one cent a word.

Have you seen the beautiful stationery at W B McCluney & Co.

Montevallo is fortunate as to a Post Master. Dr. F. F. Crowe and his efficent assistant is all that is to be expected in dealing with the public.

They go like hot cakes, those delicious cakes at F. F. Crowe & Co.

H. R. Thomas, of Lynch, was in town on business Saturday.

A beautiful, new line of capes are on exhibition at Morgan Bros

L. A. Rice, of Six-Mile, visited the city last week.

Perfumery?. Best line at McCluny & Co's.

R. C. Wilson came down from Calera to trade in Montevallo Saturday.

COAL delivered at short notice from Imogene mines. C. C. Vvndegrift.

Dr. E. A. Wilson, of Birmingham, spent several days in the city last weeek.

Dose your watch keep good time? If not have it examied at Martins the Jeweler.

Hon. William Aldrich, candidate for congress will speak in Montevallo on Monday November 7th at 10 o'clock.

New clothing this week at Morgan Bros.

J. M. Beam, of Thorsby, came up Saturday on business.

Buy a new stove, best at Morgan Bros.

S. A. Curry and wife, of Brierfield, visited town Friday and Saturday.

That chocolate cake at F. F. Crowe & Co. is delicious.

Newton Eddings who has been in Belle Ellen for several months, has moved back to Montevallo.

Why does F F Crowe &Co sell more candy than any body else? Because it is the best and cheapest

J. D. Scott, of Dogwood, was in town Saturday.

Our line of hats are up to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros

E. Eddings, was in the city Saturday. He has moved from Six-Mile to Chilton.

Tenneys candies in packages only at Mc Cluney & Co's.

How does 250 leaves in one tablet for 5 cents suit you?. None larger. Comparison challenged at McCluney & Co's.

W. A. Walker, of Dogwood, was in town on business last Saturday.

Toilet Soaps in endless variety at McCluney & Co's.

W. L Nicholes, of Evergreen, spent later part of last week in Montevallo.

Ladies buy Krippendorf, Dittman fine shoes from C. L. Meroney & Co.

W. H. Bennett was in town Saturday. He says that Montevallo is getting to be the best market in the country.

Well cooked light bread is the most healthful. Get it at the New Bakery, Bests old stand. R. T. Newton proprietor.

E. L. Mulky and wife came up from Brierfield Saturday on business.

Something new, peanut cocoanut filakes at F. F. Crowe & Co,

An entertainment was given at the Brierfield Academy last Friday night which was enjoyed by all.

See those bueatiful new style ribbons at Morgan Bros.

Miss Annie Kavassa, of Trio visited her brother at Brierfield last weeek.

J. W. Martin has just received a lot of handsome new watches. Call and see them.

Mr. Steele, of Ross Station spent several days in Brierfield last week and part of this.

The flavor and variety of F. F Crowe & Co,s candies is remarkable.

Found—on the streets, in the suberbs, by some of Montevallo's pretty yong ladies'; a "monkey" wrench. The owner may recover his property by calling at this office and paying for this advertisment

The home of Dr, F. F. Crowe was made glad Tuesday by the wail of a new born son of man.

Col Hazzard went up to Calera later part af last week to visit his sister and returned Sunday afternoon.

Lieutenant Hooper, of Huntsville, spent last Sunday in Montevallo. He has a sister here in the Industrial.

Beware! Beware! We learn that some ferocious wild beast, of the hog family have been roaming the street of Montevallo this week One of them attacted a baby, (A colored variety), one day and came very near devouring it,s bread.

Bigest pencil tablets in America for five cents at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Senator Morgan—will speak in Monrevallo next Saturday, Oct 29th

Go to C. L. Meroney & Co for a perfect fitting suit of clothes.

Rev. W. H. Carnell of Six Mile, was in Montevallo Tnesday. He will move here in a short time and his daughter will attend the Industrial.

True artistic taste has been shown in the selection of the new line of fall prints at Morgan Bros. Prices from 3½ to 5c

Lecture.

Editor Thos. N. Freeman, will lecture at the Baierfield Accadamy next Friday evening at 7.15. Subject "Genius". Every body is invited, especialy the young ladies and young men.

"Don't read trash," Read the best weekly and monthly magazines, subscribe at W B McCluney & Co.

Mr T. J. Perry and wife of Birmingham, came up Sunday morinng. Mr Perry returned Sunday night but Mr Perry rsmains in the city for the present

Laundry Rogan. Leave your laundry at Rogan's on Wednesday and get it on Saterday.

ANTRIBULE

The Most Powerful Healing Agent Known and the Only

ANTISEPTIC WHICH STOPS PAIN!

Cures Burnes and Scalds Instantly. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold and guaranteed by F. F. Crowe & Co.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

THE WEEKLY NEWS.

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,

PUBLISHERS.

THOS. N. FREEMAN - EDITOR.

Entered at the post office at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Saturday October 27, 1893

We will gladly receive short correspondence of not over 200 words, on any subject of general interest, provided it is accompanied by the author's name and address. Being nonpartizan, we are not responsible for any ideas expressed in communications.

We learn this week that Lieutenant T. S. Kyle, of Gadsden, may posibly become a candidate for Rail Road commissioner. We have known Mr. Kyle from childhood and there is no man that posseses a nobler heart or a more honerable purpose in life, and these qualities, coupled with his well known ability, would highly qualify him for the important position of R. R. Commissioner. Should Lieutenant Kyle decide to become a candidate, he will have an enthusiastic support, esspecially in North Alabama.

From the Bulletin, Monroe, La.

We are glad to see that our friend Thomas N. Faeeman, who resided in ward nine of this parish last year, is editor of the Montevallo News, a neat and able newspaper in one of foremost cities and sections of Alabama, a center of culture, welth and enterprise. We congratulate him and wish him great success.

These are days of pluck and enierprise, dash and spirit and old fogyism will not be tolerated in any form; but that is no reason why people should spend their last hard earned dollar for somthing to orniment themselves with. Of course we want to look neat but that is no cause why every thing should be put on the back and so little in the brain. The thing which makes a sensible person "weary" is to see a young lady or young man, moving in the best society, dressed in the latest styles and often costliest goods; young people who have had all the advantages of an education but refused it, who have'nt learning enough to know the difference between Oxygen and gravey, or whether Jonah swollowed the whale or the whale was swollowed by Jonah, or if Nepoleon surrendered at Saritoga, or Mathew Arnold wrote the Last Days of Pompaie, or Shakespear was the author of Pope's Essay on Man. The dear old John Westly struck the keynote when he wrote in the rules of the societies "not the puting on of costly apparel". Money spent on clothes which is for more than comfort and neatness, is of all expindatures the least beneficial.

We have been in the habit of looking at genius as a spontaneous growth, specias of abnormal development, but an investigtion into the lives of all famous men, will not uphold this conception. We will find that hard work — work from morn till night, work in dead hours of night, while the contented element of their fellow creatures were wandering in dreamland, is the fource that has made men great. Hard work never kills. It is the worries of life that distioyes the nerve fource and breakes down the helth. Form a plan in life and stick to it like grim death. Dont trust in genius.

Franklin said a great many things that were wise and otherwise. He said "earley to bed and early to rise will make a man healthey, wealthy and wise". It is true the man may be "healthey" who observes these rules, still we dont know what he ment by being "wise", but one thing is certain, no man in modern times has gained a considerable store of knowledge without burning the midnight oil, or the midnight "pine knot", as did Lincoln, and Franklin was no ecception to the rule. You may put it down that "there is no excelence without great labor".

It is with grea pleasure that we note the coming of the celebrated John T. Morgan to Montevalla next Saturday. Is it too much to say that he is the most famous senitor of all Republics?

It was with a fealing of sadness that we stood on the streets of Birmingham recently and saw United States Soldiers staggering through public places in beastly intoxication. We could not help comparing their degraded behavier, to the Spartian soldiers under Alexander the Greaty sober and brave and were never allowed to touch intoxicants. Is this a christian nation?.

Kicker.

When will the mossbacks shed their moss ank cease to oppose the incorporation of the town?.

Why do the citizens of Montevallo not petition the Alabama legislature to enact a law prohibiting brainsless dudes from flirting with school girls?.

The Ameican hog is considered a greet institution, but Col. C. C. Vanderfirift har an old sow we are opposed to. She is so remarkable smart that she can unlock gates, shake fruit taces and drink buttermilk out of a jug. We saggest the Kangaroo cort be convened for the purpose of making some disposition of her hogship.

We have been reliably informed tht there is now being put up on the market in varians prohibition destricts in the country, cocoanuts filled with a first class article of old Rye Whiskey. It is needless to say that they are meeting with ready sales. This is a nut for the Kongoroo Coart to crack.

There is certain miserablo class who never earn a living because they are afraid they mill do somthing too menial for their position in society. If you want to get on in life you must be willing to do anything however menial if it is honest, in ordei to earn a living. You must be like the man who put the sign out: "Here livith a man who don't refuse To Mend Umbrella, Collors, boots and Shoes.

The fine gentleman or lady who thinks it is beneath them to labor with thair hands, and who wait utill a first class position with a large salary turns up—well their friends generaly have to pay their funeral expensis.

Klantes.

DR. J. P. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. Will be at St. George Hotel, Monday, Nov. 7, 1898.

J. M. Reynolds,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

and Solicitor in Chancery.

Montevallo, - - - - Ala.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON.

The First-Class Barber.

Montevallo, - - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work warranted.

Montevallo Normal School,

A Male Institute,

With Preparatory Department for Boys and Girls.

Faculty up to date—20 years experience. Terms low—Work thorough—New house complete in 30 days. Girls Industrial patrons, prepare your girls for college with us.

J. B. Kilpatrick Principal.
Mrs. J. B. Kilpatrick Assistant.

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5 1898

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES leading to Master of Arts and Master of Science.
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POLK, President,
Jun 5m. University, Alabama.

I. W. Session

Lumber Manufactory

Orders for sawing and planing filled on short notice at lowest prices.

Also Grain and Grist-Mill.

Patronage Solicited.

On Montgomery road east of Montevallo.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA.

Eczema

Painful Itching, Burning, Smarting and Swelling—Hood's Cures.

"My little boy was severely afflicted with eczema, and we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured him. We always keep Hood's Sarsaparilla on hand, and I have found it very beneficial for palpitation of the heart. My mother has taken it for rheumatism and it has helped her." Mrs. Viana Franklin, E. Otto, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills. 25 cents.

The Companion for the Rest of 1898.

The principal attractions offered by THE YOUTH'S COMPANION for the remaining weeks of 1898 provide a foretaste of the good things to follow in the new volume for 1899. To the first issue in November Frank R. Stockton will contribute a humorous sketch, entitled "Some of My Dogs," and in the issue for the week of November 10th will appear Rudyard Kipling's thrilling story of the heroism of soldiers in the ranks, "The Burning of the Sarah Sands." In the seven issues to follow there will be contributions by Lord Dufferin, William D. Howells, J. E. Chamberlin, the American war correspondent, Mary E. Wilkins, Hon. Thomas B. Reed, the Marquis of Lorne, Mme. Lillian Nordica and I. Zangwill. Those who subscribe now for the 1899 volume will receive every November and December issue of THE COMPANION from the time of subscription to the end of the year free, the Companion Calendar for 1899 free, and then the entire 52 issues of THE COMPANION to January 1, 1900. An illustrated announcement of the 1899 volume and sample copies will be sent free to any one addressing THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, BOSTON, MASS.

The Value of Beards.

Is a beard worth $10,000? This question will be decided by the supreme court of New York, in a suit brought by Max Meyer against a local electric company in New York city. During the recent electrical show in Madison Square Garden, Meyer was employed by the defendent company to exhibit a fluoroscope and X-ray outfit in operation. After ten days of this work he lost his whiskers and eyebrows as a result of too long and frequent exposure to the X-rays. He claims the defendant was negligent in not warning him of the danger he incurred. Hence the suit.—Electrical Review.

To prevent the entrance of vermin into pianos and organs by way of the pedal groove a piece of sheet metal is attached to the pedal inside the case to cover the opening and move with the pedal.

"I DO MY OWN WORK."

So Says Mrs. Mary Rochiette of Linden, New Jersey, in this Letter to Mrs. Pinkham.

"I was bothered with a flow which would be quite annoying at times, and at others would almost stop.

"I used prescriptions given me by my physician, but the same state of affairs continued.

"After a time I was taken with a flooding, that I was obliged to keep my bed. Finally, in despair, I gave up my doctor, and began taking your medicine, and have certainly been greatly benefited by its use.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has indeed been a friend to me.

"I am now able to do my own work, thanks to your wonderful medicine. I was as near death I believe as I could be, so weak that my pulse scarcely beat and my heart had almost given out. I could not have stood it one week more, I am sure. I never thought I would be so grateful to any medicine.

"I shall use my influence with any one suffering as I did, to have them use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Every woman that is puzzled about her condition should secure the sympathetic advice of a woman who understands. Write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her your ills.

An Aphorism from the Quarters.

'Yoh can't allus tell whaw ter put de credit by lookin' at de surface," said Uncle Eben. "De cork on de fishin' line dances aroun' an' 'tracts a heap o' 'tention. But it's de hook dat's doin' the business.—Washington Star.

During the last few months Oom Paul Krueger has begun to assume a little more of the pomp and ceremony of a president, and now has seven troopers to escort him from one government building to another.

Beauty is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Mr. Curzon's Irish peerage is the twenty-fourth Irish peerage created since the union. Of the twenty-three previous post-union peerages only two have been conferred on Englishmen.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

President Diaz, of Mexico, has just bought a dog through a St. Louis dog fancier. It is a pointer, a bench-show champion at that, and is named McKinley.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco is the "best of the best." 2 ounces and cigarette book for 10 cents. Try it.

Prof. von Zenker, who in 1860 first discovered the trichina disease, died recently in Mecklenburg at the age of 73 years.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail druggists refund money.

The national hymns of China are of such extraordinary length that it is stated that half a day would be required to sing them through.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

A nephew of President Dole, of Hawaii, is campaigning in the Philippines. He is Alfred Dole, of Company K, First California volunteers. This command formed part of the first expedition to Manila.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo. O.
Sold by druggists, price 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The Theosophist missionary, Bramachari Bodhabhikshu, J. C. Chatterji, who has arrived in San Francisco, has abandoned his eastern costume for one of American make.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

The oldest of Oregon pioneers is the Rev John Smith Griffin, who was born in Vermont in 1807 and went to Oregon as a Congregational minister in 1839. For years he worked exclusively among the Indians.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggist.

In three years the expense of running an Atlantic steamship exceeds the cost of construction.

Piso's Cure cured me of a Throat and Lung trouble of three years' standing.—E. CADY, Huntington, Ind., Nov. 12, 1894.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free DR. R.H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

M. Edouard Drummont, the anti-Semitic leader in the French parliament, curiously enough, looks like a Hebrew.

Some Merchants insure their Stock and Houses and neglect their Children. Why not save the Mother's heart and Baby's life by carrying home a Box of DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (TEETHING POWDERS)? Other fathers do it. TEETHINA Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels and makes teething easy.

ON THE BRINK OF WAR.

France and England Are Calmly Preparing for a Conflict.

TO SETTLE FASHODA DISPUTE WITH ARMS.

Critical Stage Reached in the Dispute Over the Territorial Occupation in Egypt—France Hoping Against Hope.

LONDON.—Never since Great Britain and France began to dispute over Egypt, nor during the most acute stage of the Niger differences between those countries, has the situation looked so ominous as today. In spite of the hope expressed in the sober journals of both countries that the matter would be amicably arranged, it is a fact that the French naval and military authorities are making feverish preparations for war, and though calm reigns at the British dock yards at Portmouth, Chatham and Devonport, it is only the calm of preparedness, and significant orders have been arriving there from the admiralty indicating the belief that Great Britain and France are on the brink of war.

Mr. Deblowitz, the Paris correspondent of the London Times writes: "Never before has there been witnessed such a state of fever as is now prevailing in Great Britain nor so great an exaltation of public feeling over a matter of foreign policy, while on her side France is promptly and rapidly, without looking forward, preparing to fight any power provoking her. Tke French statesmen, however, cling to the hope that the Marquis of Salisbury will offer some exchange which will enable them to retire from Fashoda without apparent sacrifice of dignity."

SOUTHERN PROGRESS.

The New Industries Reported in the South in a Week.

Among the new industries specially reported to the Chattanooga Tradesman during the week ended October 22, may be mentioned a basket and crate factory in Georgia; a broom factory in Kentucky; a carriage factory in Alabama; two coal mining companies in West Virginia; a $50,000 distillery in Kentucky; flouring mills in Arkansas, Georgia, Tennessee and Virginia, and two in North Carolina; a furniture factory in North Carolina; a $100,000 specialty manufacturing company in Louisiana; knitting mills in Georgia and North Carolina; lumber mills in Alabama, Mississippi and West Virginia; a shingle mill in Louisiana, and a spool factory in Mississippi.

RAILROAD WRECK.

Freight Train Breaks In Two—Five Men Killed.

A wreck on the Rock Island near Fort Worth, Tex., resulted in the death of five men. Three others will die and two are seriously injured. A freight train broke in two at the top of a steep grade. The rear portion could not be stopped, and it crashed into the front section, wrecking and derailing several box cars. In one of the wrecked cars were ten men, evidently stealing a ride. Five of them were instantly killed and three are dying. Two escaped fatal injuries.

Ministerial Crisis.

The Madrid newspapers regard a ministerial crisis as imminent, and they urge the ministers o sink their differences in view of Spain's many difficulties.

Two Men Killed.

One of the houses of the Judson Dynamite Works at Oakland, Cal., blew up Saturday. The explosion killed two men.

PREPARING FOR BATTLE.

British Admiralty Hurrying Ships for War—French Active at Toulon.

LONDON.—The British Admiralty issued a number of significant orders Monday morning. The dock yards at Portsmouth, Devonport and Chatham have each received instructions to prepare six thirty-knot torpedo boat destroyers for commissioning so that they will be able to put to sea in twenty-four hours. Overtime hours have begun on the first-class cruisers Europa and Andromeda so as to hurry them for sea service. Several gunboats in the different dock yards have been ordered to postpone necessary refitting. Finally, the Cunard line and White Star line have received from the admiralty an intimation to hold their subsidized steamers in readiness for turning over to the navy officials.

Preparing at Toulon.

PARIS.—The muncipal authorities of Toulon have been notified that that place will be the center of important naval and military preparations, and have been instructed to arrange for the immediate reception of four battalions of infantry, 1,500 marines and 600 artillerymen.

The naval authorities have been ordered to expedite the preparations for the outfitting of the new squadron.

The newspapers here warmly praise the exposition of the French side of the Fashoda question presented by the minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse, in the yellow book, on the subject issued Sunday.

Ordered to Mobilize.

HALIFAX, N. S.—The commanders of all warships of the British North American squadron have received orders to mobilize at Halifax. The Pallis, Talbot and Indefatigable will come here at once, together with two torpedo boat destroyers now at Bermuda. The torpedo boats at the dock yard are being overhauled. The crew of the flagship Renown will be sent to Lawler's Island this week for field practice. The Renown went to sea Monday for heavy gun practice.

Joint Traffic Association Illegal.

The United States supreme court Monday decided the joint traffic association railroad case in favor of the United States and against the railroads. The case is considered one of the most important that has ever come before the supreme court, not only to the railroads, but to the general public, and because of the vast railway properties represented by the traffic association.

Evacuation of Porto Rico Completed.

The evacuation of Porto Rico was completed by sailing of last detachment of Spanish troops Sunday.

The members of the insular cabinet took the oath of allegiance to the United States with befitting solemnity. They will issue a manifesto announcing their resolution to avoid partisan politics and end party strife.

Trouble in Madrid Cabinet.

Lieutenant-General Correa, minister of war, threatens to resign unless the government upholds the action of General Chincilla, captain-general of Madrid, who last week imprisoned Senor Figuerea, editor of El Nacional, for publishing an article not previously submitted to the censor.

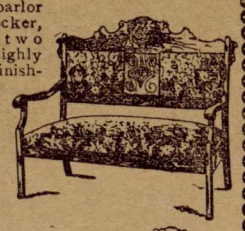
"Wild Bill" Killed.

"Wild Bill" Turner, a noted character in the mountains, was shot and killed by Will Coombs. Turner kept a moonshine saloon on the State line between Kentucky and Tennessee and had made a fortune. He had killed several men. He is the sixth brother killed and is the last of the family.

Chinese Emperor's Affliction.

The emperor of China is believed to be afflicted with an incurable kidney disease, though it is probable that he will linger for a considerable time.

WE PAY THE FREIGHT AND $15.95 IS ALL IT COSTS.



This 5-piece parlor suit, largest size rocker, divan, sofa, and two parlor chairs, highly polished frame, finished mahogany, and upholstered in velour or tapestry. Suitable for any parlor in the land, $15 95 and freight paid to all points East of the Mississippi, points West on equal basis. Such a bargain as this you have never seen before, no matter how old you are, and never will again, probably, if you reach the century mark, which we hope you will. Further comment unnecessary, except that if you want to know of thousands of such bargains, send for our 160-page furniture catalogue, and if you want carpet at such prices as most dealers can't buy for, send for our ten-color lithographed carpet catalogue, and what you'll find in these two books will teach you something that you'll want to remember for many a day. Remember Christmas is coming, and sensible people give sensible gifts which sensible people most appreciate. Something for the home is the best of all presents, and our catalogues will suggest to you what is best. Address (exactly as below)

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Dept 316 BALTIMORE, MD.

AREA OF PUBLIC LANDS.

Ninety Per Cent. In the Desert Land States and Territories.

A statement prepared at the general land office, Washington, shows that at the present time there are are 579,368,274 acres of unappropriated and unreserved public land in the United States, exclusive of Alaska. Of this area 546,549,655 acres, or more than 94 per cent., are in the thirteen so-called desert land states and territories. Of the vacant land in these states and territories, it is estimated that 332,176,000 acres are of a character that may be demominated as "desert" under the law providing for the disposal of desert lands; that is, lands that do not produce native grasses in sufficient quantity to make an ordinary crop of hay in usual seasons, if unfed by grazing animals and lands which, without irrigation, do not contain sufficient moisture to produce a natural growth of trees, or make an agricultural crop of any kind in amount to make the cultivation thereof reasonably remunerative.

A Wasp's Mistake.

It is generally supposed that instinct unerringly teaches birds and insects the best way in which to build their homes or nests, and also to provide for their offspring. The following incident, recently under personal observation, will show that instinct is not always infallible:

A friend placed three small empty vials in an open box on a shelf, in an upright position in close contact, and they were uncorked. A short time afterward it was a matter of surprise to find that these had been appropriated by a female mud wasp. She had placed a goodly number of spiders in the center vial, doubtless intended as food for her future brood; then proceeded to deposit her eggs in those on either side. She next closed tightly the mouths of all three receptacles with a hard lime cement. Having finished her work she then, doubtless, went on her way, satisfied all had been done for her offspring that a thoughtful mother could do.

But just think of the sensations of those little wasps when they came into existence, for, while starving in their sealed cages, they can plainly see, through the impenetrable glass walls, the bountiful supply of food that was provided for their use.—Scientific American.

Among the three major-generals of volunteers who will be deprived of their commissions and returned to regular army duty are Generals Hawkins and Kent, both heroes of the Santiago campaign. Both are West Pointers, life-long soldiers and veterans of the civil war.

INTERESTING ITEMS.

Mr. Walter Crane, who has been appointed to the principalship of the Royal College of Art in London, is a self-taught artist, and had his first picture hung in the Royal Academy when he was but 16 years old.

Mr. Spelterini, balloonist, who has made during his career 497 ascensions, and carried some 800 passengers, is preparing to cross the Alps in the balloon Vega. He will be accompanied by Professor Hermi, of Zurich, the object of the ascent being scientific.

A year ago last August Mrs. Louise B. McVey determined to go to Alaska. Not having money enough she stowed herself away on a steamer sailing from Seattle to St. Michael's. She passed the winter cooking for a lot of miners, located a camp on Bonanza creek and is now worth $100,000. Mrs. McVey is young, good looking and a widow.

The courts of Germany convicted 455,939 persons last year; 44,312 of them were under 18 years of age.

Of the eleven emperors and empresses of Russia between Pe'e I. and Alexander II. four have been assassinated.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

GIVEN AWAY!

Information Concerning Your Wheel.

Write us or call at our mammoth bicycle house and we will tell you all about it.

The oldest and largest house in the south. All kinds of wheels; all kinds of prices. Repair department complete.

The Loosley Cycle Company,
Second Ave., (opp. P. O.) BIRMINGHAM, Ala.

The Best BOOK ON THE WAR BEAUTIFULLY bound and sumptuously illustrated (price $2), free to anybody sending two annual subscriptions at $1 each to the Overland Monthly, SAN FRANCISCO. Sample Overland, 5c.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

Am. N. U., No. 43, 1898.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

BAD BREATH

"I have been using CASCARETS and as a mild and effective laxative they are simply wonderful. My daughter and I were bothered with sick stomach and our breath was very bad. After taking a few doses of Cascarets we have improved wonderfully. They are a great help in the family."
WILHELMINA NAGEL.
1137 Rittenhouse St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 315

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

WELL DRILLING MACHINES of all kinds and sizes, for drilling wells for house, farm, City and Village Water Works, Factories, Ice Plants, Breweries, Irrigation, Coal and Mineral Prospecting, Oil and Gas, etc. Latest and Best. 30 years experience. WRITE US WHAT YOU WANT.
LOOMIS & NYMAN, Tiffin, Ohio.

FREE WATCH!

Send your address and we will express 50 fine, long-filler Nickel cigars. When sold, remit us $2.50 and we will mail you, free, a handsome stem wind and set watch, which retails for $2.50. WINSTON CIGAR CO., No. 99 Main St, Winston, N. C.

--PATENTS--

Procured on cash, or easy instalments. VOWLES & BURNS, Patent Attorneys, 237 Broadway, N. Y.

BUSINESS EDUCATION PAYS.

If you expect to take a business course, send for interesting booklet No. 15 and rate card. Established ten years. The leading business college of the south.
BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE, Birmingham, Ala.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use } Thompson's Eye Water

HEALTHY MOTHERS Make HAPPY HOMES.

HOW can a woman be cheerful and happy when she is weak, nervous, and suffering the excruciating tortures of Female Diseases? It should not be expected of her. When she is suffering from Deranged Menstruation, Whites, Falling of the Womb, etc., show your sympathy for her in a practical way by providing her with

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea.

TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

This splendid tonic will soon relieve her suffering and CURE the disease, thus producing the desired result through natural channels. Only $1.00 per bottle.

If there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. Price 25c per package.

MY WIFE WAS ALMOST A COMPLETE WRECK

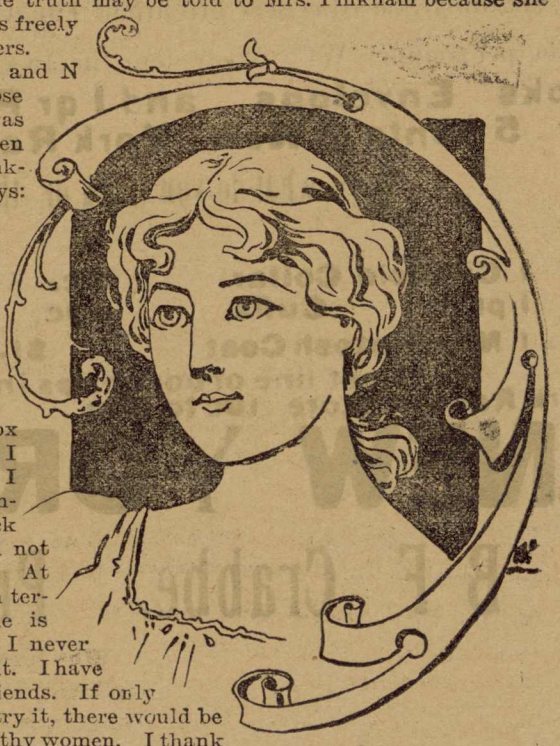
With female troubles. She has taken six bottles of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA and it has cured her. She is now on the last bottle and is feeling as well as she ever did and weighs more than ever before in her life.
SOLD AT DRUG STORES. B. R. LEGGETT. Broxton, Ga.
L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprietors, Chattanooga, Tenn.

COMFORTING WORDS TO WOMEN.

The Surgical Chair and its Tortures May be Avoided by Women Who Heed Mrs. Pinkham's Advice.

Woman's modesty is natural; it is charming.

To many women a full statement of their troubles to a male physician is almost impossible. The whole truth may be told to Mrs. Pinkham because she is a woman, and her advice is freely offered to all women sufferers.



Mrs. O. E. LADD, of 19th and N Sts., Galveston, Texas, whose letter is printed below, was completely discouraged when she first wrote to Mrs. Pinkham. Here is what she says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wrote to you some time ago, telling you of my ills, but now I write to thank you for the good your remedies have done me. I have used two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, three packages of Sanative Wash, and one box of Liver Pills, and to-day I call myself a well woman. I suffered with backache, constant headache, whites, sick stomach, no appetite, could not sleep, and was very nervous. At time of menstruation was in terrible pain. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I never can say enough in praise of it. I have recommended it to many friends. If only all suffering women would try it, there would be more happy homes and healthy women. I thank you for the change your medicine has made in me.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice, have saved thousands of women from hospital operations.

The lives of women are hard; whether at home with a ceaseless round of domestic duties or working at some regular employment, their daily tasks make constant war on health. If all women understood themselves fully and knew how exactly and soothingly Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts on the female organs, there would be less suffering.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; a Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills!

THE EMEMY OF "CREDIT SYSTEM"

IS IN MONTEVALLO,

CALL ON HIM

He has for school girlS

Stationery in Boxes 5c to 25c Box.
Paper for notes 2 qr for 5c and up
Leagal and fools cap paper 7c to 10c qr.
Envelopes 3 pkgs for 5c to 5c pkg.
Pens 3 to 8c Dz. Thimbles 1c
Hair pins 1c Kid curlers 3 to 5c Dz.

Needles 1c Pins 1c
Curling Irons 2½ to 5c each Thread 3c
Talcum powder 6c
Fancy Candies of all kinds Cheap.
Fancy cakes of all kind Cheap.
Pen holders 1c Tablets 3 to 10c
Pencils 4c Dz to 2 for 5c Hooks & eyes 1c

For the trade in general.

New York Racket Store is a poor mans paradise. He can get anvthing cheaper there by 10 per cent to 5 por cent.

All kinds of Dry goods, woolens, cotton goods, Flannelettes, Oil cloth, shoes, Velvet, Velvetine, calicoes, Toilet soap, collars, cuffs, thread, over shirts, under shirts, drawers, ½ hose, ink, tooth brushes, tea spoons, table spoons, and every thing in Dry goods or notion line cheaper than the cheapest.

Tan polish 8c at New York Racket Store.

Mackintosh Coat for $1,50 at New York Racket Store. Why pay $2,50 elsewhere.

Boarding house keepers attention? Fancy cakes from 10c to 25c per pound. Why Wear your life away over a hot stove

2 oks Envelops and 1 qr Paper. all for 5 cents at New York Racket Store

Boys what do you think of this;

1 Cilluloid Collar 5c.
1 pr " Cuffs 10c.
1 Mackintosh Coat $1,50

Prettiest line of boys caps in town at New York Racket Store 10c to 25c

How would you like to have a Websters Unabridged Dictionary sheep binding, for ONE DOLLAR. The New York Racket Store has it

Pompadaur Combs 10c & 15c at New York Racket Store

Ladies Collars 10c or 3 for 25c at New York Racket Store

Dominoes 5 to 15c per set at New York Racket Store

sweaters at New YorK Racket Store

You can get at New York Racket Store 3 pkgs shoe tacks for 5c

Best white Lousdale CambricK for 8 Cents,

Call and convince your self.

I guarantee to save you money.

NEW YORK RACKET STORE

B F Crabbe. Proprietor. Montevallo, Alabama.

Probate Judge

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, '98 NO. 40

Why does F F. Crowe &Co sell more candy than any body else? Because it is the best and cheapest.

Fresh bananas always on hand at F.F. Crowe & Co

Variety is the spice of candy. Try the delightful flavors at F F Crowe & Co.

They find that the fancy pape at F F. Crowe & C . is the be t

"Work While it is Light".

'Tis the showers that come in April
And the buds that bloom in May
An l the sun that shines in August,
The fruits of an autumn day,
And the chilling winds of winter
That speeds the years away.

'Tis the joys that come in childhood
With love, all free from fears;
The passions of maturity,
The burdens and the cares,
And happy dreams of aged,
That speeds away the years.

Oh! Let the years go rolling!
Count not your life away.
Hold not the hand from sowing
And reaping day by day,
Regarding not the weather
But working till the night,
Some day the sheaves you'll gather
Within the Spirit Light.

Thos. Freeman.

A WOMAN
Who Buyes
KipendolPh & Dittman
shoesisalwaysplesed

When He buys, A MAN If wise
wants shoes for Style and use Brown
&Bay state are the best

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL ITEMS.

First of all we wish to thank the editor for the copies of the "News" he so kindly sent us.

That obliging "little bird" has not whispered much news into my waiting ear this week, so I am afraid the news budget will be small and uninteresting. You see it is this way: many of the most interesting and laughable jokes would not prove so to the outside while we girls enjoy them thoroughly. Perhaps Mr. Will Reynolds could tell of some funny things. He bronght Mrs. Hudson up Saturday night and incidently stayed to watch the dancers Miss Bush and Miss Evans came up also. How we did enjoy Miss Bushe's two-step and that lovely waltz.

Quite a number of our girls attended the lecture by General Morgan. Senator Morgan gave us a very interesting talk, full of that "present politics which is future history." To have heard this great orator and statesman, of our own state, Alabama, is an event to be remembered and treasured.

Capt and Mrs. Reynolds took tea with us Sunday evening. Afterwards we enjoyed the talk, by our President on "Naiman the Leper."

Brother Abernathy came for the choir girls to practice on Saturday evening. When the girls returned they were in high spirits, so I suppose the time was very profitably enjoyed.

Will some one very kindly inform one of the "Lyman Girls" who the President of the United States is, she is undecided whether it is George Washington or Senator Morgan.

Which of the McConaughy Girls insist on calling early in the morning Get up! get up! and make the fire

If any one can tell a good joke, tell it to me and I will make use of it

"Dormitory."

Days weeks and months pass away.
Nights passaway to give place to days
Every thing passes away except the girls, they only pass by.

The "Shivers House" appeared very popular Saturday afternoon; quite a number of girls called, dont think it was the "Shivers Girls" that was so attractive, but the piano and the inviting emptiness of a certain room, how ever we were glad to see you girls. Come again.

The Shivers Girls had an extraordinary amount of energy (in their heels remember) Saturday night. entering the music room at quite an early hour they danced until the distant sound of the bell warned them that their fun must cease.

A certain young lady called for a glass of water with which to swallow flags, seems as if the "Shivers House" had a Jonah.

The pervading gloom of "Shivers House" was brightened for a few moments on Sunday afternoon by the presence of Mrs. Babb, Miss Fitts. Miss Lee, and Miss Alston.

Mr. Shivers dined with the Capt. and Senator Saturday; according to promises he started home with his pockets full of oysters, but they all kicked ou before he got here.

Cousin Naomi is oor best girl. She came out of the Bible which accounts for her goodness.

Tho Industrial school of Montevallo, tea hes many things, but this eclipses all, there is a certain teacher in the Faculty who teaches how to carry boiling water in a paper bag.

The sick list has been exceedingly small for the past week. Those certificates are awful hard to get. With two teachers and a monitor the girls are kept straight.

There is one girl in this house who could teach Dr. Wilkinson something, for she has just discoverd that her liver begins where her conscience ends.

The girls at the Dunklin house are glad that the rules of the school do not prohibit their receiving boxes of candy from their brothers. For what is it that a school girl likes better than candy except more candy?

Ask some of the girls what virtue there is in hanging a horseshoe over the door.

The girls at the Dunklin's house were delightfully entertained Saturnight with a candy pulling.

Which is the harder study Latin or Caesar? inquired a school girl.

How we enjoyed the ser nade the other night. It was short but sweet

A bright school girl said to one of the teachers, that she had decided to study Arithmetic but did not care to study Mathematics.

As dots have appeared in the columns of the "News" from all the houses in town, we feel that the list would not be complete unless "Pat's Girls" were represented. We are only eight in number, a merrier, happier eight will hardly be found in Montevallo. The week is spent in earnest study but on Saturday evening when tasks are finished, and we gather around our beautiful bright fires, we indulge in cracking friendly jokes, and exchanging harmless pleasantries, If you dont believe it ask Gertrude!

Our girls are distinguishing themselves in the various arts and sciences as Miss Mary Henry, prima donna demonstrated, when favoring us a few nights since with a selection which appealed to us so strongly, bringing as it did, memories of other days— "Way down yonder in the cornfield." It is needless to state that she received hearty encore.

At noon, when we return from school, even the tempting dinner which always await us, remains untouched until we greet our postman Mr. Will, with that old query, "any letters"? As usual his judgment is superior to ours and letters are served after dinner.

(Continued on 3th page.)

Mundells shoes for A GIRL
is best and Cheapest. Latest in ribbons
CloAkS
Only 10c for-sweet-sugar cured HAM
Morgan BroS.

Leaders in low Prices.
Montevallo, Ala.

Tennys Peanut Brittle is the best, at no other. Rogan sells it.

Fine flavored French candies at Rogan's,

Up-to-date ribbons at Morgan Bros.

For anything in the Confectionery line go to Rogan.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

MONTEVALLO, - ALABAMA.

California has just celebrated its forty-three years of statehood. It will not be long before the whole state will be a Forty-niner.

Don't go to the Klondike and hunt gold. Go to Porto Rico and raise coffee. Southeast by east the star of empire takes its way.

One Herr Rohrig cut Prince Bismarck's hair from 1890 to 1898. He carefully saved up all the shorn locks, and now proposes to sell them in small sections. Here is a new terror added to the death of great men.

According to the census taken in 1722, toward the close of Peter the Great's reign, Russia contained only 14,000,000 inhabitants, and by 1897 this number had increased almost ten times, for it now amounts to about 130,000,000. According to the calculations of the statistician, Schreider, the population of Russia ought in the year 2000 to amount to 300,000,000, and that of Germany to 80,000,000.

A Connecticut man has left his entire savings, amounting to twelve thousand dollars, for a monument to be erected to his memory. How much better it would have been to put this money into a memorial library! The monument will do nobody any good. It will be infrequently seen, and it will not make the town a better place to live in, while a library would have been a lasting reminder of his generosity and common sense.

Kaiser Wilhelm has struck another blow at the French. A recent army order commands the suppression of the terms Premier Lieutenant and Seconde Lieutenant and the substitution of Ober and Unter Lieutenant instead. The title remains, therefore, half German and half French, and First Lieutenants will be easily confused with Lieutenant-Colonels, Oberst Lieutenants. An imperial attempt at Germanizing the French title Lieutenant would have been interesting.

It is a very pretty proposition made by General Sir Herbert Kitchener that a college and medical school be established at Khartum, in memory of General Gordon, devoted to the education of sons of Sheiks and other young men, graduation from which should qualify one to hold Government posts. It would cost, he says, $300,000; and he believes the British public would subscribe it. That is the way war is made nowadays by nations that feel responsibility for territories acquired in war.

If it be true, as claimed, that the long-looked-for new match has been invented it is news of great importance. An Englishman and a Berlin chemist have announced the invention of a match which will strike anywhere and of which phosphorus is not a component part. The makers of friction matches are liable to necrosis, a horrible form of jaw disease, as a result of the use of phosphorus, and in Europe large rewards have been offered for a suitable substitute for this dangerous substance. It is to be hoped that the substitute has been found.

WILL KEEP THE PHILIPPINES

The Entire Archipelago Will Be Demanded by United States.

SPANISH DEBT WILL NOT BE ASSUMED.

A Definite Proposition to Be Submitted to Spaniards This Week—Believed That Spain Will Gladly Relinquish the Islands and Lessen Her Debts.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary Hay Saturday had an interview with the president presumably about matters before the Paris peace commission, but nothing is known of the contents of dispatches which may have been received from Mr. Day. It was intimated, however, that our representatives in Paris probably would be prepared to take up this week and submit to the Spanish ministers a distinct proposition on the Philippine question. It is fairly assumed, however, that this proposition may be subject to change as the negotiations progress. On the general subject of the Philippines members of the cabinet are usually reticent, and this fact is assumed by some to indicate that up to this time the administration itself has not fully determined on what it will or will not demand in this connection, beyond the fact that the entire archipelago must remain in the possession of the United States.

This determination has undoubtedly been reached, and under no circumstances will this government, through its Paris representatives, consent to a treaty which does not involve a complete surrender of Spanish sovereignty therein.

It may be further stated that this government will not assume any Spanish debt or obligation, possibly beyond the guarantee of certain municipal obligations which have been incurred in substantial municipal improvements. The debt which Spain has incurred in her efforts to put down insurrections will neither be paid, assumed nor guaranteed by the United States. This fact, it is quite certain, was distinctly stated to our commissioners before they left Washington. Whether or not this government would consent to payment of any sum of money to Spain for any part of her territory taken possession of by the United States, should any be found due upon a final settlement of the account, cannot be stated at this time, and it is believed that this particular feature of the question has never been raised in the president's conferences with the members of his cabinet.

Advices from Paris are to the effect that there is no change in the peace negotiotion question, and that negotiations are in a fair way to be brought to a speedy termination.

Confirmed in Paris.

PARIS.—While the Spanish and American peace commissioners now stand on the threshold of the Philippine question, it seems probable, in the light of this hour, that the United States will take over the entire archipelago.

Some well informed persons believe that Premier Sagasta has determined to be rid of the Philippines and would direct his commission to sign a treaty by which the United States should take the islands and assume the $40,000,000 of debt.

Spaniards now in Paris declare that the Philippines are a drag and assert that Spain would lift a cry of joy to be relieved of them if the terrific debt pressure should be thus lessened.

State Treasurer Ellis, of Alabama, is busy paying pension warrants. He says that the pensioners are are constantly dying, but that the number on the rolls is constantly increasing, instead of diminishing.

TWO SCHOONERS LOST.

Sunk on the Coast of Cuba and Were Total Losses.

The schooner Cora Dunn went ashore on Sunday morning on the shoals close to Diana Key, Cardenas, and has proved to be a total loss. Her cargo consists of 3,500 tons of coal.

The schooner Kate, which left Key West on October 19 with a cargo of stores and medical supplies for the Cuban forces under General Jose Miquel Gomez at Sancti Spiritus, was overtaken by a storm on October 22 and struck on the San Carlos reefs, province of Pinar del Rio. Bolio and Lera and the members of the crew escaped death almost by a miracle. After swimming ashore they took refuge in a swamp, remaining buried in mud up to their waists for eight hours. They were eventually rescued. The cargo was a total loss. The Kate belonged at Key West.

TRAGEDY AT KNOXVILLE.

Young Lover in a Jealous Rage Shoots His Sweetheart and Then Himself.

At Knoxville, Tenn., John Kennedy, aged 15, shot and mortally wounded his sweetheart, May Peck, and after trying to kill the housekeeper of the Peck family, killed himself. Kennedy went to the home of the girl, and calling her to the door asked why she had been keeping company with another young man. She failed to give him a satisfactory answer and he shot her through the breast near the heart. She may die. The housekeeper heard the screams of her young mistress, and when she rushed to the door Kennedy turned the gun on her and fired, but without effect. He ran a block, stopped, and placing the pistol at his temple, blew his brains out. He died three hours later.

WINNIE DAVIS' WILL.

Bequeaths Her Entire Estate to Her Mother.

A short, but matter of fact will, was admitted to probate before Judge King in the civil district court at New Orleans, Saturday. It was that of Miss Winnie Davis, "The Daughter of the Confederacy," whose recent death sent a gloom throughout the Southland. The document was prepared on February 11, 1898, when Miss Davis was about to sail for Egypt, and by its terms she gives and bequeaths to her mother, Varina Howell Jefferson Davis, everything, both real and personal property, and any returns that may come from literary work, any stocks or moneys.

Levied on a Railroad.

At the last term of the circuit court of Dallas county, Alabama, John A, Carson, who was one of the contractors of the Atlanta & Alabama railroad, obtained judgment against the road for $3,508.34, the amount of his claim and interest, and on October 27 Sheriff J. H. Lumpkin levied on the roadbed, right of way, privileges, turnouts, in fact, everything that belonged to the road. The date of sale of the road has not been made public yet.

"Disastrous Consequences."

The annual report of the Dewes Indian commission, bringing up the work of that body in reorganizing the Indian Territory up to date, of early this week, was made public Saturday. It urges as the main call for the government aid, "fraught with disastrous consequences if delayed," the need of some provision by the national government for educational purposes in the territory.

J. T. Payne has located at Batesville, Ala., and secured the establishment of a hennery. Mr. Paine will put several incubators to work at once and devote his entire time and attention to raising chickens and other for the market.

CAUSE FOR THANKSGIVING.

Proclamation by the President Naming Thursday, November 24,

AS A DAY FOR REJOICING AND PRAISE.

Abundant Harvests, Increased Commerce, Better Public Credit and a Victorious War Cited as Blessings for Which to Give Thanks to God.

The president after the cabinet meeting Friday issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

"A Proclamation.

"By the President of the United States.

"The approaching November brings to mind the custom of our ancestors, hallowed by time and rooted in our most sacred traditions, of giving thanks to Almighty God for all the blessings He has vouchsafed to us during the past year.

"Few years in our history have afforded such cause for thanksgiving. We have been blessed by abundant harvests, our trade and commerce have been wonderfully increased, our public credit has been improved and strengthened, all sections of our common country have been brought together and knitted into closer bonds of national purpose and unity.

"The skies have been for a time darkened by the cloud of war, but as we were compelled to take up the sword in the cause of humanity, we are permitted to rejoice that the conflict has been of brief duration and the losses we have had to mourn, though grievous and important, have been so few considering the great results accomplished, as to inspire us with gratitude and praise to the Lord of Hosts. We may laud and magnify His holy name that the cessation of hostilities came so soon as to spare both sides the countless sorrows and disasters that attend protracted war.

"'I therefore invite all my fellow-citizens, those at home as well as those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe Thursday, the 24th day of November, as a day of National Thanksgiving, to come together in their several places of worship, for a service of praise and thanks to Almighty God for all the blessings of the year; for the mildness of the seasons and the fruitfulness of the soil, for the continued prosperity of the people, for the devotion and valor of our countrymen, for the glory of our victory and the hope of a righteous peace, and to pray that the Divine guidance which brought us heretofore to safety and honor may be graciously continued in the years to come.

"In witness whereof, etc.

[Signed] "WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

"By the President:

"John Hay, Secretary of State."

THEY HEAR HOBSON.

Naval Bureau Chiefs Desire to Know the Chances for Saving the Spanish Ships.

Naval Constructor Hobson appeared before the board of naval bureau chiefs at Washington for the purpose of explaining the condition of the Spanish vessels wrecked off the coast of Santiago, and the progress and prospects of the efforts which are making for their recovery. It is said that over $1,000,000 will be required to continue the operations and the secretary of the navy desires to know what chance there is of success before authorizing the expenditure of so large an amount of money.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,
MONTEVALLO, ALA.

MONTEVALLO PUBLISHING COMPANY,
PUBLISHERS.

THOS. N. FREEMAN - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

Thursday Novemper 3, 1898

We will gladly receive short correspondence of not over 200 words, on any subject of general interest, provided it is accompanied by the author's name and address. Being nonpartizan, we are not responsible for any ideas expressed in communications.

A typographical errow in the New York Racket Store advertisement last week read, that the customers would be saved "from 10 to 5 %" but should have been, "from 10 to 500%.', We are informed that this is no exageration. Mr. Crabbe is a hustling business man, offers good bargains and solicits your examination of his stock.

God made all things pure but man has sought many inventions. You have heard people say that there was alcohol in corn and other grain and therefore alcohol is a product of nature. Those who make this assertion are entirely ignorant as to the chemical process by which this poison is generated. There is no such thing as alcohol in nature, it is strictly the effluvia of a microbe, which is as much an animal as hog. People ought to be ashamed to put the stuff in their mouths. "Good old corn liquor!"

It seems to to us that there is a great deal of unnesessary discussion of the treatment and ill-health of the soldiers. What under the sun did they expect to find in camps?. Did they hope to obtain the bliss of heaven or the comforts of a well regulated hotel?. We have read some history but we never heard of war being considered ahealthy occupation. Did any body have so few brains in working order, that they imagined that a lot of raw recruits, taken from the pure air and fresh water of a mountainous country, would be healthy in a tropical climate?. A little sketch taken from the Cleveland Plain Dealer, will convey the substance of the whole matter: Doctor, "The trouble with you is that you have been eating and drinking to much and not taken enough exercise. What have you been doing lately?" Soldier; "I've just come home from Porto Rico on sick leave."

Morgan in Montevallo.

By the invitation of his old friend and comrade in arms, Capt Reyuolds, Senator Morgan honored our town last Saturday by a visit. He spoke at 11 o'clock at the College Chapel to about 500 people. The vigor and eloquence of his speech proves to all that the dear old Senator is not yet ready for the superanuated list. By the Providence of God,he still has several years of usefulness before him. In the course of his speech. the Senator complimented President Reynolds very highly for the marked success that had been accomplished in the Industrial school. He said that this was a new enterprise, in the right direction and hoped to see all the states follow in the work. He said that the women were the forces that ruled the world and an educated mother-hood is the pillar on which rests our ,liberty and civilization.

He touched but incidently upon the political issues of the day, but discused somewhat at length, the labor problem. He stands up boldly as an advocate of the dignity of labor and that what is greatly needed in the south, is a better educated laboring class and a repudiation of the old system which looked down on hard work as disgracing. He deplores the fact that the South does not half appreciate her magnificent advantages; having now the monopoly of the cotton industry, and when the Nicharagua Canal is built, which he feels confident is in the near future. we will have the monopoly also of the iron industry. He said that the rate of interest was too high and aught to be placed at 5%. He made a strong appeal for an increased circulation of money through silver coinage-

Mr. Editor:

The Confederate soldiers and widow's pensions warrants are now in this office and ready for distribution. Please publish this so that all those bearing warrants may call and get them. The amount of each warrant is $11,90

D. R. McMillan,
Jndge of Probate

SCHOOL NOTES

(Continued from first page.)

Among our other prodigies? is Miss Coats, po tess. If you don't believe she has the true spirit we shall send you some of "the fruits of her fertile imagination."

The pet of the household "Little Kate" has been ill for several days, much to the regret of every one.

Dont tell Mamie a joke, for her laughing propensities are so great she must tell it in order that others may join her in the enjoyment.

The dignity of our house hold is up held by Miss Thomas, whose classical language and stately ways, cause the girls to stand in awe of incurriug her displeasure. After engaging in a lengthy conversation with her one is in great danger of an attack of spasmodic rigity of the inferior maxillany.

Wonder why it is that our dignified senior and monitor, Miss McArdle objects so seriously to hearing anything about "makfng ..res"? Ask her perhaps she will tell you Candy making is one of the favorite past-time for Saturday. This is answer to that oft repeated question, "What makes Lucile so sweet"?

We have been christened as "Pat's Girls" but it's our opinion that he thinks school girls are a nuisance, since they originate so many jokes at his expense.

If any one ask us why we are always happy and cheerfu., we have onto reply "Because we have the dear-st. best, and most motherly landlady in town.

Mr. T. C Cross spent Tuesday with his sister and accompanied her to the Chapel at noon.

The Mont'g. girls were especially glad to see the the ladies of the dressmaking department when they returned Wednesday for they brought many a little package and message sent by the homefolks.

Mrs. H. Spiva spent a few hours in the city Wednesday. She came with her niece' who is now numbered amoung the pupils of our school.

Mr. Langston offered an earnest and fervent prayer for the teachers and pupils of our school Thursday morning, which was appreciated by all present.

A mong the visitors registered at the school during the past week are Mr. Comwell and Mrs. Val Taylor, was formely a pupil of this school.

During the absence of Miss Wade, Miss Leo Sanders had charge of the dressmaking department. Miss Viola Reynolds had Miss Wade's pupils under her supervision. Miss Reynolds showed herself fully competent to attattend to the duties assigned her.

Mr. C. M. Beale spent afew hours with his daughter Friday.

Mrs. Val Taylor, who has been visiting her sister returded home Thursday.

Use first class stationery. Buy it from F. F. Crowe & Co.

DR. J. P. HALEY,
DENTIST,
Of Selma, Ala.
Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. Will be at St. George Hotel, Monday, Nov. 7, 1898.

J. M. Reynolds,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
and Solisitor in Chancery.
Moutevallo, - - - Ala

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber,
Montevallo, - - Ala
Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

Montevallo Select School.
A Male Institute.
With Preparitory Depart ment for Boys and Girls.
Faculty up to date—20 years experience Terms low—Work thorough—New house complete in 30 days. Girls Industrial patrons, prepare your sons for colleg with us.
J. B. Kilpatrick. Principal
Mrs. J.B. Kilpatrick, Assistant

University of Alabama
Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898
ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,
EXPENSES LOW.
COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

I. W. Session,
Luwber Manufactory
Orders for plain lumber filled on short notice at lowest prices.
Also Gin and Griss-Mill.
Patronage Solicited.
On Montgomery road east of Montevallo.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM, - - - ALA

Soldiers
From the War

Bring the germs of malaria, fevers and other diseases, which may prove contagious in their own families. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a special boon to soldiers, because it eradicates all disease germs, builds up the debilitated system and brings back health. Every returned soldier and every friend and relative of soldiers should take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure sick headache. 25c.

Wheelmen, Storage

We will repair your wheel and deliver it immediately, or store it for 30, 60, or 90 days.

Write us or call at our mammoth bicycle house and we will tell you all about it. The oldest and largest house in the south. All kinds of wheels; all kinds of prices. Repair department complete.

The Loosley Cycle Company,

Second Ave., (opp. P. O.) BIRMINGHAM, Ala.

Why Suffer?

Your disease is growing worse every month. It will not be long until you are a physical wreck. Chronic, Nervous, Blood, Skin, Genito-Urinary, Private Diseases; also all diseases peculiar to women, Impotency, Impediments to Marriage, and all diseases and disorders of a delicate nature of either sex successfully treated at Dispensary or by mail. Book for men only, and question blanks for men and women sent free. Cure guaranteed.

(Montgomery Advertiser.)

Dr. Dozier is endorsed by the press and people of every section of Alabama.
Address

Southern Medical Dispensary,

DR. O. T. DOZIER, Prop.,
Birmingham, Ala.

FITS STOPPED FREE Permanently Cured Insanity Prevented by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER

Positive cure for all Nervous Diseases, Fits, Epilepsy, Spasms and St. Vitus' Dance. No Fits or Nervousness after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges only when received. Send to Dr. Kline, Ltd, Bellevue Institute of Medicine, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FREE We give every girl or woman one rolled gold-filled solitaire Puritan rose diamond ring, solid-gold pattern, for selling 20 packages Garfield Pure Pepsin Gum among friends at 5 cents a package. Send name; we mail gum. When sold send money; we will mail ring; few can tell it from genuine diamond. Unsold gum taken back. Write for our 64-page catalogue showing 400 premiums. GARFIELD GUM CO., Box 50, Meadville, Pa

--PATENTS--

Procured on cash, or easy instalments. VOWLES & BURNS, Patent Attorneys, 237 Broadway, N. Y.

BUSINESS EDUCATION PAYS.

If you expect to take a business course, send for interesting booklet No. 15 and rate card. Established ten years. The leading business college of the south. BIRMINGHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE, Birmingham, Ala

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., New York, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

The Best BOOK ON THE WAR BEAUTIFULLY bound and sumptuously illustrated (price $2), free to anybody sending two annual subscriptions at $1 each to the Overland Monthly, SAN FRANCISCO. Sample Overland, 5c.

Rabbit fur is now an important commercial article. It is known to the trade as electric seal and when dyed so closely resembles the genuine article as to defy detection except among experts. It is said that $500,000 is invested in rabbit culture in England.

The liberal convention of the Australasian colonies has adopted a clause embodying a recognition of God in the preamble of the constitution which it is preparing for submission to the several colonies on their bond of union.

Two million official election ballots are to be printed in New York, at a cost of $18,800.

After physicians had given me up, I was saved by Piso's Cure.—RALPH ERIEG, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 22, 1893.

Miss Gwendoline Keats, whose stories under the pen-name of "Zack" have attracted attention, is a cousin of the poet. She wrote under that name lest her distinguished patronymic be counted against her.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggist.

John Wannamaker, the Philadelphia merchant, carries a life insurance of $2,000,000.

Mrs. John Creighton, founder of the White Cross Society, is a native of Portland, Ore., and quite a young woman.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him to be perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Our country friend should not fail to carry home a box of DR. MOFFETT'S TEETHINA (TEETHING POWDERS). It is the best remedy ever used for Worms, Teething and the Bowel Disorders of children and only cost 25 cents.

INSOMNIA

"I have been using CASCARETS for Insomnia, with which I have been afflicted for over twenty years, and I can say that Cascarets have given me more relief than any other remedy I have ever tried. I shall certainly recommend them to my friends as being all they are represented." THOS. GILLARD, Elgin, Ill.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good, Never Sicken. Weaken, or Gripe. 10c. 25c. 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 316

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

One of the First Symptoms of Failing Health in a Woman is NERVOUSNESS

Did you ever think that there is always a cause for this malady? In women Nervousness is generally the forerunner of some form of female disease, such as Whites, Painful, Profuse or Irregular Menses, etc., either of which will produce Nervousness in all of its distressing intensity. If you use

Gerstle's Female Panacea

TRADE (G.F.P.) MARK.

you will very soon be cured of Nervousness and all other female troubles as well. If costive, move the bowels with mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator.

I HAVE SUFFERED FOR YEARS

With painful menses, attended with sour stomach, rushing of blood to the head, and occasional whites. I also have severe nervous spells and heart palpitation so bad I cannot rest. I have used various female remedies for a long time but found no relief until about two months ago, when I commenced using your Gerstle's Female Panacea and ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR, and they are doing me more good than all others. I shall continue their use.

MRS. SARAH JENKINS.
Glenmore, Ga.

If your case is complicated, write us and we will give you full information regarding the use of this medicine. Get it from your druggist. If he does not keep it send us $1 and we will send a bottle, all charges paid. L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.

ENGLAND PREPARES FOR WAR

The British Squadron Is Gathering at Devonport With Haste.

GLOOMY FEELING ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Volunteers Ordered to Prepare to Mobilize—Officers and Sailors Hurriedly Recalled From Leave of Absence—France May Yet Yield.

LONDON.—There was an unexpected gloomy feeling Monday morning on the stock exchange and the Paris bourse, both these markets being influenced, it is inferred, from the aggressive tone of some of the French papers. Besides this, something extraordinary seems to have happened, and it looks as if a crisis were approaching. The British naval preparations are certainly being pushed with great activity.

The British emergency squadron is gathering at Devonport with all possible speed. Seven battleships and one cruiser have been thus far designated to the other squadrons. Officers and sailors have been hurriedly recalled from leave of absence, several battleships and cruisers at Portsmouth are taking their full crews on board and other warlike preparations are being made.

A number of signal men, now on duty with the British Channel squadron, which is at Gibraltar, have been ordered home for service, it is presumed, on board the auxiliary cruisers, if the latter should be required for active service.

It was also asserted Monday that the commanding officers of the London volunteer regiments had received orders to prepare for immediate mobilization, and it was asserted that the different artillery corps have been informed as to the forts on the southern and eastern coasts to which they have been allotted.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "England has been and even now is so near war that the government carried its preparations to the farthest limit of the preparatory stages. It has been arranged to call out the reserves and militia and to mobilize the volunteers simultaneously and to form large camps at various important junctures where rolling stock and locomotives will be concentrated."

Says France Will Yield.

PARIS.—The Eclair says it learns on reliable authority that the Fashoda question will be settled favorably to Great Britain by the recall of Major Marchand. France, the paper adds, yields all, reserving only the question of the right to the Bahr-El-Ghazal district, which she does not consider as belonging to Egypt.

NEW FRENCH CABINET.

M. Dupuy is Premier and Minister of Interior.

The new French cabinet is constituted as follows: M. Leebret, minister of justice; M. Dupuy, premier and minister of the interior; M. Defreycinet, minister of war; M. Lockroy, minister of marine; M. Delcasse, minister of foreign affairs; M. Peytral, minister of finance; M. Leygues, minister of public instruction; M. Deloncle, minister of commerce; M. Guillaine, minister of the colonies; M. Viger, minister of agriculture; M. Krantz, minister of public works.

Second Alabama Mustered Out.

The Second regiment, Alabama volunteers, went out of business at noon Monday. Contrary to expectation, the soldiers were not mustered out as a regiment, but simply handed their money, and subsequently their discharge certificates.

ENTIRE GROUP DEMANDED.

Spain Notified of America's Purpose to Take the Philippine Islands.

PARIS—(By Cable).—The American peace commissioners, each carrying a portfolio containing records and personal memoranda, left their headquarters in the Continental hotel for the meeting with the Spanish commissioners at the foreign office shortly before 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The president of the Spanish commission, Senor Montero Rios, arrived at the foreign office in a closed carriage with his colleagues shortly after the Americans reached the meeting place.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the ten commissioners confronted each other across the table on which, in 1783, Benjamin Franklin and his colleagues signed the treaty of independence of the United States. The American commissioners presented a written expression of the purpose of the United States to take the entire group of Philippine islands and to assume such proportion of the Philippine debt as has been spent for the benefit of the islands or their inhabitants in public works, improvements and permanent betterments. It was also set forth that the United States would not assume any part of the Philippine debt which had been incurred by Spain for the furtherance of military or naval operations to quell insurrections of the natives.

The session was adjourned until Friday in order to give the Spaniards time to prepare a reply.

THE TERESA COMING.

The Ship That Hobson Raised En Route for Hampton Roads.

A dispatch from Caimanera says: The former Spanish cruiser, the Maria Teresa, which was sunk during the battle with Cervera's fleet and raised under the direction of Naval Constructor Hobson, sailed for Hampton Roads Sunday night. She is being towed by the Vulcan and Merrill, and is being conveyed to Cape May by the Cincinnati and the Leonida.

To Raise the Mercedes.

The work of raising the Spanish cruiser Mercedes, sunk just inside the mouth of Santiago harbor, is about to be begun. The task is comparatively easy. Work on the Cristobal Colon continues, but much difficulty is found in using the pontoons on account of the heavy seas.

FINAL ARBITRATOR

Between Chili and Argentina Will Be Minister Buchanan.

A dipatch from Valparaiso says: Argentina has accepted United States Minister Buchanan, proposed by Chili, to act as final arbitrator in the Punta De Atacama question. The Chilian five arbitration commissioners going to Buenos Ayres will start as soon as congress approves the protocal next week. The Chilian commissioners carry instructions to promote commercial and industrial negotiations with the Argentine chambers.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

For Erection of the Big Steel Plant at Ensley City.

The Alabama Steel and Shipbuilding company, which is erecting a $1,000,000 steel plant at Ensley City, has let contracts for their mill building, boiler house, engine house, electric power plant, furnace and machine buildings. The contracts involve a large sum and are practically all the contracts the completion of which are necessary for the finishing of the big steel plant, on which work is rapidly going forward.

Representative-Elect Dean Dead.

Hon. B. L. Dean, one of Tallapoosa's representatives-elect, and one of the ablest and most prominent citizens of East Alabama, died suddenly Monday afternoon. After only a few minutes' attack he succumbed to heart failure.

A Fly-Catching Scheme.

"Joe, I'm sadly afraid you have been idling about in my absence," said a young and clientless solicitor, just returned from his honeymoon, to his office boy. "This typewriter hasn't been touched the whole time."

"Indeed, sir, I was working it only two hours ago," replied the lad.

"Then how comes it that a spider has spun a web across its keys?" asked the solicitor, pointing to a flimsy network which almost covered the keyboard.

"Why, sir, I caught that spider and put him there myself," explained the boy, after a scarcely perceptible pause. "There's a fly buzzing about in the works of the typewriter, and as I I didn't want to take the machine to pieces to get at it, I thought the spider dodge would serve. You let him alone sir, and that fly will be trapped in no time."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Paper Craze in Japan.

Word comes from Japan that the subjects of the mikado have started a paper craze, and the highest ladies of the land of the plum blossom are ordering entire costumes of this novel dress fabric. It is light and economical. The big manufacturers are making quantities of paper dress material in various colors and nontearable—guaranteed to launder. There are dressmakers in the principal towns who make a specialty of these paper costumes, and they are doing an excellent trade. When will paper costumes reach America?

A Child's Marvellous Escape.

A child who wandered away from Burns Valley, Pa., was lost in the mountains. When found she was in the midst of wild animals and among rattlesnakes, but she declared they had made no attack upon her and that she had subsisted among them by eating wild berries. The hunting party that found her killed twelve rattlers near the rock where she was discovered.

Several of the largest banks in Nebraska have notified their depositors that they must reduce their balances for the reason that the institutions have more money on hand than they know what to do with.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

Daughters Should be Carefully Guided in Early Womanhood.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

The following letter from Miss MARIE F. JOHNSON, Centralia, Pa., shows what neglect will do, and tells how Mrs. Pinkham helped her:

"My health became so poor that I had to leave school. I was tired all the time, and had dreadful pains in my side and back. I was also troubled with irregularity of menses. I was very weak, and lost so much flesh that my friends became alarmed. My mother, who is a firm believer in your remedies from experience, thought perhaps they might benefit me and wrote you for advice. I followed the advice you gave, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as you directed, and am now as well as I ever was. I have gained flesh and have a good color. I am completely cured of irregularity."

SPAIN GIVES UP CUBA.

Sovereignty Relingushed Without Even Terms or Conditions.

PHILIPPINES WILL BE TAKEN UP NEXT.

The United States Guarantee That Life and Property Shall Be Secure in Cuba. Mutual Understanding Reached as to Porto Rico and Guam.

PARIS.—The Spanish peace commissioners have accepted the negative view of the United States commission toward the assumption by the United States of the Cuban debt. The American commissioners have firmly, but courteously, declined to assume for the United States the entire or joint responsibility for the Spanish financial conditions.

Senor Montero Rios, the president of the Spanish commission, and his colleagues, with faithful insistence, sought another result, but they failed to attain it, and have finally abandoned the effort, and have agreed that the Cuban article of the protocol shall, without conditions, have a place in the ultimate treaty of peace. Thus Spain relinquishes sovereignty over and claim to Cuba without either terms or conditions. The one concession as to Cuba that our commissioners will make will be the guarantee of the United States that life and property shall be secure in Cuba. This responsibility the United States will assume only to such time as a stable government shall be formed and operative in Cuba. There will be no perpetual guarantee on that score.

All difficulties, if any existed, reparding Porto Rico and the selection of the Island of Guam, were also arranged by a mutual understanding, and the commissioners found themselves well-nigh touching the Philippine question, which will be takn up next.

First Alabama Disbanded.

The First Alabama regiment, United States volunteers, is now a thing of history, and the part it played in the American-Spanish war of 1898 is now to become merely the matter of record in the archives of the war department at Washington and a pleasant memory to the 1,300 men who composed it. The last man was paid off Monday. Over $100,000 was paid out Sunday and Monday to this regiment, this big amount of money being kept in camp in a trunk under a strong guard.

Farmers' Quarrel Ends in Murder.

Near Hamilton, Ala., Dan Holliday shot and instantly killed John McLeod, and then deliberately blew his own brains out. Both were farmers.

NICARAGUAN CANAL.

Authorized by President Zelaya and the Congress of Nicaragua.

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA.—After four days' public discussion the Nicaraguan congress has unanimously approved of the agreement provisionally made between President Zelaya and the American contractors and engineers, E. F. Cragin and Edwin Eyr, authorizing the construction of an inter-oceanic canal and empowering the concessionaries to negotiate with the Maritime Canal company.

Dr. Smith Missing.

Dr. B. B. Smith, Jr., of Larkinsville, Ala., is missing and it is feared that he has met with foul play. Dr. Smith was last seen in Nashville, where he was attending the Nashville Medical college, and also was collector for a transfer company. Last Friday morning he started out on a collecting trip, having bills to the amount of $150. This amount he collected. He has since failed to put in an appearance and his friends fear that he has been robbed and perhaps murdered.

ARKANSAS OUTLAWS RAMPANT.

Reign of Terror Inaugurated in Cleburne County.

Cleburne county, Ark., the famous rendezvous for moonshiners, is just now experiencing a reign of terror, and the inhabitants of that county who respect the law have appealed to the state authorities to protect their lives and property from the depredations of the outlaws. According to information received the moonshiners are destroying the property of law-abiding citizens and warning them to leave the county.

Two Soldiers Die of Fear.

Fear of death and the sight of dead bodies of comrades caused the death of two members of the Third North Carolina at the Second division hospital at Knoxville, Tenn., Saturday. Private Henry Johnson died late in the afternoon. His death throes, which were horrible, were witnessed by Private Christsopher Reeves, who raised himself from his cot, looked at his comrade a few minutes and fell back dead. The news of the last death was given Corporal Thomas Eaves a few minutes later. He commenced mourning for Reaves and died in spite of all the surgeon could do for him. The instance is unparalleled.

Building a New Town.

There is a new city being built in Jefferson county, near Leeds. It is a mining settlement, and will be inhabited by the employes of the Sloss Iron and Steel Company, who work the immense deposits of brown hematite ore, which has recently been opened by that company. There are now about seventy-five houses in the process of erection, which will be occupied by the operatives, and work will begin on seventy-five more in the near future.

Wilson-Cleveland Minstrels Disband.

The firm of Wilson-Cleveland minstrels, which gave two performances at the Montgomery theater Saturday, matinee and night, has disbanded, and there is a scramble for salaries. The initiative toward disbandment was taken Saturday night just before the rise of the curtain, when the proprietors could not agree as to which one should take possession of the day's receipts.

For Far-Off China.

The Indian Head cotton mills at Cordova, Ala., are preparing to make another shipment of their sheeting. This shipment will consist of ten full cars of sheeting and will go direct to China via California. These mills have booked their entire output for four years to come to brokers in China. Already many bales of sheeting made at Cordova have been sent to that far away country.

Tired of Life They Attempt Suicide.

At Cleveland, O., a desperate attempt to commit suicide was made early Monday by Rose Laurer and J. E. Cleckner. The couple walked out to the end of the dock of the Cleveland Yacht club and tied themselves together with strips torn from a bed sheet. They then jumped into the lake. Two Lake Shore railroad detectives rescued them after a long struggle.

Split in Klondike.

News comes by letter from Alaska that the representatives of the Bessie Cox Gold Mining company, who left Birmingham last February to seek their fortunes in the Klondike, have had a split-up about something, and have parted company.

Certain people calling themselves Whitecaps are threatening to whip some people in Marion county, Ala.

Instantly Killed.

L. W. Brower, a brickmason, was run over by a Louisville & Nashville switch engine in Birmingham, Sunday, and instantly killed.

ALABAMA STATE NEWS.

Happenings of General Interest Within Our Own Commonwealth,

Great Activity in Birmingham District.

The greatest activity in iron and coal industries continues in the Birmingham district. Every furnace that is in operation has a demand for every pound of iron that it can make, and consequently the furnace capacity of the district is being kept as nearly the top notch as is practicable. The Pioneer Mining and Manufacturing Company is preparing to let a contract for the construction of a railroad from its furnaces at Thomas to its new coal mines at North Birmingham, and will also build 300 houses at the mines to be occupied by the men employed there.

The state mine inspector estimates that this year's coal production will go considerably past the 6,000,000 ton mark, thus breaking the "bumper" records of last year and the year previous. Every mine in the district is working to its full capacity, and some half a dozen new ones are being opened. Since the quarantines have been lifted Walker county coal has begun again to move to the Mississippi river for shipment down that stream to New Orleans and other Louisiana points. Four and a half miles of new railroad is to be built at once in Walker county to connect the various mines of the Ivy Coal and Coke Company with the Southern railway.

Iron shipments to Europe continue active. Furnaces are sold a long time ahead, and in consequence prices continue stiff with a decided upward tendency.

Will Meet in Chattanooga Next.

The Tri-State Medical society concluded its tenth annual convention in Birmingham last week. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dr. George A. Baxter, of Chattanooga; first vice-president, Dr. V. P. McGammon, of Nashville; second vice-president, Dr. W. B. Travis, of Covington, Ga.; third vice-president, Dr. George S. Brown, of Birmingham, Ala.; secretary, Dr. Frank Trester Smith, of Chattanooga; treasurer, Dr. Cooper Holtzclaw, of Chattanooga.

Chattanooga was selected as the next place of meeting.

Carnival Will Be Made a State Affair.

The Birmingham Carnival society has inaugurated a movement to make the next Mardi Gras celebration in that city, which occurs February 14 and 15 next, a state affair and accordingly, invitations have been sent to the commercial bodies of the various cities and towns of importance throughout the state to participate. The request is made that each have a float in the parade representing the particular town.

Fatal Fight at Oak Level.

A serious difficulty occurred at a political meeting held at Oak Level, a small place twelve miles north of Edwardsville. During the row Robert L. Baber was severely and perhaps fatally cut in the fight by some one in the crowd. Hamp Bell was severely cut on the hand and wrist, Will Cole was severely beaten and bruised, and others were seriously hurt in the fight.

By-Product Plant in Operation.

The Semet-Solvay By-Product Coke oven plant at Ensley City has ninety ovens now in blast and preparations are being made to put the second battery in operation. The demand for coal to supply the ovens will be met by the Tennessee company, who has begun to put wire rope into mine No. 6 at Pratt City to increase the output 600 tons per day.

Last Days of the First Alabama.

The work of examining the members of the First Alabama preparatory to mustering them out of service is going rapidly forward, and it is announced that by Monday night it is expected the entire regiment will be mustered out. The partial disability list is said to be surprisingly large, even Colonel Higdon being on it.

LOCAL.

See the celebrated line of Fountain shirts at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Public speaking! W. F. Aldrich and others—will speak upon the issues of the day in Montevallo, Monday, Nov. 7, at 11 a m at the Lyman Hall. All invited.

Heiser's celebrated line of mens high grade shoes at C. L. Meroney & Co.

The teachers of the Industrial, enjoyed a Halowen party Monday evening. given at the St George, by Misses Bush, Evens and Kenedy.

Don't injure your eyes. Martin the Jeweler keeps spectacles suitable for school girls and all ages.

Several boys of the First Alabama, spent Monday night in town.

Buy your fall suit, best and cheapest at C. L. Meroney & Co

Dr. Slaughter, director of the Orphans Home at Summerville, preached at the Methodist church Tuesday night. In spite of his age his earnestness and humor is convincing and attractive.

C. L. Meroney & Co. sel pure high grade groceries.

The Normal school at Brierfield, with its competent President and splendid teachers, is doing a noble work for that section. The school has a well equiped building. Quite a number of young men and ladies are attending from distance places. The beautiful surroundings and facilities should lift the Brierfield school to an eminece of importance in this State.

Call and see the new lot of saddles and bridles at Morgan Bros.

Mr. Miller and Mr. Gardner of Connecticutt, are spending the week in the city, the guest of Chas. Cary.

Tenneys candies in packages only at Mc Cluney & Co's.

Dr. B. B. Rogan of Selma. was in town one day last week on his way to the Tri-State Medical Association which met at Birmingham.

Our line of hats are up to-date, see them before you buy. Morgan Bros

Mr. John Francher has rented and will occupy Mrs. Julia Rogans place. Mrs. Rogan now lives with F. W. Rogan.

That chocolate cake at F. F. Crowe & Co. is delicious.

Capt. J. R. Pynor, the shoemaker, has returned to Montevallo, and is ready to mend shoes at the same old stand.

Buy a new stove, best at Morgan Bros.

Get your share of the fine bananas at F F Crowe & Co.

Mrs. Cothran delighted the audience at the Methodist church in the morning and the Baptist in the evening, with some beautiful, sweet soloes.

WANTED—In order to complete our file, we will give 10 cents apiece for a limited number of copies of the News of the following dates: June 2 Aug 18th. and Sept. 8th all of 1898. Look over your old papers and accommodat us if possible.

"Don't read trash," Read the best weekly and monthly magazines, subscribe at W B McCluney & Co.

Editor Graham, of Calera, accompanied by his son and little daughter, came down to the city Saturday to hear Morgan's speech.

True artistic taste has been shown in the selection of the new line of fall prints at Morgan Bros. Prices from 3½ to 5c

Attorney Lyman visited Centre ville Monday

Go to C. L. Meroney & Co. for a perfect fitting suit of clothes.

Mrs. Ozley of Longview, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Payne, of this plaue.

Bigest pencil tablets in America for five cents at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Borned, on Sunday last to Mr. and Mrs. Cross, a daughter.

Photographs!!!

R. W. Carleton, has just opened up a gallery in town and is now prepared for the latest, best and bigest pictures you may want. At Reynolds furniture store.

Prof Pritchaid, of Belle Ellen, spent last Sunday in town.

The flavor and variety of F. F Crowe & Co,s candies is remarkable.

Who is it that tried to disgrace the town by their rude behavior at the Dormitory last Thursday night? Such a thing wont happen again without some one being punished.

J. W. Martin has just received a lot of handsome new watches. Call and see them.

The entertainment that was to be given last Friday night, by the teachers of the Industrial, did not occur on account of the failure to get a place. This emphasizes the necessity of having a town hall.

See those bueatiful new style ribbons at Morgan Bros.

Mr. George Kroell has completed his magnificent new brick store and will move his stock of goods in a few days.

Mr Kroell is an up-to-date merchant, in fact Birmingham, nor any other city in the state can boast of a merchant who keeps a better stock or sells at a lower price. We are telling the truth when we say you can get goods as cheap from George Kroell as you can from the largest business house in Atlanta. When you come to Montevallo you will do Mr. Kroell a favor by calling at his store and proving our word.

Dentist! Dr. J.P. Haley of Selma will be here next Monday Nov. 3rd to do your dental work Call on him at the St. George Hotel.

The editor and his better half, visited Brierfield last Friday and made the acquaintance of the inteligent and hospitable people of that place.

Well cooked light bread is the most healthful. Get it at the New Bakery, Bests old stand. R. T. Newton proprietor.

Mrs. Hansman, of Tuscaloosa, after several weeks visit to her sister, Mrs F. F. Crowe of this place, returned to her home last Saturday, Dental work! The people have found out that the work doue by Dr. Haley is first class in every respect. He will spend next week in Montevallo.

Toilet Soaps in endless variety at McCluney & Co's.

Closing out old stock at less than cost.

About $1,000 worth of staple goods to be sold for less than cost during the next 60 days. These goods are all first class. C C Vandergrift, Montevallo, Ala.

WITH THE CHURCHES:

The weather was delightful last Sunday, just cold enough to make a rose glow on the cheeks of the cloak and fur-clad church goers, Pastor Abernathy delivered a strong sermon on the subject "What the church owes the Lord in a financial way." Convincing argument was used, proving that God still demands from his people the tenth part of their income. "Civilization," he said, is an outcome of applied christian principals to government and all relations of life, and to ignore our duty, financially,, towards the church is the grossest ingratitude.

The pulpit at the Baptist church, last Sunday at 11 a m and 7:30 p m, was filled by Rev Langston of Centreville. His style is practical and convincing; he drives the truths and illustrations of the Bible home to the practical duties of our lives.

The prayer meeting at the Baptist church last Wednesday night was well attended and a splendid service was held. President Reynolds of the Industrial led the meeting, and spoke of the great influence for good which the churches had exerted over the town of Montevallo. He said that the moral change that had taken place here in twenty years was simply wonderful.

How does 250 leaves in one tablet for 5 cents suit you? None larger. Comparison challenged at McCluney & Co's.

Laundry Rogan. Leave your laundry at Rogan's on Wednesday and get it on Saterday.

ANTRIBULE

The Most Powerful Healing Agent Known and the Only

ANTISEPTIC WHICH STOPS PAIN!

Cures Burnes and Scalds Instantly. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold and guaranteed by F. F. Crowe & Co.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement. We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

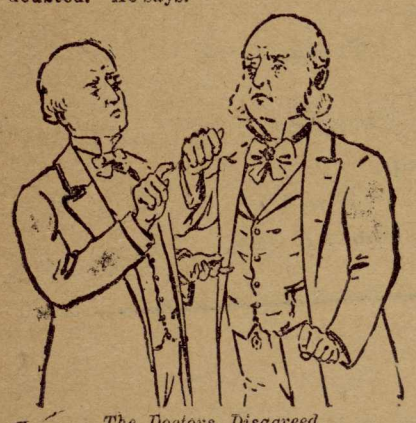
A Nation of Dyspeptics.

From the Mountaineer, Walhalla, N. Dakota.

The remorse of a guilty stomach is what a large majority of the people are suffering with to-day. Dyspepsia is a characteristic American disease and it is frequently stated that "we are a nation of dyspeptics."

Improper food, hurried eating, mental worry, exhaustion—any of these produce a lack of vitality in the system, by causing the blood to lose its life-sustaining elements. The blood is the vital element in our lives and should be carefully nurtured. Restore it to its proper condition, dyspepsia will vanish and good health follow.

For example, in the county of Pembina, North Dakota, a few miles from Walhalla, resides Mr. Earnest Snider; a man of sterling integrity, whose veracity cannot be doubted. He says:



The Doctors Disagreed.

"I became seriously ill three years ago. The doctor gave me medicine for indigestion, but I continued to become worse. I had several physicians at intervals who gave me some relief, but the disease would return with all its accustomed severity.

"I read in the newspapers articles regarding the wonderful curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and finally concluded to try the pills. Five months ago I bought six boxes. The first box gave me much relief, and after using four boxes I was cured."

These pills are recognized everywhere as a specific for diseases of the blood and nerves. For paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and other diseases long supposed incurable, they have proved their efficacy in thousands of cases.

A subterranean city exists in Galacia, Austrian Poland, which contains a population of over 1,000 men, women and children, many of whom have never seen the light of day.

Beauty is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Jokai, the Hungarian novelist, is, like Tolstoi, a lover of farming, and devotes much of his time to the production of grapes and a peculiar kind of wine which he gets from them.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

Rev. Edmund Dowse, of the famous old Pilgrim church at Sherborn, Mass., has just celebrated the sixtieth year of his pastorate, a term unequaled in New England, if not in the United States.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail druggists refund money.

Senator Tillman is said not to be so uneducated as he has been supposed. His friends declare him to be a good Greek and Latin scholar and an omnivorous reader.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco does not make every mouth as sweet as a rose, but comes "mighty nigh"—does give every one a most delightful smoke. Try it.

Archbishop Hennessey, of Dubuque, Ia., has celebrated the thirty-second anniversary of his consecration as bishop.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

David Linton, who is said to be the richest man in Ohio, is the son of a poor Irishman, who intended his boy for a blacksmith.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money

---

T. Sidney Cooper, the royal academician, is still painting at the age of 95 years. He began to exhibit in 1833 and, though 64 years of age when made a full R. A., has continued an active member for thirty-one years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Rome's trade unions have taken a sensible view of the czar's proposal for general disarmament and have voted to begin by putting down the practice among Italian workmen of carrying and using knives.

Deaths from Disease in the Army.

An editorial writer in The Sun gives the surgeon-general's estimate of the number of deaths from disease up to the present time as about 1,500, or only about three-fifths of one per cent. in a total force of about 250,000 men. He cites a Konversations-Lexicon published in Leipsic—Brockhaus', we presume—as stating the loss of life from disease in the German army during the Franco-Prussian war to have been nearly two per cent. A French medical authority, Dr. Cheun, according to The Army and Navy Journal (also cited by The Sun's writer), gives the number of "sick and frostbitten" in the French army as 339,421. The Hispano-American war has lasted thus far about five months. The Franco-Prussian lasted about seven months. The advantages of the Germans in being thoroughly prepared, the writer thinks, go far to neutralize this disparity of duration.

Good Advice.

Life is too short and full of care and sorrows for one to be the cause of adding one feather's weight of trouble to another's load. Will Carleton, the poet, in the "First Settler's Story," we believe it was, makes the old man say, in speaking of his wife, that she used to stand around and boss the job, and by her kind words lifted whole tons. Kind words have the same effect the world over. They lift a fellow out of the slough of despond; they break the stiffened, set features of the worried into a pleasant, hopeful smile. And how much better it is to cultivate the habit of treating everyone as though a time would come when we should lay down the mortal form; and that to leave behind a character and reputation of fairness, truth, and honor is the most enduring of riches. —Scientific American.

There are frauds in soaps as well as other things. Sometimes a grocer will offer you a substitute for Ivory Soap, because his profits are larger on the substitute. He and the purchaser are losers in this transaction. The dealer ultimately loses the customer, and the customer suffers from the mischief of the substitute. A person accustomed to Ivory Soap will not be satisfied with any other. Ask for Ivory Soap and insist upon getting it.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Copyright, 1898, by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati.

GROVES

TASTELESS CHILL TONIC

IS JUST AS GOOD FOR ADULTS.
WARRANTED. PRICE 50 cts.

GALATIA, ILLS., Nov. 16, 1893.
Paris Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Gentlemen:—We sold last year, 600 bottles of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and have bought three gross already this year. In all our experience of 14 years, in the drug business, have never sold an article that gave such universal satisfaction as your Tonic. Yours truly,
ABNEY, CARR & CO.

FREE WATCH!

Send your address and we will express 50 fine, long-filler Nickel cigars. When sold, remit us $2.50 and we will mail you, free, a handsome stem wind and set watch, which retails for $2.50. WINSTON CIGAR CO., No. 99 Main St, Winston, N. C.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. Dr. H. H. GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

FARM WANTED. State Cash and Time Price. An. H. Russell, Akron, O.

Adv. N. U., No. 44, 1898.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS.

Fifty Cents a Year!

THE LEDGER MONTHLY

Is a richly illustrated and beautiful periodical, covering the whole field of popular reading.

ATTRACTIVE COVERS The covers of the LEDGER MONTHLY are elegantly printed or lithographed in colors, making them worthy of preservation as works of art, and each cover is alone worth the price of the magazine.

SERIAL and SHORT STORIES THE ORANGE GIRL, by Sir Walter Besant, is now running. The short stories in each number will be by the most entertaining and distinguished writers of the day.

FASHION DEPARTMENT Up-to-date fashions are a strong feature of the LEDGER MONTHLY. This department, with illustrations from original drawings by the best designers of fashions, is a true guide for every woman. SPECIAL DEPARTMENTS are devoted to Embroidery, Decorative Art, Home Employments for Women, etc.

PICTORIAL ILLUSTRATIONS The LEDGER MONTHLY is replete with pictorial illustrations appertaining not only to the reading matter, but with illustrations of special beauty and interest, appealing to the artistic taste and the desire for the beautiful, such as "The Prayer," by Jean Paul Selinger, recently purchased for $800.

THE GREAT FAMILY MAGAZINE The LEDGER MONTHLY is the Great Family Magazine. For sale by all newsdealers, price 5 cents; yearly subscriptions 50 cents. Sample copies sent to any address on receipt of 5 cents.

This Magazine is Too Expensive to Send Sample Copies FREE.

A Sample Copy can be Seen at the Office of this Paper.

Address

ROBERT BONNER'S SONS, Publishers,

LEDGER BUILDING 104 WILLIAM STREET New York City

Try an Ad in this Paper

THE EMEMY OF "CREDIT SYSTEM"

IS IN MONTEVALLO,

CAIL ON HIM

He has for school girlS

Stationery in Boxes 5c to 25c Box.
Paper for notes 2 qr for 5c and up
Leagal and fools cap paper 7c to 10c qr.
Envelopes 3 pkgs for 5c to 5c pkg.
Pens 3 to 8c Dz. Thimbles 1c
Hair pins 1c Kid curlers 3 to 5c Dz.

Needles 1c Pins 1c
Curling Irons 2½ to 5c each Thread 3c
Talcum powder 6c
Fancy Candies of all kinds Cheap.
Fancy cakes of all kind Cheap.
Pen holders 1c Tablets 3 to 10c
Pencils 4c Dz to 2 for 5c Hooks & eyes 1c

For the trade in general.

New York Racket Store is a poor mans paradise. He can get anything cheaper there by 10 per cent to 500 per cent.

All kinds of Dry goods, woolens, cotton goods, Flannelettes, Oil cloth, shoes, Velvet, Velvetine, calicoes, Toilet soap, collars, cuffs, thread, over shirts, under shirts, drawers, ½ hose, ink, tooth brushes, tea spoons, table spoons, and every thing in

Dry goods or notion line cheaper than the cheapest.

Tan polish 8c at New York Racket Store.

Mackintosh Coat for $1,50 at New York Racket Store. Why pay $2,50 elsewhere.

Boarding house keepers attention? Fancy cakes from 10c to 25c per pound. Why Wear your life away over a hot stove

2 pks Envelops and 1 qr Paper, all for 5 cents at New York Racket Store

Boys what do you think of this;

1 Cilluloid Collar 5c.
1 pr " Cuffs 10c.
1 Mackintosh Coat $1,50

Prettiest line of boys caps in town at New York Racket Store 10c to 25c

How would you like to have a Websters Unabridged Dictionary sheep binding, for ONE DOLLAR. The New York Racket Store has it

Pompadaur Combs 10c & 15c at New York Racket Store

Ladies Collars 10c or 3 for 25c at New York Racket Store

Dominoes 5 to 15c per set at New York Racket Store

sweaters at New YorK Racket Store

You can get at New York Racket Store 3 pKgs shoe tacks for 5c

Best white Lousdale CambricK for 8 Cents,

Call and convince your self.

I guarantee to save you money.

NEW YORK RACKET STORE

B F Crabbe. Proprietor, Montevallo, Alabama.

Probate Judge

THE NEWS.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, '98 NO. 43

PURPOSES.

They who have no purposes in life
And are not fired by nobler ambition
Are not worthy of the name of men
And women. Put no trust in them,
But let us trust in those alone, who know
That they are sons and daughters of their God:
Who have a higher aim, and other joys,
Than those a worm of dust can feel,
The little soul is satisfied
With paultry things of life, and works
And worry, sighs and longs for that Alone, the grooser senses crave:
But "hitch thy wagon to a star",
And o'er the fashion and the false,
Thy steed may draw thee on to nobler goods.

Thos. Freeman

MOTHER GOOSE MELODIES

Mother Goose belonged to a wealthy family, She was born in Boston Mass. when she lived many years, Her oldest daugter married a printer, ceremony was performed by the cruel and contemptible, Cotton Mathews.

Mother Goose lived with this couple and when their union was blest by the birth of a son.

Mother Goose like all other good grand-mothers was in estosies at the event. She took up her quarters in the nersery, when she fondled the infant singing to him in a harsh voice, the songs and ditties which she had learned in her young days, at the same time composing others. Her shrill tones sang out with a grating sound all through the house. Her son-in-law was graatly anoyed by the constant noise and tried very hard to put a stop to her singing by ridicule and wit and threatened to publish some of her silly ditties if she didn't desist: but in vain.

Finaly he put his threat into execution by publishing in his paper one or two of her songs Among the first was the following:, "There was a man in our town,
And was wonderous wise;
He jumped into a bramble bush
And scratched out both his eyes;
And when he saw that his eyes were out
With all his might and main
He jumped into another bush,
And scratched them in again.

To his great surprise rhyms became .very popular.

M. P. R.

Am I an Offender?

"The difficulty with Morgan Bros," said an old vetran trader, "is that he offends the prejudices of other merchants by proceeding to sell goods cheeper than they can afford, and still be reaonably successful in it. Were he not successful, they would pay no attention to him."

Morgan's Plan

IS TO HANDLE ONLY FIRST-CLASS GOODS

People without experience are often misled in buying dry-goods, but if you depend on our judgement you will allways be pleased.

Morgan BroS.

Leaders in low Prices.

Montevallo, Ala.

SCOOL NOTES

What is so rare as a perfect day in Nov.? But such seemed Saturday. Our girls took the advantage of Mr. King's kindness, and many were the wheels that went around all day.

A few of the young ladies have become quite skilled in riding. Miss J, L. Lathem's riding is much admired.

Several of the teachers are learning too. On Saturday afternoon the atmosqhere that hovered around the campus was laden with meriment and cheerfulness Over at the chapel, especialy did the air seem fraught with "good times". Miss McCombs and the fourth division of the Art class were at home, to the faculty and a few town friends. Misterious figures, much be aproned, flitted up and down the long verandah. Music: delightful, souls stiring music was wafted to us out side, who have the misfortune? of being a school girl, what longing glances were directed towards the chapel but alas! no girls save those of the Art class were bidden thither. "If a body write a body don't reply,
Then why, oh why, pray tell me, should a body cry?"

Mr Fowler made happy his daughter, Miss Lula this week by spending a few days with her.

Will some one be kind enough to explain to one of our dear "rats" the difference between a janitor and monitor? She informed one the older girls that Miss C had been janitor for their boarding house. She couldn't understand why the girls laughed so, nor why Miss G. objected to the epithet.

One of little poetesses says "It holds true, Whate'er befall,
I feel it when I sorrow most,
"It's worse never to have loved at all,
Than to have loved and lost."

DUNKLIN HOUSE

"O, I have just received a letter from home!" exclaimed Daisy "and how I wish I was there The girls are all having the biggest time! Two of them got married last week and another is to be married next week.

It does a girl so much good to get a letter from home. There are just twenty four of us. The first thing we ask our land-lord when he comes to dinner is "Is there a letter for me?"

Music is love in search of a word." Perhaps that is why girls like serenades so much.

The S L society is getting along nicely.

WITH THE CHURCHES.

The weather was splended and both chuches were crowded last Sunday.

At the Baptist Church at 11 a m and 7,15 p m, Rev. Jno. W. Stewart ef Evergreen, manager of the Orphan Home, preached to a large and attentive audiance. At the evening service the subjct was "The necessity of Personal contact with Christ". He said that he would like to see more holy living among christians; in order to know Jesus we must imitate him in his life of selfsacrifice and love. After the service a collection was taken and $20,00 was secured for the suport of the Orphan Home.

Pastor P L Abernethey, at the Methodist church preached his farewell sermon to a large audiance, the being "The Holy Spirit the executive power of God". He said in part: "Man cannot discover God in Nature or the common phenomina around us. Man is a

Continued next week.

Catarrh

In the head, with its ringing noises in the ears, buzzing, snapping sounds, severe headaches and disagreeable discharges, is permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Do not dally with local applications. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and make a thorough and complete cure by eradicating from the blood the scofulous taints that cause catarrh. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine. $1; six for $5.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills 25 cents.

Russian Courtship.

One of the national eccentricities in the Ukraim Russia is that the maiden is the one that does all the courting. When she falls in love with a man she goes to his house and tells him the state of her feelings. If he reciprocates all is well, and a formal marriage is duly arranged. If, however, he is unwilling, she remains there, hoping to coax him into a better mind. The poor fellow cannot treat her with the least discourtesy or turn her out, for her friends would be sure to avenge the insult. His best chance, therefore, if he is really determined he will not marry her, is to leave his home and stay away as long as she is in it. This is certainly a peculiar way of turning a man out of house and home.

The next international congress of chemists will be held in Paris in 1900.

THEY WANT TO TELL

These Grateful Women Who Have Been Helped by Mrs. Pinkham.

Women who have suffered severely and been relieved of their ills by Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine are constantly urging publication of their statements for the benefit of other women. Here are two such letters:

Mrs. LIZZIE BEVERLY, 258 Merrimac St., Lowell, Mass., writes:

"It affords me great pleasure to tell all suffering women of the benefit I have received from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude for what she has done for me. My trouble was ulceration of the womb. I was under the doctor's care. Upon examination he found fifteen very large ulcers, but he failed to do me good. I took several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, also used the Sanative Wash, and am cured. Mrs. Pinkham's medicine saved my life, and I would recommend it to all suffering women."

Mrs. AMOS TROMBLEAY, Ellenburgh Ctr., N. Y., writes:

"I took cold at the time my baby was born, causing me to have milk legs, and was sick in bed for eight weeks. Doctors did me no good. I surely thought I would die. I was also troubled with falling of the womb. I could not eat, had faint spells as often as ten times a day. One day a lady came to see me and told me of the benefit she had derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, and advised me to try it. I did so, and had taken only half a bottle before I was able to sit in a chair. After taking three bottles I could do my own work. I am now in perfect health."

PRIVATE,

Every communication kept strictly confidential. If you are suffering from the slightest ailment, write or call.

Chronic, Nervous, Blood, Skin, Genito-Urinary, Private Diseases; also all diseases peculiar to women, Impotency, Impediments to Marriage, and all diseases and disorders of a delicate nature of either sex successfully treated at Dispensary or by mail. Book for men only, and question blanks for men and women sent free. Cure guaranteed.

(Montgomery Advertiser.)

Dr. Dozier is endorsed by the press and people of every section of Alabama.

Address

Southern Medical Dispensary,

DR. O. T. DOZIER, Prop.,

Birmingham, Ala.

WANTED—Case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send 5 cts. to Ripans Chemical Co., NewYork, for 10 samples and 1000 testimonials.

THE NEWS OF OUR OWN STATE.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Young Woman Cremated by Explosion of an Oil Can.

At Decatur Mrs. Claude Palmer was burned to death by her clothing catching fire from the explosion of an oil can in her hands. The accident happened when she began preparation for the noon meal. The fire in the stove would not burn well and she poured some kerosene out of a can on it. Not seeing success she poured on oil a second time, when the blaze flashed up and entered the can. There was an explosion and burning oil was scattered in every direction. Mrs. Palmer's dress was ignited and she jumped into bed to smother it out. The bed caught fire and only made matters worse. Then she ran out into the yard with fire all over her, where she was caught by some workmen and rolled in a puddle of water in the street and the flames extinguished, but she was so terribly burned that death came shortly afterward. Mrs. Palmer was only 17 years old and had only been married a week.

Mine Inspector's Recommendations.

State Mine Inspector J. DeB. Hooper has submitted to the governor the customary biennial report of his office. The most interesting portion of the report is that containing the suggestions of the inspector for legislation. One very important recommendation is that all underground mines be put under the jurisdiction of the mine inspector. Another recommendation is that the holders of first-class mine foremen's certificates be examined every two years so as to satisfy the mine inspector that they are keeping abreast of the times and their duties.

Big Catholic Hospital for Birmingham.

At a meeting of the Sisters of Charity Hospital association in Birmingham, subscriptions to the amount of $6,844.19 were reported. It was reported that the temporary quarters for the hospital would be ready Friday, and that Sister Benedicta would assume charge. It was reported further that the first building to be erected for the permanent hospital would cost $6,000, and that the total cost of the buildings and their equipments would be in the neighborhood of $200,000. Father Lannon, of Emmetsburg, who was at meeting, said that he had determined to name the institution St. Vincent's Hospital.

New Branch of Illinois Central.

President Stuyvesant Fish and Vice-President J. T. Harahan, of the Illinois Central railroad, spent Saturday in the neighborhood of Winfield, Marion county, inspecting the work which is being done on the Canton, Aberdeen and Nashville railroad near there, ten miles of which is under construction. The Illinois Central is behind the project and the new road when built through from Aberdeen to Winfield will give that company a line into the Alabama coal fields. It is believed that contracts for further work on the line will be let soon and that the visit of the officials is a bearing in that direction.

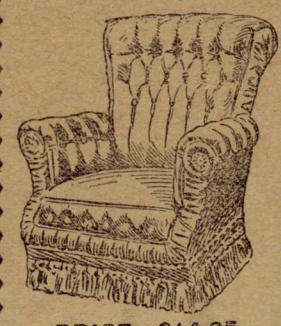
McKinley Invited to Montgomery, Ala.

The Alabama senate Saturday passed a joint resolution inviting President McKinley "in the name of the general assembly and people of Alabama to extend his visit to Montgomery and to be present in Montgomery on the 17th day of December, as the state's guest or at such other time as may suit his pleasure and convenience."

New Coal Mine to Be Opened.

Articles of incorporation have been filed in the probate judge's office at Birmingham by the Warrior Coal Mining company. The capital stock is $50,000 and the incorporators are R. H. Pearson and H. P. Thornton. The company will mine coal in the vicinity of Warrior.

Christmas Gifts, 50c. to $1000.00.



$14.25 buys this Turkish Chair, covered with imported velour. The back is tufted, only the best prices are used making this a luxuriously comfortable Chair. This Chair retails for $30.00.

PRICE, $14.25.

Our general catalogue is full of suggestions for Christmas Gifts at pleasing prices in addition to Furniture, Crockery, Sewing Machines, Silverware, Clocks, Mirrors, Refrigerators, Pictures, Bedding, Stoves, Upholstery Goods, Baby Carriages, Tin Ware, Lamps, etc., all of which you can buy from the manufacturer at 40 to 60 per cent below retail prices. Our Lithographed Catalogue of Carpets, Rugs, Portieres and Lace Curtains shows the actual designs in hand-painted colors. We sew Carpets free, furnish Carpet lining free and prepay freight on Carpets, Rugs and Curtains.

$3.95 buys this Dressing Table, made of solid Oak, White Maple or finished in Mahogany or White Enamel. It is 29 1-2 in. long, 52 in. high, 18 inches wide and has a French beveled mirror 14x10 in. This Dressing Table retails at $10.00. Orders filled promptly.

Our goods are known in every corner of the civilized World, and why? Our FREE catalogues will tell you. Address

PRICE, $3.95.

JULIUS HINES & SON,

Dept. 316 BALTIMORE, MD.

Electrically Charged Body.

Benjamin Berdell, a wandering clock repairer, is death on flies. Three years ago, when at Rahway, N. J., during a storm he was picking cherries, when the tree was struck by lightning. Berdell received a severe shock. It transformed him into an electric man. Anyone who shakes hands with him now receives a severe shock. By pressing the blades of a knife between his thumb and finger during a storm he charges the metal so thoroughly that heavy weights can be lifted. When flies alight upon him they drop dead. When he is in a dark room sparks flash from his flesh and his eyes shine like incandescent lamps. Whenever a storm approaches Berdell becomes highly charged with electricity and it is dangerous to touch him. He says that he feels no inconvenience except that he will not go near a moving locomotive for fear of being drawn against it and killed.—New York Press.

The Origin of "Windfall."

The origin of "windfall" in the sense of "good luck," dates from the time of William the Conqueror. It was then a criminal offense to cut timber in the forests. Only such could be gathered as the wind had blown down; hence a heavy windstorm was hailed by the peasants as so much good luck; and from this comes the modern application of the expression.

Italy's Poor.

Marvelous economy is practiced by the poor of Italy in looking after the wants of the inner man. Coffee grounds from the wealthy man's kitchen are dried and resold to the poor. In a similar way oil is twice and sometimes three times used, the drippings after each successive frying being gathered from the pan and sold to the poor.

Protection for Railway.

On the new Russian military railway from Europe to Andijan, on the borders of the Chinese empire, a tree-like shrub called the sascaoul had to be planted all along the line through the desert to prevent the rails being covered by sand. For further protection a ribbon of wild oats runs along both sides of the railway.

Before a fire brigade can start for a fire in Berlin the members must all fall in line in military fashion and salute their captain. This proceeding wastes at least three minutes.

A Milwaukee judge recently granted a divorce, with the provision that the wife pay the husband alimony.

Eating Snails.

The stories about Frenchmen eating snails are believed by many people to have no foundation in fact, but snails are eaten, and to a very considerable extent, in France. Nearly 100,000 pounds weight of snails are sold daily in the Paris markets to be eaten by dwellers in that city. They are carefully reared for the purpose in extensive snail gardens in the provinces, and fed on aromatic herbs to give them a fine flavor. One such garden in Dijon is said to bring in to its proprietor several thousand francs a year.

Many Swiss cantons also contain large snail gardens, where they are reared with great pains. They are not only regarded as a great delicacy, but are considered very nutritious. Hygienists state that they contain seventeen per cent of nitrogenous matter, and that they are equal to oysters in nutritive properties.

Snails are also extensively used as an article of food in Austria, Spain, Italy and Egypt, and the countries on the African side of the Mediterranean. Indeed, the habit of eating snails as food has existed in various parts of Europe for many centuries.

Mark Twain is said to show the effects of his recent efforts and to be aging rapidly.

There are 47,668 coke ovens in the United States, of which no less than 26,910 are in Pennsylvania.

Creeping Consumption

Do not think for a single moment that consumption will ever strike you a sudden blow. It does not come that way.

It creeps its way along.

First, you think it is a little cold; nothing but a little hacking cough; then a little loss in weight; then a harder cough; then the fever and the night sweats.

The suddenness comes when you have a hemorrhage.

Better stop the disease while it is yet creeping.

You can do it with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

You first notice that you cough less. The pressure on the chest is lifted. That feeling of suffocation is removed. A cure is hastened by placing one of Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plaster over the Chest.

A Book Free.

It is on the Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Write us Freely.

If you have any complaint whatever and desire the best medical advice you can possibly receive, write the doctor freely. You will receive a prompt reply, without cost. Address,

DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

LOCAL.

Dental work ! The people have found out that the work done by Dr.Haley is first class in every respect. He will spend the week in Montevallo, begining December, the 5th.

A man frozed to death in O maha day before yesterday. This is not exactly local but it reminds one of something very local which has been taking place about here for the last three days.

The people are making a run on the winter clothing at Morgan Bros. A large, new lot of pants will arrive this week.

Mrs. Ham returned from Birmingham last of the week,

FURNITURE---Fine parlor sets; beautful bed room sets; tables, and chairs. at H C & W B Reynold's furniture store.

NO SMALL-POX in Montevallo, so said the Doctors, but they said that if the people do not clean up their premices we may have it and it would not stop till it had run all over town.

You don't need poor harness, then buy at H C & W B Reynolds. He keeps nothing but the best.

Rev- P L Abernethey went to the Annual Conference of the M. E. C. S. at Huntsville Monday morning. Strong solicitations have been presented to have him returned to this place for his work in Montevallo has been greatly blessed and all the members are anxious to have him here another year.

George Kroell has an improved horse collar at his store. Call and see it,

The NEWS is issued this week from it's new quarters, it is the office just vacated by Dr.Givhan and Wilkerson who have moved into an office in the C L McCluney & Co. drugstore. Call and see us in our new home.

Don't get side-tracked; but go straight to H C & W B Reynolds for groceries, Completest line in Shelby Co,

A gentleman came over from Birmingham this week looking for hands to work in the iron mills, mines and other places. common laborers are getting better wages than for years.

Morgan Bros. has a new stock of gentlemens underwear. You ought to see it.

New goods are being opened up ever day at the Big Brick store. George Kroell, Among other thing the candy is atracting attention.

Dr. Wikerson's new house is about compleeted. It is a very handsome design

You cant find prettier, better or more stylish cloaks and capes in New York, than you can at Morgan Bros.

Mr. Walter Carlisle and wife went to Birmingham Monday.

SHOEMAKER— J A F Pynor is located in Montevallo permanently. Don't let your shoes wear out but call on him and have them mended.

You dont believe it, but it is true! You can get a pretty window shade at C. L. Meroneys & Co for 10c.

Dr. Wilkerson says that the health of the community is exceptionly good at preasant.

It is beautiful! The celluloid sheets for art work at C. L. Meroney & Co.

Thanks giving service at the College Chappel to day.

The Ulmans are known everywhere. They have built up one of the largest trades in the South. Notice their splended offer on the eight page.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathis of Montgomery, visited their daughter at the Industrial this week.

C. L. Meroney & Co. trade is imense this fall. They are constantly ordering new goods. One of their big orders will arrive next week.

Suits! Pants! First class goods that will fit you. H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Ladies, wait and see our new stock of Holiday gooods, Morgan Bros.

Dentist! Dr.J.P.Haley of Selma will be here next Monday Dec. 5th to do your dental work Call on him at the St.George Hotel.

Those fruit cakes at Morgon Bro. are very delicious. Call and taste them.

Miss Cleona Crabbe of Agusta Ga. is visiting her Brother here.

Don't buy a cloak or cape before seeing the beautiful ones at H. C. & W. B. Reynolds.

Pure Drugs; Lowest Prices Best Skill

On this Basis we Solicit your Prescriptions

We keep only One Grade of Drugs The Best!

OOOOOOOOOOO

Complete line of toilet articles, perfumery, writing tablets and fancy stationery, Paints, oil, varnishes, etc. Call and see us.

W B McCluney & Co.

Dont sleep cold but buy blankets and comforts at H. C. &W. B. Reynolds.

Mr. Dodson, of Dodson Printers Supply Co. of Atlanta gave us a call this week.

While they are the cheapest, the up todate prints are the prettiest goods in the world. It is a treat to examine Morgan Bros. new stock.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds who has been in Montgomery for several days, returned to day for Thanks giving.

Morgan Bros. sell more shoes than anybody. Go look at the stock and you will see why.

The nicest line of Colognes in Shelby County can be found at Mogan Bros.

Dr. F F Crow has under consturction a new residenc in East End.

Closing out old stock at less than cost.

About $1,000 worth of staple goods to be sold for less than cost during the next 60 days. These goods areall first class. C C Vandergrift, Montevallo, Ala.

Hats! Caps! Big line at H C & W B Reynolds.

ANTRIBULE

The Most Powerful Healing Agent Known and the Only ANTISEPTIC WHICH STOPS PAIN!

Cures Burnes and Scalds Instantly. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold and guaranteed by F F. Crowe & Co.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala. W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL. DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and hi reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

MONTEVALLO NEWS.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

MONTEVALLO, - ALABAMA.

It appears that the Chinese emperor's unpopularity was partly due to his edict against wearing queues. Many countries have been disturbed by slight causes, but it remained for China to make an international issue of a hair cut.

Golf is expanding its influence. It takes no note of clime and attacks age as well as youth. They who know best tell us that with a clear day, a breeze that invigorates but does not interfere, a field well adapted to the exigencies of the occasion, it is a game which the gods of Olympus would have been glad to play.

Men now living will ride by rail from Cairo to Cape Town. Then civilization will set in all along the railway. Towns will spring up in salubrious spots, and in some not salubrious, where money is to be made. The telegraph, the telephone and the electric motor will spread out on both sides, and the "unexplored country" of the geographies of a generation ago will hum with the activities of modern life.

Mysterious disappearances of children are becoming so common as to occasion little surprise. The daily press frequently chronicles such occurrences. In many cases these kidnaping crimes are executed by those who have some real or fancied personal interest in the child, but in others the motive plainly is revenge or extortion. There are few crimes in the whole calendar of moral depravity or fiendishness which can be compared with this, and no effort should be spared to wipe it out completely. The laws provide no adequate punishment for either kidnapers or blackmailers, but the limit of the law is the least penalty which should be imposed whenever one of these social harpies is convicted.

What is probably the most radical departure from the old system of trial by jury is under test in Louisiana. The change is by authority of the recent Constitutional Convention in the State. That body, in addition to other remarkable acts, provided that in criminal cases where the punishment may not be imprisonment at hard labor the trial may be by the judge, without a jury; if the punishment may be imprisonment at hard labor, the case must be tried by a jury of five; and if the punishment must be hard labor, then the jury shall consist of twelve, the concurrence of nine of whom is sufficient for a verdict. As explained by a Louisiana paper, the purpose of the enactment was to get rid of the delay and expense of long jury trials and of disagreeing juries. In this respect it is a success. The courts have been able to dispose of much more business, and at lessened cost, the reduction in expense at a single term of one court being $2000. It remains to be seen, however, how the change will affect the prisoner. On this point the framers of the consiitutional clause appeared to entertain doubts. They made its place in the constitution tentative, by a provision that the Legislature may change it after 1904, and return to the old system if the new one is found not to work well.

AMERICAN ULTIMATUM PRESENTED.

Our Commission Fixes a Time Limit of One Week.

NEGOTIATIONS NOT BROKEN OFF BY SPAIN.

Offered to Pay $20,000,000 for the Philippines—Adjournment Taken Until Wednesday in Order That Communication With Madrid May Be Had.

The afternoon papers taking the Associated Press Monday printed a story from Paris to the effect that Senor Montero Rios, president of the Spanish peace commission, had broken off negotiations. The Associated Press seems to have been imposed upon. Further investigation proved the story groundless, although it had been spread broadcast over the land and had created something of a sensation among government officials and diplomats. Monday night the Associated Press sent to its morning papers this bulletin and the explanation which follows:

"Please kill the Paris bulletin appearing in day report which says: 'The president of the Spanish peace commission, Senor Montero Rios, has refused to continue the negotiations.'

"The Paris bulletin sent out shortly after noon on Monday announcing that Senor Montero Rios had refused to continue the peace negotiations was not sent from Paris by the correspondent of the Associated Press. It was not sent with his knowledge or by his agent. The message was received over the wires of the French Telegraphic Cables Company, and it appears on inquiry that the cable sheet handed in at the Paris office was indorsed in the name of the Paris correspondent of the Associated Press. The cable company was imposed upon."

PARIS.—The Spanish and American peace commissioners met in joint session at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The Americans declared the United must have the entire Philippine archipelago, and for a treaty session of the islands the Americans tendered to Spain $20,000,000.

It is further declared it is the purpose of the United States to maintain the Philippine Islands as an "open door" to the world's commerce.

On the terms named the United States proposes a mutual relinquishment of all claims for indemnity, national or personal, subsequent to the last outbreak of the Cuban insurrection.

November 28 is fixed as the date on which the American peace commission desires a definite response to today's propositions and all other subjects in issue here.

It is also declared that the United States desires to treat on the religious freedom of the Caroline Islands, as agreed upon between the United States and Spain in 1886, and also the acquisition of one of the Caroline Islands for an American naval station, and of cable landing rights at other places in Spanish jurisdiction, and the revival of certain Spanish-American treaties as heretofore in force.

The Americans also refuse to arbitrate article 3 of the peace protocol, bearing on the future disposition and control of the Philippine Islands.

The meeting was then adjourned until Wednesday.

The memorandum of the American commission embodying the above propositions is long, and was not read in full. The vital portions, however, were communicated verbally to the Spanish commissioners in practically these terms:

The fact was cited that the proctocol, presented by the American commissioners in behalf of their government for the cession of the Philippine Islands to the United States having been rejected by the Spanish commissioners and the counter proposal of the latter for the withdrawal of the American forces from the islands and the payment of an indemnity by the United States to Spain having been rejected by the American commissioners, the latter, deeming it essential that the present negotiations, already greatly protracted, should be brought to an early and definite conclusion, now beg to present a new proposition embodying the concessions which, for the sake of peace, their government under the circumstances be willing to tender.

"The government of the United States is unable to modify the proposal heretofore made for the cession of the entire archipelago of the Philippines, but the American commissioners are authorized to offer to Spain, in case the cession would be agreed to, the sum of $20,000,000 to be paid in accordance with the terms to be fixed in the treaty of peace.

"It being the policy of the United States to maintain in the Philippines an open door to the the world's commerce, the American commissioners are prepared to insert in the treaty now in contemplation a stipulation in effect, that for a term of years, Spanish ships and merchandise shall be admitted into the Philippine ports on the same terms as American ships and merchandise."

The other stipulations were practically as given in the beginning of this dispatch.

McKinley's Significant Action.

The committee in charge of the Atlanta Peace Jubilee, for which December 14 and 15 have been set, has received a telegram from the president requesting them to change the name of the celebration from peace jubilee to a demonstration over "our victorious arms." The telegram gives as the reason for the change the "uncertain outcome of the Paris conference and the exigencies which may arise."

The executive committee of the celebration held a special meeting on receipt of the president's telegram and decided to designate the demonstration as "the Atlanta jubilee." The dates will remain as at first announced.

English Press Opinions.

LONDON.—The morning papers concede the generosity of the offer of the United States peace commissioners and express the opinion that Spain would be foolish to reject them. The express universal gratification at the announcement of "an open door" policy in the Philippines.

The Daily Mail calls the offer of $20,000,000 indemnity, "a surprising act of generosity."

The Daily News says: "The United States have now become an Asiatic power, and Lord Salisbury clearly had reason to predict that the expansion of the United States would give Great Britain a valuable ally in the China eas."

Robbed and Almost Killed.

At Birmingham Sunday morning Joe Marsicano, an Italian saloonkeeper, was assaulted and robbed in his saloon by a desperate negro, who, after dealing the unfortunate man two murderous blows, robbed the cash register and fled the scene. Marsicano was found lying in a pool of blood in a semi-conscious condition. The robber went through his pockets, securing $10 in silver, and next broke open the cash register, which contained about $45. In his hurry to get away the robber overlooked $726 which Marsicano had tied up in a package, fastened to his right leg just above the knee.

Ex-Governor Peck, of Wisconsin, went by Anniston to see the boys of the Fourth Wisconsin regiment encamped there.

WRECK ON THE L. & N.

Ten Cars Crash Through a Bridge and Two Men Thought to Be Killed.

Ten freight cars dashed through a bridge on the Louisville & Nashville railroad near Pelham station, Ala., late Tuesday afternoon. Some unseen obstruction caused several cars to jump the track and without warning the girders gave way and the main part of the train crushed through the timbers into the creek forty feet below. Rumor had it around the railroad yards in Birmingham that two men were killed, but this the railroad officials denied. It was said that the crew chanced to be on the portion of the train which escaped the fall.

So far as known there was but one man injured, David Hendricks, brakeman. The extent of his injuries could not be learned.

A northbound freight train in charge of Engineer John Acker and Conductor W. C. Hanlers was making its usual run and was crossing the bridge at its usual rate of speed. The engine had safely crossed the bridge, and the caboose was on the other side of the bridge when the accident occurred. It seemed that some of the cars in the middle of the train jumped the track, and running into the sides of the "truss" bridge, knocked out all of the bridge's support and dropped it with all of the cars on it into the creek below. The bridge contained a single span 130 feet in length.

SANTIAGO CASUALTIES.

Complete Returns of Deaths and Wounded of the Campaign.

Complete returns have been received of the casualties of the Santiago campaign. The adjutant-general's office has divided the campaign into different dates and periods. The statement shows:

La Guasima, June 24—Killed, 1 officer and 15 men; wounded, 6 officers and 44 men.

San Juan, July 1 to 3—Killed, 17 officers and 134 men; wounded, 69 officers and 938 men.

El Caney, July 1—Killed, 4 officers and 84 men; wounded, 24 officers and 332 men.

Aguadores, July 1 and 2—Wounded, 2 officers and 10 men.

Around Santiago, July 10 to 12—Killed, 1 officer and 1 man; wounded, 1 officer and 12 men.

A CUP OF TEA

Scalded a Fifteen-Months' Old Child to Death at Bessemer, Ala.

The 15-months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Kyle met a horrible death at Bessemer, Ala., Monday night, turning upon himself a cup of hot tea and inflicting wounds from which death resulted in an hour. The family were at a late supper. The child was at the table, left alone for a moment while the mother put the food on the table. The tea had been poured out, and it steamed boiling hot in the cups around the board. One was too near the child, and he pulled it toward him—with his chubby hands the cup was lifted and the hot contents poured partly into his mouth and partly upon his person.

Food for Cubans.

The commissary department Tuesday dispatched the steamer Bratten from Savannah with 700 tons of provisions for the starving people of Cuba. The Bratten will leave a portion of the cargo at Havana, and then will sail to Matanzas and other points.

Auditor's Bill Passed.

The bill to create an auditor for Jefferson county, Ala., passed the house. It gives the appointment to the governor and the term is for four years; salary, $2,000.

Thomas H. Clanton died at Montgomery. He was a member of the Montgomery Blues and was buried with military honors.

The Reason Why.

A good story is told of an English naval officer, whose ship was stationed off the coast of Ceylon, and who went off for a day's shooting along the coast, accompanied by a native attendant well acquainted with the country. Coming to a particularly inviting river, the officer resolved to have a bath, and asked the native to show him a place where there were no alligators. The native took him to a pool close to the estuary. The officer thoroughly enjoyed his dip, and, while drying himself, he asked his guide why there was never any alligators in that pool. "Because, sar," promptly replied the Cingalese, "they plenty 'fraid of shark."

Beauty is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

The best houses in the city of Manila are of stone, and are handsome residences. Glass is not used for the windows, which are glazed with translucent oyster shells.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. NEW YORK, N. Y.

The Potash Question.

A thorough study of the subject has proven that crop failures can be prevented by using fertilizers containing a large percentage of Potash; no plant can grow without Potash.

We have a little book on the subject of Potash, written by authorities, that we would like to send to every farmer, free of cost, if he will only write and ask for it.

GERMAN KALI WORKS,
93 Nassau St., New York.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally, and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A naturalist of eminence says that land birds make their journeys in the daytime and water birds at night

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggist.

It is customary in China to congratulate a fat man, because it is taken for granted that he must be rich.

COLUMBUS, GA., Aug. 24, 1877.
DR. C. J. MOFFETT,—Dear Doctor: We gave your "Teethina" (Teething Powders) to our little grandchild with the happiest results. The effects were almost magical, and CERTAINLY MORE SATISFACTORY THAN FROM ANYTHING WE EVER USED. Yours, very truly,
JOSEPH S. KEY, Pastor of St. Paul Church.
(Now Bishop Southern Methodist Church.)

Piso's Cure for Consumption relieves the most obstinate coughs.—Rev. D. BUCHMUELLER, Lexington, Mo., February 24, 1894.

It has been estimated that a single plant of the Russian thistle six feet in diameter produces 2,000,000 seeds.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Australian Aborigines.

The Australian aborignes are now ranked by ethnographers as fifth or sixth in the list of so-called natural races. The Veddahs, of Ceylon, being the lowest in the scale of savage culture.

Angels Played Bagpipes.

In Gothic sculpture and tragedy angels are sometimes portrayed practicing on the bagpipes. The pipes were occasionally used in churches before the introduction of the organ, early in the fifteenth century.

The Mushroom's Life.

The mushroom's life is measured by hours, but it flourishes long enough for an insect to hang its egg on the edge of the "umbrella," and for the eggs to become an insect ready to colonize the next mushroom that springs up.

Howard Conkling, candidate for congress in the Twelfth New York district, is a nephew of the late Senator Roscoe Conkling.

The female brain commences to decline in weight after the age of thirty; the male not until ten years later.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c.

It is calculated that the men and women of today are nearly two inches taller than their ancestors.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail druggists refund money.

The only two animals whose brains are said to be heavier than that of a man are the whale and the elephant.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c. a bottle.

Fits permanently cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. $2 trial bottle and treatise free DR. R.H. KLINE, Ltd., 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

There are 230 glaciers in the Alps said to be over five miles in length.
In a square inch of the human scalp the hairs number about 1,000.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money

A single oyster in season produces about 1,000,000 young.
The nails on amputated fingers continue to grow.

Lyon & Co's "Pick Leaf" Smoking Tobacco stands at the top for its delicious aroma. Good as can be made. Try it.

Resignation is the name of the angel who carries most of our soul's burdens.

How to Get Strong

A system which has become run down by the trying weather of the past summer is not in a condition to meet the severe winter of this climate and will easily fall a prey to disease unless a proper tonic is used.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best medicine in the world for building up and strengthening an enervated system.

Do not confuse these pills with ordinary purgative pills. They do NOT act on the bowels, thereby further weakening the body. They build up the blood and strengthen the nerves.

Major A. C. Bishop, of 715 Third Ave., Detroit, Mich., is a well-known civil engineer. He says: "When I had my last spell of sickness and came out of the hospital I was a sorry sight. I could not regain my strength, and could not walk over a block for several weeks. I noticed some articles in the newspapers regarding Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which convinced me that they were worth trying and I bought two boxes. I did not take them for my complexion but for strength. After using them I felt better, and know they did me worlds of good. I am pleased to recommend them to invalids who need a tonic or to build up a shattered constitution."—Detroit Free Press.

At all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y. Price fifty cents per box.

BAD BLOOD

"CASCARETS do all claimed for them and are a truly wonderful medicine. I have often wished for a medicine pleasant to take and at last have found it in Cascarets. Since taking them, my blood has been purified and my complexion has improved wonderfully and I feel much better in every way." MRS. SALLIE E. SELLARS, Luttrell, Tenn.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
REGULATE THE LIVER

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken, or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c.
... CURE CONSTIPATION. ...
Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Montreal, New York. 319

NO-TO-BAC Sold and guaranteed by all druggists to CURE Tobacco Habit.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief and cures worst cases. Send for book of testimonials and 10 days' treatment Free. DR H.H GREEN'S SONS, Atlanta, Ga.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

Repairing

Our prompt ness of delivering splendi work has won for us orders from every town and hamlet in the South.

Write us or call at our mammoth bicycle house and we will tell you all about it.

The oldest and largest house in the south. All kinds of wheels; all kinds of prices. Repair department complete.

The Loosley Cycle Company,
Second Ave., (opp. P. O.) BIRMINGHAM, Ala.

WELL DRILLING MACHINES of all kinds and sizes, for drilling wells for house, farm, City and Village Water Works, Factories, Ice Plants, Breweries, Irrigation, Coal and Mineral Prospecting, Oil and Gas, etc. Latest and Best. 30 years experience. WRITE US WHAT YOU WANT.
LOOMIS & NYMAN, Tiffin, Ohio.

FREE WATCH!

Send your address and we will express 50 fine, long filler Nickel cigars. When sold, remit us $2.50 and we will mail you, free, a handsome stem wind and set watch, which retails for $2.50. WINSTON CIGAR CO., No. 99 Main St. Winston, N. C.

Am. N. U., No. 47, 1898.

From Girlhood to Womanhood.

DON'T LET YOUR DAUGHTER have a wrong merging into womanhood. The greatest crisis in every girl's life is at this stage when the menstrual functions are being established, and she should have every provision obtainable for establishing this period properly, without which she can never become a perfect woman. Mothers, teach your daughters to confide in you. Explain their condition to them and watch over them as you would the most delicate plant, and as this most critical age draws near commence giving her

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea.
TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK.

It will establish the menstrual functions, restore the strength and give life and energy to the entire being. PRICE $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

When there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with moderate doses of ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR.

My daughter was suffering from a severe bilious attack, together with great "bearing-down" pains and back-ache during her monthly periods. She had violent nervous spells which produced a peculiar quivering and jerking sensation. I bought a bottle of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA (G. F. P.) and some ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR and commenced treating her. All pains and biliousness were removed and the jerking was stopped. It is the best I ever saw for young girls. MARY ELIZA BENES, Beulah, Ala.

L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprietors, Chattanooga, Tenn.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,

MONTEVALLO, ALA.

THOS. N. FREEMAN - EDITOR.
AND PROPRIETOR,

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance

Thursday. Novemper 24 1898.

This is the nineteenth century and we are living in a Christian and civilized nation, Denver is to have a Bull-fight and the Corbit - Sharkey fist fight is most important news of the day. Whither are we drifting?.

The coal mining industry of the Montevallo section is being rapidly developed. The L & N Railroad System traverses these coal fields, and it is largely by the interprize of this Rail Road that this wonderful proggress has been made.

Go on and do your duty freind even if you do not feel yourself appreciated. You're too much of a man or woman to admit that you are doing your work for praise. There should be a motive behind your actions higher than all worldly praise. A man who loves his fellowman with all his might, soul and strength can't be payed for his sacrifice and love by a pleasant word, a smile or a little flattery he must have a higher compensation. He must feel that he stands as in partnership with God, an instrument through which the Creator works for the upbuilding of his creatures. What matters it if you are misunderstood, scorned and ridiculed? If yon believe in God you will know that He will reward with a far greater praise than man can offer.

The Spanish war pensions are in. The first pension was granted last friday to Jessie Gates of the second U S artillery who lost his lip at Santeago. He gets $17. per month for life. The total number of applications to date is about 2000.
Don't you wish you were hurt a little, say had an ear shot off, or a little finger or toe, or somthing didn't look as bad as grining Jessie? O! we would have a glorious old time. Can't we invent some way to pension every body and settle any father trouble and expense about claims? Then no body would have to work. Wouldn't that be nice. Is'nt war a good thing any how after it.

"Old men for council and young men for war" says the old proverd, It is said that the present state is composed largely of young men. Hower we will not reflect on the wisdom of the young men, for our National constitution was made by young men under thirty six years of age. But let us have war,—war on the old ricketry, —knocked-knee'd, box-ankled, gray-haired, school law. It aught to be knocked out on the first round and something that is worthy of the ninetenth century be put in it's place. we don't like Yankees but lets steal some of the school laws of the Down East States.

Faith accoplishes all things- Whon Nepoleon came in sight of the Alps, a subordinate officer said to the him, "General, what are you going to do when you reach the Alps?" With a move of the hand the General anwered "There shall be no Alps", and with undaunted faith as portrayed in that expression he performed a feat never attempted by Ceasar or Hanibal. We need more self re' liance like this. When he was a boy, Milton said that he intended some day to write the best epic poem in the English language and thirty years afterwards he accomplished his hope. The courage of heroism was displayed by Miss Schly when she dared in the face of public ridicule to make an effort to see personaly the Queen of Spain to persuade her to sue for peace, she claims now, and who can gain say her, that her visit to Spain was the starting point in the peace negociation.

The most miserable man in the world is one who is always harboring malice against some one of his fellow men. What can you gain by revenge? If you have received an injury from any one there is no posibility of you being benefited by returning an injury. Malice and revenge makes a man lower than an animal, It is the very soul of the devil himself. You may be perfect in every other way: you may give your goods to feed the poor and your substance for the spread of the Gospel but a revengful spirit will poison the whole life and distroy every genuine pleasure of existance. If yon have any enemies forgive them. Next time you meet them shake hands and you will feel better. Don't act a fool all your life.

At the New Brick Store they have opened the finest stock of candies ever brought to Montevallo.

C C Vandegrift informs us that his coal is in great demand. He is working 25 hands but is 15000 tons behind with his orders.

New goods are being opened up ever day at the Big Brick store. George Kroell. Among other thing the candy is atracting attention.

LUMP COAL from Imogene mines kept always on hand. Delivered on short notice C. C Vandegrift

The Montevallo Bakery has shut down and its proprietor R T Newton has gon to Birmingham in serach of new fields of business.

You may not believe it till you see for your self: But H C & W B Reynolds has the largest stock of shoes in central Ala.

You cant find prettier, better or more stylish cloaks and capes in New York, than you can at Morgan Bros.

Montevallo, Ala. Nov. 23, 98

Editor News,

Dear Sir,

Some maliceous person has infamously manufactered a report to the effect that my "little girl" has an irruption, roseola or something similar to it; and that the infection has spread from my family.
This is entirely false. In the first place, I have no "little girl", Last and not least, no irruption has at any time been in my family. I defy a physician to find it. Yours.

I. B, Kilpatrick.

J. M. Reynolds,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

and Solicitor in Chancery.

Montevallo. - - - Ala

Montevallo Select School.

A Male Institute.

With Preparitory Department for Boys and Girls.

Faculty up to date—20 years experience Terms low—Work thorough—New house complete in 30 days. Girls Industrial patrons, prepare your sons for colleg with us.

J. B. Kilpatrick. Principal
Mrs. J.B.Kilpatrick, Assistant

University of Alabama

Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898

ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,

EXPENSES LOW.

COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science.
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmacy.
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

I. W. Session,

Luwber Manufactory

Orders for plain lumber filled on short notice at lowest prices.

Also Gin and Griss-Mill.

Patronage Solicited.

OMontgomery road east of Montevallo.

Dr. E. A. WILSON,

DENTIST,

BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA

Will be in Montevllo evry other Friday and Saturday.

Next call Dec. 2 rd & 3rd.

DR. P. J. HALEY,

DENTIST,

Of Selma, Ala.

Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. Will be at St. George Hotel, Monday, Dec. 7, 1898.

E. S. LYMAN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,

The First-Class Barber,

Montevallo, - - Ala

Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

SPAIN WILL PROBABLY YIELD

To the Demands of the American Ultimatum Presented Monday.

A WEEK'S TIME IS NOT NECESSARY

Senor Ojedo Says He Does Not See How Spain Can Avoid Assenting to Our Demands—Will Buy One of the Carolines.

NEW YORK.—A dispatch to the World from Paris says: "No one can foresee what the Cortes will do." This was the answer of Senor Ojeda, the principal secretary of the Spanish peace commission, when asked if the American ultimatum will be accepted.

"Senor Montero Rios, the president of the Spanish commission, frowned as he listened to America's final note at the joint session. When the reading was ended, he said curtly: 'Spain does not need until November 28 to answer. She will present her reply Wednesday.'

"In the communication the United States refuses arbitration, but offers $20,000,000 in gold for the Phillippines and such a sum as may be agreed upon for an island of the Caroline group, or enough land on a strong island there for a navy base and cable station.

"The American commissioners proposed to give Spain until November 28 to accept or reject these demands which were translated at the session in full by Interpreter Ferguson, but after Montero Rios' impatient remark about not needing so much time, the joint session was adjourned until Wednesday.

"It was reported immediately after the session that Spain had determined to break off negotiations, but the World correspondent's information rather points to her giving notice on Wednesday that she accepts the American proposals under protest.

"Spanish Secretary Ojeda said to the World correspondent: 'America proposes to pay $20,000,000 for the Philippines. We regard it as ridiculously insufficient, considering that we raised $40,000,000 on the security of the Manila customs alone. She adds such a promise that for a number of years, not specified, she will admit Spanish merchandise and ships to ports on the same terms as the merchandise and ships of the United States. We regard this part of the proposal as of very little, if any, value. This condition no doubt has been put in at the suggestion of England, not of Germany, for she is favorable to Spain.'

"When pressed for his opinion as to ultimate action on the American demands he said: 'It is for the Spanish government to decide what to do. I do not see how we are to avoid yielding to them. We have no friends and are apparently helpless in the matter.'

"The Spaniards were prepared for America's insistance on the demand for the Philippines, but are surprised at the form of the latest proposition, which virtually is an ultimatum, and at what they consider the inadequate compensation offered.

First to Havana.

The first battalion of Second United States volunteer engineers left Savannah, Ga., Tuesday by the Plant system for Port Tampa and will sail from there by the steamer Florida for Havana. They will be the first troops sent from the United States to Havana. The battalion is commanded by Major Richard Henry Savage, the novelist.

Fell Heir to a Large Estate.

M. B. Clay, the well known planter, who now resides at Round Mountain, Ala., has recently fallen heir to a large estate in Monroe county, Ark. Mr. Clay happened to a misfortune about two years ago.

SPANIARDS ARE PUZZLED.

They Do Not Know What to Do About the American Offer.

PARIS.—The Spanish peace commissioners telegraphed to Madrid the substance of the United States' memorandum presented Monday, and late in the evening they were discussing it among themselves. As late as 1 o'clock Tuesday morning a Spanish commissioner affirmed that he and his colleagues did not know what to do regarding the American offer.

There is a difference of opinion among unofficial people near the commissioners, but the prediction is made that Spain will decline the American offer of money; that she will refuse to cede the Philippines, and will say to the United States:

"You may take the archipelago because you have the power to do so. As you advance we will retire, protesting against greedy aggression. We will faithfully carry out our protocol pledges, and leave Cuba and Porto Rico in your hands. You came here to engage in a discussion under the terms of the protocol, but you evidently meant when drawing up that document to provide a conference in which, though we differ man to man, you proposed to announce at the proper time what you will do, whether we agree to it or object. Such an attiiude robs the conference of a negotiative character and sets up the United States as a dominant power, whose first purpose is to listen, but whose ultimate determination is to do its own will."

It is said that Senor Montero Rios, president of the Spanish commission, at the conference Monday remarked after having heard the American offer, that if the vital portions had been read the Spaniards could answer it instantly, but as the memorandum was very long, they would defer their answer until Wednesday, adding that it would be easily possible to make it within twenty-four hours.

On the other hand, it is said the Spaniards cannot justify themselves before their people and others by throwing away $20,000,000, added to the inevitable loss of the Philippine Islands.

THIRTY SHIPS EN ROUTE

To Cuba to Take Home Spanish Soldiers —Evacuation Sooner Than Expected.

The Cuban Evacuation commission has made quite extended reports to the war department concerning the situation in the island, relating largely to camps, the conditions and proposed sites for the United States garrisons, as well as suggestions as to supplies for the army and other matters of detail, which must be considered before an army is sent to Cuba. One of the most important features of the latter reports is that evacuation of the island by Spaniards may take place sooner than first anticipated. The commission has been informed that thirty transport ships are now on their way and will be able to take away a large number of troops. These transports are expected to arrive in Cuba within a short time.

The war department is now making arrangements to send troops to Cuba as soon as the Spaniards evacuate, and will be ready to evacuate different points as fast as the Spaniards move away.

Ensign Fermier Dead.

A cable message has been received at the navy department announcing the death of Ensign George L. Fermier, attached to the gunboat Petrel, on the Asiatic station.

New Steel Bridge.

The Alabama Great Southern Railroad has begun the removal of an old structure over the river near Livingston, Ala., and are putting up a fine steel bridge.

The official vote in the Seventh Alabama district gives Burnett 1,969 more votes than Street, his closest opponent.

THE ALABAMA LEGISLATURE.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Contemplated in a Bill Introduced in the Alabama Legislature.

Senator Abercrombie introduced in he senate Saturday morning the bills ec ommended by the State Teachers' association. They are to establish a state board of education to consist of five members, to be appointed by the state superintendent, he to be ex-officio member, with full power to regulate all school; to increase the state reveuue of the public schools of the state; to assess 25 cents on each $100 for school purposes; to make optional the increase of the revenue for public schools, giving counties the power to levy a minimum of 5 cents and a maximum to be fixed by the county commissioners for school purposes; to separate school money from all other funds; determining the public school organization of the state, the same to be divided into municipal, special and county school districts; regulating the office of county superintendent of education, who is to be selected for four years and all to be appointed by the state's superintendent, regulating the county board of examiners of teachers in each county.

The joint session of the two houses assembled at 12 m. Saturday to count and announce the vote cast for state officers in August, 1898, and the result was proclaimed, all the democratic candidates having a majority.

The vote gave the following totals:

For Governor—Johnson, 113,113; Deans, 52,844.

Secretary of State—McDavid, 112,644; Maxwell, 51,648.

Auditor—White, 110,672; Drake, 52,172.

Treasurer—Ellis, 112,625, Killebrew, 51,625.

Attorney-General—Brown, 112,624; Whitehead, 52,189.

In the house there was a flood of local bills, but only one general bill, and that was to repeal the coal oil law.

The speaker announced the house committees. The chairmen are as follows:

Judiciary—Kyle.
Revision of Laws—McQueen.
Ways and Means—Mitchell.
Appropriations—Brandon.
Agricultural—Poole.
Public Roads and Highways—Heflin.
Banking and Insurance—McGuire.
Privileges and Elections—Davis.
Education—Robinson.
Commerce and Common Carriers—Laretta.
Mining—Foster.
Corporations—Brown.
Temperance—Llewellen.
Public Health—McKee.
Counties and County Boundaries—Bulger.
Local Legislation—Tunstall.
Immigration—Wallace.
Public Buildings—Rogers.
Federal Relations—Seymour.
Military—Lee.
Claims and Fees—Screws.
Printing—Hood.
Engrossed Bills—Bibb.
Enrolled Bills—Killen.

Monday's Session.

The general assembly is at last getting down to business. Today has witnessed more real legislative work than any previous two days. The standing committees of both the senate and house have held sessions and a large batch of bills have been prepared for the second reading when the batch reported favorably today will come up for final passage.

In the house the Mobile bills to permit the city to build new water works and construct sewerage hold the first place on the calendar.

The sessions in both houses today have been very dull. There was no occasion for debate in either house, but some resolutions were presented which will bring forth a display of oratory at tomorrow's session, if the resolutions be promptly reported back. One of these is Mr. Wallace's resolution against acquisition of territory by the United States.

There is another resolution of national importance, which is threatened with a stormy reception. This is the Wiley resolution inviting President McKinley to be the state's guest next month on the occasion of his trip South. The objectionable feature in the resolution, to some of the members, are the high eulegies in the preamble, which many members think is giving the president undue praise on the conduct of the war with Spain, and more especially the reference made to his part in wiping out all sectional feeling.

The house was opened with eighty-nine members in their seats. A joint resolution from the senate inviting President McKinley to be the state's guest on December 17 was presented. The resolution was referred to the rules committee. The journal was read and approved. A resolution from the senate was received providing for a joint committee to adopt rules to govern the two bodies. On motion of Mr. Tunstall the rules were suspended, and the resolution was concurred in.

Several bills were reported favorably and placed on calendar.

Tuesday's Session.

By far the most important bill of this day, and, after all, the most important of the session, except that one raising the revenues—the bill presented in the house by Mr. Brandon from the committee on appropriations, providing for the ordinary expenses of the three great branches of our state government. The greatest point of public interest is the increase of $80,000 a year for the public schools. That is, $80,000 a year, based on this year's income from all taxes on real and personal property. After the present school year ends, the school money from the sources mentioned can be roughly estimated at $430,000, instead of $350,000; and this increase will go on rising automatically as the value of real and personal property in the state increases. This thus becomes the most favorable step taken in many years for the benefit of the common schools of the state.

There are really few changes now from the appropriations of two years ago. The clerk to the attorney-general is dispensed with altogether; the work of that office being comparatively very light. The compensation of the reporter to the supreme court is reduced from $900 a volume of the reports as painted to $700 a volume, and the pay of the secretary to the chief justice is reduced from $1,500 to $1,200. The secretary of the senate and clerk of the house are allowed $300 each for copying and indexing their respective journals, as compared with $450 heretofore. A clerk to secretary of state is dispensed with, and compensation for assistant marshal and chairman to the supreme court is not provided.

A change of importance to solicitors provides that each solicitor shall receive commissions of 10 per cent on all sums over and above $2,400 earned by him and actually collected. The law heretofore has given each solicitor 30 per cent of the first $1,000 over $2,400; 15 per cent on $2,000, and 10 per cent on earnings that exceeded those figures.

Senator Case, of DeKalb, introduced the following resolution:

"Be it resolved, that it is the sense of this senate that any movement by the legislature, at this time, looking to the calling of a constitutional convention for the state, would be improper." Referred to the committee on rules.

Mr. Cunningham introduced a bill to regulate the sentence and employment of convicts in this state; to appropriate 50 per centum of the net earnings of the convict system to the fine and forfeiture fund of the several counties, and to provide for the inspection of jails.

Several bills of local interest were passed by both branches of the house.

A Novel Wedding Ring.

When J. A. Paulsell, a veteran of both the Mexican and civil wars, and now eighty-two years old, married a woman of twenty-two a few days ago, he used a novel wedding ring. It was of brass, and was made from a bit of cannon used by the Mexicans at Chepultepec and destroyed by the Amer-

Mr. Ebitor.

You were kind enough to print my peice last week so will be bold enough to make an other trial this week. Did you know I am a poet? Yes I am afflicted with that disease occasionaly. Now I suspect that if a man had the "poets" and was in love at the same time he would be in a bad fix sure. No I ain't married, but it is just before I am going to be, if indications are worth any thing. You will see by the followering effort that I have caught both dreadful diseases at once and unless something is done soon I may die of heart failure.

LET'S TURN THE SHEEP GO

I'll tell you a story as old as the world,
T'is old but just found it true.
O! come to my arms my darlin girl
And I'll teach the old story to you.

I wonder if Adam loved Eve as he ought?
O yes! I recon t'was so,
Or else he'd bit not the apple she brought.
I'd sure eat um for you.

Jacob loved Sarah and worked fourteen years.
Be fore he could call her his own;
In half of the time I could win all the Leahs,
Then wish I never was born.

I'l have my sweet Sarah or no one at all.
I work for no less a prize.
Let,s turn the sheep go and climb over the wall,
We'd be crazy to wait fourteen years.

While I am on this subject of love I will say a word more; what do you think of a man or woman who is always going around trying to make matches between young people? I think that they are geting out of their business. The "old man" is alway saying something like this to me; "Bob, Sallie Jones would make a mighty good wife for a fellow. Why don't you sit up to her? Yes, Sallie is a good girl and she is industrious. She would make a good house keeper for any man that would be satisfied with that. But poor Sallie, she is now twenty years old and the extent of her knowledge is the Fourth Reader, Sanfords Arritmetic and she can barely write a letter. She may do for some boys but she won't do for me. I am ambitious and expect to go to congress some day or somewhere else just as big and how would Sallie look up there?

Yours

Roberson.

Photographs!!!

R. W. Carleton, has just opened up a gallery in town and is now prepared for the latest, best and bigest pictures you may want. At Reynolds furniture store.

Free Railroad Ticket! Free ExPress!

To our Retail Trade

A Great opportunity To visit Selma without anY extra expense to You. We pay the Railroad Fare in return for your Cash Trade.

To secure this great opportunity we beg to acquaint you with our old system of Free Transportation for yourself, or Free Expressage on your orders through the mail.

Any one travling from one to fifteen miles we will pay for their return railroad ticket provided their purchases are $5,00 or over, or will pay for their round trip fare on cash purchases of $10,00; or on greater distances, subject to the followering scale of distan and cash purchases:

Distance from Selma to home	Amount of Cash Purchases required to earn return fare	Amount of Cash Purchases required to earn round trip fare
1 to 15 miles	$5,00	$10,00
15 to 25 miles	7,00	15,00
25 to 35 miles	10.00	20.00
35 to 45 miles	15.00	30.00
45 to 55 miles	17.50	35.00
55 to 65 miles	20,00	40.00
65 to 75 mile	22.50	45.00
75 to 85 miles	25.00	50.00
85 to 100 miles	30,00	60-00

In addition to this we agree to pay express on all mail orders not exceeding 100 miles distance for purchases of $5.00 and over,

THIS OFFER IS MADE ON ALL PURCHASES made from us, or through the mail, as above specified, in any and all departments in our store–Millinery, Dress Goods, Silk, Trimmings, Notions, Dry Goods, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Toilet Articles, House Furnishing Goods, Linens, White Good, Cloaks, Men's Furnishings, Shoes, etc.—add in fact on everything —except Domestics, Plaids and Calicoes. We solisit your patronage.

Very Respectfully,

WILLIAM ULLMAN & SON.

Carpets, Rugs and Matting a speciality.

THE BEST—There can be but one best of any thing. Mere claims means little or nothing. Facts are indis putable and truths must be recognized. It is a recognized fact that the Krippendolph and Dittman shoe is the best made shoe for women. C. L. Meroney & Co. keeps a large stock of these celebrated shoes.

The W H McMillian Photograph. Car

Will be in Blocton this week.

Don't run all over town hunting for candy. Go to George Kroell

You may not believe it till you see for your self; But H C & W F Reynolds has the largest stock of shoes in central Ala.

MAPLESVILLE ITEMS.

T E Cosper.
J W Graham.
Correspondents.

Our town is on the revive socially, as there is another oyster supper on docket for Friday night. It is for the binefit of the new Baptist Church.

The subscription list for the Baptist church is rapidly growing.

We learn that there is a great deal of cotton yet unginned.

Maplesville is giving Selma prices for cotton now since she has secured freight advantage our merchants are also selling goods at city prices.

Miss Mallory of Alpine is visiting the Misses Walkers this week, left for Florida, accompanied by her soninlaw and his wife, on Monday last.

Mr N C Graham, one of our popular young men has left for Tampa Fla, where he will accept a position tended him.

J W Grahrm of the 1st Ala. is back home again and returued to work at his old position with Mr. T M Crumton, one of our popular merchants.

Miss Mamie Forhee left for Tex. Monday where she will likely spend the winter.

Items left out for lack of space. Send us short letters often.

Editor.

It is a 5oc show to look at the beautiful Candies at Kroell but itwon't cost you a dime to sweeten up,

BUGGIES WAGONS New Gəorge Kroell Cheepest in the South COME at Once

Probate Judge

THE NEWS.

DEVOTED TO MORAL, MENTAL AND INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

VOL. III. MONTEVALLO, ALA. THURSAY DECEMBER 22, '98 NO.

Typewriting.

Some very good work has been done in the typewriting department since school opened and if the girls will only keep up the record of the past month, there will be some fine type-writers here by the end of the scholastic year. While some of the girls are still on the finger exercises, a great many have finished those and commenced the letlers. These letters are divided into books, each a little harder than the preceding one. So far only one girl has finished the first book of the letters, and she will soon be through the second. Those who write very fast at the beginning are sure to make mistakes and have to write it over. The first lesson to be learned is to write slowly, The most advanced pupils are those who started slowly.

Each girl has an hour for her lesson in type-writing and as much extra time as she can get, A few are ambitious enough to practice after school. Only those who have commenced the first book of letters are fortunate enough to be allowed the use of the "new machines,

On Saturday, certain girls are detailed to clean the type-writers at first Miss Thompson showed them how, but after that they have to clean them by themselves and show other girls how to clean them.

Young Women In Journalism.

(Montgomery Journal.)

The number of young men in the present General Assembly of Alabama together with other high positions held by them has caused many times the remark during the past week, "The young man is rapidly coming forward. He is now holding some of the most important and responsible positions and he fills them with much credit." This is true of the man and equally as true of the young woman, especially so in the Journalastic field of the south, where a large number of the fair representatives are very young women, but women who have proven their power and ability. Many of the leading contributions to the most influential papers of the south are women yet in their twenties and some not out of their teens, and their views and opinions are consulted and their influence widely felt. In fact many of them have by their able efforts, written their names high in the firmament of fame where all may read.

Among the south's young women writers may be mention- Miss Helen Pitkins, the able editress of the women's department of the New Orleans Times Democrat, whose facle and gifted pen has won for her a high place in the literary world ; Miss Isma Doly, whose brilliantly edited colums in the Atlanta Constitution, proves her a writer of ability and a worthy successor to the Maud Andrews; Miss Jackson, (Emel Say), Miss Martha Goode, and Miss Mary Burnet Whiteside, a trio of talented newspaper women who are making of their respective departments of the Atlanta Journal, the brightest and most entertaining features of that large daily. And coming nearer home in our own state we have a large number of equally talented young writers, Miss Lula Judson, truly one of Alabama's most gifted women, whose excellent work on the Bessemer Weekly prononnces her a wom-

Continued to 4tn page.

Typewriting Department in the Alabama Industrial School.
Made from a Photograph.

A Night-mare is the constant companion of those who try to pay their debts while buying cheap goods at high prices. A poor man can dress like a gentleman when he buys at Morgan Bro's.

Special bargains this week in Christmas goods, Shoes, Gentlemens suits, Cloaks, Carpets, ect. Pure groceries.

Morgan BroS.

Leaders in low Prices.

Montevallo, Ala.

THE WEEKLY NEWS,
MONTEVALLO, ALA.

THOS. N. FREEMAN - EDITOR.

Entered at the postoffice at Montevallo, Ala., as second-class mail matter.

Subscription 50 c per year, in advance.

Thursday. December 22 1898.

TAKE OUR COLLEGE WEEKLY!

It is only 50 cents for a year. Get some one to join you and send a dollor bill for both or inclose your own in postage-stamps.

We send this week sample coppies of the News to all the patrons of the Industral School. We wish to say that there is no provision for the support of this department of the College work, so the success of the work depends upon the patronage of the friends of the School. We hope you will appreciate this and send your subscription at once. The money will go for the support and enlargement of the paper and not into the hands of an Editor working only for the money. Help the school and yourself by sending us 50 cents.

The introduction of journalism and printing, as a course of study, into the Pyoltechnic School for young ladies, is one of the most important of the many improvements made in this Institution this year. The knowledge and training received in this department is very comprehensive. It not only prepares a young lady for the profession of Journalism, which circumstances may make available as a means of acquiring honor or competence, but she is thereby trained thoroughly in those fundimental branches of the English Language which are so neccessary in all walks of life. In the first place, the humble occupation of a printer is not to be dispised by those who look on the realities of life, rather than on the superficial side. The pay of a printer is about louble that of a cotton factory operator, in fact expert printers receive better wages, as a whole than even book-keepers or stenographers The work is light, pleasant, free from monotony and mentally improving. In the second place; a knowledge of the practical part of newspaper work, typesetting, proofreading ect. is almost an absolute prerequisite for a successful career as a journalist. This profession is coming more and more popular as a field of imployment for women. Women who have natural adaptations for journalism, and enter that field with industry and determination, soon find themselves occupying positions which are the envey of all less fortunate. It is a significant fact that nine-tenth of the successful journalists have been practical printers.

Hereafter the type setting, proof reading, correcting and all other practical work of this journal will be done by the young ladies of the Polytechnic School. Comfortable and commodious rooms are being erected on the college grounds, in the most convenient position. An abundant supply of new type and fixtures is being added to the already splendid outfit on which the News has been heretofore printed. Nothing will be lacking to make the typographical department of the school, one of the most attractive and useful College courses in the south. In evidence of above assertion, we call attention to a number of articles clipped from the Montgomery Journal and printed in this issue of the News, which refer to several young women who have won a reputation in Journalism. Many of these ladies have received the training, which makes their success possible in the printing office, and were not ashamed to be known as printers devils.

Selma. Ala Sept. 13, 1898.

Capt. H. C. Reynolds,
Montevallo Ala.

My dear Sir:-

My great interest in the success of The Girl's Industrial School is my excuse for this letter, and I sincerely hope you will receive it in the spirit which prompts it.

I have inquired of some of the scholars, and. to my astonishment, I hear that you do not teach book-keeping in your school. This, to my mind, is the biggest field open to girls and women, and I would suggest that you at least make an effort.

I believe that women would make much better book-keepers than men, certainly they are much more accurate and honest.

I regret very much that I am not in the present Legislature to aid The Girls Industrial School of Alabama, I am, however, willing to contribute all in my power to its advacement.

With best wishes for the succes of your school and much respect to yourself, I am

Yours truly,
P. H. Pitts.

The above letter speaks for itself,- lack of means is our only excuse. This distinguished gentleman has been from the fisrt one of our warmest friends; his influence in behalf of this School at the last Session of our Legislature will never be forgotten. He is one of Alabama's grandest men, and we indulge the hope that the noble people of Old Dallas will number him among the wise and patriotic citizens so much to be needed in framing the new constitution, which promises so much that will be elevating to our people; that will do more to bring about purity of the ballot, purity of life, Christian Statesmanship; eliminate the Demagogue, that curse of our politics, and give us "high class politics," so that the modest wise citizen will be brought to the front. All hail the day when we can eliminate the vicious, corrupt, venal voter! When the virtuous, intelligent and property-holders of Alabama can hold the reins of government free and untrammelled by rings and mercenary rule.

The Alabama Polytechnic Institute for girls, at Montevallo, Ala., is in a flourishing condition. The attendance now is about 350. This is one of the greatest schools of its kind in the South. Alabama should congratulate herself upon the great results obtained from the expenditure of so small amount of money. The University of Alabama, with less than 200 students, requires an annual expenditure of six times as much, while the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Auburn, with less than 350 students, expends more than ten times the amount the Montevallo school receives. The next session of our Legislature should appropriate at least $50,000 for buildings, and make an annual appropriation of $25,000 for the running expenses of the school. Educational Exchange.

One of the greatest obstacles to the success of the Common Schools of Alabama is not so much the lack of money, but the scarcity of capable teachers. It is a well known fact, there are more women engaged in teaching school than men. The Montevallo school is doing more to supply this much needed want than any other school. Girls who have received the benefits of the fine literary training here are now acting as missionaries all over the state in the dissemination of knowledge. As President Reynolds very often and very truthfully says, this is the mother of the Common Schools.

J. M. Reynolds,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
and Solicitor in Chancery.
Moutevallo, - - - Ala

University of Alabama
Fall Term Begins Oct. 5, 1898
ADVANTAGES SUPERIOR,
EXPENSES LOW.
COLLEGE COURSES, Classical and Scientific, with many options.
UNIVERSITY COURSES lead to Master of Arts and Master of Science.
PROFESSIONAL COURSES in Mining and Civil Engineering, Law, Medicine and Pharmac .
For catalogue or other information, apply to
JAMES K. POWERS, President,
Jul7-3m. University, Alabama.

I. W. Session,
Luwber Manufactory.
Orders for plain lumber filled on short notice at lowest prices.
Also Gin and Griss-Mill.
Patronage Solicited.
OMontgomery road east of Montevallo

Dr. E. A. WILSON,
DENTIST,
BIRMINGHAM. - - - ALA
Will be in Montevllo evry other Friday and Saturday.
Next call . Jan..6 1899

DR. P. J. HALEY,
DENTIST,
Of Selma, Ala.
Will spend one week of every month in Montevallo. Will be at St. George Hotel, Monday, Jan. 2 1899.

E. S. LYMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MONTEVALLO, - ALA.

FELIX DOTSON,
The First-Class Barber,
Montevallo. - - Ala
Ladies' and children's hair dressing a specialty. Work solicited.

SHOEMAKER — J A F Pynor is located in Montevallo permanently. Don't let your shoes wear out but call on him and have them mended.

LUMP COAL from Imogene mines kept always on hand Delivered on short notice. C. C Vandegrift.

CHINESE TEA.

Last Saturday, the Landseer Club one of the four sections of the Sil Class entertained a number of their friends in a most charming and unique manner. The guests assembled in the College Chapel, where they listened to an interesting paper on the Chinse, Their country and their customs, by Miss Susie Stubs of East Lake who in her Chinse dress seemed a vertiable (visitors from the Celestial Empire. Then little "Ah Gee and her sister Pe-Wee" Misses Nannie Shivers of Montevallo and Lottie Buchanon of Montgomery) also in costume, appeared on the scene, and the former in the following niginal "poem" extended a graceful and cordial welcome.

I'an little Ah-Gee
With my sister, Pee Wee
We dont know much Melican
But very happy are we
You fair ladies to see
At their first, what you
Melicans call tea.

I cen singee no song,
Nor makee no music
On the pretty ding dong.
But I tellee you story
Of my self and Pee-Wee
When we were babies far
Over the sea.

In a muchee big city,
Muchee happy were we,
I lived with my mother
And little Pee-Wee,
Our little boat housee,
Not mbchee to see,
Was heapee to us, my mother and me.

One day a big boatee
From Melican land,
Sailee up to our citee
He lookee so grand,
There came a good man
A Joss man was he,
To talk with my mother,
Meself and Pee-Wee.

He talkee our Chinee,
He talkee your way,
For all little girlee, big schools he say.
Not only for boy,
But girl, too, is free
To learn in schools far
over the sea.

My mother all charmee
This land just to see,
For water all water, round
Pee Wee and me,
We packed up our bundles.
We wound uq our quenes
We put on our bloomers
And big wooden shoes.

We went on the boatee,
And sailee and sail,
No land, but big water, where
Wind howlee and wail.
Many days on the water
Much sickee all way,
Till we reached fair
Mellica me bright happy day.
We washee, we cookee,
We nursee babee
And learnd some Melican,
Myself and Pee-Wee.
Now we come Montevallo,
We comee to stay
Till we learn to paint China,
In the Mellican way.

We glad to see ladies,
We pleased to seve tea
With tea spoons and chop sticks,
Right melly we'll be,
Will drink to Montevallo,
And this land of the free,
And gentleman and ladies
Right welcome you be.

The guest then passed into the studio where a charming scene awaited them, The room had been darkened, and lighted with Chinese lanterns The walls were hung with choice paintngs, and the whole made beautiful with rich drapery and statuary, and last, but by no means least numerous cabinets of choice, hand painted china the works of the class. The tables arranged in the form of an emense letter T., and tastily decorated with china and growing ferns □ In the centewas a group of "Joss plan s," or Chinese sacred lillies in full bloom. The Souvenirs were hand painted napkins, tiny Chinese babies, and umbrelals.

Lovely Chinese girl met us at the door, shaking their hands high above their heads in token of the greatest respect, and proceeded to push upon us the fragrant tea and accompanying dainties.

The art class consists of seventy two pupils, and has been divided into four section, each of which forms a club, and will give one entertainment during the scholastic year. Miss McComb's object in giving these entertainments is to teach the young ladies the art of entertaining with very little expense: The art of getting up original designs in invitations, decorations etc. It also strengthen their natural tendency to make themselves charming and agreeable, and last of all that the great secret of being happy, lies in the art of making others happy.

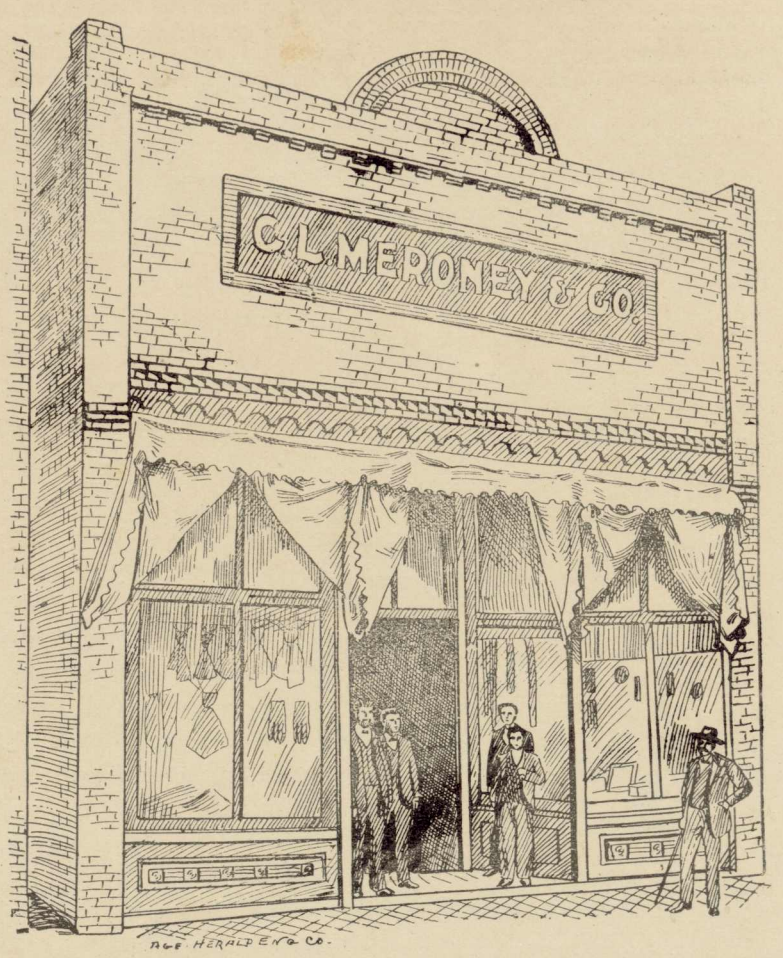
We had the very great pleasure of having with us on this occasion D. Beard a distinguished Episcopol Divine of Birmingham, also Capt. Taylor from Gallion, Ala. The latter is in his 91st year still retains all his interest in the good things of this life, and is well spring of joy to his friends and acquaintances.

The other guests were: Misses McMath, Haley, Lyman, Nix, McAlpine, Burks, Thompsen, Lee, Storrs, Bush, Grantery, Gitts, Wade Mrs. Crowe, Torbert, Hudson, Reynolds, Abernethy, Babb, Cothaan. Messas. Lorenz, Abernethy, Reynolds. The Members of the Club are Misses Lula Hamilton, Anna Nabers, Margaret McArdle, Marie Boyd, Nattie McQueen, Nannie Shivers, Lulan Meroney, Annie Whitby, Lottie Buchanon, Nell Williams, Vivla Beynbpds, Lottie Lavers Florence Troy, Lusie Stubbs, Mary Burton, Nanie Lee Callen.

The ladies of the Montevallo Studiosis are making every effort to send out the first of the year three libraries of twenty- five volumns each in Shelby, Bibb, and Chilton counties. Feeling that every citizen must be interested in this philanthropic work which means so much for the uplifting and development of those at our very doors, we do not hesitate to ask our people for a donation to this fund. Look over your own libraries, find some good book that has influenced your life, and donate it to this cause to influence the life of another. If you haven't such a book, twenty or twenty-five cents placed in the hands of this committee will buy one. The Traveling Library speaks for itself What better means of preaching the gospel of humanity to the poor than through this little bundle of books? One of these books may change the life of some boy or girl. Emmerson says "Go with mean people and you will think life mean." Books are our truest and best companions, if we place good books into the hands of these children of the rural districts will they not naturally seek that which is better in life, will they not see more of life's beauty and sweetness and less of its hardships? What more beautiful picture it the world than that of an old women reading her bible, the book which has been her companion for years. Ruskin very truly and sweetly says, "By your aristocracy of companion ship your own inherent aristocracy will be tested." Is it not right then that we shohld strive to give to those around us the companionship of good books! Send this message of faith and hope into some humble home, it may carry with it a celestial vision. Any donation to this cause, however small, and the same may be sent either to the home of the president or secretary

Mrs. Jas, L. McConaughy, President.
Mrs. W.B. Reynolds, Secretary.

THE HOUSE THAT STARTED GREATER MONTEVALLO.



The house that wants your cotton and your trade.

They carry every thing in high-grade. Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Hardware and Groceries at price to fit 4½ cent cotton, see us before you buy.

C. L. Meroney & Co.

The Alabama Fertilizer

Is said, by over 12000 farmers in this State, to be the best all around fertilizer for cotton and corn.

It is the oldest brand now sold in Alabama, and is just the same as it has always been- Every one of the 48 premiums given during a series of years through the Commercial and Industrial Association for the greatest yield of cotton and corn on a specified area of land, was awarded to farmers who used exclusively the Alabama Fertilizer. The only objection ever raised to the Alabama Fertilizer was that it cost too much.

The present price is no more than that of standard fertilizers. When requested, the Alabama Fertilizer will be put up, without extra cost, in bags treated by the Mummia Vegetable Fibre Preserving Process, thereby insuring the perfect preservation of the bags for an indefinite time, and saving the contents from loss by waste in transit and handling. These preserved bags when emptied and thoroughly washed will be found as good aud strong as new and equally usefnl for other purposes. Every person, farmer, merchant, or dealer, vitaly interested in the economical production of good crops should advocate the use of ALABAMA FERTILIZER.

THE ALABAMA FERTILIZER CO.,
MONTGOMERY, ALA

BUGGIES WAGONS
New
A Car load of Fine buggies
just received $10 Cheaper than Selma or Birmingham.
Cheapest in the South
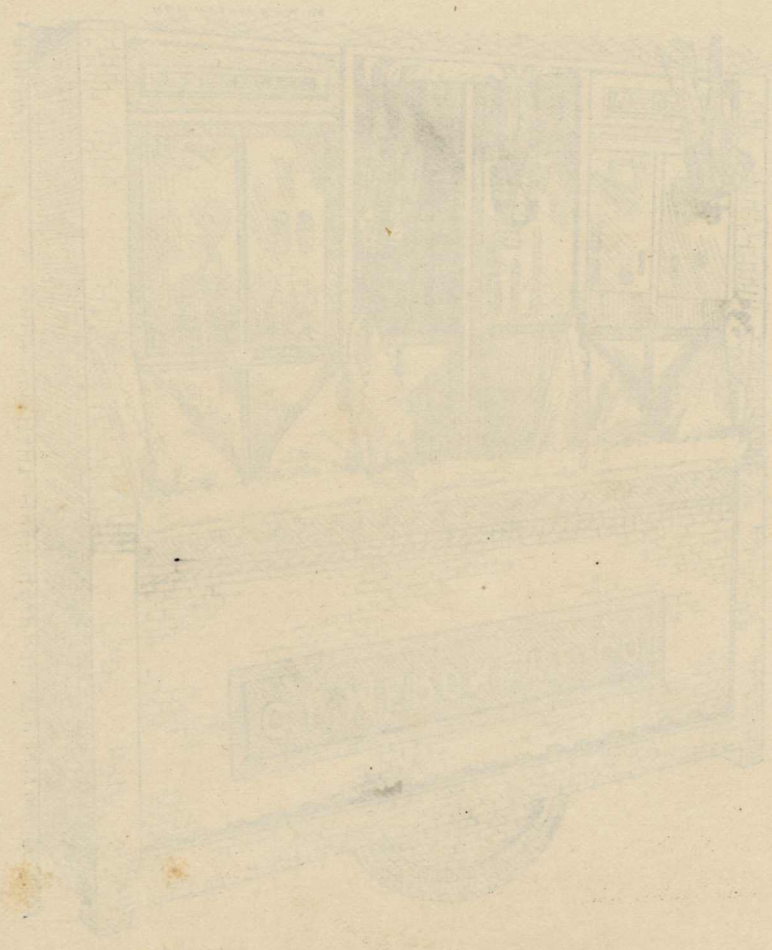
COME at Once
George Kroell
Montevallo,
Ala.



LOCAL.

Don't waste your money on perishables and oddities," but a buy beautifnl vase for a Christmas gift. Find them at Dr. F. F. Crowe & Co.'s.

Montevallo needs electric lights A plant can be put in for $3000 Why not form a stock company and go to work. It will pay.

Rogan keeps hot chocolate and gives a great big cup and cake for a nickel.

Representative Sturdevant has introduced a bill in the Legislature to provide for good roads in Shelby Co. This is a step in the right direction. and while we have not read the bill,we heartily endorse any measure that provides for better roads.

Go to McCluney for a nice up to-date Christmas present

Mrs. Horns and Dr. F. F. Crowes new houses aro being pushed to completion.

WANTED—One more boarder.
J. B. Kilpatrick.

Mr. J. Fall Roberson, of Talladega, was in town on business last Sunday.

For a Christmas gift to a friend, a handsome China Vase is always appropriate. Dr. F. F. Crowe has recognized this fact, so has on exhibition a very choice line of China Glass Vases.

The description of the "Chinese Tea" is one of the most readable articles in this issue. It was written by Miss Marie Boyd who shows unmistakable talent as a Journalist. There were two other pieces written by Misses Susie Stubbs and Mary which were also fine but the one by Miss Boyd contained the Chinese poem written by Miss McCombs sister and for that reason it was decided to print it. It is a gratifying feature to see so many girls develope a talent in this direction.

Morgan Bros. sell more shoes than anybody. Go look at the stock and you will see why.

Dr. Elias Davis, of Birmingham, made a visit to our town on Monday last to see Mrs. Johnson, who is very ill with pneumonia.

Something like a hundred girls have gone to spend the Christmas at their homes. Over two hundred will remain here.

Don't run all over town hunting for candy. Go to George Kroell

Miss Rebecca Treadwell, one of the pupils of the school is seriously ill at the residence of Mr. W. B. Reynolds. Her brother in Florida was promptly notified and he reached here Wednesday. A trained nurse from the Infirmary of Davis & Davis at Birmingham is in attendance at her bedside and she has the constant attention of the College physicians. Miss Treadwell had been almost an invalid for the past two years and she only arrived here a few weeks ago. This has been the only real seriously case of illness during the session, and we hope for her a speedy recovery.

Miss Telle T. Thompson the accomplished and faithful teacher of stenography and typewriting will spend the Christmas with her friend Miss Callen in Selma'

Mr. C. W. Cary, who in a quiet way is doing much for the upbuilding and advancement of Montevallo, entertained last week a party of Capitalist from Pennsylvania, who if they decide to locate here will bring thousands of dollars to invest in the coal fields that lie adjacent to the town along the Southern Railway. The party was composed of Mr. Wm Grifith and wife, Mr. Jno. A. Mears, and Mr. Richards. These gentlemen are allready interested in water power along the Southern and were most favorably impressed with this section of the country They spent a portion of a day in going through the Industrial School which they pronouuced one of the finest institutions they had every seen. In fact they said they had never seen anything like it. They were astonished to find that the coal lands contained 48 seams of coal over 30 of which were workable seams. Montevallo lying so near the coal fields will of course be greatly benefited by the development of the coal interest and we welcome these gentlemen in our midst.

George Kroell has an improved horse collar at his store. Call and see it,

A splendid entertainment was given by the school grils at President Reynolds last Tuesday night. Quite a number of the town people were invited. The program was well rendered. The music and recitations was excelent.

Pure Drugs; Lowest Prices Best Skill

On this Basis we Solicit your Prescriptions

We keep only One Grade of Drugs — The Best!

OOOOOOOOOOO

Complete line of toilet articles, perfumery, writing tablets and fancy stationery, Paints, oil, varnishes, etc. Call and see us.

W B McCluney & Co.

J. B. RANDALL Pres., Calera, Ala. C. W. CARY, Mg'r. Montevallo, Ala W. E BRINKERHOFF, Sec. & Treas Dogwood, Ala.

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL MINING CO.,

Miners and shippers of the CELEBRATED MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL, DOGWOOD, ALA. We have the written report of JOSEPH SQUIRE, STATE GEOLOGIST, that we have the MONTEVALLO COAL SEAM in the "MONTEVALLO COAL BASIN." Mr. Squire has had forty years or more experience in testing, locating and making maps of the Alabama Coal Fields, and his reports are the highest authority. We are manufacturer's agents for

SHELBY, ALA., LIME,

which is 99.65 per cent. pure, and will make mortar almost equal to cement We guarantee the COAL and LIME to be the highest grade.

Yours truly,

MONTEVALLO LUMP COAL CO.

Christian F. Enslen, Pres't. Organized Eugene F. Enslen, Cashier. Amzi Godden, Vice-Pres't. October 1885. Otto Marx, Ass't-Cashier E. L. Campbell, Attorney.

Jefferson County Savings Bank.

Corner 2d Ave. and 21st Street, Birmingham, Ala.
Capital Paid Up, $150,000; Surplus and Profit, $25,00. Transacts a General Banking Business. Alows interest on special Time Deposits Issues letters of credit, good in all parts of the world. Buys and sell exchange on all principal cities of the United States a d foreign countries. Accounts of Banks, Merchants, Manufacturers and individuals solicited.

A. W. Miller, President. C. R. Patterson, Treas. and Mgr.

Despatch Printing Co.

2113-2119 Morris Ave,

Printers

Blank Book Make s.

Birminghham, Ala.

The people are making a run on the winter clothing at Morgan Bros. A large, new lot of pants will arrive this week.

The habit of giving a beanti ful vase for a Christmas gift is almost as old as the Christmas festivities. The most exquisite vases that art can produce may be found at Dr. F. F. Crowe's.

Truth wears no mask

Because it need none. It bows to no human shrine: seeks neither place nor applause. It only asks a hearing, and that is all I ask for the

KINGSBURY.

Simply a hearing—and if you desire an instrument which is absolutely matchless in tone, touch and finish, you will take a Kingsbury. We are now located at 2018 2nd Ave.

E. E. Forbes

J. H. Holcombe, Mgr.

Pianos, Organs, Sewing Machines.

THE HAUNTED-HOUSE

Would yon believe it? But it's too true. We certainly have one, it's a handsome building. Then too it's our President's house, right on the corners of Main and Church streets, and singular to say "we don't get scared," that is not much! unless, well unless, it grows very lonesome. Now once in a while, in fact quite often, some of our teachers have company, don't you know? Good looking company; wasn't that last one with the pointed whiskers good-looking? My! how we did envy Miss——Well I like to have let cat out. Not that I mean to insinuate that the one with out whiskers, the one that comes to see Miss(by proxy), aint good-looking. Yes, well? I'll not say it for he's already a piece of vanity. Kinder smiles, and looks around as much as to say, "Aint I killing?" But there now I'm about to forget my text,-The Haunt The Ghost! Well it commences just after we all get safely in bed, ready to go to sleep, with a noise like thunder every night, and it rolls and rolls like some body playing Skitles,no Tennis- Stop let's see it,s Ten Pins,-- yes Ten Pins-- just like when you let go a great big ten pin ball on an alley, and then we girls cover up our heads and nearly smother and never say a word. My, I said my, if that good-looking fellow of—well never mind who, the one with pointed whiskers had only brought us a stick of his dynamite. But then the fact is I'm dreadfully afraid of dynamite,-and well unless unless, Miss—— well I wont tell who, would let him go a long and help me to throw it at the ghost. But the ghost, for two years or more he's been coming every night winter and summer, hot or cold, dry or wet, and he rolls and rolls. Now on Friday nights we girls concluded we'd catch him. You see most of us room up-stairs and there's a large attic over head so the girls from down-stairs and those from the lesser room up—stairs across the hall from our room (which is the largest bed room) all gathered, about 13 in all.and we put out our lights and some of us sit,others lay quietly down on the three large beds to listen to try first to locate the haunt, which no one has ever yet succeeded in doing. We got tired waiting and begun talking, when all at once we heard a noise, low but distinct, then presently a little louder. We begun to grow nervous and draw a little closer together, and not a whisper could you have heard. Then presently a great rolling noise like somebody rolling a ton of iron in a wheel-barrow over a floor some distance away. Then a deathlike stillness and th,next we heard was "It's time you girls were getting up," and there we were hadn,t even gone to bed and daylight shining in bright. At breakfast, Mrs. President seemed much amused and quite interested in hearing our experiences, inquired particularly about the loudness of the noise, etc., finally it leaked out that our President, not wishing us disappointed and fearing the ghost might fail us, had played a joke on us by hauling a big wooden bucket with about a bushel of coal in it over the back gallery and so our scare.

But every night our ghost comes that is, except when that good-looking proxy man, or the handsome dynamite fellow, he with the whiskers, the one that tries to carry out the command love our neighbor, etc. This ghost comes, and he rolls and rolls, and no one can fathom the mystery. Now that Xmas is almost here, and so many of we girls are going to stay, we've been a'king the matter of catching that ghost over and you'd hardly believe it if I were to tell you how many volunteers we've had to sit up and help us locate our ghost, and well it wont do to tell it abroad, but we believe or, rather it's whispered around that our President has promised to suspend the rules and let all we girls "receive" during Xmas. Won't that be jolly? and wont we behave nice? and Mr. Editor won't you let the dynamite man and the proxy man both know, just send them a copy of our college journal, no make them subscribe and advertise so they can have a business excuse to come once in awhile-now that's a dear good man.

Selma Times.

"The splendid and full report of Lieutenants Hobson's speech at the Academy of Music Tuesday morning, and which appeared in yesterday's Times, was taken down in short hand by Misses Lida and Mattie Woods, who had seats on the stag, being employed by this paper. It took them until ten o'clock Tuesday night to copy it off on their typewriters, and was as nice and creditable a piece of work as has been our pleasure to handle. The Times can cheerfully recommend these two young ladies to any one who may have work in their line."

Miss Mattie was a pupil for one session only of the Girls' Industrial Shool, and owes her training and education to this Institution; and not long since when she met Pesident Reynolds, told him what a debt of gratitude she owed this School, and the wise legislators who had provided this grand Institusion, where the girls of Alabama can get a chance to become independent. She is employed by Messrs. Pitts & Pits, of Selma, two of the finest Lawyers, and most elegant and accomplished gentlemen in Alabama.

School Notes

Monday morning after the regular exercises, President Reynolds gave us an interesting account of his recent trip to Montgomery. We all joined him in anticipating a bright future for the Polytechnic Institute.

What is the best joke of the season? Some one says the "Montevallo side-walks". But the school girls and teachers can tell you that "Montevallo mud" is no joke at all, but a stern reality. The reason the girls dislike overshoes so much is because the mud sticks to them so badly. One of the teacher says when it rains she can hardly get to school, owing to the rapid accumulation of real estate on her overshoes.

O What a happy Christmas we are expecting! Many of the girl will spend the holidays as home and those who do not will have their brothers and cousins to visit them. Misses Annie Hughes, Ree Ogletree and several others, left Monday. Most of us will go Thursday.

The other day the teacher of Mathematics asked. "What else besides a quadrilateral, would you call a figure of four sides?" A quadruped, answered a bright pupil.

Scene on the lawn of The Alabama Industrial School.

LIBRARY
ALABAMA COLLEGE
MONTEVALLO